Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

~ No Manmade Invention ~

When people are unaware of the devil's schemes, this enemy will take advantage of any situations he feels he can use to further his cause. Satan makes a lot of gains through those who are ignorant to his ways.

Even when Christians act in their own self-interest rather than in obedience to God's ways, they let the values of worldliness come into their lives which will misrepresent the principles of Christianity and damage the interest of God's Kingdom.

The devil is crafty, always looking for that weak link in the church or a church-goer that allows their lives to be lived in such a way that lives a worldly and lifeless Christianity, which in return can help advance all forms of social evils, from immorality to deception and beyond.

This is why there must be a revival in the American church today. This is where it needs to start if revival is to do any great good. Weak faith in the ways of God always shows that person's true heart toward their opinion of God. True salvation will only show up in an attitude of real repentance.

The gospel of Christ is not a manmade invention, patterned after any human concept. The gospel is the message of the redemptive work of Jesus over the works of the devil.

ASK THE MOTOR MEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

I recently had to have a suspension part replaced on my vehicle and I went the cheap route and found one on the internet at half of the price that my local store was offering and at that cost I could not pass it up. Being so cheap and with the free shipping I figured it made sense. The warranty was six months, but I figured they would not sell them if they all went bad and at that price I could buy another one if it failed. I installed it myself and 1000 miles later was left stranded missing a wheel. The car was towed, and they found the part I had was very cheaply produced. I tried to call the company, but they have no phone and do not respond to my emails. Is there any way to know how good a part is when purchasing one from a source other than the vehicle manufacturer?

Thank you,
Bart in Wray Colorado

Dear Bart,

There are some great deals out there but also some very poor-quality parts that can fail and compromise your safety. How can you be sure you are getting good quality parts? Buy locally. You will have a real building you can walk into and real people who will help you if you have a failure. The store will also have the backing of reputable companies that supply their parts and you will be supporting your local economy.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I took a trip overseas and rented a small car with a gas engine. It looked just like the Ford Focus I own here in the states but had more zip and the fuel economy was much better than what I get at home. I noticed two things when I refueled the car. One the very high cost as compared to ours and two the very high-octane content. I typically use 87-90 octane at home but the lowest available overseas was 95 and with 5% ethanol it was 99. This seems really high. Does this have something to do with the better mileage and power and if so why don't we have it here in the states?

Thank you,
Martin in Shelton Washington

Dear Martin,

Most people would not have noticed the octane rating, good eye. You are correct about the octane's effect on fuel economy and power. With higher octane fuel the engines can run higher compression and more timing without detonation equaling more power and efficiency. Therefore, a car with the same cubic inch engine overseas could get better mileage than its counterpart in the states. I can only speculate on the reasons we don't see it here but would guess the price of the higher-octane fuel combined with emissions regulations probably play a part in it. Manufacturers are continuously working on ways to increase power while using the same size engine and octane fuel available at American pumps today.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

My Husband and I purchased a 2007 Chevy Tahoe a few years back to haul our grandkids around. We looked at a few different vehicles trying to stick with a budget while getting the room we needed for five grandkids, and we arrived at the Tahoe. It looks pretty good and has 180k miles on it. Until now it has given us no problems but last summer, we lost the air conditioning, and our local garage wants $1200.00 to repair it. They said it is the rear high-pressure a/c line that has been damaged by the rocks on our gravel road. Naturally since we listen to your show we thought if anyone could help us save some cash with an alternative repair it might be you guys. Is there such thing as a used line for it? What's involved in the repair?

Thank you,
Mavis in Toledo Ohio

Dear Mavis,

Hose rear lines for the a/c are prone to damage and always have been. The good news is that they usually only get damaged in one spot near the wheel well and often can be repaired. We have been able to save all but one with a splice kit. We lower the damaged section of the line then we splice it, replaced the accumulator, and evacuate and recharge the system. We have seen other shops do it too and prices usually range from $250-$500 which is a lot better than your $1200 quote.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I've got a 2008 Ram 2500 Diesel and The starter was getting weak, so I got one shipped to me from Hollander Parts dot com and I was pretty proud of myself. I'm not much of a mechanic but I was able to change the starter myself and the truck ran awesome for a week. That's when it went horribly wrong. I decided to tackle the broken clock spring for the air bag in the steering column so I could get my cruise back and have a working air bag and horn. Following a you tube video I first unhooked the battery and touched the cables together to drain the voltage before taking out the air bag. I forgot to unhook my second battery and I got a huge spark and now the truck won't run. I have not touched the air bag parts yet. I only got as far as the battery. Nothing lights up on my dash but all my lighting works. Can you help me?

