Kirksville man facing felony weapon charge

By Marty Bachman
Kirksville Daily Express

A Kirksville man, Frank Salsberry, 32, was charged with unlawful use of a weapon, a class E felony and is facing multiple misdemeanors after he waved a gun and pointed it at a woman at the Cresthaven Trailer Court.

According to police, on Feb. 21 at approximately 9:14 p.m., Kirksville Police Officer Jordan Eddy was dispatched to 60 Doyle Way in reference to a report of Salsberry standing in front of the reporting party with a firearm. Eddy was aware of several recent reports involving Salsberry and the caller and while enroute, was notified that Salsberry's Ford Mustang was seen headed northbound on Business 63. Officers searched the area but were unable to locate Salsberry.

Eddy made contact with the victim who told him that earlier in the day she was at the Conoco gas station at 1312 S. Baltimore, when Salsberry pulled into the gas pump on the other side of her and caused a scene, revving his engine and screaming until they went their separate ways.

She told police that that night she was traveling south on Baltimore with a friend when she noticed Salsberry in front of them. She told police Salsberry saw her and started driving erratically. She said that after a few blocks, Salsberry turned off and she proceeded to the trailer court. She asked her passenger to check the side mirror for a distinct blue headlight on Salsberry's Mustang and was told it was coming, and

North Park Skate Park to get upgraded features

By Marty Bachman
Kirksville Daily Express

The Kirksville City Council approved a resolution for the purchase and installation of skate park features for North Park Skate Park from American Ramp Company in Joplin at their March 7 meeting. According to a staff report, the city accepted a bid from American Ramp Company and the Lakes, Parks and Recreation Commission had multiple conversations with their design team on how to best utilize the available funding to provide features appropriate for the users in Kirksville. The proposal includes the installation of new rolled steel skate features and some additional skate rails, which will allow for the use of bicycles, rollerblades/skates, and scooters to utilize the park in addition to skateboarders.

The features come with a 20-year warranty and could be relocated in the future if the city builds a new park in another location. The skate park features will be installed before the end of May and are in line with the THINK Kirkville 2040. The total cost for the construction and installation will be $74,995, and $75,000 was budgeted for the completion of this project.

Parks Director Rodney Sadler told the council that these were temporary features while the city is in the development of a long-term plan for a concrete park that could be located at Rotary Park or somewhere in the park system.

"I've had several people ask about this," said Councilmember John Gardner. "I'm excited to see that we're at this point and it will be in place by summer. I think we have a community in Kirksville that will take advantage of this."

"It's neat to see we're keeping in mind the varied ways that people in our community look at recreation so I'm glad to see this moving forward," said Burden.

In its final action item of the evening, the council unanimously approved the appointment of Lori Shook to the Kirksville Historic Preservation Society for a full three-year term ending in February 2025. According to the staff report, the organization works to protect and preserve places, areas, and neighborhoods of historical and cultural importance within the city limits for the promotion of its economic development. Shook has a background as an architect.

I've had the opportunity to work with Lori in the past and think she'll make an excellent addition to the commission and as a member of the commission, I'm excited to have her on board," said Burden.

Grant funds will revamp city's 911 service

By Marty Bachman
Kirksville Daily Express

The Kirksville City Council, at their March 7 meeting, approved an ordinance authorizing the execution of a contract between the city and the Missouri Department of Economic Development under the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program, for the replacement of the city's 911 system, and establishing the mayor and city manager as authorized representatives of the city.

According to a staff report, in August 2021, the city submitted an application to the CDBG program for the funding to upgrade the 911 equipment that will allow for advanced geolocation and data services, while also adding text to 911, pictures, and videos to aid in communications to assist hearing and speech-impaired, and improve language barriers, as well as obtain funds to replace two existing workstations and adding a third station.

"There are times when the dispatchers, there's a lot of calls that come in, so having the third station for somebody to step into will be helpful," said City Manager Mari Macomber.

The pricing for the equipment was estimated at $609,603 and the grant agreement includes these funds, along with $17,500 for administrative services provided by NEMO RPC. In addition to the equipment costs, the city has allocated funds (up to $50,000) to improve the operational space of the 911 Center. Any amount over this cost will be provided through the 911 Joint Service Board. Bids are currently being sought for the building improvements.

"I think this is really important," said Councilmember John Gardner. "I think a lot of times in our community, and I know my generation, 911 has always been a thing, but it's not always been a thing and its not guaranteed in every community. There are a lot of communities in northeast Missouri that maybe don't have this available so I think anything we can do to keep this up to date and serving our community is very important."

"This is huge, not just on the dollar amount but the ability to make this be something we can look forward to without having any city dollars come in on it other than some small things that are going in on it there," said Mayor Zac Burden. "It really helps to make sure this system is working very well, supporting fire, police and ambulance in the county — all the other agencies this works with. This is fantastic."

Council grants nine month extension to property owner to upgrade parking

By Marty Bachman
Kirksville Daily Express

The Kirksville City Council, at their March 7 meeting, approved an ordinance granting a parking variance at 714 N. John Street, the old Willard School, which had its property rezoned in 2006 requiring the owners to install hard surface parking within three years of the rezone to a commercial district. The improvements were never completed and the property has since changed ownership and business licenses have been issued without being brought up to code.

City code requires the property owner to conform to asphalt thickness requirements, connection to a street by pavement, meet minimum dimensions at the entrances or minimum dimensions for maneuvering, comply with ADA requirements, and create seven hard-surface parking spaces including one ADA compliant space and ADA access connecting to the building.

