KPD issues safety reminder to not leave kids in hot vehicles

By Kirksville Police Department

With temperatures at the end of this week predicted be over 100 degrees, the Kirksville Police Department would like to remind everyone of the dangers of leaving children in a vehicle. As of just a few days ago, 14 children had died in hot cars the United States so far in 2023.

Here are a few tips from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration:

Parents and Caregivers

• Never leave a child in a vehicle unattended for any length of time. Rolling windows down or parking in the shade does little to change the interior temperature of the vehicle.

• Make it a habit to check your entire vehicle — especially the back seat — before locking the doors and walking away.

• Ask your childcare provider to call if your child doesn't show up for care as expected.

• Place a personal item like Secure Your Car

• Always lock your car doors, year-round, so children can't get into unattended vehicles.

Act Fast. Save a Life

• If you see a child alone in a locked car, act immediately and call 911. A child in distress due to heat should be removed from the vehicle as quickly as possible and rapidly cooled.

ed his own successful business, Steele Skull Mounts, several years ago where he offers skull cleaning and mounting services.

Steele has eagerly sought any opportunity to improve his skills in taxidermy and is currently working with award-winning Scott Brassfield of Brassfield Taxidermy in Memphis as an intern. "We welcomed Greg into our business," said Scott Brassfield. "He is part of the pro-staff team that we have here at Brassfield Taxidermy and he does good work. We will support him as far as he can go in this business."

Steele was nominated for the Spotlight Award by his Adair County SB40 service coordinator, Tom DeBlauw. DeBlauw has worked with Steele for several years.

"I've seen Greg work so very hard at improving his skills over the years, including on how to manage his finances," DeBlauw said. "His efforts have paid off for him. He recently was able to buy his own house. Greg always has goals and he keeps those goals in focus."

DeBlauw will be presenting Steele with his July Spotlight certificate this month. When learning of this award, Steele said, "I worked with Vocational Rehabilitation six years ago and accomplished that. Now I'm working at the workshop in Kahoka and also doing seasonal work at my business cleaning deer skulls. I hope to be able to learn to mount deer from Scott so that I can work "Just let me know when and Brassfield Taxidermy will be there for Greg!" Brassfield said.

James Andrew Adams

Sep 19, 1935 - Jul 24, 2023

James Andrew Adams, 87 years of age, died at Saint Mary's Hospital in Jefferson City on July 24, 2023.

Andy was born on September 19, 1935, in Elkton, Kentucky.

In October 1952, at the age of seventeen, he joined the Air Force and served during the Korean War. In January 1962, an evaluation of his work at Elmendorf Air Force Base in Anchorage, Alaska, said: "Airman Adams has accepted trouble calls at all hours and has often worked extra hours without complaint. He always exerts extra effort...He has eagerly faced unusual or difficult problems and has solved them with a minimum of aid and supervision." These words describe how Andy would go on to live the long life ahead of him.

He remained in the Air Force until May 1962 having earned the Korean Service Medal, Action Ribbon, United Nations Service Medal, Air Force Longevity Service Award, National Defense Service Medal, Good Conduct Medal, and the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Andy married the love of his life, Luella May Adams of Kirksville, Missouri, on March 2, 1957. They remained loving partners until her passing in October 2017.

From 1957 until the early 1960s, Andy worked in numerous positions in and around Kirksville, including at Sears and running his own repair business. He worked at the Kirksville Post Office from 1965 to 1975.

He rejoined the military in 1976 and relocated his family to Jefferson City to work for the Army National Guard and later the State Emergency Management Agency. Devoted throughout his life to learning and improving himself, he earned dozens of certificates for training courses in communications, mathematics, and electronics. He retired in September 1990.

His later years were filled with spending time with his devoted friends in the Mid-Missouri Amateur Radio Club (his call sign was WNØI), with children at Wonderland Camp, and pals at the junk yard and his fishing buddies. After retirement he hiked the Appalachian Trail and explored the Grand Canyon. Every day he spent a few moments with random strangers with whom he engaged in friendly conversation without a moment's hesitation. Even at the end of his life, when his body was failing, his inexhaustible sense of humor remained intact, and his greatest desire was to make those around him smile.

Andy is survived by his two devoted children: Linda Bellinger of Jefferson City and Andrew Adams of Sylva, North Carolina. His loving family includes his son-inlaw, Randy Bellinger, of Jefferson City, and his two grandsons, Matthew Bellinger and Brandon Bellinger, also of Jefferson City. Matthew and his wife Kaitlin are expecting Andy's great grandson this fall.

Following Andy's wishes, he will be cremated by Trimble Funeral Homes – Jefferson City. The family invites Andy's many friends to a Celebration of Life on Saturday, September 16, at Trimble Funeral Homes beginning at 11 a.m.

A military honors ceremony will conclude the gathering at 1 p.m. Andy and May will be laid to rest together, beside other members of their family, at Highland Park Cemetery in Kirksville on Tuesday, September 19, at 2:00 p.m.

Memorials may be sent to the Mid-Missouri Amateur Radio Club or to Wonderland Camp at Lake of the Ozarks.

When Andy was four years old, The Wizard of Oz was released. At the end of the movie we learn, "A heart is not

Farley man sentenced for sexually assaulting minor victim to produce, distribute child pornography

By Teresa A. Moore

United States Department of Justice

KANSAS CITY — A Farley, Mo., man was sentenced in federal court today for sexually assaulting a minor child victim to produce child pornography and distribute it to others through the Kik application.

Andrew J. McCardie, 36, was sentenced by U.S. District Judge Brian C. Wimes to 40 years in federal prison without parole. McCardie will be required to register as a sex offender upon his release from prison and will be subject to federal and state sex offender registration requirements, which may apply throughout his life.

On Feb. 23, 2023, McCardie pleaded guilty to two counts of producing child pornography and one count of distributing child pornography.

