City approves application for new, affordable rental housing

BY KAYLEE DUSANG Staff Writer

The Gatesville City Council approved the submission of two new mixed-income residential communities to the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs (TDHCA) at a regular meeting on Tuesday.

The decision follows a presentation of the proposed communities, Gatesville Crossing and Gatesville Terrace, given by Trinity Housing Development at a previous meeting in early January. Trinity Housing will submit the projects to TDHCA's low-income housing tax credit program, which allows the developer to utilize housing tax credits to finance the building and offer more affordable rent based on household income.

"The staff is pleased to announce that the city council approved resolutions last night in support of the Trinity Housing Development group's submission of applications to the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs for two housing projects," City Manager Scott Albert said in an email. "The first proposed project is Gatesville Crossing, which will consist of approximately 36 apartments, and the second project is Gatesville Terrace, comprising approximately 52 senior living homes."

Although TDHCA will only fund one of the projects, the council voted to submit both developments. The priority project is Gatesville Crossing, a community targeting families that would be located east of state Highway 36 and south of Walmart. Gatesville Terrace, a senior living community, will be submitted if Gatesville Crossing is not awarded by the TDHCA program.

Alice Woods and Michael Fogel with Trinity Housing Development recommended the development of Gatesville Crossing due to a higher demand for mixed-income housing for all ages, and that it's de-

Second town hall for eclipse highlights public safety, community involvement

BY KAYLEE DUSANGStaff Writer

Ahead of the total solar eclipse on April 8, the City of Gatesville held its second town hall on Thursday, Jan.

18 to share plans for the rare event.

Gatesville Police Chief Brad Hunt kicked off the meeting with a presentation about the plans to keep residents and visitors safe as Gatesville prepares to receive thousands of visitors from across the globe. With Gatesville being one of the cities in the path of totality, the Central Texas region will become a prime viewing

After meeting with cities that experienced a total solar eclipse in 2017, Hunt explains that many smaller communities in the path of totality experienced up to ten times their population in the week leading up to the eclipse. Traffic not only became heavier than normal, but also caused lines of traffic that tripled travel times. The majority of traffic jams occurred following the end of the eclipse when people began to exit the cities.

"We know there are lessons that they learned that we are trying to then apply to having less of an issue even though there is no eliminating it," Hunt said.

Hunt shared recommendations for citizens when it comes to preparing for severe traffic. This includes making sure vehicles have a full tank of gas, carrying a tire repair kit and emergency supplies in the car, or staying off the road the evening of April 8.

"If you do need travel, try to treat it like it's a cold weather or blizzard situation where you have a full tank of gas and where you have water, food, and ways to take care of your car with you because you could get stuck in traffic for a long period of time," Hunt said.

The biggest traffic concerns include congestion on U.S. Highway 84 and State Highway 36, two major highways utilized by emergency vehicles and that lead to larger cities like Waco and Temple. Hunt said the police department plans to work with the Texas Department of Transportation and Coryell County to develop a traffic plan that will allow ambulances access to the hospital despite stop-andgo traffic.

Hunt said the Gatesville Police Department is doubling their patrol presence the week of the eclipse as well as working with area partners and nearby cities to plan for any potential emergencies, such as Coryell County Sheriff's Office, Fort Cavazos, Texas Department of Public Safety, and others.

"We know that these partnerships are important," Hunt said. "If they need help, we need to be able to help them, and if we need help, we need them to agree to come help us."

With most hotels, campsites, and parks in the area already fully booked for the weekend of the eclipse, Gatesville Police Department's Chief Brad Hunt visited the Senior Center on Thursday, Jan. 18 to explain to senior citizens about the importance of the department's new Care Call program.

Senior Center welcomes new Care Call program

BYALEXANDRA MEELBUSCH Staff Writer

As the Gatesville Police Department continues to introduce its new Care Call program to the community, Chief of Police Brad Hunt decided to make a visit to the local Senior Center to express the significance of the program.

The congregation of the Senior Center was able to ask questions and get information on the program as well as having applications provided to sign up.

The Care Call program is designed for seniors living within the city limits of Gatesville who are currently living alone. "We make weekly phone calls to offer assistance or to provide a chance for a conversation," Hunt said.

This program is a free service that requires a prearranged day and time for participants to receive regular phone calls. If a resident needs help or does not answer, a police officer will stop by the resident's home to check on them.

Through the program, volunteers with the Gatesville Police Department will make regularly scheduled phone calls to residents to not only check on their welfare, but to also have a simple conversation about their week.

"I will train the volunteers," Hunt said. "We give our volunteers a background check to make sure that you are getting someone over the phone that we can

If you are interested in the program and are not a senior citizen living alone, there are exceptions made for individuals who have health conditions or limited family

"I think more people should know about what is available," Hunt said. "We want to know what your concerns are, because your concerns are our concerns."

Those interested in joining the Care Call program are to contact the Gatesville Police Department at 254-865-2226.

The program comes after police announced an investigation involving the home break-in and assault of an elderly person in early December. Police are still actively seeking a suspect in this case. They encourage anyone with information to contact Gatesville PD's Criminal Investigation Unit at 254-865-2226 or by submitting tips anonymously to Centex Crime Stoppers at 254-865-8477 or online at centexcrimestoppers.org.

velopment would open up opportunity for additional commercial or residential developments.

"If you choose to support both Gatesville Crossing and Gatesville Terrace, we'll most likely move ahead with an application for Gatesville Crossing but will have Gatesville Terrace as a back-up option should any unforeseen issues arise," Woods said. "Therefore, supporting both deals gives Gatesville the best chance of getting one, which would most likely be Gatesville Crossing."

Council Member Barbara Burrow weighed in on the support for the Gatesville Crossing development and the opportunities it could

"We're trying to get young families here, so there's a greater return on investment that way versus dedicating to a senior facility which is kind of a plateau already," Burrow said. "A hand-up through this other method I think is something that would be welcome in our community, because it's going to offer them a little ease, and they have access to so much within that area."

Gatesville Crossing would serve individuals of all ages earning between $26,500 and $50,000 per year. Rental costs for the units would range between $700 and $1,100 each month.

Gatesville Terrace, for ages 55 years and older, would be built north of Walgreens and south of Hillside Medical Lodge. The units would serve individuals with yearly incomes between $26,500 and $36,000. Rent for Gatesville Terrace would range between $700 and $1,000 per month.

According to Zillow data, the average rent for a twobedroom property in Gatesville is around $1,000.

Rental pricing for Gatesville Crossing and Gatesville Terrace is based on number of bedrooms and household income. According to Trinity Housing Development's presentation to the council, the income range for both communities is about 50% of the area median income for Coryell County.

The communities feature amenities such as fitness centers, community kitchens, BBQ areas, shared green spaces, and more. Units normally include full kitchens, ample storage, vinyl plank flooring, and washer and dryer hookups. Trinity Housing Development specializes in affordable housing development for seniors and low-to-moderate income families. The company also constructed Gatesville Trails, which is a senior living community located off Highway 36.

The projects will require a financial contribution of $250 from the city for waiver or reduction fees, such as those for a building permit.

Albert said the city expects to receive a decision from TDHCA sometime in August regarding the approval of one of the projects for construction in Gatesville.