In a letter to the planning commission, the owner of the property expressed that the cost of the improvements would create a financial hardship. At the Feb. 9 meeting of the planning commission, two people spoke in favor and no one spoke against the extension and the commission voted 8-0 to recommend the council approval of the variance request for a six month extension to meet the required

Council approves purchase of property that will add land to Jaycee Park

By Marty Bachman
Kirkville Daily Express

The Kirkville City Council approved an ordinance authorizing the purchase of land located at 1103 N. Osteopathy Street in Kirkville at their March 7 meeting. According to the ordinance, the land, two acres, is adjacent to Jaycee Park and the city will purchase the property for $50,000 plus closing costs.

A staff report states that the city will need to raze the structures on the property and may be able to do most of the work using city personnel.

"Both Police and Fire could use the property immediately for training opportunities until the buildings are razed," the staff report states, noting that the land will be made part of Jaycee Park and that the timing of the purchase will allow for consideration of the land in the long-range park master plan process. "Jaycee Park is considered a neighborhood park, and of all the city-owned parks it has the least amount of green space," the staff report states.

"I think it's a good opportunity to expand the park..." said Councilmember John Gardner. "This is a real opportunity to expand that park, which I understand has the smallest amount of green space of any of our parks."

The city council granted a one year extension for a special use permit to operate a communal house at 918 S. Osteopathy Street, identified as the Kirkville French Church. According to a staff report, the owners of the property requested an extension of the special use permit and at the same time, one for a daycare in the same facility. The property is zoned properly with a special use permit and one was granted on Aug. 16, 2021, however, because the property owners were unable to complete their plans in the last six months, the permit became void. They were granted a one year extension at the Feb. 9, 2022 planning and zoning meeting with no one speaking against the project and the commission voting 8-0 to approve it.

City Planner Mary Turner reported that the church had prioritized the daycare facility over the communal house, which involves being licensed by the state of Missouri.

The council voted unanimously to approve the ordinance allowing a one year extension on the special use permit for the communal house and then unanimously approved a second ordinance allowing a one year extension of the special use permit for the daycare facility at the same address.

Council grants extension on special use permit to operate temporary rental

The council approved an ordinance granting a six month extension to a special use permit to operate a temporary rental with conditions at 1509 Halliburton Street. According to a staff report, the owner of the property was recommended for a special use permit by the planning commission to allow for the operation of a temporary rental, on Sept. 8, 2021. The permit was approved by the council on Sept. 21, 2021 and was contingent on the parking area being brought up to code within six months.

This new equipment will also position us so that we could possibly support those areas that do not have 911," said Macomber. The council unanimously approved the execution of the agreement and the passing of the ordinance.

The city council then unanimously approved a resolution to execute a grant administration agreement with the Northeast Missouri Regional Planning Commission for grant administration services to receive the $17,500 for administrative support services.

"This is just a really great example of why the regional planning commission is so important and has the ability to help not just Kirkville but other governments throughout the six-county area," said Mayor Zac Burden. "They bring a lot of expertise and know-how to help with grant funding and a whole lot of other things. I'm very thankful for the staff of NEMO RPC, so thank you."

OBITUARIES

Mary Lee Jorgenson

Apr 28, 1927 — Mar 6, 2022

Mary Lee Jorgenson, beloved wife of Dale A. Jorgenson, passed away Sunday, March 6, 2022 in Bettendorf, Iowa.

Mrs. Jorgenson was born in Ohio County, West Virginia on April 28, 1927 to John Salem and Hazel Riggs Strawn. She was raised on an active and hard-working family dairy farm, and graduated from Triadelphia High School in Wheeling, WV in May, 1945; as WW II was still winding down she then went directly to Washington, D.C., where she became a specialist in fingerprint analysis for the FBI.

In June, 1946, Mary Lee went to Harding College (now University), in Searcy, Arkansas, where she met Dale Jorgenson. They were married on the Harding College Campus on May 29, 1947. Mary Lee completed her first two years of college before the young family moved.

Following her husband's career, Mary Lee attended classes at Southeastern Christian College in Kentucky, Texas Woman's University, Bethany College (West Virginia), and Northeast Missouri State Teachers' College (now Truman State University) in Kirksville, MO, from which she received both her bachelor's and master's degrees.

She began teaching English after her children were all of school age, first at Brashear High School, and later at Ophelia Parrish Junior High School in Kirksville, retiring in 1987.

Mary Lee was the quintessential Christian helpmate, not only moving with her husband Dale from one post to the next, but traveling with and working beside him as he was conducting research on and writing five books. She traveled in 49 of the United States and made fourteen trips to Europe to support him in academic research and professional meetings. She read, edited, and carefully proofed every article or book written by her husband.

She had a beautiful and strong voice, and loved to sing in church and in choruses, participating in numerous performances of major oratorios, as well as in college musicals and concerts. (As a mother of [then] four she sang in Dale's Bethany College Choir tour of Scotland just as if she were another young coed, and was once one of the "three little maids from school.") As "the preacher's wife" she joined many different church choirs, and easily switched from soprano to alto as needed.

Mary Lee was an enthusiastic sports fan, encouraging her children to participate in athletics, and joining Dale in following favored college and professional teams. Mary Lee was enthusiastic in every avenue of her life, once diving off the high dive at the Kirksville Municipal Swimming Pool on a dare. She swam and rode bikes with her kids, beat them

occasionally at a rapid fire game of round robin ping-pong, and took frequent vigorous walks.

Mary Lee's children remember her often whipping up a batch of homemade ice cream — for others to crank of course, or making an extra Christmas dessert because her oldest loved the Kentucky stirred custard. She loved entertaining, especially at the holidays.

