Potential New Ordinance Discussed

ADAM PARKS
Staff Writer

The Gainesboro Board of Alderman met in regular fashion on Thursday night and discussed the possibility of a property ordinance to enforce the de-cluttering of a local storefront.

City Attorney Kayla Cantrell announced that she is working on drafting a city ordinance that would help limit the amount of clutter allowed in front of local businesses.

The ordinance is targeting a local thrift store that, according to Cantrell, has been asked multiple times by the city to fix the problem, with no results.

Since there is no current ordinance in place to help enforce the city's request, Cantrell said she is working with the Municipal Technical Advisory Service to help draft one.

"I'm thinking something to the effect of 'you can't have more than five items of second-hand merchandise', or 10 items.... It needs to be specific enough to be enforced," Cantrell said.

In old business, Ricky Head announced that he had spoken with the County Mayor Randy Heady concerning city trash pickup.

"I did get with Randy Heady about... if we started picking up trash and us taking it to the county dump sites. He said he didn't see that there would be an issue with it, but he wanted me to meet with the solid waste committee and ask them because he said he didn't want to go over their heads," Head said.

Head went on to say that the project is still in the works, but he hopes that progress will be made on the issue by next month's meeting.

Following that discussion, town clerk Lisa Dodson introduced a project that would refurbish the awnings on the city's municipal building.

Dodson introduced the two companies who currently had bids out to do the project. Tennessee Awning made a bid to replace the old awnings with all new ones for a price tag of $6,150.

The other bid was by Nashville Tent and Awning to refurbish the awnings that are already in place.

"We have three existing awnings, we have one over the back door, one over the police department and one over City Hall," Dodson said. "To redo those three, that means we have to take those three down and for them to re-vinyl those is $1,775."

Head and Agee both voted to go with the refurbished, cheaper option through Nashville Tent and Awning.

Another item on the agenda was the vote for approval on changing the cities streetlights to LED lights. Dodson informed the board that the project wouldn't cost the city anything to make the switch to LED's and that the monthly bill for the lights would go down each month. All were for.

"It's cheaper to run LED lights than it is the lights that we're currently using," Dodson said.

With no further business to discuss, the meeting adjourned.

The board will meet again on Jan. 7 at 7 p.m.

Alderman Wayne Strong was absent from the meeting.

How To Host Virtual Holiday Celebrations

The 2020 holiday season figures to be vastly different than seasons past. The novel coronavirus COVID-19 has transformed daily life in many ways. The public has become accustomed to wearing masks while shopping, limiting the number of people in public venues and keeping their distance from friends and loved ones. Many events have been reimagined as virtual celebrations because of social distancing protocols. For those with large families or people with inherent risk factors that make them more susceptible to illness, sharing the holidays over video conferencing apps may be the safest way to go in 2020.

The following tips can help holiday hosts make the most of a virtual holiday experience.

Pick A Bright, Festive Spot

Set up your tablet, smartphone or computer in a bright area with a festive backdrop. You'll want others who join the virtual hangout to be able to see you clearly. A Christmas tree or a decorated fireplace in the background can set the scene.

Choose The Right Conferencing App

Certain programs may work better than others depending on your needs. For example, if everyone has the same operating system platform (iOS or Android), you may be able to use an app inherent to that system, which won't require a separate download or login.

Apps also may be chosen depending on how many people can be invited in, as some set limits. Do your homework and conduct a test run prior to the holidays.

Keep Props Nearby

If the goal is to open gifts virtually, be sure to have everyone gathered and gifts nearby so no one is scrambling in and out of view.

Position The Camera At Eye Level

Try to set up the camera so you're not looking up or down. Practice looking straight into the camera instead of at yourself in the minimized window or even others on the screen. This way you'll appear engaged.

Use Mute When Not Speaking

Muting yourself (and encouraging others to do the same) when you are not speaking will limit the amount of background noise. As the host, serve as the moderator and encourage everyone to speak one at a time. Choose a visual cue to signal when someone has the floor to speak, such as raising a hand or even showing a festive picture.

Tune Into Virtual Worship

While some places of worship have reopened to some capacity, others may still be offering hybrid services. If your place of worship offers services via YouTube or another video platform, gather around and watch together and participate just as if you were there in person. Better yet, share the link with other family and friends so they can tune in as well.

