New arena floor adds safety to rodeos and horse events

By Marty Bachman
Daily Express

With the NEMO Fair set to open on July 18, a lot of preparation has been taking place behind the scenes to make the fairgrounds attractive and accommodating to spectators and participants alike.

One of the most important changes is the makeover of the arena floor. For 30 years it withstood the test of time but over the years, primarily due to demolition derbies that while bringing great excitement to visitors, left behind an array of metal parts and objects that became embedded in the soil, making it dangerous for horses and riders alike.

Don Reynolds, a former Ameren lineman who has been overseeing improvements to the fairgrounds, said that they brought in a contractor who took out between a foot and a foot-and-a-half of the arena bed, replacing it with a thousand tons of sand (approximately six inches). Reynolds said that the dirt work is continuing and that the job will be complete in time for the fair rodeo on July 18.

They're also putting in new speakers for sound and before they began the dirt work, they "trenched" across one end so it could be packed down and all the stereo conduit could be installed.

"We'll have new sound on both sides of the arena, which we don't have right now," Reynolds said.

Another important reason for the construction of the new arena floor is drainage. The floor is now sloped toward the bleachers and while they don't want the water to drain into the stands or concession area, they will install a drain tube in a trench with rock in front of the bleachers that will drain it out to a ditch and away from where people congregate.

"There'll be a berm between the rodeo arena in front of the bleachers to stop the water and it'll drain into this drain tile — and then the drain tile will hook on to a bigger pipe that'll take it on down to the ditch there on the west side of the concessionary," Reynolds said.

Tiedemann hired as executive director of K-REDI and MREIC

By City of Kirksville

Kirksville Regional Economic Development, Inc. (K-REDI) President Andy Schwend announced that Anastasia Tiedemann has been selected to serve as the new executive director for both K-REDI and the Missouri Rural Enterprise and Innovation Center (MREIC).

"The partnership between K-REDI and MREIC was made possible due to the abilities of our current Executive Director Carolyn Chrisman," said Schwend. "When Carolyn gave notice of her departure, we were unsure if we would find someone that could support the work of both boards. We strongly believe Anastasia will allow us to continue our successful partnership."

Tiedemann is already employed by MREIC and will transition to working as the executive director of both boards effective July 2. Tiedemann has been employed as a business counselor for the past eight years, providing confidential business, innovation, and technology counseling to entrepreneurs and small business owners.

This employment of Tiedemann follows an extensive national search, which produced several qualified candidates who were vetted by members of both boards. The position of executive director became open upon the

KPD makes arrest in stolen vehicle/traffic crash investigation

By Kirksville Police Department

The Kirksville Police Department has made an arrest in connection to a stolen vehicle from a residence on Thousand Hills Trail. Jonathan Zeigler, 29, of La Plata, was taken into custody on June 22, on multiple charges.

On June 18, the Adair County Sheriff's Office took a report of a stolen silver 2003 Toyota Camry from a residence on Thousand Hills Trail. Local law enforcement began searching for this stolen vehicle.

At approximately 10:28 pm on June 18, Kirksville police responded to the 800 block of East Jefferson Street in reference to a report of a suspicious vehicle in an alley. Responding officers located a silver Toyota Camry parked in the alley. As officers approached the vehicle on foot, the driver fled in the vehicle, narrowly missing an officer but striking a parked KPD vehicle. The suspect was described as a white male with dark hair and facial hair.

At approximately 11:10 pm on June 22, the Kirksville police K9 officer spotted the Camry from the two prior events parked in the driveway of a house on the 1400 block of East Washington Street. Officers confirmed this was the stolen vehicle reported to the Adair County Sheriff's Office. Inside the residence, officers located Zeigler, who was identified as the driver of the stolen Toyota that fled from officers. Zeigler was arrested for charges related to leaving the scene of the vehicle accident with the patrol car, tampering with a motor vehicle and possession of controlled substances.

Arena

The improvements were made possible by an American Rescue Plan (ARPA) grant from Adair County. Fair management hopes that with the improvements, local horse organizations will take advantage of the arena for their special occasions and shows. Fair Board Treasurer Sue Morton said that due to the dangers of the buried auto parts that littered the floor, it has hindered local use of the arena.

“Our arena has not been highly utilized for the last few years because of the floor of the arena not being what they needed and maybe some debris in it or whatever,” Morton said. “So that was a motivation for us to look for some financial support in order to redo that arena so that we can offer it. The facilities are here and they’re available to rent.”

Morton suggested that horse groups that work with children or are part of a mental health network, might find the updated arena a key to the lessons and therapies they offer. She said that many non-profit organizations in the area might find the new arena useful to their goals.

