Lumberjacks retain Union Bank Saline River Shootout Trophy 30-21

By JEFF YOUNG
Special to the Eagle Democrat

For the second consecutive year, the Warren Lumberjacks was the host team for the Union Bank Saline River Shootout.

Both Warren and Monticello entered the contest with a 1-0 8-4A Conference record.

The Lumberjacks won the coin toss to begin the game and elected to receive the opening kickoff. Monticello's Joseph Rojas kicked the ball to the 10-yard line where it would be returned 21-yards by Neondre Thomas to Warren's 31-yard line.

Cameron Burks completed the first pass of the drive to Aaron Davis. However Davis was tackled in the backfield by Laytn Nichols for a four-yard loss. After a two-yard loss on a run by Davis, Burks connected with Tramond Miller for a 21-yard gain to the Warren 46-yard line which was followed by a five-yard offside penalty that placed the ball into Monticello territory at the 49-yard line.

Warren drove deep into Monticello territory to the four yard line, but the drive stalled when the Lumberjacks turned the ball over on downs with 7:17 remaining in the first quarter. Beginning the drive at the Monticello four-yard line, Jackson Hines gained a yard to the five-yard line. The Billies gained a little room on the next play on a four-yard reception by Rojas from Tye Guthrie. Zaedin Jones advanced the ball to the Monticello 21-yard line on a 12-yard run.

broke free and ran 38 yards for a Billie touchdown. Rojas added the extra point to give Monticello a 7-0 lead with 1:30 on the clock. Warren's next drive began at Warren's 47-yard line after a 36-yard return by Thomas. The Lumberjacks drove to the Monticello 44-yard line as the quarter ended.

After reaching Monticello's 30-yard line on a pass from Burks to Miller, the Lumberjacks further advanced to the Monticello one-yard line. But a false start penalty pushed the ball back to the six-yard line. Burks got the touchdown from the six-yard line. Hayden White added the extra point to tie the score, 7-7. After forcing Monticello to punt on the next drive, Warren began their drive in Monticello territory at the 43-yard line following a 20-yard return by Antonio Jordan. Davis got an eight-yard run on the first play of the drive. That was followed by a 10-yard run by Burks to the Monticello 35-yard line.

Burks connected with Miller for a 10-yard pickup to the 15-yard line. A holding penalty backed the ball up to the Monticello 25-yard line, but the Lumberjacks would get the yardage back on a 15-yard pass from Burks to Tayshawn Edwards to the Monticello 10-yard line.

On the next play, Burks connected with Jo Jo Steen for the 10-yard touchdown pass. White added the extra point to give the Lumberjacks a 14-7 lead with 6:44 remaining in the half.

Warren Woman's Club raising awareness

SPECIAL TO THE EAGLE

The Warren Woman's Club met with Mayor Gregg Reep on Wednesday, October 2. During that time Mayor Reep read a proclamation declaring October Domestic Violence Awareness Month in the city of Warren. The proclamation reads as follows:

Domestic violence occurs in homes all over America, affecting families and loved ones in all our communities. Domestic violence is committed against men, women, and children. Domestic violence was first recognized as a national problem in 1981 and the first Domestic Violence Awareness Month was observed in October 1987. The first national

SPIRITUAL CANCER WREAKS HAVOC ON MIND, BODY

I speak not today of the cancer of the body, but rather the cancer of the soul. Most of us have lost close family members to some sort of malignancy, and the loss of these dear ones still haunts our memory.

One cannot often evade the ravages of the physical disease, but the spiritual ones can be bypassed altogether. If we suffer and die from spiritual cancer, it is because we have arbitrarily decided to do so. We have chosen our disease and obituary.

Let me give you the symptoms of the disease of spiritual cancer. The first symptom is your eyesight. It begins to fail. NO, NO – not your physical eyesight. Your spiritual! You can no longer see things very clearly. Case in point: Samson.

Here is another symptom - weakness. Samson once could handle a thousand Philistines at a time. But not after the cancer set in. The cancer sapped all his strength. He became helpless.

