The Power You Need~

When you pray, never forget who we are praying to. No man-made idol can help us. We are calling upon the Most High God who knows us each by name and does answer our prayer.

As we, His people, who are called by His name, seek an audience with Him to hear our petitions, as we bring them each before His throne there He will pick them up. Bringing forth the answers, the solutions, bring them together with His plans for His purposes to the greater glory of His kingdom which we as His people are a part of.

The power of Heaven is unlocked on earth when we devote ourselves to prayer with the God who is in charge of the universe. The Bible is the most important treasure we can have in our hands today and God's word combined with prayer is an unstoppable force that Christians have at their disposal. Prayer is a gift from God and prayer is the way we can communicate with God. God knows everything and is able to do anything.

America needs God now more than ever and it is God's people who will make the difference by prayer. Prayer is what is holding our nation together right now. Now, more than in our life time, is there such a cry in the land for God to help our nation.

ASK THE MOTOR MEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

I'm having trouble with my car overheating. When driven until the engine is fully warmed up the temperature gauge will move to the red line but then drops back to almost the cold mark and continues this cycle as long as I drive. This has been going on for several months and I also noticed that on one cool morning when I used my heater the temperature of the air coming from the vent changed from hot to cold when the gauge started to cycle. The funny thing was that the temp went cold when the gauge was hot and then warmed up again when the gauge moved towards cold. What could be going on with my car?

Thank you,
Beverly in Lincoln Nebraska

Dear Beverly,

The description you provided is very good and unfortunately the first thing that comes to mind is a head gasket failure. When a head gasket fails it can allow the heated combustion gases from the cylinder to pass into the cooling passages. When this happens the coolant no longer can cool the engine due to the disruption of the coolant flow and the gauge moves towards hot. At the same time the coolant flow to the heater is disrupted and the air from the vents will cool down. Checking for a head gasket failure is done by testing the air in the cooling system for combustion gases. If gas is present it indicates a failure in the system.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have faithfully serviced my Toyota since the day it was new in 2001. I have taken it in for every factory recommended service listed under the severe service category in the owner's manual. I have had very few failures in the first 150,000 miles. I say first because I plan to drive it another 150,000 before trading it off and I may even keep it longer if she holds together. The manual stops at about 120,000 but I have seen the pattern and can just repeat I suppose. Being that it is aging are there things not in the manual that I should consider to preserve the life of the truck?

Thank you,
Ralph in McAlester Oklahoma

Dear Ralph,

Good job on keeping your vehicle running. In addition to the, manufacturer recommended services you can ask your shop what they recommend. Often a fuel system cleaning can do wonders for an aging vehicle that is starting to lose fuel mileage due to the lost efficiency caused by a dirty fuel system. Also at this age brake fluid and power steering fluid will start to break down or become acidic which can wear parts prematurely. Changing these fluids often will extend the life of the systems and save you money on repairs over the long term. A good relationship with an experienced shop is the best way to find out what areas of your vehicle can benefit from a little added attention to maintenance.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I used the remote start on my 2004 Chevy Silverado to Start The AC the other morning and came out to find my interior filled with smoke. I did not see smoke coming out of any area, so I aired it out and drove to work. I have checked all the electrical functions and the only thing I find that does not work is the Interior Air Conditioning Blower Fan high speed. Could this be what was smoking?

Thank you,
Carry in Battle Creek Michigan

Dear Carry,

The interior HVAC blower fan system could have been the source of the smoke. Blower resistor failures are common as vehicles age. The blower windings break down over time and the resistance on the circuit increases, this extra resistance causes the resistor to run much hotter than it should. Eventually the resistor can fail and sometimes it will let off smoke. In addition to the resistor failing some vehicles have issues with the wires that attach to the resistor and the connector plug melting. In the case of the Silverado, it is a common issue and some of them were subject to a recall so check with your local dealership for more information. Most important of all to remember is to stop driving a vehicle when you see or smell smoke. Fire spreads quickly in a vehicle and you can be overcome by the fumes of the many materials used in its construction. Always think about your safety first.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a 2007 Chevy Impala with several issues that all occurred about the same time. I have a check engine light on, I have poor engine heat, and my fuel mileage is not as good as it used to be. What kind of things should I be looking for?

Thank you,
Ron in Montrose Colorado

Dear Ron,

It is possible that just one thing is causing all your problems and that item is small and relatively inexpensive, your engines thermostat. The thermostat is responsible for keeping the engine temperature at a steady level so that you have proper heat available for the interior and proper operating temperature for the engine to operate efficiently. When a thermostat does not allow the engine to warm to a certain level on OBDII vehicles the computer responds by turning on the check engine light. Another effect of low temps is a decrease in fuel mileage due to continued fuel mixture enrichment. In the past, our vehicles used carburetors with chokes on them to enrich the fuel mixture for proper running until the engine was warm. Around the early eighties this changed to electronic fuel injection and is now controlled by the engine computer. If the thermostat does not regulate the engine temperature properly the computer may continue to enrich the fuel mixture causing the vehicle to have poor mileage. Thermostats should be serviced when the coolant is flushed or when they fail to operate as designed.

Take care,
the Motor Medics