“Basically, our motivation behind it is just to increase the usage, offer it back out there and make it a little bit better for everybody,” she said.

Reynolds and Morton said they have applied for state high school rodeos to use the facility and hope to have more rodeos there in the future. They hope the grant and donations from the public will make it possible to install enough stalls and chutes to make the arena more palatable to organizations that book the larger rodeos.

“We have some other projects as far as the arena is concerned,” Reynolds said. “It’ll be more feasible for people to use. We’re looking at catch chutes for the roping and bulldogging, hoping if we can furnish the equipment it will entice more rodeos, saddle clubs and others to come use our facilities.”

The 76th NEMO Fair runs from July 18-22 with opening ceremonies being held on Monday, July 17 at 7 p.m. A full rodeo will be held on July 18 at 7:30 p.m. at the arena.

The 2023 NEMO Fair has a great lineup of musical entertainment that includes Sara Evans with special guest Jarrod Turner on Saturday night. Friday night will feature Darryl Worley, with special guests Ashley Barron and Chad Brock. BonJour, a band that combines the hits of Bon Jovi and Journey, will perform on Thursday. All shows are at 7 p.m. at the grandstand.

The fair will feature food vendors, a truck and tractor pull and daily livestock shows by 4-H and the FFA. Bands playing at the Moose Lodge Beer Garden include Hever DJ Service on Monday, July 15, No Apology on Tuesday and Wednesday, Shakey Ground on Thursday and Bootcut, Friday and Saturday. All shows are at 5 p.m. Carnival rides open at 5 p.m. daily, as does the beer garden.

Season pass tickets are $50 through July 17 and $55 at the gate and includes access to all the concerts, rides and exhibits. A daily pass costs $20 for Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday and $25 for Friday or Saturday. Children five and under are free. Passes are available online ($3 charge), at the fair office, Hy-Vee supermarket and the Ayerco gas stations both north and south.

Events prior to the fair include a horse show on July 15 at 11 a.m., a Baby Show on July 16 at 10 a.m. and the NEMO Fair Queen, Miss Teen and Young Miss Contest in the Multi-Purpose building on July 16 at 4 p.m. Admission to the fairgrounds is free prior to July 18.

Zeigler

Zeigler was released from prison on Jan. 4, and was assigned to parole supervision with the Missouri Department of Corrections. He is currently being held at the Adair County Detention Facility, pending the filing of criminal charges with the Adair County Courts.

Elizabeth Jane "Betsy" Hickman
Jul 12, 1944 – Jun 20, 2023

Elizabeth Jane "Betsy" Hickman, 78, of Kirksville, Missouri, passed away unexpectedly, Tuesday, June 20, 2023 at Northeast Regional Medical Center in Kirksville.

Betsy was born July 12, 1944, the daughter of the late Donald Benjamin and Francis E. (George) Harris. She was married to Ben Hickman on June 11, 1966.

Betsy was preceded in death by her parents and by her daughter Pamela Jane Hickman on April 10, 1991. She was also preceded in death by her brother-in-law Ellis Brunton, and her brother-in-law Howard Hickman.

Betsy is survived by her husband Ben Hickman; her son and daughter-in-law, Benjamin and Annie Hickman of Kirksville, MO; her grandchildren, Pamela Grace, Joseph Benjamin, and Joshua Andrew; two sisters, Dona Brunton of Rogers, AR and Sandy (Dave) Allison of Paola, KS; sister-in-law Lisa Hickman of Rocheport, MO; and brother-in-law Chase Hickman (Jane) of Hannibal, MO; as well as several nieces and nephews that she loved dearly.

Betsy was a graduate of Shawnee Mission High School with the Class of 1962, and received a BA degree in education from the University of Missouri where she was a member of the Tri Delta Sorority.

Betsy was an extraordinary human being that graced her family's lives for 78 years which turned out to be way too short. She was best friends with her grandchildren and had a great love for her entire family. She could ask questions which from someone else might seem intrusive but from her it was because she truly cared.

Betsy had a sense of wonderment, not necessarily in big things but also in small things. She loved reading her Bible and in her own way knew how to learn and understand the Lord. Betsy had the ability to ask a question that you would know the answer to and it would always serve a purpose. Betsy was proud of her family history, was selfless, always wore a beautiful smile, and was easy to love.

She loved playing with her grandchildren whether it be building a fire, helping stage a play or just looking for that perfect rock. The thought of an adventure would light up her eyes, whether it be big or small.

