Funds Will Help Renters In 91 Counties

On, March 1, the Tennessee Housing Development Agency opened an online portal that allows renters and landlords to apply for up to 12 months of cumulative rent and/or utility payments through its new COVID-19 Rent Relief Program.

The COVID-19 Rent Relief Program was developed to support renters who are, or have been, struggling to pay rent, utilities or other home energy costs due to loss of income resulting from the coronavirus pandemic.

"The pandemic has had a tremendous impact on the livelihoods of countless Tennesseans," THDA Executive Director Ralph M. Perrey said. "This program is designed to help people stay in their homes by covering eligible rent and/or utility costs they are unable to pay due to the challenges presented by COVID-19."

THDA will administer this program in 91 of Tennessee's 95 counties. Renters in those counties who have experienced economic hardship as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic and earn less than 80 percent of the area median income may be eligible for this assistance. For example, in Jackson County, a four-person household making less than $43,850 annually could qualify for this funding. More details on eligibility are available online or individuals can call (844) 500-1112.

To start the application process, a landlord or tenant should access the online portal or call the COVID-19 Rent Relief Call Center at (844) 500-1112. Both landlords and tenants will be required to provide verification and documentation as proof of eligibility. Once approved, payments will be made directly to the landlord or utility company on behalf of the tenant. Individuals can monitor the status of their application and payment through the online portal.

THDA received $384 million in direct funding from the U.S. Treasury to administer the emergency rent relief program in 91 of Tennessee's 95 counties. Davidson, Knox, Rutherford and Shelby counties will administer their own rent relief programs. THDA will begin serving applicants under the COVID-19 Rent Relief program on March 1 and will continue until all funds have been reserved or expended.

For more information on the THDA COVID-19 rent relief program, or to apply for assistance, visit thda.org/covidrentrelief or call (844) 500-1112.

Traffic Stop Leads To Multiple Charges

On Feb. 23 School Resource Deputy Shane Stanton observed Nikolas Ford in a school zone with two unrestrained children. Deputy Stanton conducted a traffic stop and found Ford to be the driver of the vehicle. Deputy Stanton also found Ford to be driving on a revoked drivers license.

Nikolas Ford

rested for driving on a revoked license and transported to the Jackson County Jail where he was found to have methamphetamine hidden on his person.

Ford was charged with possession of methamphetamine, possession of drugs in a school zone, introduction of contraband into a penal facility, two counts of child restraint violation, driving on revoked drivers license and violation of registration law.

Facebook Post Leads to Arrest

On April 12, 2020 Deputy Joey Roden took a stolen truck report from Old Gainesboro Utility District. Captain Dennis Thrasher interviewed residents in the neighborhood where the vehicle had been stolen and obtained a physical description of a suspicious person seen in the area around the time the vehicle was stolen. The vehicle was entered into the National Database, which led to it being recovered after being abandoned at a market in Crossville, Tenn.

Captain Thrasher received assistance from the Crossville Police Detective Division who took the physical description obtained in the neighborhood and matched it to video of a possible suspect in the market around the time the vehicle was abandoned. Captain Thrasher did receive a positive identification from a couple of residents who identified the person on camera as the individual seen in the neighborhood around the time the truck was stolen.

Captain Thrasher then posted the video footage on Facebook in an appeal to the public for assistance in identification. Within a couple of days, a person remaining confidential contacted Captain Thrasher and provided a possible name of David Henry.

Captain Thrasher continued his investigation and eventually charged David Henry with motor vehicle theft. During the course of the investigation Jackson County was assisted by Tennessee Highway Patrol Special Investigations, Crossville Police, Monterey Police, Overton County Sheriff's Office and US Federal Marshals Service.

David Henry was arrested after being stopped on unrelated charges in Cookeville, Tenn. On Feb. 26 he pled guilty to theft charges.

UT Gardens' March 2021 Plant of the Month

ALEXANDRIA DAVIDSON
Horticulturist and plant collections curator with the UT Gardens, Knoxville

Trillium, sometimes known by common names including wake robin or trinity flower, is a genus comprised of 49 species, with 39 of them being native to North America. In their native habitat trillium grow best in partly shaded, deciduous woodland areas. In early spring these ephemeral beauties begin to emerge and cover forest floors where they have colonized. One of their common names, trinity flower, can help with identification as it refers to the arrangement of the plant's parts – leaves and flower petals – that occur in multiples of three.