Share Dinner

'Together'

Set up your camera source so it captures the holiday table. All parties gathering virtually can then sit down to the holiday meal as one and enjoy one of the season's more endearing traditions. Virtual celebrations may continue through the holiday season. Adapting with some video conferencing tips can ensure everyone enjoys the festivities.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI
Copyright© John A. Lehti, Distributor Linage-Plus, Middletown, NY NATIONAL REPRESENTATIVE: Dail Advertising Service, P.O. Box 10278, Goldsboro, NC 27532
PONTIUS PILATE, THE MAN WHO COULD HAVE SAVED JESUS' LIFE!

PILATE, ROMAN PROCURATOR OF JUDEA FOR TEN YEARS (A.D. 26-36), WAS AN UNFIT RULER, NEVER ABLE TO UNDERSTAND THE RELIGIOUS PRINCIPLES OR THE NATIONAL PRIDE OF THE JEWS OVER WHOM HE HELD SUPREME POWER. FROM THE VERY INCEPTION OF HIS GOVERNORSHIP, HE MADE MISTAKE AFTER MISTAKE, ROUSING THE IRE OF THE PEOPLE EACH TIME! WHEN HE WAS ASKED TO CONDEMN JESUS, HE WAS ALSO WARNED THAT IF HE DIDN'T, COMPLAINTS WOULD BE SENT TO ROME! AFRAID FOR HIS OWN POLITICAL SAFETY, PILATE WEAKLY COMPLIED, ALTHOUGH HE STATED PUBLICLY HE THOUGHT JESUS WAS A MAN UNJUSTLY ACCUSED!

AS A YOUNG MAN, PONTIUS PILATE, OF HIGH EQUESTRIAN BIRTH, SERVED HIS TIME, AS ALL YOUNG NOBLES, IN THE ROMAN CAVALRY UNTIL HE WAS IN LINE FOR A LUCRATIVE POSITION. ON RECEIVING HIS GOVERNORSHIP, HE COULD HARDLY HAVE REALIZED HE WAS EMBARKED UPON A ROAD OF MISMANAGED AFFAIRS, A RECALL TO ROME IN GREAT DISGRACE, AND EXILE TO GAUL WHERE HE WOULD FINALLY COMMIT SUICIDE!

NEXT WEEK: IF YOU WANT TO EAT BREAD, FIRST YOU MUST MAKE IT!

Blast From The Past

Blast From The Past – Pictured is the Old Gainesboro High School circa 1920.

Plant Of The Month Named

MARY LEWNES ALBRECHT
UT Department Of Plant Sciences

The popular Christmas cactus is native to South American tropical rain forests and is quite different from desert cacti. Christmas cacti (and related Thanksgiving and Easter cacti) grow in rock crevices and on tree trunks and branches. Leaf litter and other organic matter accumulate in these spaces providing the growing media. This environment also has filtered sunlight and high humidity.

All these cacti are related and named for Belgian horticulturist, Frederick Schlumberger. Thanksgiving cactus (Schlumbergera truncata), Christmas cactus (Schlumbergera bridgesii, synonym Schlumbergera x buckleyi), and Easter cactus (Schlumbergera gaertneri, synonym Rhipsalidopsis gaertneri) and hybrids of these species are collectively called Holiday Cactus. Flower colors include red, pink, purple, orange and cream. The stems are segmented, flattened to round in cross-section, and feature weak or no spines. The stems gracefully arch making them excellent for hanging baskets.

An easy way to distinguish among the three species is the shape of the segments or cladophylls (translated to “flattened stems”). Thanksgiving cactus has the sharpest teeth or claws along the edges with the Easter cactus having rounded edges. The Christmas cactus segments have smaller teeth but are not nearly so rounded. There are no true leaves on these plants. The pollen-bearing anthers on the Thanksgiving cactus are yellow, whereas the anthers on the Christmas cactus are purplish brown.

Christmas cactus thrives in a well-drained mix rich in organic material. Don’t use the sand-based mixes intended for desert cacti. Use a combination of a peat-based houseplant mix blended in equal parts with a bark-based orchid mix. Pine bark fines, or pine bark soil conditioner may also be used in lieu of the orchid mix. This will provide good water retention and great drainage at the same time. Make sure the pot has drainage hole(s), then water thoroughly allowing excess water to drain thoroughly, before returning the pot to its saucer or outer decorative container. During the active growing season of spring through summer, keep the mix evenly moist. To set flower buds in the fall, allow it to go quite dry between watering.

When new growth starts from the branch tips in late winter or early spring, fertilize through summer following the directions for rate and frequency given on the fertilizer package. Over-fertilization can damage your Christmas cactus’ fine, scant root system.

Give your Christmas cactus bright but indirect or filtered light during summer. Keeping it on the north side of the house under the shade of trees works, as does a screened in porch. Too much direct light can damage the plant.