Betsy loved sitting in a good chair, she loved telling her husband that they could not have ever found a better daughter-in-law, she loved to laugh, she loved knowing her life was blessed, and she loved just talking about her family.

Betsy faced challenges in her life magnificently, including her bouts with Cancer and the death of her daughter, while at the same time always making others feel better along the way. From deep in her heart, Betsy was always sincere and truly kind.

Even when Betsy became tired she still managed to do the same things she always enjoyed. She knew her life was blessed and now she is gone. On Tuesday the Lord received a beautiful soul.

A private family funeral will be held and a Celebration of Life will be held Wednesday, June 28, 2023 from 3:00 to 7:00 p.m. at the Sue Ross Arts Center, 215 S. Franklin St. in Kirksville.

Memorials may be made to St. Jude's Children's Hospital, and may be left at the Arts Center or mailed to Travis-Noe Funeral Home, P.O. Box 306, Kirksville, MO 63501.

Division of Fire Safety urges caution with fireworks in Drought conditions

Fireworks sales at seasonal retailers are legal in Missouri from June 20 to July 10

By Missouri Division of Fire Safety

JEFFERSON CITY — As drought conditions worsen in Missouri, the Division of Fire Safety is urging Missourians to put fireworks safely first as they prepare for Independence Day celebrations. Over the last three months, the percentage of Missouri considered abnormally dry or in some state of drought has grown from 7.5 percent to 93.3 percent, according to the U.S. Drought Monitor released June 22.

“Public fireworks displays offer the best sights and are the safest, and this year the fire risk posed by fireworks has increased because of drought conditions in much of Missouri,” State Fire Marshal Tim Bean said. “The risk that sparks from fireworks could lead to grass and natural cover fires is elevated this year. These fires can spread rapidly and pose risks to structures as well. We urge everyone to consider local conditions and use extreme caution if they choose to use consumer fireworks.”

Fireworks also pose a risk of injury. According to data collected by the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services, in 2022, 324 people in Missouri sought hospital care related to fireworks; 292 of those people were treated in emergency rooms and released; 32 people were admitted to the hospital.

More than 77 percent of those fireworks injuries occurred in the three-week period leading up to and following Independence Day (June 21 to July 11, 2022). During that period, 252 people with fireworks injuries sought hospital treatment in emergency rooms or were admitted for inpatient care.

Missourians who choose to use consumer fireworks should follow these safety tips:

- Always keep young children away from fireworks; if teens are permitted to handle fireworks, they should be closely supervised by an adult; always wear eye protection.
- Only light fireworks one at a time; never try to re-light fireworks that have malfunctioned
- Dispose of fireworks by soaking them in water and leaving them in a trash can.
- Never shoot fireworks off from a glass jar or container.
- Never use fireworks while consuming alcohol.
- Never store fireworks from season to season.
- Fireworks sales at licensed seasonal retailers are legal in Missouri from June 20 to July 10.
- Confirm fireworks are legal where you live; only purchase fireworks from licensed retailers.
- Only use fireworks in a large open space that is clear of flammable materials. Do not light fireworks in areas where a spark could ignite dry grass, leaves of other flammable materials.
- Always have a garden hose or a bucket of water nearby in case of a fire.

Through June 21, the Division of Fire Safety had issued 1,127 permits to seasonal retailers. DFS conducts safety inspections at fireworks retailers, including checking to make sure they sell only legally-permitted consumer fireworks, that they have at least two exits, are equipped with fire extinguishers, and that fireworks tents have been treated with fire retardant chemicals.

According to a U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission analysis, across the nation, at least nine people died from non-occupational fireworks incidents in 2021. About 11,500 people were in incidents involving fireworks across the U.S. in 2021.

Residents are not permitted to pump from Forest Lake

The city of Kirksville would like to notify citizens that they are not permitted to pump water from Forest Lake. DNR has issued a correction, and city staff will be adding signage around the lake to communicate that. ## Macon and Putnam FFA chapters partner with ‘Agriculture Education on the Move’

By Agriculture Education on the Move

The Macon and Putnam FFA chapters recently partnered with Agriculture Education on the Move™ (AEOTM) to help build agricultural literacy for local third-grade students this year at Macon Elementary and Putnam County elementary schools.

AEOTM, a program of Missouri Farmers Care Foundation (MFCF), is a proactive, educational program that brings agricultural-based knowledge and activities to elementary classrooms statewide. Through this 10-week agricultural literacy program elementary students learned about crops, livestock, soil and water conservation, nutrition, careers and more from passionate, trained FFA educators. These FFA student leaders presented agricultural topics through engaging activities and lessons while developing their speaking and leadership skills.