Hunt also shared guidelines for those who are considering renting out an RV or spaces in their home or property to visitors. He said residents can find resources for how to avoid rental scams and safely host visitors via a rental platform through the Better Business Bureau website or on the Gatesville Police Department's Facebook page.

Eclipse Coordinator Cheri Shepherd said Faunt Le Roy Park will also open additional camping spots around the walking trail for eclipse visitors.

Hunt recommends people sign up for code red alerts on the City of Gatesville website, which will notify citizens of any emergency situation, traffic, or internet issues.

Shepherd provided additional information about where to view the eclipse and plans for the "Block Out the Sun" festival that will take place on the square the Saturday and Sunday before the eclipse.

The festival will include activities such as an art show, petting zoo, goat roping, food trucks, a cornhole and pickleball tournament, musical entertainment, and more. A NASA ambassador will also provide a presentation called Syzygy on Saturday, April 6, at 6 p.m. in the City Auditorium, which is free but requires ticket reservations.

"We don't know how many people will be at the event because we've never had it before, but we think we will attract a lot of people," Shepherd said. "We also think people passing through (highway) 84 when they see an eclipse-related event are likely to stop to check out what's going on."

Along with encouraging businesses and organizations to sign up as vendors for the festival, Shepherd also said they are looking for volunteers to help out with the festival and run information booths.

"We want to make it a fun event for everyone who attends, but we also want to make it a profitable event as well," Shepherd said.

Shepherd also shared Gatesville eclipse t-shirts that can be purchased at the Gatesville Fitness Center as well as special eclipse glasses that can be purchased at the fitness center, city hall, and various local businesses.

Designated viewing spaces for the eclipse in Gatesville will include the McKamie Stadium, the Gatesville Sports Complex and Gatesville Civic Center, and various churches and businesses that are planning eclipse events.

"This is an opportunity for our community, not only just for our residents to have this incredible experience of having this right in our front yard but for our visitors, and for our businesses to get to promote themselves," Shepherd said. The city will plan one more public town hall ahead of the eclipse in April. Residents and visitors can learn more about Gatesville's eclipse plans, lodging, parking, and how to get involved in the

Without a map, how would you know where you were going?

Sam Houston is a syndicated columnist and newspaper executive. He is also an author, playwright, actor, and entertainment pron 1856, William Rand opened a printing shop in Chicago and two years later hired an Irish immigrant named Andrew McNally to work in his shop.

The shop became very prosperous, and in 1859 was hired to run the Chicago Tribune's entire printing operation. By 1868 the two men established Rand McNally Co.

By 1873, the company made its first map included within its Railroad Guide. By 1904, Rand McNally published its first road map and by 1917 had started numbering highways. In addition to creating maps with numbered roads, Rand McNally also erected many of the actual highway road signs. This system was eventually adopted by state and federal highway authorities and is how and why highways are numbered.

The oil companies quickly took an interest in road maps, urging Americans to explore the world outside their own backyards, thus creating a need to buy gas to make the trip. By 1920, Rand McNally began publishing maps for Gulf Oil Company, which were distributed free of charge at its service stations. Until the invention of the GPS system, Rand McNally maps were how Americans found their way.

I remember as a youth seeing a collection of maps in the glove box of my dad's automobile. There was a map of the city in which we lived, of the state where we resided, and a couple of maps of the surrounding states. The maps were folded very neatly and concisely and waited in their assigned spot until such a time they were needed.

Of course, on those occasions when dad needed some directional assistance when he was driving, he would ask mom to open a map and give him instructions on how to reach our destination. It didn't take long before my two sisters, who were sitting in the backseat of the car with me, realized opening that glove box and unfolding a map was a sure-fire recipe for comedy.

Mom would copiously peer over the map, seeking to find the best route, while Dad would be firing questions at her in an almost machine gun-like fashion. Mom would get flustered, unable to answer the questions fast enough to suit him. Dad's blood pressure and voice would noticeably rise as indicated by his red face and the bulging veins on his forehead. The entire encounter usually resulted in Dad grabbing the map out of mom's hands so he could try and examine the map for himself, all while trying to navigate the car down the road.

My favorite part would be seeing dad hand the map back to Mom, all while muttering under his breath inaudible comments about my mother's map reading skills. Who could forget the sound of her attempting to fold the map back into its precision format, getting flustered, and basically cramming the map into the glove box in a shape more like a softball rather than a map? For Mom, it usually led to her turning her body in the car seat, so her shoulders were facing out the window and away from the direction of dad. I found a "map event" was usually followed by periods of silence in the car, and I feel pretty sure led to further discussion outside of the hearing of us children.

When I am driving and need directions, I merely speak into my phone and ask. In just a matter of seconds a voice is telling me where to turn, how much further I must go, and letting me know my estimated time of arrival. It is one of the many blessings of the internet and sure makes life a lot simpler. On the other hand, asking Siri for directions will never be as memorable or entertaining as watching my Local historian, Sherry Lawrence, recently presented a program to the Coryell County Genealogical Society about the historic Sanborn Maps.

BY DAVID SCOTT Staff Writer

Local Coryell County historian, Sherry Lawrence, recently presented a program to the Coryell County Genealogical Society about the Sanborn Map Company which was founded in

According to Lawrence, the maps were intended for use by fire insurance companies and showed details of buildings, fire safety features such as construction materials. types of businesses, and entrances.

Lawrence said that these maps are often used by historical societies for restoration purposes and are also used by genealogists who may have had family members who were business owners. Unfortunately, Gatesville is the only Coryell County town with maps in the online collection. "The Gatesville series has maps for 1885, 1891, 1896, 1902, 1907, 1912, and 1920," Lawrence said. "This covers a large number of the buildings currently around the public square and allows us to see the changes in the use of these familiar buildings," she said.

The earliest map for Gatesville is 1885, which shows the courthouse, the Faunt Le Roy home, saloons, the Atkinson Hotel, the Saunders Bank, the Opera House, a soda bottling plant, a roller-skating rink, the Baptist Church, the Methodist Episcopal Church, a calaboose (jail), the Knights of Pythias Hall, and the Chandler Flour Mill. Lawrence stated that the maps were often color coded to indicate what type of building material they were constructed from. Yellow, meaning a frame (wooden) structure; red, meaning brick; blue, meaning stone; brown, meaning adobe; and green, meaning special.

The Sanborn Map Company, which is still in existence to this day, has provided invaluable sources for those involved in historical research and can be included in the history of Gatesville as well.

Pills with possible traces of fentanyl found in high school, Gatesville Independent School District reports

Staff Reports

Two white pills that might contain traces of fentanyl were discovered in the Gatesville High School cafeteria, Gatesville ISD said in an alert to parents on Friday, Jan.

According to the statement, campus custodians found the pills on the floor while cleaning in between lunches. High school administrators were able to safely retrieve the pills before sending them to a campus police officer for testing. Preliminary results from a drug test kit indicate that the pills could contain fentanyl.

"We want to be very transparent with this incident, because fentanyl is extremely dangerous and is prevalent in every community," Gatesville ISD's statement read.

Campus administrators reviewed security footage but could not find the origin of the pills. The school district's statement said they called in a drug dog from the Coryell County Sheriff's Office to inspect the campus but found no other issues.