McCardie communicated with individuals through the Kik application beginning in January 2022, using a screen name to indicate he was willing and able to produce child pornography and distribute to other persons. McCardie produced 19 images and videos of child pornography involving a minor child victim on Feb. 11 and 12, 2022. Most of these were created live, meaning he was recording himself actively sexually abusing the child victim while communicating with other persons over Kik, and sending those images and videos to them during the abuse. On March 5, 2022, McCardie created another live video during his sexual abuse of the child victim. McCardie didn't know he was communicating with an undercover law enforcement officer through Kik. McCardie told the undercover officer he had been "doing these requests on Kik for a couple years now" and discussed how to sexually abuse a child. During this conversation, Mc-Cardie sent the undercover officer a screenshot of a chat he was having with the Kik user he produced the video for, in order to prove he had created the video live.

On March 6, 2022, law enforcement officers executed a search warrant at McCardie's residence. The entry team attempted to take control of McCardie near the entrance of the residence but he resisted, initially holding a firearm as officers entered. McCardie was brought out into the yard, where he continued to resist before being handcuffed and placed under arrest. McCardie attempted to hide his iPhone in the bedroom closet, but officers found the phone and seized it in order to conduct a forensic investigation.

McCardie's Kik account included 218 images and videos of child pornography. McCardie sent 58 separate videos and images of child pornography to other Kik users, and had received more than 200 images and videos of child pornography from other Kik users between Jan. 2 and March 7, 2022.

James Andrew Adams had an enormous heart and was greatly loved throughout his life by people too numerous to count from all walks of life. Although our hearts are broken, they will forever be filled with beautiful memories of this most beautiful human being.

Dog days of summer

he searing heat of the Dog Days of Summer is here. I climb into my car, breathe in oven-hot air, and emit steaming curses while I wait for the car's air conditioner to start blowing cool. After what seems like hours, the vents start to release cold, artificial air.

I inhale a lungful, ignoring the metallic taste, and start home. Soon I am encased in an igloo of chilly comfort.

I roll to a stop in my driveway and watch the colorless dust whirl around my tires. Turn off the key. Listen to the air conditioner wheeze a death rattle. Before I can pull the keys from the ignition and reach for the door, I feel it. It's right outside. Waiting.

I wade through the sweltering air that crushes my body, heavy and wet. I curl my fingers around my blinding reflection on the front doorknob and fling myself inside my air-conditioned living room. Ahhh.

When did I get so spoiled? How did I become this delicate, air-conditioning-dependent woman who gripes if the thermostat reads above 80 degrees?

Of my many summers, the first 20 or so were endured without benefit of air conditioners. None in the car. None in the house. None. It's like a story Grandpa tells to make you feel guilty. But most of you remember those summers, too.

There was no escape from the heat. Cardboard fans, stapled to giant Popsicle sticks, filled worshippers' hands at church and passed puffs of air from pew to pew like prayerful sighs. Car windows were rolled all the way down. In the back seat we prayed for acceleration, waiting to feel a whiff of cool.

At night, we oozed indoors and planted ourselves near window screens whose holes were evidently too small to admit cool air, but plenty big for bugs — flying, crawling, biting, stinging, scuttling, buzzing bugs. They flung wings and antennae against the screens and found ways to squeeze through cracks and tears we were sure we'd repaired.

Mosquitoes feasted on our slick skin. Flies landed just long enough to tickle, disappearing by the time we found the flyswatter. Zigzag leaps of shiny black crickets kept our eyes darting. The horror movie played with tired repetition in every room of the house.

Fans were meted out at bedtime—heavy machines with thick black cords that were never long enough. The blades clattered and whined and circulated stale air. We lay on top of the covers, wearing as little as possible and lying all splayed out so our skin wouldn't meet.

I remember cool washrags against my throat and chest.

ROBIN GARRISON LEACH ROBIN WRITES

Flipping the cloth over, again and again, until it dried out. Flopping from side to back to stomach like meat on a spit, looking for a position that would let me sleep. The clock ticked slow and lazy, as if too tired to keep time. We waited for dawn and another chance to look for a shady spot or an errant breeze.

I sit here in my office older and cooler—typing in harmony with the hum of my central air conditioner. The compressor kicks on and off efficiently, and the breeze from the vent swirls about. I can see the glaring afternoon sunshine through my closed, shaded windows, but I don't feel it. I don't have to.

We've all gotten much too soft. Too dependent on air conditioning. We should be ashamed . . . and remember the days when we lived just fine without it, thank you.

And when that sky-high electric bill comes, demanding cold, hard cash for the coolness we've grown so fond of, we simply pay it. There is no going back.

Paying a ransom to the squirrel kidnappers oc isn't even sure why he did it. For days afterwards, people would talk about it, then smile and shake their heads and just say "Oh, that Doc..."

The whole thing came up on the spur of the moment. Doc and Mrs. Doc were planning to go out of town for a few days and needed several hundred dollars in cash, so Doc dropped by the bank to take it out.

He drew Ardis Richardson as his teller, after he wound his way through the bank's roped rat maze, and told her how much he needed.

Then, on an impulse, he leaned forward and whispered, "Ardis, I need that in small, unmarked bills, please."

"Unmarked, Doc?" "My squirrel's life depends on it."

Ardis's mouth dropped open. That should have stopped Doc, but it didn't.

"They said if I wanted to see him alive again, the bills would have to be unmarked." She stared.

"Have you ever seen how cute he is when he sits up and eats a nut and his whiskers twitch? I mean, right now I can picture his big fluffy tail and those eyes ... those eyes.... Oh my..."

said.

He nodded sadly. "I can hardly bear looking at his little squirrel bed, sitting there empty, and his squirrel food dish, with only half his meal gone. I really have no choice."

Ardis gave him the money. The sheriff came by Doc's office to make sure everything was all right. Mrs. Miller across the street from Steve's house sent a five-dollar donation to Doc to help rescue the squirrel. Pop Walker down at the Rest of Your Life home volunteered to get his gun and polish off every squirrel-napper in the county.