So the twin symptoms of sin (spiritual cancer) are deteriorating vision and weakness. Be alert to the signs. If they are present in your life, I encourage you to seek God for strength and forgiveness.

One more thing: The spiritual cancer, untreated, will kill you. But before that happens, you will become paralyzed - not physically. The sad thing is most people know this fact, at least subconsciously. Yet, they persist in their activities, thinking somehow they will be an exception to the rule. That is the law of sowing and reaping.

Are you spiritually cancer-ridden? Jesus loves you and you can come to Him, just as you are and He will save you and heal you.

vancing the ball to the Warren 22-yard line on the drive, but the Billies turned the ball over on downs. The first turnover of the contest came on the next drive. The Lumberjacks drove to the Monticello 39-yard line into Billie territory. After an incomplete pass, Burks next pass was intercepted by Monticello's Blaine Hayden for a 58-yard return for the touchdown. After Rojas kicked the extra point, Monticello had tied the contest at 14 with 4:57 remaining in the third quarter.

The Billies got their second turnover of the contest on the Lumberjacks next drive after Burks threw his second interception of the contest after Laytn Nichols came down with the pass at the Monticello 40. But the Lumberjack defense forced the Billies to punt the ball with Thomas returning the punt 13 yards from the Warren 37 to the 50. Monticello's defense also forced the Lumberjacks to punt on their drive with the Billies' next drive extending into the fourth quarter. The Billies turned the ball over on downs at the Warren 26 with 9:34 remaining in the contest. After forcing Warren to punt on the next drive, the Billies began their drive at their own 34 yard line. However, they were forced to punt the ball with Warren taking over on the Monticello 48 after a 27-yard return by Jordan.

Davis gained three yards to the Monticello 45 but fumbled the ball on his next carry. Jagger Hines recovered the ball at the Monticello 48 with 7:07 remaining in the contest. On the first play after the turnover, Tye Guthrie connected with Curtis Barrow for a 52-yard touchdown pass. Rojas got the extra point giving Monticello a 21-14 lead with 6:57 remaining in the game. Warren began the next drive from their own 35 yard-line. Monticello's Jon Luke Brotherton sacked Burks for a five-yard loss on the first play of the drive.

After an incompleteness, Burks hit Miller for a 34-yard completion to the Monticello 36 followed by another completion to Miller to the Monticello 23. After advancing the ball to the 17, Burks hit Miller once more for the 17-yard touchdown.

The Lumberjacks were setup for the extra point, but Monticello was flagged for a false start that placed the ball at the two yard line. Warren elected to go for the two-point conversion with Antonio Jordan running the ball in giving the Lumberjacks the 22-21 lead with 5:19 on the clock.

Monticello began by getting the ball back to their 19. After an incompleteness, Guthrie's next pass was intercepted at the Monticello 31 by Jo Jo Steen with 4:46 on the clock. A delay of game penalty moved the ball back to the Monticello 36 and the Billie defense tacked Davis in the backfield for a four yard loss on the next play. Warren got the ball back to the original line of scrimmage but another delay of game penalty moved the ball back to the Monticello 36 once more. Burks next pass was incomplete but Warren was flagged for a holding penalty that Monticello declined. On the next play, Burks connected with Thomas for a 36-yard touchdown.

Jordan added the two-point conversion giving the Lumberjacks a 30-21 lead with 3:43 remaining in the contest.

White's kick went into the endzone for a touchback and Monticello started their drive at their own 20. Monticello got to their own 45 before Guthrie threw his second interception of the game. Jordan intercepted the ball at the Warren 46, returning it to the Monticello 41. Only 58 seconds remained in the contest. Warren downed the ball to run the time off the clock to move to 2-0 in conference play, retaining the Union Bank Saline River Shootout Trophy.

Cameron Burks completed 18 passes, going 18 of 38 for 294 yards, three touchdowns, and two interceptions. Burks also rushed for 49 yards on 14 carries and a touchdown.

Tramond Miller led the way in receiving with nine catches for 137 yards and a touchdown. Jo Jo Steen had two catches for 26 yards and a touchdown. Steen also had an interception in the contest.