Trillium are typically divided into two groups: pedicellate, where the flower is raised on a pedicel slightly above the foliage; and sessile, in which there is no pedicel and the flower sits directly above the foliage. Depending on the species, trillium begin to bloom in early to late spring with a wide range of flower colors including white, yellow and various shades of red.
While they can be easily found in woodland areas in spring and early summer months, they are threatened in their natural habitats due to human interference. Although they may seem plentiful in the wild, do not be tempted to remove one as several species are listed as threatened or endangered, making it illegal to remove trillium from their native habitat. Though availability may initially appear limited, seek out nurseries that specialize in native plants and responsibly propagate their plants instead of removing them from the wild, or find a reputable online source for choice selections. Popular selections available include T. luteum and T. recurvatum 'Arcadia'.

Trillium are extremely low maintenance, long lived plants that can live up to 50 years, making them desirable for avid gardeners. To grow trillium in your own garden, they should be planted in a partly shaded area with moist but well drained soil that also has a high organic matter content. If planting in heavy clay soil, amending the soil with peat moss and compost should help in achieving better growing conditions.

At the UT Gardens,

Jackson, you can find T. cuneatum growing in the gazebo garden. At the UT Gardens, Knoxville, several species of trillium are featured in the Tranquility – The Cornelia B. Holland Hosta Garden including T. lancifolium, T. cuneatum, T. stamineum, and T. catesbaei. One of our newest acquisitions happens to also be the newest species of trillium discovered and named by UT's own Edward Schilling of the Department of Ecology and Evolutionary Biology that is appropriately named Trillium tennesseense!

The UT Gardens includes plant collections located in Knoxville, Crossville and Jackson. Designated as the official botanical garden for the State of Tennessee, the collections are part of the UT Institute of Agriculture. The Gardens' mission is to foster appreciation, education and stewardship of plants through garden displays, educational programs and research trials. The Gardens are open during all seasons and free to the public. For more information, see the Gardens website: utia.tennessee.edu/state-botanical-garden.

Tennessee Celebrates Weights And Measures Week

The Tennessee Department of Agriculture (TDA) celebrated Weights and Measures week, last week, March 1-7. The week focuses on the importance of accurate weights and measures in commerce for consumers and for businesses.

"Our inspectors work to protect consumers at the fuel pump, at the grocery store, and at other locations such as the airport where scales are used to determine luggage weight," Commissioner Charlie Hatcher, D.V.M. said. "Inspectors follow nationally adopted best practices and adhere to the highest standards. TDA certifies any scales that are used for commercial businesses to keep the marketplace fair and honest."

In addition to testing gas pumps and grocery store scales, weights and measures officials are responsible for UPC price verification scanner inspections, and checking signage, advertisements, and price calculations at retailers.

As part of the Consumer and Industry Services Division, the Weights and Measures Section includes the Johnson Metrology Laboratory that maintains and houses the primary standards of mass, volume, and length for the State of Tennessee. The lab offers calibration services using the most current equipment and testing capabilities.

Each fiscal year, Weights and Measures inspectors verify that the fuel being sold to drivers meets quality standards. From July 1, 2019 to June 30, 2020, Tennessee conducted 6,034 pump inspections on approximately 94,000 fuel pumps; 4,869 scale inspections on approximately 18,695 small to large capacity scales; 4,299 fuel tank inspections against contamination; and collected 7,460 fuel samples from 205,668,497 gallons of fuel being offered for sale.

Weights and Measures Week is celebrated each year to commemorate John Adams signing the first U.S. weights and measures law on March 2, 1799. Tennessee is a member of the National Conference on Weights and Measures. NCWM has developed national weights and measures standards since 1905.

Burn Permits Required Through May 15

With the snow and ice behind us, warmer weather is springing up across the state. That's a sign it's time for yard and farm clean-up. With debris burning a useful tool to get rid of yard waste, the Tennessee Department of Agriculture's Division of Forestry is reminding citizens that if they plan to burn outdoors, a burn permit is required through May 15 in most counties. "Debris burning can be a good tool for residents to clean up their yards, farms, and rural properties of vegetative waste," State Forester David Arnold said. "We encourage all residents to use caution while conducting a burn. Free burn permits can quickly be obtained online any day, and are our way of communicating with landowners when, where, and how to burn safely."