Doc, you see, doesn't have a squirrel.

Mrs. Doc thought this weekend away from home came not a moment too soon.

Reader wants to know the actual costs of courthouse rehab hen the courthouse renovation project was presented to Adair County voters in April 2021, the total cost was estimated at $3 million to $5 million. The project was supposed to take about a year. It was to be financed with a loan or bond that would be paid back with revenue from a new 0.25 percent sales tax. That new tax was expected to generate about $900,000 in annual revenue which would pay off the debt in three to five years. I was one of the voters that approved the project with a narrow majority.

Two years later the project is finally completed with a total cost in excess of $8 million. Since the project was embarrassingly over budget and interest rates have risen since 2021, the new 0.25 percent sales tax will take roughly 10 years to pay off the related debt. Our county commissioners capped the loan or bond at $8 million but used other revenue like funds from the American Rescue Plan to complete the project.

As a tax paying resident of Adair County, I would really like to know the total cost of the courthouse project and exactly how it was funded. The total cost would include rents paid for temporary office space while the courthouse was closed down for two years. I would also like to know the interest rate on the $8 million loan or bond. To my knowledge, none of this information has yet been disclosed to the public by our county commissioners.

The county commissioners seem to be quite happy to share the glory of our newly renovated Adair County Courthouse. Unfortunately, I think they will have to be pressured to disclose the final cost and details of the funding. I hope that our local media will take the lead in getting this information.

Thank you in advance for your efforts.

Accreditation assessment team invites public comment on highway patrol

By Missouri State Highway Patrol

Colonel Eric T. Olson, superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, announced that an assessor from the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies Inc., will arrive on Aug. 7, to examine all aspects of the Missouri State Highway Patrol's policies and procedures, management, operations, and support services. Verification by the assessor that the Missouri State Highway Patrol meets the commission's stringent standards is a vital part of a voluntary process to maintain accreditation — an esteemed recognition of law enforcement professionalism and excellence.

As part of the on-site assessment, the Missouri State Highway Patrol seeks feedback regarding its services and performance. The public is invited to visit the Patrol's website www. statepatrol.dps.mo.gov to register a comment. On the Patrol's website, choose the Show-Me Accountability Portal to access a link located under the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies Inc. icon. The link provides a comment form for feedback regarding the CALEA standards. The public may also access the CALEA comment portal via this link https://cimrs2.calea.org/98 or through the Patrol's social media accounts.

Persons wishing to offer written comments about the ability of the Missouri State Highway Patrol to meet the standards for accreditation are requested to write to the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies Inc., 13575 Heathcote Boulevard, Suite 160, Gainsville, VA 20155.

"Our employees are true professionals who are held to high standards," said Col. Olson. "Adhering to the CALEA standards is a way for the Missouri State Highway Patrol to be accountable to our stakeholders."

Jessica Mealy, accreditation manager for the Missouri State Highway Patrol, said the assessor, Caren Sterling, of Richmond, Va., is a law enforcement practitioner from a similar, but outof-state, agency. The assessor will review written materials, interview individuals, and visit highway patrol facilities and other locations where compliance can be witnessed.

The assessor will report back to the commission after completing their review of the agency. The commission will then decide whether the Missouri State Highway Patrol is to be granted continued accredited status. Accreditation is for four years, during which time the agency must submit annual reports attesting continued compliance with those standards under which they were initially accredited. The Missouri State Highway Patrol has been accredited since 1992.

The Adair County Court in special session ruled that Adair County was in no way obligated to provide for Lillian May Young, a child found deserted at the railroad station in Kirksville six years prior. At the time of her abandonment, the Bethsaida Children's Home of St. Louis took her in. Two days before the court's ruling two officials came to Kirksville from the home in St. Louis bringing the child with them. After making their intentions known that they planned to transfer their charge to Adair County, the special session of the court was convened. In court session the representatives of the orphanage indicated that they could no longer take care of the girl because the child turned out to be "sickly, feeble-minded and a burden to the institution which they represented." The county court argued that there was no reason to believe that the child could ever have been regarded as an Adair County charge. The child was found in the railway station in Kirksville and was apparently deserted by a passenger. The mother of the child was unknown. After the results of the court were made known, the men threatened to desert the child in Kirksville. Consequently, Adair County officials kept a close eye on the whereabouts of the girl and her attendants, making sure they did not abandon her in Kirksville. The situation was resolved, at least for the county, when the orphanage representatives and the girl departed Kirksville on a train bound for St. Louis.

be compelled to attend the public schools. Regarding Americanism, Harris said that foreigners should be kept out of the country because they could not be "Americanized." In closing Harris appealed for new members reiterating the tenets that the KKK stood for-the Christian religion, white supremacy, protection of pure womanhood, separation of church and state, freedom of speech and press, limited immigration, required attendance in public schools, and pure Americanism. The meeting was opened with a prayer, and at the close a flaming cross was displayed.

Kirksville Mayor Neil issued an order requiring that all dogs in the city be chained until September 1. The order was issued because of the increased number of cases of rabies in the city. The mayor stated that six cases of rabid dogs have been reported since the hot season began, and in each case the animal was killed. In issuing the order Neil stated: "The thing has gone so far that it is really dangerous. We had to order one dog killed this morning. Yesterday Chief Willis shot one. I don't like to impose any hardship on anyone, but we cannot have any loose dogs on the street. Those that are seen will be killed without questioning anyone. They must be kept fastened."

The show was coming to Kirksville after an exhibition in Hannibal, and after Kirksville it was to move to Moberly. The big production that was taking place at the Cottonwood and Baltimore Street grounds featured hundreds of performers, high flying trapeze artists, an aerial ballet, gymnasts, horses and other animals. All would perform their tricks and feats. The Tom Mix Circus would bring some 200 world-famed arena stars, troupes, and circus stars. Also featured were handsome show horses including Mix's horse, Banjo, and his newest horse, Warrior, a snowwhite Arabian stallion.