“We believe by working together we can achieve more,” said AEOTM Program Director Heather Fletcher. “We work with commodity checkoff groups and agricultural organizations to bring quality resources to the classroom in a way that engages students. Working with FFA chapters allows high school students to gain valuable experience as educators while sharing their knowledge with youth in their communities.”

Seventy-five third-grade students at Macon Elementary participated in STEM-focused lessons, along with coordinating hands-on activities which involved making bread, butter, corn plastic, soybean necklaces, feed rations, soil profiles and more.

Sixty students at Putnam County Elementary received STEM-focused lessons, along with coordinating hands-on activities which involved making bread, butter, corn plastic, soybean necklaces, feed rations, soil profiles and more.

These firsthand experiences provided a fun and interactive way of learning while meeting classroom curriculum objectives. Third graders got to meet Missouri farm families and learned about the dedication, compassion, sacrifice and work ethic necessary to maintain a farm.

“The entire community benefits from Agriculture Education on the Move as local third graders experience the thrill of germinating seeds, understanding the basics of how their food is produced and seeing, many for the first time, the agriculture all around them,” said Ashley McCarty, MFC executive director. “We appreciate the efforts of FFA student leaders spending time sharing their knowledge and passion of agriculture with younger students in their community.”

AEOTM is a component of Macon County's Agri-Ready County Designation program. MFC's Agri-Ready County Designation launched in December 2015 as a voluntary connection between Missouri counties and the leadership of Missouri agriculture. Agri-Ready County Designation recognizes and builds on the impact of family farmers and agri-businesses as key contributors to our economy and the quality of life in our communities.

The AEOTM program is funded through Missouri Farmers Care, a coalition of more than 40 Missouri agriculture groups, including support from Missouri soybean farmers and their checkoff and the MFA Oil Foundation.

The free Ag Education on the Move Coloring Fun App can extend learning for elementary students through the summer months. The app gives youth an opportunity to virtually explore their connection to the food they eat, fuel they use, and fiber they as they color their way through the farm.

The app is available on Google Play, Apple App Store and Amazon Appstore at <https://www.agmoves.com/aetmapp>. Free, downloadable partner resources are available at www.agmoves.com/resources to provide additional summer fun and learning.

ATSU has lived up to academic reputation, student says

By Courtesy of
A. T. Still University

A.T. Still University-Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine (ATSU-KCOM) student Austin Lundgren, OMS II, came to the Kirksville campus in large part due to its reputation and status as the founding school of osteopathic medicine. Since his arrival, the school has measured up to that reputation, and then some, and Lundgren has also found himself part of a community he enjoys.

“I enjoy being able to interact with students and faculty on a smaller campus. I see my classmates several times a week. I have enjoyed getting to know them and look forward to working with them throughout my career. Being able to interact and work with faculty outside of the classroom enhances the learning opportunities and gives me the ability to form additional relationships for the future,” he said.

Lundgren, originally from Monument, Colorado, graduated from the University of Wyoming with a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering and a minor in business, and from Regis University with a master’s in biomedical sciences.

When looking ahead to studying to become an osteopathic physician, Lundgren knew where he was focusing his attention.

“I enjoyed the positive reputation and rich history the school has as the first osteopathic medical school. The physicians I worked with who attended school here made me even more excited to become a member of the ATSU community,” he said.

Lundgren serves as a student ambassador and is president of the Student Association of Military Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons (SAMOPS), a member of the Wilderness Medical Society, and instructor and organizer with the Disaster Awareness Response Training – Basic Disaster Life Support and Advanced Disaster Life Support.

“I joined SAMOPS to build connections with other members of the military and to help those that come after me better navigate the complexities of being in the military and medical school,” Lundgren said. “Being a member of Wilderness Medicine and the Disaster Awareness courses gave me an opportunity to expand my knowledge in areas I enjoy learning about.”

Lundgren isn’t yet sure what specialty he wants to pursue in the future, but is confident ATSU-KCOM is providing him with the tools to succeed when he makes that choice.

“I do know ATSU-KCOM is providing me a solid foundation to explore the different options available and is setting me up for success in residency after I graduate,” he said.

Moving every 30 minutes could offset harms of prolonged sitting

By Dr. Kevin Marberry,
Orthopedic Surgeon

On average, adults in the United States sit for over 12 hours a day. This sedentary lifestyle is becoming increasingly more common largely due to jobs that require sitting for prolonged periods, long commutes, TV binge watching and increased cell phone usage. But, this lifestyle can cause real harm to overall health. Sitting down for extended stretches increases the risk of developing chronic conditions like diabetes, heart disease, cancer and obesity, even in those who exercise regularly.

