~ Its Spiritual~

And so, it is. My heart is heavy because people's eternal souls are so valuable. God created every person ever created in a woman's womb. Yet, so very many take living and dying without much thought of the truth of God's word.

People are so deceived by false teaching about religion and Christianity. If you don't believe the Bible, then it doesn't matter. Yet, people everywhere say they believe but live contrary to God's word.

It is like they spiritually hear the gospel, but with a mixed heart and soul that is on some type of thought that goes right through them and has no lasting effect.

The cost of playing church is spiritually dangerous to our eternal well-being. And there are far too many playing games with the soul, and people are going to wind up banished from the presence of God. A lot of people won't believe that God is going to hold them accountable for being just a good person, but not a Christian.

ASK THE MOTORMEDICS®

Automotive Advice from the Under The Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a 1998 Chevy 3500 with a 6.5 diesel engine. I have owned the truck since new and it is in amazing shape with 160k miles. The truck had an injection pump put on it under warranty in 2002 but other than that I have made almost no repairs to it other than brakes. Lately it has become more difficult to start cold or hot and while driving it sometimes will cut out like the key has been switched off, but it keeps running. It also surges if I set the cruise at 55 but not at 65 or over. Do you have any ideas?

Thank you,
Trevor in Rockdale Texas

Dear Trevor,

We could make this into a 10-part list of what to do to make a 6.5 more reliable and what to upgrade one part at a time. The trucks are very reliable when certain parts are in top shape. You have several things pointing to possible injection pump issues, but we would suggest checking the glow plugs and the FSD and repair and upgrade as needed as a first place to start. Also make sure that the lift pump is supplying proper pressure. Once all of that has been done a more detailed diagnosis of the injection pump can be made. If there are failures in the FSD or fuel delivery it can give a false failure indication of an injection pump. Making friends with a good 6.5 mechanic would be helpful.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a 2004 Chevy Silverado with a heavy rust problem on the frame. If you look at the truck everywhere but the frame it has no rusty areas at all. It is hard for me to understand why the frame has rusted so badly. The worst spot is just ahead of the rear axle on both sides. I was having the brake lines replaced and they told me that the frame was found to be rusted through and broken on the passenger side. Is there anything I can do to repair this otherwise super nice condition truck with only 90k miles on it? This truck spent its first three years in New York.

Thank you,
Steve, Rapid City South Dakota

Dear Steve,

Rust is such an awful thing when it comes to vehicles. There are so many that would still be on the road today that were in perfect mechanical condition, but the rust took its toll. If you are in an area prone to road salt and rust, we suggest getting your vehicle professionally undercoated and keeping it maintained. It is not a once and done application. We are not sure about this vehicle but there is a frame repair kit and brace available for certain vehicles that is made to repair the weak rusted and broken areas making it useable again. It requires a frame or body shop to weld it in and rustproof the area.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I have a 2021 GMC Yukon with a 5.3 engine. The vehicle has 36k miles on it. The warranty expired last week at 36k, and it started making engine noise all the time at about 35,800 miles. I called the dealership where we purchased it, which is a few hundred miles away, and they said bring it in so we can check it. Well, the vehicle passed 36k before we arrived by just a bit, and they said the warranty had expired due to miles. They didn't say anything about towing it in since it was so close to the expiration, and I don't know who we talked to on the phone. We paid to have it diagnosed and they say it has failed lifters and a camshaft and that it will be very costly to repair. Is this a common thing and can they just cut us off right at exactly 36k?

Thank you,
Kensington in Albion Nebraska

Dear Kensington,

Yes, this is very common and in fact we own one of these that we had to fix ourselves so we know how much labor is involved and how costly it can be. Some are so bad that the engine must be replaced at a much higher cost. As for the warranty. They sold you a 36k warranty, and that's what was agreed to. Talk with them or try a different dealership and plead your case. Sometimes they make slight exceptions.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

We have a 2013 Ram 1500 truck with a misfire at 140k miles. We have worked on it ourselves replacing the coils, spark plugs, injectors and fuel pump and it still has a misfire. The scanner we have shows that the misfire is a p0300 Random Misfire and a p0304 and a p0306. The misfire starts at higher rpm and at idle it runs perfectly smooth. Can you give us some ideas to look at next?

Thank you,
Matt in Livonia Michigan

Dear Matt,

When diagnosing a misfire, we first verify with a scan tool that we have a mis the way you have. After getting info such as cylinder number, 4 and 6 in your case by the codes, we inspect those cylinders testing for compression and leakage. If those both are good, we move on to ignition and fuel. In the case of this engine, if all looks good but the misfires are still present, we will pull the valve covers and inspect the rockers to see if the valves are opening all the way. These engines have had some lifer and cam issues which when worn will not allow the valve to fully open, which makes the engine mis at higher rpm but not at idle or low speeds. The repair for this can be anywhere from a cam and lifter swap to an engine replacement if metal shavings have contaminated the engine. Good luck. We hope that you find something small needing repairs.

Take care,
the Motor Medics

Make Your Copy Complete. Use ad copy effectively to thoroughly communicate to potential buyer(s). Organize the ad carefully. Space and punctuate, so that the reader can follow the ad and understand its content.

Be Creative Descriptive. List major selling points (price, color, size, features or options).

Be Factual. Be Helpful. Include hours of operation, best days and times in which to make contact as well as area code on phone numbers.

Make Your Ad Easily Recognizable. Choose a main benefit of your merchandise and feature it in a headline. Use art, large type sizes, bolding and best of all, use white space to make your ad visually attractive and so powerful, it's jumping off the page.
