Local scout completes Eagle Scout project with creation of hammock village

By Kirkville Boy Scout Troop 404

Kirkville Boy Scout Troop 404 Scout Cormac Nolan, of Kirkville, completed his Eagle Scout project on Saturday and Sunday, May 20-21, with the creation of a hammock village in the Thousand Hills State Park Special Use Area. The Hammock

Nine-year-old Cian Nolan takes a turn with a post hole digger while helping dig holes for the emplacement of four utility poles.

Village, which consists of four utility poles set into the ground and connected with cross ties, provides a place for campers to hang their hammocks without damaging trees. The installation is designed for five single level hammocks, however, nearby trees can increase that capacity to as many as 12 hammocks.

Hammock villages are growing in popularity due to the eco-conservation impacts and benefits to campers that have discovered the freedom of hammock camping, said Nolan. "I've been sleeping in a hammock for about two years. When I go camp, I simply take it down and set it up in my campsite."

Camping in hammocks has gained in popularity over the past 10 years. More camping equipment manufacturers are offering hammock-style tents as a way of reducing the "footprint" on the camping area. This is helpful from a "Leave No Trace" viewpoint. The seven principles of Leave No Trace and the Outdoor Code are taught to every scout and guide behavior when enjoying the great outdoors.

Cormac Nolan gives a thumbs up as the primary installation of the Hammock Village is complete.

Tyler Lynak assists Cormac Nolan in setting the poles plumb while Nolan secures the temporary bracing.

Shawn Dawson (left on ladder) and Tyler Linak (right on ladder) work to secure the cross bracing between the poles.

Nolan received donations from the following people and organizations: Tri-County Electric for the utility poles, Nolan Law Firm for lumber, concrete and building materials, Thousand Hills State Park superintendent and staff for planning and installation assistance, and from all the scouts and scouters who helped plan, organize and execute the project.

Kirkville Mayor Zac Burden leads a tour of historic city buildings

By Marty Bachman
Daily Express

Kirkville Mayor Zac Burden led a walking tour of five downtown historic landmarks on Saturday, May 20. Approximately 20 people took part in the tour, which began in front of the Adair County Historical Society building at 211 S. Elson Street. Burden talked about the history of building, which began its life in 1916 as the Kirkville Sojourners Club, catering to people that had traveled to Kirkville to receive treatment from A.T. Still's medical hospital.

The second stop on the tour was Kirkville City Hall, 201 S. Franklin Street, which was originally built in 1905 as a post office.

The third stop was the First Presbyterian Church at 201 S. High Street where church member Linda Hudnall told the history of the church, which was built in 1922-23. Visitors were able to enter the church and visit the upstairs sanctuary.

The fourth stop was the Grim Building at 113 E. Washington Street where building owner Bob Giovannini told the history of the building and pointed out its many artistic features. The building was erected in 1905. Tour participants were able to explore the inside of the building as well as a carriage house that sits behind the building in the alley.

The last stop on the tour was Pickler's Famous building at 114 W. Harrison Street. Pickler's Famous was built in 1887 and, according to Burden, was the Walmart of its day. Currently it is the home of Lupita's restaurant, where many dined for lunch after the tour ended.

The city has an app, "TravelStory's", that can be downloaded to phones and provides an oral history of many of the Kirkville's landmark buildings, many of them narrated by Burden. Click the QR code to this story to download the app.

Life Church of Kirkville and Christ's Family Church officially come together

As of March 19, Life Church of Kirkville and Christ's Family Church officially came together. The merger has been in the works for a period of time as the two churches and their leaders have been partnering in various activities. Church officials said that the joining is evidence of the healing of a breach that opened over 20 years ago as a result of a difficult time that Life Church (then Covenant Life Fellowship) went through. Life Church of Kirkville also announced it has purchased the property formerly owned by Farm and Home adjacent to their location. With the addition of this property, Life Church is looking to re-open the Fun Factory Learning Center and expand their church school. They have served the community's childcare needs in the past and are looking forward to offering this service again in addition to expanding the number of classrooms and other facilities they have for Life Church School. If you are interested, be watching for more details which will be published as the opening approaches.