Materials that can be burned include leaves, branches, tree limbs, twigs, and other woody vegetation and yard trimmings gathered on site. Debris Burn Permits for leaf and brush piles of any size are available online at no charge. For broadcast burning, such as forestry, agricultural, and land clearing, call your local Division of Forestry burn permit phone number Monday through Friday 8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. The online system for permits and phone numbers can be found at www.BurnSafeTN.org. Permits are issued only when conditions are conducive to safe burning. If you live inside city limits, there may be additional restrictions. Check with your municipality before you burn. A list of materials that may not be burned can be found in the open burning guidelines from the Tennessee Department of Environment and Conservation at www.tn.gov/environment/program-areas/apc-air-pollution-control-home/apc/open-burning.html. Burning without a permit is a serious offense that can result in a fine and/or up to 30 days in jail. To report illegal burning, please call 1-888-891-TDEC. If you have information about an intentionally-set fire, call the Tennessee Arson Hotline number at 1-800-762-3017. The hotline is answered 24-hours a day, and you may remain anonymous when providing information. You could earn a cash reward from the Tennessee Advisory Committee on Arson and the Tennessee State Fire Marshal's Office. Visit [\[SafeTN.org\]\(http://SafeTN.org\) for additional tips to burn safely and to protect your community. The Division of Forestry protects Tennessee's forests by fighting wildfires, coordinating hazard emergency response, providing prescribed fire guidance and contract services, as well as wildland fire training. Additionally, the Division promotes the responsible use of forest resources by assisting landowners, providing quality seedlings, monitoring insects and diseases, improving urban forests, managing state forests, protecting water quality, and collecting forest inventory data. The Division also works to promote primary and secondary forest industries to stimulate the state's economy. ## The Differences Between Two Recipes

The terms shepherd's pie and cottage pie are sometimes used interchangeably to describe layered dishes featuring a meat-and-vegetable base topped with potatoes. Shepherd's pie and cottage pie are widely enjoyed across Great Britain and Ireland. While very similar, they are not the same. Cottage pie is the elder of the two recipes, believed to date back to 1791 in England. Shepherd's pie came about nearly a century later and can be traced to Ireland, indicates British Grub Hub. Both creations are now enjoyed around the world, as these pies are savory comfort foods. There is a distinct difference between the two recipes, and that comes down to the meat. Cottage pie uses minced beef while shepherd's pie uses minced lamb or mutton. Another distinction between the two is that it was believed earlier incarnations of cottage pie did not use mashed potatoes on the top, while shepherd's pie has always included mashed potatoes. Sliced potatoes were originally layered on a cottage pie to make the dish look like the shingled roof of a cottage. Despite the names, both pies are not even pies at all. They do not contain any form of pastry dough like a pot pie would offer. Should either of the recipes be finished with a dusting of breadcrumbs on the potatoes, shepherd's pie or cottage pie have then been transformed into Cumberland pie - another variation.

The filling of these recipes is bulked up by various vegetables one may have on hand to make them more hearty. Peas and carrots are commonly included. Shepherd's pie and cottage pie are the stars of Irish and British country cooking. Enjoy this recipe for "Cottage Pie," courtesy of Martha Stewart. To turn it into a "Shepherd's Pie," simply replace the ground beef with ground lamb. Cottage Pie Serves 6 3 tablespoons unsalted butter, melted 1 large yellow onion, diced medium 2 large carrots, cut into 3/4-inch pieces Coarse salt and ground pepper 2 tablespoons tomato paste 1 pound ground beef (or lamb) 2 teaspoons fresh thyme leaves 1 cup dark (porter) beer 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour 3/4 cup frozen peas 1 large russet potato (3/4 pound), very thinly sliced Preheat oven to 400 F. In a large skillet, heat 1 tablespoon butter over medium-high. Add onion and carrots and cook, stirring often, until onion is soft, 5 minutes. Season with salt and pepper and stir in tomato paste. Add meat and cook, breaking up with a wooden spoon, until almost cooked through, 3 minutes. Add thyme and beer and bring to a boil. Cook, stirring frequently, until slightly reduced, 2 minutes. Sprinkle flour over mixture and stir to combine. Add 1 cup water and cook until mixture thickens, about 2 minutes. Stir in peas and season with salt and pepper. Transfer mixture to a 2-quart baking dish. Top with potatoes, overlapping slices. Season potatoes with salt and pepper and drizzle with 2 tablespoons butter. Bake until potatoes are browned around edges and tender when pierced with a knife, 40 to 45 minutes. Let cool 10 minutes before serving.