"Our high school custodial staff did a great job of being attentive and noticing two very small pills on the cafeteria floor that could have easily gone unnoticed," Superintendent Barrett Pollard said in an email. "Liz Shoaf, high school principal, also showed great forethought by not using her bare hands to retrieve the pills. We will now use this incident as an opportunity to retrain our staff and speak to our students again about the extreme dangers of fentanyl."

Fentanyl is a synthetic opioid drug that is approximately 100 times stronger than morphine and 50 times more potent than heroine, according to the United States Drug Enforcement Administration.

Following the incident, Gatesville ISD wrote on their Facebook page that they will go over the dangers of fentanyl with students and staff this week, including the following reminders:

Never touch a pill with your bare

Never accept or ingest a pill or gummy from another student.

Each campus has Narcan available in the event someone is exposed to Volunteer drivers needed for Meals on Wheels program

BY ALEXANDRA MEELBUSCH Staff Writer

Meals on Wheels is in need of volunteer drivers to deliver meals to local, homebound, elderly folks. Meals on Wheels is a federally-funded program for older adults who are homebound, unable to prepare a meal, don't drive, and have no one to cook for them.

The Meals on Wheels program provides homedelivered, nutritious meals that provide seniors in the community with support, which allows them to remain living in their own homes. This typically involves delivering a nutritious meal, a friendly visit, or a quick safety check.

The volunteers are expected to deliver a meal while generally checking in with the clients to make sure they are doing well through a friendly greeting or small talk.

Gatesville needs volunteer drivers Monday through Friday with meals picked up at the Senior Center. Drivers are needed for four different routes. There are four different routes in Gatesville, and each Wednesday a route to Hamilton is taken. Anywhere from 10 to 14 clients are seen each day per route.

At the end of last year, the Meals on Wheels program stopped reimbursing volunteers for their mileage driven. Vehicles need to be provided by the volunteers as well.

To volunteer, contact the Senior Center Director Pam Rudolph at 254-865-8234.

Hall of Fame inducts Southern Plainsmen Quartet

BY DAVID SCOTT Staff Writer

The Gatesville Country Music Hall of Fame was recently pleased to welcome the Southern Plainsmen Quartet to the stage at the Gatesville City Auditorium.

The Plainsmen Quartet are often recognized throughout the United States for fine harmonies and their renditions of Southern Gospel songs.

Members of the quartet include Robert Jackson, lead singer; Jeremy Glass, lead singer and piano; Jeff Bordelon, bass; Tim Thomas, baritone; and Marcelle Slaughter,

While on stage, the group performed old favorites along with some of their new songs, including their most recent release, "Roll Back River Jordan."

During their performance, the group was honored to be inducted into the Gatesville Country Music Hall of Fame and receive the key to the city presented by Gatesville mayor, Gary Chumley. In addition, the quartet received a proclamation from Governor Greg Abbott in honor of their induction into the hall of fame.

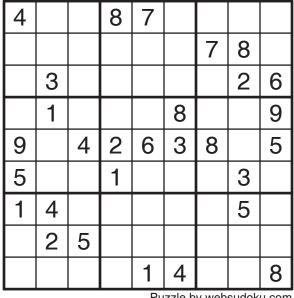

Quartet member Tim Thomas said that although the quartet had performed in Coryell County in the past, this was the first time they had performed at the Gatesville City Auditorium. The group was very honored with the induction, proclamation, and the key to the city. "We are very honored to play here," Thomas said.

The late Mike Kuzenka first started the Gatesville Jamboree, and eventually the Hall of Fame was formed about 2007. After Roger Vierse, now known as the director, took over in 2007, he inducted Kuzenka as the first Hall of Fame inductee.

In the past, Vierse has been quoted as saying that the Hall of Fame's purpose is to recognize people who have talent and play on a semi-professional or professional level.

As always, the Gatesville Country Music Hall of Fame seeks to provide good, wholesome music with a familyoriented flavor at free concerts held at the Gatesville City Auditorium stage located at 110 N. 8th Street.

OBITUARIES

Klevon Smith

Nov. 26, 1933 - Jan. 11, 2024

Klevon Smith, of Izora, departed from this world on Thursday, January 11, 2024, leaving behind a legacy of craftsmanship, generosity, and a passion for building.

Funeral services were held at 10:30 a.m. on Friday, January 19, at School Creek Baptist Church, with Rev. Jerry Perkins officiating. Visitation with the family will be one hour prior to services at the church. Interment will follow at Hillsdale Cemetery.

Klevon Smith was born on November 26, 1933, in Izora, Texas to the late Thomas Dewitt Smith and Addie Hammett Smith. He grew up in Izora while attending school in Lampasas, graduating from Lampasas High School in 1950 at the young age of 16. Believe it or not, he never missed a single day of school. He married his loving wife, Frances Krempin, on June 4, 1955. Klevon and Frances continued to reside in Izora for almost all their married lives.

Shortly after his marriage, he was drafted into the United States Army, and was stationed in the Marshall Islands during the Korean War. Klevon was discharged into the Army Reserves in 1957, then worked as a civil service employee at Ft. Hood. He celebrated his retirement in 1989 after serving a combined 38 years.

Klevon's skilled hands and tireless efforts went into the creation of numerous construction projects. Many families are sheltered under the roofs of homes that bear the mark of Klevon's craftsmanship, including the home in which he and his wife raised their beautiful family. Beyond residential projects, Klevon lent his expertise to the development of the current church and fellowship hall for School Creek Baptist Church, of which he was a member for most of his life. Klevon had a unique penchant for repurposing materials. He took great joy in dismantling old buildings, salvaging the lumber, and giving it new life through innovative projects. However, Klevon's most renowned skill was his mastery of rock masonry. His hands transformed raw stone into structures that stood as testaments to both strength and beauty. The artistry and precision with which he worked will continue to inspire generations to come. When not working on a construction project, Klevon enjoyed reading, working puzzles, playing dominoes, and in his younger years, deer hunting. Regardless of his task, he could always be found with a Dr. Pepper in one hand and a chocolate chip cookie in the other!

Klevon was preceded in death by his children: Myrna, Deanna, and Jerry Smith.

He is survived by his wife of 68 years, Frances Smith; sons, Dean Smith and wife Marcella, James Smith; daughter, Darlene Kyle and husband, Mark; seven grandchildren, Brandon Smith and wife, Angela, Cheryl Simmons and husband, Mitch, Sean Smith, Jordan Smith, Justin Kyle and wife Gabby, Bethany Warner and husband Joseph, Kady Carter and husband Jordan; fifteen great grandchildren and four great-great grandchildren.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests that memorials be made to School Creek Baptist Church, 11228 County Rd 3500. Lampasas, TX 76550, or a charity of choice.

A week in a dark cave

BY TUMBLEWEED SMITH

Tumbleweed Smith of Big Spring is a newspaper columnist and producer of The Sound of Texas radio series.

'eff Tucker, of Brownwood, spent twenty years as a fireman, ten years as a fire fighter, then ten years as an arson investigator.

"I put in twenty and got out because I saw a lot of firemen who, as they got older, didn't move as well as they used to. I knew I had a lot of good years left and wanted to do something else. I'm a bit of a serial entrepreneur. As a fireman I was on 24 hours, off 48, so I mowed yards, painted houses, built houses, and ran businesses. If there was something I was interested in. I went in neck deep."

