City seeks grant for infrastructure upgrades in Factory Addition subdivision

Austin Miller Daily Express

The City of Kirksville is applying for a Community Development Block Grant to help fund infrastructure improvements in the Factory Addition area.

During a Monday City Council meeting, the council approved going forward with the application, which is due at the end of the month.

The block grant the city is applying for, which gets awarded by the Missouri Department of Economic Improvement, is for $500,000. In total, the whole project is estimated to cost $1.6 million. That figure is included in the city's 2023 budget, which is when the work will happen if the city receives the grant.

Public works is planning to relocate utilities later this year so work can begin right away next year if approved.

The Factory Addition subdivision is bounded by Hamilton, First, La-Harpe and Osteopathy streets. This area sees consistent flooding and stormwater issues, so that's the major fix to get addressed here, though there are several others.

Infrastructure improvements would include for city staff work on street reconstruction. curb and gutter work, an enclosed drainage system, Americans with Disabilities Act-compliant sidewalk connectivity, and driveway approaches for residential homes.

"I think this is a really important area for us to improve," said City Councilmember John Gardner. "I've seen some of the work that was done on West Shelby a few years ago and it made a dramatic difference for that block, and I think if we can do that in some other areas, that would be really important."

To receive the grant, at least 51 percent of the beneficiaries must be low or moderate-income (LMI) persons. According to a city survey of the area, 73 percent are LMI families and 64 percent are LMI persons.

The city also had to hold a public hearing for the project, which it did on Dec. 14 at the Rieger Armory.

"I think this is such and interesting manifestation of government at all levels being able to do great things," said Mayor Zac Burden. "Starting out as federal funds through CDBG, then they're given at the state level where we can apply for these grants. But it's really our local staff that's made this happen.

"So we're thankful this, we're thankful that there's an opportunity for this, and we cross our fingers that the application goes well."

Busick's bill for Rieger Armory conveyance progressing

Austin Miller Daily Express

District 3 Rep. Danny Busick's bill regarding Rieger Armory took its next step on Tuesday.

Busick (R-Newtown) appeared before the Corrections and Public Institutions Committee Tuesday for a public hearing on House Bill 1597. His bill would convey the land away from the state.

During the public hearing, Busick talked about two potential uses for the building. He mentioned the city's desire to use it as a community center, as well as a potential National Guard Hall of Fame.

Busick filed the same bill last year but it didn't get very far. It did get through the Corrections and Public Institutions and Rules — Legislative Oversight committees but never reached the House floor.

Last year's public hearing saw 16 written testimonies from primarily city and school leaders. This year's hearing had three, one of which was from Parks and Recreation Director Rodney Sadler, who also spoke during the hearing.

"Just to be very specific, it does say on the outside of the building 'Rieger Armory and Community Building.' We would like to see that continue to be a service in our community," Sadler said. "At this time, the school district has no formal contract with the city to turn that over to become a community building, but those are things that have been discussed in the past."

According to the building's original documents, if the state no longer had use for it as an armory, the land should revert to the Kirksville R-III School District. The city and school district have talked about potential agreements once the land is conveyed.

The city is in the second year of a four-year lease agreement with the state to use the property. The lease costs the city $1 per year, but it budgets about $50,000 per year for maintenance.

Heading into this year's session, Busick was optimistic that the bill could get passed. It will need to get through the necessary committees, the House and Senate before ting Gov. Mike Parson's desk.

Busick pre-filed this bill back on Dec. 1. It was then read for the first time on Jan. 5.

Missouri AG's mask mandate suits draw some strong rebukes

By JIM SALTER Associated Press

Forty-five mask-requiring school districts in Missouri face lawsuits from Attorney General Eric Schmitt, and some school leaders and elected officials are questioning if he really has the best interest of the state at heart.

Schmitt on Friday filed suit seeking to halt 36 districts from requiring masks amid a record surge in COVID-19 cases. On Monday, he added nine more. Most of the districts are in the Kansas City and St. Louis areas.

