Truman State University is a top producer of Fulbright students

By Truman State University

Truman State University has been named one of the colleges and universities that produced the most 2021-22 Fulbright U.S. students.

Each year the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs (ECA) announces the top-producing institutions for the Fulbright Program, the U.S. government's flagship international educational exchange program. The Chronicle of Higher Education publishes the lists annually.

Three students from Truman were named Fulbright finalists. They are currently participating in English Language Teaching Assistantships, serving as native-speaker experts in English-language classrooms in their host countries. The students and their host countries are: Karis Chapman, Germany; Ross Jones, Spain; and Taylor Libbert, Andorra.

Truman had seven Fulbright applications for 2021-22. In addition to three finalists, three other students were selected as alternates. This marks the third consecutive year Truman has been among the top master's institutions for producing Fulbright students, and the seventh time in the past 12 years. Truman was the only Missouri school to be recognized on the master's institutions list this year.

"Being a top Fulbright producer is a realization of Truman's vision to develop educated citizens 'through transformative experiences that foster critical thought, daring imagination and empathetic understanding of human experiences at home and around the world,'" said University President Sue Thomas. "It is a strong testament to our students' excellence and the invaluable mentoring of our outstanding faculty."

The Fulbright competition is administered at Truman by Jack Davis, associate professor of German, and Meg Edwards, associate professor of political science.

The Fulbright Program was established more than 75 years ago to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of other countries. Fulbright is the world's largest and most diverse international educational exchange program.

Since its inception in 1946, more than 400,000 people from all backgrounds – recent university graduates, teachers, scientists and

Mayor Zac Burden gives State of the City address

By Marty Bachman
Kirkville Daily Express

Kirkville Mayor Zac Burden gave the annual State of the City address on Feb. 28 at the Rieger Armory in Kirkville. The address was hosted by the Kirkville Chamber of Commerce Governmental Affairs Committee. Burden told the assembled audience and online viewers that his thoughts were dedicated to folks dedicated to freedom and peace throughout the world.

"It is my fervent hope and most sincere prayer that self-determination is the true hallmark of our modern day that is not threatened by any one nation," he said. "The safety and the security of the world has been continually built and rebuilt on a foundation of peace and understanding, respect for international law and the resolve that the people of a nation determine its fate, not the actions of external influence and control."

Burden then asked for a moment of silence for the people of Ukraine, a nation that last week was invaded by Russia.

Burden said that he is often asked by people, "Hey, how is the city doing?" he said that it was a fair question but that it postulates that the city is somehow removed from the shared experiences of local residents. He said that he's frequently asked about what the city is going to do about one situation or another, which he said suggests that city residents are not all involved in finding solutions to city problems. He said that everyone has at one time or another invoked the "city" as a manifestation of their derision and frustration over public matters they aren't in favor of.

He said that the city was more than just the elected members of the council and staff at city hall.

"By uniting in common purpose and sharing in responsibility, together, we are the city," Burden said.

Burden said that together local citizens were celebrating great things and that residents will continue to further themselves as a community in 2022.

"Because of all of us together, the past year has been one of tremendous growth for Kirkville," he said, citing efforts at city hall, business partnerships and entrepreneurial spirit, which has inspired new businesses opening in town and job growth.

He said that a city staffed census effort has been cause for a growing number of people to be counted as residents of Kirkville and that a facade building improvement program has led to a more beautified downtown.

"I appreciate living in a community where we're dedicated to new development while at the same time preserving and enhancing our historic central business district,"

Twitter suspends US Senate candidate for hateful conduct

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ST. LOUIS — A U.S. Senate candidate for Missouri says she has no plans to delete a transphobic tweet that violated Twitter's rules against hateful conduct, even after the social media platform said she won't be able to tweet, retweet, follow or like posts until she does.

Twitter suspended Vicky Hartzler's personal account on Monday.

Hartzler's tweet, posted in mid-February, said: "Women's sports are for women, not men

FILE — March 25, 2014, then, U.S. Rep. Vicky Hartzler, R-Mo., left, speaks to reporters on Capitol Hill in Washington on March 25, 2014. Senate candidate Vicky Hartzler's campaign says she has no plans to delete a tweet in which she wrote, "Women's sports are for women, not men pretending to be women," even after Twitter said she won't be able to tweet, retweet, follow or like posts until she does. Twitter on Monday, Feb. 28, 2022, suspended Hartzler's personal account, pretending to be women," and included her TV ad targeting transgender people in sports and particularly University of Pennsylvania swimmer Lia Thomas.

A statement from Hartzler's campaign called the suspension "shameful, utterly ridiculous, and a horrible abuse of censorship by big tech giants to stifle free speech." The campaign said Hartzler will not delete the tweet.

