Seven local Dance Sensations’ students took home awards from the Dance Champs competition held April 12-13 in Kansas City. Soloists earning an Elite Platinum in their respective categories were Delta Halley, hip hop; Grace Choate, ballet; and Allison Sweaney, ballet. Mason Dority and Allison Sweaney also earned an Elite Platinum with their lyrical duet as did Katie Dotson and Delta Halley with their tap duet. Bella Snider and Zoe Sipes took home a Star Platinum with their jazz duet as did Choate, Dotson and Halley with their ballet trio. This was the first competition for all seven dancers. The dancers study ballet, jazz, hip hop, lyrical, tap and pointe at Dance Sensations, a studio located just off the square in Buffalo since 2010.

SHELTER

Advisory: An advisory is issued when a hazardous weather or hydrologic event is occurring, imminent or likely. Advisories are for less serious conditions than warnings that cause significant inconvenience, and if caution is not exercised, they could lead to situations that may threaten life or property.

Watch: A watch is used when the risk of hazardous weather or hydrologic events has increased significantly, but its occurrence, location, or timing is still uncertain. It is intended to provide enough lead time so those who need to set their plans in motion can do so. A watch means that hazardous weather is possible. People should have a plan of action in case a storm threatens and listen for later information and possible warnings, especially when planning travel or outdoor activities.

Garrett prepared the following instructions for each household:

When to Prepare: At least 72 hours before the anticipated impact, begin storm preparations. Planning allows time to secure your home, gather supplies, and formulate a safety plan.

Make a Safety Plan:

- Identify the safest room in your house.
- Create a communication plan: Every family member should have a contact card with meaningful names and phone numbers; if possible, identify an out-of-state contact and discuss after a disaster. It might be challenging to make a call, but texting could get through faster.

- Pick a Family Meeting Spot both in and outside your neighborhood.

Secure Your Home:

- Clear gutters and drains to prevent water accumulation.
- Secure or store outdoor furniture and other objects that could become airborne.
- Charge cell phones and any battery-powered devices.

- Prepare your emergency bag; OEM recommends using a backpack so you can grab it and go if need be in the haste of whatever the weather brings.

Suggestions for your emergency bag:

- Pack non-perishable food, water, and critical medications.
- Ensure you have a first aid kit, flashlights, extra batteries, a portable radio for updates, and spare cell phone chargers.
- Change of clothes or, at the very least, dry socks (store them in a zip-lock baggie to ensure they stay dry).

- If you have young children, pack a coloring book and crayons.

Stay Informed:

- Sign up for Dallas County Alerts (Text “SignMeUp” to 77295).
- Monitor weather updates through the NWS Springfield website and local media.
- Understand the terms used in weather forecasts, such as “watch,” “advisory,” and “warning.” [see above]

Shockley wrote a letter summarizing the meeting, which can be read on the Opinion page A6.

ALDERMEN

The Buffalo City Park and Fairgrounds was mentioned as a possibility. Kenall said he had discussed having a 75-100 ft. asphalt strip laid northwest of the fairground barns with Dallas County Fair board president John Crawford, police chief Chad Garner and Street Superintendent John Hardin. All agreed it could be done.

At Monday’s meeting, time was offered for each alderman to explain their safety and liability concerns. Most of them had done online research concerning burnouts and drags. Some incidents that resulted in injuries and fatalities were pointed out — one such was the 2015 Selmer, Tennessee incident that killed six people and injured two dozen when a dragster lost control and careened into the crowd.

The main Buffalo burnout safety concerns of the aldermen were that cars were continuing to burn out past the designated burnout area and that there were people along the sides of the road. Greg McKinney said there were rules in place and a specific distance for the shut-off point for the burnout, but he also said that there is always someone, it seems, who cannot act professional and obey all rules. He said they are disqualified and asked to leave.

“We even post signs that tell our participants and spectators to respect our city and obey our rules. No burnouts on our square or past certain points. We expect them to comply or not to be present,” Greg said.

Shane McKinney asked the council if they addressed the safety issues, that had been brought up just this year after a decade of shows, would the council consent to continuing the burnout on the square. The idea of moving it to the park and fairgrounds would still have the event on city property. A suggestion of the airport property for use was made.

Kenall said he had spoken with the city’s insurance agent and Buffalo’s attorney and both had agreed, that at any event, there is never a zero percent liability for the city, no matter of the coverage of the event holder’s insurance.

The McKinneys had already paid an event insurance of $3,000 for three events. This insurance premium is non-refundable according to them. The McKinneys said the whole purpose of the car show and burnout was to bring back the nostalgia of the days when the square was the hangout place on weekends for teens and young adults with cars, as well as generate additional revenue for the community.

Alderman Bret Viets asked the council if they had any objection to allowing another downtown car show and burnout while the park and fairgrounds were being prepared for future burnout events. Greg and Shane agreed they would consider the possibility of the park idea,

“The last thing we want is for anyone to get hurt. Safety is always a priority. There is always a possibility that something could happen, but that’s with anything, anywhere,” said Greg.

At this time a decision has not been settled on.

Good Dads 2.0, a new initiative, is set to begin in Buffalo

Over the past year, residents may have heard of the Good Dads program as the organizers searched for teachers and a host. Grace Community Church has opened its doors to provide space for Good Dads to begin a men's group teaching fathers the basics of building a great home environment and teachers have volunteered.

Good Dads ask, "How do you build a stable home for yourself and your family when you lack many of the tools necessary to construct a solid structure?" Good Dads believe that with the right guidance and support, men can acquire these tools and build a stable home that is not just stable but thriving.

Dads can attend class from 6 to 8 p.m. each Thursday at Grace Community Church, 1652 S. Ash St., Buffalo. To register, simply call Brenda Kasper at 314-413-2883 or Scott Galivan at 417-770-2932. The group facilitators are Scott Galivan, Brenda Kasper and Terry Kasper.

Participants can expect to learn and grow in the following areas:

- Long-term plans and commitment
- Help with child support concerns
- Leadership and manhood
- Communication skills
- Managing emotions
- Coping with stress
- Single parent challenges
- Child development milestones
- Self-confidence

To learn more, visit gooddads.com. For information from the Good Dads office, call 417-501-8867 or email info@gooddads.com.

COMMUNITY FOUNDATION OF THE OZARKS HOLDS REGIONAL MEETING

Last week, the Community Foundation of the Ozarks (CFO) hosted a regional meeting in Buffalo, which representatives from other affiliates attended. The event took place at Market 116, a creative classroom inside the store, with meals catered locally by Espresso Co. No. 825. The local affiliate, Dallas County Community Foundation, was well represented. The various affiliates had a unique opportunity to delve deeper into the CFO's mission, gaining valuable insights and understanding. They also worked together to enact best practices at each affiliate board, further enriching their knowledge and skills.

Missouri Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) welcomed 5,000-plus attendees from nearly 400 chapters to the record-breaking State Leadership Conference April 14-16, 2024 to celebrate our 65th year as an organization. Members and advisers gathered in person to expand their leadership knowledge, compete in various events, and connect with others from across the state. FBLA members competed in over seventy-six competitive events ranging from Accounting and Business Ethics to Social Media Strategies and UX Design. The Top 10 individuals/teams in each event were awarded medals onstage at Great Southern Bank Arena. The Top 4 in each competitive event received trophies and will advance to the National Leadership Conference this summer in Orlando, Florida.

The Buffalo High School chapter excelled at the State Leadership Conference by participating in 18 competitions and placing in the top 10 in five competitions. Members included Kaylee Barker, Alyea Bryner, Natalie Burkle, Kaylin Carter, Jefferson Christ, Chloe Chyka, Hunter Copeland, Mattie Daugherty, Sarah Duskin, Ryleigh Glor, Paige Henderson, Ellen Howard, Makayla Johnson, Kaedynce Nesmith, Payton Portis, Cameron Roberts, Matthew Skinner, Lukas Stitt and Leah White.

Throughout their time at the conference, members engaged in over 45 various specialized leadership academies led by professional trainers in various topics such as exploring all types of leadership styles, learning various communication techniques, strategizing time and stress management, and much more. The Leadership Expo held over 30 exhibitors including universities and military partners for members to connect, leadership activities for members to engage with, and tours of the College of Business at Missouri State University.

Amy Gallimore, the Creative Director and CEO at Four 16 Training Solutions, LLC was our keynote speaker. Four 16 Training Solutions is a company that specializes in inspiring keynote messages, interactive leadership workshops, and provides creative curriculum to clients all over the United States. Amy empowered all attendees to change their approach from looking at leadership as a "job" to an "attitude." This year we also saw the return of Ernie Biggs Dueling Pianos for a captivating performance during our Leader Celebration.