Antonio Jordan finished with two two-point conversions and three catches for 63 yards and an interception for 11 yards.

Neondre Thoas recorded two catches for 47 yards and a touchdown.

Warren will host Hamburg on Friday, October 11, to celebrate Homecoming with kickoff scheduled at 7 p.m. scheduled.

toll-free hotline was begun that same year. The first Domestic Violence Awareness Month Commemorative Legislation was passed by the U.S. Congress in 1989. Warren Woman's Club recognized domestic violence is a pervasive problem in virtually all countries, cultures, classes, and income groups. Warren Women's Club strives to make people aware there is help for victims of domestic violence. Warren Woman's Club supports shelters in our area for victims of domestic violence. Now, therefore, I, R. Gregg Reep, Mayor of the City of Warren in conjunction action with Warren Woman's Club, do hereby proclaim October 2024 as Domestic Violence Awareness Month in the City of Warren, Arkansas.

The community of Warren, business leaders, educators, and church leaders are encouraged to promote awareness by wearing purple ribbons daily. Thursday, October 17 is PURPLE DAY. Wearing purple symbolizes peace, courage, survival, honor, and personal dedication to domestic violence awareness. Families, lives, and relationships are destroyed by this societal issue. Every day, men, women, and children are affected by domestic violence.

Help is available. If you are experiencing domestic violence, you can call the National Domestic Violence Hotline at 800-799-7233. It is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Oldtimer's notebook

The publishers of The Eagle Democrat have chosen to publish articles from the past Oldtimer's Notebook in memory of Robert L. Newton. This article was first published November 3, 1999.

Robert B. Taylor, longtime official of the International Woodworkers of American (AFL-CIO) well remembers when Derby Insurance was on South Main, almost directly across from the men's department of Martin's Department Store.

Mr. Taylor went to work for the union after a long career with Bradley Lumber Company and its successor, Potlatch Corporation, and went to Derby's for insurance on his "company car."

Derby was located, then, in the previous home of Warren Bank. Following that, it was the office of John R. Gannaway Insurance, and the Warren Building and Loan Association.

Mr. Gannaway and his wife, Fannie, were among Arkansas' leading producers for Prudential Life Insurance Company.

Friends will remember that Mr. Gannaway started losing his sight when he was a student at Fayetteville. It was almost all gone when he was in Bailey's Drugstore, current site of The Sandwich Shop, which was once the home of Wayne's.

He heard a woman laugh and inquired as to whom it might be? "Miss Frances Bills, new school-teacher from Bolivar, Tenn." was the response.

"That is the woman I want to marry," responded John Ramsey Gannaway, a State Representative, business leader, and several years Miss Bills' senior.

That's the end of report. They married and built the house long occupied by the late Don Smith on Hanks Street.

Warren Bank was established by the Ederington's and the Meeks about 100 years ago as "the other bank." Dr. Martin, Henry Turner, and others set up Merchants and Planters Trust and Savings Bank almost 110 years ago.

Robert and Mrs. Taylor showed us all something in Warren: the successful raisin' of kids.

There was not a better group of kids to come out of our town than the Taylor progeny.

Kim Hedrick, dean of Warren's retired businessmen who is now in his 90s, says we forgot to mention the late Finis G. Watson's business venture, Rex Clothing House. It was located in the block between the old Warren Bank and the M&P Bank in the 20s and early 30s.

Rex Clothing House was a victim of the Great Depression. Mr. Watson then repairing to Hot Springs where he ran the Arlington Toggery in the basement of the Arlington Hotel for many years.

The Watson daughters married Wallace Hurley and Leffel Gentry. The son became an official of a giant lumbering concern on the eastern seaboard.

Wasn't Mrs. Watson, formerly a Belin, a sister to Mrs. Hankins, the mother of one of our marvelous teachers at Miss Allie Mae's School, Kathryn Hankins Englehart? The father of Miss Kathryn was Edin Hankins. He built the house that is now occupied by Samuel McFadden Leslie and his wife, Irma, at Bradley and Church.

Back to Kim Hedrick. He married Miss Joel Dean Cunningham, a niece of Mrs. Maude Hargis. Mrs. Maude was married to W.C. Hargis, the car, truck, and cattle dealer.