Schmitt, in a news release, said parents — not bureaucrats should be making health decisions for children. He questioned the effectiveness of masks, although experts agree that masks slow the virus' spread and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has found strong evidence that mask mandates help.

"Masking children all day in school is ineffective and these endless pandemic restrictions lead to lasting, negative psychological impacts on children and teens," Schmitt, a Republican running for the U.S. Senate, said. 'This is a fight worth fighting, and I'm not going to back down.'

The legal maneuvering drew a strong rebuke from one of the state's largest districts. A statement from the Francis Howell School District in St. Charles County, near St. Louis, called the lawsuit "a waste of taxpayer money — on both sides" and 'an attack" on public education.

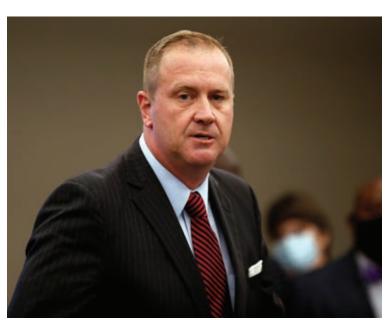

"This latest action by Schmitt is disheartening, unfounded, and frankly, shameful," the statement read.

Some elected officials questioned whether political motives weren't behind Schmitt's push.

"Stop using your office to bolster your campaign," Maplewood Mayor Nikylan Knapper wrote on Twitter.

Kansas City Mayor Quinton Lucas, a Democrat, called the lawsuits "a clear but unsurprising political stunt."

"Kansas City government and I personally will evaluate all available methods to support our teachers and students in this nuisance litigation. Our state lawyer's ongoing harassment of Missouri's schools should be sanctioned by the State Bar," Lucas wrote on Twitter.

Schmitt's spokesman Chris Nuelle said school districts were given ample time to comply.

"Attorney General Schmitt is simply doing the job he was elected to do: working on behalf of all 6 million Missourians and enforcing the rule of law," Nuelle said in an email.

Melissa Randol, executive director of the Missouri School Boards' Association, said the organization has asked to meet with Schmitt but his office has not responded. She said in a statement Tuesday that public schools were focused on keeping classrooms open and avoiding a return to virtual learning.

Third victim from December shooting dies

Austin Miller Daily Express

A third person has died following a Kirksville shooting from late December.

Adair County Coroner Brian Noe said Alissa Anders, 18, was declared dead on Tuesday. She had been at University Hospital in Columbia since the shooting on Dec. 30. Anders was pregnant at the time of the shooting and the baby was delivered.

Parker Sizemore, 18 months, and Braxton Cottrill, 22, were also killed in the shooting. A fourth person, Randall Yarrington, was injured.

Ray Rijos and Anquan Glover have received more than a dozen charges in connection to the incident and have been arrested.

Included in those charges are two first-degree murder and two attempted first-degree murder charges. As of Wednesday, Adair County Prosecuting Attorney Matt Wilson said he was waiting on updated paperwork to revise those charges.

Kirksville R-III's featured teachers for January

Submitted by the Kirksville R-III School District

The Kirksville R-III School District has selected its featured teachers for January.

These teachers were selected for being a "Top Goose." The meaning behind the recognition? We can all learn a lesson from geese.

Did vou know as each goose flaps its wings, it creates an uplift for others behind it? Just as these teachers do every day for their students.

So if you see any of our "Featured Teachers" out and about this month, make sure you to stop and "honk" at them to thank them for being a "Top Goose"!

Kirksville Area Technical Center: Steven Wheeler. Digital Design

Wheeler is in his ninth year of teaching digital design and graphics to juniors and seniors. He also has 35 years of experience in the graphic design field.

Kirksville High School: Karen Simmons, French

Simmons has 25 years of experience as a teacher, with 10 of those coming in the Kirksville R-III School District. She enjoys traveling internationally and going antique shopping with her poodles, Joli Marquette and Jacques Napoleon.

William Matthew Middle School: Brian Wilcox, 7th and 8th grade

Wilcox has taught in the district for more than two decades, currently in his 21st year. He is teaching seventh and eighth grade social studies. Wilcox has also coached wrestling for 26 years.