Mrs. Jorgenson loved teaching, she enjoyed daily Bible study, reading on a wide variety of topics, plant care, attending cultural activities, and spending time at community and church events. She was interested in genealogy and in travel, sometimes combining these interests while necessarily using her well-honed map-reading and navigational skills. Mary Lee lived far away from her childhood home and relatives, and visiting family members was one of her highest priorities.

Mary Lee loved Jesus and loved life. She naturally loved people and they reciprocated, even eliciting a touching fondness from the caregivers at The Fountains/The Cascades in Bettendorf, Iowa who attended her during the last year of her life, and to whom great thanks is owed.

Mary Lee gave her life to Christ in 1944, and served as a beloved wife of a minister at six congregations. She was a member of the Kirksville Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) at the time of her death.

Mary Lee is survived by one sister, Colleen Martsof of Salem, Ohio, all five of her children, Dale A. Jorgenson, Rebekah Lee Stringert, Mark S. Jorgenson (Colette), Janet Jorgenson (Paul Powell), and Eric L. Jorgenson (Alicia), as well as by ten grandchildren, Rachel Collett, Joshua Selser, Matthew S. (Jodi) and Brian Jorgenson, Dana Jorgenson, Alexandra Civalieri (Mischka), Laura Jorgenson (Daniel Garrett), Paul J. Powell, and Marek and Lucas Jorgenson. Mary Lee is also survived by five great grandchildren: Becca and Brooks Jorgenson, Lydia Mae and Caroline Jean Garrett, and Luna Kathleen Civalieri.

Mrs. Jorgenson was preceded in death by her husband Dale, her parents, four brothers and five sisters, her daughter-in-law Rebecca Ann Jorgenson and her daughter-in-law Jean Jorgenson.

Friends and family hope to gather in Christian fellowship to honor Mary Lee's life on Saturday, May 14, 2022 at the Davis-Playle-Hudson-Rimer Funeral Home in Kirksville, Missouri at 11:00 am, with a luncheon immediately following.

State representative offers legislation to eliminate sales tax on most food items

By Press Release

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — Missourians worried about the rising cost of inflation would get some relief in the form of lower prices at the grocery store under legislation sponsored by state Rep. Mary Elizabeth Coleman. Coleman's HB 1992, which would eliminate Missouri's sales tax on most food sales, received the approval of the House Ways and Means Committee this week and will soon be on its way to the House floor for discussion.

Coleman's bill had previously been amended by the committee in a way that undermined Coleman's intent to provide tax relief. However, the chairs of the House Ways and Means Committee and the House Rules — Administrative Oversight Committee worked with Coleman to reconsider the bill and correct the mistake. HB 1992 now achieves its original purpose of eliminating the state's sales tax on food, which would save Missourians approximately $144 million each year on their grocery purchases.

"I want to thank Chairman Mike McGill and Chairman J. Eggleston for working with me to fix this important legislation and return it to its original intent. I know Missouri families all around the state who are struggling to make ends meet appreciate their commitment to providing much-needed tax relief," said Coleman, R-Arnold.

She added, "It's time to put an end to this regressive tax that does the most harm to the poorest Missourians. I urge all of my colleagues in the legislature to work with me to provide Missouri families with substantive tax relief that will help them to make ends meet during these extremely difficult times."

The owners were not able to secure a contractor and complete the required parking area prior to the onset of winter weather but they have secured a contractor to complete the project in the spring of this year.

"The contractor has been in contact with the Code Enforcement Director to ensure the proposed improvements will meet our requirements," the report states. "Because the special use has not begun, and six months will pass on March 21, 2022, the SUP "shall be automatically void" without the approval of an extension."

On Feb. 9, the planning commission voted 8-0 to recommend a six-month extension to complete the hard-surfaced parking requirements. The council unanimously approved the extension.

The city council approved a resolution for the purchase and installation of skate park features for North Park Skate Park from American Ramp Company in Joplin. According to a staff report, the city accepted a bid from American Ramp Company and the Lakes, Parks and Recreation Commission had multiple conversations with their design team on how to best utilize the available funding to provide features appropriate for the users in Kirksville. The proposal includes the installation of new rolled steel skate features and some additional skate rails, which will allow for the use of bicycles, rollerblades/skates, and scooters to utilize the park in addition to skateboarders.

The features come with a 20-year warranty and could be relocated in the future if the city builds a new park in another location. The skate park features will be installed before the end of May and are in line with the THINK Kirksville 2040. The total cost for the construction and installation will be $74,995, and $75,000 was budgeted for the completion of this project.

Parks Director Rodney Sadler told the council that these were temporary features while the city is in the development of a long-term plan for a concrete park that could be located at Rotary Park or somewhere in the park system.

improvements to the parking lot.

"ADA requirements will need to be met prior to approving a business license at this location," the staff report states, noting that approval of the variance will allow tenants to legally lease the space and is in line with the THINK Kirksville 2040 comprehensive plan guidelines.

Tony Askew, owner of the property, told the council that the ADA requirements had already been met and that there was ADA parking and an ADA ramp. He said that it was the backside of the building where the annex was and that there was already asphalt there, just not as thick as required.

Askew said that it was going to cost $10,000 to put more asphalt on the parking lot and that it was very expensive to keep the building maintained.

"We plan on keeping it maintained, we plan on keeping it but we're trying to get a business in there to help with the process and then we get told after that, that what we had for three years wasn't going to work anymore... we had to make the change," Askew said. "It's been a little hard on us, we're going to come up with the money, we're going to do whatever, do a go-fund me and tell them we've been required to make a change."

Askew said that he was not trying to skirt code, but that they had bought an extremely expensive building under one understanding but that now codes had changed and he was just wondering if they could save $10,000 and go with $2,000. He asked to be grandfathered in but his request was denied by the planning commission, which told him they did not have the authority. City Manager Mari Macomber said that the council would have to pass an ordinance that would make the change to grandfather him in, a choice the council seemed reluctant to make.

