PROPHETS~

These are dangerous in some ways and confusing to many in other ways. A false prophet is one that declares something that does not come true, that leads people astray with false teaching. The world has many of these who declare something that is to happen, but not all are, and time will always prove the truth.

There are some who do hear from God. But God speaks mainly from His word, and always in line with it. If we know it well enough to tell the real from the not so real. Today more than ever we must be careful to size up what people say against the Bible's teachings over opinions and personal knowledge. I believe there are prophets today that are given a voice from God to speak to the people as there has always been. A true prophet does not take lightly their role nor search it out to get the spot light. Their voice is a voice that has spent time with God, much time, and greatly fears the results.

We need to hear from those that will speak the truth but only God's truth. This is a very thin line and requires those that hear the words of someone who may be speaking for God that have enough of their own knowledge of God's word to be able to separate truth, partial truth or personal objectives. Listen, God is speaking but only to those who have an ear to hear Him. The Holy Spirit is the key to discernment and the Holy Spirit only hangs around with those who know God's voice and will obey it.

ASK THE MOTORMEDICS®

Dear Motor Medics,

During my last oil change my shop told me I needed to change my cabin air filter. I did not know my car had a cabin air filter or even what one was until they showed me my dirty filter. They did not charge me much to replace it and my air seems to blow much stronger now. We had a Windstar van that gradually lost air flow from the vent too and I wonder if it had one that was clogged. My question is can they be changed at home by the average Joe and how often should they be changed?

Thank you,
Mike in Williamsport Pennsylvania

Dear Mike,

Cabin air filters are appearing in more vehicles every year. They not only keep the dirt out of the inside of the vehicle, they keep the HVAC system components clean so they last longer. The filters are a great idea but until everyone knows if they have one and how to care for them, they can be a hindrance. If the filters are not changed you can lose air-flow like you experienced and in the worst-case damage may occur to the system. When buying a vehicle ask if it is equipped with a cabin air filter and where it is located. Filters are available at most parts stores and can usually be changed at home in a short amount of time for a reasonable cost. Check the manual for filter replacement intervals.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a question about those do it yourself air conditioning recharge kits you can find at many auto parts stores. I have lost some of the cooling capacity of my air conditioner and don't want to spend the money to have a shop check it out. Am I safe to just go buy one of those kits and recharge the system myself so I can get some cool air, and is there any risk of damage to my vehicle if I do it wrong?

Thank you,
Dale in Dallas Texas

Dear Dale,

Air conditioning is not hard to work on with the proper tools, training, and equipment. One of the most basic tools we use for testing is a set of gauges to read system pressures. We can tell a lot about the system just from the readings we take. If you attempt to charge a system without being able to read the system pressures on both low and high you run the risk of system damage. Just pumping in refrigerant is not the answer. Yes, there are people who use the kits and have had good luck but we see many vehicles that have been charged with a do it yourself kit come to our shop for repairs that could have been cheaper if done professionally in the first place. Do some heavy research and ask plenty of questions before you just add refrigerant using a do it yourself kit.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have what I think to be a very simple question but when I ask others I get as many different answers as the people I ask. I want to know if it is necessary to connect the last jumper cable connection which is always my negative cable to the engine block instead of right to the battery which seems more convenient to me. I have received many different answers and I just want to know what the proper way is. Can you help me Motor Medics?

Thank you,
Barb in Henderson Texas

Dear Barb,

Great question for the safety of anyone who ever must jump start a car. Many people connect the cables directly to the terminals on both batteries claiming it makes it easier to start and this is extremely dangerous! If your battery cables on the vehicle and jumper cables are both in good shape connecting them properly will work just fine. When you make the last connection of the jumper cables it is normal for the connection to give off a small spark. This spark can easily ignite the hydrogen gas given off by a battery under normal operation and cause an explosion. This explosion can be powerful enough to send the sulfuric acid and pieces of battery shrapnel flying towards you injuring you. To prevent this, you need to make the last connection away from the battery which would be the engine block. Always consult your owner's manual.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a question about spare tires. I see many new cars not coming with a spare of any kind. When we purchased our latest car, it came this way and in the place of it was a can of tire sealant and an inflator can. The instructions say to use the sealant then if the tire is still low to use the inflator can and use as necessary to reach the nearest place to have it repaired. Why can't they just make a place for the spare? We have had spares in our vehicles as long as I have been driving and they work just fine, although I have never had to use one since our tires are kept in good shape.

Thank you,
David in Mason City Iowa

Dear David,

Spares are going the way of the dinosaur in many vehicles to save weight and room. Cars have been on this trend for a while now. I think the first one I saw was in a Hybrid and if they had wanted one, I don't know where they would have put it. Removing the spare saves weight and every pound you save means a bit more fuel mileage. This combined with other weight savings can make a big impact overall. The tire sealant and inflator can work for smaller leaks but for anything major like a large bolt or other object you will need a tire change to get you going.

Take care,
the Motor Medics