Ray Miller Elementary School: Melinda Colegrove, 3rd grade

Colegrove has spent the bulk of her teaching career in Kirksville. In 13 years of teaching, this year is her 12th in Kirksville.

Kirksville Primary School: Lisa McLain, Kindergarten

McLain is another longstanding member of the district. She is in her 26th year at Kirksville R-III and her 31st year of teaching.

Early Childhood Learning Center: Jessica Hageman, PreK

Hageman has spent all six years of her teaching career at the Early Childhood Learning Center. Two of those years have been as a Pre-K teacher.

Health department schedules vaccine clinics for February

The Adair County Health Department

The Adair County Health Department has scheduled four adult clinics and four pediatric clinics for COVID-19 vaccines in February. Those who get their first or second vaccine can still receive gift cards as an incentive while supplies last.

Adult COVID-19 vaccination clinics are scheduled from 2 to 4 p.m. on Tuesdays, Feb. 1, 8, 15 and 22. Pediatric clinics are scheduled from 3 to 5:30 p.m. on Thursdays, Feb. 3, 10, 17 and 24. All clinics are at the Adair County Health Department, 1001 S. Jamison Street in Kirksville.

Residents should call the Health Department at 660-665-8491 to schedule an appointment. Qualifying vaccine participants may receive a $50 gift card from one of four local retailers, Casey's, Hy-Vee, Walgreens, and Walmart, depending on supplies, following first or second shots. The incentive program does not include those receiving third doses or boosters.

The Adair County Health Department recommends that all county residents ages 5 and older get vaccinated against COVID-19 and all residents ages 16 and older get vaccinated and boosted. Vaccines are easily accessible, free, and continue to demonstrate that they prevent serious illness, hospitalization, and

"We need leaders, such as our Attorney General, coming to the table helping us keep our doors open, not forcing us to spend our taxpayer dollars on lawsuits that take precious resources from our classrooms," Randol said.

Schmitt has not sued any charter schools over mask mandates. Nuelle said the office is still evaluating "legal options."

Schmitt has already won one lawsuit over public COVID-19 restrictions. In November, Cole County Circuit Judge Daniel Green declared that health orders issued by local authorities under state health regulations were "null and void."

The lawsuits are among many filed or joined by Schmitt since he took office in 2019. He sued China over the coronavirus, to no avail. He also signed on to a failed lawsuit seeking to overturn the results of the 2020 presidential election.

While mask mandates draw the ire of Schmitt and some parents, some students are speaking out in favor of them.

For example, this month, around 120 students and Hickman High School in Columbia staged a walkout to protest the school board's decision to drop a mask mandate. Days later, the board reinstated the mandate due to spiking cases; it's among the districts Schmitt sued.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

"Your mother said you loved eggs for breakfast."

ASTROGRAPH BY EUGENIA LAST

Honesty is the best policy. Get to the point, and you'll accomplish the most. Put your heart into what you believe in, and you won't be disappointed. Watch what others do, but don't follow suit. Offering support from a distance will leave you more time to build a fulfilling life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) -- Set some guidelines to help you stick to your schedule. A responsible attitude will help you outmaneuver anyone trying to stand in your way. Trust your instincts and proceed with confidence.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) -- Think before you offer vague information. Leading someone astray will come back to bite you. Let your actions speak for you. Be kind, considerate and helpful.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) -- Complete your to-do list before moving on to fun and games. Take care of stressful matters first so you can spend downtime with someone or do something you love worry-free.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) -- Joint ventures aren't in your best interest. Don't trust someone to handle matters appropriately. Use your intelligence and do the legwork yourself if you want things to pan out. Take charge.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) -- Emotional deception is prevalent. Whether someone is playing with your feelings or you are refusing to see the truth, shake it off and be realistic about what to do next. Be honest.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) -- Call on someone who shares your enthusiasm, and you'll have fun. Your ability to turn something simple into a gala affair will win hearts and favors. Love is in the stars, and a romantic gesture is called for.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) -- Socialize, network and connect with people who interest you, but don't overspend or let indulgent behavior take control. Moderation will keep you levelheaded and on top of your game.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) -- Stay calm and follow through with your plans. Taking better care of yourself and looking your best will result in compliments that lift your spirits. Wear your heart on your sleeve.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) -- Help someone who's feeling vulnerable. Your assistance will make a difference, even if it isn't acknowledged immediately. Refuse to let anyone bring you down or discourage you from doing what's right.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) -- Do what feels right, and use your experience, knowledge and connections to reach your destination. Adjust your surroundings to create a space that unleashes your creativity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) -- Don't worry about what others believe; choose what's important to you, then proceed. Don't be afraid to do your own thing and to invest your time, effort and money into something important to you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) -- A unique change to how you do business, handle your money and move forward will excite you. A change is in the air, and adjustments that turn your space into a playground for your imagination will pay off.

