Bradley County Chamber banquet deemed a success

Warren, Arkansas, Wednesday, October 2, 2024

SPECIAL TO THE EAGLE

The Bradley County Chamber of Commerce Banquet Tuesday night of September the 24 was a huge success! Over a hundred people were in attendance at sold out tables. Live music was provided by Shaw Revolver. A meal and hors d'oeuvres were served by Warren High School student volunteers. Awards were presented to Terrie White for her service to the Chamber (she has now retired), and Volunteer of the Year 2024 went to Kenneth Saunders. A special thanks was given by Chair of the Board Dana Harvey for volunteers who made the Banquet possible: Nancy Arnold, Estephany Roman, Brooke Hatch, Jane Har- surance, Chapel Woods, ris, Missy Wardlaw, and James Wells. The winner of the Raffle for a 40-bag pallet of deer corn was Shari Davis, and the silent auction proved successful. All funds raised from this and other Chamber fundraising events are used to promote Chamber members and Bradley County community development efforts.

We wish to thank our sponsors who purchased a table: Commercial Bank & Trust, Warren Bank & Trust, Union Bank & Trust, Bradley County Medical Center, Timber Logistics, Mainline Health, Mayor Gregg Reep, South Arkansas Pet Cremations, Heritage Poultry, Milton In-

Belle View Estates, and Arkansas Superior Federal Credit Union.

We also want to thank those that contributed items for our silent auction: Warren Motor Supply, Charley Rauls, South Arkansas Pet Cremations, The Mane Event, Maribeth Frazer, Flo Bac Energy Service, Papaw's Wood Shop, Jewelry Box, Fran VanDerZwalm, Mitchell Lumber & Hardware, Jane Harris, Nancy Arnold, Sweet Moments, Dana Harvey

We wish to further thank all that attended and/or contributed to this event, and hope we can make next year's Banquet even more successful!

Warren holds off DeWitt in conference opener with thrilling 34-22 victory

In a rain-soaked battle under the Friday night lights, the Warren Lumberjacks opened their conference schedule with a hard-fought 34-22 win over the DeWitt Dragons. The game was filled with momentum swings, key defensive stops, and big plays as Warren secured a crucial early lead in the conference standings.

The game started in dramatic fashion with Warren's defense putting points on the board first. After a quick three-andout by the Lumberjack offense, firm, forcing a turnover on DeWitt began their first drive downs. The Dragons had a few in the end zone for a safety, giving the Lumberjacks a 2-0 lead with 9:15 remaining in the first quarter.

Warren wasted no time capitalizing on the free kick, taking over in DeWitt territory at the 36-yard line. Cam Smith broke a big run to set up A.K. Jordan, who dashed down the sideline for a touchdown, extending the Lumberjack lead to 8-0.

DeWitt responded, moving the ball down to Warren's 20yard line on a long pass play, but Warren's defense held deep in their own territory. A opportunities but were plagued 8-0 lead at the end of the first quarter.

The second quarter saw Warren extend its lead. After another defensive stop, Warren began a drive near midfield. A big run by Jordan was called back due to holding, but Smith broke loose for a 30-yard gain on the next play, setting up a one-yard touchdown plunge. The Lumberjacks took a 14-0 lead with 5:21 left in the half.

DeWitt's offense began to find its rhythm late in the second quarter. Still, the Lumberjack defense held firm again, stopping a DeWitt drive at Warren's 25-yard line as

The Dragons struck early in the second half, cutting the deficit to 14-7 on a 40-yard touchdown run by Landon Simpson. However, Warren answered with a sustained drive, eating up the clock and moving the ball into the red zone. Jordan capped off the drive with a one-yard touchdown, and a successful two-point conversion extended Warren's lead to 22-7.

DeWitt refused to go quietly, though. With 3:00 left in the third quarter, DeWitt's quarterback Justin Ross broke free for a 50-yard touchdown run to make it 22-14. The Dragons fumble recovery for a touchdown brought DeWitt even at 22-22.

Warren responded immediately, as they scooped up the next onside kick and returned it 60 yards for a touchdown. A failed two-point attempt kept the score at 28-22 with just seconds remaining in the third quarter. On the very next play from scrimmage, DeWitt fumbled, and the Lumberiacks recovered and returned it for another score, giving Warren a 34-22 lead as time expired in the third quarter.