Mrs. Hedrick was valedictorian of her class at WHS in the early 30s. The salutatorian was the beloved Katie Lou Williams McKinney. She was the sister to Clyde and Burgess Williams. She was also the sister of the mother of James Ed Moseley of Warren. Mrs. Hedrick is a fine lady, married to a fine man.

The big, wooden house in which they raised five successful kids on North Myrtle was built by W.J. Savage, founder of the Valley Telephone Company. The Valley Telephone Company which served Dermott, Monticello, and Warren in the World War I era.

His daughter was Miss Willie Savage, valedictorian in the Class of 1911 at the Presbyterian Training School on West Pine, site of Warren Junior High School.

The salutatorian was a young woman from New Edinburg who came to Warren and boarded at the home of Charles and Kate Hurley Hankins, founder of C.W. Hankins & Son, on Church.

Her name was Lois Bell Hunter.

She later graduated from Erskine College in South Carolina and became, with Miss Gussie Carmical, a longtime teacher in Pine Bluff. She was the first Cleveland County woman to graduate from college.

Miss Hunter, at 28, married R.L. Newton who was the former principal of the junior high. He had once taught at the hometown of Lena and Carl Barger.

But then, that's another story.

We were at a gathering in Pine Bluff the other day and met a nice-lookin' lady named Pam Mahonchak, a Captain with United Airlines, which is based in Denver.

We told her we knew a young man who flew as a co-pilot for United named Danny Brazeel.

"Nicest Young man in Denver!" she explained, observing that Co-Pilot Brazeel had been with her "in the right seat" on a number of flights.

Captain Pam is also a great admirer of Brazeel's wife, Elizabeth, who is the youngest daughter of Martha and Attorney Clint Huey.

Dan Brazeel is the younger son of Mildred Neely Brazeel and Major James A. Brazeel (USAF-Ret.) of this hectare.

The older son, Steve, practices medicine in Monroe.

Steve's wife is also a physician and is highly praised by the patients she sees in Crossett when she goes there on days for clinic visits.

I told her that Danny Brazeel was a fine WHS quarterback, in between Dan Nicholson and Jim Hurley, III, and then the Rev. Barry Carter.

That didn't seem to mean much to her, but she kept braggin' on Dan Brazeel.

Did the Captain tell us she flies 737-300 planes?

Whatever that means. I bet Major Brazeel knows.

Our little trip down the Main Street of Warren in the 30s has been interrupted.

We left you at Cypress and Main here, in the building once occupied by Moseley Brothers, Ed and Jim. The Martin's Department Store, established by Noel and Bryan Martin, is now operated by Bryan's grandson, also named Bryan.

The brother of Noel and Bryan was Dr. Rufus Martin, who practiced medicine upstairs.

His telephone had an extension in the pharmacy department of Appleton's Drugstore, next door. If Dr. Martin didn't answer the phone, either Mr. Will Appleton or his son, Monroe Brown, would answer it.

Rufus Martin married a young widow from Monticello. She was previously married to a man named Ives. Edwin Ives became Dr. Martin's stepson.

"He treated me like I was an adult from age six on," insisted the longtime Bradley official, Edwin Ives.

More later, naturally.

Arkansas House Report

Jeff Wardlaw
Ark. State Representative

The state budget profoundly influences our daily lives, affecting everything from education to healthcare. As the legislative session approaches, the General Assembly takes the time to assess the state's current fiscal situation and evaluate budget requests for the upcoming fiscal year.

This year's budget hearings are scheduled to commence on October 8 and will run through November 21. Held in the MAC building behind the Capitol, these hearings are open to the public and will be live-streamed on our website, ensuring transparency and accessibility for all.

During these hearings, budget requests will be presented by various licensing boards, commissions, and state agencies. Additionally, the executive branch will unveil its balanced budget proposal for Fiscal Year 2026. Historically, education and human services have received the bulk of funding, alongside priorities such as higher education, public safety, and health.