To encourage flower bud formation in late summer, slowly decrease the amount of water, letting the mix dry out between watering. Flower formation occurs under the shortening days and the cooler nights of autumn. If you keep the Christmas cactus outdoors, it can handle night temperatures down into the 40s. Don’t let it stay outdoors if night temperatures begin to dip below 40 degrees F. If it remains indoors year-round, find a space where gets cool (between 55 and 65 degrees F) and where it can be in total darkness for approximately 13 hours every night. The cooler the nights, the less dependence on the strict 13 hours of darkness. If the night temperatures are above 70 degrees F, 15 hours of darkness is recommended.

Flowers drop off Christmas cactus for many reasons: excessive flower set (too many buds), sudden changes in temperature (drafts from heating vents), amount of light, or moisture level in the growing mix (too dry or too wet). To reduce the chances of bud drop, make sure you water properly, especially during blooming. The numerous petals increase the surface area from which water will evaporate. If possible, do not move your Christmas cactus to another location when buds are present or flowers are open.

Don’t worry if the plant gets “too big for its pot.” They can remain in the same pot for several years and grow well when pot bound. And, when it is time to move into a larger pot, prune back the plant and repot into a slightly larger container (for example, go from a 6-inch to an 8-inch pot).

The major disease is root rot, which can be prevented by avoiding excessive watering. Potential insect problems include mealybugs, soft brown scale, red spider mites and aphids; however, these are uncommon.

The UT Gardens includes plant collections located in Knoxville, Crossville and Jackson. Designated as the official botanical garden for the State of Tennessee, the collections are part of the UT Institute of Agriculture. The Gardens’ mission is to foster appreciation, education and stewardship of plants through garden displays, educational programs and research trials. The Gardens are open during all seasons and free to the public. For more information, see the Gardens website: utia.tennessee.edu/state-botanical-garden.

Blue Devils Drop Both Against The Purple Dragons

staff writer

The Blue Devils basketball teams of Jackson County High School traveled to face Watertown, last Monday. The Lady Blue Devils lost to the Lady Purple Tigers 63-25.

Scoring for the girls against Watertown were: Ericka Davidson with five, Nikki Ragland with two, Lilly Chaffin with five, Emma Chaffin with three, Emma Crockett with six and Rachel Harris with four.

“We played ok the first half. We missed a lot of shots early and made a few miscues defensively. The girls played well to start the game in the 1st quarter. We just couldn’t seem to get any shots to fall for us after that but the girls’ effort was spectacular,” Coach Kevin Thomas said.

The JCHS Blue Devils also lost to the Purple Tigers 68-56.

Scoring for the boys against Watertown were: Jordan Arroyo with 18, Ramon Cuevas with 28, Eli Burris with 10 and Kendrick Brown with two.

“We played a good 1st half but we just didn’t do the things we needed to do to finish the game. Again tonight turnovers really hurt us along with missed opportunities at the rim with missed layups. A positive is our defense was better tonight,” Coach Kevin Thomas said.

The Blue Devils will take the court again Friday, Dec. 11 at Gordonsville at 6:00 p.m. and Saturday, Dec. 12 against Trousdale County at 5:00 p.m.

The Basics About Sprains

Athletes and fitness enthusiasts often must contend with injuries. Proper technique and safety protocols can greatly reduce a person’s risk for injury while competing or exercising, but no one can completely eliminate their risk of being injured while engaging in physical activity.

Many an athlete has experienced a sprain at one point or another. In fact, the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons notes that sprains are among the most common soft-tissue injuries. Because of that, it can benefit athletes to learn about sprains so they’re better prepared to confront one should they get hurt while competing or training.

What is a sprain?

According to the National Institute of Arthritis and Musculoskeletal and Skin Diseases, a sprain is an injury to a ligament, the tissue that connects two or more bones at a joint. When athletes suffer a sprain, one or more of their ligaments are stretched or torn.

What’s the difference between a sprain and a strain?

It’s easy to mistake sprains with strains, or assume both injuries are the same. But unlike sprains, which affect the ligaments, strains are injuries to muscles or tendons. Tendons are the fibrous cords of tissue that connect muscle to bone. When a person has a muscle strain, a muscle or tendon is stretched or torn.

Which areas of the body are vulnerable to sprains?

The AAOS notes that the ankles, knees and wrists are most vulnerable to sprains. Many basketball players have experienced sprained ankles, which occur when the foot turns inward, placing extreme tension on the ligaments of the outer ankle. Sudden twists can result in a sprained knee, while sprained wrists are often the result of falling onto an outstretched hand.

Are there different types of sprains?