SUDOKU

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

"If I lose ... the bet's off, okay?!"

ASTROGRAPH BY EUGENIA LAST

Rely on what you know, who you trust and what you want, and you will set priorities that encourage success. Discipline and determination will separate you from any competition you encounter this year. Don't share too much information or leave yourself open to criticism. Preparation, precision, attention to detail and confidence will lead to victory.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) -- Take notes, rely on the experience you gain and protect yourself from anyone trying to change or redirect you. Follow your heart and take responsibility for your happiness.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) -- You've got what it takes to succeed. Trust and believe in your skills and attributes, and flaunt what you have to offer. Personal improvements will build confidence and attract attention.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) -- Don't worry about the past. Focus on what you want and don't lose sight of your goal. Reach out to someone who can help you get an introduction to or meeting with an influential person.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) -- Take responsibility and make updates that keep you current. The changes you implement will show your tenacity and ability to get things done. Celebrate your success with a loved one.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) -- Stick to what you know and do well. Don't feel left out if someone decides to take a different route. A joint venture or shared expenses will work better for the other person than for you. CANCER (June 21-July 22) -- Unusual individuals and pastimes will draw you. Share your thoughts, and the feedback you receive will help you find a great way to get what you want at a price you can afford.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) -- You'll limit your ability to have a say in the changes around you if you are difficult or unwilling to participate. Keep the peace and maintain control by being resourceful and offering ideas.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) -- You're on a roll, so keep the momentum flowing. Socializing with someone you admire will lead to an exciting partnership. Update your look, and you'll receive compliments.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) -- Slow down, observe and don't count on someone who is already too busy to take on more. Arguing won't save you time or money. Stand on your own and live up to your promises.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) -- Let your imagination take you on a journey. Explore your options and figure out what you can do to prepare. Doing research and connecting with people who can help you will give you hope.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) -- Put more thought into your words and be mindful of what others say. Don't let anyone invade your privacy or play mind games with you. Stick to the truth and be skeptical of extravagant people.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) -- Pick up the pace and be productive. Make positive changes. Invite people over who are eager to participate in the transformation you wish to make, and you'll have fun and get things done faster.

I love to talk about Jesus and learn so much stuff. want to be as smart as God. I love Him more than anybody. Andrew Rouner, Kindergarten

I love Mary Immaculate because every time I walk in I feel like I'm meeting an old friend. I enjoy being able to embrace my Catholic religion. Nathan Webb, 8th Grade

Faith

My dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

kirksvilledailyexpress.com

I don't listen to country music that often. These days it's my visits to Orscheln Farm & Home where I am most apt to encounter it. Country music often celebrates the simple things in life, green tractors, front porch swings, pickup trucks, and cold beverages of all kinds. Think back to your childhood and recall your favorite places, activities, or people. Most likely there is a country song about it.

I'm not a song writer, but if I did, I would write a song about growing up attending Catholic schools. My childhood and my Catholic education are inseparable in my mind and in my heart. It would be great to provide a YouTube link with an original Catholic School song about my teachers, my friends, my schoolmates, the clergy and religious that make up the countless happy memories from my wonderful Catholic education, but for now you'll have to settle for a letter.