Simple Ways To Thank Local Nurses

Nurses have long been unsung heroes of the medical community. But that tide began to turn in 2020 as the world confronted the COVID-19 pandemic and realized just how invaluable nurses are to public health.

According to the American Nurses Association, nearly 400 nurses in the United States died as a result of COVID-19 within eight months of a pandemic being declared in America. Globally, data from the International Council of Nurses indicated that roughly 1,500 nurses lost their lives to COVID-19 by the end of October 2020.

That data is sobering and serves as a reminder that nurses put their lives on the line each day they go to work. Such sacrifices are worthy of widespread support, and there are many ways ordinary citizens can thank nurses working in their communities.

Support Efforts To Protect Nurses

Despite widespread recognition of how vital they are to public health, nurses still may not have unbridled access to personal protective equipment (PPE). An ANA survey of nurses working in various health care settings conducted in fall 2020 found that 42 percent of nurses indicated they were still experiencing widespread or intermittent PPE shortages. In fact, more than half of the 21,000-plus nurses surveyed reported that they were forced to re-use single-use PPE, a practice they said makes them feel unsafe. The public can do its part by urging local lawmakers to support legislation that increases domestic production of PPE so the brave men and women in the nursing profession can feel safe when doing their jobs.

Give Nurses And Their Families A Night Off From Cooking

Long shifts in stressful situations have taken a toll on nurses and their families. Neighbors can pitch in by offering to cook and deliver meals or pay for takeout for nurses and their families. This simple gesture can provide a much-needed break for nurses and their spouses who have been stretched thin during the pandemic, and it's a great way to remind nurses their heroic efforts are not going unnoticed.

Help Out With Chores

Before going to the grocery store, text or call a friend or neighbor in the nursing field to see if he or she needs anything from the store. If nurses shop online for their groceries, arrange to pick them up so nurses can spend more time relaxing at home with their families. During warm weather seasons, offer to mow the lawn or help with leaf pickup.

Offer Discounts To Nurses In Your Community

Local business owners can do their part by offering discounts to nurses and other health care professionals in their communities. A 10 percent discount on a restaurant bill or a nursing discount on a fresh bouquet of flowers can lift nurses' spirits and reassure them that their communities are behind them.

Nurses have made immeasurable sacrifices throughout the pandemic. Communities can come together in various and often simple ways to show nurses just how much those sacrifices are appreciated.

Facts About The BIBLE

BY JOHN LEHTI

THE VILLAINOUS NAME OF HEROD!

THE NAME OF KING HEROD IS SYNONYMOUS WITH CRUELTY AND MURDER IN THE BIBLE—BUT NOT TO JUST ONE MAN! HEROD WAS THE FAMILY NAME OF SEVERAL KINGS; A FAMILY IN EDOM WHERE, IT IS SAID, THEY WERE FORCIBLY CONVERTED TO JUDAISM ABOUT 125 B.C. THEY RULED IN PALESTINE FROM 46 B.C. TO A.D. 100. HEROD THE GREAT (73-4 B.C.) WAS THE RULER WHO, WHEN HEARING A FUTURE KING (JESUS) WAS BORN IN BETHLEHEM, ORDERED ALL MALE BABIES UP TO AGE THREE IN THAT TOWN BE SLAUGHTERED SO THERE COULD BE NO THREAT TO HIS THRONE! BUT....