Survey input needed for local public transit plan update

The Coordinated Public Transit Human Services Transportation Plan prepared by the Northeast Missouri Regional Planning Commission determines local transit services eligibility for federal funding.

MEMPHIS — Is access to public transportation available in your community? Is your access to medical appointments, work or other key destinations limited due to a lack of transportation options? These are the types of questions Northeast Missouri Regional Planning Commission (NEMO RPC) is asking in a new public survey (<https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/BCZTL9J>). (For additional methods to participate see the print advertisement elsewhere in this publication.) The data collection efforts are part of the organization's work to update the local public transit plan.

As a designated regional planning commission created by the state of Missouri to serve Adair, Clark, Knox, Lewis, Schuyler and Scotland counties, NEMO RPC plays a key role in the state and federal transportation planning framework. The RPC is tasked by the Federal Department of Transportation and the Missouri Department of Transportation with the creation of a Coordinated Public Transit Human Services Transportation Plan and updating the document every five years.

Federal transit law requires that projects selected for funding under the Enhanced Mobility for Seniors and Individuals with Disabilities (Section 5310) Program be "included in a locally developed, coordinated public transit-human services transportation plan," and that the plan be "developed and approved through a process that included participation by seniors, individuals with disabilities, representatives of public, private, and nonprofit transportation and human services providers and other members of the public" utilizing transportation services.

The public transit plan is central to local efforts to secure funding to help improve mobility for seniors and individuals with disabilities by removing barriers to transportation service and expanding transportation mobility options. Section 5310 funds support transportation services planned, designed, and carried out to meet the special transportation needs of seniors and individuals with disabilities in all areas – large urbanized (over 200,000), small urbanized (50,000-200,000), and rural (under 50,000). Eligible projects include both "traditional" capital investment such as buses and vans; wheelchair lifts, and ramps; transit-related information technology systems, including scheduling/routing/one-call systems; and acquisition of transportation services under a contract, lease, or other arrangement; and "nontraditional" investment beyond the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) complementary paratransit services like travel training; volunteer driver programs; creating accessible paths to public transit stops; or even purchasing vehicles to support new accessible taxi, ride sharing or vanpooling programs.

Public transportation exists outside of major urban metros, and mobility issues in rural communities are equally as important as demonstrated by the Northeast Missouri Regional Planning Commission's Coordinated Public Transit Human Services Transportation Plan for Adair, Clark, Knox, Lewis, Schuyler and Scotland counties.

Section 5310 funds are apportioned among the states by a formula which is based on the number of seniors and people with disabilities in each state according to the latest available U.S. Census data. While states and designated MPOs and urban areas are direct recipients, eligible subrecipients include private nonprofit organizations, states or local government authorities, or operators of public transportation.

Because of its key role in the federal funding process, the local public transit plan is routinely updated to ensure that current transportation needs are being sufficiently addressed. These updates are combined into official public transit plan publications every five years. The process is fueled by grassroots community input that relies on surveys of transit users like the one being performed by NEMO RPC, along with public meetings of focus groups as well as individual stakeholder interviews, topped off by analysis of local trends, demographics and other key data, with the sum of the work becoming a public transit plan to help guide existing public transportation providers toward upgrades and improvements that will enhance available services while also fostering new private/public partnerships that can take advantage of emerging technologies to continue to expand the public transportation options for the region's citizens.

The NEMO RPC Transportation Advisory Council, which prioritizes local transportation needs with the Missouri Department of Transportation, has identified additional funding for OATS Transit, the lone public transit provider in northeast Missouri, as a top priority. This is just one example of the local transit plan in action.

The ongoing update of the local plan will include an assessment of available services that identifies current transportation providers — public, private, and not-for-profit. The public survey will help perform an assessment of the transportation needs of local residents and help identify gaps in service that may exist for elderly, persons with disabilities, or low-income households. As part of the process, strategies and activities will be developed that would address the identified gaps in service and priorities of implementation based on available resources will also be developed.

Development of the plan must include an opportunity for all interested parties to participate. The planning process includes human service agencies, local governments, private and public transit providers, and potential riders as well as members of the general public. If you would like to participate beyond the survey response, or offer additional feedback, contact Chris Feeney at NEMO RPC (chrisfeeney@nemorpc.org or 660-4657261 ext. 6).

