Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ASK THE MOTOR MEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

During my last oil change my shop told me I needed to change my cabin air filter. I did not know my car had a cabin air filter or even what one was until they showed me my dirty filter. They did not charge me much to replace it and my air seems to blow much stronger now. We had a Windstar van that gradually lost air flow from the vent too and I wonder if it had one that was clogged. My question is can they be changed at home by the average Joe and how often should they be changed?

Thank you,

Mike in Williamsport Pennsylvania

Dear Mike,

Cabin air filters are appearing in more vehicles every year. They not only keep the dirt out of the inside of the vehicle, they keep the HVAC system components clean so they last longer. The filters are a great idea but until everyone knows if they have one and how to care for them, they can be a hindrance. If the filters are not changed you can lose air flow like you experienced and in the worst-case damage may occur to the system. When buying a vehicle ask if it is equipped with a cabin air filter and where it is located. Filters are available at most parts stores and can usually be changed at home in a short amount of time for a reasonable cost. Check the manual for filter replacement intervals

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a question about those do it yourself air conditioning recharge kits you can find at many auto parts stores. I have lost some of the cooling capacity of my air conditioner and don't want to spend the money to have a shop check it out. Am I safe to just go buy one of those kits and recharge the system myself so I can get some cool air, and is there any risk of damage to my vehicle if I do it wrong?

Thank you,

Dale in Hastings Nebraska

Dear Dale,

Air conditioning is not hard to work on with the proper tools, training, and equipment. One of the most basic tools we use for testing is a set of gauges to read system pressures. We can tell a lot about the system just from the readings we take. If you attempt to charge a system without being able to read the system pressures on both low and high you run the risk of system damage. Just pumping in refrigerant is not the answer. Yes, there are people who use the kits and have had good luck but we see many vehicles that have been charged with a do it yourself kit come to our shop for repairs that could have been cheaper if done professionally in the first place. Do some heavy research and ask plenty of questions before you just add refrigerant using a do it yourself kit.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I used the remote start on my 2004 Chevy Silverado to warm it up the other morning and came out to find my interior filled with smoke. I did not see smoke coming out of any area, so I aired it out and drove to work. I have checked all the electrical functions and the only thing I find that does not work is the heater fan high speed. Could this be what was smoking?

Thank you,

Steven in Kalamazoo Michigan

Dear Steven,

The interior HVAC blower fan system could have been the source of the smoke. Blower resistor failures are common as vehicles age. The blower windings break down over time and the resistance on the circuit increases, this extra resistance causes the resistor to run much hotter than it should. Eventually the resistor can fail and sometimes it will let off smoke. In addition to the resistor failing some vehicles have issues with the wires that attach to the resistor and the connector plug melting. In the case of the Silverado, it is a common issue and some of them were subject to a recall so check with your local dealership for more information. Most important of all to remember is to stop driving a vehicle when you see or smell smoke. Fire spreads quickly in a vehicle and you can be overcome by the fumes of the many materials used in its construction. Always think about your safety first.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a 2007 Chevy Impala with several issues that all occurred about the same time. I have a check engine light on, I have poor cabin heat, and my fuel mileage is not as good as it used to be. What kind of things should I be looking for?

Thank you,

Diane in Wray Colorado

Dear Diane,

It is possible that just one thing is causing all your problems and that item is small and relatively inexpensive, your engines thermostat. The thermostat is responsible for keeping the engine temperature at a steady level so that you have proper heat available for the interior and proper operating temperature for the engine to operate efficiently. When a thermostat does not allow the engine to warm to a certain level on OBDII vehicles the computer responds by turning on the check engine light. Another effect of low temps is a decrease in fuel mileage due to continued fuel mixture enrichment. In the past, our vehicles used carburetors with chokes on them to enrich the fuel mixture for proper running until the engine was warm. Around the early eighties this changed to electronic fuel injection and is now controlled by the engine computer. If the thermostat does not regulate the engine temperature properly the computer may continue to enrich the fuel mixture causing the vehicle to have poor mileage. Thermostats should be serviced when the coolant is flushed or when they fail to operate as designed.

Take care,
the Motor Medics
