LifeShare Blood Drive set for Oct. 13 with vital need for donations

Special to The Eagle

There will be a LifeShare Blood Drive on Thursday, Oct. 13 from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the LifeShare bus that will be set up in the BCMC Rural Health Clinic parking lot. The BCMC Rural Health Clinic is located at 304 East Central Street across the road from the Emergency Room entrance at Bradley County Medical Center.

Blood donations are vital at this time as blood donations are down across the country, especially in our region. Local blood drives are the main source of blood for Bradley County Medical Center and the other hospitals in our surrounding area. If you are able to donate blood, please consider stopping by the LifeShare bus on Oct. 13. Donors will get a free "Changing Seasons" T-shirt while supplies last.

Every two seconds, someone somewhere needs blood. One of every seven people who enter the hospital will need blood. That person may be you, your loved one, friend, or co-worker. With all the wonderful advances in modern medicine, there still is NO substitute for human blood. The blood that helps patients comes only from caring people who volunteer to help others by donating their life-saving blood.

It is safe to donate blood. COVID-19 does not pose any known risk to blood donors during the donation process or from attending blood drives. It is also safe to donate blood if you have received a COVID-19 vaccination.

LifeShare Blood Center, established in Shreveport, La., in 1942, regularly supplies blood components and related services to more than 100 medical facilities and hospitals throughout Louisiana, East Texas and South Arkansas. LifeShare is a member of America's Blood Centers and the American Rare Donor Program, is licensed by the U.S. Food & Drug Administration, and accredited by AABB. LifeShare Blood Center is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit community blood bank governed by a volunteer Board of Trustees.

Seeing Yourself as God Sees You

"The Lord is with you, you mighty man of valor." (Judges 6: 12 NKJV)

God probably said those things to Gideon because he was secure and confident, because he was a great leader. Right? Not so. When the angel went on to tell Gideon how God wanted him to save the people of Israel from the Midianites, a vicious, pagan people who had overrun their land, Gideon showed his true colors. He replied, "How do you expect me to save the people of Israel? I come from the poorest family in all of Manasseh. And I am the least one in my father's house."

But it's interesting to note the difference between the way Gideon saw himself and the way God regarded him. Although Gideon felt unqualified, full of fear, and lacking in confidence, God still addressed him as a mighty man of fearless courage. Gideon felt weak; God saw him as strong. Gideon felt unqualified; God saw him as competent to do the job. Gideon felt insecure; God saw him with enough confidence and boldness to lead His people into battle and come out with a victory. And Gideon did!

God sees you different than you see yourself. Every person has an image of himself or herself. The question is, does your image of who you are line up correctly with who God says you are. You may feel unqualified, insecure, or overwhelmed by life; you may feel weak, fearful, and insignificant, but God sees you as a victor.

God wants you to see yourself as He sees you. He created you in His image. He loves you unconditionally. When you begin to see yourself as God sees you, you can honestly say, "Thank you Father for creating me the way you did. I know that you have a purpose and a plan for my life."

Hermitage Coach speaks at Rotary Club

Special to The Eagle

The Rotary Club of Warren met for their weekly meeting Tuesday, Oct. 4 at First United Methodist Church. The club heard from Warren High School Junior Rotarian Emma Mann to start the program. Rotarian David Richey then presented his program of Hermitage High School Football Coach Chase Ellis.

The Hermits play 8-man football instead of the traditional 11-man football. Coach Ellis began by talking about how 8-man football came to exist in Arkansas around four years ago. Steve Roberts of the Arkansas Activities Association attended a national conference that talked about the declining number of students playing football across the country.

Hermitage along with Augusta were two of the first programs to begin the process of competing in 8-man football. The first season there were around eight schools who participated, and that number has increased every year.

The sport is now sanctioned by the AAA for the 16 schools who have 2A and 1A enrollment numbers. There are another 10 or 12 schools who also play 8-man that are 3A or 4A schools, but they are not sanctioned by the AAA. The only difference in the field dimensions is that the field is not as wide across at 40 yards instead of the traditional 53 and 1/3 yards for an 11-man field. Coach Ellis also explained that you have to have five players on the line of scrimmage opposed to seven in 11-man football. He went on to talk about the first year they competed in 8-man football they had an 11-man junior high team since numbers allowed and that it was hard to adjust to the differences in the width of the field for the coaches and also the players they moved up from the junior high squad later in the season.

