~ God is Looking ~

God will certainly use that person who is committed to Him, whose trust and concerns are in the hands who made them. God will use a surrendered life who wants what God has to offer them. One whose eyes look at this world, and then beyond this world, to a place that has been prepared for them and others that they can influence to come and see as well.

God is interested in and cares for every person, but He is especially attentive to watch for those who will lay down their life for Him and forsake the offers of this world and make available to His service their lives to His plans and purposes for the work of His kingdom upon humanity.

God is looking for men and women that prove they are students of His Word, who seek after His wisdom, who desire to use their God-given talents regardless of the benefit to themselves, they who accept their accomplishments in life with humility and are willing to stay in the background if needed to further the work of Jesus Christ.

ASK THE MOTOR MEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

My issue is with my 2013 Buick Encore Convenience. This car has been anything but a convenience. It has the 1.4 engine with a turbo, and I have replaced the turbocharger twice in 80k miles and in the past month I had to replace the entire engine due to oil burning. It now runs and drives like new again except for the check engine light. The light came on right after the engine was replaced so I took it right back and they said it was a failed catalytic converter which is not part of the engine and is a part that I must pay for. So, I had them install the least expensive one they could find and after two more they said it was the same thing. The dealer then installed a factory part for much more money, and it seems to work well. Why did the cheaper ones not work? Was it a possible installation issue?

Thank you,
Curt in Maple Grove Minnesota

Dear Curt,

We have seen more than our fair share of these in our own shop and have found that when the engine fails the converter often is damaged by oil or coolant making it necessary to replace it. Our experience has shown us that we should stick with the OEM Factory GM part on this model of car if we want to be sure that we are trouble free. For some reason the aftermarkets have been problematic.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

Guys I have a 2012 Ram 3500 truck with the 5.7 Hemi engine, and it has a lot of noise. I put 150k trouble free miles on this truck changing the engine oil every 5k miles and have never overheated it. The truck is used to pull a landscaping trailer weighing about 8k pounds m-f then it hauls a boat or just gets the groceries on the weekends. I took it to the dealership where they say the cam and lifters have failed and that I'm looking at over 10k to install a remanufactured engine. The truck looks great and that's cheaper than a new truck, but can you tell me what my options are for repairs and possibly why it failed?

Thank you,
Julie in Tyler Texas

Dear Julie,

Usually we like to see less miles on the oil changes on these trucks to protect the engine, but you may be getting it warm enough that it is not an issue. Monitor the oil condition closely once it's fixed and maybe step them up. The cam and lifter failures are common and like we said, oil plays a big part but they can fail even with early oil changes. Shop around for engines. We have seen these installed for anywhere from 8k dollars to 11k or so with a 3-year 100k warranty and all about the same quality so it's worth it to look around. The remanufactured is the most popular choice.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I've been having issues with my 2008 GMC Acadia. The Service Engine Soon light comes on and the Trac-Off and ABS lights come on and when they do the message center displays reduced power and I can't drive because I have no throttle response. When I take this thing into my shop it works for them because it only happens about once a week.

Thank you,
Mike in Daytona Florida

Dear Mike,

That's a ton of stuff going on there, but I suspect they might all be connected. Over the past year we have seen no less than 20 vehicles exhibit this set of symptoms and they all turned out to be the same, a failed throttle body. The throttle body is electric and is the part that regulates how much air enters the engine. There is no cable connecting the throttle pedal to the engine as in the past. This system, as you can imagine, must be calibrated exactly and have sensors to make sure that the vehicle does not have unintended acceleration or throttle loss. When the engine computer senses a failure in any of the internal circuits the system goes into reduced engine power mode. It will need to be diagnosed to know for sure and if replaced make sure you keep a receipt for the work in case GM decides to recall it for safety reasons which could possibly make you eligible for a monetary reimbursement on repairs.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a 2008 Chevy Impala and when it's cold outside I get a message on the dash that reads "Engine Hot A/C off and the Check Engine light comes on at the same time. Once the car warms up, I can shut the light off and clear the message if I cycle the ignition key. It has been doing this for over a year and my wife is getting nervous about it, so I want to get it fixed.

Thank you,
Tom in Ventura California

Dear Tom,

We have seen this message a few times and although engine codes and messages should be something simple to diagnose, they don't always get diagnosed as easily as you could hope for. The system needs to be diagnosed to know for sure what's up but some of the things to check that can trip the codes are the lack of ability to read engine temperature due to a failed sensor or connection to it or an actual failure of the engine to reach proper operating temperature in a preset amount of time as determined by the engine computer software. Now the message reads Engine Hot, but that's where it gets tricky because when the engine can't reach proper temperature it's often a failed thermostat and that makes the engine run cold, not hot. A strange situation for sure but it's just one of the fun things we mechanics get to deal with every day in our shops.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Organize the ad carefully. Space and punctuate, so that the reader can follow the ad and understand its content.

Be Creative Descriptive. List major selling points (price, color, size, features or options).

Be Factual. Be Helpful. Include hours of operation, best days and times in which to make contact as well as area code on phone numbers.
