Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Here's how it works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

~ If More Believed ~

When the eclipse came, it showed just how much people worship nature and are being caught up in events the world deems as fun and interesting more than some. Not all care about the God who gives us nature.

Today, people want to believe in what they believe. The truth is, they don't want to be bothered with God's truths because His truths bring moral implications in living and judgments for those who reject God's truths.

Hell is a perfect example. The Bible says in Matthew 10:28, "Do not fear those who can kill the body but cannot kill the soul. But rather fear Him who is able to destroy both soul and body in hell."

Hell is a real place, and if more Christians truly believed in hell, then there would be a lot more Christians spending more time witnessing for Jesus, investing more of their money in God's work, spending more time in prayer and having a greater burden to see the gospel being made available to all people.

Hell is as real as you are, and if more believed in a literal hell, then more would be working to keep themselves and others away from it. For there is no more hope once you've entered through its gates.

ASK THE MOTOR MEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

I just purchased a 2021 Yukon with 80k miles. It was a dealer purchase, and I did follow your advice and have a neutral third-party shop perform an extensive pre-purchase inspection. After driving the truck for two months I have already had to replace the brakes and front struts and a driver's side wheel bearing. Since I purchased it, my mail has been full of extended warranty offers. Should I think about an extended warranty? It seems like they all are promising different things and they cost a lot of money. Are my problems just bad luck or are these vehicles known for problems?

Thank you,
Mark in Pipestone Minnesota

Dear Mark,

Well... that's a lot of stuff going on there. The inspection was spot on. We highly recommend one every time and not from where it is being purchased. As for the problems you have had, they are all common issues at 80k on these but not always. They don't set off our alarm bells. The warranties on the other hand do. While there are some exceptional extended warranty companies out there, there are many more that are not so great. A warranty is there to protect you and save you money, but they tend to be expensive and if they won't pay for a repair when you have a problem then it does you no good. Read the fine print many times and understand what's covered before committing to one.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I'm looking to purchase a used car for my high school senior who will graduate in the spring. This will be her first car and we hope that it will get her through college and maybe longer. Maybe graduate school if we're lucky. She will be commuting across the country to Arizona with trips back to Kansas several times a year. We want something that is good on fuel but also one that is safe and won't break down but cheap to buy too. What are your suggestions.

Thank you,
Karen in Salina Kansas

Dear Karen,

Although we get this question multiple times a year, it is still one of the hardest situations to deal with. We can't simply point you in the direction of a used car model and say go for it. There are too many things to consider. In the end you must make the choice for yourself, but you need to be smart in your search. We suggest setting a budget first, then choosing a car she likes. Once you have several models chosen, look up fuel economy and consumer reports on the likelihood of repairs needed. You can then use those factors to narrow down the choices. Once you have them narrowed down look at the safety ratings and you can further narrow down the choices to just a few and at that point you should be able to settle on just one based on miles and price.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a 2004 Ford F150 truck, and I've lost the 4-wheel drive. The front end of the truck started to grind for a while before it finally stopped completely. The transfer case does seem to be working because the front driveshaft turns when in 4-wheel drive and does not when it is in 2-wheel drive. can you guys lead me in a direction of diagnosis that might help feel more secure in what I am told at the repair shop?

Thank you,
Bernard in Enid Oklahoma

Dear Bernard,

We make plenty repairs to the 4-wheel drive systems on these trucks. there is a common problem that starts with a grinding then ends up with a failure. The system uses vacuum to engage and disengage a locking mechanism on the front hubs. When in the 2-wheel drive, the vacuum is applied and the hubs release. The system uses a small vacuum hose to do this that is activated electrically. That hose has a common fault which causes it to be rubbed through and when it does the system is only half engaged. This is like trying to put a transmission into gear without using the clutch. Eventually the gear grinding eats the teeth off the hubs. To repair it the hubs and the actuators need to be replaced and the vacuum line needs to be repaired and protected to prevent future issues. This is just one possible cause of trouble.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I've had an ongoing issue with my 2008 Chevrolet Impala. The check engine light has been coming on and I've had it scanned several times and I got a code which says I have a failed thermostat. So here is the problem. I replaced the thermostat myself then had my local auto parts store who read the code clear it and now less than a week later the light is back on with the same code. I have good heat and the temp gauge reads in the normal range. Have you ever seen this before?

Thank you,
Mark in Manhattan Kansas

Dear Mark,

We have seen this, and one possibility is that the thermostat has failed a second time either due to a faulty part or there is something else wrong in the system which is making it think you have a failure. One of these possibilities is a failed temp sensor on the cooling system or possibly the connector going to it. When we make this repair which we do very often, we replace the sending unit and its connector pigtail, and the thermostat then clear the codes and verify operation. Some people opt to just do part of the repair but then find they need to go back and do the rest and end up spending more money. Diagnosing the system is fairly straight forward for a repair shop with a scanner, a multimeter and temp probe. Hope this helps you out.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

CLASSIFIED
QUICK TIPS

Prepare. Know what is important to readers shopping in your classified category.

Make Your Copy Complete. Use ad copy effectively to thoroughly communicate to potential buyer(s). Organize the ad carefully. Space and punctuate, so that the reader can follow the ad and understand its content.

Be Creative Descriptive. List major selling points (price, color, size, features or options).

Be Factual. Be Helpful. Include hours of operation, best days and times in which to make contact as well as area code on phone numbers.

Make Your Ad Easily Recognizable. Choose a main benefit of your merchandise and feature it in a headline. Use art, large type sizes, bolding and best of all, use white space to make your ad visually attractive and so powerful, it's jumping off the page.

Maximize The Amount Of Prospective Buyers/Readers. Multiply insertions help prospective buyers/readers REMEMBER the ad because of repetition. Take advantage of discounted rates available for multiple insertions.

Urge The Reader To Act Now! Every ad should include a strong bid for action. Stimulate prompt action by using such phrases as "Call Now", "Available Immediately" or "Won't Last".