In Brownwood, he turned a historic building into a brewery, sold that, and is now restoring a twelve-story hotel. Part of his inborn sense of adventure made him audition for a television series called "Darkness."

"It was an extreme survival series," says Jeff. "The experiment was to put three guys in a dark cave, each in a different area, and try to find each other, then find a way out. We each had six ounces of water, a blanket, and a helmet. No food, no light. So, it was a light deprivation experience. But, for five and a half days, I never got to see anything but dark. I couldn't see my hand in front of my face.

"The cave was just outside Hannibal, Missouri and was twenty-nine square miles or something like that. The three of us had never met. They put us in at different entry points and we would try to find each other. Supposedly there were caches of food down there, but we never found them. Two of the guys found some crawdads and earthworms. I found a natural spring and got water. "We were constantly trying to focus but we could never make out anything. I bumped into one guy who happened to be a fireman from Louisiana. Then we found the other guy who was a former Green Beret. Then the fight was on to get out.

"What happened was your mind started to play tricks on you. Light deprivation is a very serious thing. Some people who had been on the program before wanted out after twenty-four hours. It was that extreme. I had worked in a dark environment as a fireman, so that worked to my advantage. One day in the cave, I saw Porky Pig. It was so strange. It was like he was across from me just looking at me.

"At one point, one of the guys had fallen. I didn't know how far he fell but I felt he was going away from me. I thought he had fallen off a cliff. We would throw rocks out in front of us and once we threw a rock and never heard it hit bottom. There were a lot of things that would mess up your mind mentally.

"Now, the crew that was filming us wore night goggles that allowed them to see in the dark. When one of us got close to the edge of a cliff they would tell us to stop, that we couldn't go that way. But we were fortunate enough to find our way out in five and a half days. It was an emotional moment when we got out. After that I didn't sleep good for about a year."

PEARL NEWS

Valentine auction and other events taking place in February

BY BETSY CLARK

Pearl News Correspondent

et ready for the upcoming Pearl Church of Christ annual Valentine Auction benefiting His Kids which is held in honor and memory of Richard Williams, the founder of this wonderful program.

The auction will be held after services, Feb. 11, and the bidding will close at 1:30 p.m. If you would like to view the items for auction in advance, they will be out and ready to bid upon Feb. 4 through Feb. 10 in the fellowship rooms of the church. Among the numerous other items for bid are many pairs of new, men's size 11 name brand shoes, including Adidas, Nike's, etc., glassware, and crystal. I'll give you more details about the bid items next week. Everyone is invited to participate, and you are always welcome at the Pearl Church of Christ. Services are held each Sunday at 10:30 a.m.

Ronald and Linda Ray would like to thank everyone for their prayers, cards, letters, phone calls, and food during Linda's cancer treatments. You are greatly loved and appreciated. They would also like you to know that they are doing well as they continue treatments for the next six to eight months at Texas Oncology. Please continue to keep these dear ones in your prayers.

Pearl residents appreciate Multi-County Water for their hard work during the freezing cold weather. It was reported that the repairmen worked through the night to make sure the water service was restored! (I can't imagine those harsh working conditions, and I bet they would appreciate a box of chocolates, or some such treat, if you have time to drop one by their office on Highway 84 west of Gatesville).

The next Pearl Cottage Bookstore Day is Feb. 3. The bookstore opens at 9 a.m. and closes at 3 p.m. Please pray for tolerable, warm weather for the bookstore ladies. They "like to have froze to death" (literally!) last bookstore day, but in their dedication, they stuck it out. The Pearl Community Center Bluegrass Day is also Feb. 3, but jamming usually starts the day before. Let's hope for good weather for both of these events. There's no place like Pearl!

This week's Bible verse comes from Psalm 23, a passage even with which the smallest child is familiar. Today, I read these scriptures in the New Living Testament, and I was touched. I'll give you just a taste of it, but I want you to be sure and look this up to read the whole Psalm in this version... "The Lord is my Shepherd; I have all that I need...Even when I walk through the darkest valley, I will not be afraid, for you are close beside me...". Blessed assurance, indeed. (I use the free Bible Gateway app to access the different versions. Won't cost you a cent, but you can pay for "extras" if you wish).

Pray!
Be sure and like the Pearl

Student Spotlight

DAVID SCOTT | THE GATESVILLE MESSENGER

Landry Pritchett shown holding his certificate was joined by GISD Supt. Dr. Barrett Pollard, 4th grade teachers Tobi Shirley and Mary Tipton, and Gatesville Intermediate principal Bridgett Register.

Pritchett shines in Gatesville ISD Student Spotlight

Staff Reports

During the Jan. 22nd meeting of the Gatesville Independent School District Board of Trustees, Landry Pritchett was honored during the Student Spotlight presentation.

GISD Superintendent Dr. Barrett Pollard had the following to say about Pritchett:

Landry Pritchett is a 4th grader at Gatesville Intermediate School. He is very knowledgeable and passionate about all things military. This is very evident in his conversations with others as he loves to talk about military events, past and present. He also exhibits this through his acts of patriotism.

A few weeks ago, social worker Joyce Cole observed Landry in the foyer of a gym. No one else was around, and Landry did not see Mrs. Cole. When the National Anthem started playing, Landry very quickly stood at attention and saluted the flag. This made a fantastic impression on Mrs. Cole, and she recommended this recognition.

Landry's teachers also commented on his enthusiasm pertaining to subjects of interest to him. An example of this was when he got into character during a recent drama unit. His performance was entertaining to watch and enjoyed by the rest of the class. For all of these reasons, we want to recognize Landry Pritchett.

Gatesville hoops blasts Robinson, back in playoff hunt

BY CHRIS ALLMAN
Contributing Writer

Gatesville basketball stopped their longest losing streak in two years with a 71-59 win over Robinson on Jan. 23 in a game that was not nearly as close as the score would indicate.

On Jan. 19, Gatesville fell to La Vega 74-57 to drop to 0-3 in district play. It was their first three-game losing streak since January of 2022, but, in their first must-win game of the year, they blasted the Rockets to get right back into the playoff hunt.

The Hornets never trailed in the game and led 17-6 after the first quarter. They broke the game open midway through the second quarter. West Allman and Kase Cox keyed an 8-2 run that turned a 24-12 lead into a 32-14 lead.

Allman started the run with a runner in the lane to give Gatesville a 26-12 lead. Following a Robinson timeout, Charlie Winkler found Allman for an alley-oop dunk and a 28-12 lead. Allman stole the ensuing inbounds pass and converted to push the lead to 30-12. After a Robinson bucket stopped the bleeding, a Cox putback pushed the lead to 32-14.

Allman finished the game with 17 points, and Cox had 12. Rayshon Smith led all scorers with 19 points in his best offensive game of the season. Smith, who came off the bench for the first time this season, scored 14 of his points on layups and connected on 5-of-7 free throw attempts.

Winkler, Graceson Stewart, and Scout Hall each had six points in the game. Winkler buried the Hornets' only two three-pointers of the night, and Hall was also a disruption for the Hornets on the defensive end.

Against La Vega, the Hornets fell behind 11-0 and never recovered. They battled back and were down eight after the first quarter, but the Pirates seemingly did not miss over the second and third quarters to blow the game open. They shot 57% over the middle periods and connected on seven of their nine three-pointers in the second and third quarters.

