Fun By The Numbers
Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

~ Playing with God ~

The Bible tells all Christians to be consistent in prayer in Romans 12. The Bible tells Christians to pray without ceasing.

God has already accomplished on this earth that which we are praying for. If we will respond to God by faith, He will respond to us.

Praying people are those who are expecting God to work in their lives and in matters they're praying about. Praying people trust God to answer even before they ask, for their faith rests in God's sovereignty.

The Bible encourages us to pray without ceasing, to pray continually, to pray for one another, and to make our requests known before God.

It is absolutely essential that our prayers be guided from the word of God. God's word sustains our prayers when we let God be in charge of our praying.

ASK THE MOTOR MEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

So what's a guy to do? I have a 2007 Pontiac Solstice GXP Turbo. Over the past year I have been adding power steering fluid. This started with filling the tank because it was at the low mark, then it was every time it would make noise which turned into a weekly event. Now, I can fill it in the morning, and it is empty by the time I get ten miles to work. I tried two different shops, and both said the parts were discontinued for it, a cooler, all hoses and a pump. I found only one hose online and they say they won't install them because they are cheap aftermarket hoses.

Thank you,
Kensington in Albion Nebraska

Dear Kensington,

Yes, this is very common and in fact we own one of these that we had to fix ourselves so we know how much labor is involved and how costly it can be. Some are so bad that the engine must be replaced at a much higher cost. As for the warranty. They sold you a 36k warranty, and that's what was agreed to. Talk with them or try a different dealership and plead your case. Sometimes they make slight exceptions.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

We have a 2013 Ram 1500 truck with a misfire at 140k miles. We have worked on it ourselves replacing the coils, spark plugs, injectors and fuel pump and it still has a misfire. The scanner we have shows that the misfire is a p0300 Random Misfire and a p0304 and a p0306. The misfire starts at higher rpm and at idle it runs perfectly smooth. Can you give us some ideas to look at next?

Thank you,
Matt in Livonia Michigan

Dear Matt,

When diagnosing a misfire, we first verify with a scan tool that we have a mis the way you have. After getting info such as cylinder number, 4 and 6 in your case by the codes, we inspect those cylinders testing for compression and leakage. If those both are good, we move on to ignition and fuel. In the case of this engine, if all looks good but the misfires are still present, we will pull the valve covers and inspect the rockers to see if the valves are opening all the way. These engines have had some lifer and cam issues which when worn will not allow the valve to fully open, which makes the engine mis at higher rpm but not at idle or low speeds. The repair for this can be anywhere from a cam and lifter swap to an engine replacement if metal shavings have contaminated the engine. Good luck. We hope that you find something small needing repairs.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

So what's a guy to do? I have a 2007 Pontiac Solstice GXP Turbo. Over the past year I have been adding power steering fluid. This started with filling the tank because it was at the low mark, then it was every time it would make noise which turned into a weekly event. Now, I can fill it in the morning, and it is empty by the time I get ten miles to work. I tried two different shops, and both said the parts were discontinued for it, a cooler, all hoses and a pump. I found only one hose online and they say they won't install them because they are cheap aftermarket hoses.

Thank you,
Chris in Watertown New York

Dear Chris,

What a fun car to drive. Even more when it doesn't leak. We have an employee with one of those and they had the same issue. The shops are correct, they discontinued the parts you need. Just a couple of hoses are available aftermarket, which is better than none. We had to remove the hoses and have a hydraulic shop crimp on new rubber. One steel line was rusted through and that had to come from a recycling yard car. The pump was also available used. All together it was pricey, but they did get their car going again. You may have to shop around a bit as a lot of shops don't work on those cars any longer.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

Our son drives a 2013 Ram Truck diesel. He spends a lot of money on the truck. We bought it and he has saved his money working on it, things like a new turbo, intercooler, injectors and more. He's never said it ran bad, just that he "Needed" more stuff to make it better. It has a giant pipe in the bed for exhaust, who knows why? He recently got the truck impounded for "Rolling Coal" because it interfered with cars and caused pollution. He was also told that the truck would need to have its emissions put back on to be driven on the street again and he is asking for money to fix it. What is all this stuff and how does it affect driving it on the street?

Thank you,
Riley in Ft Collins Colorado

Dear Riley,

Tuners, bigger Turbos, and removing emissions parts to get more power has been done for many years by many drivers of diesel trucks. While some of this, like removing exhaust emissions parts and egr deletes has not ever been legal according to federal laws, it still gets done by private individuals. Rolling Coal is when these trucks are set to dump so much wasted fuel into the exhaust that they smoke out the drivers behind the truck and most states hand out tickets for this. Recently many like yours have been cracking down on it and if a truck won't pass emission testing it can't be registered.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Auctioneer's Note: We will have a very nice line of items to sell. Due to the passing of Mr. Wampler the family decided to liquidate all his farm equipment. Due to the lack of space and convenience everything has been moved to our auction lot. The Snider Family has sold their farm and are selling all their equipment as well. Bertram Cattle has discontinued their haying operation and are selling all their hay equipment. Every item in this auction comes off these 3 farms.