Hartzler is a congresswoman representing Missouri's 4th District. She is among several Republicans vying for the 2022 Senate seat. Incumbent Republican Roy Blunt announced last year he would not seek a third term.

Trueblood replaces DeRosear on Hospital Board

By Scotland County Memorial Hospital District

Travis Trueblood was recently sworn in as the newest board member of the Scotland County Memorial Hospital District, dba Scotland County Hospital in Memphis. Trueblood is a native of Scotland County, a 2008 graduate of SCR-1 and the son of Randy Trueblood and Dana Donaldson. He is married to the former Megan Hatfield. Travis, Megan and their two children live in Memphis. Travis holds both an undergraduate degree in Business Management and an MBA from Western Governors University. Travis works for Crop Risk Services (crop insurance) as the Regional Claims Manager.

Travis replaced long time board member, Dwight DeRosear from District #4 (West Half-City of Memphis). Dwight had decided to step down from his board position last summer. Travis filed for the position and was unchallenged. DeRosear joined the Scotland County Hospital Board of Directors in 1995, replacing Don Troutman. DeRosear served as vice-chairman of the Board in 2004-2005 and ultimately dedicated 26 years to the Hospital Board of Directors.

DeRosear passed away on Sept. 28, 2021.

When Travis was asked why he filed to fill the board seat vacated by DeRosear, he replied, “I feel the hospital is a vital part of our community that I want to make sure stays in our community. I believe that the heart of any successful business is its employees. I am hopeful that my experience in leading high performing teams will allow me to be an asset with continuing to build a strong team at SCH.”

Travis took the oath from Chairman Lori Fulk at the December Board of Directors meeting. “We are so pleased that Travis sees the importance of our hospital in our community. We look forward to seeing what he can bring to the table with his extensive management experience,” said Fulk.

The current Board of Directors are: Chair-Fulk, Vice-Chair-Joni Lloyd, Secretary-Joseph Doubet, Treasurer-Robert Neese, Member-Nicholas Hatfield, Member-Travis Trueblood. The Scotland County Memorial Hospital District Board of Directors meets every last Tuesday of the month at 5:30 p.m. in the Hospital’s Library Conference Room, unless otherwise stated.

Missouri bill would allow hospital visitors during pandemics

By SUMMER BALLENTINE Associated Press

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Missouri hospitals and nursing homes would have to allow visitors, even during a pandem-ic, under a bill advanced Wednesday in the Repub-lican-led state House.

Lawmakers gave the measure initial approval in a voice vote, mean-ing it needs another vote to move to the GOP-led Senate.

Legislators proposed the bill in response to strict visitor limits in hospitals and nursing homes when COVID-19 first hit. Republican House members said vis-itor restrictions meant some patients died with-out friends or family by their side.

Moberly Republican Rep. Ed Lewis said pa-tients need an “advocate” when they’re at their most vulnerable.

“That person should be able to have someone that can speak for them and make sure that they get the quality health care that they ought to have,” Lewis said.

Under the bill, a pa-tient’s spouse, parent or guardian plus another person would be allowed to visit at any time.

Hospitals and nurs-ing homes could deny a visitor for health or safety reasons, such as signs that the visitor has COVID-19 or another contagious illness.

The visitation rights wouldn’t apply to mental health facilities or prisons.

Democrats criti-cized the proposal as short-sighted, arguing that it could limit hospi-tal and nursing homes’ efforts to protect vulner-able patients from coro-navirus or other future pandemics.

“Some people believe that hospital and long-term care facilities may have gone too far when we went into a state of emergency for the COVID pandemic,” Kan-sas City Democratic Rep. Ashley Aune said. “Those opinions are valid, espe-cially folks who lost loved ones and weren’t able to be with them.”

But Aune said propo-nents have not consid-ered “the unintended consequences of what could happen in the next pandemic” and the pos-sibility that the law will hamper efforts to con-tain future infectious disease outbreaks.

The bill also would en-sure that patients who refuse to get vaccinat-ed could still get organ transplants. A similar proposal passed the House last month and is pending in the Senate.

Former mail carrier pleads guilty to stealing sports trading cards

By U.S. Attorney’s Office

KANSAS CITY – A for-mer mail carrier pleaded guilty in federal court on March 3, to stealing nearly 100 sports trading cards worth thousands of dollars from the mail.

Paul O. Robinson, 26, of Richmond, waived his right to a grand jury and pleaded guilty before U.S. District Judge Greg Kays to a federal infor-mation that charges him with one count of mail theft.