However, both the junior high and senior high play 8-man and both games are on Friday nights with junior high typically starting at 5 p.m. and senior high at 7 p.m. Some of the other schools competing in 8-man football include Woodlawn, Strong, Parkers Chapel, Dermott, Mountain Pine, Midland, Spring Hill, and Marvell-Elaine. The Hermits have 10 players out for football and play Woodlawn this Friday night before hosting Strong for Homecoming on Oct. 14.

Coach Ellis touched on how important 8-man football has been for the school and the community as a way to allow student-athletes a chance to play Friday Night Football and how it allows them to still have a homecoming celebration, so it isn't just the players that benefit from it.

While it is very new to Arkansas, schools across the country have played 8-man football (along with 6-man and 9-man in some states) for a number of years.

He concluded his program by answering a number of questions from the group, which was very curious about the 8-man game.

Don't I remember the Crawfords had a son who was killed in a car wreck north of town on the Pine Bluff road, right at the curve of the highway where the Louis Wilson Ederingtons once resided?

Interesting point: Jess Crawford and his brother, Joe, were married, if memory serves (and sometimes it doesn't) to a lady and to her daughter.

Jess Crawford spent his last days at what is now Beverly Enterprises on the Monticello road.

Back to that Main Street walk: one recalls Rex Hammons' tale of buying an old strip down car for a trip to California, purchase price being several cartons of cigarettes bought on credit at the Bradley Store by Rex, which he as a Bradley employee could do.

A raffish bunch including Pete Godwin went along for the trip.

Far away from home, they ran into two young Warren couples, the Hoyle Kights and the Elbert A. Frazers.

As mentioned above, grid drills are under way for the Lumberjacks.

We were among those taking part in this pleasant late-summer activity 55 years ago: I still retain a scar where our ace halfback, Billy Lee Denton, stepped on me.

I decided all too soon that the grid life was not for me: for one thing, I had mismatched shoes: one size 10, one size 12.

Learned later that an old friend, retired Baptist Divine Paul Stockemer, now of Burleston, Texas, had the mates to the shoes (Paul's son, Ralph, became an all-conference halfback at Baylor: my children had skirts, a key condition with which we ordered 'em up back there in 1967 and 1969, may the Almighty being Richley Praised, girls being easier to raise.)

Besides, as the late Sam Dixon always insisted, "they'll always hug your neck".

Girls, that is.

Back then, in 1945, the Lumberjacks had a total of 20 orange jerseys. They were numbered 1-20. Didn't Jack Fort wear number 1? One of the jersey-wearers was our valued and late friend, John Arlis Mitchell, who died in the Dallas metroplex last month.

Arlis was one of the really good guys and he was married to a very fine Texas gal named Wilma.

Discovered that an old friend is a record-holder with the Razorbacks when the grid brochure came out from Fayetteville: this is Johnny Cole, who rests at Oakland Cemetery.

An all-state player as a junior at tiny Gloster, in south Mississippi, Cole came to Warren in the spring of 1948 with his parents, the late John Coles, and his sister, Mrs. Marge Deal.

With Bill Doss, Glynn Atkins, and others, he led Warren to its top season of the 'forties, then played three years at Fayetteville, excelling there as a punt-returner and setting records as the U of A's best, ever, according to the new brochure.

Heart trouble, which got his handsome father, got Johnny, too.

This summer reminds an oldtimer of the one in 1954, when they voted Bradley County "dry".

Lord, it was a bruising battle.

The late Gerald Trussell, then minister of First Baptist Church, joined Rev. Ralph Clayton, of First Methodist, as one of the leaders in the campaign.

Vote, in late September, was 3-2, dry.

The late Bernie Hargis, Sr., was also a leader among the anti-liquor forces. As for Brother Trussell, he was pastor of First Baptist when the present church was built.

Harold Creed was chairman of the building committee.

Harold, a downtown merchant, was a brother to Mrs. James Cuthbertson and is grandfather to the Rev. Dr. John Bradley Creed, now dean of the Truitt Theological at Baylor University.

Names of all the buildings committee members (Allie Mae Colvin Temple was one of them) are on a plaque on First Baptist's south wall.

Do any survive?

The church, largest in Bradley County is in a major remodeling and improvement program, interior walls being removed and the whole place being upgraded.

Rev. Greg Stanley, the pastor, is an interesting Carolina native who holds a chemistry degree from the much-praised University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Mr. Stanley has now served longer than any predecessor at First Baptist, which has had some interesting occupants of the pulpit, including the revered Rev. Nicholas Council Denson.