The fourth quarter saw De-Witt push into Warren terri- ference lead on the line, the bad snap led to Warren tack- by penalties and miscues, al- the half expired with Warren recovered the ensuing onside tory again, but a costly fumble Lumberjacks will look to build kick, and two plays later, a gave the ball back to the Lum- on their strong start.

berjacks with just over 10 minutes remaining. Warren leaned on their ground game to chew up clock, but a late interception by DeWitt's Justin Ross gave the Dragons one last chance. With just over three minutes left, the Dragons drove inside the Lumberjack 30, but Warren's defense came up with a game-sealing interception to close out the victory.

Warren will now turn its attention to next week's home showdown against Monticello + in the Union Bank Saline River Shootout. With the early con-

On Monday, September 30, Union Bank unveiled a new level of banking technology at their University Branch. Two Interactive Teller Machines (ITM) are the first of what is expected to become the norm for customers at Union Bank. Starting Monday, Lanes One and Four are still open in the drive-thru while Lanes

Two and Three will be closed. There will also be no access to the lobby with these changes. Customers will however still be able to interact with tellers who are located inside the building, the same friendly faces that they are already familiar with.

GRUMBLING OVER LOT DEGRADES MANKIND

It came to me the other day that I had almost totally neglected reading the book Lamentations in my Bible study. I am not a "lamenter" by nature.

Here is a nugget I discovered. "Wherefore doth a living man complain?" (Lamentations 3:6) The Bible has quite a bit to say about murmuring. It's another human error that receives scant attention from the pulpit these days. At its root, the word complain indicated a blow. At the heart, it is a blow against God. The apostle Jude speaks of certain men as "murmurers, complainers, walking their own lusts; and their mouth speaketh the great swelling words, having men's persons in admiration because of advantage" (Jude 16).

The author of Lamentations, Jeremiah, wants to know why a man will fault with his lot. I strongly suspicion he was engaging in a little self-inventory. There were time when the prophet was far from optimistic. He checks on his own morbid habit. Ask yourself right now, "Do I have any right to grumble?"

To grumble and gripe is unmanly. It's an honor to be a man or woman, a member of the human race. Think of it! You are not a brute that cannot look upward or forward. You are not an infant, absolutely helpless and dependent on others, nor are you an angel, free from your share of problems. And, thank God, most of all, you are not a devil without hope. You are a person, heir of salvation. You are God's workmanship, created in his own image.

Grumbling degrades you. It doesn't become you. It coats your soul with evil. It soils your lips. One complainer in a room full of company can destroy the pleasure of an occasion. It is a detestable habit. None of us enjoy that kind of company.

Murmuring is the business of a fool. Complaining is a crime against your Heavenly Father. It withers and blights. It paralyzes effort. It makes men both helpless and hopeless.

Instead of Grumbling when something doesn't please you, why don't you try Counting Your Blessings. I think we need to revive the gospel song, "Count Your Blessings". It will surprise you when you remember what the Lord has done.

future.

It sounds scary to not be face to face with your banker, but after seeing how the operation works, customers will still receive the same quality and level of service that they are used to. Also, "robots" have not taken anyone's job. The same employees who have been in the branch are still the ones who are handling all of the banking business for the branch.

try. In bigger cities across the U.S., many banks have gone to ITMs for all day-to-day banking procedures.

Union Bank, as is their custom, made the call to be the first bank in Monticello to bring this technology to their customers.

"Union Bank has always been prideful on being the local market leader when it comes to innovation and technology," Dave Dickson, President of Union Bank said. "Interactive Teller Machines (ITM) are the latest example of our leadership in introducing new technologies to our customers. Union Bank was the first local bank to offer ATMs, Online Banking with Bill Pay, and Mobile Banking."

Dickson noted one perk that will come with the new ITMs, and that is extended hours. The new hours at the University

Oldtimer's Notebook

The publishers of The Eagle Democrat have chosen to publish articles from the past Oldtimer's Notebook in memory of Robert L. Newton. This article was first published Aug. 20, 2003.

Saw in the paper the other day that over half the incoming freshmen at Hendrix College, my alma mater, are going to be from out of state this fall.

Back in 1947-51, the out-ofstate student was a rarity.

Maybe they are going now because they're the ones who can better afford it.

Hendrix education is said to cost $20,000 a year now.

Compare that to $600 a year when people like me, Pauline Hoyle, Wickie Morgan, and her late husband, George (Sonny)

Morgan, went to school there. Think I was told during my Hendrix years that President Matt Ellis made $500 a month plus a free house. All that's changed. A lot.