The most recent general revenue report indicated a 2.3 percent decrease in net available general revenue compared to last year. However, after three months into the fiscal year, net available revenue has surpassed forecasts by $17.7 million, or 1.0 percent.

The insights gained during this process are instrumental in shaping appropriation bills that will directly affect our communities. Engaging in these hearings fosters a sense of accountability and ensures that the budget reflects the priorities and necessities of our citizens.

Members can begin pre-filing bills on November 15, with the Arkansas General Assembly set to convene for the 2025 Regular Session at noon on January 13, 2025.

You can watch the meetings and find the daily agendas at www.arkansashouse.org.

I don't think anyone will ever forget what I like to call the Great Toilet Paper Shortage of 2020. A series of misinformation, chaos, and human stupidity led to store shelves without those cushy cloud rolls for quite some time. Images of people pushing overloaded carts still haunt my mind. But the fact is that factories weren't the source of the shortage. Society was.

Fast-forward four years, and the possibility of history repeating itself may be looming. With the news of a port strike along the East and Gulf Coast, I smell panic wafting through the air like the scent of the freshly lit fall candle I just bought.

Could the port strike reignite the toilet paper shortage? The answer to that is yes but read this next part very carefully! DON'T PANIC!

According to a study done by the North Carolina State University College of Natural Resources, panic buying presents the most immediate threat to the supply chain. After reports of the strike came to light, it didn't take long for the frenzy to begin. TikTok and X showed post after post of empty store shelves where toilet paper once sat. But should we be surprised?

The North Carolina University study also showed that American manufacturers produce billions of rolls of consumer-grade (Charmin, Scott, Angle Soft...) toilet paper each year. We should have an abundance, right? But stores only carry a few weeks' worth of toilet paper in their warehouses at a time. When demand goes up, their supply quickly decreases. In other words, STOP PANIC BUYING!

Now, back to the possibility of a shortage. Lately, I've been seeing

Arkansas History Minute

by Dr. Kenneth Bridges

The twentieth century opened a door for innovation in science and technology. Great minds steadily unlocked the mysteries of the world and made life better for countless people. One of those great minds was Arkansas research scientist Dr. Margaret Pittman, a woman whose research has helped save millions of lives.

Pittman was born in Washington Grove in Northwest Arkansas in 1901. Her father, Dr. James Pittman, was a respected physician in Washington County and introduced her to the world of science and the study of health. As a child, she and her brother and sister would often assist their father in his medical practice though that would not be permitted in any medical practice today.

In 1919, her father died after an attack of appendicitis. However, he had arranged for all of his children to attend Hendrix College in Conway. The family, however, still struggled as they completed their studies. Nevertheless, Pittman excelled and earned degrees in math and biology when she graduated in 1923. After graduation, she wanted to pursue a career in science, but her immediate options were limited. In the meantime, she went into education. She taught briefly at Galloway College in Searcy, which was a local girl's school, and quickly rose to the position of principal. When the opportunity to study science at the graduate level came along, she jumped at the chance.

She earned a masters degree in bacteriology, the scientific study of bacteria, from the University of Chicago in 1926. Showing great promise as a scientist, she won a fellowship to the prestigious Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research, earning credit for her doctorate while working with some of the nation's top researchers on questions surrounding bacteria and disease.

One question that captivated her research was the bacteria Hemophilus influenzae. The world suffered a terrifying outbreak of the flu in 1918 and 1919 that left 500,000 dead in the United States alone and tens of millions more worldwide. Working with Dr. Rufus Cole, she was able to help confirm the microor-

Senate Week in Review from Ben Gilmore Senator

A subcommittee of legislators is close to finishing its year-long study of Arkansas gun laws.

The study includes a package of bills to clarify the rights and restrictions of owning and carrying firearms.

Arkansas lawmakers overwhelmingly support the Second Amendment. The intent of the subcommittee's work has been to make it easier to understand the requirements of responsible ownership of firearms. To achieve this goal, the package of legislation would repeal repetitive, confusing or conflicting provisions in current law.

The Legislative Council last year approved the study by its Game and Fish/State Police Subcommittee.

