Raises included in proposed county budget

BY KRISTEN MERIWETHER Staff Writer

After weeks of public budget workshops the Corvell County Commissioners Court unveiled their proposed budget and tax rate on Tuesday.

The proposed budget includes pay raises for elected officials as well as law enforcement and the Road and Bridge department. The budget also allocates $1.5 million in road repairs for the 2021-22 fiscal

Staff leaving 'a morale killer,' sheriff says

Williams asking county to fund raises

BY KRISTEN MERIWETHER Staff Writer

Two jailers at the Coryell County Sheriff's Office quit the week of Aug. 9 and an additional deputy gave notice the week of Aug. 16, according to Coryell County Sheriff Scott Williams.

Williams said the deputy, who was a sergeant, had worked for the Sheriff's Office for eight years and the sergeant in the jail had been with him for five years.

"The pay that we get doesn't compete in the market that we have to compete in," Williams said.

In Coryell County a deputy sheriff's pay starts at $31,500 per year, a jailer's starts at $26,500 per year and a dispatcher's starts at $26,275 per year, according to job postings on the Sheriff's Office website.

The salaries are lower than neighboring Bell, Milam and Lampasas counties, according to job postings on each county's websites. But it is unclear how the duties required by each position compares to Coryell County.

Williams said he could not put a dollar amount on what would be competitive with other counties because money is a temporary fix.

"Having better working conditions, being less crowded, the workload being less, that would probably help them better," Williams said.

The proposed county budget has $1,000 raises for law enforcement positions, which include dispatch-

s millions of Texas public school students return to class, the Texas Department of Transportation is reminding drivers to watch out for kids walking and biking to school — hopefully keeping everyone safe.

In 2020 there were 11 people seriously injured in school zone crashes statewide and 1,214 crashes involving buses.

The most common causes for these crashes in school zones are failure to control speed, driver inattention, failure to yield the right of way at a stop sign and failure to yield the right of way at a private driveway.

TxDOT is urging drivers to slow down, stay alert and follow all traffic laws to keep children safe and avoid costly fines and tickets.

TIPS FOR DRIVING IN SCHOOL ZONES

■ Be aware that traffic patterns around schools may have changed since the last school year, and expect more vehicles on the road as many students will be returning for the first time since the start of the pandemic.

- Stay alert and put your phone away. Using a handheld electronic device while driving in an active school zone is against the law.
- Always obey school zone speed limit signs. Remember, traffic fines increase in school zones.
- Drop off and pick up your children in your school's designated areas, not the middle of the street.

■ Keep an eye on children gathered at bus stops.

Watch for children who might dart across the street or between vehicles.

TIPS FOR DRIVERS SHARING THE ROAD WITH SCHOOL BUSES

- Follow at a safe distance, keeping in mind that school buses make frequent stops.
- Always remain alert for children around buses and remember that they may not always look for vehicles before crossing the street.
- Stop for flashing red lights or a stop sign on a school bus, regardless of which direction you're headed. Continue your trip once the bus has moved, the flashing lights stop flashing or the bus driver signals it's OK to pass.

■ Violations can lead to a fine of up to $1,250 for a first offense.

TIPS FOR CHILDREN WALK-ING OR BIKING TO SCHOOL

- Always use sidewalks. If there's not a sidewalk, walk on the left side of the street facing traffic.
- Cross the street at intersections or marked crosswalks. Look left, right and left again before proceeding.
- Always obey crossing

- Make eye contact with drivers before crossing the street. Never assume a driver sees you.
- Look for traffic when stepping off a bus or from behind parked vehicles.
- Always wear a helmet when riding a bicycle.
- Don't be distracted by electronic devices that take your eyes and ears off the
- Follow all traffic rules, signs and signals.

ers, and $1,500 raises for jailers. Williams said he has asked Judge Roger Miller for $4,000 across the board raises for jailers, dispatchers and deputies, along with paid overtime. It is unclear if those will make it in the final budget.

Williams said he's already been told by several more in his office that if the raises are not met more will leave.

"It's a morale killer right now," Williams said.

The jail has struggled with overcrowding in recent years, struggling to stay in compliance with the state. The county proposed a new $31 million jail facility, but voters rejected the bond proposal to pay for it in May.

The county recently formed the Coryell County Facility Advisory Committee to help address the issue of a new jail, as well as how to modernize all county-owned property. No time-table for a report has been given.

In the meantime, jailers and deputies are having to make do in less than ideal conditions.

"It sinks me a little bit. No sheriff wants to fail. But you have a dilapidated jail, overcrowding in the jail, housing for eight different counties," Williams said. "It's a lot of work and a little bit of reward. I told the judge the other day, good intentions and kind words only carry you so far. It doesn't pay the light bill."

"It sinks me a little bit. No sheriff wants to fail."