Speaking of change, you don't have to get much closer to change in Warren than to get on the corner of Martin and Pine and meditate for a season about how things were, half a century ago, and how they are now.

To begin, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Williams had a house sort of a happy man in a second marriage in Warren.

Mrs. Williams was a daughter of Hardie H. Burns who left Union County because of the oil boom and what he considered damaging situations that generated for his children. She was a worker and go-getter, as is her sister, the wonderful Dora Lawton, who still blesses us all with her presence.

On up the street was a house occupied by C. W. Hankins, who had been in banking in Pine Bluff. The Depression came along, so

Just about the last Episcopalian in town in the thirties was the regal and to a degree, demanding, Florence Bills Gannaway, wife of John Ramsay Gannaway, founder of Warren Building and Loan, one-time State Representative.

Next door was the church's home for the pastor: both still stand, of course, but in use by Warren's ever-growing Catholic population. The church building was obtained from the Episcopalians through work by the late Bruce P. Mety and the late John

One of the big family rituals was the giant Sunday dinner following church.

I recall the men would unbutton their belts after eatin' too much and rare back, puttin' their feet up against a column or something.

The women got to stay inside and clean up.

The way it was.

Judge and Mrs. Hunter had four kids when they came to Warren. Later, they turned part of the house into an apartment.

The late Bates Wheelers rented it for quite some time.

Across the street was a tiny house in which Bert and Christine Martin Green raised daughters. Mr. Green worked at the Southern store, and Miss Christine at Weiss'. They had no car. I can still remember them walking ev-

INTRODUCING THE INSTANT-ISSUE

PINK RIBBON VISA DEBIT CARD

As we enter the month of October, Arkansas gears up to celebrate Arkansas Farm to School Month – a time dedicated to connecting schools, early childhood education sites, and various organizations with local farms to provide children with access to fresh, healthy food.

This initiative is part of a nationwide effort to foster a deeper connection between communities and local food producers, enriching the lives of students and families alike. By changing food purchasing and education practices within schools and alternative learning environments, Arkansas Farm to School Month aims to empower children to make informed food choices while contributing to the local economy and creating vibrant communities.

One of the key components of Farm to School is the implementation of school gardens, which serve as invaluable educational tools. These gardens not only provide students with the opportunity to consume healthy foods but also enable them to engage in hands-on learning through gardening and farming. Studies have shown that when children are involved in growing their own food, they are more likely to eat fruits and vegetables and are more willing to try new varieties.

Currently, Arkansas boasts an impressive 350 school gardens across the state, each varying in type and design, including greenhouses, raised beds, and containers inside classrooms. These gardens not only promote healthy eating habits but also foster a deeper connection to nature and provide valuable lessons in nutrition.

The Arkansas General Assembly passed The Local Food, Farms, and Jobs Act in 2017 and amended the act in 2019. The act requires institutions to set a goal of spending at least 20 percent of their purchase of food products on local food. It also requires institutions to complete a reporting form, created by the Arkansas Department of Agriculture, on their local food procurement budget on a yearly basis.

In the most recent reporting cycle, 284 institutions serving children aged 18 and younger reported spending over $194 million on food, with nearly 20 percent of their food budget allocated to local foods.

As we celebrate Arkansas Farm to School Month, let us recognize the importance of promoting healthy eating habits, supporting local farmers, and providing educational opportunities for our youth. By fostering a connection between students, communities, and local food producers, we can create a healthier, more sustainable future for all.

The heartbeat of community

BY JOANNA POOLE

reporter@theeagledemocrat.com

In today's world, we are constantly connected. Late replies to texts and emails are met with impatience and frustration. Instant replies lead to instant satisfaction. I remember meeting new friends at church camp, collecting addresses, and then planning to keep in touch with them. The moment I got home, I'd pull out my stationary and write a letter about how nice it was to meet them and how glad I was that we became friends. Not to sound cliché, but kids today don't understand the anticipation that comes with checking the mailbox to see if the return letter had arrived. The same can be said for impromptu family visits. They don't happen anymore. I remember hopping in the car on a Saturday afternoon and driving to a family member's home, where I would play with cousins while my parents sat at the kitchen table or on the back porch to catch up. Often, we stayed for supper, and I can still remember how the food tasted. Now, everyone is too busy, and visits have to be planned. I don't know about you, but that takes some of the fun out of time spent together. In an era dominated by instant connection, the charm of small communities often gets overshadowed. A spirit of togetherness thrives in life's shared experiences, mutual support, and the simple joys of everyday life. Small communities are the places where faces become familiar, and a wave or friendly nod can brighten someone's day. It's in these small communities where relationships are built on trust and history. When someone faces hardship, whether it be illness, job loss, or any personal change, that's when our neighbors step in with emotional support and usually some kind of food. We Southerners all know that most problems can be fixed with fried chicken and a big mason jar of sweet tea. Another way we can keep our sense of community is to support our community. What exactly does that mean? Support local businesses. They create jobs and help maintain property values.