Councilmember John Gardner said that he was inclined to grant the variance to allow them to get the business license as long as the ADA requirements had been met.

"It sounds like a pretty competent understanding of what needs to be done so hopefully they can get it done in that short period of time so that everything else is online for six months," Gardner said. "I think we still want the parking lot to be at the appropriate level, at least that's what I think, because it will last and hold up."

"I feel really strongly about bringing the parking situation up to code, I think that's really important but I would be happy to say even nine months if we could save ourselves having to revisit this and then you being able to have a couple of extra months if you feel that could help you at all," Councilmember Jennifer Walston told Askew.

The motion was amended to include the change from six months to nine months. The council then voted unanimously to approve the nine month parking variance.

She told police that she took a lap around the trailer court and that Salsberry followed her. When they got to Doren Way, Salsberry passed her, cut her off, then stopped in front of her vehicle and reversed his vehicle, striking the front of her car with the back of his.

According to the report, Salsberry got out of his vehicle and was screaming and waving a gun around. The witness identified the gun as one Salsberry keeps in his waistband at all times. The victim and her passenger remained in the car with the windows rolled up and doors closed when she alleged Salsberry pointed the gun at her as he was yelling. Feeling threatened, the victim put her car in reverse and backed up. Salsberry returned to his vehicle and reversed toward her then backed up behind her vehicle as she drove a pair of laps around the trailer court while he followed her.

The victim told police that Salsberry stopped by the mailboxes of the trailer court then reversed around halfway down Dwight Way and stopped. The victim told police she stopped at the corner of Doyle and Colyer to listen for his vehicle then heard it going down Business 63. She did two more laps around the trailer court to ensure police were on their way before pulling into her driveway.

When police arrived, the passenger in the car reaffirmed that the gun had been pointed at them and the driver handed over menacing texts that police confirmed had been sent to her from Salsberry.

In addition to the felony weapon charge, Salsberry has been charged with 2nd degree stalking, 2nd Degree harassment, 4th degree domestic assault, leaving the scene of an accident, and 2nd degree property damage, all misdemeanors.

SUDOKU

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Organize your thoughts and create a plan that will help you structure what you want to accomplish this year. Abide by rules to avoid setbacks. Be innovative, think big and share your vision, but recognize what is and isn't doable. Your sense of timing will have to be impeccable for best results. Home improvements will make your life easier.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) -- Hang out with people who have something to contribute. Gather knowledge and experience, and be open to suggestions and doing things differently. You will make worthwhile connections.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) -- Concentrate on home, family and building a life of comfort and convenience. Take responsibility for your happiness and bring about the changes necessary to help you excel.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) -- Assertive action will impress someone who can help you speed things up. Get involved in meaningful projects and focus on better health, relationships and overall success.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) -- Express your desires and follow through with your plans. Don't let others influence you to make decisions that are not right for you. Take a secretive approach in order to dodge interference.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) -- Speak to whomever is in charge to bypass red tape. Getting the low-down before you begin something new will allow you to act quickly and secure your position.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) -- Educate yourself before you take on something foreign to you. Go directly to the source, ask questions, take notes and head in the direction that offers hope and promise. Share your thoughts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) -- Discuss money matters, contracts and health issues with someone who can shed light on situations that baffle you. Don't feel obligated to make sudden changes because someone else does. Test your strength.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) -- Keep emotions in check when dealing with professional matters and discussions that can influence your reputation and goals. If you want to get ahead, discipline and hard work will be necessary.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) -- Take care of personal matters, finances and your home and family. Listen to complaints and offer solutions. Build a place of comfort and convenience that people find welcoming.

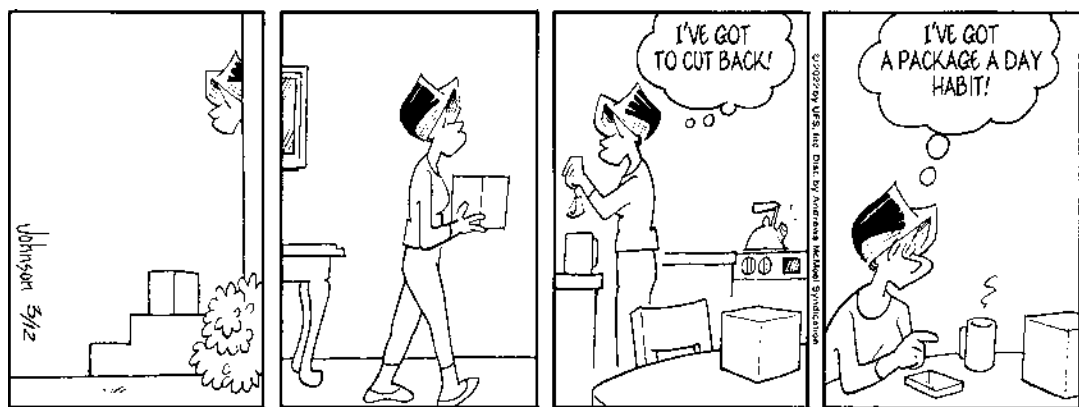

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) -- Document what's being said and get what you want in writing. Someone will try to mislead you if given a chance. Talk is cheap; actions speak louder than words. Live up to your promises.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) -- Consider what you do for a living and how you earn and spend your money. You are overdue for a change, and updating your skills and qualifications will help you explore new possibilities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) -- Do something creative. Turn something you love to do into a profitable pastime. Don't deny yourself the chance to grow personally, financially and emotionally. Romance is featured.

