Tragedy – On April 20 at approximately 6:54 a.m. Kaitlyn Meadows Jones, 31 of Gainesboro was driving her 2018 Chrysler Pacifica on Granville Hwy. She was traveling eastbound around the curve to the right when she then crossed the centerline and across the opposite lane of travel. Commissioners Adopt Parks Plan

MEGAN REAGAN
Editor

Jackson County Commissioners met in regular session last Monday and adopted a 10-year master plan that would benefit and improve the community’s parks and recreation system.

This approval comes after months of planning and feedback from local citizens in public forums hosted by the Landscape Architect Kevin Guenther Reagan-Smith.

As previously reported in the Jackson County Sentinel, his recommendations to the county included boosting its facilities, athletic programs and target things the community can get behind—with two major assets already in existence being Roaring River Park and Cumberland Bend (otherwise known as “the old golf course.”)

Guenther explained that in order to begin implementing changes and expanding upon the park system, the county will need a dedicated budget to do so.

“Right now you really don’t have any formal budget towards your park and recreation facilities or staff,” Guenther said. “It’s kind of something that is blended with other things. We’re strongly encouraging you to look at the potential of dedicating something just specifically for parks and recreation.”

Through various forms of feedback the public has indicated a strong desire for more youth-related recreations to be utilized in this plan.

“A lot of [residents] that are leaving, one of things they say is that we don’t offer those facilities,” Heady said. “There was a lot of interest in using the land that we already have, under lease at the Cumberland Bend at the old golf course, which we know will never be a golf course again.”

Additionally—although under the control of the Army Corp of Engineers—many people have shown interest in approving upon Roaring River.

Guenther informed the county that establishing a relationship with the Corps could help bring many of the citizen’s desires to fruition.

Heady explained to the commissioners that all recommendations within the plan are just that. Recommendations.

Heady said that commissioners will be welcome at any time to change things they don’t like in the plan; however, the county now has a plan that can be built upon or simmered down to fit the needs and forward progress for the county.

Roaring River – Many people have shown interest in approving upon Roaring River Park although it is under the control with the Army Corp of Engineers.

Traffic Stop Yields Charges

On April 17, Deputy Dillon Sandlin conducted a traffic stop on South Grundy Quarles Highway in Jackson County. Dustin Gilley was found to be driving on a revoked drivers license.

Dustin Gilley

During the course of the traffic stop Deputy Sandlin discovered methamphetamine, parapher-nalina and a 9mm hand gun. There was a child in the vehicle that was less than two years old.

Deputy Sandlin arrested Gilley for felony possession of methamphetamine, felony possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony. Felony child endangerment, possession of buprenorphine, possession of drug paraphernalia, and driving on a revoked drivers license.

Tennessee Ranks High Quality In Pre-K Programs

Tennessee now meets nine of 10 standards for high-quality pre-K programs, which demonstrates progress over the last several years, according to the 2020 edition of The State of Preschool Yearbook by the National Institute for Early Education Research (NIEER) at Rutgers Graduate School of Education.

Tennessee is one of only 12 states with pre-K programs to have met 9 of 10 of NIEER’s quality standard benchmarks. Additionally, Tennessee is 1 of 14 state programs that met the staff professional development benchmark, which remains the most difficult benchmark for pre-K programs to meet.

This year’s ranking is a result of significant improvements to Tennessee’s Voluntary Pre-K Program (TN-VPK) between 2016 and 2020 due to unwavering commitment from state leaders and partners, even throughout the ongoing pandemic where funding for the program has been maintained.

“We are thrilled to see the hard work of improving the quality of pre-K education in Tennessee pay off,” said Commissioner Penny Schwin. “We know providing students with high-quality materials and instruction at every age is critical for long-term success. This ranking is a testament to the hard work and prioritization of early childhood education and literacy across the state.”