Legislation under study by the subcommittee would eliminate the current dual system of granting licenses to carry concealed firearms, and simplify the law by having only one system. Now, you can apply to the State Police for either a "regular" concealed carry license or an "enhanced" concealed carry license. The attorney general recommended going to one system.

A spokesman for the attorney general told the subcommittee that having a "regular" license means little because Arkansas allows permitless carry. Act 777 of 2023 makes clear that a permit is not required to carry a concealed handgun.

Another bill in the study would prohibit cities and counties from enacting gun laws that are more restrictive than state laws.

Lawmakers also want to emphasize the rights of gun owners to carry while on a journey. To avoid confusion, a draft bill under consideration would define a journey as leaving home.

The subcommittee heard from several law enforcement agencies, as well as people who are firearms instructors, hunters and owners of firing ranges. Also providing input were people seeking stronger gun laws near schools.

Broadband Funds

Arkansas has become eligible for an additional $1 billion in federal funding for grants to expand access to high speed Internet access. This good news is especially important for schools, medical providers and businesses in isolated, rural parts of the state.

The National Telecommunications and Information Administration approved the grant funding, which is a part of what is known as the BEAD program.

That stands for the Broadband, Equity, Access and Deployment Program, which is providing more than $42 billion to all 50 states to expand high speed Internet access.

The BEAD program follows up on the Arkansas Rural Connects program, which in three rounds of funding provided about $520 million to Arkansas communities for broadband expansion.

Arkansas was one of 19 states to receive more than $1 billion through the BEAD program.

SNAP Benefits

The state Human Services Department announced that people who receive food stamps can be reimbursed for benefits stolen through an electronic scam known as skimming, or cloning.

The temporary relief program applies to benefits stolen between October 1, 2022 and September 30, 2024. During that period 296 people reported digital theft of their benefits.

As a kid, I always wanted to be outside. I especially enjoyed fishing and riding my bike around Fort Smith with my friends. These experiences of my youth have always been a fond memory. They ingrained in me an appreciation of the outdoors, something I hope to inspire young Americans to develop a lifelong interest in supporting.

In 2015, the U.S. Department of Interior launched a program connecting kids with national parks and other public lands by offering fourth graders and their families free entrance to these locations. The success of the program led Congress to ensure upcoming fourth graders have the same opportunities by making it law. It has encouraged young people to explore our landscapes and created future outdoor enthusiasts.

I've partnered with my colleague Senator Martin Heinrich (D-NM) to continue this initiative with the introduction of the Every Kid Outdoors Extension Act.

Introducing young Americans to our national parks encourages an appreciation for the lands and resources that help define our country. I'm proud to support this legislation that allows the next generation to discover our national treasures and explore the outdoors.

The Every Kid Outdoors program has successfully encouraged tens of thousands of children and their families to explore America's public lands, waters, historic sites and national parks - more than 2,000 sites in all.

More than 18,000 vouchers have been provided to Arkansas fourth graders, caregivers, educators and agency staff since 2021. Enthusiasm for this park pass is growing. This is great news because nurturing this connection leads to continued engagement and exploration of public lands, inspires environmental stewardship and increases participation in outdoor activities.

In our state, outdoor recreation impacts 43,000 jobs and generates more than $4 billion in consumer spending. Elevating this industry enhances opportunities and preserves our environment.

I recently met with Arkansans representing a number of outdoor recreation activities in The Natural State including hiking, rock climbing and mountain biking. These members of the Outdoor Alliance, a national coalition of organizations representing the outdoor recreation community, advocated for policies to strengthen access to public lands across the country.

We've been blessed to see the results of public and private investment in growing an interest in biking. Across the state, trails have gained popularity among locals as well as in the eyes of national biking enthusiasts.

The Adventure Cycling Association designated its first U.S. Bicycle Route System trail in Arkansas earlier this year. USBR 51 starts at the Missouri state line and travels 88 miles to Alma, Arkansas. More than one-third of the trail follows the Razorback Greenway. This follows Arkansas Monument Trails being recognized as the best mountain biking trails in the country.