By pleading guilty to-day, Robinson admitted that he stole 94 sports trading cards, valued at approximately $39,994, and other items from the mail from April to June 2021.

Robinson worked for the U.S. Postal Service from 2018 to 2021. He was initially assigned to be a carrier at the Bar-ry Woods Annex in Kan-sas City. In June 2021 a customer reported that he had mailed a Kevin Durant basketball sports trading card valued at $1,925 to a customer in Kansas City, but the card never arrived. The customer also provided the tracking and serial numbers for additional mail items that contained valuable sports trad-ing cards and had been placed in the mail and were missing.

Four of the missing sports cards were recov-ered from a sports mem-orabilia store in Glad-stone. Surveillance video from the store showed Robinson, in his postal uniform, presenting the cards for sale on June 12, 2021. When federal agents interviewed Rob-inson, he admitted that he stole the cards. Rob-inson also admitted to taking mail home in his car and destroying mail. Agents searched Robin-son’s residence and found approximately 440 pieces of mail and one addition-al trading card.

In August 2021, 11 ad-ditional sports trading cards were recovered from a sports cards and memorabilia store in Liberty. Another sports trading card was also re-covered from the sports memorabilia store in Gladstone.

Under federal stat-utes, Robinson is sub-ject to a sentence of up to five years in federal prison without parole. The maximum statutory sentence is prescribed by Congress and is pro-vided here for informa-tional purposes, as the sentencing of the defen-dant will be determined by the court based on the advisory sentenc-ing guidelines and oth-er statutory factors. A sentencing hearing will be scheduled after the completion of a presen-tence investigation by the United States Probation Office.

This case is being pro-secuted by Special Assis-tant U.S. Attorney Court-ney R. Pratten. It was investigated by the U.S. Postal Service, Office of Inspector General.

SUDOKU

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

"You can start tomorrow, but as soon as my wife sees you, you're finished."

ASTROGRAPH BY EUGENIA LAST

A pragmatic approach will help you avoid emotional interference. Show concern for others, but put yourself first. It's important to protect your interests and follow through with your plans. Don't feel obligated to follow the crowd or please others at your expense. Follow your heart and take responsibility for your happiness.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) -- Know what you are up against before you engage in something that has emotional consequences. Explain your position, what you have to offer and what you want to happen. Honesty is the best policy.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) -- Think and plan before you act. Keep the peace, control your emotions and do whatever it takes to proceed with a positive attitude. How you conduct yourself will impact what comes next.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) -- Don't let uncertainty set in when action is required. Look at all your choices and the myriad possibilities, and picture the outcome. Don't limit what you can do by disengaging from talks.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) -- Ask someone you trust to discuss confusing details. Getting a different perspective on what you can do will help you come to terms with what's possible. Live within your means and follow through.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) -- Bypass an emotional confrontation. Do something creative by expanding your interests and outlook. Share your dreams with someone you love or look up to. You will get helpful feedback.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) -- Touch base with someone who offers good advice. The information you receive will help you decide whether to change your direction, living arrangements or lifestyle. Forming a partnership will add stability to your life. Divvy up responsibilities.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) -- Take the pressure off yourself and those around you. Take time to relax or have some fun. Showing your playful side will win points with a loved one. Don't be afraid to share your intentions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) -- Keep a watchful eye over what's going on around you. Reach out to someone who is experiencing a tough time. Being a good listener will help you realize how someone feels about you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) -- Connect with friends and catch up. The information you receive will help you figure out what to do next. A change of plans will convince you to follow a certain path. Explore the possibilities.

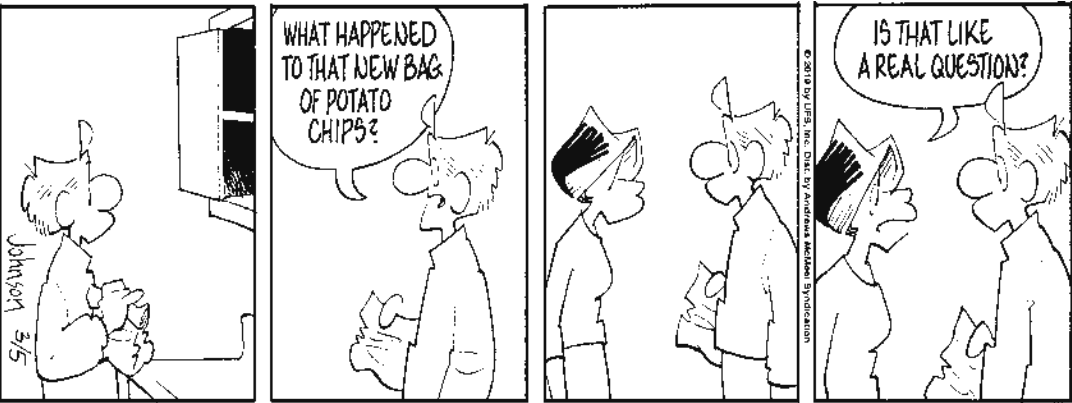

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) -- Spend more time at home. Fixing your surroundings to suit your needs will spark your imagination and push you in an informative and life-changing direction. Follow your heart.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) -- Initiate your plans and keep moving forward. Refuse to let an emotional incident fester or slow your progress. Distance yourself from people who tend to overreact or bring you down.