Senate Week in Review from Ben Gilmore Senator

When the legislature convenes in regular session in January, lawmakers will consider changing how district courts are funded.

The outcome will be important throughout the judicial system. It will influence how judges' salaries are paid. It will impact the budgets of city, county and state governments. The legislature's decisions will significantly affect people who are ordered to pay fines and restitution.

The blueprint for change was finalized last week by the Senate and House Committees on the Judiciary, which have been working on potential reforms of court finances since last year's legislative session. Act 38 of 2023 required the committees to study the issue and report its findings by October 1.

One proposal is to eliminate an existing agreement that has the state and local governments all share in paying judicial salaries.

Another proposal would repeal the current $10 a month fee charged to people who pay off fines and court costs in installments. The Judiciary Committees heard testimony that some people owe more because of accumulated $10-a-month fees than they owe for their original traffic fine.

County governments have a vested interest in this issue. According to the Association of Arkansas Counties, the 75 counties in Arkansas spend at least $46 million a year on the operations of local judicial systems. The amount is likely higher, because the $46 million figure was compiled 10 years ago.

Now, cities and counties contribute $58,650 toward the salary of each local district judge.

That is half of the base cost of or nothing to do with the operjudges' salaries. State government pays the other half.

Editorial

Beginning January 1, there will be 70 full-time district judges in Arkansas. If the state pays their entire salaries, the state will incur an additional $4.1 million a year in costs, and local governments will save that amount.

The current system of collecting court costs and fees, although better than it was in the past, is a confusing patchwork. Fees and court costs go into a state Administration of Justice Fund, which last year provided $39.3 million in funding for 21 separate programs.

Some of those programs are connected to the court system, such as the Arkansas Judicial Retirement Fund. Others are not directly connected to operations of the judicial system, such as programs for traffic safety and drug abuse prevention. As Act 38 says: "Many of the court costs, fees, and fines assessed by the court system have little ations of an individual court or the court system ... "

Eliminating disparities has been a legislative priority since 1995, when the General Assembly passed Act 1256 to provide for uniform filing fees and court costs. Act 1256 was prompted by the fact that the system of fees and fines created inequity in the level of judicial services available to Arkansas citizens.

Furthermore, according to Act 1256, the judicial funding system had become so complex as to make administration impossible. This mattered to law enforcement agencies because unreliable reporting of criminal statistics made it impossible to compile accurate data on crime rates.

It mattered to ordinary people who wanted to file a civil suit, or were defendants in a lawsuit. In some counties it might take six months to get a court date, but in a different county it might take more than a year.

141 HART SENATE OFFICE BUILDING WAS JOHN BOOZMAN

Arkansas has made a monumental impact on the nation's capital this year outside of the usual policy debates among the legislative and executive branches or landmark Supreme Court cases. Instead, the addition of two new submissions to the National Statuary Hall Collection both placed our little corner of the world into national and international headlines.

Back in the spring, we celebrated our state's first new statue in the collection in over a hundred years when a rendering of Daisy Bates replaced one of Arkansas's previous contributions. This month we had the distinct honor to welcome another great Arkansan to the ranks with the unveiling of Johnny Cash, cast in bronze and gazing down to engage a generation – as a product of Arkansas.

He was known as "J.R." by his family, "Airman John R. Cash" to the U.S. military and "Johnny" or "The Man in Black" for legions of devoted fans around the world. He gained further notoriety as a member of Sun Records' so-called Million Dollar Quartet and as part of the famed Highwaymen, appealing to a massive audience beyond just country music.

Throughout his legendary career that took him from town to town and literally around the globe, Johnny Cash always carried Arkansas with him. In fact, he once planted cotton in the front yard of his California home to remind him of life on the farm back in Mississippi County.

Cash was also especial-that had been instilled in him by his family from such a young age. He grew up singing the old Baptist hymns at his mother's feet, describing them as "his favorite form of prayer - his church of choice." That spiritual journey led him to visit Israel on multiple occasions, write a book about the apostle Paul, and even strike up an unlikely friendship with Billy Graham whose statue is also part of the collection that Cash now joins.