Thank you,
Brent in Lubbock Texas

Dear Brent,

Oh boy. We've seen this before. When a battery is shorted like that it can cause a voltage spike that's so high that it destroys modules. In our shop we go to one system at a time and check for power and ground and communication with a scanner to diagnose the system. You may have just blown some fuses ok links, but it could be much more.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

ASK THE MOTOR MEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

We have a new driver in the family, our teenage daughter. She will start driving on her own in a few weeks and we have spent many hours with her teaching the skills of driving. We feel that she is very responsible for her age and will be a responsible driver but we would like your advice on how we can teach her to deal with a few common emergencies that a teenager might face when starting out on the road alone for the first time.

Thank you,
Shelby in Carroll Iowa

Dear Shelby,

There are many things about common vehicle emergencies that a new driver and even a well-seasoned one can benefit from knowing. Some problems can be prevented with focused driving. A driver who is aware of their surroundings can avoid many common problems. First off, many teens I speak to don't know what to do about a flat tire. This is one of the easiest things to take care of but without proper knowledge can be very intimidating and even dangerous. Go over the procedures for installing a spare and don't forget safety first like making sure the car is in a safe location before attempting a change. Six inches from the edge of a busy highway is not safe. In general, think of all the issues you have dealt with in your daily driving and teach them before it happens. Dead battery, out of gas, locked out of car, etc.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I get pulled over often by the police and although a lot of the time I either get no ticket or just a warning I just don't understand why they seem to target me. I drive a Honda Accord Sedan that's silver so it's not flashy and I rarely speed. Are there certain things that trigger getting pulled over more than others?

Thank you,
Jesse in Martinsville Virginia

Dear Jesse,

You just must have one of those magnetic attractions, one that attracts officers. You could take a cab, or you could avoid some common mistakes. If you are getting pulled over often you must be doing something to attract attention to yourself. Here are just a few things that will draw attention. Being the only car on the road, this puts all eyes on you. Passing too quickly, by darting out, around, and back in quickly, it looks like you are traveling faster than you may be. If you are traveling too fast, slow down. Loud music and dark tinted windows, and loud exhaust never help either. In general, you want to be as incognito as possible. Don't draw unneeded attention to yourself.

If you do get pulled over the number one way to avoid that ticket is to be polite. The officers are doing their jobs and will be making the choice of ticket or not. Being rude is a surefire way of making sure they do their job as thoroughly as possible.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I want to know about drive by wire steering. I purchasing a new car with it and it has me concerned and wanting to know more before I buy as I don't know how it works or if it's safe. Does it really have no connection between the steering wheel and wheels? What if it quits working?

Thank you,
Bryan in Vandalia Missouri

Dear Bryan,

Drive-By-Wire has been around for more than a decade in many vehicles and is also used in aircraft. You could almost compare it to remote control where you command the action of a device remotely without actually being in physical connection to it. Electric Throttle Control is the most common and is used in most all cars and trucks on the road today but we are now seeing steering go this way due to autonomous cars and self-parking modes that are coming into the market. Throttles have at least two sensors for redundancy and if it fails, well, you just don't accelerate; if steering fails, not so good... Engineers have taken our safety into account and have designed the system so that there is a physical connection that is made whenever the electronics are not powered just in case there is a failure. This safety system was designed to prevent safety issues in the event of a failure. We suggest you get online and investigate further for your own piece of mind before you choose to purchase one.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I listen to Under The Hood both here in the United States, North America, and also when I'm in my second home in Central America in Costa Rica at my dive shop. You really Are Americas' Favorite Car-talk show. The signals a little weak there on my old Mazda Truck so I have to listen via internet. My question is about the Mazda. I need to find parts for it in the way of door trim. That little chrome piece is missing from the bottom of the side door glass and you can't get one here and they never sold this model in the U.S. What do I do?

Thank you,
Scott in Sioux Falls SD

Dear Scott,

Thanks for listening to the show way down there; maybe if you get a little higher up your radio will have better reception. As for the body parts, ouch. We get this question from many of our listeners who are not in the United States who drive vehicles only made in other parts of the world. You know because you own one but many folks don't know that a Mazda truck or a Ford truck or car made overseas is very different looking even though it may carry the same model name. As for parts, we know salvage yards there are not many so get online and see if you may find one across the pond in New Zealand or Australia. Good luck parts hunting.

Take care,