Rugged rock formations in our state also attract rock climbers of all skill levels. Arkansas has more than 400 rock climbing sites. I'm proud to support this sport at home and nationwide by championing policies that provide the climbing community access to public lands. That's why I recently joined a bipartisan letter urging the U.S. Forest Service and the National Park Service to reconsider policy changes that limit the use of fixed anchors for climbing in federally-designated wilderness areas.

The Natural State provides numerous opportunities for locals and visitors to enjoy the great outdoors. Arkansans appreciate the beauty of our environment and want to explore these treasures in our backyard. I will continue working with many of my colleagues to make that even easier.

ing posts on Facebook about how toilet paper is made in the United States. Friends, that's true, but let's dive a little deeper. While toilet paper is made domestically, it doesn't just appear on the rolls and then slip into the packages.

I'm sure at some point, we all learned that paper is made from trees, which are harvested and used to make pulp, among other things. Eucalyptus pulp is used because it contains short fibers, which makes toilet paper soft and absorbent. Eucalyptus grows exclusively in Australia, meaning that it has to be imported. Stay with me because I'm going somewhere with this.

In the United States, the toilet paper industry is dominated by three manufacturers: Georgia-Pacific, Procter & Gamble, and Kimberly-Clark. Two of the three companies import much of their pulp through Eastern and Gulf Coast ports. No port equals no pulp.

Is this a scary thought? Absolutely! However, go back to the part where you read the words "consumer-grade." If you find that you are out of the fluffy white stuff, there is something else you can use. Don't get weird on me. I still mean toilet paper.

If you can't find your usual, you can opt to buy commercial-grade toilet paper. Commercial-grade toilet paper is made from recycled paper that's sourced domestically. But again, don't panic buy. If we have learned anything from 2020, panic buying makes it tough for everyone. Be considerate and respectful of your fellow shoppers. Go buy your normal number of products and be a good human.

HISTORY

ganism responsible for the flu, publishing an important paper on the subject in 1928. She also discovered that there were several strains of the bacteria, some of which caused meningitis, discoveries that paved the way for a life-saving vaccine years later. Pittman also studied bacterial pneumonia and earned her doctorate by 1929.

In 1936, she began work for the National Institutes of Health, continuing her studies of microorganisms and disease. In 1943, she began work on a whooping cough vaccine. The disease, also known as pertussis, infected thousands of children at the time and the most severe cases could cause pneumonia, seizures, brain damage, and even death. Hundreds of children died from the disease each year. With her NIH colleagues, Pittman developed a new technique to test the safety, viability, and potency of the vaccine. By the 1950s, deaths from whooping cough all but disappeared.

While at the NIH, she worked with colleagues on vaccines for cholera and typhus, two diseases which had caused millions of deaths around the world. By the 1960s, her work led to the perfection of the cholera vaccine.

Her work added important pieces to the scientific puzzles that had frustrated medicine for generations. While doctors and scientists had suspected that there were cures to these diseases, Pittman put the finishing touches on the vaccines for many ailments, to the point that where many of these diseases once left thousands dead in their wake are hardly given a second thought by the general public in the twenty-first century. That peace of mind for so many families is thanks in part to the genius and determination of one Arkansas scientist.

FEATURES FROM THE BIBLE
TRUTH IN SCRIPTURE
David and Bathsheba
 II Samuel 11

One spring evening when king David's men were off to war, David was walking around on the roof of his palace and he saw a beautiful woman bathing. She was Bathsheba, the wife of a soldier, Uriah, who was away at war.

David sent for Bathsheba and she came to him and he slept with her and she became pregnant. David sent for her husband, Uriah and suggested that he go home for the night. Uriah refused and slept at the palace entrance with the other servants of the king. Again David urged Uriah to go home. Uriah protested, "The ark is staying in a tent, my master Joab and his men are at camp. How could I go to my house and lie with my wife? I will not."

The next day David made Uriah drunk, but still he would not go home. Uriah went back to battle with a letter from David telling Joab to put Uriah up front in battle and when the fighting was fierce, withdraw from him so that he would be struck down and die.