Services: A celebration of life will be held at a later date.

On behalf of the Easter Egg Committee, we would like to take a moment to recognize and thank some very important local business supporters, groups and individuals.

Beginning with our Event Sponsor or special thanks to O'Bannon Bank for their continued support ensuring the event can continue each year. Our field sponsors include; Oak-Star Bank, Espresso Co. #825, Dallas County Sheriff's Posse, New To You/OACAC, The Show-Me Romey Foundation, Buffalo Rotary Club, Restoring Hope, Walmart and Offbeat Custom Designs. Our Egg sponsors include; American Family Insurance, Dallas County Farmers Exchange, ABC Safety Trainings, Dog Gone Pretty, BTC Bank, Strickland Insurance, Park Place, Old Missouri Bank, Dallas County Family YMCA, R & S Motors, Lonnie and Myra Glor, Chapmans Furniture, Buffalo Eye Clinic, Andrea Gann Insurance and National TV Sales & Rentals.

We also want to thank the Habitat For Humanity group, Long Lane 4-H, Buffalo High School Interact Club, Excel Day Program, Buffalo High School Lifeskills Class and Dallas County Pageant participants. These groups stuffed over 10,000 eggs, hid eggs, or provided food at the event itself. We could not have had as successful of an event as we did without their support.

Finally, the committee volunteers who gave up their time and energy to ensure another successful event; Sue Dyle, Clara Boggs with OakStar Bank, Dawn Decker and Brandy Udelhoven with the YMCA, Emma O'Dell with Restoring Hope, Kathy Banks with OACAC/New to You, Andrea Gann of Gann Insurance, Ashley Berry of Espresso No. #825 and Show Me Romey Foundation.

Also, a very special thanks to the City of Buffalo for assisting before, during and after the event. Martha Swearingin, Mayor Kenall, Fire Chief Cunningham, Police Chief Garner, Police Officers Farrar and Cheek, Firemen Cunningham, Duskin and Kirchberg.

Respectfully,

April Is Autism Awareness: Light It Up Blue

By Sherry Hillhouse, Public Health RN
Dallas County Health Department

Autism disorder is a condition related to brain development that impacts how a person socializes and perceives others, causing personal issues in social interaction and communication. The term "spectrum" refers to the wide range of symptoms and severity. Autism generally begins in early childhood. Most children show early signs in the first year. All children can progress at different stages sometimes signs and symptoms can slowly come on prior to their second year of life. Boys are four times more likely to develop autism than girls. Family history of autism, generational can also increase risk of it being passed on. Other risk factors include older birthing parents and preterm babies.

A child with onset of autism may have any of the following signs: poor eye contact, delayed speech or loses ability to say words or sentences. Difficulty understanding simple questions or directions, resists cuddling and prefers playing alone. There is no biological marker for autism. This means no blood or genetic test can diagnose the disorder. Medical history, questionnaires and observation usually determine the diagnosis. The American Academy of Pediatrics "encourages autism screenings for all children at their 18- and 24-month well-child checkups".

One of the greatest controversies in autism disorders centers on whether a link exists between the disorder and childhood vaccines. Despite research, no reliable study has shown a link between autism and any vaccine. Avoiding childhood vaccines can place your child and others in danger of catching and spreading serious diseases such as whooping cough.

If you are concerned about your child's development or you suspect that your child may have autism, discuss your concerns with your pediatrician or primary care physician. The symptoms of autism can also be linked with other developmental disorders.

Continued education and treatment for children or adults with autism helps to provide a productive and fulfilled life.

EnJOYable JOURNEY

Embrace Thankful Thursday

In December, the group I moderate, DIVAS, decided to celebrate Thanksgiving every Thursday. The ladies try to thank at least one person extra every Thursday and be thankful throughout the day. A word of encouragement goes a long way for someone feeling down or not on top of their game. Anyone can participate in Thankful Thursday, so join the bandwagon and beat the kindness drum.

This past Thursday, I found myself in a challenging spot. It was Thankful Thursday, a day dedicated to gratitude, and yet, seeing that thanksgiving and gratefulness was a struggle.

I was trying to wake up with my morning coffee and bowl of cereal when I heard a tap-tap-tap on the door. I thought it was my 4-year-old granddaughter and immediately opened the door for her.

With uncombed hair and a pink floral flannel granny gown, I was greeted by a 20-something man and a woman standing on the sidewalk. I was startled at first as a jittery male was pacing on my porch. Then, he began to tell me his plight. “Ma’am, I’ve been a real “stick” to my girlfriend this morning. I’ve not grown up yet and was just a “stick.” I’m trying to make it up to her by collecting neighbors’ flowers to make a mixed bouquet for her,” he explained with his tail tucked and a sad face.

She made some comments to lighten the startling early morning call. I agreed to let the stranger take one of my black beauty iris flowers. He turned his frown upside down and was well on his way to making that neighborhood bouquet for her. Young love always makes me grateful to have experienced those feelings so many decades ago.

I bade them farewell and said, “Hey, and don’t be a “stick”—it’s not cool to her or anyone else. It’s time to grow up, buddy.”

Of course, he never said “stick.” Still, it was another similar word that started with a D. I don’t habitually use those types of words. Still, it seemed appropriate vocabulary at the moment to speak his language.

That day, I had an appoint-

JOY BEAMER

ment with my cardiologist in Bolivar to discuss some test results. It’s never fun to go to the specialist. I always feel like a failure with little to be thankful for. But hey, I’m still alive this week, so let’s be grateful about breathing while we schedule more tests for the old ticker. I’m thankful for healthcare to deter the death sentence for a few more days.

While in Bolivar, I thought I would sneak over to Aldi’s. You see, my son is a manager at CashSaver, and I try to shop mostly at his store. I’m a sucker for Aldi’s cheese and frozen foods. I took my load out to the van and opened the side door. I returned the cart and went back to drive home.

The four doors and the hatch were locked. This is the third time I’ve been locked out of the car this past year. Somehow, the doors automatically lock when the side doors are closed. On top of this mysterious locking, I only got one key when I bought the van. I thought it wouldn’t be a big deal then, but it is.

I called a locksmith, who said they would arrive in 50 minutes. Luckily, the rain had stopped, leaving the air feeling muggy and a bit hard for me to breathe. An hour and a half later, the locksmith’s van drove up, ready to pop the lock. He could make me a key and program the computer chip, so I jumped on the deal.

My arthritic back was burning in all the familiar places. The neuropathy in my feet was making them numb. Because my circulation was poor, my toes and feet turned a lovely purple. I stood on the sidewalk in the shade while waiting, shifting my weight back and forth.

About thirty minutes into the wait, I was mad at the van and myself for not hanging on to the keys with the developing self-locking pattern. I was turning into Grumpy Greta.

Then, I started noticing the 25 cents (quarter) everyone has to put into the cart at Aldi’s and how people put those carts away. I decided to conduct a loose scientific study to see how many people offer their carts to the next person without wanting to return their original quarter. The math came out in an hour and a half, and every fifth person was offered a free cart.

With the final exchange to another kindness, a young mother struggled to find a quarter in her huge mommy-go bag. A man in his 30s pulled out a second quarter and paid her way for the cart usage.

So, this unfortunate key incident, debilitating waiting, unsettling doctor visit and morning intruder wound down to watching multiple acts of everyday kindness. Regular folks living life with kindness made my heart sing.

I was thankful on Thursday.

Joy Beamer is retired from the Buffalo Reflex. She vowed to her son that she would only shop at CashSaver or stores in Dallas County.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Friends and Neighbors of the City of Buffalo/Dallas County R-1 Schools:

We are pleased to partner with the City of Buffalo and the Office of Emergency Management (OEM) to offer the FEMA shelter to our constituents when needed. The tornado shelter is on the west side of the Buffalo High School building near the intersection of Spruce and Main Street.

The Dallas County School District owns and constructed the tornado shelter, which provides protection for students and staff during tornadoes and extreme high wind events. The shelter is also available for community residents who do not have a safe place to shelter during these extreme weather events.