Beginning Sunday, January 30, Mary Immaculate Catholic Church will join with others throughout the United States in observing Catholic Schools Week. This is a wonderful opportunity for us to join together in thanking God. Throughout the week we will be celebrating all that our Catholic Schools bring to our children, our homes, our community, and to our civilization, making a lifetime of happy memories.

This Catholic Schools Week, I invite you to join us in discovering how our Catholic school is a sign of God's grace. I know that for children, each and every day is enormously important. Childhood, especially those years of elementary school, is short. There isn't a whole lot of time to learn a whole lot of stuff. There are many different voices in this world each clamoring for attention. Our observance of Catholic Schools Week is an opportunity to recognize the generosity of so many people who make our own Catholic school thrive. We want to identify how the Lord has blessed us, and not take for granted these blessings. We especially will recognize in turn all of the people who provide the resources for our school: the community which provide a facility and all the necessary resources, the administration and staff that provide leadership, the teachers that give so generously of their expertise and care, the parents who entrust us with their children, and above all our students who in so many ways, remind us each day of what a precious gift from God

May the Spirit of God who enlivens everything we do, fill us with joy so that we may give fitting thanks for all the He has done for us.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Msgr. Marion J. Makarewicz, pastor

nice and kind. Mary Immaculate is a safe environment and the staff provides you with what vou need. Evervone is always willing to help you with your work. I love this school! Kylee Waddle, 6th Grade

I like Mary Immaculate because everyone is so

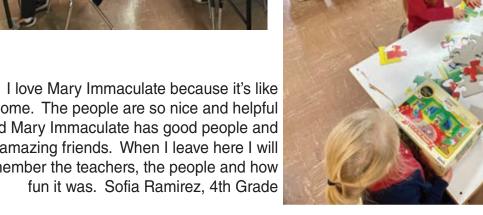

Having the honor of working at Mary Immaculate is an incredible feeling, and since I went here as a kid I feel what a blessing it was to go here to an even greater degree. I know now how hard my teachers worked to guide me not only on the path as a young Catholic person, but also on my academic journey that started right here at this school. I went here from kindergarten all the way to eighth grade and each year I was challenged but always knew I could accomplish any task placed before me. I took these tools and great interest in the pursuit of knowledge with me into high school where I was more than prepared for the curriculum and academic challenges I faced. I kept this passion for learning and used the gifts God gave me to pursue a college degree and now I am back in my hometown community where I can use those gifts to help guide the next generation into a bright and blessed future.

Winning ways: Are the Chiefs suddenly the NFL's new dynasty?

By DAVE SKRETTA AP Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs have won six straight AFC West titles, something never before accomplished, and will be hosting a record fourth consecutive conference championship game when Cincinnati visits Arrowhead Stadium on Sunday.

They've been to the past two Super Bowls. Won a championship. Set so many league-best marks behind the unparalleled play of Patrick Mahomes and the brilliant coaching of Andy Reid that the rest of the NFL has ample reason to be jealous.

So, are the Chiefs following in the footsteps of the Patriots as the next football dynasty?

Or, are they just the latest "it" team that everyone wants to watch?

"I think it was 2008 or 2009 that (Chiefs chairman) Clark Hunt made the statement that we're going to strive to create an organization that consistently competes for championships," team president Mark Donovan recalled this week, "and here we are, hosting our fourth straight championship. Never been done before. It's special times to be a Chiefs fan, and special times to be part of this organization. I know Andy says it, and I'll say it: We're grateful for this opportunity we're given."

Perhaps that's because they don't have to look far into their history to remember what it's like to live at the bottom.

When Hunt made that bold proclamation, the Chiefs were a floundering franchise that hadn't won a playoff game in more than two decades. And they hadn't even bottomed out, either. That came a few years later when, during a season in which a player killed himself in the practice facility parking lot, the Chiefs were the two-win laughingstock of the league.

