~ By One Man ~

We are powerless to save ourselves and will perish without turning our lives over to Jesus. For God proved His love for us by the fact that while we were sinners Christ died for us and anyone can be rescued and saved from sin's grip upon their lives, freed from guilt and God's wrath by the blood of Christ shed on the cross for all mankind.

Though all begin life in sin and become an enemy of God they need not be. For all who confess their sins and turn their lives to Christ Jesus are reconciled to God through the death of His Son. You can be saved from your sins because Christ lives today and has won the battle over sin and death for all humanity to those that turn their lives to Him.

Christ came and brought salvation. This free gift from God is His grace to all people. It overwhelms the trespasses of humanity all through the death of God's Son, Jesus Christ, and then His resurrection from death to be released from sins penalty, for all who choose to believe and follow the life of Christ.

For the evidence of a born-again follower of God's Son will be evident or not by their obedience to God's word and love for one another.

ASK THE MOTOR MEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a 2005 Chevrolet 2500 truck with a 6.0 engine and automatic transmission. Lately I have been experiencing a noise behind the dashboard upon starting. At first, I thought it was under the hood and searched for something that could make the kind of sound I was experiencing. After much searching I discovered it was coming from behind the passenger side of the dashboard. It is located just to the right of the glove box door and back by the firewall. There is a box there that I assume is part of the heating system and when I touch it, I can feel the clicking in sync to the noise. This noise occurs each time I start the vehicle and lasts for about one minute. Have you ever heard a noise like this before?

Thank you,
Scott in Denver Colorado

Dear Scott,

Yes, we have heard this noise before and can help you. Most vehicles went to fully electrically operated heater door systems in the late nineties. The door motors have position sensors in them and when they fail the computer does not know where the door position is. Because of this failure the door motor keeps moving when at the end of its travel and begins to strip the gear teeth causing the noise until the module shuts it down at a pre-determined time limit. To fix the noise you will likely need a new door motor. Thanks for the email Scott.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a 2002 Volkswagen Beetle with the 4 cylinder 1.8L Turbo. The engine runs great, but I have a check engine light on with a code P0411 stored in memory. This code is for the secondary air injection system. The air injection pump runs, and the hoses look good. I have been told it might be the check valve, but I can't seem to locate this. Have you heard of this problem on Beetles, and can you help me locate the elusive "check valve" and am I going in the right direction? I listen via your web site; you guys do a great job.

Thank you,
Rodger in Florida

Dear Rodger,

I am familiar with the problem you are having, and it is common to many vehicles with a secondary air injection pump. Cars in the southern climates don't seem to be bothered by it as much as cold weather states but none the less it happens. The vehicle could have a bad air diverter check valve, but it could be as simple as condensation in the air hose between the pump and the valve. The air valve is located on the engine at the passenger side rear just under the top cover. Remove the hose and check it for water, then clean it out if it is present' reinstall it and see how it works. You will need to have the codes cleared before the system will operate and run a self-test.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I am having trouble with my 2001 Buick Lesabre. For the past few weeks I have not been able to adjust my inside temperature properly. When I first start the car and whenever I adjust the temperature controls, I hear a clicking under the center of the dash that last about ten seconds. It started as a once a week thing but now happens every time. Since this started happening the temperature seems to either stick on full hot or full cold. The car has adjustments for both driver and passenger side temperature and both sides cause the noise when adjusted.

Thank you,
Susan in Vandalia

Dear Susan,

The noise is likely coming from the temperature blend door motors. The temperature is adjusted by means of electric motors with gears connecting them to the temperature doors. The climate module measures the temperature of the air and the setting on the dash and adjusts the motors as needed. With age the sensors that report the position of the motors wear out and when the door reaches full hot or cold the module tells them to keep going and you hear the sound of the gears as they are pushed too far. If you find that this is the problem the fix is to replace the actuator motor. Some motors can be accessed under dash while others require more extensive disassembly. Most new blend door motors are affordable, used are also a good option.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

My new job has taken me to an unfamiliar city hundreds of miles away from home where I don't know anyone. I have a good running car but I owe that to the great care that my repair shop has given me over the years. It's a 2005 Taurus with 98,000 miles. This car has not needed any major repairs in the past but on the way across country the air conditioner stopped working. I can live without air for a short time but I want to get it fixed. How can I find a good shop? I am afraid to just walk into the first shop I see. I am a young woman that knows little about cars so I need some guidance. Can you give me a suggestion on how to find a shop in an unfamiliar town?

Thank you,
Mary in Denver

Dear Mary,

Many people find themselves in this situation. Maybe it's a child who has moved for school needing a good shop for repairs. Hopefully you will have contact with people you can trust when you arrive. Ask them where they go then narrow the shops down to just a few by the ones with the best word of mouth reviews. Then maybe visit the shop for an oil change and ask the other customers waiting how they like the shop. If you don't like what you hear try another. It's a little like finding a doctor.

Take care,
the Motor Medics