Often, prolonged sitting can cause blood and fluids to pool in the legs and feet. This increases the risk of developing deep vein-thrombosis (DVT) which is a blood clot that forms in a deep leg vein and can travel to the lungs. Additionally, sitting down puts excess strain on the spine and joints such as shoulders and hips. This strain can increase pain in the lower back, tightness in the hip flexors and lead to muscular atrophy and premature degeneration.

A new study published in the journal of the American College of Sports Medicine found that moving for five minutes every half hour can help counteract the harmful effects of continuous sitting. These small activity breaks helped lower the blood pressure and blood sugar of the study participants.

“Adding more movement into your life doesn’t have to be overly strenuous or negatively impact your work,” says Dr. Kevin Marberry, Orthopedic Surgeon. “To break up those long periods of sitting, try stretching at your desk, walking around during a phone conversation, visiting a coworker at their desk or taking the stairs rather than an elevator.”

In addition to added daily movement, regular exercise further reduces the risk of chronic conditions while improving mood and bone health. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 25 percent of American adults are physically inactive which contributes to one in 10 premature deaths.

“For added health benefits, incorporate 20 to 30 minutes of moderate aerobic exercise into your daily routine,” says Dr. Marberry. “Brisk walking, dancing, biking, even gardening or housework can qualify. The goal is to raise your heart rate, which helps oxygen and blood circulate better, and can also help you burn more calories and lower cholesterol.”

Before starting a new exercise program, speak with a physician. To schedule an appointment, visit <https://www.northeast-specialtygroup.com/doctors-providers>.

Missouri Agriculture, Food and Forestry Innovation Center cultivates growth in local agribusinesses

By University of Missouri

COLUMBIA — Nearly one-third of Missouri's economy is tied to agriculture. Now, as part of a partnership that evolved from a statewide effort to help agricultural producers scale their businesses, the Missouri Agriculture, Food and Forestry Innovation Center (MAFFIC) has launched. The center draws on agricultural business development expertise at the University of Missouri and the Missouri Agricultural and Small Business Development Authority (MASBDA).

Supported by a two-year, $1.3 million grant from the United States Department of Agriculture Rural Development (USDA-RD), MAFFIC helps producers level up their business acumen, so they can confidently turn raw ideas into viable businesses or further grow established, successful businesses. Experts at MAFFIC advise clients on everything from best business practices — including finding a product's market, offering tips for keeping financial records and understanding a product's cost of goods — to food safety.

"Many food and farm entrepreneurs are really good at making a product," said Mallory Rahe, co-director of MAFFIC and faculty with MU Extension. "It's our job to support them on the financial analysis and business decision-making side, and that's where our skills and service come in."

With a staff of 13 advisers knowledgeable in a variety of subjects, MAFFIC serves as a valuable, free resource for agricultural producers working to take their value-added agricultural businesses to the next level.

"We are committed to supporting Missouri farmers as they grow their economic impact, and we are pleased to partner with MAFFIC," said Jill Wood, executive director of the Missouri Agricultural and Small Business Development Authority. "The center's focus on providing technical assistance to new and established value-added producers aligns well with our ability to provide capital for these agricultural ventures."

Over the course of the two-year grant, MAFFIC's goals are to support value-added businesses in attracting capital, assist value-added agricultural businesses as they start up or expand and create and retain jobs across the state.

These outcomes directly support the broader goal within MU Extension to double the value of Missouri agriculture by 2030 while sustaining natural resources and support implementation of the state's Show-Me-State Food, Beverage and Forest Products Manufacturing Initiative. Successful outcomes from MAFFIC's work will add to the $6.5 billion economic impact that the University of Missouri System generates in Missouri.

"We've got a lot of enthusiasm coming out of the coronavirus pandemic for local foods from both consumers and producers who see an opportunity to fill a hole in the market," said Joe Horner, co-director of MAFFIC and agricultural economist with MU Extension. "Now, we've got a vehicle and the means to accelerate some of those entrepreneurs' goals."

Since MAFFIC officially opened in early January, the center has already worked with 65 small business owners who develop niche goods including wood products, farm-finished meat, honey and elderberry products. A group of industry leaders provide oversight and input by serving as a board of directors for the center.

"The challenges of the last few years have created opportunities for Missouri producers," said Ashley McCarty, MAFFIC board member and executive director of Missouri Farmers Care. "When producers can mobilize production, marketing and distribution, they can meet market demand and give consumers access to locally produced products. MAFFIC is ready to help Missouri value-added producers succeed."