Green City routs North Shelby in sectional rematch

By Adam Tumino
Daily Express

A year after losing to North Shelby in sectionals, the Green City baseball team made sure history would not repeat itself. The Gophers jumped ahead early and pulled ahead late on Monday against the Raiders, winning 12-1 and advancing to the Class 1 state quarterfinals.

This season is the fifth-straight in which the Gophers reached sectionals. It is the third time in that span that they won sectionals. In 2018 and 2021, they made it all the way to the semifinals before losing and then winning the third-place game.

With the win Monday, Green City improved to 16-6 on the season and set up a quarterfinal matchup with South Nodaway. The Longhorns are 18-2 this season, coming off a dominant performance in the Class 1 District 16 Tournament and a sectional win over Gilman City.

Green City head coach Dale Whitacre said that his team was happy to be able to get some measure of revenge against North Shelby after how last season ended.

"It was nice to get a little payback," he said. "They outplayed us last year and they deserved to win on that night last year. I told the boys we've got to come out and play our ball tonight and hopefully we'll have the chance to get some bragging rights over them this year. It worked out."

Green City grabbed the first lead of the game in the top of the first inning. The game began with a leadoff walk taken by Ty Hall followed by a single from Aaron Peavler. Grant O'Haver was up next and hit into a fielder's choice with Peavler being retired at second, but the throw to first base was wild and allowed Hall to score. No more damage was done in the inning.

North Shelby got that run back in the bottom of the inning. Back-to-back singles started the frame, followed by a walk to load the bases. A single then tied the score but the Gophers and starting pitcher Jaden O'Haver were able to get out of the inning without allowing any more runs. It was not the only jam Jaden O'Haver would pitch out of with limited damage.

In the top of the second, the Gophers reclaimed the lead. Kaden Hatcher reached with a one-out walk and then stole second on a strikeout. With two outs, Xander Salas drove a ball into right field that dropped for an RBI single. Salas then scored on a ground ball that was booted in the infield before the inning ended.

North Shelby seemed to be in position to either tie the score or take a commanding lead in the bottom of the second. The Raiders loaded the bases before recording an out and Jaden O'Haver was behind the fourth batter 3 balls to no strikes. He got back into the at bat and forced a fielder's choice that got the runner out at home. A big strikeout came next, followed by another fielder's choice to end the dangerous inning with no runs coming across the plate.

Jaden O'Haver settled in after that, allowing three more hits before being replaced on the mound after 5.2 innings. Thaydon Forest pitched the final 1.1 innings without allowing any runs, although North Shelby did make him work around some traffic in the seventh.

The offense did not need to score any more runs in support of their pitchers, but were able to gradually pull ahead and solidify the win. They failed to score in the third, but added another run in the fourth when Kaden Johnson scored on a dropped fly ball after leading off the inning with a single.

The Gophers added three runs in the fifth on a pair of RBI singles and a groundout. Hits from Grant and Jaden O'Haver started off the sixth inning and were followed by a hit from Brody Lunsford that drove in Grant O'Haver and courtesy runner Preston Balfany, putting Green City up 9-1.

They added even more insurance in the seventh inning. With runners on second and third with one out, Forest came through in his first at bat of the game with a two-run double. He then advanced to third on a wild pitch and then scored when the throw to third bounced into left field. His run was the 12th and final run for the Gophers.

A lot happened in the game since the second inning, and although it was very early in the game, Whitacre said that he felt it was pivotal.

"In that situation, with nobody out, the bases loaded, a 3-0 count on the hitter, and Jaden was able to work out of that," he said. "That's amazing. That kid was tough as nails tonight. Grant called a brilliant game behind the plate. Had our pitchers where they needed to be."

The pitching has been solid throughout the season, allowing an average of 4.4 runs per game, but has been especially strong in postseason play. With the offense unable to do damage in districts, the Gopher pitchers threw consecutive shutouts against Newtown-Harris and Princeton to guide the team to their fifth-straight district title. With the one run allowed in sectionals, the Gophers tied their fewest runs allowed in a three-game span this season. They also allowed just a single combined run in games against South Harrison, North Harrison and Novinger in late April.