Starting with Tennessee’s Pre-K Quality Act of 2016, improvements to the TN-VPK program have continued through Governor Bill Lee’s administration, including shifting to a competitive VPK grant application process, facilitating an annual training on the pre-K Classroom Assessment Scoring System (CLASS), piloting of pre-K coaching, and shifting to research-based sounds first supplement and high-quality instructional materials.

“The TDOE Early Childhood department supported VPK directors across the state in a variety of ways. Two supports I have really appreciated are the open office hours that allowed us the opportunity to stop by, virtually, twice a week to ask questions about a number of topics, and the training we received on the CLASS observations,” said Melinda Smith, Voluntary Pre-K Director, Clarksville Montgomery County Schools. “Additionally, the training and tool related to CLASS helps directors in supporting pre-K staff to increase the quality of instruction and has led our district to higher scores and performance.”

“The Lebanon Special School District has seen quality improvement in the Voluntary Pre-K program both qualitatively and quantitatively from the focus on quality materials and instruction through ongoing teacher support and coaching,” said Dr. Penny Thompson, Instructional Coordinator and Pre-K Director, Lebanon Special School District. “This year the Pre-K Coach has worked with teachers to set ex-

New Museum To Open In Granville

Historic Tennessee Mayberry Town has a history back to the early 1900's of famous whiskey makers connected to the small riverboat town. Its history has been taken to another level with the recent donation of approximately 2,000 Jim Beam Whiskey Decanters by Charles Barrett of Watertown. Charles and his late wife Betty began collecting bottles in 1979 as the decanters created by Regal China became a passion for both of them. Jim Beam Distillery began filling their whiskey into ornamental bottles in 1955 with the creation of a bowling pin and a porcelain ashtray. Because of the popularity the decanters were produced in fifteen categories: Wheels, Clubs and Conventions, Casino, Centennial, Organizations

Customer, Executive, Foreign, People, Opera, Political, Regal China, Sports, States, Trophy, Glass and the Collectors' Edition. The company later purchased Regal China Company and manufactured the decanters till the 1990's.

Randall Clemons, President of Historic Granville-Granville Museum, Inc. stated that "we are very fortunate to have a museum of this quality in our small town that has decanters of all aspects of life. Regardless of your interest there are decanters that will interest you. We are extremely excited about having over 150 automobiles that will further enhance our two antique car museums. Our volunteers and staff have worked so hard for the last five months to make this possible. It is one of the most professional exhibits you will visit anywhere and further enhances our Mayberry Lucy Museum next door to it as well as our Whistle Stop Saloon Museum. We are very thankful to Charles Barrett and his late wife Betty that had the passion to create this collection and the desire for it to be shared with the public for years to come. Charles has been a tremendous help with the moving of this collection and sharing of his knowledge of decanters."

The museum will open on May 1 at 9 a.m. with a grand opening celebration in conjunction with the Cornbread and Moonshine Festival. The Museum will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on May 1 and will be open Wednesday through Friday 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and Saturday 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Our festival will again feature Cornbread Competition, Cornbread Lane Tasting and lunch, Operating Grist Mill, Primitive Cooking, Craftsmen, Town Tours of all our museums and historic buildings as well as shopping and great food. May 1 will also feature our annual Moonshine Festival with some nine well-known Tennessee Distillers of the Tennessee Whiskey Trail participating. The festival is from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with the Moonshine Festival from 12 p.m. to 4 p.m.

There is an admission to the festival, which includes admission to every museum in Granville. The Moonshine Festival tasting is separate charge along with parking. For more information visit granvilletn.com.

How To Approach Returning To Work After Maternity Leave

Working mothers are no longer an anomaly. According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, seven in 10 women with children under the age of 18 years were in the American labor force in 2015, the most recent year for which statistics were available.

Though it might be considered the new normal for mothers with young children to work, that does not make it any easier for mothers to manage a career and being a mom. That's especially true for first-time mothers returning to work at the end of maternity leave.

