~ We All Leak ~

Not one of us is perfect. We all have our different faults. With all our imperfections, we struggle through our days while here upon this earth.

What is vital and essential to our wellbeing as we journey through each day is what we do to try to fix ourselves. We need it because we leak; we have those different flaws that bring cracks within us because of one problem or another.

There are all kinds of things that have placed pressure on us and brought hurts and disappointments. What we've allowed to come in and fill those areas makes a lot of difference in how we heal from them.

Good people and bad people all need fixed in some way. And there is only one real true fix: God's Word. Every day, each one of us needs to take in God's Word. We need to study it and fill our lives with the hope and instruction found in the only real source of truth.

There is no other way to fill the gaps and empty places in our lives better than the power and authority of God's Word. The Bible will daily fill us up because we all leak.

ASK THE MOTORMEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a 2004 Ford F150 truck, and I've lost the 4-wheel drive. The front end of the truck started to grind for a while before it finally stopped completely. The transfer case does seem to be working because the front driveshaft turns when in 4-wheel drive and does not when it is in 2-wheel drive. can you guys lead me in a direction of diagnosis that might help feel more secure in what I am told at the repair shop?

Thank you,
Bernard in Enid Oklahoma

Dear Bernard,

We make plenty repairs to the 4-wheel drive systems on these trucks. there is a common problem that starts with a grinding then ends up with a failure. The system uses vacuum to engage and disengage a locking mechanism on the front hubs. When in the 2-wheel drive, the vacuum is applied and the hubs release. The system uses a small vacuum hose to do this that is activated electrically. That hose has a common fault which causes it to be rubbed through and when it does the system is only half engaged. This is like trying to put a transmission into gear without using the clutch. Eventually the gear grinding eats the teeth off the hubs. To repair it the hubs and the actuators need to be replaced and the vacuum line needs to be repaired and protected to prevent future issues. This is just one possible cause of trouble.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I've had an ongoing issue with my 2008 Chevrolet Impala. The check engine light has been coming on and I've had it scanned several times and I got a code which says I have a failed thermostat. So here is the problem. I replaced the thermostat myself then had my local auto parts store who read the code clear it and now less than a week later the light is back on with the same code. I have good heat and the temp gauge reads in the normal range. Have you ever seen this before?

Thank you,
Mark in Manhattan Kansas

Dear Mark,

We have seen this, and one possibility is that the thermostat has failed a second time either due to a faulty part or there is something else wrong in the system which is making it think you have a failure. One of these possibilities is a failed temp sensor on the cooling system or possibly the connector going to it. When we make this repair which we do very often, we replace the sending unit and its connector pigtail, and the thermostat then clear the codes and verify operation. Some people opt to just do part of the repair but then find they need to go back and do the rest and end up spending more money. Diagnosing the system is fairly straight forward for a repair shop with a scanner, a multimeter and temp probe. Hope this helps you out.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Answer: Ketchup

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

8				4		2
		8				9
		6	7
	5
9		7	6
2	6	7	9
	4		9	1		5
			4	3		1
		5		6

Level: Intermediate

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
