NRMC to resume comprehensive cancer care in spring

Updated plan does not require a Certificate of Need or taxpayer funding

By Northeast Regional Medical Center

Leaders at Northeast Regional Medical Center (NRMC) announced updated plans to restore locally-delivered, comprehensive cancer services for the Kirksville community in spring 2025. The hospital will proceed with construction to modify its concrete vault so that a larger, existing linear accelerator can be transferred to Kirksville in order to quickly resume radiation oncology services on the campus of NRMC. Because the project can be completed below the $1 million threshold that would require a Certificate of Need (CON), the hospital has withdrawn its previously filed CON application and will move forward with its plans immediately.

Modification of the vault and improvements to the radiation oncology space in the NRMC outpatient oncology clinic will begin this fall. The linear accelerator will be installed early next year. Radiation oncology, using a linear accelerator, is an extremely effective treatment that can be used to treat many types of cancer.

Linear accelerators use high energy x-rays or electrons that conform to a tumor's shape to destroy cancer cells while sparing healthy tissue surrounding the tumor.

"We have decided this is the best and fastest way to make radiation oncology services available and to accelerate access to comprehensive cancer care close to home for our patients and community," said Patrick Avila, CEO of Northeast Regional Medical Center. "Building upon our many years of delivering quality cancer care, with the collaboration and support of our long-term partners and skilled providers, NRMC is in the best position to advance a robust program in Kirksville."

Cancer care has been offered at Northeast Regional Medical Center for nearly 25 years in collaboration with Missouri Cancer Associates. The previous linear accelerator was taken out of service in 2022 during the COVID-19 pandemic. NRMC began discussions with Missouri Cancer Associates at that time and solidified options earlier this year to replace the linear accelerator.

A ribbon-cutting ceremony was held to mark the 50th anniversary of the Red Barn Arts and Crafts Festival

Kirksville Arts Association celebrates 50 years of Red Barn

By Marty Bachman Daily Express

Kirksville Arts Association celebrated 50 years of the Red Barn Arts and Crafts Festival on Saturday, Sept. 28. The festival opened with a ribbon cutting ceremony at the Entertainment Corner to celebrate the golden anniversary.

The festival, which has been a mainstay of the community since 1974, has a long tradition of celebrating arts and crafts. This year over 100 booths lined downtown, beginning at the corner of Jefferson and Franklin in front of the Sue

Ross Arts Center and including the area around the courthouse square.

The courthouse parking lot served as a food court with a variety of options for hungry visitors. The Kids Corner was held in the green space north of the arts center. The Entertainment Corner on West Washington Street near the southwest corner of the courthouse square filled the day with local talent including local dance companies of People in Motion, Melody Jennings and Stage Babies, the Ukulele club, NEMO Country Dance Club, Minor Detail, Tru-Men and Sweet Nothings from Truman State University.

Kirksville Police Department warns of new phone scam

By Kirksville Police Department

The Kirksville Police Department wants to warn the public of a new phone scam hitting the area. This new scam involves the caller using the actual names of police department members and claiming the victim missed a court date or other type of court proceeding. Then they try to convince the victim to purchase gift cards or transfer money in some other form to avoid arrest.

The Kirksville Police Department will never attempt to collect funds in any form over the phone.

This goes for all other government offices. If you have questions about a call from anyone claiming to be from a government agency demanding payment, call the number listed on the official website for that agency to confirm the identity of the caller or claim.

A few other tips to consider:

- If you receive a call like this, hang up and block the number.

- Never give out personal information over the phone unless it's a verified company.

- Never allow anyone remote access to your computer.
- Never pay any agency or company for gift cards.
- Don't trust anyone calling you about your bank accounts, computer subscriptions, or any other topic that leads them to ask for access or personal information.

- If you pay any bills by phone, make sure YOU initiate the call to their office using a verified phone number.

Pantry for Adair County to celebrate 10 years of service

By Pantry for Adair County

Early in 2014, the charter board of directors assembled to discuss the founding of Pantry for Adair County (PAC). The first set of minutes reflected the beginning intent of representatives from six church congregations who joined together “to get more food onto our county resident’s tables”, as stated by Tim Tucker, the first president of the newly formed board.

