Perfectly Satisfied~

Quite a few speak of their faith in God but live in fear of people and more trust in what flesh can do for them. Many fear diseases or not having enough money. They place their confidence in political leaders and what they tell them more than what God's word says. Far too many want an agreeable gospel, a tolerant religion, one that's more relevant to societies' interest and the changing culture. When most people today hear a gospel message they want a presentation that makes them feel good about themselves, that won't challenge them with truth that might make them uncomfortable or face the reality of how they live. Many people are perfectly satisfied to sit in church and listen to lessons on good works and about God's love but aren't interested in hearing about sin. God loves each one of us but not always our ways and He wants to be loved back. Each person has a free will. They're given choices to choose and from these decisions will determine their life styles, their friends, their works, living and making their choices about what to pursue in life. And so, in the end they determine their eternal destiny which is so extremely serious and the results will be proven out by their decisions that were made while they were here on earth and then have to answer for them before God.

ASK THE MOTORMEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

During my last oil change my shop told me I needed to change my cabin air filter. I did not know my car had a cabin air filter or even what one was until they showed me my dirty filter. They did not charge me much to replace it and my air seems to blow much stronger now. We had a Windstar van that gradually lost air flow from the vent too and I wonder if it had one that was clogged. My question is can they be changed at home by the average Joe and how often should they be changed?

Thank you,

Mike in Williamsport Pennsylvania

Dear Mike,

Cabin air filters are appearing in more vehicles every year. They not only keep the dirt out of the inside of the vehicle, they keep the HVAC system components clean so they last longer. The filters are a great idea but until everyone knows if they have one and how to care for them, they can be a hindrance. If the filters are not changed you can lose air flow like you experienced and in the worst-case damage may occur to the system. When buying a vehicle ask if it is equipped with a cabin air filter and where it is located. Filters are available at most parts stores and can usually be changed at home in a short amount of time for a reasonable cost. Check the manual for filter replacement intervals.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a question about those do it yourself air conditioning recharge kits you can find at many auto parts stores. I have lost some of the cooling capacity of my air conditioner and don't want to spend the money to have a shop check it out. Am I safe to just go buy one of those kits and recharge the system myself so I can get some cool air, and is there any risk of damage to my vehicle if I do it wrong?

Thank you,
Dale in Dallas Texas

Dear Dale,

Air conditioning is not hard to work on with the proper tools, training, and equipment. One of the most basic tools we use for testing is a set of gauges to read system pressures. We can tell a lot about the system just from the readings we take. If you attempt to charge a system without being able to read the system pressures on both low and high you run the risk of system damage. Just pumping in refrigerant is not the answer. Yes, there are people who use the kits and have had good luck but we see many vehicles that have been charged with a do it yourself kit come to our shop for repairs that could have been cheaper if done professionally in the first place. Do some heavy research and ask plenty of questions before you just add refrigerant using a do it yourself kit.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I travel 50 miles each way to work each day and share the road with a lot of large long-haul trucks. It seems that they always think they own the road. They are either going too fast or too slow or cutting me off or any other number of things that seem just plain rude to me. Why can't they be more like other vehicles on the road? Not to say that all other vehicles are perfect drivers but it just seems as though the trucks are worse.

Thank you,

Dan in Bennington Vermont

Dear Dan,

Trucks can't be like cars because there not cars. Most truck drivers are very courteous and with a little help from you they can be even better drivers. You have to remember that even the largest SUV, is a high-performance sports car when compared to a multi-ton truck. When you pull onto the interstate you can adjust your speed to stay clear of the trucks much faster than they can. Don't expect them to move quickly for you and never position yourself directly in front of a truck, if you stop quickly, they can't. If you feel you are being cut off often where are you driving? If you can't see their mirrors then the driver can't see you. Don't hog the passing lane going the speed limit either. They are slow uphill and fast down so share the road and leave the enforcement to the officers.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

It's time to buy a new car, Fred has been a good van but it's time to give him a rest. Yes, I call my van Fred. We name all of our vehicles because they always have personality. We drive a 2000 Chevy Astro van and we made it 245,000 miles. Not bad for all original major components. We do listen to your show and follow your maintenance advice of course. We finally had the air conditioning fail and decided it is the end for Fred. We just want to know one thing. We always felt safe in Fred but never had a collision or factual evidence to back the safety up so how do we go about finding out how safe our new vehicle will be? Not sure if our new vehicle will be new or a couple years old yet.

Thank you,
Barbara in Mason City Iowa

Dear Barbara,

Sorry to hear about Fred. Sound like he treated you well. When looking for another vehicle we suggest that you check out the web site www.safercars.gov where you can find and compare vehicle safety ratings. The NHTSA National Highway Traffic Safety Administration has certain testing specifications posted there that will aide you in making a decision based on safety factors. Reliability is also important when purchasing any vehicle so don't forget to look to providers such as consumer reports to help you get informed before making a final decision about a vehicle.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Make Your Copy Complete.

Use ad copy effectively to thoroughly communicate to potential buyer(s). Organize the ad carefully. Space and punctuate, so that the reader can follow the ad and understand its content.

Be Creative Descriptive.

List major selling points (price, color, size, features or options).

Be Factual. Be Helpful.

Include hours of operation, best days and times in which to make contact as well as area code on phone numbers.

Make Your Ad Easily

Recognizable. Choose a main benefit of your merchandise and feature it in a headline.

Use art, large type sizes, bolding and best of all, use white space to make your ad visually attractive and so powerful, it's jumping off the page.