Returning to work after maternity leave can produce mixed emotions. Mothers who have thriving careers may be excited to get back to work while simultaneously feeling sadness or even guilt at the prospect of leaving their infants at home with a spouse or nanny or at a daycare facility. Such mixed emotions are normal, and women should discuss their feelings with their spouses and loved ones if they are experiencing difficulty processing them.

How smoothly women transition to work after maternity leave may depend on how well they plan ahead. The following are some ways women can make returning to work after giving birth go smoothly.

Negotiate your return to work

The length of maternity leave depends on a host of factors, including company policy. Paid maternity leave is not a requirement in the United States, while the Canadian government sponsors an insurance plan that allows both parents to earn some income while on leave. In advance of giving birth, women can attempt to negotiate their post-maternity leave return to work. If you had initially intended to take three months' leave, speak with your boss about returning part-time after two months or request to work remotely one or two days per week upon your return. This gives you a chance to ease back into work and your child a chance to adjust to spending time with others. Many companies may be flexible with their maternity leave policies, but women will only know if they ask.

Devise a daily schedule before returning to work ing even after they return to work will have to carve out time each day to pump. Pumping can be time-consuming, and working mothers should speak with their bosses to explain their desire to pump during the work-day. Employers cannot tell women they can't pump during the work-day, but many women unfairly feel pressured to spend as little time as possible pumping. Laying out a daily schedule that includes when you plan to pump during work hours and sharing it with your boss before you return to work may help reduce that pressure and, therefore, making the transition back to work easier.

Mothers who plan to continue

Lighten your load

Balancing work and family is a tall order for anyone, but especially for mothers who just gave birth. Delegate more at the office upon returning to work, and take that spirit of sharing home, too. Make sure cooking and cleaning duties are shared, and don't hesitate to order takeout more frequently until you adjust to being a working parent.

Planning ahead can help women successfully navigate their return to work after maternity leave.

THE MAN WHO EXPERIENCED BOTH ASPECTS OF "STONING"

AS SAUL OF TARSUS, HE HEARTILY APPROVED OF THE STONING TO DEATH OF STEPHEN, THE FIRST CHRISTIAN MARTYR, AND IN FACT STOOD GUARD OVER THE GARMENTS OF THE MEN WHO KILLED STEPHEN. LATER, AS PAUL, NOW ENGAGED IN SPREADING THE WORD OF CHRISTIANITY, HE WAS STONED HIMSELF BY AN INFURIATED MOB AT LYSTRA AND LEFT FOR DEAD ON THE OUTSKIRTS OF THE CITY, BUT

...UNLIKE STEPHEN, PAUL DID NOT DIE. HE AROSE FROM THE ROCKPILE, UNDAUNTED, TO CONTINUE HIS GREAT MISSIONARY WORK IN SPREADING THE GOOD NEWS OF JESUS TO THE GENTILES !

HOROSCOPES

ARIES
Mar 21/Apr 20
Aries, you have a unique perspective, and sometimes you appear uninterested in the opinions of others. But this week it is best to be humble and accept other thoughts.

TAURUS
Apr 21/May 21
Taurus, you routinely put caring for others ahead of caring for yourself. This compassion is commendable, but you can't offer help if you aren't in top form.

GEMINI
May 22/Jun 21
Gemini, let others bring up issues with you rather than prying. Your willingness to lend an ear is well-known, and others will come to you on their own.

CANCER
Jun 22/Jul 22
It may be tempting to slack off when supervisors are not looking, Cancer. However, a lack of discipline now may have a trickle-down effect in the future. Stay focused.

LEO
Jul 23/Aug 23
You may not be sure if you should pursue an opportunity that is before you, Leo. Consider your skills and talents and be honest with what you are capable of accomplishing.

VIRGO
Aug 24/Sept 22
Virgo, even though it can be risky to express your true feelings, especially when you go against popular opinion, don't shy away from being true to yourself.