ASTROGRAPH BY EUGENIA LAST

Expand your interests, hone your skills and focus on personal growth and self-improvement. Strive for perfection. Look at what's trending and set big goals. It's time to break new ground and discover what you can do. Change what is no longer working for you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) -- Turn your ideas into a reality. Invite change and adventure into your life and explore possibilities that excite you. Take control, expand your interests and greet life with gusto.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) -- Keep your thoughts and plans to yourself until you have a foolproof strategy. Don't let your emotions get in the way of your success. Preparation is the key to personal gain.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) -- Concentrate on what you can accomplish, not on the impossible. Put a strategy in place and expand your plans slowly and with precision. Pay attention to details and costs.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) -- Don't overlook the obvious. Do your research and get your facts straight before you act. Knowledge and education are critical when dealing with people trying to take advantage of you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) -- Embrace change, be the instigator and improve your life. Make decisions based on experience and verified information. Use your attributes to get ahead, and market and present what you have to offer.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) -- Gather information to help you get ahead. Don't make an unnecessary change. Bide your time and do things right the first time. Assess relationships and determine who is beneficial and who is dead weight.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) -- Pitch in and do your part. Network, seek out organizations that interest you and work alongside people who share your concerns. A lifestyle change will be difficult but worthwhile.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) -- Stay focused on what's important to you. Take care of responsibilities quickly, and you'll get to spend more time with your loved ones. A personal change will lift your spirits.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) -- Be receptive to what others have to say and respond with thoughtfulness. Your willingness to help will make a difference and put you in a better position when you want something in return.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) -- Don't believe everything you hear. Getting together with friends or family will have its ups and downs. Avoid indulgence. Remain calm, in control and healthy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) -- Reminiscing with a loved one will lead to positive changes. Taking better care of yourself and your finances will put your mind at ease. Create a strategy that encourages personal gain.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) -- Lie low, work on something that matters to you and avoid emotionally draining situations. Don't take a risk that can lead to injury or poor health. Abide by the rules and regulations.

Macon gets 7 on Clarence Cannon all-conference basketball teams

By Austin Miller
Daily Express

The Macon boys and girls basketball teams featured prominently on the Clarence Cannon Conference's all-conference teams for 2021-22.

For the Tigerettes, senior guard Lexi Miller was a unanimous first team player and named a Co-MVP with South Shelby's Miranda Patterson. Shelby Petre made the second team and Brooke Weimer was an honorable mention.

For the boys, Boston Douglas was a unanimous first-team selection. Maurice Magruder and Hayden Lovingier were second-teamers and MyKel Linear was an honorable mention. Fortunately for the Tigers, they get all four of those guys back next year after playing for a district title this season.

Truman shaking off tough stretch, confident to be back in NCAA Tournament

By Austin Miller
Daily Express

Every basketball season is long and arduous, with ebbs and flows along the run from November to March. For a team that went to the Elite Eight last season and returned most of its lineup, some might not have expected the roller coaster that the Truman men's basketball team has been on this year, especially recently.

Truman started the season ranked No. 6 in the country, only to fall out of the top 25 as the season went on.

The Bulldogs finished the season going 3-3, falling in the GLVC Tournament to Indianapolis. Truman started February on a six-game win streak, looking like the team that figured some things out and was primed for another big postseason. Then freshman point guard Trey Shearer broke his collarbone in a win against Illinois-Springfield. The rhythm they had was lost.

Now back in the NCAA Tournament for the second straight season (and third time qualifying since the 2020 tournament was canceled), the Bulldogs (20-9) have a fresh start. The regular season is over. Now it's win or go home.

"It's one of those things where we're just not playing great basketball right now," said Truman coach Jeff Horner. "Since Trey got hurt we're 3-3. Obviously that takes a little bit back for it, no doubt about it. But I know we still have the guys to win a national championship. Hopefully we just get a bit of a wakeup call. It's interesting how we come out against Rockhurst at home, with high intensity and that kind of stuff. Then when we played against Indianapolis, we just didn't have that spark. We have to have that spark all the time. We've just fought that inconsistency all year, in my opinion."

Truman received the No. 4 seed in the Midwest region and draws No. 5 Missouri-St. Louis (24-6) first. That's a bit of a frustrating matchup since the two Great Lakes Valley Conference schools are so familiar with each other. Horner and the Bulldogs would have preferred to play a new team. And for conference representation, they would rather each team go as far as they could before clashing.

"In the same sense, you have to play really good teams to win it anyway, and UMSL's a really good team. Just would've been nice if the committee maybe separated conference teams in the first round," Horner said. "You might have to play them anyway at some point, but every region seemed to do that except ours."

Every game the two teams have played the last three years has pretty much been a playoff-type game. The Bulldogs have won five straight against the Tritons, and those were all tough battles.

Aside from a 12-point Truman win last season, those five games have been tight. Three of them were decided by one point.

And the Tritons head in as one of the hottest teams in the country. UMSL has won 10 straight, including a run to win the GLVC Tournament. Marty Jackson (16.9), Yaakema Rose (11.7) and Jose Grubbs (11.1) all average double-digit points each night. And Steve Webb has been the conference's defensive player of the year for three straight seasons.

"UMSL and us are probably the cream of the conference. Different styles, contrasting styles, but we have a lot of respect for them and what they do," said Truman forward Cade McKnight, who averaged 19.4 points per game this year. "At the end of the day, just have to go out there and make them adjust to what we do instead of the other way around."

"Very high intensity games," said Horner to describe games with the Tritons. "I'll say this, I think we're two of the best teams in our league, so it's always a dogfight. It's going to be a really good game, hopefully we come out on top."