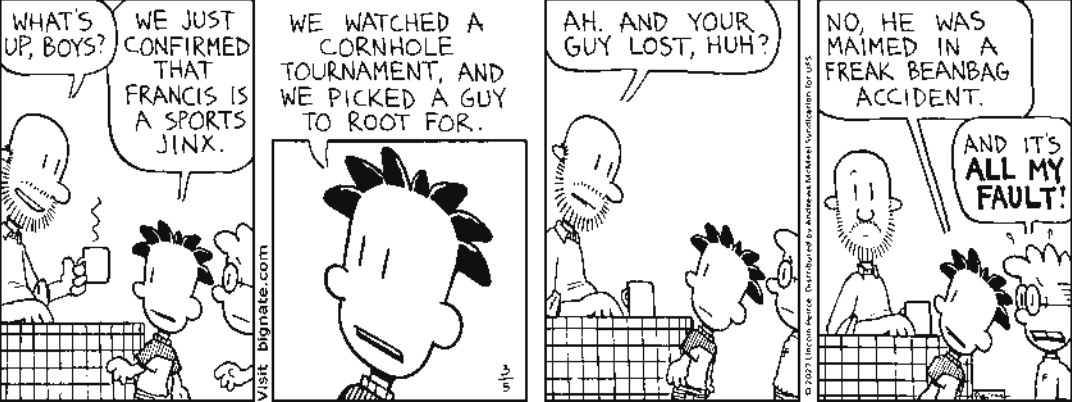

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) -- Rethink your long-term strategy; you'll discover what you want to pursue. Don't follow anyone; it's time to please yourself. Set guidelines to help you reach your goal, regardless of what others do.

SUDOKU

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ASTROGRAPH BY EUGENIA LAST

A positive attitude will help you reach your goal. Seek out changes that will encourage less stress. Better organization and a minimalist approach to life will free up cash and give you the leeway to enjoy things that bring you peace of mind and happiness. Say no to demanding people and surround yourself with those who meet you in the middle.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) -- You know what others expect of you and what you are willing to do, so be frank and get your priorities straight. A change you make will enhance your life in all respects.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) -- A disciplined approach will lead to success; using force will slow you down. Think before you act, and stick to a plan you know you can carry out. Patience will give you the upper hand.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) -- Look at every angle and figure out what you can do to ensure success. You'll capture the heart of someone special if you do something without being told. Don't let drama interfere.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) -- Run your ideas past someone you trust. Don't let an outsider persuade you to take on the impossible. Protect your reputation, health and rights. Follow your heart and make decisions based on your needs.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) -- Let your feelings be known by clearing the air. Dealing with emotional situations instead of fretting over them is favored. A meaningful relationship will require certainty in order to progress.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) -- Question what isn't working for you, and you'll come up with a reasonable plan. Addressing issues head-on will give you the strength to stand up for what you want and to dismiss what worries you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) -- Safeguard your cash. Emotional spending will be your downfall. You can show someone how much you care without going into debt. An affectionate gesture and sharing of plans will pay off.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) -- Problems at home or with people who live with or near you will develop if you let your emotions take the reins. Listen, and choose your words wisely. With caution, you can salvage a sensitive situation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) -- Worrying about what others think or say is a waste of time. Get back to the things you like to do and enjoy your day. Walk away from depressing situations and people.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) -- Discipline is the key to your success. Plan your actions and follow through. Take control of whatever situation you face and refuse to let anyone interfere in your business.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) -- Reminiscing will encourage you to implement pending changes at home. It's up to you to lead if you want things done your way. Refuse to let a friend or relative try to slow you down.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) -- Rely on experience to guide you. Straighten out what isn't working for you anymore. A conversation with someone who can influence your plans will help clarify how best to proceed.

Parson digs in against evidence absolving reporter he accused of being a ‘hacker’

By Jason Hancock
Missouri Independent

Gov. Mike Parson on Thursday once again refused to accept the conclusions of an investigation by the highway patrol and Cole County prosecutor surrounding a reporter who uncovered a security flaw in a state website.