LIBRA
Sept 23/Oct 23
Your head is pushing you in a practical direction, Libra. Yet your heart wants you to go a different way. Try to find a balance between both scenarios.

SCORPIO
Oct 24/Nov 22
Scorpio, others are ready and willing to offer advice if they sense you need it. While you can be open to suggestions, don't follow others' dreams if they aren't your own.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov 23/Dec 21
You may be conflicted about telling someone you need a little personal space, Sagittarius. But it's not good to suffer through situations that make you unhappy.

CAPRICORN
Dec 22/Jan 20
Capricorn, even though you cannot please everyone, you can do what is necessary to make yourself happy. Make this your primary goal this week.

AQUARIUS
Jan 21/Feb 18
Aquarius, people may misunderstand your intentions when you start a new project. You don't have to please everyone right now. The end result will be met with positive responses.

PISCES
Feb 19/Mar 20
Moving on from an emotional situation can be taxing, Pisces. But it may be necessary right now and could make you stronger in the long run.

Even Exchange by Donna Pettman

Each numbered row contains two clues and two 6-letter answers. The two answers differ from each other by only one letter, which has already been inserted. For example, if you exchange the A from MASTER for an I, you get MISTER. Do not change the order of the letters.

What Are Your Solutions For America?

DR. GLENN MOLLETTE
special to the Sentinel

How do we solve the mass shootings? Do we take away all the guns? Or, do we require that every American carry a gun and be prepared to shoot back? Do we eliminate the assault rifles? Or, do we have more security guards at malls, grocery stores and work places carry assault rifles? We have a crisis in America with gun violence and mass shootings. What will Joe Biden and Congress do about this problem? Will they even attempt a solution?

Mr. President and members of Congress, we need a solution.

How do solve the on-going COVID-19 crisis? Many have resumed life as though the problem is solved but in too many states people are still dying from the virus.

A great effort has been made to solve this world pandemic. The creation of vaccines that seem to be working and an all-out effort to protect people with mask and distancing has made for an unforgettable year.

But, what do we do now? It's not over. The virus and different strains of the virus are still very alive.

Common sense is critical. The world must go on. The government cannot spend the next year printing off stimulus money and paying people to stay home with nice unemployment checks. This mess is not over and we need a good game plan from our President and Congress.

The previous paragraph leads us to another crisis in this country. Businesses are trying to get back into business but the workers are few. Restaurant owners across the nation are crying because they can't find enough cooks and servers. Many of the former workers are collecting unemployment. They are collecting as much or more than they made showing up for work and thus we have a shortage of willing workers. Unemployment and the stimulus were a shot in the arm for the country but not one with lasting favorable results. Unemployment eventually ends and people must go back to work.

In the meantime, many businesses in America are facing a crisis of trying to come back to life with very little help. We need a get back to work plan from our President and Congress. Everybody cannot do their jobs at home.

The factory worker, the restaurant worker, the medical community, public workers, and much more have to be able to safely leave their homes and do their jobs.

America has been filled with tension and pain this year over the senseless killing of George Floyd.

We have viewed too many other senseless police shootings on national television.

We don't need racial tension in this country. Most of the people in this country are good people and we can't let these incidents destroy our American family.

However, we need a plan from Biden and Congress. What is your idea?

And then there is our crisis on the border. Our government needs to send a stronger message to those people south of the border. What will Congress do?

What would you do? Let your representatives and senators know.

Bipartisan Legislation For The Safe Transport Of Ag And Livestock Products

Representative John Rose (R-TN-6) and Representative Darren Soto (D-FL-9) introduced the Haulers of Agriculture and Livestock Safety (HAULS) Act, bipartisan legislation to provide much-needed flexibility to livestock and agriculture haulers. Specifically, this bill would help accommodate seasonal spikes in the transportation of agricultural products by modernizing the agricultural exemption to the hours-of-service rules.