Horner said there are several keys to winning this game. The first comes down to finishing. The Bulldogs had a late lead in a Dec. 2 meeting in Pershing Arena. The Tritons made a run to send the game to overtime. A halfcourt 3 from Masen Miller gave Truman a 72-71 win. Then in a return match on Jan. 20, the Bulldogs blitzed UMSL in the first half, leading 38-23 at halftime. UMSL outscored Truman in the second half as the Bulldogs won 79-72.

Defense will also be crucial. Truman scores well enough to be in every game, but lapses on the other side have frustrated a defensive-minded coach like Horner. Regaining an edge and some toughness are important there. He wants to see his guys play with the swagger that he feels they should have.

One potential boost in that department is that the Bulldogs are flying to Ohio, the first time they've not traveled by bus to a game since a summer exhibition in the Bahamas in Horner's first year in 2018. He said he hopes that make the Bulldogs feel more big-time, changing up what has been a consistent routine for four years.

In some cases, Truman's erratic runs this season come down to the team waiting for this moment for a year. After the Flagler loss in the Elite Eight, Truman wanted that game back immediately. Getting that close to the summit, you can see why the Bulldogs maybe overlooked teams this year. That didn't do them any favors.

Now it's time to be that team people expected big things from.

"I think when you have success like that, then you go through the regular season and think, 'Well, we're going to make it.' It's not how it works. It doesn't just happen like that," Horner said. "I think that's something we've got to learn, but also, in the same sense, if this is what we've been waiting for, then we better be ready to go."

"We have been a little inconsistent, kind of done it to ourselves. But at the same time, we still think we're the best team in the conference," McKnight said. "We didn't prove that in the conference tournament, but we've got a chance to do that here. Even with a down year for us, we were 20-9 and one of two schools in our conference that did make it. We like our chances. If we get through this first round, see some different teams, I think we can really make a run here."

If Truman gets through UMSL, they'll get the winner of top-seed and region host Walsh (23-6) and Davenport (17-13).

MLB players vote to end lockout, salvaging 162-game season

By RONALD BLUM
AP Baseball Writer

NEW YORK — Players have voted to accept Major League Baseball's latest offer for a new labor deal, paving the way to end a 99-day lockout and salvage a 162-game regular season that will begin April 7.

The union's executive board approved the agreement in a 26-12 vote Thursday, pending ratification by all players, a person familiar with the balloting said, speaking to The Associated Press on condition of anonymity because no announcement was authorized.

MLB sent the players an offer Thursday and gave them until 3 p.m. to accept in order to play a full season. The union announced the player vote around 3:25 p.m. Owners planned to hold a ratification vote later in the day.

The agreement will allow training camps to open this week in Florida and Arizona, more than three weeks after they were scheduled to on Feb. 16. Fans can start making plans to be at Fenway Park, Dodger Stadium and Camden Yards next month. Opening day is being planned a little more than a week behind the original date on March 31.

The deal will also set off a rapid-fire round of free agency. Carlos Correa, Freddie Freeman and Kris Bryant are among 138 big leaguers still without a team, including some who might benefit from the adoption of a universal designated hitter.

The sport's new collective bargaining agreement will also expand the playoffs to 12 teams and introduce incentives to limit so-called "tanking." The minimum salary will rise from $570,500 to about $700,000 and the luxury tax threshold will increase from $210 million to around $230 million this year, a slight loosening for the biggest spenders such as the Yankees, Mets, Dodgers and Red Sox. A new bonus pool was established for players not yet eligible for arbitration, a way to boost salaries for young stars.

Commissioner Rob Manfred had set a Tuesday deadline for a deal that would preserve a 162-game schedule along with full pay and service time required for players to reach free agency. Talks spilled past the deadline and Manfred announced more cancellations Wednesday, increasing the total to 184 of the 2,230 games.

After yet another snag, this time over management's desire for an international amateur draft, the deal came together Thursday afternoon and capped nearly a year of talks that saw pitchers Max Scherzer and Andrew Miller take prominent roles as union spokesmen.

Players had fumed for years about the deal that expired Dec. 1, which saw payroll decline for 4% in 2021 compared to the last full season, back to their 2015 level. The union had an ambitious negotiating stance in talks that began last spring, asking for free-agency rights to increase with an age-based backstop and for an expansion of salary arbitration to its level from 1974-86.

In the late stages, the level and rates of the luxury tax, designed as a break on spending, became the key to a deal.

Atlanta Braves minor leaguers are shown at spring training baseball camp in North Port, Fla., Wednesday, March 9, 2022. CURTIS COMPTON — MEMBER IMAGE SHARE, ATLANTA JOURNAL-CONSTITUTION

Players think that too low a threshold and too high a rate acts tantamount to a salary cap, which the union fought off with a 7 1/2-month strike in 1994-95.

The agreement came after three days of shuttle negotiations between the MLB offices in midtown Manhattan and the players' association headquarters, three blocks away. Despite hundreds of hours of threats and counter-threats, the sides are set to avoid regular-season games being canceled by labor conflict for the first time since the 1994-95 strike. Games originally announced as canceled by Manfred were changed to postponed, and MLB will modify the original schedule.

The deal came at a cost, though, with years of public rancor again casting both owners and players as money obsessed. Spring training in Arizona and Florida was disrupted for the third straight year following two exhibition seasons altered by the coronavirus pandemic. Exhibition games had been scheduled to start Feb. 26.

Players will have about 28 days of training rather than the usual 42 for pitchers and catchers. In some ways, the negotiations were similar to those in 1990, when a lockout started Feb. 15 and ended with a four-year deal announced 1:18 a.m. on March 19.