EMBRACING LOCAL HISTORY Part 61

Life of the original William Parcels Linder

By Blytha Ellis, President

Adair County Historical Society and Museum

The original William Parcels Linder, born to Jacob and Jane Linder in 1819, was the one who first came with his cousin on horseback to pre-Adair County in 1838 to check out the land. He had returned to his home in Coles County, Ill., in September 1838 to his wife, Lucinda "Lucy" (Samuels) and their infant son, Andrew Hynes Linder II, named for his uncle. Another son would be born to them almost a year later on Aug. 4, 1839, and named William Parcels Linder Jr. This baby was only a couple months old when the Linder family moved to pre-Adair County in October 1839.

In Missouri, five more children would be born to them, son Jacob in 1843, then four daughters, Catherine, Elzira, Margaret "Maggie," and Elizabeth.

William Parcels Linder would became a prominent citizen in Adair County as this area grew and developed. He became a lawyer and at various times was a deputy sheriff, justice of the peace, banker, businessman, real estate developer and politician. By 1844, he was a "districting justice of Benton Township" which is the township containing Kirksville. Sometimes, he even got into a bit of trouble on the other side of the law, and sometimes his politics caused him calamity.

When he was a young man and Adair County was young in 1841, a court record shows he and his cousin, William Henry Parcels Jr. and John F. Ferguson (also a relative) were each fined $5 "for betting at cards." Apparently, gambling was one of the early "crimes" on the books in Adair County.

On the other hand, it seems that Lucinda tried her best to keep her family on the straight and narrow. In 1845, it is recorded that she was among the original members of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Kirksville.

William Parcels Linder also dealt widely in real estate. In 1846, he was living in the town of Kirksville just four years after it was established. He purchased a substantial amount of land just east of downtown Kirksville which proved to be a wise investment when the town grew. Just a few years later, in 1854, he sold "Linder's First Addition" to Adair County for the expansion of Kirksville. This consisted of four blocks and four half-blocks east of the original town. Then, he sold the "Linder and Mullanix Addition" which added to Kirksville five blocks and eight halfblocks south of Linder's First Addition. In November 1854, William was appointed as an agent of Adair County to subscribe $50,000 of the new capital stock of the North Missouri Railroad, if the railroad chose to come through Kirksville. (It did come to Kirksville in 1868 - later known as the Wabash.) In June of 1855, William was asked by the Adair County Court to give a full report, under oath, of his dealings with the railroad in regard to the stock he invested for the county. In the 1850s, a political party became popular known as the American Party. They were against immigrants and especially Roman Catholics in America whom they felt posed a threat to the economic and political security of native-born Protestant Americans.

When asked about their organization, members were supposed to reply that they knew nothing. Therefore, they became known as the "Know-Nothing Party." William Parcels Linder joined this political organization. In 1856, he ran under this party for state representative against the Democrat incumbent who happened to be his first cousin, William Henry Parcels Jr. — the one who had been fined with him in 1841 for betting at cards, and who also came to pre-Adair County with him on horseback in 1838. Linder and the Know-Nothing Party lost.

In 1858, W. P. Linder used some of his land in downtown Kirksville for construction which contributed maiorly to the this city. He completed a large three-story business building on the southeast corner of Franklin and Washington Streets. This was diagonally opposite southeast from the Adair County Courthouse. It was named the Linder Building, and at first, it stood alone on that block (see photo).

In 1858, this large white wooden structure called the Linder Building was very impressive. It was the tallest building in Kirksville, even taller than the Courthouse across the street which at that time was a two-story brick facility. However, the narrow round tower on top of the Courthouse might have reached the same height as the Linder Building.

William P. Linder was one of the organizers of the Kirksville Branch of the Bank of St. Louis, Kirksville's first bank. He was also a member of the bank's first Board of Directors. In 1859, he was elected cashier. He had planned for this bank to use the ground floor of his new Linder building. However, they chose to use a smaller facility. This bank moved a small house onto the corner west of the Linder Building and used it as a temporary bank. They later built their own larger building on

One of the largest audiences ever seen at a public meeting in Kirksville assembled in Brashear Park to hear an address delivered by Zack A. Harris, of Atlanta, Georgia, a representative of the Ku Klux Klan. The topic of his address "Americanism and the Ku Klux Klan." An estimated two to four thousand people gathered around the temporary stand from which the speaker addressed the crowd. In addition to the assembled group an estimated 1,000 automobiles were parked in the area. Many of the vehicles contained passengers who observed from a distance. The crowd was orderly, and there were no disturbances during the two-hour presentation. Speaker Harris did not hesitate to make scathing remarks about the press for its attitude towards the Klan and for circulating reports of outrages attributed to the Klan. After his attack on the press, Harris turned his attention to Catholics, Jews, and foreigners. He spoke of an edict of the Pope regarding Catholic weddings which he claimed superseded the laws of the land. Regarding Catholic schools he stated that all children should scare in the neighborhood near the shoe factory. The Kirksville Daily Express described the situation this way: "One of the worst looking specimens of manhood ever seen in Kirksville was responsible for quite a bit of excitement in the southwest part of the city last night." Residents of the shoe factory vicinity in the southwest part of town alerted police of the man's presence. Upon investigation, a tramp was found lying in a patch of weeds near the Wabash tracks. He was dressed in rags that were torn to shreds and full of holes. His hair was long, dirty, and stiff with filth. His body was completely matted with dirt. The man was brought uptown and questioned, but to no avail. Officials finally decided to "raise a purse of money" and send the fellow on to some other town. According to the newspaper report: "He was without doubt the dirtiest man ever seen here."