"As an eighth-generation farmer in Middle Tennessee, I know how critical livestock and agriculture haulers are to keeping grocery stores' shelves stocked with produce and meat," said Representative Rose. "Even in the wake of COVID-19, our farmers and livestock producers have been working non-stop to keep food on the tables of Americans. However, federal regulations do not take into account the special challenges involved in moving certain products. Haulers are a critical component of the supply chain and I'm proud to introduce this legislation to provide them the flexibility they need to deliver food across the country safely and efficiently."

"The Central Florida economy would not survive without the hard work and dedication of our agriculture and livestock haulers," said Representative Darren Soto. "I am proud to be a part of this bipartisan effort that considers the unique challenges they face and provides necessary accommodations for them to deliver their products to millions of families in our community."

"Livestock haulers need more flexibility, and the HAULS Act represents a step in the right direction — an extension of a current ag exemption to the existing hours-of-service regulations that preserves animal welfare as well as safety on our roads, while also making sure producers can keep our grocery stores stocked with beef," said National Cattlemen's Beef Association President, Jerry Bohn. "NCBA thanks Rep. Rose for his work to protect the continuity of our beef supply chain and make sure federal regulations make sense for the producers and drivers on the ground."

Background:

The Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration's (FMCSA) hours-of-service (HOS) requirements limit the time a commercial motor vehicle driver may be on duty to 14 hours and driving to 11 hours. However, agriculture and livestock haulers face unique circumstances due to the perishability of their products. Although this group has received exemptions in the past, they still face many challenges. The HAULS Act updates the agriculture and livestock HOS exemptions to ensure haulers have the flexibility they need to deliver their perishable products.

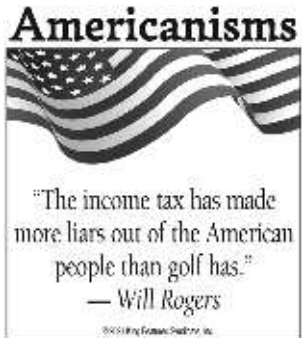

The HAULS Act would specifically:

Eliminates the requirement that ag and livestock HOS exemptions only apply during state designated planting and harvesting seasons; Amends and clarifies the definition of "agricultural commodities" based on feedback provided by agriculture and livestock organizations; Authorizes a 150 air-mile exemption from HOS requirements on the destination side of a haul for ag and livestock haulers.

Senator Deb Fischer (R-NB) has introduced this legislation in the Senate.

U.S. Representative John Rose is currently serving his second term representing Tennessee's Sixth Congressional District and resides in Cookeville with his wife, Chelsea, and their two sons, Guy and Sam. The Sixth District includes Cannon, Clay, Coffee, Cumberland, DeKalb, Fentress, Jackson, Macon, Overton, Pickett, Putnam, Robertson, Smith, Sumner, Trousdale, White, and Wilson counties as well as portions of Cheatham and Van Buren counties. Representative Rose is an eighth-generation farmer, small business owner, and attorney, and currently serves on the Financial Services Committee.

All Vets Now Eligible For COVID Vaccine

by Freddy Groves

With the SAVE Act (Strengthening and Amplifying Vaccination Efforts), the Department of Veterans Affairs is opening the doors to vaccinating all veterans, spouses and caregivers. This is a major step forward from the previous rules of only vaccinating certain groups of veterans and employees. The numbers of those now eligible has gone from 9 million to 33 million.

First on the list are veterans who use VA health care, veterans who never enrolled but use care and medical services in the first 12 months after separation and the caregivers for those veterans.

Under the new rules, the following will then be eligible to receive the vaccine:

Veterans who can't enroll in VA health care;

Veterans who are eligible for hospital care, medical services and nursing homes abroad in the Foreign Medical Program; Beneficiaries who are eligible for care due to a specific disability or death of a veteran;

Caregivers of veterans participating in the VA's Medical Foster Home Program, Bowel and Bladder Program, Home-Based Primary Care Program or Veteran Directed Care Program;

Spouses of veterans.