Whitacre said that the hot pitching, paired with sound defense, is helping the Gophers at a very opportune time.

"Pitching and defense wins games," he said. "Especially in the postseason, that wins championships. We've been pretty elite there lately. Offense didn't really show up in our first couple postseason games. Tonight it did, thankfully. Made our job a little bit easier. Our boys play hard on defense. If they make a little mistake, then we make the next play."

He said the the pitchers can gain great amounts of confidence knowing that if a ball is put in play off of them, the defense is capable of making a play behind them.

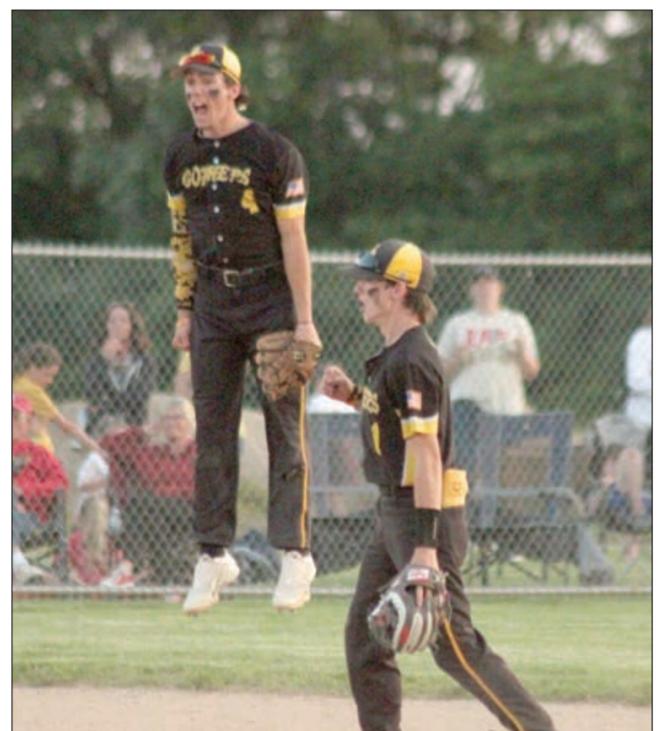

The Gophers will be back at home Wednesday in the quarterfinal against South Nodaway as the Gophers look to snap the Longhorns' 13-game winning streak.

Green City senior Aaron Peavler awaits a pitch in the game against North Shelby on May 22.

Strong showings for local track athletes at Class 1-2 state meet

By Adam Tumino
Daily Express

The Class 1 and Class 2 State Track and Field Championships took place over the weekend, and several local athletes came back home as state champions. There were other standout performers from the meet Jefferson City as well.

On the boys side, Schuyler County senior Hayden Dixon had a massive weekend, winning both the shot put and discus in historic fashion. In the shot put, his throw of 19.75 feet set a new Class 2 record and blew the second-place throw of 16.97 feet out of the water. He also set a new Class 2 record in the discus with a throw of 53.13. He was the only local athlete to win multiple events at state.

Others came close, though. Green City's Asher Buggs-Tipton took first in the 110-meter hurdles for Class 1 with a time of 14.92, nearly a full second ahead of second place. In the 300 meter hurdles, he was neck-and-neck with Net-worn-Harris' Zackary Cross and lost by an extremely narrow margin. Cross won with a time of 39.96 seconds, just 0.05 seconds ahead of Buggs-Tipton's time of 40.01 seconds. Biggs-Tipton also placed third in the long jump with a jump of 6.62.

Milan's Jeremy Bennet also came close to multiple wins. He placed first in the Class 2 long jump with a jump of 6.58. He came in second in the triple jump with a jump of 13.23.

Atlanta's Landon Gilliland took second place in the Class

1 triple jump with a high of 12.85. Putnam County's Jake Rouse came in third place in the Class 2 pole vault with a high of 4.32. The Putnam County 4x200 relay team also took a third-place finish. The team of Owen Ream, Jude Watt, Chase Tomlin and Blaine Perkins posted a time of 1:31.71.