Workers in Kirksville began demolition of the old Missouri Power and Light Company icehouse. The walls of the building were 18 inches thick and insulated with sawdust. For years the building served as an ice storage area when steam heat was used in Kirksville. The operation closed in 1968, and since that time the building has been vacant. After demolition of the building, the hugh stack will also be torn down. The old city water tower was also to be removed. The company planned to build a new service building at the corner of Elson and Cottonwood Streets.

this same corner. This bank was in the present location of Pagliai's Pizza.

When the bank opted out of using the Linder building for their establishment, William P. Linder opened a dry goods store on the street level of his building. He rented out offices on the second floor, and the third floor became the meeting hall for the Odd Fellows Lodge No. 96, which he had joined in 1856.

As of 1860, everything seemed to be going well for this early Adair County settler. But, tragedy was just around the corner for both William and his stately building. Find out about that in the next segment of this history.

Public invited to discuss priority unfunded transportation needs

By MoDOT

JEFFERSON CITY – The Missouri Department of Transportation is inviting the public to join the discussion on priority unfunded transportation needs in their areas.

Missouri's transportation system is a tremendous asset, including 33,808 miles of roads and 10,424 bridges, making it one of the largest for any state in the nation. MoDOT, working with its regional planning partners, has outlined a draft High Priority Unfunded Needs listing, which identifies $1.1 billion in annual unfunded transportation needs for the system. The list was created to guide the development of needs into funded projects as state and federal transportation funds become available in future years.

The public is invited to review the list and provide feedback on the order of priorities that could be funded in the future. A meeting to discuss the draft updated High Priority Unfunded Needs list for transportation in Northeast Missouri will be held from 4-6 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 10, at the Missouri Department of Transportation, located at 1711 S. Highway 61, in Hannibal. The presentation materials and a comment form are also available online at https://www.modot. org/unfundedneeds. MoDOT staff have worked with metropolitan planning organizations and regional planning commissions throughout the state to develop a list of high priority unfunded road and bridge needs. The draft lists include $4.7 billion in road and bridge needs in three tiers. Tier one includes $552 million and includes needs that could be accomplished in the time of the current five-year Statewide Transportation Improvement Program (STIP) as federal and state funding levels increase. These needs have good estimates. Tier two is worth $2.1 billion and includes needs beyond the current STIP timeframe with broader estimates. Tier three includes $2 billion of needs also beyond the current STIP timeframe with broader estimates. In addition, MoDOT staff worked with planning partners to identify $1 billion in multimodal needs.

MoDOT officials said they are committed to providing equal access to this event for all participants. If you need a reasonable accommodation, contact MoDOT Northeast District Communications at 573-248-2490 or necr@modot. mo.gov by Friday, Aug. 4.

The draft document and comment forms will be available online through Aug. 31, at https://www.modot. org/unfundedneeds. For more information, call MoDOT at 888-ASK-MO-DOT (275-6636) or visit www.modot.org. To receive the latest statewide news and text alerts, signup for e-updates.

Truman's top returners as kickoff of 2023 season nears

By Adam Tumino

The Truman State football team was represented at the GLVC Kickoff event on Friday as the countdown to the 2023 season ticks lower and lower. Expectations are high for the Bulldogs in 2023, coming off a 2022 season where they narrowly missed out on a conference title and finished the season as the No. 25 team in the nation.

Truman will have a lot of returning players on both sides of the ball, many that were vital contributors last season and some that will have to step up to fill the roles left by players no longer with the program. Let's take a look at some players in each phase of the game to figure to be big parts of the 2023 team.

Offense

Truman has excelled with its rushing game in recent seasons, but has had turnover at that position in that time. But with multiple players receiving handoffs over the last three seasons, the player handing them the ball has not changed.

Senior quarterback Nolan Hair will be back to run the offense for Truman. After redshirting in 2019, Hair has played every game at quarterback for the Bulldogs starting in 2020. He finished sixth among GLVC quarterbacks last season in yards per game with 141.3, but ranked fourth in touchdown passes. He also took good care of the ball with his interception rate of 2.4 percent, the second-best in the conference behind only McKendree's Turner Pullen, who was named the GLVC Offensive Player of the Year.

Hair's primary backup last season was Collin Sutton, who was utilized more as a rusher than a passer. Sutton has transferred to fellow GLVC program Southwest Baptist, leaving four underclassmen as the other quarterbacks on Truman's roster. They are sophomore Bennett Ellsworth and freshmen Gerard Grewe, Quinn Nieman and Dylan Hair, Nolan's younger brother.

All-State four times in his career. Nolan won the state title at Blair Oaks in 2018, where he one-upped his younger brother by going 15-0.

Nolan Hair will be getting back most of his top targets from last season, with one noticeable exception. Tight end Matt Hall has transferred to Rice for his fifth year after leading the team with 38 receptions and five touchdowns last season. He was on the receiving end of some of the most important passing plays of the year. Luckily, the Bulldogs' next three leading receivers are back.

Receiver Tate Crane finished right behind Hall with 37 receptions and led the team with 413 receiving yards. Receiver Zach Zerwig was third on the team with 30 catches and 338 yards. He had two touchdowns, which does not include his catch of a clutch two-point conversion in overtime against Tiffin on Sept. 24 to give the Bulldogs an 18-17 win. Tight end Chris Kerr was the team's fourth-leading receiver last season and had three touchdowns, tying with Crane for the second-most on the team.

At running back, the Bulldogs Blair Oaks, his second state tithe team in 2021 and then transferred to Missouri, where he led was former Hannibal standout team, but did more damage bewill be losing their top rusher for tle. He led the Falcons to a 14-0 the Tigers in rushing yards and record in 2022 and was named the second-straight season.Cody Linebacker Ulysses Ross had in 2022. Schrader's replacement the fifth-most total tackles on the hind the line of scrimmage than any other Bulldog defender. His 10.5 tackles for loss led the team by a margin of 2.5 and his three sacks also led the team. Of the seven Truman defenders to record 1.5 or more sacks, six will be back. Only Alex DeVecchi, who was tied for third on the team with two sacks, has moved on. Jack Weltha finished second on the team with 2.5 sacks in what was his freshman season. Defensive back Peyton Carr had eight tackles for loss, the second-most on the team, and two sacks. The Bulldogs led the conference in total defense, allowing 297 yards per game. This had them ranked 32nd in the nation. Their rushing defense was the 13th-best in the nation, but was still behind Indianapolis among GLVC teams. The Greyhounds allowed just 53 rushing yards per game, the fewest in the nation.