Information on the Shelter:

a. The OEM makes the recommendation to open the shelter when there is a: • A severe thunderstorm warning (if wind speed is greater than 75 mph) • A tornado warning b. Sirens are sounded within the city of Buffalo when the storm is within three miles of Buffalo. c. The City of Buffalo and Dallas County emergency managers make the decisions to activate the sirens, and 911 activates the sirens.d. The maximum capacity of the shelter is 1,895 people.e. The tornado shelter is equipped with an emergency backup diesel-powered generator that will supply the shelter with power for 48 hours

Individuals with physical impairments, special medical alerts, and/or service animals will need to complete a Special Needs form, which can be obtained at the district office. These forms will be kept on file with the Assistant Superintendent. As a reminder, pets are not allowed in the shelter.

Parking for the shelter is located in the North parking lot of BHS and anyone needing handicapped parking should use the parking lot at Dallas County Technical Center. Signs are posted to direct individuals to the shelter. If you have any questions, please contact the administration office at 417-345-2222.

Sincerely,

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Many of us at the Montgomery Senior Center have great concerns about our crossing the street to get into the center without getting run over. There have been many close calls. What would it take to get the city of Buffalo to put a flashing light or better signage to alert the drivers to slow down? I understand our Board has contacted the city and were told it cost too much. What has to happen, one of us getting hit by a vehicle or someone getting killed, you can’t put a cost on someone’s life. It would be nice to come up with a solution for this problem.

The school crossing is very well marked, what about the seniors of Buffalo don’t we deserve some protection. After all we help support the schools, how about supporting us.

ROCKWOOD FILES

Failing forward

The value of making mistakes

Chocolate chip cookies, the Slinky, Play-Doh, Post-It notes, and potato chips. The one thing they all have in common is this: They’re losers.

Big fat mistakes. Accidents. Epic fails. None of them turned out to be the thing they were intentionally meant to be, and yet they’ve become household names. How did the thing we all fear so much – failure – turn into a lucky break for the people behind the inventions?

For the cookie, it was a simple matter of “failure to melt.” In 1930, a woman named Ruth Wakefield, who was co-owner of the Toll House Inn, was trying to make a chocolate dessert when she ran out of the chocolate she normally used. As a substitute, she used Nestle semi-sweet chocolate chips, but they didn’t melt as she’d hoped they would. The result? Cookies with chocolate chips inside. The failed recipe gave birth to the best cookie the world has ever known.

The popsicle was also a project that took a wrong turn at Albuquerque. In 1905, an 11-year-old boy named Frank Epperson tried to make homemade soda pop. As boys that age often do, he got distracted from his project and left a bowl of his homemade soda pop sitting outside with the stir stick still in the bowl.

The temperatures dropped overnight, and when Frank came back to the bowl the next morning, he had a sweet frozen treat on a stick. More than 100 years later, our hot summer days wouldn’t be the same without Frank’s mistake.

But perhaps my favorite example of failure-turned-phenomenon might just be the story about two scientists working for the 3M company in 1968. One of them, Spencer Silver, was having a rough day at the office when his mission to invent a strong adhesive failed miserably. Instead, he ended up with an extremely weak adhesive that would allow paper to be peeled off of anything.

The wimpy adhesive sat on the shelf for almost six years until a fellow scientist named Arthur Fry needed a bookmark for his church hymnal, preferably something that wouldn’t hurt the book’s pages. He remembered the failed adhesive and its lightly sticky quality that allowed it to be easily moved, and an idea came

That auto memory button

It was one of those random conversations spurred by a bit on the news about population growth: Benton County, Arkansas, has experienced phenomenal growth.

“That’s Bentonville,” I noted.

“Home of Walmart.”

“Don’t know if I’ve been there. Have you ever taken me to Bentonville,”Martha interjected.

“No, I don’t think so,” I said. “But I did call you from there once before we were married. I was at a book fair. I was driving my green Ford pickup.”

“Of course you were. How do you remember what you were driving more than 28 years ago?”

“I don’t know,” I said. “I guess that’s how I remember things. I seem to associate everywhere I’ve been with what got me there. I reckon it’s a guy thing,” I added as she went back to reading.

Or maybe a Baby Boomer thing, I thought to myself; but, I couldn’t let it go that easily. I began thinking back on cars and trucks we’d had, testing my memory theory. It kinda works.

I may not remember everywhere we stopped when taking Melissa’s grandmother back to South Dakota, but I know we were in the new 1995 Chevy Astro van I bought after just one family trip to North Missouri in Martha’s Lumina van.

Several trips to see Kyle at Johnson Bible College in Knoxville, Tennessee, we took our burgundy Pontiac Grand Prix, but we took my second 2001 Dodge Ram to his wedding in Roanoke, Virginia, averaging just 14 mpg.

I later made a solo trip to take a bit of furniture to my brother, Russell, in Albuquerque, New Mexico, in a purplish Dodge Dakota that could barely keep up with traffic on the Interstate, and Martha and I camped out of the back of my black 2005 Dodge Hemi 4WD passing through Beaver, Oklahoma, on our way to again see Russell and Sharon in New Mexico.

We later took Martha’s mom to see brother Gary Glazier in Morton, Mississippi, in a new 2011 Ford

F-150, and the last time we brought Mom up from Cherokee Village, Arkansas, I drove Martha’s late father’s old Mazda pickup.

Earlier, the sole New Mexico camping trip I took with my brother David was made in a blue 1996 F-150 that replaced the aforementioned green one. Years before that I hauled Russell to school in Rolla in a white 1963 Ford Galaxie.

Of course, I’ve had more memorable experiences with various cars and trucks in my 76 years — way too many to recall here. But, isn’t it interesting that every car has a story, and every story a car (or truck)?

Some years ago I read a book by an old cowboy — The Wandering, Trapping and Trading Cowboy, I think he called it. The old guy was a little sketchy on some details of his life in the West, but he could recall every detail about every horse he ever owned. I reckoned that was a cowboy thing.

So, maybe it’s not so strange I can recall something about every vehicle I’ve regularly ridden in or owned since I was 5 years old — back to and before Dad’s brand new 1953 Mercury. Guy thing or not, it’s somethin’.

Buffalo Garden Club Meeting

The Buffalo Garden Club held its March meeting on Thursday, March 28. Janet Wood called the meeting to order. The members attending were: Lisa Blake, Cecilia Dixon, Darlene Dufeck, Lenora Erb, Nancy Heard, Rita Hoogland, Shirley Hyatt, Tomi McDaniel, Penny Nevills, Jeanie Smith, Liz Van Dee, and Janet Wood. The roll call question was “What is your most challenging plant or flower you have grown?” There were a variety of answers from planting in the wrong location, too dry or wet, also won’t bloom. Generally they are all learning experiences.

Cecilia presented the Treasurers report. The report was approved as read and entered into the report. Liz presented her report on the display gardens. She added mulch and will call for a work day soon. Liz will be needing help with the watering of the gardens and the shrubs along the walking trail, and at the information sign. Jeanie reported on the butterfly garden. She has some new ideas for the garden and added plants.

Janet, Liz and Jeanie have been meeting to discuss ideas for the area around the Blue Star Memorial. It tends to hold water and we have been trying to find a good solution that is also visually appealing. The best solution we have determined is putting decorative rock around the base of the memorial. Jeanie will do some research and pricing for us. I will present our findings and suggestions to the club at our next meeting.

We discussed the date for our annual trip to the greenhouses in Tunas. We will meet at 8:00 a.m. on April 2nd. We will be having more vehicles as we will probably need more room for our plants than room for us. Janet let us know that she was contacted by someone that had an area of iris that she was planning to tear out, and that we could dig all that we wanted. The plants are mature and because we have a photo of the area we can be certain of the colors as we dig them up. The plants will be greatly appreciated as they will be used in our plant sale as well as needed for our own gardens. Thank you Doris Goodwin for your generous donation.

We had a shortened business meeting so we could spend the rest of our afternoon potting and preparing our various plants for our Spring plant sale on Saturday April 20th. We will have strawberry plants, various colors of Iris, ajuga ground cover, several varieties of tomato plants, peppers, and herbs, also a wide selection of indoor plants. Again there will be something for everyone.

GARDEN TIP: A way to nurture your garden plants and ward off pests is to add ‘Irish Spring’ soap shreds to the area around the affected plants.

The Helping Hand Club held their monthly business meeting on April 17, with 10 members present. Members were reminded that the Bake Sale will be on Saturday, April 27, at the Morgan Store. Sale begins at 8 a.m. and will go until we run out of cakes, cookies and pies. If you placed an order for a gooseberry pie, please plan to pick it up before noon. We will also have an assortment of quilts for sale. Connie Kays won the door prize. Although recovering from hand surgery, Leota Caudle was the hostess for this meeting. Nina Walke will be hostess for May. There are still a few calendars for sale for $5 each.