Smith led Gatesville in scoring with 12 points against La Vega, while Allman had 11, and Winkler had 10. Cox had six points and pulled down nine rebounds.

Through four games of district play, La Vega sits atop the standings at 4-0. Connally is 3-1, and Robinson is 2-2. Salado, China Spring, and Gatesville are all 1-3.

Gatesville and China Spring faced off on Jan. 26 in the final game of the first round of district, and the winner would likely jump into the third-place spot in the playoff standings.

Lady Hornets fall to La Vega and Robinson

BY CHRIS ALLMANContributing Writer

Despite a pair of losses to No. 2 ranked La Vega and Robinson, the Gatesville Lady Hornets still have a path to the post season.

La Vega, Connally, and Salado have firm holds on the top three spots in District 23-4A, while Gatesville, Robinson, and China Spring will likely battle for the fourth and final playoff spot.

Through district games Gatesville and Robinson are both 1-5 while China Spring is 2-4. Gatesville and China Spring faced off on Friday night, and a Lady Hornets win would put them into a tie with the Lady Cougars for fourth place in the district.

son face off on Feb. 2, and a Lady Cougar win would likely eliminate Robinson from playoff contention.

In their 47-37 loss against Robinson, Gatesville battled back from an early hole and took a lead in the fourth quarter.

Down 31-24 in the third quarter, Gatesville scored 11 straight points to take a fourth-quarter lead. They closed the quarter on a 6-0 run thanks to back-to-back three-pointers from Taylor Coward that then tied the game at 31-31 on a free throw from Emma Pollard early in the fourth quarter.

Pollard took a feed from Taylor Sanderson and converted a three-point play for a 34-31. Pollard hit again for a 36-31 lead before Robinson closed the game on a run for the 47-37 win.

Gatesville traveled to China Spring on Jan. 26 and will host No. 19 Connally on Jan. 30. They will close the regular season at La Vega on Feb. 6.

TARLETON STATE UNIVERSITYTM

Tarleton breaks ground on Health Professions Building

Tarleton State University

STEPHENVILLE — Tarleton State broke ground Jan. 17 on a $80 million Health Professions Building that will further establish the university as the leader of rural healthcare throughout the state.

The project was approved by The Texas A&M System Board of Regents last November, with move-in planned for summer 2025.

"Tarleton State is poised to be the educational epicenter for rural healthcare, not only in our region but beyond," said university President Dr. James Hurley. "Nestled in the heart of rural Texas, our thriving comprehensive national university is ready to heed the call with the unwavering support of our state legislators, the Texas A&M System Board of Regents and Chancellor John Sharp."

Nearly 20% of the U.S. population calls rural communities home, with these areas facing significant shortages of physicians and specialists. In Stephenville, the patient-physician ratio is 1,779 to 1.

Three new degree programs are set to be added in conjunction with the new facility, including physical therapy,

On hand for the ceremony, from left, were Dr. Ramona Parker, executive dean of the College of Health Sciences; Erath County Judge Brandon Huckabee; District 59 Texas State Rep. Shelby Slawson; Student Regent Elizabeth "Annie" Valicek; Texas A&M University System Chancellor John Sharp; Tarleton State President Dr. James Hurley; District 22 Texas State Senator Brian Birdwell; District 58 Texas State Rep. occupational therapy and physician assistant studies. Specialized laboratory space and public clinics will allow students to gain important hands-on experience in these areas. The new degree options join existing programs in kinesiology, nutrition science, social work, public health, athletic training, and communication sciences and disorders.

"It's good to be back in Stephenville for yet another groundbreaking," A&M System Chancellor John Sharp said. "Texas A&M System Regents are committed to making Tarleton into one of the state's finest public universities." With nearly 40% of community hospitals in Texas in jeopardy of closure, Tarleton State is now positioned to serve a critical role in elevating healthcare in the Lone Star State by adding to the workforce in these locations of immense need.

State Senator Brian Birdwell (District 22) highlighted the significance from his perspective. "Healthcare that is accessible without having to drive to major metro areas is regularly discussed across our entire state. Today's groundbreaking at Tarleton affords them the opportunity to lead in taking the necessary step in addressing those concerns and moving in the right direction to improve healthcare in our rural communities."

As a Tarleton State graduate himself, state Rep.
DeWayne Burns (District 58) emphasized the educational opportunities for future students that will result from the new facility. "Today is just the most recent example of the university's steadfast focus on developing and graduating students who are ready to enter the workforce to benefit our region and beyond."

With the impressive growth of Stephenville and Erath County in recent years, state Rep. Shelby Slawson (District 59) focused on how the new programs at Tarleton State will provide a strong public health infrastructure to assist with the demands of an increasing population.

"Today's groundbreaking marks a historic day for rural healthcare in our region," she said. "This facility will positively impact the lives of rural Texans for years to come."

At 92,000 square feet, the new Health Professions Building will be located adjacent to the Nursing Building.

ACU was whistled for just seven fouls in the game, which led to a season-low four free throw attempts for the Texans, who made all four. The Wildcats got to the line 14 times (10-14) on 13 Texan fouls, and outshot Tarleton from the field 27-of-58 (.466) to 19-of-65 (.292). The Texans won the turnover battle, forcing 17 takeaways to 11 giveaways, but ACU pounded the boards 49-29 and outscored Tarleton in the paint 34-18.

Tarleton's Teresa Maggio had a team-high, and careerhigh, 11 points on 4-of-5 shooting (3-4 3PT) off the bench. Jakoriah Long chipped in nine points, Karyn Sanford (2-4 3PT) eight points, and Lexi Bull finished with six points, five rebounds, two steals and two blocks in 18 minutes.

ACU jumped out to a 15-2 start six minutes into the game. Tarleton fought back to within nine thanks to a Bull buzzer-beating jumper, with ACU leading 20-11 after one. The Texans then cut the deficit to one nearly three minutes into the second quarter, 23-22. ACU got back the ninepoint lead at the break, 36-27.

The Wildcats took control of the second half early, part of a 13-3 run carried over from the second quarter, to go up 13, 40-27, 24 seconds into the third. After some back-and-forth, ACU led by 13 after three, 55-42. Tarleton remained as close as 13 back in the fourth, but the Wildcats stayed at arm's length and ended the game on an 8-0 run to win by 22.

ACU had five reach double-digit scoring, powered by Bella Earle, who finished with 12 points, 12 rebounds and six assists. Payton Hull (12 points, seven rebounds), Aspen Thornton (11 points, three rebounds), Zoe Jackson (11 points, three rebounds) and Emma Troxell (11 points) also scored 10-plus points, while Meredith Mayes (nine points, nine rebounds, three assists) flirted with a double-double.

Tarleton State University

EDINBURG — Tarleton State Men's Basketball outscored UTRGV 33-12 in the final nine minutes of action to secure a 77-73 come-frombehind win Jan. 20 at the UTRGV Fieldhouse.

For the sixth time as a Western Athletic Conference program, the Texans (12-6 overall, 5-2 WAC) sweep a season series after beating the Vaqueros (6-13, 2-6), 77-75, in Wisdom Gym in December.