Griffith, who excelled in his one season with the Bulldogs. He finished third in the GLVC last season in rushing yards and touchdowns.

The second-leading rusher last season for Truman was freshman running back Denim Cook, who ran for 375 yards and six touchdowns. He led the team with 7.5 yards per rush. His best game came in Truman's 59-32 win over Quincy on Oct. 29 where he ran for 154 yards and four touchdowns on just 12 carries. He has the most game experience among the eight backs on the roster this season.

To the benefit of the running game this season, the same offensive line that paved the way for backs will be returning. The Bulldogs gained 180.5 rushing yards per game last season, second in the conference, and seemed to improve throughout the season in that regard.

Defense

This will be the second-straight season where the Bulldogs return a vast majority of their defensive contributors. Of the 18 players to reach double-digits in total tackles in 2022, 15 will be back, including eight of the top nine players in total tackles.

The team's leading tackler last season was linebacker Isaiah Estes, now a senior. His 78 total tackles were 19 more than anyone else on the team and ranked seventh in the conference. He was also tied for third on the team with two interceptions. Truman's second-leading tackler, defensive back Ben Watson, will not be back, but the next seven players on the list will.

Defensive back Ben Thomas was third on the team with 58 total tackles but led the team with 44 solo tackles. He also had the most interceptions on the team with five, which also tied him for the GLVC lead. Ryan Olivas tied for second on the team and in the conference with four interceptions and ranked seventh on the team in total tackles.

Special Teams

Truman's specialists ranked among the conference's best in 2022. Kicker Grant Ross, who will be back in 2023, tied for second in the GLVC with his field goal percentage of 75 percent. He went 9-of-12 on field goals, as did Quincy's Drew Lenzen. Logan Turner of Southwest Baptist made 10-of-13 field goals to lead the conference at 76.9 percent.

Truman will be without punter Taylor Cornish, who ranked second in the GLVC in numerous punting categories. His average of 38.4 yards per punt, six punts of 50 or more yards and 19 punts inside the 20 were all the second-most in the conference.

Sophomore Mason Gessert is the only other punter listed on the roster. A kicker and punter, Gessert did not see any action in his freshman season. Sophomore kicker Vinnie Calvaruso is also listed on the roster, but like Gessert, did not see the field last season.

The Bulldogs will take the field on Sept. 2 to open the season at Findlay. They will then play their home opener on Sept. 9 against South Dakota Mines.

COLUMN

Mikolas' decision to hit Happ stupid on multiple levels ports have always been the setting for hot-headed. macho spectacle. Sometimes this can be highly entertaining, but often it is just extremely annoying. A series of events happened during the Cubs and Cardinals game on Thursday that fell decidedly on the annoying side of the spectrum.

Extremely early on in the game, on Cardinals starter Miles Mikolas' 12th pitch of the first inning, Cubs outfielder inadvertently hit Cardinals catcher Willson Contreras in the head with his backswing. It is an unfortunate play that happens sometimes in baseball, and it resulted in a bleeding Contreras being removed from the game.

Happ and Contreras played together with the Cubs from 2017 through last season, and Happ offered Contreras an apology and a hug as he made his way off the field. That seemed to be that. A swing unfortunately led to an injury and two friends indicated that there were no hard feelings as a result of the accidental contact.

But Mikolas apparently felt otherwise. The next pitch to Happ was up and in under Happ's chin, but it was unclear if there was intent. Mikolas removed any doubt by hitting Happ on the hip on the ensuing pitch. The umpires met and decided to eject Mikolas for rather obviously hitting Happ on purpose, something the league is trying to remove from the game for reasons that should be clear. Cardinals manager Oliver Marmol was also ejected.

Mikoklas was presumably hearing choice words from the Cubs dugout and gestured and yelled back at them, only to be met with complete disinterest from the Cubs. They were likely happy to be given a free base runner with two outs in the first inning.

Baseball has been in a battle for a long time with so-called unwritten rules, where players with old school mentalities try to police the game and get payback when they think someone is out of line or disrespecting the game. But I do not believe that accidentally hitting a catcher with a backswing is against any of these "rules."

For full disclosure, I am a Cubs fan. I am not a sports fan that hates the rivals of my favorite team for no reason, and therefore have no bad feelings about the Cardinals. I feel that I was a relatively neutral observer of the incident Thursday, and as a relatively neutral observer, I think that what Mikolas did was really dumb.

Obviously hitting batters on purpose is ill advised and dangerous. When releasing a projectile from less than 60 feet away from a person at 95 miles per hour and hitting them with it, very many bad things can happen. Luckily Happ was uninjured and Mikolas hit him in a spot where little damage could be done, but the first pitch was much closer to Happ's head and could have seriously injured him had it hit him.

But setting aside the moral reasons for hitting a person with a baseball on purpose, Mikolas hitting Happ was stupid from a baseball perspective.

The Cubs had no runners on and two outs in the inning. Thursday's game was also the first game of a four game series that will be played on the hottest days of the year so far. The series also leads into the trade deadline, and the games are potentially very important should either team be trying to decide what moves to make.

Mikolas should have known that hitting Happ would possibly lead to an ejection and force the Cardinals to go to the bullpen in the first inning of a long and hot series. It also gave the Cubs a baserunner and extended the inning. The score was 3-0 in favor of the Cubs by the time the inning ended with Happ scoring the game's first run. The Cubs went on the win the game 10-3 for their sixth-straight win and moved six games ahead of the Cardinals in the standings.