Several women from Immanuel attended the Rally at Redeemer Lutheran Church on Sunday afternoon. There was a Bible study, business meeting and dinner afterward. Immanuel held their quarterly voters meeting after the Sunday service. Reggie is working on the bell tower and hopes to have it completed before the next meeting. He is also ordering the special glass to repair the broken windows.

Happy birthday to Lisa Tindall, Theo Brown, Chelsie Middleton, Devon Buttram, DJ Falkenwrath and Cheryl Potts. Happy Anniversary to Pastor William Metzger and Lavonne. I heard it has been 45 years!

Count your blessings and enjoy the week.

Fair Grove Sunshine Club Join Exercise Class for April Meeting

Submitted by the Fair Grove Sunshine Club

The Fair Grove Sunshine Club met on April 10 at the Fair Grove Senior Center.

The members attending were Marilyn Albers, Peggy Schletty, Ellen Carter, Lucy Schmidt, Carol Highfill, Marilyn Smith, Lynda Hutchison, Shrevia Stroud, Beverly Lemon, Mary Terry, Pam Meyer, Rue Withers, and Carolyn Riggi.

Everyone had lunch, and then the secretary and treasurer’s reports were read and approved.

For our program, we joined the weekly exercise class held at the senior center. The class is every Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The class was very informative on how important it is to exercise regularly. The next meeting will be held on May 8.

Changes that could arise from the “silver tsunami”

METRO CREATIVE CONNECTION

A report from the International Monetary Fund in the summer of 2023 indicated that a new challenge awaits the world in the coming years. The global population increased by one billion people between 2010 and 2022. That remarkable increase saw the world surpass the eight billion people mark in November of 2022.

Despite a sharp increase in the global population in such a short period of time, the IMF asserts that the population boom is not the most formidable demographic challenge facing the world. The IMF defines population aging as the most formidable challenge. Widely referred to as the “silver tsunami,” a term credited to the AARP, the increase in the number of individuals age 65 and older could lead to some unique changes in countries across the globe.

Increased recreation spending: Sixty-five has traditionally been viewed as retirement age, and that remains an unofficial bar for individuals living in countries like the United States that have increased their official retirement age. Though an uptick in the aging population is often framed in terms of the challenges countries will face, that increase also could present some opportunities. For example, a recent AARP Longevity Economy Outlook report noted that people 50 and older account for the most spending on recreation and culture of any demographic. That could prove beneficial to businesses and regions that cater to consumers interested in recreation.

Employment opportunities: The AARP also noted the role the 50 and older population plays in supporting jobs. In 2020, the demographic of people 50 and older supported roughly one-third of the world's jobs and generated $23 trillion in labor income with its spending on goods and services. Estimates from the AARP indicate that individuals age 50 and older will support 1.5 billion jobs across the globe by 2050. The labor income impact by then will more than double to $53 billion.

Employment challenges: Though the silver tsunami could help to maintain existing jobs and create plenty of new ones, employers might find it difficult to fill those positions. As more of the global population reaches retirement age, it bears noting that more workers will retire. Deloitte and the Manufacturing Institute note that the manufacturing sector will need to fill 2.5 million job openings related to retirements between 2020 and 2030. That could prove a sizable challenge, as the aging population is increasing at a time when the young population is decreasing.

The aging population is increasing, which could lead to a number of opportunities and challenges in the decades to come.

Pomme De Terre Fishing Report

By BRAD SHOCKLEY
I Am Outdoors

Lake Conditions

Lake Level: 840.49, 61-63 degrees.
Water condition: The lake is currently 1.49 feet high. The water is slightly stained in the upper ends with some clarity; it gets clearer the closer you get to the lower end. The lower end of the lake is developing moss. The water temperature has slowly been on the rise.

Crappie

Action: Good.
The spawn is in full swing. The crappie are aggressive and hitting a number of lures and presentations. However, there can be a misunderstanding about the spawn, that doesn't mean all crappie are on the banks shallow. Most crappie are going to the banks late in the evening or during low light conditions. Generally, with the water slightly stained, you need to focus your attention on structure in 10-20 feet of water.

Pattern: On standing timber in 10-20 feet of water in the mouths of creeks or coves of spawning areas. Most of the crappie are 10-15 feet deep. They are aggressive and will hit a jig that is swimming past them. They are moving in and around the trees. Cast your jig past the tree, let it fall and slowly reel it back.

Brush piles in 10-20 feet of water have been good. The crappie are hanging in the top of and around the brush, cast your jig, let it fall near the top of the pile and slowly reel back. Some piles will produce a few fish while other piles will produce several.

Lures: Crappie Slammers split tail shad and straight tail shad have been producing well; while the crappie are aggressive, the grub shad has been a good performer. In the main lake area natural colors are the best – toothpaste pearl, sunset pearl, blue crystal and the natural. In the upper ends a dark color with chartreuse has been best on cloudy and dark days – white pearl chartreuse, red chartreuse, pink lemonade, midnight chartreuse.

Bass

Action: Fair to Good.
Pattern: The bass have been somewhat inconsistent; however they are turning on a little more. They are starting to move shallow and will continue as the water warms. The warmer weather is starting to get the bass excited.
The best bite has been on a jig, just remember to match the color to the conditions. Crankbaits and jerkbaits are still producing. As the bass move to the beds don't overlook soft plastics.
Lures: Jigs with a good trailer, crankbaits, jerkbaits and soft plastics.

CONSERVING THOUGHTS

Mussels

By Francis Skalicky
Missouri Department of Conservation

Freshwater mussels are a seldom-seen, but very important part of Missouri's streams.

Freshwater mussels spend most of their time buried in sediments of stream bottoms so, of all the things you see and hear when you fish a stream, float on one, or camp near one, freshwater mussels aren't among them. However, freshwater mussels should be high on the list of aquatic organisms that we humans here in the Show-Me State need to care about.

Missouri is home to 69 species of freshwater mussels. The large mussels found in the sediment of a number of Missouri's rivers and streams are frequently called pearly mussels and are in the Unionoida order of mollusks. (The small mussels found in marshes, ponds and streams across the Ozarks, known as "finger-nail clams" or "pea clams" because of their tiny size, are in the Sphaeriidae family and are not the focus of this article.) Some of the state's pearly mussel species have interesting names like monkeyface, pistolgrip and threehorn wartyback.

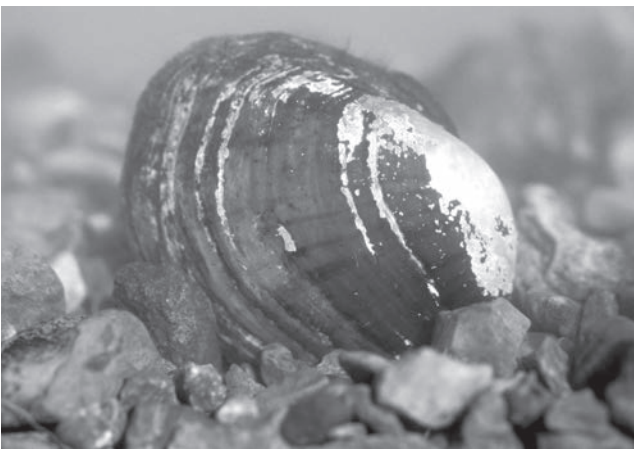

Freshwater mussels are filter-feeders that feed on plankton, bacteria and other small food particles in the water. Water enters and leaves the animal through a pair of openings at the back end. The water is filtered by passing through tiny openings in two pairs of hollow gills. Food particles as small as bacteria are captured and transferred to the mouth along the edges of the gills and swallowed. Full-grown adult mussels of some species can filter more than 50 gallons of water per day.

Unionoid mussels have a number of unique features and characteristics, but arguably the most fascinating part of their life cycle is reproduction, which takes place in the latter part of summer. A mussel's reproductive process is definitely one of the more fascinating reproductive events that occur in our Ozarks waterways. Though this annual nature event is off the radar screen of even the most ardent water enthusiast, making sure it continues to happen is something we should all care about. But more on that in a minute; first here's more about the process.

Sperm is released by the male directly into the water and enters the female during filtering. After fertilization the eggs develop into a larval stage called glochidia. In a variety of species-specific methods, these tiny worm-like glochidia get transferred to the bodies of larger fish which are foraging for a meal. The glochidia become attached to the fish's gills and remain there for a few weeks and continue to develop before dropping to the bottom of stream to continue development into adult mussels.