Brother Denson was a Civil War veteran and a power in Baptist Church circles in the years that followed that Major Unpleasantness.

Nick and Pete Denson, now deceased, were among his descendents.

Oldtimer's Notebook

By
Robert L. Newton

The publishers of The Eagle Democrat have chosen to publish articles from the past Oldtimer's Notebook in memory of Robert L. Newton. This article was first published August 23, 2000.

"Ain't no cure for the summertime blues" department.

The attractive Leticia Johnson, substitute to our regular mail carrier, Terry Gilliam, says her walking route to bring our mail is 15 miles long.

Leticia and her handsome family bought the onetime home of Mrs. Jim Hurley, later occupied by the family of the late Mayor Jim Hurley.

Her husband is an executive at Potlatch Corporation.

Small world department: Mrs. Johnson is a Memphian, but her uncle was an old friend, State Representative Kenneth S. Sulcer of Joiner (Miss. County) where the onetime coaching legend (and Warren visitor) A.C. Moncrief, III, got his coaching start. Moncrief is now a Van Buren banker, having "come to himself" after coaching for years.

The new head coach of the Lumberjacks, Bo Hembree, is a native of Mississippi County, too, his hometown being Osceola, where your scribe once labored for THE OSCEOLA TIMES and learned more there in one year than he ever learned in four times that period at sheltered (then) little (also then) Hendrix College.

Young Hembree has his work cut out for him with the Lumberjacks, but, as a onetime Osceola Seminole, he knows about winning football and what that process demands of both players and coaches.

We wish him well...

Back to A.C. Moncrief: he was a relative of the late Ruth Johnston, who resided for years on Turner Street.

The Crossett native used to visit Warren in the summertime.

The new sidewalk on the west side of Main from Church to Cypress is wide, smooth, impressive.

The sidewalk it replaced went up and down and had stumblin' places on it for the elderly (including me).

One can remember summertime Saturday Afternoons of the "Thirties when that sidewalk was swarmed with people.

Some of the menfolk had gotten a little intoxicated, there being two liquor stores on the block, one operated by Mr. J.T. Hughes and the other being next to the old post office.

City Marshal Jess Crawford would round up those who got too drunk and would haul 'em to the pokey.

If they didn't cooperate with the walk to the jail, Marshall Crawford was not loath to pop 'em on the head with his nightstick.

That didn't impress some of the ladies, since the head-clunkin' always brought a copious flow of blood.

But what else was the Marshal to do?

Oldtimers will remember Mr. and Mrs. Crawford had a house behind the current offices of Highway Commissioner John Lipton on Main (the service station the office once was being erected in their front yard).

Lumberjacks stomp the Bobcats

By Zach Killian
Editor

The Lumberjacks continued their undefeated streak with a win against the Dumas Bobcats, 35-0.

"[The game] was better. In the first half, we came out and executed better offensively and defensively, [the Bobcats] didn't get a first down until late in the first half," said Lumberjack head coach Bo Hembree. "We just dominated in all three phases and its something we need to keep doing and keep getting better."

The Lumberjacks offense stayed strong in the first quarter making it down the field.

Close to the end zone, Lumberjack Quarterback Maddox Lassiter scored the first touchdown early in the game pushing through two yards to score the touchdown. A successful kick by Jose Jacinto guaranteed the extra point, giving the Lumberjacks 7-0.

With 8:20 left in the first quarter, Lassiter performed an interception on the Bobcats' third down at their 16-yard line.

Lassiter made a pass to Jalin Lee who ran straight to the end zone, before a flag was thrown against the Lumberjacks, causing a penalty.

Lassiter fired another pass to Antonio Jordan at the end zone for another touchdown. With the extra point by Jacinto, the Lumberjacks led with 14-0.

The Lumberjacks defense played strong, forcing the Bobcats to punt. The Lumberjacks took over the Bobcats' 30-yard line.

Lassiter threw a long pass to Lee who flew down 30 yards for a first down at the 35-yard line.

A couple plays later, the Lumberjacks pushed to the 22-yard line.

Lassiter threw to Lee who ran 22 yards to the end zone, scoring another touchdown. With another successful kick by Jacinto, the Lumberjacks continued their streak with 21-0.