They soon began the search for a new coach, and in a case of coincidence or fate, the Eagles had just moved on from their own. Hunt quickly flew to Philadelphia and met with Reid, refused to let him out of the room without agreeing to come to Kansas City, and in one weekend changed the course of the organization.

The Chiefs went from two wins to 11 the very next year, one of the great turnarounds in NFL history, and haven't had another losing season. The past seven have ended in the playoffs, the past four in the conference championship game and, with a win over the Bengals on Sunday, the past three would be in the Super Bowl.

But is nearly a decade of relative dominance enough to call the Chiefs a dynasty?

Don't count on Reid to hazard a guess.

"Listen, I might down the road somewhere," he said of putting the past few years into perspective, "but right now, we're moving onto Cincinnati. There's no time to wait. ... It's important that we got on that and make sure our bases are covered."

That doesn't mean others can't — and won't — opine on the subject. After all, dynasties are purely subjective. The textbook definition, at least from Merriam-Webster, is that they involve "a sports franchise which has a prolonged run of successful seasons," though in truth that doesn't define anything.

How successful? And for how long?

Here are some facts: The Chiefs have won six straight home playoff games, one of the 10 longest streaks since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. They are among seven franchises to reach four straight conference title games, and the first to host all of them. A third straight Super Bowl appearance would match the Dolphins of Don Shula in the early '70s and the Patriots of Bill Belichick from 2016-18 as the only franchises to make that many in a row with at least one victory.

Kirksville wrestling wins 2 in home quad

A strong overall night for the Kirksville wrestling team was soured a bit by a loss in its final matchup.

In a home quad Tuesday night, the Tigers started with impressive wins over Brookfield (48-22) and Palmyra (77-0). But a 42-33 loss to conference rival Mexico wasn't the ending the Tigers wanted.

"Started the evening off really well, just have to finish," said Kirksville wrestling coach James Alter. "Our guys competed, they fought, but at the end of the day, it comes down to wins. You have to be able to finish."

After those two wins, Alter felt his team had great momentum into its final competition. But Mexico had other plans, winning the first five matches by fall.

Koan McAtee finally got the Tigers going, getting a pin win over Mexico's Sam Ortiz in 1:32. Ryan Harvey kept Kirksville's run going with a dominant 12-5 decision win over Peyton Hoover. Progressing through the lineup and into the larger weightclasses, that's where a lot of Kirksville's veteran wrestlers sit.

Jaden Ballinger and Colton Hannah are guys Alter expects wins out of every night. They were just short against Mexico. Ballinger dropped a 5-4 decision to Jokiah Sewell and Hannah fell to Deacon Haag with a 5-3 decision. Close matchups between good wrestlers.

Those results hurt, but not nearly as bad as the opening pin parade the Tigers suffered,

"They went on a run there with pins, and that 30-point deficit is hard to come back from," Alter said.

A win over the Bulldogs

A win over the Bulldogs would have put Kirksville in the driver's seat for a North Central Missouri Conference title. They hope to still claim that title down the road.

McAtee, a 152-pounder, came out as the big winner for Kirksville, the only Tiger to win all three of his matches on Tuesday. He also had a pin (5:42) win over Palmyra's Ashton Hankins and a 9-3 decision against Brookfield's Jaden Kyle.

Bryce Kertz did get three wins, but two of them were because Mexico and Brookfield didn't have anyone to compete against him. Kertz did win a 5-0 decision against Palmyra's Nolyn Richards.

The Brookfield matchup was back and forth to start. Both teams alternated wins in the first six matches. Brookfield won a subsequent match to have consecutive wins and take the lead. The Tigers won the final five matches to take the win.

Ballinger pinned Jaden Abongo just before the buzzer in the third round. Jack Thomas worked a pin against Gunnar Drescher in 3:29. Kingston Hanson quickly pinned Maksim Kerr in 1:02. And Hannah got a quick win as well, pinning Chase Jurkosky in 1:22.

The Tigers will be home one more time this season, hosting another quad on Feb. 3. That will bring Blair Oaks, Centralia and Fulton to town.