As if this weren't interesting enough, there's another fascinating twist to this process: Studies have shown that most unionoid mussels have specific "host" fish they must connect with in order to complete their reproduction. For example, in Missouri waters, the fragile paper-shell mussel needs freshwater drum to complete its reproductive cycle while the rainbow mussel must pair up with smallmouth bass, largemouth bass, spotted bass or rock bass.

Utilizing swimming fish as part of their reproductive process also allows mussels to disperse their offspring over a much wider range than could be accomplished otherwise. (Mussels do have a "foot" that is used for movement, but their mobility is minimal.)

Humans developed a connection with freshwater mussels long before Missouri became settled. Mussels were a handy food source for Native Americans and their shells provided materials for tools.

In the latter part of the 19th century and the first part of the 20th century, mussel shells became the primary material used for clothing buttons. For a brief period, the commercial harvest of Missouri's freshwater mussels for the button industry was a multi-million dollar industry. By the time plastics reduced shell buttons to little more than novelty items in the mid-1900s, this heavy harvest had reduced the populations of several Missouri mussel species. However, river channelization, pollution and other man-made changes to the waterways probably had the biggest impact on Missouri's mussel populations.

Today, nearly two-thirds of Missouri's mussel species are classified as species of conservation concern. This fact should raise human concern because, as stated above, mussels benefit humans through their feeding process. Their filter feeding helps keep water clean. They also serve as environmental indicators – a stream with a low mussel population likely has other problems as well.

More information about Missouri's mussels can be found at mdc.mo.gov.

MDC sets 2024 bear and elk seasons with permit applications in May

The Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC) will offer 400 permits for the taking of a maximum of 40 black bears during the 2024 Missouri black-bear hunting season this fall, Oct 21-30.

MDC will also offer five permits to hunt bull elk in Missouri this fall with at least one permit designated for qualifying landowners that own property in Carter, Reynolds, or Shannon counties and the remaining permits for qualifying Missouri residents. MDC has designated the elk archery portion to run Oct. 19-27 and the elk firearms portion to run Dec. 14-22. The five permits will be for bull elk with at least one antler being six inches or greater in length and will be valid for both archery and firearms portions.

Only Missouri residents who will be at least 11 years of age by the first day of the hunt for which they are applying are eligible to apply for bear and elk permits during the application period of May 1-31. All permits will be assigned through a random drawing.

The Missouri Conservation Commission gave final approval to the bear and elk season recommendations from MDC during its April 5 open meeting in Rolla.

BLACK BEAR HUNTING

MDC has established three Bear Management Zones (BMZ) in southern Missouri and will issue annual permit numbers and harvest quotas for each of the three BMZs. Each permit will be for a specific BMZ and may be used on public or private property within the BMZ. Once the specific harvest quotas are filled for each BMZ, the season for that BMZ will be closed.

There is a fee of $10 per applicant. Applicants must select one of three BMZs. Those selected will then be eligible to buy a BMZ-specific permit at a cost of $25.

Permit and harvest quotas for the Oct. 21-30 bear season will be:

- BMZ 1: Permit quota of 200 issued with a harvest quota of 20 bears.
- BMZ 2: Permit quota of 150 issued with a harvest quota of 15 bears.
- BMZ 3: Permit quota of 50 issued with a harvest quota of 5 bears.

Hunting hours will be a half-hour before sunrise to a half-hour after sunset. Hunters must call MDC prior to hunting each day to determine the closure status of the BMZ for which they are permitted. Hunters will be allowed to use both archery and firearms methods with allowable methods being the same as those for deer and elk, except the use of an atlatl. Baiting and the use of dogs will not be allowed.

The harvest limit will be one bear per permit. Only lone black bears may be taken. Hunters may not take bears that are known to be in the presence of others bears, including female black bears with cubs. Bears may not be disturbed, pushed, harassed, or taken from a den.

Learn more about black bears and bear hunting in Missouri at mdc.mo.gov/bearhunting.

Apply for the bear-permit random drawing May 1 — 31 online at mdc.mo.gov/buypermits, through MDC's free MO Hunting app, through a permit vendor, or by calling 1-800-392-4115. Results of the bear-permit random drawing will be available online by July 1.

Missouri hunters harvested 12 black bears during the 2023 bear-hunting season.

ELK HUNTING

MDC will require a $10 application fee for elk-permit applicants. Those selected will then be eligible to buy a permit at a cost of $50. All elk-hunting permits, including those allocated to qualifying area landowners, can be used in Carter, Reynolds, and Shannon counties, except the refuge portion of Peck Ranch Conservation Area.

The archery portion will run Oct. 19-27 and the firearms portion will run Dec. 14-22. The allowed hunting methods for each elk season portion will be the same as for deer hunting. The permits will allow for the harvest of one bull elk with at least one antler being six inches or greater in length.

For more information on elk and elk hunting in Missouri, visit mdc.mo.gov/elkhunting.

What Should I Charge to Rent My Farm/Pastureland?

Class to be held in Buffalo on May 2

In-person or virtual class on setting a rent price for your farm will be held from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on May 2, 2024, at the Dallas County Alumni Building in Buffalo.

As our rural agricultural population is getting older, finding it harder to take care of the farm, and/or wanting to retire, the question remains, "What am I going to do with the farm?" Or, maybe you are an absentee landowner wanting to rent the farm. This program is for you. Over the past several years with MU Extension I have received calls like this many times. Often by widowers with little to no understanding of the farm and no close family members to help with the day-to-day operations. The thought of selling the land is out and that only leaves renting/leasing it to someone you trust... So, how does that work?

Join us for a look at the most often-asked questions, areas you need to think about but often overlook, and possible ways to set a fair rent price. There will be plenty of time for questions at the end of the program, so come ready to talk about your farming operation and what you should be looking for.

This in-person class will be presented at the following locations from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. or join the Zoom.

To register please contact your local MU Extension (Dallas County 417-345-7551) office or go online at <https://extension.missouri.edu/counties/hickory> to register through Cvent on our Hickory County MU Extension Website or contact us at stewartcl@missouri.edu.

The MU Extension Dallas County office would like to remind the community that they are still located in the Buffalo Municipal Building 119 S. Maple St. Hours are Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Barn Quilting classes will resume when the Extension is moved back into their office at the courthouse. For any questions contact 417-345-7551.

lot of attention due to the summer heat burning down most cool season grass leaving it to stand out. This is not the time of the year to control it! The leaves are opposite and about the size of a quarter in most cases. They are oval in shape with a short petiole, smooth margins, and short soft hairs found on a whitish-green leaf surface. The early spring-time younger leaves often have a reddish coloration to them as they develop from new growth. The plant will usually grow to heights of 3 to 4 feet in a bush-like structural pattern. This plant is known to have a very fibrous root system with creeping underground rootstocks which allows it to spread rapidly and form impenetrable thickets. Coralberry Buckbrush will survive multiple brush hogging per season with little to no permanent control and is not likely to eliminate future infestations. However, goats through proper grazing practices, can reduce infestation rates of buckbrush over time. The best control method when using chemicals is 2-4-D (1-2 qts/acre) applied to early spring growth (before April 15th). The best time to spray is when the plants are young and around 10-12 inches in height with large fully developed leaves. Chemical applications after these two common practices, due to the leaves developing resistance to chemicals via a waxy coating, seem to lose their effectiveness and may be a total waste of time and money. Make sure you get the plant completely wet by applying plenty of water (15 Gallons per acre minimum) when going over the plants. You will also find it very difficult to get in and around problem areas like standing timber and/or next to large ditches, so a long-reaching spray wand may be of great help. Some other effective herbicides used for control are those containing 2-4-D, aminopyralid and/or metsulfuron, such as Chaparral, Cimarron, or Grazon Next HL. For a 100-gallon spray mix, depending on the chemical of your choice, you may want to mix up to 2 quarts of a quality surfactant. As with all chemicals, locate and read the label completely and carefully watch for any grazing and/or haying restrictions as these things may have an adverse effect on your livestock operation. For more information on pasture plant identification, please contact your local MU Extension Agronomy Field Specialist.