Speaking to a gathering of reporters and editors in the governor’s mansion for Missouri Press Association Day, Parson restated his accusation that a reporter from the St. Louis Post-Dispatch stole the personal information of teachers.

“I don’t think anybody should go in and take people’s private information,” Parson said, adding: “Nobody has the right to take people’s personal information out and share it.”

In fact, as documented in a 158-page investigative report compiled by the Missouri State Highway Patrol and Cole County Prosecutor Locke Thompson, the reporter simply looked at the source coding of a publicly available state website — something that is typically available to anyone using a web browser.

What he discovered was that teacher Social Security numbers were mistakenly contained in the source code. Parson appears to believe what the reporter did next — contacting teachers he knew personally to confirm the Social Security numbers were real — constitutes stealing their personal information.

That wasn’t the conclusion of either law enforcement or the prosecutor, who declined to press charges.

Thompson told The Independent that if any crime was committed it was both unintentional and based on a law so broad and vague it essentially criminalizes “using a computer to look up someone’s information.”

“Our investigation did not uncover any evidence that any of the (Social Security) numbers had been compromised,” Thompson said.

Once the reporter confirmed the Social Security numbers of hundreds of thousands of teachers were at risk of public disclosure, he notified the state, explained how he found the flaw and promised not to publish anything until the issue was fixed.

State officials wanted to thank him. But the governor instead convened a press conference to call the reporter a hacker and push for a criminal investigation.

Even after the prosecutor’s public statements explaining why charges wouldn’t be filed, Parson has refused to back down from his claims.

His reiteration of his allegations against the reporter Thursday came moments after greeting members of the media from around the state at the mansion with an exhortation of his commitment to transparency and press freedom.

He said that since he took over as governor from his scandal-plagued and media-averse predecessor, Eric Greitens, he’s worked to “change the way the governor’s office reacted to the media.

“I think it’s very important for people in elected positions or true public servants to be transparent,” he said. “I really do.”

Yet Parson’s relationship with the press has been much more complicated. The governor regularly lashes out at perceived slights and criticism, culminating with his push for criminal prosecution of the Post-Dispatch reporter who he accused of trying to use the security flaw to embarrass his administration.

In January, records obtained by The Independent showed that among the governor’s legislative priorities are changes to the state’s Sunshine Law that would permit government agencies to withhold more information from the public and charge more for any records that are turned over.

Last summer, the Missouri Supreme Court unanimously ruled that Parson’s office cannot charge for time attorneys spend reviewing public records in case that alleged the office improperly redacted public records, charged exorbitant fees and knowingly and purposely violated the state’s open records law.

Also at Thursday’s event, Parson was asked about the Republican primary to replace retiring U.S. Sen. Roy Blunt.

The governor has not endorsed anyone in the race, and on Thursday declined to say whether he would be willing to support Greitens if he were to be the party’s nominee.

Greitens resigned from office in 2018 while facing impeachment and felony charges. Many Republicans worry he could cost the party the Senate seat if he were to emerge from the primary victorious.

While Parson acknowledged he “didn’t like the things that occurred when he was governor,” he declined to weigh into the race either in support or opposition of any candidate on Thursday.

“I think there are a lot of really good candidates,” Parson said, later adding that his position on whether to endorse “may change.”

MAYOR

Burden said. “It really is looking beautiful.”

He said that the program represents a strong partnership between the city, merchants, building owners architects and contractors. He said that city staff is leading work groups of community members as they roll out a comprehensive plan that will oversee development of the city over the next two decades. He said that a complete understanding of housing in Kirksville will determine policy and inform developers.

He said that last year was a remarkable year for the city’s parks and recreation department, noting that the city has a dedicated funding source to make enhancements to the citywide system.

“More importantly we also have a dedicated staff that is bringing this all to fruition,” he said. “This includes a tremendous amount of recreation programs making life more fun for kids of all ages.”

He said that popular hiking trails were repaved last year and are used daily by residents. He talked of new playground equipment installed at Rotary Park, a new concessions stand and bathrooms at the North Park Complex, and the opening of the new Aquatic Center.

“Designed and built to last, it has welcomed thousands of patrons this past summer, far exceeding any of the expectations,” Burden said. “The Aquatic Center has new offerings for people of all ages year round — and that’s in response to feedback that was gathered at listening and planning events held in the community.”

Burden said that he’s enjoyed the center as well and that it was wonderful to see people of all ages enjoying themselves

“It was also just a lot of fun going down those new slides,” he said.