The Lumberjacks scored another touchdown early in the second quarter. Treyton Jackson ran 52-yards down the field with a two-yard rushing touchdown. Jacinto did what he did best, scoring the extra point. The Lumberjacks led 28-0.

At 5:54 in the first half, the Lumberjacks were forced to punt at the 45-yard line.

The Lumberjacks strong defense forced the Bobcats to punt again.

Landon Wolfe completed a 62-yard drive to the end zone. Jacinto gave the Lumberjacks the extra point, giving them 35-0.

Coming out of halftime, the sportsmanship rule was put in place, keeping the clock running.

In the final half, the Lumberjacks continued to prevent the Bobcats from scoring.

The final score was 35-0.

The Lumberjacks put up 357 yards total offense with 222 on the ground and 135 in the air.

Jackson had 11 carries for 59 yards and a touchdown.

Matthew Powell got four carries and picked up 45 yards in the game.

Cody Weatherspoon reached 41 yards on five touches.

Landon Wolfe had four carries in the game for 32 yards and a touchdown.

Lassiter and Jordyn Ingram had three carries. Ingram posted 21 yards. Lassiter posted 17 yards and scored a touchdown.

Lassiter threw for 135 yards and two touchdowns.

The Lumberjacks continue their 5-1 overall season next week against DeWitt. The Lumberjacks will play at home for homecoming week.

Arkansas History Minute

by
Dr. Kenneth Bridges

Flooding had been a periodic problem in Arkansas throughout recorded history. The original Arkansas capital of Arkansas Post on the Mississippi and Arkansas Rivers had to move several times because of flooding and was ultimately abandoned. Throughout the nineteenth century, efforts were made to build levees and dams in attempts to control flooding. Floods in 1915 and 1922 caused millions of dollars in damages to the state. Perhaps the worst was the Flood of 1927, a flood of almost biblical proportions, which devastated the entire Mississippi River Valley.

The spring of 1927 was unique for just how much rain fell. Already, February floods had left 5,000 Arkansans homeless. While April is typically a month of very heavy rain for the state, seven counties reported more than 20 inches of rainfall that month alone, including Saline, Garland, and Montgomery counties in Central Arkansas and Cross County in East Arkansas. Outbreaks of tornadoes worsened matters. Of the state's 75 counties, only four recorded less than eight inches of rain, including Union and Columbia. Most of the counties along the Arkansas and White rivers all received more than a foot of rain.

As bad as the rainfall was for Arkansas that April, it was about to get much worse because of what was happening hundreds of miles upstream. The Mississippi River was already bloated from unusually heavy rains from the previous summer and fall in the Midwest and heavy snowfall in Tennessee that winter. A warmer than usual spring in the Great Plains meant the snow was melting early, with the water rushing into the streams and rivers. Heavy rainfall in Kansas, Oklahoma, and Iowa made the situation even more dangerous. Floodwaters rushing from the Tennessee and Missouri rivers poured into the Mississippi as it flowed ever southward toward the Gulf of Mexico. By March, flooding in Oklahoma had already caused more than a dozen deaths as the Arkansas River swelled as rainfall gushed into it.

Storm patterns in the Central and Eastern United States typically move from west to east. As flooding pummeled Oklahoma, those same storms moved into Arkansas and dumped even more rain. By early April, the Mississippi River at Greenville, Mississippi, and Lake Village was already at a record level. At one point, community leaders at Memphis and West Memphis sent a boat to inspect the river and the existing levees. The sweeping river pushed the boat out of control, hitting a levee, causing it to burst. Nineteen people drowned. And the rains came heavier still.

All the levees that had been constructed along the Mississippi River to that point crumbled under the force of the water. At the height of the flooding in May, the river rushed past the Memphis-West Memphis line at a rate of three million cubic feet per second, far past the anything seen on the river since. The river spilled its banks onto the farms and into the villages throughout East Arkansas. The Mississippi River was reported to have spread to more than 60 miles wide as it spilled its banks. More than 16.5 million acres were underwater up and down the Mississippi River. In Arkansas itself, the flooding of the Arkansas and White Rivers in addition to the Mississippi Delta counties left more than half of the state's counties experiencing devastating flood conditions. The White and St. Francis rivers were miles wide. A family of four drowned in El Dorado while Helena ordered all train cars and surviving homes to be opened to refugees. One Arkansas acre out of every seven under water.