On the girls side, Schuyler County's Kaitlyn Hatfield joined classmate Dixon by winning the discus with a throw of 38.48. The only other champion among local female athletes was Knox County's Jennifer Hinkle. She took first place in the Class 1 javelin throw with a high of 43.08. This placed her well ahead of the second-place throw of 37.14.

Atlanta's Kyley Magers had a strong showing in both the high jump and long jump. She placed second in the high jump with a jump of 1.57 and third in the long jump at 5.12.

The Class 3-5 championships will take place on May 26 and 27 from Jefferson City High School.

Putnam County baseball team advances to state quarterfinals

By Adam Tumino
Daily Express

The Putnam County baseball team earned a sectional win for the third-straight season on Monday, beating Harrisburg 1-0. It was the fifth shutout win for the Midgets this season, and it could not have come at a bigger time.

The game was just the fourth time this season that

Putnam County scored one run or less. They had lost each of the previous three, including one shutout. The win gave Putnam County a 21-7 record so far and set up a Class 2 quarterfinal matchup against a formidable Salisbury team on Wednesday.

The Panthers dropped their season opener against Macon, a Class 4 team, and have not lost since. They are now 22-1 on the season, averaging 10.5 runs per game while allowing just 2.4. They dominated in the Class 2 District 7 Tournament, out-sourcing their two opponents 19-4 total, before beating Eugene 5-3 in sectionals.

Kirksville Baseball 2023 SEASON IN REVIEW

Kirksville senior Keaton Anderson releases a pitch in the district game against Centralia on May 13.

The 2023 baseball season was full of ups and downs, standout performances and exciting moments for the Kirksville baseball team. Now that the season is in the books, let's take a look back at some of the highlights.

Slow Start

The early portions of the season were rough for the Tigers. A six-game winning streak to open the season put Kirksville in an early hole. The pitching was mostly solid during the skid, allowing four or fewer runs in four of those six games. Losses of 13-4 and 11-1 soured the pitching numbers a little bit. The bats took longer to get going. The Tigers averaged just 1.7 runs in that span.

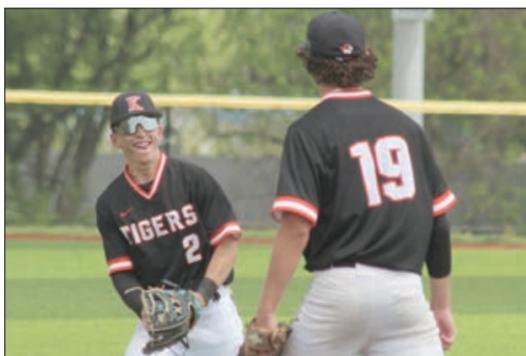

Kirksville came very close to wins in a March 25 game against Macon and March 27 game against Moberly. Against Macon, the Tigers held a 2-1 lead with two outs in the bottom seventh inning when Macon tied the game and forced extra innings. Kirksville took the lead back in the top of the ninth inning, but Macon responded with a pair in the bottom of the inning to get a 4-3 walkoff win.

Kirksville was in a similar spot against Moberly, leading 2-0 in the top of the seventh before allowing the Spartans to score four runs. Moberly then kept the Tigers off base in the bottom of the inning to hold on for the win. Luckily for Kirksville, that loss was the last of their losing streak.

First Win

The Tigers finally got into the win column in their seventh game of the season against Mexico on March 28. It was not easy, though.

Kirksville senior Jalen Kent smiles at fellow senior Keaton Anderson after catching a popup to end the Tigers' win over Centralia in the district tournament on May 13.

Kirksville was down 6-1 after three innings, but then scored single runs in the fifth and sixth innings before rallying for four runs in the top of the seventh to take a 7-6 lead. Echoes of previous late losses were then heard as Mexico tied the game in the bottom of the seventh to force extras.

The two teams nearly played another full game after that. Neither was able to score from the eighth inning until the top of the 13th, when Kirksville reclaimed the lead on a Jalen Kent single that drove in Drew Chrisman.

Chrisman then threw a scoreless half inning to give the Tigers a long-awaited win in what would be their longest game of the season.

Season-Altering Winning Streak

After the first win, the Tigers went 2-5 over the next seven games and were sitting at 3-11 on the season. Then an 8-3 win over Fulton started a 10-game winning streak that would last two weeks and completely transform the Tigers' season.