Not all sprains are the same, and the AAOS notes some may be mild while others more severe. The three categories of sprain are:

Grade 1: Considered a mild sprain, a grade 1 sprain is marked by slight stretching and some damage to the fibers of the ligament.

Grade 2: A grade 2 sprain causes partial tearing of the ligament and is marked by abnormal looseness in the joint when it moves in certain ways.

Grade 3: Significant instability can result from a grade 3 sprain, which is characterized by a complete tear of the ligament.

No matter which type of sprain a person suffers, he or she is likely to experience pain, bruising, swelling, and inflammation. The intensity of these symptoms is linked to the grade of the sprain.

Sprains are an unfortunate side effect of physical activity. Learning to recognize sprains can help athletes better understand their bodies should they suffer an injury.

How To Prevent Eye Injuries

Basketball is a popular sport played in high schools and colleges each winter. The High School Athletics Participation Survey from the National Federation of State High School Associations points out that basketball is the most widely played sport on high school campuses.

And basketball thrives off campus as well. The sports information site Sports Rec says that more than 300 million people worldwide enjoy basketball.

Like all sports, basketball can pose certain safety risks. According to Prevent Blindness America, more eye injuries occur while playing basketball than any other sport. An estimated 4,597 basketball-related eye injuries occurred in 2019, with the vast majority affecting players ages 15 and older. Eye injuries on the basketball court usually result from being hit with fingers or elbows. Adequate eye protection can safeguard athletes from such injuries.

Sports safety goggles and glasses can protect the eyes when scrambling for loose balls or when fighting for a rebound in the paint.

Basketball players should receive guidance about eye protection from their coaches and athletic directors. Athletes also can speak to an eye professional about which options are available.

More information about sports eye health is available at www.prevent-blindness.org.

Funding Available For Innovative Partner-Driven Projects

The United States Department of Agriculture Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) is offering funding for innovative partner-driven projects to improve water quality, wildlife habitat and soil health in two Regional Conservation Partnership Program (RCPP) areas in Tennessee.

To be considered for program funding, applicants must operate land within the focus area of the respective RCPP project. The deadline to submit applications for fiscal year (FY) 2021 funding is Jan. 15, 2021.

“The Regional Conservation Partnership Program draws on local knowledge and networks to fuel conservation projects, bringing together a wide variety of new partners including businesses, universities, non-profits, and local governments,” said Sheldon Hightower, Tennessee NRCS State Conservationist.

At this time, NRCS staff are working with customers through phone, mail and online communications, and field work continues with appropriate social distancing to help producers with conservation planning and financial assistance through Farm Bill programs.

“While we are taking the necessary precautionary measures to help prevent the spread of coronavirus, we will continue to provide one-on-one, customer-specific service to producers to help them meet their conservation and business goals,” said Hightower.

Funding is available through the NRCS Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP), Conservation Stewardship Program (CSP), and the Agricultural Conservation Easement Program-Wetland Reserve Easement (ACEP-WRE), under the RCPP Farm Bill program.

Funded FY 2021 RCPP projects include: Advanced Precision Agriculture for Sustainable Conservation

Tennessee NRCS will invest approximately $924,000 to fund a Critical Conservation Area in the Mississippi River Basin. Nutrient will spearhead this project that encompasses the Cumberland River basin in Tennessee and Kentucky, which spans nearly 18,000 square miles and is home to nearly 2.5 million people. This project will occur in the Red River and Lower Cumberland watersheds, two of the 14 watersheds that make up the Cumberland River Watershed.

The partners will work with producers to improve water quality by maximizing fertilizer uptake, preventing sediment and nutrient losses, using science-based precision agricultural practices, and implementing high nutrient reducing structural practices. The goal is to advance the implementation of on-farm precision agriculture practice to help ensure the sustainability, resilience, and continued productivity of the area’s working lands while simultaneously improving the producer’s bottom line.

Reversing Declines in Grassland Biodiversity

NRCS will invest nearly $2.4 million in Tennessee to assist the American Bird Conservancy and its partners with a multifaceted conservation program that will complement existing efforts to reverse the decline of grassland habitats in the Southeast U.S., especially near protected landscapes.

The project seeks to recover populations of grassland bird species deemed in need of conservation attention by Partners in Flight, as well as the native biodiversity associated with the historic grassland landscapes of the Interior Low Plateaus ecoregion of Tennessee and Kentucky. Conservation efforts will include removal of woody cover and prescribed fire, re-conversion of cropland or fescue pastures to native grasses, increasing forb-to-grass ratios, changing grazing intensities, and altering hay-ing regimes.