"I am very proud of how our guys were able to keep their heads down and battle through the deficit," said acting head coach Joseph Jones postgame. "We were able to keep ourselves in the game and when the opportunities presented themselves in the second half, we were able to make the most of it and in the end come out with the victory."

Lue Williams played one of his best games as a Texan, posting a season-high 28 points. The Atmore, Alabama native, shot 13-for-21 from the floor setting a new Tarleton WAC record and tying Shamir Bogues for the most field goals made in a single game in the D1 era.

single game in the D1 era.
A trio of Texans also scored in double figures. KiAndre Gaddy and Jakorie Smith contributed 11 apiece and Devon Barnes added 10. Gaddy also posted a game-high eight rebounds. Emmanuel Innocenti dished off a game-best seven assists and notched nine points.

Trailing 61-44 with 9:42 remaining, it seemed as if the home team in WAC contests would win its 15th game of the last 16 conference game played this year. The Texans proved otherwise. Barnes and Smith helped the Texans cut into the Vaquero lead with a 14-4 run over the next four minutes. The duo scored six points each during the run. Barnes turned two steals into four points for his squad.

With the Texans still not having a lead the entire game, the crowd was still behind the Vaqueros even when the Texans cut their deficit to five, 63-58 with 5:57 to go. UTRGV's Daylen Williams settled at the top of the arc and buried a three to reset the UTRGV lead to eight, seeming to respond that this was the home team's game to lose. It was.

Over the next 2:23, the Vaqueros shooting drought turned fatal, allowing the Texans to take their first lead of the game on a 12-0 run. Smith countered the UTRGV triple with a floater of his own, followed by heading to the line on the next possession and sinking one of his two freebies. Williams was responsible for the next two and Innocenti was sent to the line with the Texans down by three. He sank both of his shots from the charity stripe bringing TSU within a single point for the first time all game.

UTRGV missed a jumper and fouled Dario Domingos on the rebound, sending him to the line with the opportunity to tie or take the lead. He missed the first but sunk the second to tie the game at 66 with 3:53 to go. Williams broke through for a layup on the next possession to give the Texans the 68-66 lead.

Trailing 70-66, UTRGV broke its scoring drought with a pair of free throws to cut it to two. The Texans gave the ball to Williams who converted a layup giving the Texans their four-point lead back and taking the air out of the Vaqueros sails. In the final minute, Tarleton closed out the game, connecting on five of its final six free throws to take the 77-73 victory in Edinburg.

Tarleton State Men's Basketball outscored UTRGV 33-12 in the final nine minutes of action to secure a 77-73 come-from-behind win Jan. 20 at the UTRGV Fieldhouse.

The Vaqueros controlled the first half leading at the half, 40-26. UTRGV led the entire 20 minutes except for a 2-2 tie. The Texans were unable to find their offensive rhythm with the Vaqueros breaking out to an early 18-8 led. Later in the half, UTRGV used an 8-0 to take its largest lead of the half, 38-18. The Texans closed the half with an 8-0 run in the final three minutes, before the Vaqueros extended their lead to 14 with a bucket in the final minute. The home team relied on took advantage of its threepoint shooters, shooting 11for-26 from deep compared to the Texans' one-for-11 effort.

The Texans won the battle of the boards, 38-31 and the turnover battle, 15-10. Tarleton blasted in the paint outscoring UTRGV, 46-28. In a change of recent past, the Purple and White shut down opponent second chances outscoring the Vaqueros, 14-3

WHAT IS IT?

(StatePoint)

Type 2 diabetes is a serious condition that affects millions of people across the globe. In the United States alone, more than 37 million people have diabetes, with approximately 90 to 95 percent of those individuals diagnosed with type 2 diabetes.

When a person has type 2 diabetes, their body either doesn't produce enough insulin or it resists insulin. Without treatment, type 2 diabetes can lead to serious health implications.

Before an individual develops type 2 diabetes, a precursor known as prediabetes may be diagnosed. Johns Hopkins Medicine says having prediabetes means blood glucose levels are higher than normal, even if they have not yet reached the point that indicates diabetes. Prediabetes is nothing to take lightly, as even this condition can increase risk of injury or illness to the heart, kidneys and nerves.

Prediabetes typically does not show any signs or symptoms. One possible sign, darkened skin on certain parts of the body like the neck, armpits and groin, may be overlooked, states the Mayo Clinic. Still, of those with prediabetes, 80 percent do not know they have it, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Routine physical examinations and bloodwork are a key tool in diagnosing prediabetes and getting people the care they

The CDC indicates a fasting blood sugar level of 100 to 125 mg/dL (99 or lower is normal) is considered prediabetes. A level of 126 mg/DL or higher indicates diabetes. The good news is that prediabetes does not need to turn into full-blown diabetes if people embrace various strategies.

ASPIRE TO LIVE A HEALTHIER LIFESTYLE

Exercising more, losing weight and changing the foods one eats can stop and even reverse the progression of prediabetes, says Johns Hopkins Medicine. A doctor may suggest a diabetes prevention program.

MEDICATION

Medications to lower blood sugar may be prescribed.

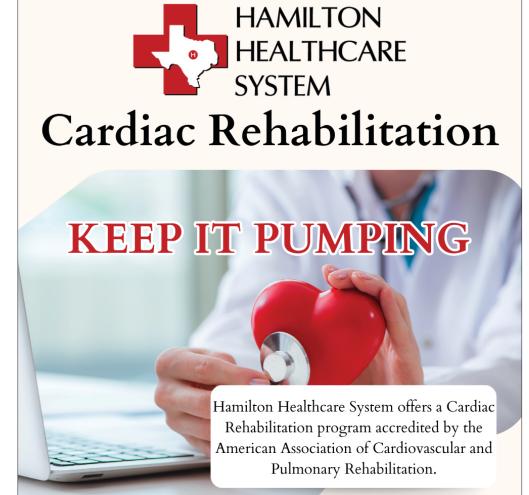

MANAGE STRESS

High stress levels may exacerbate hormonal responses and lead to prediabetes. Finding ways to reduce stress can help.

QUIT SMOKING

There are scores of reasons to quit smoking, and avoiding a diabetes diagnosis is just one of them.

Prediabetes is a serious concern that may escalate and turn into type 2 diabetes if left unchecked. Individuals who are overweight, have large waist sizes, are sedentary, are over the age of 35, and have a family history of type 2 diabetes should talk to their doctors about their own risk for the disease.

If you or someone you know has had a heart attack, heart catheterization, stent replacement, heart surgery, or has stable chest pain, talk to you doctor or call our Cardiac Rehabilitation department for more information.

Cardiac Rehabilitation has many benefits including:

No Lowering blood pressure & cholesterol

Managing weight with customized exercise plan

Improving psychological well-being

Reducing Risk Factors

THE LINK BETWEEN SLEEP AND MENTAL HEALTH

(StatePoint)

Sufficient sleep is often an unsung hero of overall health. When people gets enough sleep, their bodies are in better position to fend off illness and the rest ensures they have enough energy to tackle whatever challenges they confront.

The American Academy of Sleep Medicine and the Sleep Research Society jointly recommend that adults get at least seven hours of sleep per night. A good night's sleep is often discussed in terms of how it can affect physical health, but adequate rest also can have a profound impact on mental health. Sleep and mental health are intertwined, and the link between the two may be even more significant than was once believed.