Looking back at Truman football's 2022 season as 2023 season nears

By Adam Tumino

The 2023 season for the Truman State football team is now just over two months away. As offseason preparations continue throughout the summer, let's take a look at what the Bulldogs accomplished last season and some things to expect this year.

The 2022 season was a mostly successful one for the Bulldogs. Truman narrowly missed out on the GLVC Championship and a spot in the NCAA Division II Playoffs, but still managed to end the season ranked as the No. 25 team in the nation.

After a season-opening loss to Davenport, a playoff team last season, the Bulldogs mounted a lengthy winning streak that would last for almost the entire season. They won the next three non-conference games heading into conference season, where they then beat their first five conference foes.

This set up a winner-take-all game in the season finale with Indianapolis, which also entered the final game with an 8-1 overall record and 5-0 conference record. Indianapolis came out on top to claim the conference title, but Truman was not finished just yet.

The Bulldogs were selected to participate in the America's Crossroads Bowl for the third-straight time, and won the game for the third-straight time. Truman beat Tiffin 28-27, their second one-point win over Tiffin on the season, to once again claim the bowl for the GLVC.

Truman wrapped up the season with a 9-2 overall record and 5-1 conference record. Highlights included an 18-17 win over Tiffin on Sept. 24, which came on a walkoff two-point conversion. The Bulldogs also put together three-straight blowout wins against conference opponents William Jewell, Quincy and McKendree, with each win being more impressive than the last.

They beat William Jewell 42-7 and then scored a season high in points with a 59-32 win over Quincy. Truman then ran for 423 yards in the game against McKendree, beating the Bearcats 52-7.

Truman had a lot of strong performers last season, and luckily for the Bulldogs, a lot of them will be back. There will be some departing contributors that will leave a void as well.

Running back Shamar Griffith, who played as a fifth-year transfer last season, was the season.

Tight end Matt Hall led the team with 38 receptions and five receiving touchdowns. He will play at Rice next year as a graduate transfer, making the jump to Division I for his final season.

On the defensive side, defensive back Ben Watson's presence will be missed for the Bulldogs in 2023. He finished second on the team with 59 total tackles last season and also tied for third on the team with two interceptions.

Robert Greco was a disruptive force in the middle of the defensive line for the Bulldogs, finishing 11th on the team in total tackles. Alex DeVecchi will also be missing up front. He tied for third on the team utors is a much longer one. The linebacking tandem of Isaiah Estes and Ulysses Ross will be back, and the two were among the Bulldogs' most disruptive defenders last season.

Estes led the team by a wide margin in total tackles, recording 78 on the season. Ross and his 53 total tackles ranked fifth on the team, but he did a lot of his damage behind the line of scrimmage. His 10 tackles for loss and three sacks both led the team.

Even with Watson leaving the defensive backfield, the Bulldogs still have plenty of weapons back there to make an impact in the passing game. Ben Thomas and Peyton Carr, who finished third and fourth on the team in tackles, will be back. Thomas led the team with five interceptions and 10 pass breakups. Ryan Olivas, who finished second on the team in both of those categories, will also be back.

Offensively, Nolan Hair will be back at quarterback for his fourth season as the team's starter. He completed 60.6 percent of his passes last season while throwing for 14 touchdowns and just six interceptions. Hair's entire starting offensive line is eligible to return, and that continuity bodes well for the Bulldogs' offense.

Tate Crane led the team with 413 receiving yards and finished second with three touchdowns. He will be back as one of Hair's top targets, as will the team's third-leading receiver Zach Zerwig.

Although Griffith was responsible for a bulk of the team's rushing yards, Denim Cook emerged in the second half of the season as a reliable threat in the backfield. As a freshman, he ran for 375 yards and six touchdowns. His breakout came in the game against Quincy when he ran 154 yards and four touchdowns.

Quarterback Collin Sutton also was a major part of the Bulldogs' rushing attack, running often out of wildcat formations and gaining 321 yards. He also had six touchdowns on the ground and threw for another.

These players will all look to help the Bulldogs' replicate last season's success as the season opener approaches. Truman opens the 2023 season on the road against Findlay on Sept. 2.

Weaver Takes the Title at 116th Annual Missouri Amateur Championship

By Missouri Golf Association

HOLLISTER, Mo. (June 25, 2023) — Peter Weaver (St. Louis) adds his name to Missouri golf history and a pair of iconic trophies, taking home the 116th Missouri Amateur Championship with a 4 & 2 win at Payne's Valley Golf Course in Hollister.

Weaver went 34 holes with opponent Michael Winslow (Overland Park) and held a steady lead for the majority of the match.