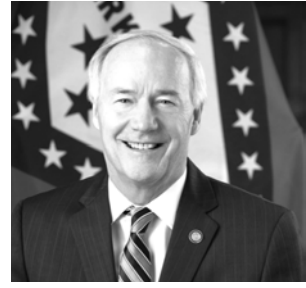

Families fled to high ground, but others were swept away by the floodwaters. In many cases, the only safe ground was so isolated that they could not be rescued. Hundreds of people were stranded for days without food or clean water. The Red Cross, states, communities, and the federal government hastily attempted to build refugee camps. However, conditions were cramped, supplies were scarce, and disease erupted.

By the time the crisis ended, at least 127 Arkansans were known to have died, with 500 dead across the region. More than 700,000 had fled, with nothing but devastation in its wake. While times of crisis and disaster often bring out the best in people, the Flood of 1927 instead brought out the ugliest side of the 1920s South.

Aid came down to help the victims, but local officials seized food, medicine, water, and clothing and doled it out based on race and not need. While whites were handed aid out of compassion, African-Americans in many areas were forced to work for food. Unmarried African-American women had to have white residents vouch for them before they could receive aid. Medical care was denied, and the human toll grew in the chaotic months afterward.

Eventually, the floodwaters receded, the damage repaired, and memories faded. It was the fourth worst flood in recorded world history. The Flood Control Act of 1928 put the US Army Corps of Engineers in charge of building a new system of levees along the river for hundreds of miles. New flood control measures were added in the 1930s and 1940s. But residents continued to stay at the mercy of the rivers.

Gov. Hutchinson's Weekly Address

Today I'd like to talk about the recent opening of a new academic center to promote the forest industry in Arkansas.

Agriculture is the leading industry in our state, and timber plays a critical role in our state's economy. When you think of agriculture in the Natural State, the first commodities to come to mind are typically rice, cotton, poultry, soybeans, or cattle. But the forest industry is critical to our state's economy and agricultural production.

Last week, I traveled to the campus of the University of Arkansas at Monticello for the grand opening of the Arkansas Center for Forest Business. The purpose of this Center is to provide technical assistance for solutions to forest resource challenges, degree programs, and information on timber supply, market conditions, and efficiency.

The forest industry accounts for $6 billion of the Arkansas economy. Our state is the most timber-dependent economy in the South and third most in the country. We are growing forests twice as fast as they're being harvested, and we could double our timber production and still be a leader in forest sustainability.

The Center for Forest Business will provide a number of resources to the timber industry in Arkansas. Not only will the Center provide expanded educational opportunities at UA-Monticello, but it will also provide opportunities for greater economic development projects in South Arkansas.

Companies like Drax and Highland Pellets chose to expand their operations in Arkansas because of our abundant and sustainable forest products. The Center for Forest Business will not only help our timber producers maximize their profits, but it will also help attract additional businesses who utilize this resource.

But the Center for Forest Business will not just benefit timber producers in South Arkansas. Dean Peter MacKeith of the University of Arkansas Fay Jones School of Architecture in Fayetteville has long had the vision for the entire state to work together to promote our state's forest products. According to Dean MacKeith, the Center for Forest Business focuses on the economics and the finance side of the timber industry, while the Anthony Timberlands Center in Fayetteville will focus on the development and promotion of forest products.

UA-Monticello is home to the only forestry school in Arkansas, and UA-Fayetteville is home to the only architecture school in our state, so the two programs together provide a natural fit.

Our state is more successful when all corners of Arkansas work together to create economic success. The Center for Forest Business will not just benefit timber producers in South Arkansas, it will benefit any Arkansan in the forest product supply chain.

Congratulations to Dean Michael Blazier of the UA-Monticello College of Forestry, Agriculture, and Natural Resources, and thank you for helping keep Arkansas the Natural State.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor and Citizens of Bradley County Arkansas, The primary election is history. Some of us got the candidate of our choice in the party of our choice some did not. The upcoming mid-term November election needs to be no different. You voted for your candidate in May, now do not forget to vote in November to seal the deal. The midterm elections are not over. Conservative Christian values start in your home community.

On September 1st, the unelected power sitting in the Oval Office declared Republicans to be terrorists while standing on a stage [reminiscent of Hitler's podium as Chancellor of the Third Reich], designed to promote fear and project his parties feigned power. He proclaimed people that love God, their country, the Constitution, and support the ideals of a Sovereign Nation are worse than ISIS. He accused YOU of promoting violence and trying to destroy the country's democracy. He declared YOU an enemy of the state.