National FFA Awards Grants $5,000 to Buffalo FFA Alumni to Support BHS FFA

The National FFA Organization awarded an FFA Alumni and Supporters Give Back To Your Roots Grant to the Buffalo FFA Alumni. The Buffalo FFA Alumni plans to use the funds to help the Buffalo FFA high school build a shed/barn for their tractor. This will keep the tractor out of the way for members to use pens easily when doing their SAE projects housed there at the farm. The Buffalo FFA Alumni received $5,000. In 2024, $102,000 in grants, supported by Nutrien Ag Solutions, will be awarded through the National FFA Organization's FFA Alumni and Supporters Give Back

To Your Roots program. The purpose of National FFA Alumni and Supporters Give Back To Your Roots grants can be used to fund FFA student chapter affiliation fees, plant science-based educational opportunities, or to purchase necessary supplies and materials for local agricultural education programs. The National FFA Organization provides leadership, personal growth, and career success training through agricultural education to 945,988 student members who belong to one of 9,163 local FFA chapters in all 50 states and Puerto Rico. The organization is also supported by 722,636 alumni members in 2,131 alumni and supporters chapters.

Spring Clean Up completed

Last week, the city of Buffalo conducted the residential city-wide Spring Clean Up Week. Extra trash and large items were picked up, and many bundled their yard waste. The city has a burn pile at the recycling center as an ongoing service. Only yard waste can be put into the pile for burning. Do not put anything other than personal yard waste.

The recycling center is open Wednesday and Thursday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon.

Helping Hands and GRO-Buffalo encourage residents to pick up trash as they take walks around the area and never throw trash out the car window. Residents are encouraged to keep Buffalo looking clean and tidy.

St. William Church holds PCCW 44th Annual Yard Sale

The St. William's Church will be holding its PCCW (Parish Council of Catholic Women) 44th annual yard sale from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Thursday, May 2, and Friday, May 3. The yard sale, plant sale, and bake sale will be held in the church hall at St. William's 404 N. Locust St., Buffalo.

CORD FELDMAN BAGS HEAVIER BIRD THAN DAD

Cord Feldman, son of Jared and Susanne (Otterness) Feldman of Fair Grove, harvested his first turkey as he doubled with his dad on April 21, 2024. Cord's bird weighed 21 pounds with a 10.5 inch beard, and one and one-sixteenth inch spurs. Jared's bird weighed 18 pounds with an 11 inch beard, a second beard 6.5 inches and one inch spurs. They shot the turkeys at 20 yards. Cord's grandparents are Eric & Kay Otterness and Harvey & Vickie Feldman. Pictured are Jared Feldman, left, and Cord Felman with their trophies. CONTRIBUTED PHOTO

Classroom Activity

(Missouri Show-Me-Standards: S.3, S.4)

Grade levels: K-3

Objectives: After completing this activity, students will be able to:

• Explain why woodpeckers are able to find grubs and insects in trees

• Explain how woodpeckers help keep our forests healthy

• Explain how woodpeckers are affected when forest habitat disappears

Materials:

• Several large pieces of cardboard. If available, use boxes from washers, dryers, refrigerators, long fluorescent light bulbs or other types of large appliances. If these aren't available, use whatever types of long pieces of cardboard can be found

• Pieces of clay

• Duct tape

• Colored markers or crayons

• Plastic toy hammers or other type of tapping devices

Background:

Woodpeckers find hidden insects and insect larvae by pecking on tree trunks until they hear a different sound, indicating something is hidden under the bark. This activity will test how good your students' "woodpecker" skills are.

Procedure:

Prior to the activity, explain to the students what woodpeckers are and how they find their food.

1) Divide students into groups of three or four. Have enough pieces of cardboard so that each group has one. Have each group draw and color the middle portion of a tree trunk on their cardboard. Make sure the trunk is wide — several feet across if possible.

2) After class or when students aren't around, attach pieces of clay that are marble-sized or slightly larger in a scattered arrangement on the un-colored side of the cardboard. Secure the clay to the cardboard with pieces of duct tape.

3) The next class period, explain to each group that they are woodpeckers that will have to find food. Demonstrate with a toy hammer or some other type of tapping device, such as an ink pen or kitchen utensil, how the tapping sounds are different at different locations on the cardboard. (The tapping sound is less hollow when they tap where the clay is.)

4) One by one, hold each teams' piece of cardboard and have the team members take turns coming to the cardboard to look for "food." Without peeking on the other side, the team members should try to find the pieces of clay by lightly tapping. When students think they've found a piece, they should circle the spot where they think it is with a colored marker and put their initials by the circle. Each team member should try to find two pieces of clay on their teams' piece of cardboard.

5) When the activity is completed, have all the teams turn over their cardboard to see how accurate they were.

If possible, have a tree or insect expert speak to the class about what these under-bark insects are and how some of them can harm trees. Explain that woodpeckers help trees by eating these insects. Explain that woodpeckers also use old dead trees for nesting purposes. Teachers, or if possible, a local bird expert, can discuss with students what happens to woodpeckers when forests begin to disappear.

Short Answer Q&A

1. What is the most distinguishing characteristic of the red-bellied woodpecker?

2. How did the red-bellied woodpecker get its name?

3. What benefits do woodpeckers provide to the natural world and how?

4. What two purposes does pecking on trees serve for the woodpecker?

5. What are two important foods in the woodpecker's summer diet?

6. How do woodpeckers nest? How many eggs do they typically produce?

7. How can woodpeckers be a nuisance to homeowners?

8. How many species of woodpeckers can be found in Missouri?

Sage Crowley wins 100-meter dash at Ozark track meet Fair Grove freshman Sage Crowley won the girls 100-meter dash at the Ozark Invitational Track Meet last week. She clocked a time of 13.26 seconds.

She was the only Fair Grove athlete to win first place in any event, but she came close to winning another by placing second in the 200-meter dash with a time off 27.35 seconds.

Another freshman, Katrina Cantwell, took second place in the 1600-meter run with a time of 12:06.12

Others who finished in the top echelon were Taylor Green, fifth in the long jump with a distance of 15-10.50 feet and fourth in the triple jump with a distance of 32-09.75 feet; Emaly Stallings ninth in the 400-meter dash.

In the boys events, Kellen Lair was Fair Grove's highest finisher by placing second in the 100-meter dash with a time of 11:41 seconds. Teammate Canyon Crowley was fifth with a time of 1'1.63 and fourth in the 200-meter with a time of 23.16 seconds.

Others who made good showings were Kade Brunkhorst third in the javelin with a distance of 136-07.00; Luke Buescher sixth in the 400-meter dash and sixth in the 800-meter dash; and Dylan George seventh in the 400-meter; Seth Harrison eighth in the shot; put; Ethan Daugherty fifth in the discus.

Buffalo and Skyline run at Willard

The Buffalo and Skyline track teams participated in the Willard track meet last week with Owen Phillips being the highest finisher among Buffalo tracksters. He was fourth in the 100-meter dash with a time of 11.69 seconds and Logan Hawes was fifth in the 400-meter dash with a time of 54.46 seconds.

Others who made good showings were Phillips seventh in the 110-meter hurdles; Ben Foree fifth in the javelin with a distance of 135-04.75 feet; TJ Waters eighth in the long jump.

In the girls events, Shelby Samek was fourth in the javelin with a distance of 113-10.50 feet

Skyline's Kadence Wallace finished fourth in the high jump with a height of 4-09.00 feet and was eighth in the 1600-meter run. Hannah Blankenship was ninth in the discus. On the boys side, Tyler Henry finished eighth in the javelin.

Green to run track at SBU

Fair Grove softball team goes 4-0, improves to 15-8

Fair Grove's softball team had a great week, winning all four games against Pleasant Hope. Forsyth, Sparta and Clever. In doing so, the Lady Eagles improved their record to 15-8.

On Tuesday, April 16 the Lady Eagles hosted Pleasant Hope and pounded the visitors 13-3 in a game that was called at the end of five innings because of the 10-run rule. Fair Grove tallied 10 runs in the first three frames and scored three in the bottom of the fifth.

Brooke Daniels was the ideal leadoff batter by going two for four, getting on base two other times by errors (Pleasant Hope committed nine miscues) and scoring four runs. One of Daniels' hits was a double, and Addyson Nunley also cracked a two-bagger. Shayla Haddock was two for three with three runs batted in and Brenna Boatwright was two for three with an RBI and a run scored. Aubrie Voorhis was one for three and crossed home plate three times.

Addie Voorhis made it through all five innings, giving up three runs on six hits while fanning three batters and walking one.

On Thursday the Lady Eagles traveled to Forsyth for a conference game and had to go nine innings to win 7-5 as both teams had eight hits. Addie Voorhis went the distance in the circle, allowing five runs on eight hits in nine innings, while striking out six batters and walking two.

