Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

		3	2			5
								4
3		4	1					6
2				3	8			6
				1	8
	1				9
		6				9	2
	8		2
		9		7				8

Level: Intermediate

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

~ Unless the Godly Begin to Lead ~

There is a widening gap in America- in fact around the world- but let's look at where we live today. There are a host of social issues that are having more and more impact on what people believe is true.

We are seeing a growing disrespect for law enforcement, as well as our American flag and what it stands for. The American church is right in the middle. It's got issues simply because some have strayed from God's Word to accept more modern ways. The Bible has been reevaluated in some sense, and some churches now reinterpret the meaning into a more modern philosophy.

Today, America needs those who have not surrendered their faith in God to stand up for the truth of God's word. In Ezekiel 22, it talks about how the leaders of the land had become wicked and dishonest in many ways. Then, in verse 30, the Scripture says that God sought for someone who would stand in the gap on His behalf of the land, and so it is today.

God is looking for men and women who will stand up and take a position of righteousness and will not be ashamed of what the Word of God says on any subject. These people may be rejected for speaking truth. They may not be friends with the world, but it is more important to be a true friend of God.

ASK THE MOTOR MEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

I want to know about drive by wire steering. I purchasing a new car with it and it has me concerned and wanting to know more before I buy as I don't know how it works or if it's safe. Does it really have no connection between the steering wheel and wheels? What if it quits working?

Thank you,
Bryan in Vandalia Missouri

Dear Bryan,

Drive-By-Wire has been around for more than a decade in many vehicles and is also used in aircraft. You could almost compare it to remote control where you command the action of a device remotely without actually being in physical connection to it. Electric Throttle Control is the most common and is used in most all cars and trucks on the road today but we are now seeing steering go this way due to autonomous cars and self-parking modes that are coming into the market. Throttles have at least two sensors for redundancy and if it fails, well, you just don't accelerate; if steering fails, not so good... Engineers have taken our safety into account and have designed the system so that there is a physical connection that is made whenever the electronics are not powered just in case there is a failure. This safety system was designed to prevent safety issues in the event of a failure. We suggest you get online and investigate further for your own piece of mind before you choose to purchase one.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I listen to Under The Hood both here in the United States, North America, and also when I'm in my second home in Central America in Costa Rica at my dive shop. You really Are Americas' Favorite Car-talk show. The signals a little weak there on my old Mazda Truck so I have to listen via internet. My question is about the Mazda. I need to find parts for it in the way of door trim. That little chrome piece is missing from the bottom of the side door glass and you can't get one here and they never sold this model in the U.S. What do I do?

Thank you,
Scott in Sioux Falls SD

Dear Scott,

Thanks for listening to the show way down there; maybe if you get a little higher up your radio will have better reception. As for the body parts, ouch. We get this question from many of our listeners who are not in the United States who drive vehicles only made in other parts of the world. You know because you own one but many folks don't know that a Mazda truck or a Ford truck or car made overseas is very different looking even though it may carry the same model name. As for parts, we know salvage yards there are not many so get online and see if you may find one across the pond in New Zealand or Australia. Good luck parts hunting.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

My Ford Explorer has been acting up ever since it froze to the ground. I parked it in some deep slush and the next day I couldn't get it to budge like it was bolted down. At first, I thought it was the transmission, then the brakes, but then my wife who told me not to park in the slush set me straight. When I come to a stop, just a couple feet short of a complete stop the ABS brakes activate causing the pedal to sink and I don't have control. What's up?

Thank you,
Scott in Parachute Colorado

Dear Scott,

You're not the first one to get a vehicle to freeze to the ground. It happens more than you think. It usually just takes a good thaw but sometimes a little too much action trying to get it loose will cause some damage. In your case we don't think that this freeze was the lone cause but won't rule it out. If you have made it a habit of parking or driving in areas of deep water or snow it may now be taking its toll over time though. The ABS (Anti-Lock-Brake) system uses a sensor on each of the front wheels that reads near the hub and if it becomes corroded due to moisture it can't read at low speeds and will falsely activate. This is just one possibility. Have it checked and avoid parking in deep water and snow.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

My 2004 Chevy Tahoe has had a knock when cold since it was a couple years old and the dealership where I bought it always told me it was normal, and it wouldn't hurt anything, and I did hear it in others so I wasn't too alarmed but now it's knocking all the time and slightly worse. I've got 250k miles on it and I'm hoping to get at least another 50k out of her.

Thank you,
Terry in Valentine Nebraska

Dear Terry,

We've been listening to the dreaded Chevy 5.3 knock for years and sometimes we wonder if we have become numb to it. It's so common that we don't usually think twice about it. The engines have some piston slap noise that is worse when cold but once parts warm and expand they take up the slack and stop knocking. The dealer was right in saying that if this is the sound you have it won't cause harm but now, you're reaching the engine's mature stage and those noises may have nothing to do with the inherent noise of the 5.3. At 250k it could be a normal loose engine, or it could be getting ready to fail. Either way it's been a long life for it and that's good miles for a 5.3 even though some go longer. Have your local shop take a look and hopefully they will surprise you and say it's still good to go for awhile.

Take care,
the Motor Medics