Underserved or beginning farmers and ranchers who cannot obtain commercial credit from a bank can apply for either FSA direct loans or guaranteed loans. Direct loans are made to applicants by FSA. Guaranteed loans are made by lending institutions that arrange for FSA to guarantee the loan. FSA can guarantee up to 95 percent of the loss of principal and interest on a loan. The FSA guarantee allows lenders to make agricultural credit available to producers who do not meet the lender's normal underwriting criteria.

The county will fund the budget with a tax rate of $0.4831 per $100 valuation, a decrease from last year's rate of $0.5311.

Fundraiser for electrocuted man

A fundraiser was recently held at Bare Bones Barbeque for Jason Shields who was electrocuted by a power line on Main Street in June.

Shields remains hospitalized at Dell Seton Medical Center burn trauma unit in Austin. The fundraiser event included live music, a live and silent auction, a dunking booth, bounce houses for the children and a corn hole tournament.

Wally Ellisor, a manager at Bare Bones, said that they had a really good turnout for the benefit.

"It's really good to see how the community comes together on an event like this," Ellisor said.

He also said many donated a number of items for the auction.

Birgit Shields, wife of Jason Shields, recently posted an update on her husband's condition. She reported that he is still in ICU, but that he's making good progress.

"We have heard from several nurses and doctors that he has quickly become the favorite patient on this floor with his positive attitude and easygoing personality even when he's in extreme pain,' Birgit said.

She also said that he will need to go to a long-term care facility after leaving Seton Medical Center to finish his wound treatments and

CORYELL MUSEUM AND HISTORICAL CENTER

David Grubb remembers the cattle situation

BY: JANN DWORSKY

n 1945 Zelma Scott was writing her thesis for her master's degree and researching Coryell County history. Below is a letter, on brown paper and written in black ink from David Grubb, son of Wiley P. Grubb who owned ranch land around Purmela and Evant.

Dear Zelma,

I can remember my father Wiley P. Grubb (1846-1918) having a pasture of 200 acres fenced with rails that were split from trees. He gave contracts to men to split rails and other men with wagons and ox teams who came and lived in tents with their families. They quarried rocks and hauled them and built rock fences. We had one field fenced with rock about 5 feet high and two and one have feet wide. This field has 70 acres in it and another valley field of six acres fenced the same way. I heard my father say many times the rock fence around the six acre field cost him $150 per acre to get it fenced. This fence is still standing.

Money was scarce in those days. He traded mules, horses and even bacon for work. (There was) only one small bank in Coryell County at that time. If you got a doctor you had to go to Gatesville, twenty miles away and you had to go horse back after him. What few supplies that were bought, and were very few, came from Gatesville. The people lived at home, had their own gardens, and raised their own corn and wheat, and lots of hogs on the range for meat. They traded meat for work and provisions and had chickens, wild turkey meat, bear, deer and wolves. Prairie chickens were numerous.

My father kept buying land and no way to fence it. The cattle men did not like for the sheep men to get on their range with sheep. (Sheep could eat grass down so low so there was nothing left for a cow.) This one ranch owned by my father of over 4,000 or 5,000 acres was owned by him for at least 65 or 70 years and never was a sheep or goat on it until it was sold. When barbed wire and cedar post came into use large bodies of land were enclosed in pastures and no roads to amount to anything. You had to take a course or direction you wanted to go. The Old Phantom Hill Road was the oldest road we had and about the only one. It extended from West Texas and came through by our house, after we had moved out on the prairie. This house was built out of lumber that came from Waco, the first home was built out of logs. The last house is still standing and is among the best houses in the county and built out of the best lumber.

My father bought lots of cattle in bunches from $4 to $4.50 per head for grown cows. No one wanted to buy, they wanted to sell. I remember Dr. Mings had a ranch leased. He decided to move to California. He came to see my father about buying all the cattle and they were nice and fat and on good range. He bought them all for $4.50 per head. He drove a herd of fat cows to Waco, the best he had and sold them to Bill Poage, the father of our congressman for $8.50 per head that fall.

We raised lots of horses and mules in all those years. Neighbors were long ways apart and no one was ever charged for staying all night. The country began to fence up and this encouraged people to raise better stock and have their stock all at home. The country was more developed all the time.

My father sold his ranch in West Texas and the cattle all for $20 per head with all the calves went in free. They were well graded up (improved breeding) with black poll Angus and Herefords. This was one of the best deals he had made up to that time. The black poll Angus were all registered. Seven registered Angus bulls went in the deal besides a few registered Angus cows. He had over 350 head of fine cattle when he died the 23rd of January 1918. He made money rapidly and was successful in business. My mother kept these cattle and ranch for a number of years. She was like my father, a believer in good cattle. Hereford men in the county owning the best were D.D. Grubb, W.P. Grubb, Jr., Ace Lovejoy and the Liege Wallace Estate, and Fred Foot. (the Grubb men were David's brothers).

Zelma, I hope this is what you were looking for and will write more later when I am not so busy.

