Yearly audit presented to Bradley Co. Medical Center board

By Joanna Poole reporter@theeagledemocrat.com

The Bradley County Medical Center met for its monthly board meeting on Thursday, April 25, to discuss regular business. The meeting was opened with a presentation from Wipfli's Audit Firm in which they discussed the hospital's audit from the fiscal year that ended in September of 2023. The firm presented a series of financial numbers to the board including a financial analysis of the entire fiscal year.

"Thanks for all of your help during the audit," Nate Scott, a Wipfli employee said. "We really appreciate your help and work.

They then presented their findings to the board, reviewing numbers from Medicare and Medicaid settlements.

Following their presentation, the board was then presented with the minutes from the previous month's minutes. A motion was made to approve the minutes, and all were in favor.

The financial report was then presented. The senior care department is running normally. The total gross patient revenue was $3.2 million. The net operating revenue was $1.5 million. The hospital experienced a net loss of $474,000.00. for the month. Accounts receivable increased by $70,000.00. A total of $110,000.00 was added to the hospital's sales tax fund.

Leslie Huitt then presented her report.

"The overall audit was good, and a clean opinion was issued," Huitt said.

Huitt also reported that the air conditioning unit above surgery will be replaced on May 23 and 24.

Jamie Wolfe told the board that there were some position changes in the hospital last month. The hospital is continuing with community education.

"It is a work in progress, but we've done pretty well," Wolfe

Wolfe also said that 1,851 people were reached with educational material in March and that they are working to push educational opportunities every month. Lately, there have been good outcomes for patients who have visited the emergency department with possible strokes and Wolfe believes that is due to more education.

"We just want to keep emphasizing the need to educate the community and push that program along," Wolfe said.

BCMC is still working with UAMS to implement the SANE, or Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner program at the hospital.

Leeanna Williams told the board that staff morale has been up since the hospital switched to Meditech. Recently the hospital hosted a community connect event and they took on a project to develop a resource guide to help providers reach out and let patients know what is available for them here in Bradley County.

The board then approved new policies on stroke protocol for the E.R.

Huitt explained to the board how new goals had been created and what steps would be taken to achieve those goals.

The board then went into executive session. The next meeting will be on May 23rd.

NOTHING BUT THE BLOOD!

There is an old legend that tells of a wealthy man who sought admittance into heaven. An angel asked him for the password. The elegantly attired gentleman replied, "I have contributed generously to the church. Everyone knows of my sterling character. I am respected everywhere. Surely you will have a place for me. I have earned it."

But the angel answered, "Sorry, sir. That is not the password. You may not enter."

Another man approached — distinguished looking and refined. He, too, was asked for the password. "I have served the Lord as a minister. I have stood before the church Sunday after Sunday. Great institutions have given me their highest degrees. Certainly, I merit heavens' favor.

Again the angel shook his head sadly, "Sorry. That is not the password. You do not know the King

Then an old woman appeared before the celestial creature. Her body was bowed from many years of hard toil. But her eyes were shining and she radiated joy. The angel asked her for the password. And she lifted up her hands and began to sing:

The blood, the blood, is all my Hallelujah! It cleanseth me! Hallelujah! It cleanseth me!

And she was right. Without physical blood, there is not physical life. And without the blood of Christ, there is no spiritual life. The apostle John made it clear: "The blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin" (1 John 1:7).

That's a bitter pill for some to accept. There must be some other way. Make a mental decision to accept Christ as the ultimate example of life. Straighten out your through life. Learn to contemplate the higher virtues and all will be well. But no more about the Blood! It's revolting! It's out of the Middle Ages.

The Old Testament is the story of men finding salvation through the blood of sacrificial animals ("When I see the blood, I will pass over you"). The New Testament is the story of the world finding salvation through the blood of Christ. Without Jesus' death on the Cross, all the sacrificing of goals and bullocks and sheep in the Old Testament would have been useless. Those sacrifices were drawn on Heavens' Bank of Eternal Mercy, knowing that the checks would be made good by the ultimate deposit the very life of the Son of God.

"For if the blood of bulls and of goals, and the ashes of a heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh; how much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?" (Hebrews 9:13, 14).

When Jesus cried, "It is finished!" (John 19:30), on the Cross and died, it was without question the greatest acclamation of victory ever heard on this earth. Everything that happened before the Cross - and everything since the Cross — has its meaning in those three words! There Jesus gave His Blood for you and me. He made redemption possible. He made victory over sin in your personal life a fact, if you will have it. He made the sacrifice.