Although they started dreaming and planning, their dreams didn’t reach as far as the impact Pantry for Adair County has today. From that meeting forward the efforts of a few have grown to a devotion of an entire community and supported by many churches, individuals, organizations and businesses across Adair County.

What has been fondly described as beginning with six churches and a truck serving 120 households a month, ended 2023 serving an average of 575 households a month at a fixed facility location at 2012 S. Halliburton in Kirksville. Another charter board member and former pantry manager, Krista Tinney says, “PAC has grown and matured in its ability to meet the needs of the food insecure; we think that’s something to celebrate.”

In the early years PAC operated a mobile pantry as a partnering agency of The Food Bank of Central and Northeast Missouri and were based out of the parking lot of Faith United Methodist Church. PAC continues to be a partnering agency with The Food Bank for Central and Northeast Missouri but notes the distinction as a separate independent 501(c)3 non-profit organization responsible for covering its own expenses and operations. Fundraising to purchase food, cover utility costs and support the salary of a part-time manager is an ongoing concern.

After searching for an affordable facility, Central Church of Christ offered a building on their property. That occupancy agreement exists today at 2012 S. Halliburton with additions to the building and other improvements having been made over the last seven years including a walk-in freezer and cooler located in an annex. During the pandemic, operations switched to a complete drive-through process and a small check-in building was added.

The pantry enjoys generous contributions from local produce growers, but also boasts its own garden patch tended by volunteers from the Kirksville Area Master Gardeners. The volunteer base required to maintain operations totals over 70 committed individuals who perform a variety of duties on a regular basis including collecting items from retail grocery partners, unloading delivery trucks and staffing the three day a week distribution to food insecure neighbors in Adair County.

A celebration reception and fundraiser are scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 5, from 5-7:30 p.m. at the Newman Center, 709 S. Davis Street, Kirksville. Tickets are on sale at pacfood.org or at the door of the event. There will be a featured continuous slide presentation showcasing progress throughout the years. The group will have a silent auction featuring a handmade quilt and a pair of club-level tickets for the Oct. 7 Chiefs game at Arrowhead Stadium.

Additionally, there will be other items and packages offered such as “Date Night” theme and “Pamper Package”. There will be a 50/50 raffle and more happening at the event including food and fellowship.

Kirksville officials recognize Missouri Water and Wastewater Professionals Week

By City of Kirksville

Gov. Mike Parson has declared Sept. 9-15 as Water and Wastewater Professionals Week in Missouri, recognizing the vital work those professionals do. The city of Kirksville joins in recognizing the great staff members at its water treatment and wastewater treatment plants. These individuals ensure that when residents turn on a faucet or shower, clean and safe water comes through. They also make sure that when a toilet is flushed, the wastewater is properly treated and returned to the environment.

Proper transport, maintenance, and treatment of water and wastewater contribute to the health, safety, welfare, and economic vitality of Kirksville and its residents. Kirksville residents combine to use roughly 2.4 million gallons of water each day, which is treated at the water treatment plant before making its way to homes and businesses.

The wastewater treatment plant treats almost three million gallons of wastewater each day, sending clean water out and protecting the environment, plants, animals and bodies of water.

NRMC

“I am excited for the people of Kirksville and the surrounding communities to have improved access to radiation treatments for cancer,” said Reed Cope, MD, radiation oncologist with Missouri Cancer Associates. “I look forward to contributing to exceptional oncology care in the region with Missouri Cancer Associates. Kirksville and the broader Northeast Missouri area hold special significance for me, given my academic background from Truman State University.”

NRMC is funding the work to restore local access to radiation oncology and comprehensive cancer treatment using its existing resources at no cost to the community’s taxpayers. The comprehensive program will include medical oncologists, oncology infusion services, radiation oncology, CT scanning with treatment and site mapping, lab services and access to specialty care physicians.

“ATSU is thankful there will be additional cancer treatment services available in Kirksville and pleased to support Northeast Regional Medical Center’s efforts,” said Craig M. Phelps, DO, Chancellor of A. T. Still University.

NRMC is the Missouri provider in the best position to restore radiation oncology services, working timely and without the use of taxpayer funds. It will take other providers at least two years to develop and implement a radiation oncology program in the community.