Weaver started the 36-hole match at a steady pace, sitting no less than tied with Winslow at any point during the match. He capitalized on a birdie by Migdal on hole eight to put himself at a comfortable score of 3 up at the first turn. Weaver had complete control on the back nine, going as far as 5 up over Winslow on hole 14. He finished the first round of 18 at 3 up over Winslow. The playing field evened out after Winslow earned a birdie on hole 10, followed by a bogey from Weaver. However, Weaver took the lead again on hole 12 and held it until his final competition with Winslow for the day.

Weaver only needed to make par on hole 16 to secure the title and trophy, but instead sunk one in from 20 feet out to win the match and the Missouri Amateur Championship.

Weaver began the tour-namment strong, advancing out of stroke play as the No. 7 seed. He took his preceding matches 4 & 2 (round of 64), 3 & 2 (round of 32), 5 & 4 (round of 16) and 4 up (quarterfinal).

In the semifinal, Weaver battled 2022 Missouri Amateur Champion Chad Niezing (Manchester) through a full 18 holes. Weaver fell to one down after the 15th hole to Niezing, but came back to tie the match on hole 17. Weaver sank a putt for a birdie to secure the win and a trip to the championship match.

Weaver joins an impressive list of former Missouri Amateur Champions, including MGA president Wayne Fredrick, PGA Tour champion Tom Watson, and golf legend Payne Stewart, the namesake of Payne's Valley.

The MGA would like to thank Payne's Valley Golf Course and its staff for graciously hosting the 116th Missouri Amateur Championship.

Our next men's event is the Stroke Play Championship at WingHaven Country Club in O'Fallon on July 17.

Cardinals rally for 7-5 win over the Cubs to split London series

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON — The St. Louis Cardinals overcame a poor first inning, and manager Oliver Marmol thinks they can still overcome a shaky start to the season.

They took a step in that direction by beating the Chicago Cubs 7-5 on Sunday, chasing ace Marcus Stroman in the fourth inning to earn a split of their weekend series at London Stadium.

"We do believe we have a chance at this," Marmol said. "But in reality, if we're talking about sustainable, we're going to have to pitch better and we're going to have to continue to do what we do offensively."

The Cubs missed a chance to get back to .500 after Stroman (9-5) left the game with a blister on his right index finger, and the Cardinals ended a two-game skid after an error-filled first inning handed the Cubs a 4-0 lead.

Paul Goldschmidt hit a go-ahead RBI single that knocked Stroman out of the game, and Willson Contreras went 4 for 4 with two runs scored.

"Contreras had a really good day and we feel like he's starting to get into a really good spot and he's going to be a big contributor to us being able to go on a run," Marmol said. "But giving up four in the first and some of the miscues — those things are the things that can't happen."

The Cubs (37-39) won 9-1 on Saturday but had their winning streak halted at four games. They haven't been at .500 since May 12, though they've still won 11 of their past 14 games.

Jordan Hicks, who sat out Saturday because of illness, got the final three outs to record his fourth save — all in the past eight days. He struck out two and allowed one run on Nico Hoerner's sacrifice fly.

Players returning from LIV part of Saudis' PGA agreement

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The PGA Tour and European tour have agreed to work with Saudi backers of LIV Golf to decide how defectors to the rival league can return and what kind of punishment they should face, according to a framework agreement obtained by The Associated Press.

The agreement also said the for-profit company to be formed by the PGA Tour and the Saudis will be the "entity for professional golf" and that the tours will coexist with LIV Golf.

The framework agreement, signed on May 30, was among documents requested by Sen. Richard Blumenthal, D-Conn., for a July 11 hearing in Washington. Blumenthal chairs the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations.

"Our goal is to uncover the facts about what went into the PGA Tour's deal with the Saudi Public Investment Fund and what the Saudi takeover means for the future of this cherished American institution and our national interest," Blumenthal said last week.

The PGA Tour has said it would participate, though it was not clear if Commissioner Jay Monahan would attend. He stepped away on June 13 — one week after the stunning deal was announced — for a "medical situation" and turned day-to-day operations over to two executives.

LIV Golf returns this week in Spain and at least finishes the 2023 season, if not beyond. The agreement says the PGA Tour and European tour "will work cooperatively and in good faith to establish a fair and objective process for any players who desire to re-apply for membership ... and for determining fair criteria and terms of readmission consistent with each Tour's disciplinary policies."

The PGA Tour suspended players once they competed in a LIV event because they did not have releases required under the tour's policy. The suspensions are believed to be at least through the 2024 season.