It's been said that Johnny Cash – though he came from a little town in Arkansas – knew how to talk to all of America and that his catalogue, in essence, tells the story of our country. So in many ways, hosting his sculpture within one of our nation's most iconic symbols was long overdue.

It befits someone of Cash's come.

- Find a nonprofit and see if they need help.
- Sponsor a local organization.
- Organize community events.
- The list could go on and on.

But the root of community spirit goes beyond mere social interaction. It's a commitment to the overall well-being. When community members gather to address issues that matter to them, the sense of comradery becomes stronger. These actions reflect a deep-rooted sense of responsibility towards one another and the environment they share. This is true everywhere, but in small communities, the impact of each person's efforts is magnified. One person's push for change can move like wildfire. By investing in our local communities, we contribute to a larger movement that values connection over isolation.

with the thousands and thousands of observers who will encounter his likeness in the U.S. Capitol annually.

We're so proud and excited that now visitors to the halls of Congress will learn of Cash's origins and identify his life and music – which helped define ly fond of another Arkansan, Sister Rosetta Tharpe, whose musical style of gospel-infused blues and rock captivated him more than most other artists he would ever encounter.

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

When it comes to pizza, it is often difficult to stop after just one slice. Although pizza originated in Italy, people from all around the world have made pizza their own by experimenting with different flavor combinations and toppings. Whether you're in the camp who thinks it isn't pizza if there's more than mozzarella cheese and red sauce on the crust or the one who feels the sky's the limit for pizza adventures, it's hard not to like "Buffalo Chicken Pizza." This recipe pairs the heat and tang of Buffalo wings with the familiarity of pizza's crunch. Try this medley of flavor, courtesy of "30-Minute Meal Prep: 100 Healthy and Delicious Recipes to Eat All Week" (Sourcebooks) by Robin Miller.

Serves 4

1 13.8-ounce container refrigerated pizza dough 1 cup ricotta cheese

3 tablespoons powdered ranch dip/dressing mix

2 cups shredded cooked chicken

1/4 cup hot sauce, such as Frank's, or hot sauce of choice

1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese

Chopped fresh chives for serving (optional)

Bottled ranch dressing for serving (optional)

Directions:

1. Preheat the oven to 400 F. Line a large baking sheet with parchment paper or aluminum foil.

2. Unroll the pizza dough on the prepared pan, and shape as desired. I chose a 10-by-12-inch rectangle. Bake for 6 minutes.

3. Meanwhile, in a small bowl, combine the ricotta and powdered ranch, and mix well.

4. In another bowl, combine the chicken and hot sauce, and mix to cover the chicken with the sauce.

Mainline receives gold status awards in multiple categories from AHA

BY EAGLE STAFF

Mainline Health Systems, Inc. recently were awarded The American Heart Association's Check. Change. Control. Cholesterol™ Gold and The American Heart Association's Target: Type 2 Diabetes<sup>SM</sup>Gold and Target: BP™ Gold+ recognition jointly presented by the American Heart Association and the American Medical Association.

Mainline Chief Executive Officer, Allan Nichols stated "We are thrilled to be recognized with this award but it's our patients that are the real winners here."

Nearly half of all adults in the U.S. have some form of cardiovascular disease, including heart attack, stroke or heart failure. High cholesterol, Type 2 diabetes and uncontrolled high blood pressure are leading risk factors for cardiovascular disease, but with timely diagnosis, research-based treatment and education, these conditions can be managed.

"Heart disease and stroke remain the leading causes of death for Americans, and addressing Type 2 diabetes, cholesterol, blood pressure management is key for better cardiovascular health," said Howard Haft, M.D., MMM, CPE, FACPE, American Heart Association volunteer; consultant, senior medical advisor and adjunct professor of medicine at the University of Maryland School of Medicine; and former executive director of the Maryland Primary Care Program with the Maryland Department of Health. "The American Heart Association is pleased to recognize Mainline Health Systems, Inc. for its commitment to managing patient risk factors related to high blood pressure, high cholesterol and Type 2 diabetes." "We have been recognized by the State and on the national level with other Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHC) but these awards are given to any type of health provider, it doesn't have to be just FQHC's," Nichols noted. "This shows that the processes and procedures we have implemented are working. Southeast Arkansas is not the easiest place to achieve these goals. Jenni and