He said that the only thing he liked more was the block parties that were held in local parks in partnership with community agencies and churches. He said that it was there they talked about a variety of city services and discussed possible improvements at local parks within the city.

“It’s clear that parks matter to the people in our community and their voice plays a clear role in shaping the mission of this department,” he said. “To that end we are excited to create a parks master plan this year.”

He said that the effort will again seek value input from local residents and guide how the system develops in the future.

“I hope that everyone will find an opportunity to participate in this planning process,” he said, noting that new developments are coming to many of the city parks.

Burden said that Kirksville is a safe community and that residents were fortunate to have a dedicated team of firefighters, police officers and 911 operators working around the clock to protect and serve the people of Kirksville. He said that in the past year, efforts were made in recruitment and hiring, providing access to education and training at all levels, and the purchase of replacement and enhanced equipment. He said that the offerings were made possible through the voter-approved capital sales tax, keeping police, fire and 911 staff equipped to work successfully.

“We owe them that and so much more as they take on these vitally important roles in our community,” he said.

He said the commitment has continued into 2022 and that the city hopes to welcome more staff and encourage them to make their career in Kirksville. He said that they want to assist the police by bringing in a comprehensive Neighborhood Watch program and that new investment in the 911 system will create greater capacity to better support emergency operations throughout the city and the county.

Burden said that the city has been visited by tragedy in the last year but that he was thankful for the emergency staff that helped the community through hard times and worked diligently to prevent future concerns.

“They cannot be alone in this effort,” he said. “We must all find ways to support education, job development, treatment and counseling and everything else in a modern public safety arsenal.”

He said that with everyone working together, they are making strides in street improvements using sales tax revenue approved by voters, allowing city crews and private contractors to effect positive changes on city streets and major thoroughfares throughout the city. Last year, he said, 9.5 miles of city streets were resurfaced, including three made possible by city crews using asphalt delivered from the city’s own plant.

He said that 2021

brought improvements to the runways and taxiways at the city airport and that the $4 million project, largely funded by federal grants, will be enjoyed by residents for years to come.

He offered gratitude to the state for the improvements on Hwy. 63, which include new sidewalks. He said that the city council has made transportation issues a priority in their 2022 budget and that they have included funds to repave nine miles of city roads in the upcoming year. He said that improvements made in the Factory Addition is of a scale of engineering and paving never before seen on that side of town.

He said that state and federal partnerships have helped immensely with transportation offerings locally. This year, he said, will bring street markings due to the Kirksville Active Mobility Plan (KAMP), a program designed to find alternative ways for cyclists to make their way around the community.

Burden said that utility services in town are better than ever and that last year nearly 900 million gallons of water were distributed safely in Kirksville and Adair County from the city’s water treatment plant.

“That’s water that we use at home and water that is essential in supporting jobs, local institutions and industries,” he said.

Burden said that careful planning, budgeting and saving are financing improvements to the city’s water infrastructure and that the water tower that has stood in town since the 1950s, will be removed this year and has already been replaced with a new tower twice the size, located next to Patryla Park. He said improvements will be made to the city’s wastewater treatment plant in order to be better stewards to those living downstream of the city and that conversations will continue on how to improve water quality as the city continues to grow.

“I am thankful to the dedicated planning both the public works and the finance department carry out to plan for the future of these systems and to keep costs as low as possible for the citizens of our community,” Burden said.

He said that there were great possibilities for the Rieger Armory, which the city had entered into a lease agreement with the state to use as a community building. He said that the parks and recreation department had been showcasing new offerings in the building and are looking at additional ways to support recreation and programmatic efforts to allow the community access. He said they are hopeful the state will divest itself of the building, allowing for local ownership and preservation.

“This pathway, in cooperation with the Kirksville R-III School District, will allow us to save the building from neglect and transform it into a community center for all,” Burden said.

He said that ceding the building to local entities requires an act of the legislature and that he was thankful for the support of the governor, the local state representative and senator in that effort. He said that despite there being no state opposition to the community’s efforts to take control of the building, bills granting the armory to local control may never receive a vote at the state level.

“Kirksville could show the capital a thing or two about prioritizing solutions and progress over ideology and posturing,” he said, noting that he may call upon citizens of Kirksville to reach out to key members of the Missouri House to make the project a reality.

He said he concluded his address with comments on the armory as it epitomizes the concept of “all of us together.”

“Growth of the city is not only measured in dollars and buildings,” he said. “I hope in the coming year we all can grow our connection to one another in ways that will always make Kirksville a warm and welcoming community.”

He said residents need to celebrate together at the many community events, cheer on the town’s student athletes, applaud musicians and performers at concerts and shows, clap for graduates, recognize good entries at the fair, read with students at the summer reading program, shout with joy at parades and welcome neighbors on summer evenings.