Now the Cardinals have dropped a game and will have a relatively taxed bullpen as they move through the series. If I was one of Mikolas' teammates, I suppose I would have appreciated him standing up for Contreras, but that would be outweighed by my frustration with his selfish decision.

No one else on the field seemed to be that upset at Happ. The game could have just gone on with no incident and perhaps the Cardinals could have won behind Mikolas. If Mikolas really wanted to get back at Happ, he should have tried striking him out.

Instead he energized the Cubs, sparked a twoout rally, forced his bullpen to work more than necessary and basically sent his team toward a loss. But I guess he stood up for his injured teammate who in no way wanted to be stood up for, so that's something.

Chiefs' Kadarius Toney has surgery for torn meniscus in his knee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Wide receiver Kadarius Toney underwent surgery Tuesday morning for a torn meniscus in his knee.

However Kansas City Chiefs coach Andy Reid hasn't ruled Toney out of the team's season opener against Detroit.

"There is a chance for the first game, but we'll see," Reid said after Tuesday's practice. "We'll just have to see how other recovery goes with him. But he's bound and determined he's gonna be there for the first game.

anyways, and it just caught a little bit more," Reid said. "So you take care of those things."

The Chiefs expect a significant role from Toney this season after he joined the club last season in an Oct. 27 trade with the Giants. Toney played in parts of seven games with the Chiefs while hauling in 14 catches for 171 yards and two scores. He also played a key role in the team's Super Bowl win over the Philadelphia Eagles, catching a 5-yard touchdown pass and returning a punt for 65 yards that set up another score Happ hit St. Louis catcher Willson Contreras in the head with a long follow-through on a swing, then was soon hit himself by a pitch from Cardinals starter Miles Mikolas.

Mikolas and Cardinals manager Oliver Marmol were ejected in the first-inning dustup between the longtime rivals.

Contreras was cut badly and tumbled down. After a hug from former Chicago teammate Happ, Contreras walked off the field.

The Cardinals said Contreras had a scalp laceration and was day to day to return to the lineup. Glue, not stitches, was used to close the wound.

"I feel fine," Contreras said. "I had a little head-

I didn't want to get stitches. I want to make sure I'm ready to go tomorrow."

Contreras wanted to remain in the game.

"It was bleeding really bad," Contreras said. "I wanted to be in there. At the same time, I have to take care of myself."

Happ reached out to Contreras.

"He did apologize," Contreras said. "We're very good friends. It's part of the game. It happens and it's over."

Happ and Contreras played together six years before Contreras signed with St. Louis in the offseason.

"It just sucks," Happ said. "It's horrible. He Happ said. "I wore it. I kind comes up bloody. We're ously a scary moment."

Cubs manager David Ross said there is no blame to assess in the situation.

"It's part of the game," Ross said. "It stinks. It's terrible how it happened. He was fighting to stay in the game. I sent him a text and I hope he is all right. Happ felt terrible."

Andrew Knizner took over behind the plate, and Mikolas brushed back Happ with the first pitch when play resumed to run the count to 3-1. With the next pitch, Mikolas hit Happ in the rear.

Happ didn't cause a scene.

"Just go to first base," of felt he coming in there." We'll see how it goes."

Toney tweaked his knee just minutes into Sunday's opening practice of the team's training camp at Missouri Western State University. Toney was receiving punts during warmups when he injured the cartilage in his knee. Reid said Toney previously had surgery on the same knee while with the New York Giants.

"He might have had a little something in there

With the speedster Toney on the sideline for now, quarterback Patrick Mahomes expects to lean more on the team's other starting receivers, Marquez Valdes-Scantling and Skyy Moore. Justin Watson and rookie Rashee Rice also saw more snaps in practice with Toney missing.

Mahomes believes the team's offense can adjust without Toney out of the lineup.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ASTROGRAPH BY EUGENIA LAST

Be the one to make a difference this year. Stand tall and help others. Don't let anyone rain on your parade. Get things done and you will rise to the top. Don't be a follower when taking the lead is in your best interest. Take charge and do what you do best.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) -- Avoid temptation and overindulgence. Be the voice of reason and stick to your principles. Work to make a difference and do what you can for those who ask for help.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) -- Keep an open mind, be resourceful and don't be afraid to change direction or make a move. Trust and believe in yourself and your decisions, and refuse to let your emotions lead you astray.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) -- Nurture relationships that count and walk away from those who stand between you and your dreams. Pay attention to detail and let self-improvement and personal growth be your goals.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) -- Wait until you have verified facts before you make a decision or share your intentions. You can stabilize your position and make life easier if you are prudent and direct.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) -- Think before you act. Someone will give you false information. Be resourceful, and you'll save yourself aggravation. Put more effort into self-improvement and spending quality time with loved ones.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) -- Adjust your routine to fit your schedule. Take care of time-sensitive matters that offer opportunities to maintain or boost your status quo. A change of pace or a new interest will improve your lifestyle. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) -- Aim straight and shoot for the stars. Don't stop or wait for others to catch up; note what's important to you and make your dream come true. Listen to your heart.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) -- A partnership will help you save money and offer the chance to advance. Speak up about your wants and be ready to negotiate. A change may not excite you initially, but give it a chance.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) -- Learn as you go, and you'll reach the top. Get out and mingle with people heading in a similar direction or who share your interests. A self-improvement project will lift your spirits.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) -- Keep life simple. Figure out what you need to do and make it happen. Dedication and persistence will pay off. Don't complicate matters with contradictions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) -- Consider your plans before making a move. Get the go-ahead from dependents and those affected by your decisions. Keeping everything out in the open will help alleviate problems.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) -- You'll find purpose in life if you help people. Participation will open doors to new beginnings. Discipline and acts of kindness will pay off and encourage you to do more.