Truman men continue skid with home loss to Southern Indiana

Austin Miller
Daily Express

The Truman men's basketball team was left reeling Thursday night as Southern Indiana handed the Bulldogs an ugly loss at home.

The Bulldogs were outscored 44-27 in the second half, losing to the Screaming Eagles 80-66.

That marks not only back-to-back losses for the Bulldogs, but consecutive losses by 10 or more. And it's the first regular-season home loss in nearly three years. Truman last lost a regular-season game at Pershing Arena on March 2, 2019.

Truman (12-5, 6-3 in GLVC) coach Jeff Horner said it was the team's defense that cost them on Thursday. The Bulldogs sit 12th in the 15-team GLVC in scoring defense, allowing 72.4 points per game. That's not a metric Horner is happy with.

"Just a lot of scouting report mistakes," Horner said. "That's kind of been our Achille's heel. ... We're making some uncharacteristic mistakes that we haven't made in my time here. It's costing us. ... Everyone talks about being fundamentally sound on the offensive end. But you can be fundamentally sound on the defensive end too, and we're just really struggling with that right now."

The Bulldogs did hold reigning GLVC Player of the Week Jacob Polakovich to just four points. But others burned the Bulldogs. Tyler Henry scored 18, Elijah Jones scored 13, and Jelani Simmons, Isaiah Swope and Tyler Dancy all scored 10.

Truman led 39-36 at halftime, but Southern Indiana stormed out to begin the second half. The Screaming Eagles sprinted to a 61-54 lead through the first 10 minutes of the second half.

Frustrated with the officiating for most of the night, Horner hit a breaking point. He took issue with a Southern Indiana (10-4, 5-3 in GLVC) player celebrating and clapping in front of him earlier in the night, and was hoping for more consistency with officiating. Cade McKnight, who had a gamehogh 23 points, was called for a charge on offense with eight minutes left and Horner vehemently disagreed. He received a technical foul for his troubles. Southern Indiana pushed its lead to 67-56 after hitting the subsequent free throws

The Bulldogs only managed 10 points after that in the final eight minutes. Southern Indiana shot 57.4 percent from the field and outscored Truman in the paint 38-26.

For a team with lofty postseason expectations, the team's last two outings don't fit that goal. It's true the Bulldogs had some frustrating time away from the court due to COVID issues with other teams.

came to end.

All good things must come to an end.

That was the unfortunate reality for the Truman women's basketball team on Thursday night. With a 78-66 loss at home to Southern Indiana, Truman's 10-game win streak

It marked Truman's first loss of 2022, as their last loss came on Dec. 2, 2021.

Though there was a second-half rally by the Bulldogs, Thursday's game was pretty much decided after the first quarter. Truman never led and trailed by 12 after the first quarter.

Truman's (13-6, 9-2 in GLVC) offense started flat, going 1-for-9 from the field with eight turnovers in the first quarter. The Bulldogs also missed their first nine 3-pointers before Bri Burns converted one late in the second quarter.

"We just came out flat. Honestly, after yesterday's practice, I expected that," said Truman coach Theo Dean. "I could just tell by the energy in practice yesterday. Overall, we've seen some games — especially last Monday - where we can make a run in the third and fourth quarter. ... We did, it just didn't match the energy in the first and that's what really killed us."

The turnover troubles subsided in the second quarter, but USI's offense had a better showing and scored 23 points. The Screaming Eagles (13-3, 7-1 in GLVC) had a 17-point lead at halftime and the rest was history.

"In the first quarter we lost by 12, so that was the game," Dean said. "That's something for us that we've learned the last three years is, good teams are hard to put away. We were hard to put away and we cut it down, but they did a great job of staying the course, capitalizing on some of our missed shots."

Dean said USI's forwards made the biggest difference for their offense. Forwards Hannah Haithcock and Ashlvnn Brown led the Screaming Eagles with 17 points each. USI outscored Truman in the paint 34-26, a feat that doesn't happen very often for the Bulldogs.