....IT WAS HIS SON, HEROD ANTIPAS, WHO ORDERED THE BEHEADING OF JOHN THE BAPTIST AT THE INSTIGATION OF HIS WIFE, HERODIAS, WHO HATED JOHN FOR VILIFYING HER MARRIAGE TO HEROD ANTIPAS WHILE SHE WAS STILL THE WIFE OF HALF-BROTHER HEROD PHILIP! HEROD AGRIPPA I, A GRANDSON, KEPT FAMILY TRADITION ALIVE BY KILLING THE APOSTLE JAMES AND IMPRISONING PETER. HIS SON, HEROD AGRIPPA II, COMPLETED THE FAMILY ROLE OF VILLAINY BY FIGHTING ON THE SIDE OF THE ROMANS WHEN THE JEWS BEGAN THEIR REVOLT AGAINST ROME IN A.D. 66—A RECORD OF WHICH ONLY A HEROD COULD BE PROUD!

ARIES
Mar 21/Apr 20
This week some of the puzzle pieces in your life may not fit correctly. That's okay, Aries. You will find a way to make things work even if they don't exactly line up.

TAURUS
Apr 21/May 21
Your thoughts may be focused on the spiritual for much of the week, Taurus. This is an opportunity to get in touch with meaningful things in your life.

GEMINI
May 22/June 21
Gemini, if things haven't been going as planned, perhaps it's time to reevaluate some of your choices. Have confidence that you will find a solution that works.

CANCER
June 22/July 22
Cancer, your sensitivity is heightened this week, so you may need to think twice or even three times before you share your opinions. Cool down before becoming chatty.

LEO
July 23/Aug 23
Figure out how you can organize your day to get things done with more efficiency, Leo. This is a better option than getting frustrated by a lack of time in your schedule.

VIRGO
Aug 24/Sept 22
You may realize that the conventional ways of doing things simply are not working anymore, Virgo. Start thinking creatively rather than analytically.

LIBRA
Sept 23/Oct 23
Dreams and fantasies are more than wishful thinking, Libra. They can be the catalysts to actual goals and plans if you let them. Start making your lists.

SCORPIO
Oct 24/Nov 22
Scorpio, you may be more attuned to your dreams this week. While they are not true predictions of what will happen, pay attention to any recurring themes.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov 23/Dec 21
A drastic change may be coming but you don't know what that change will be just yet, Sagittarius. Keep your eyes peeled for opportunities that may be on the horizon.

CAPRICORN
Dec 22/Jan 20
Playful emotions and daydreams are filling your days and nights, Capricorn. Why not let them come out in very real ways? Find ways to incorporate more fun into your life.

AQUARIUS
Jan 21/Feb 18
If you have been taking someone for granted lately you can rectify that this week, Aquarius. Put this person first for a change and he or she may reciprocate in the future.

PISCES
Feb 19/Mar 20
Always be truthful, Pisces. Just remember you cannot control how others may react to whatever it is you have to say.

Even Exchange

by Donna Pettman

Each numbered row contains two clues and two 6-letter answers. The two answers differ from each other by only one letter, which has already been inserted. For example, if you exchange the A from MASTER for an L, you get MISTER. Do not change the order of the letters.

Blast From The Past

A group of people worked on the National Youth Administration a training program for boys and girls in 1936. The program halted in 1942 following the beginning of World War II. This group of boys is pictured at the local board of education building which was constructed by the NYA.

These workers are a shop group who were supervised by Byrd Maxwell. Jewell Huffines was county supervisor and Mell Howell was carpenter supervisor for the project. They also built Stone School and other school houses in the county; built bridges, title and many other projects during the NYA program.

Governor Proclaims March 5 As Arbor Day In Tennessee

Gov. Bill Lee has proclaimed March 5 as Arbor Day in Tennessee to recognize the importance of planting and maintaining trees in our state. This year's state celebration will be held in Winchester, which is celebrating its first year as Tree City USA.
"I admire all Tree City USA communities, but this year's distinction holds a special place in my heart since Winchester is my hometown," State Forester David Arnold said. "Our state Arbor Celebration is a reminder of the value of trees in small communities and in large cities. Our partnerships with local governments, tree care advocates, and the Tennessee Urban Forestry Council help us strengthen urban environments through planting and management of trees."
In Tennessee, Arbor Day is officially celebrated on the first Friday in March. In 1875, Tennessee became one of the first states to adopt this special day. The state legislature set "Bird, Flower and Arbor Day" in 1925. This law calls for educators, civic societies, and government officials to create a better understanding of nature and the importance of protecting wildlife, planting and cultivating flowers, and setting and protecting trees.