If you can't make it to the VA and can't find federal or state vaccination sites in your town, keep an eye out for VA-organized pop-up vaccine clinics. I recently went to an all-veterans pop-up clinic held in my town, one of eight rural locations that were opened in my state. It was impressive. The event had been widely announced on the news, on Facebook, in the newspapers. Somebody did a good job of spreading the word.

To sign up for the vaccine, whether you currently get care through VA or not, go here: www.va.gov/health-care/covid-19-vaccine. Scroll down to read how you'll be contacted when your group is eligible. You don't want to miss the phone call, email or text message. And keep an eye on your local facility's web page for updates.

TDEC Honors 10 State Parks

The Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation (TDEC) has recognized 10 of the 56 Tennessee State Parks with platinum level status for their performance in environmental sustainability in the state’s Go Green With Us program.

The honors came before the observance of Earth Day on Thursday, April 22.

“Tennessee State Parks lead by example in protecting and preserving our environment,” Jim Bryson, deputy commissioner of TDEC, said. “We believe that providing nationally recognized outdoor experiences goes hand in hand with protecting and preserving the resource, and the parks recognized today have gone above and beyond in those efforts.”

The 10 state parks achieving platinum level status are Bicentennial Capitol Mall; Burgess Falls; Cumberland Trail; Cummins Falls; Johnsonville; Nathan Bedford Forrest; Paris Landing; Radnor Lake; Rock Island; and Standing Stone.

The status levels in the program include platinum, gold, silver, and bronze. All 56 parks in the Tennessee State Parks system participate in the program, and 15 parks improved their levels of performance over the previous year.

Twenty-two gold level parks this year are Dunbar Cave; Fort Loudoun; Harpeth River; Harrison Bay; Henry Horton; Indian Mountain; Long Hunter; Meeman-Shelby Forest; Montgomery Bell; Norris Dam; Pickett; Pinson Mounds; Reelfoot Lake; Roan Mountain; Sgt. Alvin C. York; Seven Islands; South Cumberland; Sycamore Shoals; and Tims Ford.

Eligible sustainability practices are divided into nine categories including: education and outreach; energy efficiency; green offices; habitat and species protection; guest services; maintenance procedures; recycling and waste; transportation; and water conservation. The parks are divided into different categories based on amenities at each park.

Go Green With Us is a partnership between Tennessee State Parks staff and visitors to become better stewards of natural and financial resources through common-sense sustainability practices into park management and operations.

The platinum parks’ Go Green With Us achievements this year included:

Bicentennial Capitol Mall State Park

The park installed lights on timers in public bathrooms; created a Monarch Waystation, which supports Monarch butterflies; installed recycled rubber speedbumps; installed new planters with native species; installed a new efficient timed irrigation system; composted wood chips and grass clippings; and participated in the Tennessee State Parks Honey Project, which installs honey bee hives.

Burgess Falls State Park

Maintained a large, native butterfly garden; built bluebird houses in partnership with its Friends group and hung the houses at local schools; installed LED lights; employed a solar powered traffic counter; composted at the park office; hung bat houses, wood duck boxes, and bluebird boxes at the park; and used rain barrels.

Cumberland Trail State Park

Held an outdoor classroom project with the Campbell Culture Coalition; established a Partnership Garden with Indian Mountain State Park and the Campbell Culture Coalition; added a pollinator garden; saved shredded paper for a worm program; participated in the Tennessee State Parks Honey Project; composted at the park office; and used a water catchment system to irrigate plants.

Cummins Falls State Park

Maintained rain gardens in conjunction with Friends of Cummins Falls and park neighbors; installed solar lights at restrooms; participated in the Tennessee State Parks Honey Project; promoted native bees with solitary bee boxes; and maintained native plant gardens at the visitor center.