This Week in Local History

105 Years Ago, October 1, 1919

What the Kirksville police called the “rankest” case of which they were ever aware came to their knowledge when Mrs. Mary Klingsmith and Lee Parker were arrested at a Kirksville rooming house. They were jailed and charged with violating the law of living together as man and wife, when they were not. It was learned that Mrs. Klingsmith had a husband and seven children, the oldest was 15 and the youngest 18 months. Mrs. Klingsmith was about 35 or 40 years old while Lee Parker was 25. When she was arrested Mrs. Klingsmith stated that her husband did not object to her actions. This appeared to be the situation as a day later the husband appeared before the judge and tried to get his wife out on bond. To this action the wife declared that unless her boyfriend was also released, she would not leave the jail. The boyfriend stated that he wanted to stay there with Mrs. Klingsmith. He stated that he had been supporting the Klingsmith family, including the husband and children, for three months. The day after Klingsmith and Parker were arrested, they appeared in Kirksville police court before an overflow courtroom with people standing outside. Mrs. Mary Klingsmith pleaded guilty to the charge of lewd conduct and paid a fine of $5. She was then paroled by Judge Kirk on condition that she return to her husband and seven children. Parker appeared in the same court and entered a plea of “not guilty.” He was fined $5 and given a one week stay of a jail sentence. Apparently, there were no hard feelings on anyone’s part as after the court adjourned, Parker went to a local restaurant and bought dinner for the entire Klingsmith family, including husband and all the children. The courtroom had been jammed to capacity, primarily by men who wanted to hear the testimony. The power of curiosity was displayed when not a man left the courtroom after Mrs. Klingsmith threatened to “tell everything.” After Judge Kirk heard the case, he summed it up saying: “She’s just plum hog-wild about the man (Lee Parker).”

100 Years Ago, October 2, 1924

Harry E. Bailey, a furniture dealer and undertaker of Greencastle, met his death as result of a most unusual accident. The accident occurred about four miles west of Novinger as he and his wife were driving their small car that did not have a top. They came upon a herd of cattle being driven along the road, and in the herd was a mean bull. As they were driving by the herd the angry bull reared up on the car just as the car was beside him. The bull’s front feet were in the car. Bailey did not realize it at the time, but the bull’s horn had penetrated his left abdomen to the depth of about six inches. Bailey initially thought that the steering wheel had hit his abdomen. When the extent of his injuries was realized, he was taken to the Grim-Smith Hospital in Kirksville where his prognosis was grave. In a brief period, Bailey developed peritonitis and died a week after the accident.

65 Years Ago, September 30, 1959

September 30, 1959, closed the last chapter in Kirksville’s rail passenger history as southbound Wabash train Number 14 rumbled unceremoniously through town. It marked the final passenger train to leave Kirksville. Earlier that same morning the last northbound passenger train passed through on its final trip from Moberly to Des Moines, Iowa. Discontinuance of the two trains came with the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission after cities on the line including Kirksville, the Missouri Public Service Commission, and railroad employees fought the closure. Wabash claimed financial distress. The two trains join the lengthy list of railway casualties that fell victim to faster, handier, and more luxurious modes of travel—airplanes, automobiles, and buses. The North Missouri Railroad, the forerunner of the Wabash, arrived in Kirksville on July 4, 1868, amidst a tumultuous crowd and celebration. North-south passenger rail service through Kirksville spanned 91 years from 1868 to 1959.

65 Years Ago, October 5, 1959

Three plus inches of rain coming in cloudburst proportions flooded homes and streets in Kirksville and sent the waters of the Chariton River out of its banks. The most severe damage, however, happened in Youngstown as the east end of the Chariton River bridge collapsed into raging flood waters. It was reported that traffic had crossed the bridge earlier in the morning before it collapsed, although the County Court said markers closing the road were put up the day before it fell into the river. The responsibility for the bridge is believed to lie with the drainage ditch district which built the structure about eight years earlier when the Chariton was re-channeled. District members are primarily those who own farms along the river. After construction of the bridge was completed, the Adair County Court refused to accept the bridge upon the recommendation of the county engineer. He correctly predicted that the bridge which was built on a bend in the river would eventually give way to high waters.