Tree City is a nationwide movement that provides the framework for communities to manage and expand their public trees. So far, 46 Tennessee communities have met the Tree City standards.
Citizens are encouraged to support Arbor Day by visiting local retail nurseries and garden centers for Tennessee-grown trees. The Division of Forestry's East Tennessee Nursery also grows tree seedlings to meet forest conservation needs. Selecting locally grown trees adds value to your home with a quality product that is already acclimated to Tennessee's growing conditions. A list of nurseries and garden centers with locally grown trees is available at www.picktnproducts.org.
Trees require proper maintenance for vigorous and healthy growth. For information about how to properly maintain landscape trees, visit your local Tennessee Department of Agriculture's Division of Forestry office or visit www.tn.gov/agriculture/forests/urban.html.

The Division of Forestry protects Tennessee's forests by fighting wildfires, coordinating hazard emergency response, providing prescribed fire guidance and contract services, as well as wildland fire training. Additionally, the Division promotes the responsible use of forest resources by assisting landowners, providing quality seedlings, monitoring insects and diseases, improving urban forests, managing state forests, protecting water quality, and collecting forest inventory data. The Division also works to promote primary and secondary forest industries to stimulate the state's economy. Visit www.tn.gov/agriculture/forests for more information.

America’s Minimum Wage Crisis

Dr. GLENN MOLLETTE
Special to the Sentinel

One problem with all Americans making a minimum of $15 an hour is that some business owners don’t make $15 an hour. Hundreds of thousands of small business owners struggle every day to keep the lights on and the doors of their business open. The only way they can afford help is with people who are willing to work for a low wage. This is tough for all. In most cases the business owner would like to pay more and the employee needs to make more. You can’t economically survive on $290 a week. Apartment rent can easily be $500 to $3000 a month depending on where you live. Add utilities, cell phone, transportation and you can forget eating much if any. The reality is that minimum wage workers can barely survive. They end up applying for public assistance, standing in food bank lines and eventually face deteriorating health and often homelessness. You cannot care for yourself on $7.25 an hour. Living out of your car or in a tent is not the American dream. It is time for a federal minimum wage increase. Eleven to $12 an hour would be a push for many small business owners but we all need to push and try to get there together. Eventually everything goes up in price but it’s some relief for millions of Americans in the short-term. Even $12 an hour is only $480 a week, but if you are surviving on $290 per week it would have to seem like winning the lottery. However, consider the impact this will have on a mom and pop business that has five employees and suddenly the payroll has just jumped by almost $1000 more per month. It will be tough. A $15 minimum wage means $600 a week or more than doubling everyone’s pay. How many businesses in America can just flip the switch and double everyone’s pay? If you are the employee you are desperate for higher wages. If you are the employer you worry about how you will pay the higher wage. The Congressional budget office reported the higher $15 minimum wage would lift 900,000 out of poverty. On the other hand, the same CBO reported 1.4 million would lose their jobs by 2025. The only place in America who currently has a $15 minimum wage is Washington, D.C. If you have ever gone out to eat in D.C. then you know $15 an hour is not enough in that town. Washington state is $13.69. California is $14. New York is $12.50. West Virginia is $8.75. Kentucky is $7.25. Indiana is $7.25. Texas is $7.25. Florida will be $10 soon. Utah is 7.25. The bottom line for us all is do not settle for any minimum wage forever. Work hard for a promotion or move to a better paying job. Minimum means a starting job rate. It doesn’t have to mean your maximum pay rate forever. Dr. Glenn Mollette is a graduate of numerous schools including Georgetown College, Southern and Lexington Seminars in Kentucky. He is the author of 12 books including Uncommon Sense. His column is published weekly in over 600 publications in all 50 states.