PDA by son and girlfriend makes his mom uncomfortable

DEAR ABBY: My son is dating a girl I can't stand. I'm not too crazy about my son right now, either. I no longer want to be out in public with them because their public displays of affection are so over the top it makes me ill. I cannot imagine spending every holiday, birthday or whatever with them for the rest of my life. He hasn't told us anything about this person. We don't even know her last name. Help! -- TURNED-OFF MOM IN INDIANA

DEAR MOM: You didn't mention your son's age or how long he has been involved with this young woman. It appears they are both quite young. Romances that burn with this kind of intensity usually cool down fairly quickly. In the meantime, be patient. Say nothing that will cause you to be perceived as the "enemy." If you would like more information about the girl, ask her in a non-threatening way. ("Are you a schoolmate?" "Do you have a last name?" "Does your family live in town?") Then make sure your son knows how to protect them both from unwanted pregnancy and STDs "should the need arise," and wait them out.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 49-year-old mother of 10. I always loved my kids dearly and tried my best. But I wanted to be a friend rather than a disciplinarian, and I always gave in. I assumed that because my husband and I never did bad things around them while they were growing up, and because I always resisted peer pressure when I was a teenager, they would follow in our footsteps, but I was wrong. They are now mean to me, and most of them hate me. I sometimes feel like I don't want to go on because I'll always feel sad and depressed. I can't remember the last time I was happy and didn't dread waking up every morning. Please find time to answer and give me some hope again. -- BRO-KEN IN WEST VIRGINIA

DEAR BROKEN: It's time you stopped depending on your children to validate you, and began recognizing that, for better or worse, you did the best you could as a parent. Please discuss this with your religious adviser AND your physician. You need more help than I can offer in a letter, but those are the places to start. There are better davs ahead.

JEANNE PHILLIPS DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am adopted, and 10 years ago I met my birth mom and her family. I go to their family gatherings and see them for holidays. I am getting married, and I've asked my birth mom to be my matron of honor, which my parents are OK with.

After the ceremony, we are going to have a reception at the church and then a dinner with 20 people hours later. I'm not sure if I should invite my birth mom to the dinner or not. My parents said it might be awkward for her and for them. I am just trying to do the right thing. What should I do? -- NERVOUS IN NEW MEXICO

DEAR NERVOUS: This is something you should discuss with your birth mother. While one would think that as part of the wedding party she would be welcome at all of the festivities, if it would make the couple who raised you uncomfortable, she should understand why she isn't being asked to attend.

NEWS OF THE WEIRD...

The Aristocrats

Wow! Things went literally and physically south on July 11 at a press dinner on New York's Upper East Side in support of Robert F. Kennedy Jr.'s presidential campaign. According to Page Six, as Kennedy answered questions, someone posed one about climate change, but before Kennedy could answer, Doug Dechert, the event host, screamed, "The climate hoax!" Which brought a scold from art critic Anthony Haden-Guest, who called him a "miserable blob." The two continued their exchange, with Kennedy calmly looking on, until Dechert loudly released a "prolonged fart" while yelling, helpfully, "I'm farting!" After attempts to change the subject and more

In Glastonbury, Connecticut, 11 boats took off from the Seaboard Marina on July 12 -- make that with the marina. WTNH-TV reported that a 200-foot section of dock with 11 boats attached broke off and started floating down the Connecticut River, later passing through Cromwell, Portland, Middletown and Haddam. One part of the errant dock was still floating downstream the next day: officials said it was likely that flooding in Vermont had caused the high waters that set the structure free. Teddy Charton of Middletown said he "got a call that my boat was floating down the river. It ended up all the way dow Chester." Eventually all but one of the boats was recovered.

verbal antics, the evening wound down. The next day, Dechert told Page Six, "I apologize for using my flatulence as a medium of public commentary in your presence." How do I get on this guest list?

Creme de la Weird

Notre Dame quarterback Sam Hartman, who sat out some of last season with Wake Forest University, underwent surgery in August 2022 to remove blood clots and the rib closest to his collarbone, 247Sports.com reported. Hmmm, what to do with that extra rib? Hartman's mom, a nurse, is making a necklace for him with the bone. "It's actually clean. It is well on its way to becoming a necklace," he said. "I asked her to try and make it like a puka shelltype deal with the riblike shark's tooth at the end." Hartman said the jewelry might appear in a couple of pregame warmups. "It won't be worn a lot."

Awesome!

Australian sailor Tim Shaddock, 51, of Sydney and his dog, Bella, became stranded in the Pacific Ocean after they set out from Mexico for French Polynesia, a 3,700-mile trip, in April. The boat became damaged in storms, the BBC reported, and Shaddock drifted until mid-July, when a helicopter spotted him. A tuna trawler picked up the pair, who were in surprisingly good health. Shaddock said they ate raw fish and collected rainwater, and he sheltered from the sun beneath the boat's canopy. "I have been through a very difficult ordeal at sea," he said. "I'm just needing rest and good food."

Ewwwww

Multiple wrecks tied up northbound I-95 in Bridgeport, Connecticut, on July 17, all attributed to one cause: A tractor-trailer was leaking human waste onto the roadway, which caused a motorcyclist to lose control and crash, the Associated Press reported. Several vehicles crashed into each other or concrete barriers on the slipperv roads. and another truck skidded into a state police cruiser, which then rammed into another cruiser. No one was seriously hurt in the pileup. The driver was charged with reckless endangerment and reckless driving, as officers believed he knew of the gross leak but kept driving.

How Hot Is It?

To demonstrate the deadly heat inside a closed car, the staff of the National Weather Service in Midland, Texas, baked a batch of chocolate chip cookies on a car's dashboard on July 18, United Press International reported. While it was 105 degrees outside, the dashboard registered 190 degrees -- high enough to bake the cookies in about 4 1/2 hours. "Even though ours weren't golden brown, we can confirm that they are done and delicious," NWS employees wrote on Facebook.