SLEEP AND DEPRESSION

The Sleep Foundation notes that sleeping issues have historically been seen as a byproduct of depression. Indeed, the National Center for Biotechnology Information indicates that roughly three in four individuals with depression exhibit symptoms of insomnia. However, the Sleep Foundation reports that growing evidence now indicates poor sleep may induce depression.

SLEEP AND ANXIETY DISORDERS

Data from the National Institutes of Health indicates that one in five adults are affected by an anxiety disorder. The Mayo Clinic reports that feelings of nervousness and fear are hallmarks of anxiety disorders, and such feelings can make it hard to fall asleep. However, a 2013 study published in the journal Neuroscience found that poor sleep can activate anxiety. In addition, the Sleep Foundation reports that chronic insomnia may be a predisposing trait among individuals who eventually develop anxiety disorders.

SLEEP AND BIPOLAR DISORDER

A 2015 study published in the journal Sleep Medicine Clinics found a strong association between sleep disturbances and symptom worsening in bipolar disorder. The study highlighted evidence that suggests sleeping problems worsen or induce the manic and depressive episodes that are a hallmark of bipolar disorder. Researchers believe that successful treatment for insomnia, which would produce fewer sleep disturbances, can reduce the impact of bipolar disorder.

SLEEP AND ADHD

The Sleep Foundation notes that sleeping problems are common in people with ADHD. Difficulty sleeping is commonly and correctly seen as a side effect of ADHD. However, the Sleep Foundation indicates sleep problems also may aggravate issues affecting attention and behavior that characterize ADHD.

The link between sleep and mental health is noteworthy. Sleep issues were once believed to be a byproduct of mental health issues. Though that remains true, there's growing evidence that sleeping problems also can exacerbate or even trigger mental health problems. More information is available at sleepfoundation.org.

ITS MANY BENEFITS

There has never been a better time to be a reader. Self-proclaimed book nerds and those who look forward to the next book club gathering can rejoice knowing that a good story isn't the only benefit associated with reading. In fact, there are numerous health benefits to cracking a book.

READING SLOWS COGNITIVE DECLINE

Natural aging results in a decline in memory and brain function over time, but reading can help. According to research published in the journal Neurology, reading may help slow

CUTTING DOWN THE RISK

(StatePoint)

Cancer affects people from all walks of life. According to the World Cancer Research Fund International, there were an estimated 18.1 million cancer cases around the world in 2020, and the breakdown was almost even among men (9.3 million) and women (8.8 million).

Great strides have been the disease are simple. made in cancer research in the twenty-first century, and that has led to countless lives being saved. Cancer prevention strategies are another potentially lifesaving tool in the fight against the disease. A significant percentage of cancer deaths could be prevented. In fact, the Prevent Cancer® Foundation reports that research indicates about 50 percent of cancer deaths are preventable with the knowledge individuals have today.

Perhaps the most comforting aspect of cancer prevention is that many of the strategies that can reduce instances of That means individuals won't have to go to great lengths to include these strategies in their approach to cancer prevention.

AVOID TOBACCO

The link between tobacco use and cancer has been known for a long time, and the good news is the message touting the importance of avoiding tobacco is working. The American Cancer Society reports that cigarette smoking rates had reached historic lows in 2019. While that's great news, it might not tell the whole story, as consumers now have many other ways to use tobacco, each of which have been linked to cancer. So it's not simply avoiding cigarettes, but also cigars, hookahs, chewing tobacco, vaping products, and more, that is necessary to reduce cancer risk.

TIPS FOR SENIORS TO SAFEGUARD THEIR MENTAL HEALTH

for billions of people across the globe, but many people, including seniors, continue to experience mental health is-

The Pan American Health

Organization reports that at least one in four older adults experiences a mental disorder such as depression, anxiety or dementia. And those figures will likely only grow, as population estimates indicate seniors will make up a greater percentage of the global population in the years to come. Seniors dealing with mental health issues may feel helpless, but there's much they can help them make it to in-person do to safeguard their mental health.

SOCIALIZE REGULARLY.

A 2019 study published in The Journals of Gerontology, Series B: Psychological Sciences and Social Sciences found that older adults who socialized with people beyond their circle of family and close friends were more likely to have greater positive moods and fewer negative feelings. Unfortunately, a significant percentage of older adults report feeling isolated from others. According to the University of Michigan National Poll on Healthy Aging that was conducted in January 2023, one in three older adults reported infrequent contact (once a week or less) with people from outside their home.

SPEAK WITH A MENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONAL.

Among the more troubling aspects of the mental health crisis affecting seniors is that the PAHO reports two-thirds of older adults with mental health problems do not get the treatment they need. Speaking with a mental health professional can help older adults in myriad ways. Such professionals can identify the issue that is prompting seniors to seek help and offer suggestions that can improve overall health and qualify of life. Roundstone Insurance notes that reliance on digital behavioral health tools, including telehealth, was turned to both during the pandemic and ever since, and seniors can utilize such services if they have limited mobility and/or no one to appointments.

VOLUNTEER.

Many older adults are retired, and while ample free time may have seemed like the ultimate reward after a lifetime of working, many retirees experience a void once their life no longer has the structure that work can provide. According to the independent nonprofit HelpGuide. org, retirement depression can compel retirees to feel as though they miss the sense of identity, meaning and purpose that came with their jobs, which can make some feel depressed, aimless and isolated. Volunteering can help fill the void created by retirement, and the positive mental health effects of volunteering are well-documented. According to the Mayo Clinic, studies have shown volunteering increases positive, relaxed feelings and gives volunteers a sense of meaning and appreciation.

No one is immune to mental health issues, including seniors. But older adults can take various steps to address their mental health and improve their overall health as a result.

SHIELD YOUR SKIN FROM THE SUN

The PCF notes that exposure to the sun's ultraviolet rays causes the most skin cancers. The WCRFI reports that melanoma of the skin is the thirteenth most common cancer in men and the fifteenth most common cancer in women across the globe. Protecting the skin from the sun is as simple as applying a sunscreen with a minium sun protection factor (SPF) of 30 and covering up when spending long periods of time in the sun. The PCF urges individuals to avoid tanning beds and protect their skin year-round, including in winter.

The popularity of plant-based diets is on the rise. In fact, retail sales of plant-based foods in the United States increased by 11 percent in a single year between 2018 and 2019, according to data from the Plant Based Foods Association. A greater reliance on plant-based diets could go a long way toward reducing cancer deaths, as the PCF notes a 2021 study found that three servings of vegetables and two servings of fruit each day reduced the risk of cancer death by 10 percent.

AVOID EXCESSIVE AL-COHOL CONSUMPTION

The PCF notes that alcohol has been linked to cancers of the breast, liver, esophagus, and colon. When consuming alcohol, women are urged to limit their consumption to one drink or fewer each day, while men should limit their consumption to two or fewer alcoholic beverages per day. The science is simple: the more alcohol a person drinks, the greater his or her risk for cancer.

Cancer prevention is a vital component of a healthy lifestyle, and there are many simply ways people can cut their cancer risk.

PROVIDING EXCEPTIONAL CARE THROUGH THERAPY

BY ALEXANDRA MEELBUSCH Staff Writer

Hillside Medical Lodge has offered physical, speech, and occupational therapy since its doors opened in 1978, and the need for those services has drastically increased over the last 10 years.