Burns turned in her best game as a Bulldog to help her team battle back late. She scored a career-high 17 points — going 5-for-6 from behind the arc.

Back-to-back 3s from her and one from Katey Klucking cut USI's lead to single digits late in the third quarter. She later hit a stepback 3 to keep that distance within 10 in the Ellie Weltha converted an and-one to cut the lead to 64-59 with five minutes left. But USI rode freethrow line success — going 17-for-18 — to finish the game off.

After transferring from Division I Stephen F. Austin in 2019, injuries have gotten in Burns' way at Truman. So Dean was happy to see her shine in a moment that needed her Thursday.

"That was huge for us. Bri's been someone that spends the time, she's in the gym, and I'm super happy that she was able to do that," Dean said. "She got out there and had a tough task. As soon as she got out there, I ran a play for her. ... She stepped up to the task, was really big on defense and had a big steal during our run. That's something I expect out of her. The amount of time she puts in — at some point your hard work is gonna payoff. Today was one of those days for her."

Weltha finished with 15 points and a career-high 19 rebounds. Hannah Belanger had an off night, shooting 3-for-12 from the field. She did crack double figures with 13 points.

The Bulldogs stay home for a battle with McKendree on Saturday at 1 p.m.

(Yes, the Bills went to four straight Super Bowls. Without winning one, are they worthy of being called a dynasty?)

Of course, there are some NFL dynasties that are difficult to debate.

The Packers that won six championships under Curly Lambeau from 1929-44. The Bears of George Halas won four titles in seven seasons during the 1940s; Paul Brown's teams in Cleveland seemingly never lost in the '50s. The Vince Lombardi-led Packers of the '60s won the first two Super Bowls. The 1970s Steelers of the famed Steel Curtain defense, the 49ers in the '80s and the Cowboys of the '90s paved the way for the Patriots of the past two decades.

Besides longevity and success, most have something else in common: historic quarterback-coach combinations. Lombardi had Bart Starr. Chuck Noll had Terry Bradshaw in Pittsburgh. Bill Walsh coached Joe Montana and George Seifert had Steve Young in San Francisco. Jimmy Johnson and Barry Switzer relied on Troy Aikman in Dallas. Belichick had Tom Brady.

Kind of like Reid and Mahomes in Kansas City.

Whether the Chiefs are already a dynasty or one in the making is up for debate. But with Reid firmly ensconced in the coach's office, Mahomes signed for most of the next decade and a plethora of playmakers under long-term contracts - guys such as Travis Kelce, Tyreek Hill and Chris Jones — the Chiefs don't appear to be going away soon.

"As long as we keep the people that we have in this organization on this team, with the coach we have, I think we have a chance to be good year-in and year-out," Mahomes said. "There's a lot of great football teams in this league, you understand that. But at the same time, you just have to try to get better and be better every year you come in."

But with Thursday being Truman's first home game at Pershing Arena since Jan. 2, it wasn't the performance most expected.

A loss at McKendree on Jan. 8 prompted a freefall in the Top 25 for Truman. And with Saturday's loss to Lindenwood, Truman fell out of the rankings. Those were losses to sub .500 teams. Those results make wins against good teams like Southern Indiana sting even more.

"When you lose those games you're maybe expected to win or should win, not taking anything away from those teams, but when you lose those two games and then play a team like Southern Indiana, who I think is one of the best teams in the league, those two losses hurt even more," Horner said. Truman gets a quick chance to recover. The Bulldogs get a rematch with McKendree on Saturday at 3:15 p.m. Then they get a makeup against

Lewis on Jan. 31. The next few days will require some soul-searching by the Bulldogs.

"We're beating ourselves at this point. We're not even giving ourselves a chance because the mistakes on the defensive end are costing us," Horner said. "As a coaching staff, we need to figure something out to do it better. I'll probably be here pretty late (Thursday night) trying to get those things figured out.

"We're going to see what type of fight we have. I think one of the biggest things is, how are we going to come back from a loss? I don't think we handled that very well today."