By the time the streak was over, the Tigers had gone from 3-11 to 13-11. A majority of those wins came against teams that finished the regular season with winning records. They also out-scored their opponents 75-17 in that span, allowing no more than three runs in any single game of the streak.

The Tigers entered the streak averaging 4.1 runs per game and allowing 6.4 runs per game and emerged from it averaging 5.5 runs and allowing 4.5. The streak ended with a 14-13 loss to Macon, Kirksville's second one-run loss to their rivals to the south. It would not be the last. Even though the streak was over, Kirksville was certainly on the right track.

Postseason Heartbreak

The streak nearly took the Tigers to the end of the regular season, but not quite. They went 3-1 over the final four games following the loss to Macon to head into district play as the third seed. The Tigers faced Centralia in the opening round for the second-straight year, and for the second-straight year, took down the Panthers.

took an early 3-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning. These runs came after Anderson allowed a leadoff double in the top of the inning before crucially stranding the runner on third.

Anderson would need very little support, as he did not allow a run until the top of the seventh inning. By that point, Kirksville had added an insurance run and led 4-0. Anderson pitched a complete game, allowing just two hits and the one run while striking out 10 batters. It was a strong outing in what proved to be his final start as a Tiger.

Kirksville faced Macon in the semifinals, looking to avenge the previous two losses. Instead, Macon would do what they had been doing all season against Kirksville.

Trailing 3-0 in the bottom of the sixth, Macon rallied for two quick runs before putting two more runners on with two outs. A popup floated behind second base, sending shortstop Anderson and second baseman Kent chasing after it. The pair collided, the ball dropped and Macon took a 4-3 lead.

Kirksville was unable to get a baserunner in the top of the seventh, ending a rollercoaster season in a devastating way. There were still plenty of positives to be taken from the game, a lot of which included the team's six seniors.

Anderson, Chrisman, Kent, Kendrick Hartman, Dominic Cahalan and Camden Dempsay were integral parts of the team throughout their time on the Tigers and helped fuel the team's turnaround in 2023.

Anderson, Cahalan, Chrisman and Kent were named to the NCMC All-Conference Team following the season. Anderson and Kent were also named to the Class 4 District 7 All-District team.

The 2023 season may have ended earlier than these seniors, their teammates, coaches, parents and fans wanted, but it was a worthwhile ride nonetheless.

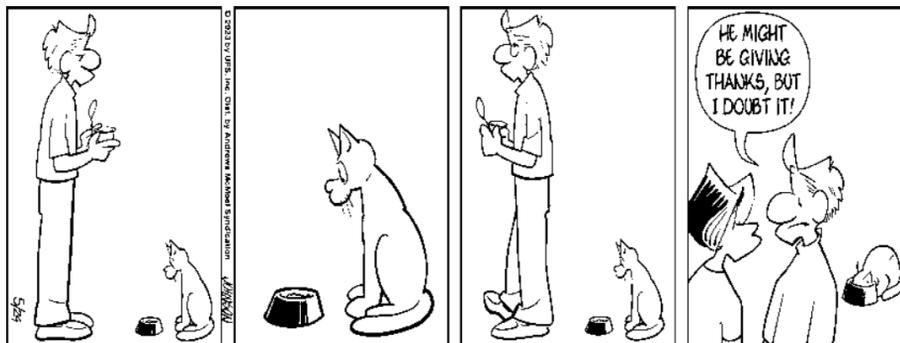

Kirksville senior Drew Chrisman squares around to bunt in the game against Mexico on April 20.

Kirksville junior Connor Hall swings on what would become a single in the game against Father Tolton on April 22.