VA Extends Loan Forbearance Period

by Freddy Groves

Some of you are going to breathe a sigh of relief at this news: The Department of Veterans Affairs moratorium on evictions and foreclosures was due to end March 31, but it’s been extended to June 30. The extension is designed to keep you in your home while you sort out the damaging financial effects of the COVID pandemic. If you need forbearance (permission to miss payments or send a reduced amount), your lender is expected to grant you that for up to six months. During this time there are to be no late fees or penalties, but interest will accrue. The deadline to ask for forbearance is June 30, 2021. If you can’t make up your missed payments all at once when you have income again, call the mortgage company. If you’re not comfortable doing that, call the VA loan people directly at 877-827-3702. Your missed payments can’t just be pushed to the end of the loan period, but it is possible the loan could be modified. The VA allows loans to be extended under certain situations. Your credit score won’t take a negative hit during forbearance (not making payments), but only if you were current at the time you requested it. If you were already late on payments when you asked for help, then yes, they’ll continue to report you as delinquent during the whole period. That’s why it’s important to stay ahead of the problem by asking for help before things spin out of control. You have three ways to keep your home: forbearance, a repayment plan or a loan modification. To talk to the VA about COVID-related loan payment problems, call them at 877-827-3702. If you’re a renter and are in danger of being homeless, call the VA immediately at (877) 424-3838. You can also go online for additional information: benefits.va.gov/homeloans/cares-act-frequently-asked-questions.asp (c) 2021 King Features Synd., Inc.

Differences Make Us Strong

JORDAN FEYERHERM
Center for Rural Affairs

This last year was a difficult year for everyone, for a multitude of reasons. Of the many challenges that came to national attention throughout the year, perhaps the most apparent was the lack of civil discourse among those with different identities, beliefs, and political affiliations. At the Center for Rural Affairs, we have always believed our differences make us strong, but only when we can engage with those differences civilly and with our best intentions. While this can be a challenge, we believe it is well worth the effort, and for this reason, the Center urges community leaders to use the Civity method, practicing intentional, genuine, and respectful conversation across difference. Civity is the idea of purposefully engaging in relationships of respect and empathy with others who are different. This helps community leaders transform the dialogue in their towns to understand and celebrate differences—across race, class, culture, and politics. The goal of Civity, as it grows, is to transition from a “we/they” mindset to a “we all belong” mindset. When people have the sense that we are in this together—when they feel confident reaching out to and connecting with others—differences become springboards rather than barriers. The method deepens the ability of community leaders to leverage their passions and visions in their professional and personal lives by developing strategic relationship-building skills centered on connecting with people who are different. Some ways Civity can be used: Practice reaching out to people different from themselves. Acknowledge and take on the risk of telling their own story. Create listening spaces to invite and truly hear the stories others have to share. Discover the power of small “wise interventions” to make everyday interactions count.

Jackson County Celebrates Extension Month In Tennessee

March is Extension Month in Tennessee. Extension is a national educational program supported by USDA through the nation’s land-grant universities and administered with funding from state and local governments. In Tennessee there are Extension offices in each of the 95 counties, and Jackson County Extension invites everyone to join their local celebration.

An integral part of the land-grant mission, Extension programs are delivered by subject-matter specialists, county agents and volunteers associated with the University of Tennessee Institute of Agriculture (UTIA) and the Tennessee State University (TSU) College of Agriculture, Human and Natural Sciences.

“Extension Month celebrates the educational outreach, service and economic impact achieved by Extension across the state. I am always encouraged and proud to hear how our county offices use this month to reach new clientele and increase the visibility of Extension,” says Robert Burns, dean of UT

Extension.

In addition to the traditional agricultural production recommendations available through county Extension offices, services for all citizens include the state’s award-winning 4-H youth development program including its summer youth camps; family and consumer educational programs; and healthy living courses. The increasingly popular courses for Advanced Master Beef, are also conducted through county Extension offices.

UT Extension also performs services for the state’s citizens, including managing the statewide Soil, Plant and Pest Center through which clients can have the quality of their soil and forage analyzed and any insect pest or plant diseases identified. Extension also trains clients in the proper use of pesticides and even operates commercially certified kitchens where small-scale vendors can prepare food items for sale while meeting state guidelines for food safety.

Contact UT Extension Jackson County Extension.

sion for more information. You can find contact information online at the UT Extension website: extension.tennessee.edu. Just click on the link to local offices and choose your county’s name.

Many of UT Extension’s educational resources are also available online. From the UT Extension website choose the link to “publications” and enter the topic for which you need information. The search engine will generate a list of resources. Most are available free of charge. A publications page is also available on the TSU website, which includes a list of available publications by program area.