I don't know how that makes you feel. I do know how I feel. I feel like it is time to make our elected State and National (supposed) representatives know that we do not support the Government's overreach into our lives. I feel it is time to make them know that the country does not want Agenda 30, the Green New Deal, Globalists running our country, and we want to remain a sovereign country not ruled by the unelected officials of the UN or a Globalist Cabal.

The left has proclaimed if you are Christian you are fascist. They are attacking family values, Christian values, every day. For the last 10 years this has only gotten worse as the left calls for violence, tries to separate the people of the country, and destroy our democratic republic.

If you do not stand up now for the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, you children just may not ever have the chance to know freedom. This country is the last vestige of freedom. There is no where to go if the Constitution is eroded away!

Before you vote, research the propositions. My personal view is that not one of the four are good for the State.

It is time to stand up and be heard. Time to no longer be the Silent Majority!

Richard R Beckner, RN

Does anyone know what Biden, AOC, and advocates of the Green New Deal plan to force the other 95.75% of the worlds population to comply with their environmental requirements? After all we just occupy all EXCEPT 93.9% of the worlds landmass.

I didn't realize that they had that much influence over all the other world leaders. Many of them seem to think new coal, oil, and natural gas plants are OK. Where did they go wrong?

I'm afraid the majority of Americans feel we are being punished by our "Greenie" leadership. Am I wrong?

Tommy Richardson

P.S. Don't hold me to my figures too closely. I got them from the daily changing Internet.

Warren Branch Library celebrates “Friends of the Library Week”

Mayor Denisa Pennington proclaims October 16-22, 2022, as National Friends of the Library Week in the City of Warren. The Warren Branch Library will be spending the week celebrating its Friends of the Library group as part of the Arkansas Library Association’s 17th annual celebration of National Friends of Libraries Week.

The Friends of the Warren Library were established in 1989. Currently over 500 community members contribute annually to the Friends, and these contributors actively volunteer their time to assist the group with fund-raising efforts that include a dessert & craft auction held every spring and fall.

Officers of the organization are Nancy Vittitow, president; JoAnn Rawls, vice-president; Cathy Richardson, chairman; Sharon Ellis, treasurer; Phyllis Loomis, publicity; and Laura Wagnon, secretary.

Celebration activities include a week long open house and membership drive to be held at the library. Dates and times for these activities will be Monday thru Thursday 10am-2pm and Friday 1pm-5pm.

“Our library would be much poorer without the Friends,” said branch manager Sandy Doss. “The funds they raise definitely put the icing on the cake. I think most patrons would be surprised to learn how many of the services and programs they enjoy are supported by the Friends.”

Please contact the library at 870-226-2536 or visit <https://live-searl.pantheon-site.io/about/support/join-the-friends> to find out how to become a member of the Friends.

National Friends of Libraries Week is coordinated by United for Libraries, a division of the American Library Association with approximately 4,000 personal and group members representing hundreds of thousands of library supporters. United for Libraries supports those who govern, promote, advocate, and fundraise for libraries, and brings together library trustees, advocates, friends, and foundations into a partnership that creates a powerful force for libraries in the 21st century. For more information, visit www.ala.org/united.

His longest of the night being for a 33 yard gain. On the ground, Jonero Scott’s 32 carries for 150 yards led the team.

Defensively, Kaytron Allen once again led the way for the Boll Weevils with 4 total solo stops.

Marquise Mcknight led the night in extra point attempts, going 2-3 with a 48 yard field goal made.

- 05:20— NWO | Darian Gill rushes one yard for a touchdown after a 7-play, 65-yard series.

- 04:22 NWO | Joseph Saunders recovers a UAM fumble and runs into the end zone for a touchdown.

Second Quarter

01:28 — UAM | Zachary Gricotti kicks a 48-yard field goal after a 12-plays, 35-yard drive.

Third Quarter

10:59 — NWO | Torrence Stevens brings in a 55-yard pass from Dakota Michaels to score a touchdown after a 10-play, 90-yard drive.

05:08 — NWO | Gill rushes three yards into the end zone to score, following an 11-play, 90-yard series.

Fourth Quarter

06:15 — UAM | LaCedric Smith snags a pass from Brown for a 33-yard reception touchdown to conclude a 12-play, 94-yard series.

The Weevils travel to Arkadelphia, Arkansas on October 15 as they take on in-state Great American Conference foe Ouachita Baptist University. Official kickoff is set for 1:00 p.m.