Seahawks agree to trade Russell Wilson to Denver

By ARNIE STAPLETON
AP Pro Football Writer

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. — The Denver Broncos have finally landed a worthy successor to Peyton Manning.

Six years and a day after Manning retired, Broncos general manager George Paton agreed to send a massive haul of players and draft picks to the Seattle Seahawks for nine-time Pro Bowl quarterback Russell Wilson, two people familiar with the negotiations confirmed to The Associated Press on Tuesday.

The people spoke on condition of anonymity because the blockbuster trade, which is pending Wilson passing a physical, can't become official until the start of the new league year on March 16. The teams cannot comment on the deal until then, but the Broncos cleverly tweeted a clip of Tom Hanks' character in "Cast Away" drawing a face on the volleyball he named "Wilson."

About an hour later, the Seahawks tweeted another clip from that movie in which Hanks' scraggly, skinny character loses the volleyball at sea and hollers, "Wilson, where are you? Wilson! Wilson!"

Denver was seen as the front-runner for Aaron Rodgers before the two-time reigning MVP agreed Tuesday to stay in Green Bay, presumably as the highest-paid player in NFL history. Not long afterward, Paton landed a Super Bowl-winning quarterback anyway, and one who's five years younger than the 38-year-old Packers star. The NFL Network reported the Seahawks agreed to send Wilson and a fourth-round pick to Denver in exchange for two first-round picks, two second-round picks, and a fifth-round pick, along with quarterback Drew Lock, defensive end Shelby Harris and tight end Noah Fant, the Broncos' first-round draft pick in 2019.

Since Manning retired a month after winning Super Bowl 50, the Broncos have churned through 10 starting quarterbacks, including a different starter in each of the last five season openers: Trevor Siemian, Case Keenum, Joe Flacco, Lock and Teddy Bridgewater, who beat out Lock last summer.

Chiefs place franchise tag on left tackle Orlando Brown Jr

By Dave Skretta
Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The Chiefs placed the franchise tag on left tackle Orlando Brown Jr. on Monday, making it a near-certainty that he will play for Kansas City next season while also giving the two sides time to work out a long-term contract.

In an aggressive revamping of their offensive line last off-season, the Chiefs traded a first-round pick and three other draft picks to the Baltimore Ravens to acquire Brown, even though he had just one year left on his rookie contract.

By expending that much draft capital on protecting quarterback Patrick Mahomes' blind side, it became clear that Kansas City planned to either sign Brown to an extension or place the franchise tag on him. Because the Chiefs did the latter with a non-exclusive tag, Brown has the freedom to negotiate with other teams while Kansas City keeps the option of matching any offer.

If the Chiefs let Brown go, they would receive two first-round draft picks in compensation.

"We're going to work hard to get a deal done with him," Chiefs general manager Brett Veach said at last week's scouting combine in Indianapolis. "Hopefully everything ends up in a positive direction."

If Brown plays next season under the franchise tag, he would be paid the average of the top five salary cap hits for NFL left tackles. The exact number is not yet available, but it's likely to be about $16.5 million.

Teams had until Tuesday afternoon to place the franchise tag on a player.

Brown started every game for Kansas City last season, and every game the two years before that with Baltimore. He's missed just six of 64 regular-season games since he was the Ravens' third-round pick in the 2018 draft.

"Typically, the larger the deals the longer they take. We've been through that with Patrick and Chris (Jones) and what have you," Veach said. "We're going to work to see if we can get things executed as efficiently as possible, but we also know that it might take some time and we feel confident though by the start of the season we'll be in a good place there."

By using the tag on Brown, the Chiefs are allowing safety Tyrann Mathieu to explore free agency. The three-time All-Pro has made it clear that he wants to return to Kansas City, and Veach acknowledged last week that he would prefer to see No. 32 leading the Chiefs' secondary next season, but the numbers have to work for the cash-strapped franchise.

The Chiefs already released linebacker Anthony Hitchens to save some money, but they will need to make additional moves — either cuts or the restructuring of contracts — to get below the salary cap.

"We had a chance to talk (to Mathieu's agents). We communicated that we certainly love Tyrann, and Tyrann loves being here. This is actually the start of that process now," Veach said. "Once the season ends, the coaches do their deal and we sit back, we collect all the information — we get with the coaches after they go through their scheme evaluations."

"And we know that once Indy rolls around," Veach continued, "we'll have a chance to on one end, see all the great college prospects, but on the other hand, have an opportunity to talk with our players' agents and exchange information."

Falcons WR Ridley suspended for '22 for bets on NFL games

By CHARLES ODUM
Associated Press

ATLANTA — For endangering the integrity of the sport by betting on games, Atlanta Falcons wide receiver Calvin Ridley has been suspended by the NFL for at least the next season.

Ridley won't play in 2022 and there is no guarantee for the NFL future of the player who had been expected to be the Falcons' top target for quarterback Matt Ryan.

NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell on Monday suspended Ridley after a league investigation determined Ridley bet on NFL games in 2021 while away from the team addressing mental health concerns. The league says the suspension will carry "through at least the conclusion of the 2022 season."

The NFL says the betting took place during a five-day period in late November 2021. Ridley was placed on the non-football illness list following Week 8 last season, which ended Nov. 1.

Ridley wrote on his Twitter account on Monday "I bet 1500 total I don't have a gambling problem."

He also seemed to take a light-hearted approach to his suspension when he added in another post "I know I was wrong But I'm getting 1 year lol." He also said "Just gone be more healthy when I come back."

Ridley defended himself in another tweet when he said "If you know me you know my character."

A league investigation uncovered no evidence inside information was used or that any game was compromised by Ridley's betting, Goodell's announcement said. Nor was there evidence suggesting Falcons coaches, players or staff were aware of Ridley's betting activity.