Sincerely, David Grubb

Hunting, fishing licenses on sale now

BY KRISTEN MERIWETHER Staff Writer

Hunting licenses for the 2021-22 hunting season went on sale on Aug. 15. Current year hunting and fishing licenses expire at the end of August.

Licenses can be purchased at the TPWD website, by phone at 800-895-4248 during regular business hours or in person at more than 1,800 retailers across the state.

TPWD encourages repeat license buyers to use the expedited checkout process, which speeds up re-purchasing the same license bought in recent years.

Texans purchase more than 2.7 million hunting and fishing licenses annually, which funds a variety of conservation efforts and recreational opportunities. Some of the many projects made possible by license sales include fish stocking, wildlife management, habitat restoration, public hunting leases, river fishing access and Texas Game Wardens.

LICENSE FOR FUN: Now is the time to buy a license for outdoor fun in the upcoming hunting and fishing seasons.

Learn Something New Every Day

"The heart of the discerning acquires knowledge, for the ears of the wise seek it out." —Proverbs 18:15 NIV every day is akin to saving something for a rainy day, since skills and knowledge are powerful tools which we will someday need. We just don't know when. You never know when those Spanish classes will pay off, but you can rest assured that you will eventually run into someone who speaks Spanish but doesn't speak English. Learning also satisfies what psychologists call "stimulus drives," that is, drives such as curiosity and a desire for novelty which make us more open to the world around us and more competent in our interactions with the world. A former professor of mine used to say that knowledge was like the empty bags from the grocery store that we keep under the sink. We don't know when, but we know we will eventually use them. So, besides the inherent joy and interest that comes from learning something new, it's money in the bank that will pay healthy dividends. - Christopher Simon to congregate fish. Saltwater anglers generally use diced or ground-up oily baitfish or fish leftovers to bring in feeding fish. Saltwater striped bass anglers may chum so heavily at times they create essentially an "oil slick" that fish follow behind the boat. Striped bass do have a sense of smell even though they are mainly sight feeders.

Chumming in freshwater is not much different than in saltwater. Most striped bass anglers and guides will cut up dead baitfish and toss it in an area where the fish are. Many times if the fish are not biting and you can see them on your graph, you may be able to change their mind with a little temptation (chum). It does work.

You also have to consider that chumming an area may bring in other species that you may or may not want there. Chumming with cut or ground up baitfish may bring in other species such as sand bass, gar, drum and catfish.

You do not want to overchum an area because you may be feeding the fish you are trying to catch. You want to entice the bite but not fill them on chum. This is where a meat grinder works well.

The ground-up baitfish is not substantial enough to get a bite on, but will still offer a good scent. Some anglers will take this groundup dead bait and freeze them in blocks and place these in areas to be fished. The block of frozen stuff will start to thaw and release the chum attractant as it melts.

If you have a lot of current or the wind is high, chumming may not be as effective. Chumming is generally more effective when you can keep the chum in the general vicinity of where you are fishing. If the wind is up, you may opt to use a chum dispenser and hang it over the side of the boat. This will release the chum, and fish may follow it to the boat.

Chum dispensers are widely available down on the coast as the primary market is there. There is very little market inland for these dispensers. You can make one using PVC pipe with holes in it.

Generally, my preferred method is to cut up shad that I have on the boat. I toss some around the boat and wait. I usually follow the tossing of the chum with a thrashing of the surface of the water using one of my fishing rods.

This simulates surfacefeeding fish and the chum, scales and fish oil you just put in the water is what the fish would normally see in a school of surface feeding fish. The bigger predators wait for the injured bait to fall for an easy meal.

Many of the hybrids and striped bass that you may clean after a day's fishing with chum will have those cut-up chunks of baitfish in their stomachs! That ought to tell you that they were definitely interested!

FISHING REPORT

On other reservoirs, Whitney striped bass continue to be good on most days on live bait fished from Cedar Creek to The Island. Possum Kingdom Lake striped bass are good to excellent on live bait on the lower ends. Proctor Lake sand bass continue to be excellent, with many anglers sacking up their limits. Crappie limits have been reported on Lake Aquilla. Some shallow action is being reported on Lake Whitney with the new influx of water. I believe Lake Whitney's level rose almost 2 feet.

ON FISHING

Summertime chumming effective for many fish

MICHAEL ACOSTA

As a licensed professional fishing guide, Michael Acosta shows you how to find them. He has been a licensed guide since 1998.

Many folks are familiar with "baiting a hole" for catfish. Striped bass anglers including myself do essentially the same thing to bring on the striped bass/hybrid bite. Baiting a hole or "chumming" can be used for several species of fish in freshwater, and can make the difference in getting the fish to bite.

"Chumming" refers to using some kind of bait, food, or scent that will either attract or entice the fish to bite.

Many catfish

anglers will use

soured maize or milo to bait a hole for catfish. The catfish have a great sense of smell and are drawn to the baited hole. Carp anglers may toss corn in an area