And there is nothing else in all the universe that can do the work of that Blood. No matter how strenuously you revolt against it, how you turn your face from Calvary, how you insist upon doing it your own way only Christ's death on the Cross can ever save you.

What can wash away my sin? Nothing but the blood of Jesus. What can make me whole again? Nothing but the blood of Jesus. Oh, precious is the flow that makes me white as snow. No other fount I know; nothing but the blood of Jesus. Jesus took your place on the Cross, the instrument of death. He died for us in our stead. I should have died; you should have died. We should have received the just punishment for the sins that offend a holy God. But God did not want you to die — but to live. To have eternal life. Jesus came to die. He who was eternal life, became death, that you and I, who were dying, might live. My friend, no one has ever loved you as Jesus. No matter how you have tried to revile Him, ignore Him, ridicule Him. You cannot shake the fact that there is a literal place called Calvary where Jesus died for you. He loved you.

Arkansas House Report

Jeff Wardlaw Ark. State Representative

In the third week of the 2024 Fiscal Session, the proposed Revenue Stabilization Act for the 2025 Fiscal Year was distributed to members.

The Revenue Stabilization Act (RSA) categorizes and prioritizes state spending. It is typically one of the last items passed every session.

The proposed RSA outlines a 1.76 percent increase in state spending. The largest increases can be found in Educational Freedom Accounts, the Public School Fund, and Arkansas State Police. The RSA would increase funding for the Education Freedom Accounts by $65.7 million. The public school fund would be increased by $38.2 million and the funding allocated for Arkansas State Police would increase by $3.9 million.

This week, the House adopted an amendment to HB1012 which adds 50 corporal positions for Arkansas State Police and adds two positions

On Wednesday, the Joint Budget Committee advanced SB77. This bill outlines a temporary pay plan for state employees. The plan would raise employee salaries by up to 3 percent. It would also set the minimum salary for state employees at $32,405 a year, raise the maximum salary range for pay grades by 10 percent, and offer special compensation under specific circumstances.

Two bills addressing regulations of digital asset mining are now making their way to the House. SB78 and SB79 have been assigned to the House City, County, and Local Affairs Committee. The committee will meet on Tuesday, April 30.

The House will reconvene again on Tuesday as well at 1 p.m. The next week is likely to be the final week of the Fiscal Session.

We have posted a copy of the proposed RSA at www.arkansashouse. org. There you can also find links to all live streams and recorded legislative meetings.

Arkansas History Minute

by Dr. Kenneth Bridges

"What are you going to do about it?" implored a mother to her son one day. The year was 1969, and US Rep. David Pryor was being confronted by his mother about a serious problem facing an aunt in a nursing home. In spite of the reassurances of the facility, Pryor's aunt was living in horrifying conditions that destroyed her dignity and threatened her health. Family and service to others were ideas that meant much to him, so Pryor decided to do something about it.

David Pryor, a Camden native, had been elected to Congress in 1966. He had previously been a newspaper publisher, lawyer, state legislator, and came from a family with a long history of public service in Ouachita County. As a member of Congress, he continually heard reassurances from nursing-home industry lobbyists and executives that the funding provided by state and federal governments went for the best care for patients and the few regulators that existed at the time found very few problems. Regulators would always announce their inspections in enough time for the nursing homes to pass, and lobbyists convinced states to weaken what few protections existed. Pryor had long scoffed at these assurances as stories like his aunt's continued to surface.

In the late 1960's, abuses of patients in nursing homes had become an epidemic across the nation. The elderly were beaten, health problems ignored, and medication was withheld or overdosed. Owners looked the other way to preserve their profits. Pryor decided that the only way to uncover the truth was to look for himself, away from the cameras, guided tours, and hearings in comfortable offices.

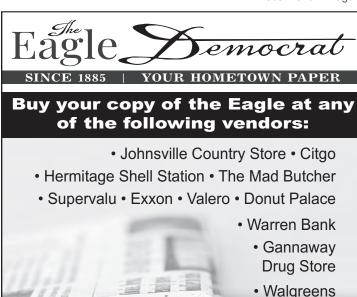

He decided that he would visit Washington, D.C., area homes not as a congressman, but instead as a volunteer interested in serving as an orderly on nights and weekends.

With his visits to 11 nursing homes, his findings were heartbreaking. He found patients covered in bedsores from neglect, small rooms crammed with a dozen or more beds, and patients left sitting in wheelchairs in their own waste. One home had only one employee to care for 80 people. Pryor found patients dumped at facilities by their families with nothing to do and no one to talk to. Patients had no means to move to better facilities and no way to lodge complaints or even contact family. Managers often did whatever it took to convince inspectors that nothing was wrong, and employees often threatened patients to stay quiet.