Ridley may petition for reinstatement after Feb. 23, 2023.

During the offseason, the Falcons have had no update on Ridley's status. The team released a statement Monday in which it said it cooperated with the league's investigation in the last month.

"We were first made aware of the league's investigation on Feb. 9," the Falcons said in the statement. "We have cooperated fully with the investigation since receiving notice, and support the league's findings and actions. We are moving forward in the 2022 season with the decision that was made. With the decision that was made by the NFL, any further questions on the investigation should be directed to the league office."

In a letter from Goodell to Ridley, the commissioner said:

"There is nothing more fundamental to the NFL's success — and to the reputation of everyone associated with our league — than upholding the integrity of the game.

"This is the responsibility of every player, coach, owner, game official, and anyone else employed in the league. Your actions put the integrity of the game at risk, threatened to damage public confidence in professional football, and potentially undermined the reputations of your fellow players throughout the NFL.

"For decades, gambling on NFL games has been considered among the most significant violations of league policy warranting the most substantial sanction. In your case, I acknowledge and commend you for your promptly reporting for an interview, and for admitting your actions."

Even before the suspension, Ridley's future with the Falcons was in doubt. He sat out the final two months of the season after he was a last-minute scratch before the team's 19-13 loss to Carolina on Oct. 31.

On that day, Ridley explained his absence when he wrote on his Twitter account "I need to step away from football at this time and focus on my mental well being."

Ridley had posted no update on his Twitter account until Friday, when he posted an icon of a football and added "is life." On Sunday, he added another update "I learn from my Ls."

The Falcons' 2018 first-round draft pick had 90 catches for 1,374 yards and nine touchdowns in 2020. Ridley was expected to be Ryan's top playmaker after Julio Jones was traded to Tennessee before the 2021 season. But Ridley had only 31 receptions for 281 yards and two touchdowns in his shortened season.

The Falcons had been approximately $7.3 million over the salary cap for 2022. They will be able to remove Ridley's $11.1 million salary from their payroll for the season, moving them under the cap. That contract shifts to 2023, when Ridley would have been a free agent.

The suspension of Ridley could impact Atlanta's plans for free agency and the NFL draft. Wide receiver now becomes a position of need, and the team could place a greater emphasis on re-signing free agent Russell Gage. Rookie tight end Kyle Pitts and Gage were Atlanta's leading receivers last season.

This is not the first gambling suspension meted out by Goodell. He suspended Arizona Cardinals cornerback Josh Shaw in November 2019 for gambling on an NFL game. Shaw has not played in the league since his suspension; he missed 21 games of the 2019 and 2020 schedules.

The most famous disciplining of NFL players for gambling came in 1963 when then-commissioner Pete Rozelle suspended star running back Paul Hornung of Green Bay and defensive tackle of Alex Karras of Detroit — both now Hall of Famers. Each was sidelined for that season, with Rozelle citing bets on league games and associating with gamblers or "known hoodlums."

Twenty years later, Rozelle suspended Colts quarterback Art Schlichter, who was in just his second pro season.

"Schlichter will not be reinstated," Rozelle said, until the league can be solidly assured that the serious violations of cardinal NFL rules he has committed will not be repeated."

Schlichter was reinstated and played for 1984 and '85. But he couldn't kick the gambling habit and eventually wound up in prison for a multimillion dollar ticketing scam. Frank Filchok and Merle Hapes of the New York Giants were suspended by then-commissioner Bert Bell for not reporting attempted bribes, particularly for the 1946 championship game. Filchok actually played in that game, which the Giants lost 24-14 to the Bears, but Hapes was not allowed to take the field. Subsequently, both were suspended. Filchok didn't return to the NFL until 1950 with Baltimore, though he played parts of four seasons in Canada. Hapes never played another NFL game.

The Broncos haven't been back to the playoffs since Manning retired, but they appear to have a playoff-worthy roster. New coach Nathaniel Hackett, Rodgers' former offensive coordinator, is building an offense around dynamic wide receivers Jerry Jeudy, Courtland Sutton, Tim Patrick and K.J. Hamler, tight end Albert Wuwegbunam and running back Javonte Williams.

And now he has the quarterback to make it all work, one who can stack up with the likes of Patrick Mahomes, Justin Herbert and Derek Carr in the tough AFC West.

Jeudy tweeted a frowning emoji upon word of Rodgers staying put, then he tweeted a smiling emoji when word broke that Wilson was headed to Denver.

The Seahawks had made it clear they weren't interested in moving Wilson unless a transformational offer came along.

Seattle's offseason had mostly been focused on adjustments on defense with coaching and scheme changes, and the belief that with Wilson still at quarterback the Seahawks would remain contenders in the stacked NFC West.

Last week at the NFL scouting combine in Indianapolis, coach Pete Carroll said that general manager John Schneider was receiving calls about Wilson's availability but the Seahawks weren't shopping him.

The trade, though, was the culmination of more than a year's worth of buildup. Wilson first expressed his discontent with the franchise last offseason after Seattle won the division but lost in the first round of the playoffs.

The acrimony got to the point that his agent publicly expressed the teams Wilson would be willing to accept a trade to, but the quarterback and the Seahawks moved forward together for one more season.

This was always the offseason that seemed to make the most sense for a potential move with Wilson, however. He has two years remaining on his current contract and a salary cap hit of $37 million for the 2022 season.

Wilson was a third-round pick in 2012 out of Wisconsin. He won the starting job as a rookie after Seattle had signed Matt Flynn in free agency. The decision to go with Wilson was one of the smartest ever made by Carroll.
