PRAYER TO Holy Spirit
Holy Spirit, you who makes us see everything and shows us the way to reach our ideal. You who gives us the divine gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to us and who is in all instances of our lives with us. We, in this short dialogue, want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that we never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. We want to be with you and our loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen. Pray this for 3 consecutive days without stating one's wish. After third day, your wish will be granted no matter how difficult it may be. Promise to publish this as soon as your favor is granted.

~ A Lot of Talk ~

There is a separation beginning of those who talk about being a Christian and those who are actually trying to live the life of Christianity. Though the flesh is not actually destroyed when a person becomes a Christian, they do have the power made available to them through the Spirit of God to deny the power of the flesh and override it.

When a person becomes a Christian, the Bible says that they become a new creation. They have a new nature, which God will empower with the spiritual help needed to live as a new person; to live differently than before. They are to be signs of a changed life; and yes, the flesh will still make its attempts to want its way.

But for those who have changed and want that new life, things will begin to gradually change to a surrendered life, and God will do His part. But again, the person must continue to depend on their relationship with Jesus Christ, who has the power to save anyone from sin and start a new life in Christ.

A changed behavior will begin to show up in the person who chooses to benefit from it by placing their faith in God through the Holy Spirit. But if they continue to return to the temptations of the flesh, then there would be cause to determine the validity of them having a true relationship with Jesus Christ- or perhaps just an emotional experience that had worn off.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Level: Intermediate

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ASK THE MOTOR MEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

I have been a listener to your radio program for about ten years now and really enjoy the program. Although I am not a car lover or mechanically inclined in any form or fashion, I love the entertainment of the show and have learned a thing or two about cars that has helped me out in the past. I know you are gentle with your listeners when one calls in with something that would seem stupid to most shops and that is why I decided to write you before I check with my shop in hopes that I can fix my problem on my own. I usually don't do any car repairs myself, not even oil changes or light bulbs but last week I decided to check the fluids under the hood on my 99 Pontiac Bonneville and noticed my antifreeze was low, so I added some to the little bottle on the fender. The problem is that the little bottle was for washer fluid instead of engine coolant. I have not used the washers since the fill and don't want to go to my shop and tell them what I did.

Thank you,
Robert in Sterling Illinois

Dear Robert,

This happens more than you would think. On this car you can pull off the hose on the tank bottom attached to the pump and you can catch the fluid in a container. Then rinse with water and refill with washer fluid. That's it.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a 2006 Pontiac Grand Prix with the supercharged 3.8 engine. I had the car into the shop about six months ago and had the brakes repaired as they were grinding. They replaced pads and rotors on the front and rear and a passenger side axle shaft at the same time. Recently the abs and traction lights have started to come on then go off while I drive. They stay on for a few minutes to several days. Is there something related to the brake job or is this some new problem that needs to be addressed and what.

Thank you,
Samantha in Muncie Indiana

Dear Samantha,

I don't think that the brake work you had done six months ago is related to the problem you are having today. The brake pads and rotors are part of the mechanical brake system while the abs/trac light is part of the electronics of the antilock brake system. On many GM cars and trucks these lights will come on in this way and it is usually a sensor that has failed or more commonly a broken wire on one of the front speed sensors. If it is a broken wire some shops may choose to repair it instead of replacing the entire sensor which will save you money. The wires move a lot when driving so they are subject to break with age. Have your shop take a look and advise you of what is needed.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

It has been a crazy winter. We saw snow deeper than I have ever seen in my thirty years of living here and colder temps than we have ever seen for this long. My car and many friends' cars would not start after sitting at work all day. Once we got out of work, we had to plow through snow bumper deep to get home. I made it about four miles and my car started to overheat. The temp was about 5 degrees. I had let my car run for about five minutes before I left work, but I had no heat all the way to it overheating. I sat along the side of the road for about ten minutes for it to cool then the car ran fine and had great heat and the coolant is full. What could be wrong?

Thank you,
Lucinda in Longview Texas

Dear Lucinda,

Coolant. If the coolant strength is too weak in a vehicle the coolant will freeze partially but not hard enough to damage the block but may restrict flow. Once the engine runs for a short time and the coolant thaws, it may work fine. Once you pulled over the coolant may have had time to thaw a bit from the heat built up by the running engine. Have the engine checked and describe exactly how it failed and have the coolant checked. Hopefully, it just needs a good complete coolant flush.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have been having issues with my car battery. I have a 2010 Buick Lucerne with a V6 engine and every few days the battery will die. This usually occurs after the car sits overnight or more than one day. If I leave the door open or radio on for more than ten minutes, it will also go dead. I have been jump starting it using other cars to get going then I go into my shop and they tell me it is a little low, but it is still a good battery even though its seven years old. I am thinking about buying one of those little jump starters to carry in the glove box, so I don't keep getting stuck. Which one is best to buy?

Thank you,
Dale in Idaho Falls Idaho

Dear Dale,

It sounds like it's something wrong with the battery and here's why. If you can leave a door open for a short while and the battery goes dead, it is a sure sign that the battery has no reserve capacity left. Reserve capacity is a measure of how long a battery can maintain a state of discharge before going dead. Yours is too short. A shop may have checked it, but you may want a second opinion. Being 7 years old is also a sign of a bad battery as they don't tend to last much more than that but purchasing a jump starter is still a good safety item.

Take care,
the Motor Medics