Pryor recounted in his autobiography that one elderly man, too frail to even cut his own toenails, resisted this basic service as the orderlies charged him $7 each time. Pryor decided to do something about it. So there sat a United States Congressman, cutting the toenails of an old man forgotten by his family and friends and taking the time to listen to his stories.

By early 1970, the nursing home scandal broke after Pryor revealed his findings and media went into a frenzy. He worked over the course of months to set up hearings and gain support for legislation to help nursing home patients. He convinced both Democrats and Republicans to support creation of a House Committee on Aging, against the wishes of leadership in both parties and congressmen who had stock

Senate Week in Review from Ben Gilmore Senator

The Arkansas Senate passed two bills that will tighten state and local regulations of data centers and the newly emerging crypto mining industry.

Senate Bill 78 passed with 26 votes in the 35-member Senate. SB 79 passed with 32 votes. Next, they will be considered by the House of Representatives.

The measures represent legislators' attempts to balance competing demands. One is to protect the quality of life near the centers. Another is to ensure that their energy consumption doesn't cause power failures. At the same time, lawmakers don't want to cripple the growth of a new industry that few people understand.

The legislature is in a fiscal session that is expected to end on May 2. Routinely, during fiscal sessions only budget bills can be introduced, but the state Constitution allows for consideration of non-budget bills if both the Senate and House agree by an extraordinary majority of two-thirds. That happened with SB 78 and SB 79.

Since the first fiscal session took place in 2010, only a few non-budget bills have been brought up and they were relatively non-controversial. SB 78 and 79 address issues of enormous importance to people who live near crypto mines, and to local governments that want more authority to regulate Crypto mines have popped up in rural areas only recently and more are being planned. They consume a lot of electricity and some use large quantities of water. Nearby residents have been especially vocal about the noise they generate every day, all day.

The Senate bills require crypto mines to install equipment or build coverings that will reduce noise levels.

Neighbors who live within 2,000 feet of a digital asset mining business will have standing to file lawsuits in circuit court. The state Oil and Gas Commission will issue permits to data centers and local governments can pass ordinances to regulate

A major concern about some crypto mines is that their ownership cannot be verified, and they may be a threat to our cybersecurity. Ownership by Chinese military agencies is a particular concern.

The Senate bills prohibit ownership of data centers by organizations or foreign countries that sponsor terrorism and that traffic in weapons in violation of international law.

State Employee Pay Plan

The Joint Budget Committee approved the governor's proposal to raise salaries of state employees.

Beginning on July 1, which is the start of Fiscal Year 2025, state employees may get raises of up to three percent. Also, they will be eligible for lump sum bonuses of up to $5,000 or 40 hours of leave.

Agencies looking to hire new employees may offer the bonuses as a recruitment incentive. The head of the Arkansas State Employees Association said the pay raises were much needed and well deserved.

The plan allows for higher salaries for employees at the top of the pay scale. The minimum salary for employees at the bottom of the pay scale is raised significantly, from $22,880 to $32,405 a year.

The governor's office said it was important for state government to recruit and retain its best employees.

JOHN BOOZMAN

Small businesses play an integral role in the growth and development of our communities. They are the backbone of our economy and represent core values that are at the heart of America – hard work, risk-taking and success. Each year we recognize their important contributions to our state and nation during National Small Business Week.

Small businesses saturate our communities, but launching, operating and growing them is no small feat. The lifeblood is capital, but it also takes mentorship, expertise and a lot of thankless work.

As part of events commemorating National Small Business Week from April 28-May 4, the U.S. Small Business Administration highlights entrepreneurs from across the country for their determination and contributions to our economy in an awards ceremony in the nation's capital.

Arkansas entrepreneur Lynette West is our state's Small Business Person of the Year for 2024. The Jonesboro business owner operates HealthWear Corporation, a boutique business that offers medical uniforms and accessories.

Her hands-on approach has helped create a welcoming and friendly atmosphere in the store, attracting a loyal customer base. As a result of her leadership, HealthWear has received recognition not only for its stellar reputation among clientele, but also for the quality of its products, including an award for best uniform from Premiere Magazine in northeast Arkansas. These accolades and West's pursuit of support and mentorship have helped her guide the business through challenges and opportunities

It's important for West and other entrepreneurs to have access to capital so they can invest in their operations and workforce. We must advance policies that encourage borrowers and lenders, not make it harder to access the resources necessary to sustain or ex-

In our economic system we know there are risks, and some protection from them is necessary, but the Biden administration is proposing and implementing regulations that are actually hurting small businesses and the banks and credit unions that support them.