“These actions, the kind of actions we can all undertake every day, are actions that are just as impactful in building our community as the other projects I’ve named tonight,” he said. “We can do these together as well.”

He said that the city’s challenges could be overcome by hard work, good planning and a commitment to one another.

“The state of the city is strong because all of us together, make it so,” he said.

Milan girls have cold shooting night in sectional loss to East Buchanan

By Austin Miller
Daily Express

On an unseasonably warm March day in Kirksville, the Milan girls basketball team was freezing cold.

In Wednesday's Class 3 sectional game against East Buchanan, held in Pershing Arena, the Wildcats shot 16.7 percent from the field. That was the leading cause in a 38-34 loss to end the year.

"I'm just sad for my girls. It's a tough battle against a good team; we knew that coming in," said Milan coach Ched Hurley. "They shot a little bit better than us. That's the way it is."

"We just couldn't get any breaks. We pushed in the second half but couldn't get anybody else to knock shots down. Shot cold — probably the worst we've shot all year, actually. It is what it is."

Despite the quiet night of offense, the Wildcats (22-7) were never out of the game. It was a 6-4 game after the first quarter and 18-17 game at halftime.

The Bulldogs (18-11) started the third quarter hot and pulled ahead by 10 on a few occasions, but Milan punched right back and cut the deficit to six entering the fourth.

East Buchanan's Gracie Kelsey was too much to handle. Kelsey scored 27 points and hauled in 20 rebounds, turning in a great playoff performance to take her team to the next round.

A team can have off nights in any game. But when Milan has Cady Pauley, a future Missouri State Bear and one of the best offensive players in the state, those nights are few and far between. Wednesday just happened to be one of those nights.

Pauley finished with 18 points, with 12 coming from the free-throw line. Wednesday will be one of very few where she didn't hit a 3-pointer, going 0-for-6 from outside. And she went 3-for-11 from the field.

That kind of night can be expected when the opposing team double- and triple-teamed her all night long. But East Buchanan isn't the first team to try that strategy. Milan's supporting cast just couldn't hit enough shots to take advantage of those openings. Only two other Wildcats hit more than one shot.

To compound an off night, Pauley fouled out of her final game with 2:46 left. She was immediately emotional and got a standing ovation from the Milan faithful as she walked off for the final time.

But the game wasn't over then. East Buchanan led 35-34, so the Wildcats were still in contention. And with the Bulldogs missing some free throws, the Wildcats still hung around. They just couldn't get a basket to go their way.

As tough as Wednesday's result is, the silver lining should be that several girls battled in crunch time of a sectional game. Those players takeover a team next year that won't have a Cady Pauley, so it's now their program to run.

"I hope they look at it that way. We'll think about that in a week or so," Hurley said. "I hope they look at it that way and are ready to go and step up. We'll feel this one for a little while, then we'll start again."

Pauley heads off to college after one of the best high school careers in state history. With more than 3,000 career points, she's top-seven in the state all-time. For Hurley, who has coached her for three years, he enjoyed the ride.

"Just amazing. She's an amazing kid, amazing player," said Hurley of Pauley. "I've enjoyed every bit of it. It's hard coaching a player like that, but the good definitely outweighs the bad, and I love her and wish her the best of luck. She's been great for our program, got other kids involved and going, wanting to get better. That's what a kid like that needs to do for a program. She did that."

7 Tigers picked for all-NCMC basketball teams

By Austin Miller
Daily Express

Both Tiger teams came away with several representatives on the North Central Missouri Conference's all-conference hoops teams for 2021-22.

Kirksville senior Corinne Vorkink and freshman Elli Porter were first-team selections on the girls team. Junior Channing Totta and senior Jenna Jackson made the second team.

The Tigers went 8-2 in the conference this year, stuck in a three-way tie with Mexico and Moberly for the top mark in the league.

For the boys, juniors Ike Danielson and Keaton Anderson both made the first team. Freshman Cole Kelly was selected for the second team.

Kirksville went 7-3 in conference play, second behind Mexico, who went a perfect 10-0.

Green City boys, La Plata girls lead the way on 2022 all-Tri-County Conference basketball teams

By Austin Miller
Daily Express

To go along with conference titles, the Green City boys and La Plata girls led the way on the Tri-County Conference's all-conference basketball teams.

Green City senior Laydon Fields was selected as the boys MVP. Fellow Gopher Aaron Peavler was a first-team selection. And Donnie Fields was picked as the Coach of the Year.