Nunley cracked a home run and drove in two runs while Klindworth was two for three at the plate with a triple and two runs scored. Daniels was only one for four, but she also walked once, reached base on an error once and scored three runs. Boatwright was two for four.

On Friday Fair Grove hosted Sparta, and a four-run second inning gave the Lady Eagles a 4-1 edge, one they never relinquished. They ultimately pounded 13 hits in an 8-2 victory.

Aubrie Voorhis went the distance, allowing two runs on six hits while fanning six batters and walking none.

On the offensive side, Grace Chastain was four for four at the plate with a run batted in and one scored. Klindworth and Nunley both were two for four with a RBI and a run scored. Shayla Haddock and Minna Morris each hit a double.

On Monday of this week the Lady Eagles edged Clever 7-5 in a Mid-Lakes Conference matchup at Clever. Fair Grove rallied for four runs in the top of the third to lead 4-1, but Clever came right back with four in the bottom of the inning to lead 5-4. The Lady Blue Jays were held scoreless the rest of the way, however.

Addie Voorhis was the starting pitcher and went three innings while giving up five runs on seven hits. It's difficult to catch both Voorhis sisters off their game at the same time, though, and Aubrie Voorhis hurled the last four innings, allowing no runs on six hits while fanning five batters and walking none. Good control has been the watchword lately as the two pitchers walked only one batter in seven innings.

Daniels scored three runs again, going one for four at the plate with a triple, but walking once and reaching base on an error once. Clever helped Fair Grove's cause by committing six miscues in the field.

Nunley was the biggest offensive weapon, going three for four with a double and driving in five runs. Haddock was two for four with a run scored, and Klindworth was two for four with two runs scored and two RBI.

The Lady Eagles were scheduled to play at Mountain Grove yesterday (Tuesday) and will host Springfield Catholic Thursday. They will play at home against Sarcoxie on Monday, April 29.

Skyline Junior High Softball repeats as Conway Tournament champion

The Skyline junior high softball team beat Marion C. Early, Waynesville and Buffalo to claim the Conway Tournament championship for the second year in a row and move their overall record to 10-3.

In the opener against Marion C. Early, the Lady Tigers used a big second inning to build a 5-1 lead and held on for a 5-2 win. Leading the Lady Tigers' offense was Breanna Johnson, who smacked a double with three RBI. Brilee Hunt hit a single with one RBI, and Adena Acker, Kinsley Volcko and Katylena Wheeler all added singles for Skyline. In the circle, Acker earned the win after scattering four hits, two runs (one earned) while walking two and striking out eight in five innings.

In their second contest, the Lady Tigers put up nine runs in each of the first two innings to pick up an 18-0 win over Waynesville. In the first at-bat of the game, Adena Acker smashed a solo homerun over the left field fence, while later adding a double with four RBI to pace the Lady Tigers' offense. Breanna Johnson and Gracie Dismang both knocked out two hits each, both with a double and Dismang adding four RBI and Johnson adding three RBI. Liberty Hammer also went 2-for-2 with two RBI, and Gabby Goulet hit an RBI single for the Lady Tigers.

On the rubber, Acker picked up the win after throwing a one-hit shut-out with no walks and five strikeouts in three innings.

In the championship game against Buffalo, the Lady Tigers scored four runs in the first inning and never looked back in their 10-0 win over Buffalo to claim the championship trophy.

Tigers now have seven wins

By Paul Campbell
paulc@buffaloreflex.com

Skyline's baseball team, which just two weeks ago had only one victory to its name,, all of a sudden has won seven, including three last week.

One of those wins was a 12-2 home victory over Buffalo Wednesday, April 17.The game was halted after five innings because of the 10-run rule.

Skyline rallied for four runs in the second inning and six in the fourth to take charge of the contest.

The Tigers took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the opening inning when Dakota Carlisle drew a one-out walk and stole second base. Cohen Mashburn had an infield hit and Jayden Moppin reached base on an error to load the bases. Brigham Willis then drew a walk to force in a run.

Buffalo tied the score 1-1 in the second inning in similar fashion. With one out, Drake Hodge was hit by a pitch and stole second. Brenden McGregor walked and Cole McGowan beat out an infield hit to load the bases. Then Tyler Jones was hit by a pitch to force in the tying run.

The game began to get away from Buffalo in the bottom of the second when Skyline tallied four runs. With one out, Logan Moppin reached base on an error and scored when Zack Kelley slammed a double

Kelley later scored, as did Jayden Moppin, who singled to left field and crossed home plate as a result of a wild pitch,.

The Tigers pretty much put the game away in the third with six runs in the third. Landon Hodges led off with a single to left center, went to second when Logan Moppin walked and advanced to third when Kelley singled to left center to load the \ bases with nobody out.

Carlisle then drove in a run with a single to left center and Mashburn was hit by a pitch to force in a run. Jayden Moppin's sacrifice fly sent Kelley hom, and Carlisle and Mashburn scored on errors.

Willis singled to left field and scored on a single by Hodges, his second hit of the inning.

In the fourth, Logan Moppin led off with an infield hit and added an insurance run a sacrifice fly by Mashburn.

Buffalo picked up one run in the top of the fifth when McGowan led off with an infield hit and scored on a double to left field by Matthew Skinner.

Paxton Foster went the distance on the mound for Skyline.

On Saturday the Tigers defeated Reeds Spring 21-1 and Springfield Parkview 6-5.They lost to Forsyth 8-1 and Monday of this week they lost to Warsaw 15-5.

The Tigers will host Clever Thursday and will play Weaubleau at home at 10 a.m. on Saturday And will play Adrian at 12:15.

Buffalo golfers do well at various tournaments

The Buffalo boys golf team has been very busy with their season. The members of the golf team this year are: Blair Abraham (10th), Matthew Skinner (10th), Cody Brown (10th), Braden McGregor (10th), Dalton Bennett (10th), Riley Kjar (11th), and Kaden Bone (11th).

The Bison hosted a home match vs. Gloria Deo Academy March 18 with Abraham placing third with a 9 nine-hole score of 49. The other Bison scores were Kjar 53, McGregor 56, Bennett 66. On April 3 the Bison competed in the Springfield Catholic tournament held at Payne Stewart in Springfield. Bison scores were Abraham 99, Skinner 112, Brown 117, McGregor 121, Bennett 133.

On April 4 the Bison traveled to compete in Cassville at its home tournament. Bison posted scores of Abraham 104, Brown 112, Bone 116, and Kjar 129.

On April 11 the Bison traveled to Aurora for its tournament. The Bison were led by Skinner with a 98, Abraham 115, Bone 118, Kjar 119, and Brown 120.

The Bison hosted their Home JV tournament on Tuesday, April 16 and Bone finished sixth in stroke play. On Thursday, April 18 the Bison traveled to Willard for tits tournament. The Bison were led by Abraham with a 90, McGregor 92, Kjar 113, Brown 118. A

“As you can see, the Bison are improving their scores and getting ramped up for the conference tourney on Wednesday, April 24 at Versailles,” said Coach Brennon Abraham.

Fair Grove wins wooden bat tournament, goes 4-0

Eagles improve record to 14-8

By Paul Campbell
paulc@buffaloreflex.com

Fair Grove's baseball team won the Southwest Missouri Wooden Bat Tournament last week by defeating, Lighthouse Christian, Springfield Central land Strafford. The Eagles also beat New Covenant in a regular-season contest.

In the process they improved their record to 14-8.

In the championship game held Saturday at Strafford, second-seeded Fair Grove edged top=seeded Strafford 6-4. The Eagles led 6-1 after scoring four runs in the top of the fifth, but Strafford fought back with three of their own in the bottom of the frame.

Fair Grove hurler Carson Krider cruised along pretty well until the bottom of the fifth when he had control problems. In 4 1/3 innings he allowed four runs on just two hits, but walked six while striking out three. Kelson Radford took over to finish the 2 2/3 innings, allowing no runs while striking out three and walking one.

Strafford manufactured a run in the bottom of the second without getting a hit Fair Grove tied the score in the top of the third when Harrison Martin singled to left field with two outs. Gavin Thomason was hit by a pitch, then Nolen Geitz smacked a single to left to score Mertin.

The Eagles went ahead 2-1 in the fourth after Brock Boatwright led off with a single to right center and the runner for him scored.

Fair Grove's four-run fourth inning proved to be the knockout blow. Gavin Thomason led off with a Texas League single to left field and Gets walked. Radford laid down a sacrifice bunt, and the Indians tried to throw out Thomason at third base, but were not successful. This loaded the bases with no outs.

