Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ASK THE MOTOR MEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

I recently heard you talking about timing belts on your radio show and how everyone with a vehicle should find out if theirs is equipped with one and what the recommended service interval was. I asked my local shop if I had one and they said I do and in fact it was past due by almost 10,000 miles. My vehicle is a 2011 Honda Accord. I have owned it since new and have never had it changed to my knowledge unless it was part of some service package. Is a timing belt something I can do myself at home with basic hand tools? I have changed other belts. If I don't do it the correct way can I damage something or can I just take it to a shop to have them finish it?

Thank you,
Craig in Kittanning Pennsylvania

Dear Craig,

Yes a timing belt can be changed at home on many vehicles but specialty tools are required for some. Before you start any home-project make sure you are very familiar and comfortable with the job ahead of you and follow all safety procedures. A timing belt is a job that requires very close attention to procedure. If the belt comes loose or is not installed correctly and the engine becomes out of time it can spell disaster for the engine. It can even mean having to replace the engine in some cases. Study the job closely before attempting this one.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I'm getting ready to send my son off to college in a used car we found. We had a used car inspection done before we purchased it and a couple items were found that we took care of after the purchase ourselves. My son and I have spent a lot of time together doing small mechanical projects and I think he can take care of the small things that may come up on his own while he is away. For anyone who may be traveling away from home what kinds of items do you suggest to have stored in the vehicle for small emergencies?

Thank you,
Robert in Holdrege Nebraska

Dear Robert,

If you're a well-seasoned mechanic or everyday driver having an emergency kit in the vehicle is a great idea. Even if you don't use it yourself it may come in handy for others you come across. Everyone will have a different idea and some personal choices but here are some basics. Jumper cables for sure, a small empty fuel can to prevent a fire, fire extinguisher and basic hand tools; a small basic kit does not take up much room and can be used for many repairs. A flashlight with extra batteries and some type of signal to warn people if you are disabled in the dark like an illuminated triangle set. These are all in addition to the vehicles jack and tool kit and any other items that you have found.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

With gas prices constantly changing but always on the slow creep upwards overall I want to save as much fuel as possible. I have been researching kits to burn hydrogen in my car and other ways to increase my mileage with additives to the tank that are supposed to increase efficiency. Do you guys know which kit is the best one out there and how well they work? Is it something I can do myself at home? What about the additives to the tank?

Thank you,
Dustin in Elmira New York

Dear Dustin,

Keep researching, and you will find many people who have tried these things only to find they don't work as promised. Everyone wants better mileage, and they all want it cheaply. When the cost of fuel gets a sudden spike, you will see more of these kits on the market and offers of pills and additives claiming to be magic fixes for fuel mileage. If there was such a thing it's likely that the manufacturers would be making a good version of it to get there overall fuel ratings up. Not to say that someone won't come up with something that does the job at a price that makes it worthwhile but for now we have not seen anything. It's completely up to you to research these products and make a final decision but we very strongly recommend that you consult with your own local mechanic before making any purchase.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I just got my first car from my dad, a 2003 Chevy Impala and I was at the gas station filling it up for the second time or so and the guy next to me said I was doing it wrong and was going to wreck my car. He said I was overfilling it and needed to stop when the pump clicks the first time. The problem is it clicks off when it's only half full and you must fill it really slowly or keep clicking it. This is the way my dad had to fill it for the past couple years. What is this guy talking about and why does it click off so soon?

Thank you,
Dave in Bennington Vermont

Dear Dave,

The guy is right. The tank is designed to shut off the pump by backing fuel up the filler tube when it's full. If you overfill the tank by forcing fuel into it after it shuts off, it will spill over into the emissions system canister damaging it. You and your dad may not have caused what is going on now. While overfilling can cause damage to the emissions system and result in the premature shut off, a failed tank vent valve can also cause this even without canister damage. Have the emissions system checked and if it is a valve, they can replace it so you can fill the tank faster but remember to stop when it clicks.

Take care,
the Motor Medics
