This is considered a 'drought year' and wildfires are everywhere. This is going to be a TOUGH feeding season.

On average, the GoBob Scientific Hay Feeder saves $150.82 per head LESS hay than other hay feeders.

The Okla State University Dept of Animal & Food Science helped us revamp our feeders to maximize feeding efficiency.

~ The Final Chapter ~

This world is starting to experience the growing effects of the Book of Revelation, the final chapter of the Bible. The changes are already having its effects in the culture. Today's generation will see the final curtain as humanity begins to experience shifting never seen by previous generations.

The hope to be found in all of this can be and only will be anchored in a real relationship with Jesus Christ. For Jesus' way must be heeded. For there is no other name given to mankind on earth as it is in heaven than the name of Jesus to escape hell. There will be a separation between these two groups with some who will try to ride the fence, but it won't work out.

To be an heir of heaven is worth more than all the riches, possession, fame or power this world has to offer. Only by having a true relationship with Jesus will a person be able to survive what's growing in intensity over the earth. Check yourself. Take a good evaluation of your life and see how it honestly matches up with the ways of Jesus Christ.

ASK THE MOTOR MEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a 1960 Ford F100, and I live in Arizona where the weather is usually great in the winter and most people would never store a vehicle during those months. However, I go north in the winter to Canada to spend time with my family from November to March. This sounds crazy, leaving warm Arizona to go north but with ten grandchildren I enjoy it more than the warm climate. My concern is with storing the F100 for those four months do I need to think about doing anything to it for storage?

Thank you,
Vic in Scottsdale Arizona

Dear Vic,

We get less calls from southern climates about storage, but we still have plenty of people who are active military or travelers who have the same concerns as you. We like to think about both driving and storage. With a vehicle that is driven very little it can be tough on them just as storage can be. We like to keep metal fuel tanks full to prevent rust and keep an additive like Stabil for fuel storage in every tank of gas to prevent varnish in the fuel system as well as control rust. As for the battery you will want to keep a battery maintainer plugged in at all times when the vehicle is sitting even while you are home. This will help extend its life. We recommend oil changes at least once a year to prevent cardboard oil filter rot too.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

We were recently given a 1998 Honda Accord, and we want to make sure that it will last as long as possible. It only has 75k miles on it and we did get a used car inspection right after it was given to us and we were told it looks great except for a timing belt and the burnt transmission fluid. They said we should be good on the belt until 100k mile though. Do you recommend changing the fluid now or waiting?

Thank you,
Brad in Austin Texas

Dear Brad,

Let's start with the transmission. It is normal for this year of Honda to have a darker color to the fluid soon after a flush. With that said, if it has 75k and it has not been changed it is still time to change it. The car is 26 years old after all. As long as it shifts perfectly well a fluid change should be a good thing. As for the timing belt... Whatever shop told you it's fine to go to 100k miles on a belt that is already 26 years old if it really has not been changed is giving you poor advice. Belts just do not last that long. In most cases belts like these should be changed much more often. If a belt breaks in most cars, the engine will be heavily damaged. We would change both the belt and the fluid.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I drive a 2011 Hyundai Elantra with 78K miles. It started making a steering noise lately that happens only when I gently turn the wheel left and right. I have found that if I turn the engine off and leave the steering wheel unlocked the noise goes away completely. I took it into a shop that was not sure what I needed. They thought maybe a steering column as the noise was located up high in the column. I then took it to a dealership who also said I needed to replace the entire column because the motor gears had gone bad. I have not been able to locate a good used column yet and a new one will cost over 3k installed. Is there another way to repair it at a lower cost?

Thank you,
Mark in Rapid City South Dakota

Dear Mark,

Those big repair bills hurt, but we may have a solution you should like. The motor for the electric steering is coupled to the column via a rubber motor coupler to give it a smoother feel. This coupler falls apart with age and now is available only on Amazon as far as we have seen. The part cost is about $6 dollars. Yep, that's it! We see a lot of people try to install it themselves and usually get it done in two to three hours but safety first, so a couple hours shop labor should do it.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

Do you know a way to get the smell of a skunk out of a car? We drive a 2010 Suburban that's in really nice shape with only 90k miles on it but we had an issue. We came home from a camping trip and had the kids help us unload. Tents, gear, and food. One of the doors was left open and when it got dark about midnight, we saw the dome light on and noticed a side door was open. We ran out and shut it but that was not the end. The next weekend we went out to load the car for camping and we found a dead skunk. It must have got in through the door. It sprayed the interior, and it can't be driven. What can be done?

Thank you,
Tina in Duluth Minnesota

Dear Tina,

We have seen things like spilled milk that are bad, but this tops it. If you have full coverage insurance, use it. Cleaning probably won't help. You will need to remove and replace anything that encountered the skunk. Or its spray. Seats, wall panels, carpet, all of it. If there is no insurance coverage, you could try to get some parts from a self-service auto parts yard that you pull yourself. We have seen people do this. Parts are usually very affordable at those yards but there is the labor. Otherwise sell it to someone who can't smell very well.

Take care,
the Motor Medics