Atlanta's Roman Phillips and Landon Gilliland, Novinger's Wes Findling and Brashear's Brandon Jochimsen round out the rest of the first team.

The second team features Novinger's Connor Robinson, Green City's Asher Buggs-Tipton and Brashear's Carson Erwin.

And the honorable mentions include Green City's Grant O'Haver, Atlanta's J.J. White and Jason Viers, and La Plata's Cutter St. Clair.

The conference's all-defensive squad includes

Atlanta's Jaron Peavler, Brashear's Jack Reeves, La Plata's Ryan Green, Novinger's Karchy Farrell and Green City's Asher Buggs-Tipton.

La Plata sophomore Paige Carvajal split the girls MVP honor with Meadville's Korrie Holcer. La Plata's Claire Coy and Atlanta's Kyley Magers are also on the first team.

Green City's Celeste Athon, Novinger's Abbi Fountain, Brashear's Lacey Fisher and La Plata's Olivia Coy made the second team.

And La Plata's Brooklyn Carvajal, Green City's LillyAnn McCabe and Atlanta's Aislynn Baker were honorable mentions.

La Plata's Nathan Simler was picked as the Coach of the Year.

And the girls all-defensive team includes Atlanta's Sylvie Christensen, Brashear's Kynleigh White, Green City's LillyAnn McCabe, La Plata's Brooklyn Carvajal and Atlanta's Jenna Farris.

Milan boys fall in tough sectional matchup to Mid-Buchanan

By Austin Miller
Daily Express

There are a lot of things smaller, scrappier teams can try to do to battle a more physically imposing team. But sometimes the bigger, stronger, faster team still wins out.

That was the case Wednesday in a Class 3 sectional game between Milan and Mid-Buchanan. The Dragons had the definite height advantage, featuring a lineup full of six-footers and up. All that size proved too much for the Wildcats as Mid-Buchanan won 49-33.

"I can't fault our effort by any means, it's just a tough matchup," said Milan coach Andrea Dabney. "They're big, strong, fast, pretty deep — and they're in this game for a reason too, you know. Good program, well-coached, disciplined, play good defense and are up in your grill. We don't see a lot of that. ... I'm just proud of how we came out in the second half; we competed and didn't roll over."

Mid-Buchanan (22-6) flexed its muscle early and often, racing out to a 19-6 lead after the first quarter. That gap increased in second half as Milan went cold on offense, going 1-for-8 from the field (12.5 percent) and 2-for-8 from the free-throw line. The Wildcats (20-9) were scoreless for most of the quarter as the Dragons built an insurmountable 32-10 halftime lead.

"We had some opportunities but just didn't capitalize on those opportunities and couldn't put anything in the bucket," Dabney said. "It doesn't matter how good stuff looks and how well you play if you can't put the ball in the bucket."

The Wildcats battled back in the third quarter to make things more competitive, outscoring the Dragons 12-4 in the quarter. But that early gap was just too big to hurdle.

Milan is led by three talented guards: Chekh Niasse, Ahmet Niasse and Jeremy Bennett. Their strength is slashing through lanes to get buckets at the rim. That gameplan was heavily reduced with Mid-Buchanan's size. And the Wildcats can't just fully abandon the principles that got them this far.

So even though the Wildcats had a much better showing in the second half, they were still trying to push a boulder uphill.

Both teams met earlier this season at the Hy-Vee Holiday Shootout on Dec. 31. The Dragons won that game by the same margin, 53-37. Dabney thought her team had a stronger defensive showing this time around, but still a tough matchup for the Wildcats.

Mid-Buchanan's Caiden Bailey had a game-high 22 points, the only player in double figures. Bennett led Milan with nine and Chekh Niasse had eight.

Though a tough end of the line for the Wildcats, Dabney feels great about the state of the program.

After the program's run to the Final Four in 2020, so much of that team graduated right after the big season. So last year was a bit of a rebuild. And the Wildcats still surprised people and played for district hardware.

A more experienced bunch came into this year and likely exceeding expectations again, winning 20 games and regaining that district success. The hope is that the program can be self-sufficient from here on; retooling and adding a few new faces each year instead of starting at ground zero.

"I think (last year) was a good example for the younger guys. For a long time, we had a group of guys that played together from the time they were freshmen on because they were bigger, well-developed and pretty good players," Dabney said. "Now these guys had to pay their dues, and when their time came, they capitalized. I think it shows the young guys, 'I'm not just a role player. My job is to get better so I can be that guy next year.'"

"I think these guys set a good example. Hopefully these young guys see that and take advantage of that. I think there are some guys in (the locker room) with a burning feeling that they'd like to get back here next year. They got a little taste of that success, hopefully it keeps going."