Brock Bruner singled to right to score Thomason Geitz. Boatwrigtr had a nice sacrifice bunt and Spensar Seiger drove in two runs with a single to right.

back with three runs in the bottom of the fifth to make it 6-4. Krider showed signs of losing his stuff, so Radford came in to relieve. Although Radford did allow a run-scoring double in the inning, he was solid the rest of the way as the score ended 6-4.

Fair Grove had eight hits, with no extra-base hits and Martin being the only player with two hits. Bruner and Seiger each drove in two runs in the fifth.

“Pitchers had the upper hand in the early going,” Fair Grove coach William Reed said. “Really the first run for each team were gifts in the form of walks and free passes.”

He added that Bruner continued his good hitting and Seiger, who has been struggling on offense this year, had a big hit that hopefully will raise his confidence level.

Speaking of Seiger, Fair Grove's opening game of the tournament with Lighthouse Christian was a classic pitcher's duel, with each team getting only one hit. Seiger was Fair Grove's hurler, allowing two runs on one hit while striking out 10 batters and walking three. In contrast, Lighthouse's pitcher struck out six, but walked six, which may have been the difference in the game.

Geitz had Fair Grove's only hit, and he and Radford each drove in a run.

“Our guys were aggressive on the bases, and we were able to get a big run in the fifth to make the difference in the game,” Reed said.

In the semifinals on Tuesday, the Eagles pounded Springfield Central 14-3 as Fair Grove tallied 11 runs in the top of the fifth. Fair Grove had only seven hits, but they drew eight walks and Central made four errors.

Boatwright was solid on the mound, allowing three runs on three hits while striking out eight and walking just two in five innings.

Geitz was the offensive star, going two for four at the plate with a pair of doubles while driving in four runs and scoring two. Martin, Radford, Boatwright, Krider and Seiger each had one hit, and Krider drove in two runs.

Reed said the game was divided into two halves with the score tied 3-3 before Fair Grove's 11-run deluge.

“Once we were able to get into their bullpen, the game really changed,” Reed said. “We took advantage of several walks and errors.”

In a regular-season game on Thursday the Eagles beat New Covenant Academy 8-2, spurred by a five-run second inning. Each team had only five hits, but once again Fair Grove pitchers walked only three batters while New Covenant's hurlers issued nine free passes.

Many thanks to Bruner and Thomason for showing up, because they accounted for all five of Fair Grove's hits. Bruner showed why he bats cleanup as he was three for four with a triple and drove in five runs. Thomason was two for three with one RBI and two runs scored.

Macklen Johnson was steady on the mound as he allowed two runs on five hits in six innings while fanning five and walking three. Radford pitched the seventh, allowing no runs or hits with one strikeout.

“Mack (Johnson) really works with a great tempo, but that sometimes can work against him,” Reed said. “He had a little trouble in the sixth inning, but overall he did a great job giving us the opportunity to win,” Reed said.

The Eagles were scheduled to play at El Dorado Springs yesterday (Tuesday) and will host Mountain Home Friday.

Meet Maxine

By STEVE JOHNSON
stevej@buffaloreflex.com

Maxine Hume of Buffalo recently turned 100 years old. Her family had a birthday celebration for her this past Saturday. Maxine's two sisters, Nancy, 90, and Leona, 89, made the trip from Dent County, Missouri to wish her "Happy Birthday."

"One of my neighbors stopped by to give me a card and tell me he wanted to see what a hundred year old person looked like . . . and now he knew," Maxine said with a laugh. She added it was a wonderful birthday party with family and friends.

Not just a little German blood

The descendant of German immigrants, Maxine Hume was born in 1924 and grew up in a large family near Salem, (Dent County) Missouri. The oldest of seven children born to Ferdinand "Ferdie" and Flossie Mae (Watkins) Haas, Maxine recalls stories she had been told of how her great-grandmother Strauss taught the six German-speaking Strauss children English using two Bibles — one written in German and the other in English. The Strauss family and the Haas family immigrated to Dent County, Missouri at about the same time. The families settled on farmland between Salem and Rolla. They established the Elk Prairie Church in that area. Maxine's father was a full-time farmer, owning and working two farms.

As a small child, Maxine can still remember her Uncle Louie reading the newspaper to her as she sat on his lap. The regular ritual started when her father's hands were occupied with her younger brother, Buddy, and little sister, Hazel, and three-year-old Maxine was vying for her dad's attention. Uncle Louie scooped her up on his lap and read the news, the comics and even the want-ads to her. It became a bonding time for them and precocious Maxine began to appreciate the written word.

A landscape painted by Maxine Hume. REFLEX PHOTOS BY STEVE JOHNSON

Little Miss Haas started school at Hobson Schoolhouse and then attended "Hideout" otherwise known as Mount Pisgah. She took a leave from school, while in high school at Rolla, to take care of her mother who was bedridden from the effects of tuberculosis. Maxine really liked school and cried when she had to quit. Eventually she would return to get her degree, finishing with excellent marks.

While her mother convalesced after returning home from a stay at the state sanatorium in Mount Vernon, Maxine was instructed by doctors on how to care for her mother and keep things sterile and sanitarilly safe for the family. Her six siblings could only visit their mother through the window that led onto the porch.

Remembrance of love and war

In October 1941, two life-changing events took place for Maxine. Her beau, Charles Lee Hume, asked her father for her hand in marriage.

"My dad told Charles that I would make a good wife, because I already did all the housework, cooking and laundry. That I already knew how to take care of a family," recalled Maxine.

She married Charles and shortly afterward, the tuberculosis finished her mother's life. Her father remarried, presenting Maxine and her siblings with a step-mother and four spoiled step-sisters.

Charles took a teaching job at a school north of Hobson. He taught all grades at the one-room schoolhouse. Then Maxine learned in January 1942 that she was pregnant. Maxine and Charles would be blessed with a son, David Lee and a daughter later that they named Carol Sue.

During the decade of the 40s, World War II interrupted life for all Americans and Charles was drafted to serve in military service. Returning home from the war, Charles took a position at a bank.

Eventually, Maxine would leave her job at the shoe factory and join her husband to work at the bank in Rolla. She started as a fill-in bookkeeper, and she was very fascinated with the bookkeeping machine. She said she was promoted to teller because, "my boss liked the way I handled customers and wanted me working up front. But he told the customers with big deposits to go to Charles and those with just cash and small checks to use me. I could count money, but Charles showed me the proper way to count back money."

One-fifth of a hundred years in Buffalo

The Hume family lived in a two-room apartment, but would move back to the farm in Salem and go into partnership in a mobile home business. Their partner had a branch of the business in Waynesville, and the Humes bought the partnership and went into business alone. Charles retired some years later and the couple bought 20 acres in Dallas County to move close to their daughter, Carol Sue who had married Jimmy Maddux and lived in Buffalo.

Charles couldn't sit for long so he got his real estate license and they moved to Springfield. It was during this time that Maxine began painting pictures. At 75 years old, she was certified to teach painting lessons. She is also a talented needlework artist.

After Charles passed away, 80-year-old Maxine moved to Buffalo, across the street from Carol Sue. In 2010, Carol Sue died and Maxine's granddaughter, Clara Maddux married Randell Boggs. Funny, but the Boggs couple has made careers in the banking field. Maxine's other Dallas County grandchildren are twins, Keith, Buffalo and Kevin, Nixa. She is so very proud of all her family, especially her great grandchildren. She says she is one blessed woman to have lived such a long life, and I believe Buffalo is blessed to be able to call this 100 year old lady one of our own.

Owner/Manager of Nat's Natural Essence

What is your biggest pet peeve?
My biggest pet peeve is negative people.

What did you dream of becoming when you were younger, and why?
My dream as a little girl was always to become a mom and do something/anything to help people.

What is the one thing you'd most like to change about the world?
I'd like to change all the suffering and evil things in the world.

Who was the first band or musician you were really into? Do you still like them?
I was a huge Hannah Montana fan as a little girl but I also really loved all country music and still do.

What advice would you give your younger self?
I would tell my younger self to slow down and enjoy life because everything is going to be okay!

If you could have any superpower, what would it be and how would you use it?
I have always wanted to fly and if I had the superpower to fly I would just explore the whole world.

What's the weirdest food combination that you secretly enjoy?
Vanilla ice cream in my cinnamon toast crunch.

What is the first thing you do after getting home from a trip?
I always throw my laundry in the washer and then do absolutely nothing for the rest of the day,

What's one thing most people don't know about you?
I'm a huge book person. I love to read and I can read really really fast!