Clear up lingering projects that are holding you back. Share your unique input; it will help a loved one see things your way. Cover as much ground as possible, and you'll make a difference and open doors to a bright future. Deal with the things that are standing between you and success. Let your actions follow your thoughts.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) -- Push forward with passion. Take notes and be prepared. Refuse to let someone take up your valuable time. Work on achieving your own goals instead of helping someone else succeed.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) -- Reach out, volunteer, do your part and connect with people who share your concerns. Frank conversations will raise emotional issues that can be dealt with. Positive change is heading your way.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) -- Refuse to let someone's demands ruin your plans. Make it clear that you must finish one thing before starting another. Don't be afraid to follow the path that beckons you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) -- Listen and learn. Pay attention to detail and concentrate on what will bring the most beneficial results. A physical change will open doors that have been shut. A kind gesture will pay off.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) -- Choose to do things that make you feel inspired and passionate about life, love and happiness. Express your thoughts and feelings and make suggestions, but don't pay for someone else's mistake.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) -- Distress and anger won't solve anything, but making a physical move or change will open your eyes to possibilities. Put your heart into making your surroundings fit your needs. Be creative.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) -- Put your money in a safe place and upgrade your qualifications. Turn your attention to improving meaningful relationships. Connect with people who can help you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) -- Figure out how to make your surroundings more accommodating. Clear a space that will encourage you to develop something you want to pursue. Evaluate your earning ability. Romance is featured.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) -- Everything will seem worse than it is, making it essential for you to get some distance. Don't feel obligated to take on someone else's fight, choices or path to avoid an argument.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) -- Don't underestimate what you can do or how you can improve your life. Attach value to your knowledge and skills, see what happens and prepare and market yourself accordingly. Romance is in the stars.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) -- Refuse to let your emotions take you down a disruptive path. Channel your energy into physical work. Use your money to support your goals. Take on challenges that increase your awareness.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) -- Choose quality over quantity. It's up to you to implement change. Aim to incorporate more stability into your everyday routine. A change at home may be disruptive but will pan out.

Jilted wife hesitant to give second chance

DEAR ABBY: I married a recovering addict, and for years he did great. We made a lovely home and family together. Then one of my husband's drug buddies (a woman) resurfaced. My husband had an affair, went down that nasty road again and did some very cruel things to destroy our marriage. We have been married 19 years and separated for the last three, with a divorce pending.

My husband now wants to make amends. He's in a rehab program, but I'm reluctant. We have been on a few dates, and I have real concerns about what will happen when we run into the other woman. I asked her at least six times to go away and stay away.

How should I expect him to react when we run into her? She's deeply embedded in his social circle, far more than I ever was because I don't care for the debauchery lifestyle. He promises he has cut ties with everyone in that circle. But I know it's only a matter of time until we run into her. -- ANGRY AND HURT IN GEORGIA

DEAR ANGRY: You are rightfully hurt and angry, but if reconciling is going to work out well, it's important you're assured that he isn't still carrying a torch for her. You would be wise (and less confrontational) if you ask your almost-ex-husband how he plans to react should he encounter her, rather than dictate how he should do it. He's in rehab and trying to rebuild his life after the mess he made of it. I see no reason to create a scene if your paths cross. A courteous hello AND GOODBYE should suffice.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 57-year-old male. I have no children, and I was forced to move back in with my mother to start my life over again. I divorced my wife because she was cheating.

I have a cousin from Alabama who is 30. I love her dearly. She's my favorite cousin, and I have begun having feelings for her. I think it may be my body's way of telling me it wants to procreate and leave a legacy. I feel guilty about these thoughts and feelings. In my heart, I believe they are shameful. These thoughts are something I must take to my grave and never act upon. But the urge is growing stronger and it's becoming a losing battle.

JEANNE PHILLIPS
DEAR ABBY

Telling her (or anyone else in my family) my true feelings would be a terrible thing for me to do. Can you please help me rid myself of these feelings for her? I will take any advice into consideration. -- ASHAMED IN TENNESSEE

DEAR ASHAMED: In some (not all) states, marriage between cousins is legal. Tennessee and Alabama happen to be two of them. Your cousin may be 27 years younger, but at 30, she's a grown woman. Do you have any indication of whether your feelings are reciprocated? Sometimes the feelings we suppress only make them grow stronger. A way to resolve this would be to express them.

If your cousin doesn't share your affection, bear in mind that all women are not cheaters, as your wife was, and start to build a new life while you look for a suitable companion in your community.

NEWS OF THE WEIRD...