Uriah died in the next battle. Joab sent word to David that Uriah was dead. When Bathsheba heard that Uriah was dead, she mourned for him, but after her time of mourning, David had her brought to his house and she became his wife and bore him a son. This thing that David had done displeased the Lord.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Recipe: Spice meals up with curry

The word "curry" is used to describe a variety of things. First it is a mix of spices that often combines coriander seeds, turmeric, cumin, chili peppers, fenugreek, clove, mustard, and even nutmeg or ginger. This produces a warm and robust spicy taste that can flavor various foods. Curry also is used to describe a specific dish. Curry is a recipe made with a sauce or gravy seasoned with spices (like those in a curry mix) and is traditionally associated with south Asian cuisine. Curry also is a type of tree, and curry leaves are reminiscent of lemongrass and anise. These leaves often are included in Indian cooking.

Curry can make a hearty, delicious lunch or dinner, and it is ideal when the weather starts to get chilly. This recipe for "Coconut Chicken Curry," courtesy of "Clueless in the Kitchen: Cooking for Beginners" (Firefly

WARREN SCHOOL TAX
41.50 Mills Warren School Tax

The total rate proposed above includes the uniform rate of tax 25.00 mills (the "Statewide Uniform Rate") to be collected on all taxable property in the State and remitted to the State Treasurer pursuant to Amendment No. 74 to the Arkansas Constitution to be used solely for maintenance and operation of schools in the State. As provided in Amendment No. 74, the Statewide Uniform Rate replaces a portion of the existing rate of tax levied by this School District and available for maintenance and operation of schools in this District. The total proposed school tax levy of 41.50 mills includes 25.00 mills specifically voted for general maintenance and operation and 16.50 mills voted for debt service previously voted as a continuing levy pledged for the retirement of existing bonded indebtedness. The surplus revenues produced each year by the debt service millage may be used by the District for other school purposes.

The total proposed school tax levy of 41.50 mills represents the same rate presently being collected. This publication was provided and paid for by the Bradley County Clerk in Bradley County, Arkansas. The amount paid for this publication is $356.32. 10/9

RECIPE

Books) by Evelyn Raab, is creamy and easy to prepare.

Coconut Chicken Curry Ingredients (Serves 4 to 6)

- 2 pounds skinless, boneless chicken breasts, cut into 1-inch chunks
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil or coconut oil
- 2 tablespoons curry powder (hot or mild)
- 2 medium sweet peppers (any color), cut into 1/2-inch squares
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, minced or pressed
- 1 fresh jalapeño (or other) hot pepper, seeded and sliced (optional)
- 1 14-ounce can coconut milk, regular or light
- 2 cups canned diced tomatoes (or diced fresh tomatoes)
- 1 tablespoon granulated sugar

Directions:

In a bowl, toss the chicken chunks with the salt and pepper. Set aside.
In a large, deep skillet or Dutch oven, heat the oil over medium heat. Sprinkle in the curry powder and cook, stirring constantly, for about 1 minute, or until combined. Add the onion, garlic and jalapeño pepper (if you're using it), and continue to cook, stirring to coat with the spices, for 3 or 4 minutes, or until the onions are beginning to soften. Dump in the chicken chunks, raise the heat to medium high, and cook, stirring often, until the chicken has turned mostly opaque.

Add the coconut milk, tomatoes and sugar to the pan, and bring to a boil. Lower the heat to medium, and simmer, uncovered, stirring occasionally, for 15 to 20 minutes. Serve with plain basmati or jasmine rice.

The Eagle Democrat is proud to present the 2024 “Best of the Best” Readers’ Choice Awards.

You, the readers, have spoken. When we asked who was the best in more than 100 categories, and you responded by voting online and on our paper ballots.

While the poll is unscientific, it does give a good picture of who you think provides us with the best foods, businesses and services, healthcare options, and much more. Some categories had hands-down winners while others were very close, often with only a few votes separating the winners.

The main categories are:

- All Around,
- Automotive,
- Food & Drink,
- Goods & Services,
- Medical,
- Professional, and
- Shopping.

The subcategories are listed alphabetically under the main category headers, with first, second and third place winners listed beneath the subcategories.

Congratulations to all the nominees and winners from all of us at The Eagle Democrat!