Part of that growth is due to the exceptional care by Jennifer Boyd, director of therapy, and her team of therapists. Boyd said, "I have been blessed through my 15 years here with therapists who support me to fulfill patients' outcomes by being compassionate, caring, and hardworking. I couldn't do anything without my staff."

Boyd studied at Texas Tech University obtaining her general studies degree, and later went to graduate school at Texas Women's University Houston where she earned her master's degree. She began her career at Hillside Medical Lodge as an occupational therapist and then became director of therapy around 2010 and has served her patients for over a decade.

Patient care is a main priority at Hillside Medical Lodge. That includes building relationships with patients and helping them to feel at home during their stay. Boyd says, "I reach out to the patients' families to find out their likes and dislikes, that way we try to fit what they enjoy into our therapy to make it more pleasurable for them."

Home evaluations play a big role in Boyd's patient care as well. Depending on the patient's needs after checking out, she will evaluate their homes, making sure everything is safe and convenient for them to maneuver around on their own without any complications.

It makes Boyd happy to know that what she does is very holistic, meaning when she provides care for her patients, she is also healing the mind, body, and spirit to make her patients better in every way possible. Especially when she sees a patient making the best of therapy. Her oldest patient was 108 years old. Boyd said she was walking down her unit and saw the 108-year-old, who

There are several success stories, but one of the most memorable was a six-time national roper. The roper couldn't walk when he arrived but walked right out of the building during graduation. Hillside states, "It is an honor to share these moments with each graduate of therapy."

The heart is a vital component of the human body. Without a functional heart, life is simply not possible. As with other muscles in the body, it is important to give the heart a workout to improve its strength and vitality. Intermountain Health says an individual who dos not exercise is more than twice as likely to get heart disease as someone who does. UCI Health says heart disease is the No. 1 cause of death worldwide.

Exercise is an ideal way to strengthen the heart and reduce your risk for heart disease and other conditions. Certain activities are prime for boosting heart health. AEROBIC EXERCISE

AEROBIC EXERCISE
Aerobic exercise
raises heart rate and gets the blood pumping throughout the body. Aerobic activity improves circulation, and over time it ensures the heart does not have to work as hard to pump blood,
thus potentially lowering blood pressure.
Also, aerobic exercise can reduce the risk

for type 2 diabetes and can help those with diabetes to control blood glucose more readily. Aerobic exercises include brisk walking, running, swimming, cycling, playing tennis, and other activities that get the heart pumping. Aim for 30 minutes each day, for at least five days a week.

RESISTANCE/WEIGHT TRAINING

Building muscle can help the body burn fat and boost metabolism. This type of training can use weights or the body's own resistance. Improving muscle mass while reducing body fat and excess weight are heart-healthy steps to take.

Strength training can be incorporated into a routine

two to three days a week.

BALANCE AND FLEXIBILITY EXERCISES

A person may wonder what flexibility and balance has to do with heart health. While there isn't a direct correlation to how the heart works, these types of activities will help reduce the risk of falls or injuries to muscles and joints while working out. Inactivity is dangerous for the heart, so ensuring that physical activity can continue is important. Flexibility and balance exercises keep the body limber, and can be incorporated into daily work-outs. Stretching, tai chi, yoga, and pilates can be included two or three times a week.

HEALTHY EATING

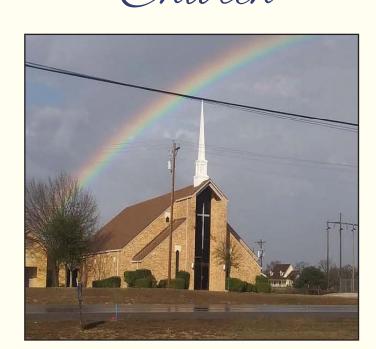

The foods people eat can affect heart health. Opt for lean protein sources and foods that include healthy fats. Salmon, avocados and olives are some options. Balance these foods with whole grains that are full of fiber, which can help a person feel fuller longer. Fiber also is essential for preventing atherosclerosis, a condition that causes hardening of the arteries.

MEDITATION

Slowing down, performing deep-breathing exercises and meditation can reduce stress. That, in turn, can help prevent damage to the heart.

Strengthening the heart and maintaining its health involves various activities that can be incorporated into daily routines.

DETERMINING YOUR RISK OF A HEART ATTACK FOR JUST $50

COURTESY PHOTO
You may benefit from a cardiac calcium CT scan if you're between 40 and 70 and at increased risk for heart disease.

Are you keeping score? There is no better time to schedule a cardiac calcium CT scan than American Heart Month. This month and next, Coryell Health is charging half price, or $50, for patients to find out their calcium scores.

Your score can help determine your future risk of having a heart attack or stroke. A cardiac

CT scan of the heart detects plaque or calcium accumulation in the arteries. The higher the patient's calcium score, the more aggressive the treatment will be.

"Knowing a patient's cardiac calcium score helps us develop targeted therapy for patients, including allowing us to optimize medications, such as statin dose, for preventing plaque buildup," Coryell Health cardiologist Dr. Phillip Myatt explains. "Many patients may have otherwise had no idea of their risk."

MORE ON THE SCORE So, what's so bad about plaque? Plaque is a buildup of calcium and cholesterol on the artery walls that can narrow the arteries, reducing blood and oxygen flow. The more plaque in your heart, the higher your risk of a cardiac event. In this scenario, the lower your score, the better.

You should get a cardiac calcium CT scan if you are between ages 40-70 and at increased risk for heart disease but do not have symptoms. People at increased risk include those with the following traits:

HAVE A FAMILY HISTORY OF HEART DISEASE

Have a family history of high cholesterol Are overweight

Are or have ever been a smoker

Have a history of high blood pressure, high cholesterol or diabetes Have an inactive lifestyle

BENEFITS OF KNOW-ING YOUR SCORE

While advanced CT technology allows doctors to visualize any plaque buildup in a patient's arteries, the calcium score can indicate to the physician that he or she may want to initiate or change preventive therapy to lower your risk.

Don't Risk Waiting

Take advantage of Coryell Health's half-off special for American Heart Month by scheduling your calcium scan before the end of March! You'll be glad that you determined your risk of developing heart problems sooner rather than later. The test is painless, non-invasive and fast (it typically takes about 20 minutes). You will be able to resume all regular activity immediately after the procedure. You can request that the results be sent to any medical provider, or Coryell Health Cardiology will contact you in an average of 3-5 business days.

Schedule your calcium score scan today by calling (254) 248-6238.

ous obstacles to God's work at and through Live Oak Baptist Church.

However, I am not discouraged or dismayed, because God, my God, the God of Live Oak Baptist Church, is the Great I Am! He is the Almighty! He was, is, and will always be faithful! In Matthew 7:7 Jesus tells us, "Ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock and the door will be opened to you" (NIV) In Jeremiah 29:13, God reminds us, "You will seek me and find me when you seek me with all your heart." (NIV) Rather than being discouraged or dismayed, I am excited to see what God is going to do at and through Live Oak Baptist Church as we as ask, seek, and knock. I am excited to see what God is going to do as the truths of His Word are proclaimed and lived out. I am also excited to see what God is going to do as we follow His marching orders to "make disciples of all nations."