News You Can Use

Not a moment too soon, Oscar Mayer announced on May 17 that it is changing the name of its iconic Wienermobile to the Frankmobile, CNN reported. The company says the name change "pays homage" to its new recipe for hot dogs, which will roll out this summer. Uh-huh. A company spokesperson said the change is a test; they'll have "to see if it cuts the mustard" with fans. The Wienermobile first appeared in 1936; 23 of the eye-catching vehicles now travel around the country.

Extreme Measures

In vino, vie ... or something like that. Lillian Ip of Cheltenham, Australia, was stranded in the country's remote bushland for five days in late April after she took a wrong turn and became stuck in mud, United Press International reported. Sgt. Martin Torpey of the Wodonga police said Ip had planned just a day trip, "so she had taken a couple of snacks and lollies with her, but no water. The only liquid Lillian, who doesn't drink, had with her was a bottle of wine she had bought as a gift for her mother." Without cell service, Ip couldn't call for help. Her family notified police about her absence, and a four-day search over the region included helicopters. Finally, Ip was spotted waving her arms, and police were directed to her location. "I thought I was going to die there," she said.

Unclear on the Concept

When cake-baker Brianna Romero of El Paso, Texas, got an order for a birthday cake this spring, she was on board, NBC New York reported on May 10. The customer wanted an emo cake, so Romero put her newly perfected black icing to the test and constructed the confection. Before she delivered it, she said, she asked the client if they wanted a number on the cake. "Yes," the client answered, "it's for my granddaughter and she's turning 4." Romero "thought it was a little bit weird ... but maybe she just likes 'Wednesday' or something like that." Still, wanting to cover her bases, she asked the client for the theme of the party. When she got the answer -- "Sesame Street" -- it all became clear. "I misread emo and it says 'Elmo cake.'" Romero rushed to a local grocery, where the bakery topped the cake with an Elmo image; Romero gave the cake to the client for free. Social media ate the story up, with more than 11 million views on Twitter.

Bright Idea

Students will go to just about any lengths to get out of a test -- even outer space. So it was in Hemlock, Michigan, on May 16, when an enterprising student reported an alien invasion to avoid a math test, according to KT-VZ-TV. The student reported that ETs came from the skies in flying saucers and landed on the playground, and the rumors quickly began circulating amongst the student body on social media. But Superintendent Don Killingbeck wasn't having it: "We have thoroughly investigated the situation, and there is no evidence of any alien activity on our school grounds," he said. The prankster has been disciplined, he added.

Cheeky

British IBM IT professional Ian Clifford, 50, has not worked since September 2008 as he battled mental-health issues and stage 4 leukemia, Business Insider reported. Clifford has been on sick leave for 15 years, collecting a salary of almost $68,000 per year after reaching an agreement with IBM in 2013. But in February 2022, Clifford testified in an employment tribunal that he had been treated unfairly because he hadn't had a salary increase since the 2013 agreement went into place. He argued that inflation was causing his income to "wither" and sought a pay raise of 2.5%. "Your mortgage doesn't go down because you are sick," he noted. This spring, Paul Housego, an employment judge, rejected Clifford's argument, saying Clifford was treated more favorably than others because he was being paid without having to work. Clifford plans to appeal.

Field Report

On May 9, officers from Boone County and Watauga County, North Carolina, tried to chase down Joshua Minton, 34, after he was pulled over for reckless driving, CBS News reported. Minton ran into an "undeveloped area," where law enforcement got an unlikely helping ... hoof. Cows in the field "quickly assisted our officers by leading them directly to where the suspect was hiding," police announced in a Facebook post. "The cows communicated with the officers as best they could and finally just had the officers follow them to the suspect's location." Minton was arrested on multiple charges.

Precocious

Two brothers in Langkawi, Malaysia, were detained after crashing the car one was driving into a lamp post on May 10, CNN reported. It's not hard to imagine why driving might have been difficult for them: They are 6 and 3 years old. Police Chief Shariman Ashari said the Toyota Vios they were in attracted attention from other drivers, who thought the driver might be intoxicated. The boys sneaked out of their home and took the car, hoping to buy a toy car at the local shops. "Mama is at home and we are going to the store," the 6-year-old said. "We want to buy a black car," the 3-year-old elaborated. The only injury was a cut to one boy's chin.