The AP previously reported on the assurances in the agreement that the tour would keep a controlling interest in the new commercial entity — known for now as "NewCo" — regardless of how much the Public Investment Fund of Saudi Arabia contributes.

The framework agreement sent to Blumenthal is lacking details that all three sides are still trying to work out, such as the future of LIV Golf.

It did not mention how much the PIF planned to invest in the new entity. The PGA Tour and DP World Tour — the commercial name of the European tour — are contributing all their commercial businesses and rights. NewCo would be an umbrella for all future golf-related investments of the three groups.

NewCo is to conduct an "objective empirical data-driven evaluation of LIV and its prospects and potential" and assess the benefits of team golf and then decide "how best to integrate team golf into PGA Tour and DP World Tour events going forward," the agreement says.

Monahan, as CEO of the new entity, would determine the plan and strategy of NewCo operations, which would include LIV.

LSU wins 1st College World Series title since 2009, beating Florida 18-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

OMAHA, Neb. — LSU went from its low point of the season to the ultimate high in a span of 24 hours.

A day after it gave up the most runs ever in a College World Series game, LSU cranked up its offense and won its first national title since 2009 with an 18-4 victory over Florida on Monday night in the third and deciding game of the finals.

LSU (54-17) staved off elimination three times in bracket play and bounced back from the humiliating 24-4 loss in Game 2 to claim its seventh championship, second to Southern California's 12.

"We got punched in the mouth yesterday," Tigers star Dylan Crews said. "That's the beauty of baseball. You wake up in the morning and do it all over again. We woke up today and you could see on everybody's faces that we were ready to go. Nobody in the country was going to beat us today."

The Tigers wiped out an early 2-0 deficit with a six-run second inning against Jac Caglianone (7-4). The runs kept coming until they finished with the most in a title game since USC's 21-14 win over Arizona State in 1998. The 14-run margin was the largest ever in a final. Their 24 hits were most in a CWS game.

"It wasn't our day, all the way around," Gators catcher BT Riopelle said.

Thatcher Hurd (8-3)

gave up Wyatt Langford's two-run homer in the first and then allowed no hits or runs while retiring 18 of the next 21 batters. Riley Cooper took over to start the seventh and gave up Ty Evans' CWS-record fifth homer, and Gavin Guidry finished the combined five-hitter.

Cade Beloso said Johnson's message to the team in the morning meeting was simple.

"It was, 'One game for the national championship. Are you in?' Everybody was, 'Yeah, let's go.' You can't let baseball get to you," Beloso said. "The game is brutal sometimes. You have to show up and play the next day."

There was speculation

after Sunday's blowout loss about the Tigers bringing back ace Paul Skenes for a third start in Omaha. He threw a combined 243 pitches over 15 2/3 innings in two spectacular appearances, and he would have been working on three days' rest.

It turned out Skenes was able to watch from the dugout in the comfort of his sneakers while LSU poured on the runs and Hatcher kept dealing. Skenes headed to the bullpen to do some stretching and throwing in the seventh inning. He went back to the dugout after the eighth and stayed there until he and teammates rushed the mound when Guidry struck out Colby Halter to end it.

SBDC and the Chamber of Commerce

If you are an entrepreneur or own a small business, you probably have some idea of what the SBDC and the Chamber of Commerce can do to help you. If you are an entrepreneur or small business and don't, well, here's a recap of each, and how they might be able to help your business!

The SBDC (Small Business Development Center) is funded by the SBA with your tax dollars, therefore, most of their services are at no charge. Small business counselors are located in every state, and provide resources, training, and confidential counseling to entrepreneurs and business owners. Some of the things they are able to assist with are: business planning, financial projections, access to capital, marketing, export assistance, and operations, to name a few. SBDC counselors are tasked with supporting entrepreneurs at all stages of their business: from idea, through inception, expansion, maturity and finally, succession.

Once you are a small business owner, the Chamber of Commerce is the entity that champions your business interests in your local community. The Kirkville Chamber of Commerce is a network of business professionals with about 300 members. They have key connections in the community, and through these relationships, provide access to valuable business resources. You will pay dues for a Chamber membership, but the support, credibility and visibility that they provide make it worth it.

And... here in Kirkville, the Chamber of Commerce will be moving its offices to the EDA Building this summer! So, it can be a one-stop-shop for you to get the resources and information you need for your business from both the SBDC and the Chamber! We are hoping to have the construction done by August, so be sure to watch for ribbon-cutting information. We are certainly looking forward to working together and helping our local businesses succeed!

Thank you for reaffirming your belief in the Chamber of Commerce