Johnsonville State Park

Hosted a cleanup with Keep the Tennessee River Beautiful; had multiple repurposed or upcycled craft workshops presented during Virtual Jr. Ranger Camp; installed a solar powered gate at the maintenance shop entrance; had a water bottle filling station; reduced mowing with a grove of American chestnuts; and repurposed old event signs for COVID-19 signs.

Nathan Bedford Forrest State Park

Worked with a certified energy manager to reduce energy costs and use; maintained habitat boxes for bats, owls, wood ducks, other birds and snakes; participated in the Tennessee State Parks Honey Project; reused materials to eliminate trash and waste products as well as upcycling; participated in TVA water quality training; and replaced mowed areas with native grass fields.

Paris Landing State Park

Restored 25 acres of grassland; partnered with the Southeastern Grasslands Initiative; installed window film at the office to improve energy efficiency; maintained a pollinator garden; had a TCA Clean Marina certification; had an Audubon Cooperative Sanctuary certification at the golf course; composted food waste on the site; maintained habitat boxes for songbirds, wood ducks, and osprey; participated in the Tennessee State Parks Honey Project.

Radnor Lake State Park

Used recycled and repurposed building materials throughout the park for structures such as the Lake Trail Observation Deck and the aviary viewing decks; hosted multiple cleanups year-round to remove litter and debris from waterways and natural areas; accepted over 700 Christmas trees from surrounding communities to be recycled into mulch used on park trails; upgraded to energy-efficient LED lighting throughout the park; and recycled over 9,000 pounds of mixed materials.

Rock Island State Park

Park has solar lights illuminating signage; maintained pollinator gardens; composted at the park office; maintains large-scale pollinator habitat and meadow in powerline corridor; offered multiple volunteer days for sorting recycling and discussed the importance of recycling; and has a water bottle filling station.

Standing Stone State Park

Installed solar lighting for walkway/landscape; replaced most bulbs with LED lighting; maintained a native plant garden; composted on site; eco-friendly toys for children and pets offered in gift shop; participated in the Tennessee State Parks Honey Project; and the wastewater plant reduced the number of UV lamps with the same quality effluent.

Home Country — Slim Randles

Like a doctor removing something important, Herb Collins gently peeled the wrapper back from the root ball and tenderly placed the baby tree in the hole. Then he stood and walked around it to see which way he should align it. Actually, looks pretty good just the way it is.

So he took his bucket of mixed sand and compost and began sprinkling it down onto the roots and then packing it in gently with his fist.

Every few minutes he’d stop and read the directions again. When he ordered the tree, the nurseryman had written back “Are you sure?” Well, that made ol’ Herb laugh. Yes, he was sure. He’s always sure this time of year.

He was still chuckling to himself when Janice Thomas walked along the sidewalk.

“Hi Herb,” said the high school art teacher. “What is it this year?”

“Papaya, Janice. Nice healthy one, don’t you think?”

Janice took a close look at the little dark green tree.

Papaya. “Isn’t that a tropical tree?”

“Sure is,” he said, tucking more dirt around the roots. “I have to read the instructions carefully to get this right.”

“Sure do. Wouldn’t it be nice if this lives long enough to produce fruit?”

“But you’re not expecting ...”

“Of course not. The first nippy day in autumn will turn this little guy belly up.”

He looked up and smiled at Janice’s consternation.

“You know that banana tree almost made it to Christmas last year. That was my best so far. We’ll see how this little guy makes out.”

Each year Herb plants something in the front yard that has no chance at all of being there the following spring. He’s done it for years. It gives the neighborhood something to look at and talk about, and it’s fun.

“You know, Herb, if you’re looking for fruit, a cherry tree will produce ...”

“I’m not looking for fruit, Janice,” he said, gently. “I’m looking for glory. Glory!”

Helaughed. “Where’s the glory in planting something that will grow here? Anyone can do that. But a papaya? Ha! There’s glory in that.”