At a time when capital has quickly become more expensive, regulators are adding to the problem and discouraging banks from lending. This ultimately deters investment and growth in our small businesses.

I'm proud to lead legislation to turn back overreach and preserve access to capital. The Small Lender Act addresses concerns about a Consumer Financial Protection Bureau rule which would require lenders to solicit social factors from small business borrowers and divulge it to federal bureaucrats in Washington. While discrimination of any form is wrong, this rule would prioritize social factors over creditworthiness in small business lending, place additional red tape on lenders and making it harder for businesses to obtain critical financing.

The Small Lender Act would remove this red tape for certain lenders and small business borrowers, making it easier for capital to get to the enterprises that depend on it the most.

Companion legislation is sponsored by Arkansas Congressman French Hill. Natural State small businesses owners, and our family, friends and neighbors who establish or are employed by them, can be proud knowing we are working to improve policies to support their success.

Our state is home to more than 258,000 small businesses that employ more than 500,000 people. By supporting Arkansas and American small businesses, we can help revitalize our economy and strengthen the operations that underpin it. I'm proud to advance and promote pro-growth and pro-job policies that create an environment of certainty for job creators to plan for the future and enhance their operations.

He remained a popular figure in the state as a champion for education, the elderly, and those in need. He would ultimately chair the Senate Committee on Aging between 1989 and 1995. Pryor retired from the Senate in 1997 and returned to Arkansas. He remained active in his retirement, serving on the Board of Directors for the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, briefly chairing the Arkansas Democratic Party, and speaking to groups across the state, including many graduation ceremonies. He shared with students his expertise on his long political career, most notably teaching a political science course at the University of Arkansas in 2008. Pryor was known for his gentle demeanor and kindness. He died on April 20 at age 89.

The Rotary Club of Warren met Tuesday for its weekly meeting at First Methodist Church. The group heard from Warren High School Junior Rotarian Alice Regalado to begin the program. Warren Rotary Club President Dennen Cuthbertson took the stage next to speak about his role as Community Champion for Bradley County Medical Center as a part of the Delta Region Grant. Cuthbertson hosted a Community Priority Action Planning meeting last week and recapped that meeting for the crowd. He ended by answering a few questions from the audience. Pictured: Junior Rotarian Alice Regalado and Rotarian Dennen Cuthbertson.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

FEATURES FROM THE BIBL

Judges 16

Samson was drained of his great physical strength when Delilah had a Philistine to shave his head.

The Philistines seized him, gouged out his eyes, shackled him and made him a prisoner who worked at grinding. The hair on 🎾 his head began to grow again. As the Philistine ruler celebrated Samson's defeat, they called for him to be brought before them so that he could entertain them.

Standing before the rulers of the Philistines and the people gathered in their temple, Samson asked those who were leading him around to put him where he could feel the pillars that supported the temple. Samson prayed for the Lord to strengthen. him one more time and let him, with one blow, get revenge on the Philistines for gouging his eyes out.

Samson placed his hands on the two supporting pillars of the temple, pushed with all his might and down came the temple on the rulers of the Philistines

Byrd earns first GAC Pitcher of the Week honor

cross-street rival Ouachita Baptist, act one of Byrd's performance came with HSU holding a 3-1 lead in the top of the ninth. The Natural State product entered the game only to issue a lead-off groundout before striking out the final two Tiger batters for his fourth save of the

A second act for the ages still awaited spectators at Clyde Berry Field as Byrd was called on once again in the series finale, this time with the red-and-gray facing a 1-0 deficit. In the top of the sixth of the seven-inning contest, OUA loaded the bases via a hit, a wild pitch and two walks while still having three outs wot work with.

Similar to the previous game's outing. Byrd struck out the first batter he faced before a walk placed the Tigers' second run of the game. The junior's second strikeout of that frame came one batter later following a heads-up defensive play from HSU for the second out as the damage was kept at a minimum, leaving a 2-0 deficit.

Henderson's offense came through with three runs in bottom of the sixth, leaving HSU three outs away from claiming the series and a first-round home series in the following weekend's GAC Tournament. All three outs came courtesy of Byrd's right arm as the second-year Reddie baseball player struck out the side.

In his two appearances on the day, Byrd picked up his second win and fourth save of the season, logging seven strikeouts in three innings of work without giving up a single hit. Thanks to heroic efforts of its relief pitcher, Henderson State now heads to the postseason for the 2024 GAC Tournament.