45 Years Ago, September 29, 1979

Kirksville shoppers could start saving their pennies, nickels, and dimes as the 669 parking meters in the downtown area had been removed. Free downtown parking had been in the works for over a year. Members of the Downtown Improvement Committee and city officials claimed that removing the parking meters and implementing free parking would make Kirksville more attractive to area shoppers. The Kirksville City Council, after deciding to eliminate the parking meters, adopted a new time parking system. The Council passed an ordinance that identified areas for free-two-hour parking and all-day parking. The police department’s meter maid was to begin chalking tires and issuing tickets to encourage turnover in the two-hour parking spaces. Chief of Police Wayne Martin said that the city collected an annual average of $54,000 in parking meter money and fines. With that source of revenue no longer available, the city was considering an ordinance to increase the downtown merchants license fees to compensate for the loss of parking meter revenue.

Sharon Morris, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean West, was named 1984 Kirksville High School homecoming queen at a pep rally at the high school gymnasium followed by a bonfire. Miss Morris was escorted by Bill Harlan. They represented the senior class. Attendants were Lisa Patterson and Larry Anderson, junior class, and Matt Hall and Kari Hays, sophomore class. The 1983 KHS homecoming queen, Karla Killday and her escort, Scott Cook, tri-captain of the Tigers football team, were also a part of the queen’s court. Other tri-captains of the Tigers team were David Tollenaar and Eddie Mountain. The Tigers were slated to take on Chillicothe in their homecoming game.

The Smith-Kellogg Mansion – Chapter 10 – The Kellogg Family

By Blytha Ellis, President
Adair County Historical Society and Museum

It was in 1881 when George McGuire sold his mansion in the northeast part of Kirksville to Warren Jirah Kellogg (1840-1925) and his family. Whether George mentioned his reason for selling is not known. Maybe if he had said, “We think this house is cursed. We’ve had nothing but trouble here since we moved in,” the Kelloggs might not have purchased the home. But, it was said that Mrs. Susan (Kellam) Kellogg was especially pleased with the opportunity to live in this mansion because she had admired it since they moved to Kirksville two years prior.

Of course, the other reason they really wanted to buy the McGuire property was because it adjoined the former Parcels property, which members of the expanded Kellogg family already owned. But first, we will go back to the beginning.

The Kellogg ancestors originally came from England where the name had many variations in spelling such as Kylyogge and Kelliogg. The Kelloggs eventually made their way to the New World and became known as very wealthy people in Pennsylvania and New York. It is believed that the lumber business, as well as stock raising, made them rich.

Warren Kellogg’s great-grandfather, Corporal Eliphalet Kellogg (1738-1811), served in the Revolutionary War from New York. His son was Silas Kellogg (1767-1853), a surveyor who married Mary Mumford. When they moved to Wayne County, Pa., Silas purchased 3,000 acres of timber land. This land would prove to be very profitable for generations to come as the Kelloggs built sawmills and produced lumber.

One son of Silas and Mary Kellogg was Jirah Mumford Kellogg (1810-1885). He married Eliza Moore, and they had 12 children, one of whom was Warren Jirah Kellogg, the man who purchased the Smith-McGuire mansion in 1881.

In a newspaper clipping from Wayne County, Pa., it is recorded that “the saw mill of Jirah Kellogg in Preston Township was destroyed by fire, together with about 100,000 feet of sawed lumber.” But, this seems to have been only a minor setback in their lumber empire.

Jirah’s wife died in 1866, and in 1870 at the age of 60, with most of his children grown, Jirah traveled West with apparent plans for moving or at least purchasing land, perhaps as an inheritance for his children. He took the eldest of his five sons with him on his westward journey. This son was Warren Jirah Kellogg who was single and 30 years old at that time. Interestingly, Jirah’s travels took him to Kirksville, where he purchased what he considered prize land for raising cattle. He purchased the large estate of William Henry Parcels Jr. at the east city limits of Kirksville. (This property is today located at 1603 E. Illinois St., a block behind the current HyVee store.)

The large house on this estate was originally built by William Henry Parcels Jr. when he came back from the gold fields of California after the 1849 Gold Rush. Here, William had raised 10 children by his first wife, and two children were born to his second wife in this home. During the 1862 Battle of Kirksville, William’s property was used as a rear camp for the Union forces. (To read more about William Henry Parcels Jr., see Parts 68 and 69 of this history. For more on the Battle of Kirksville, see Parts 89 through 93.)

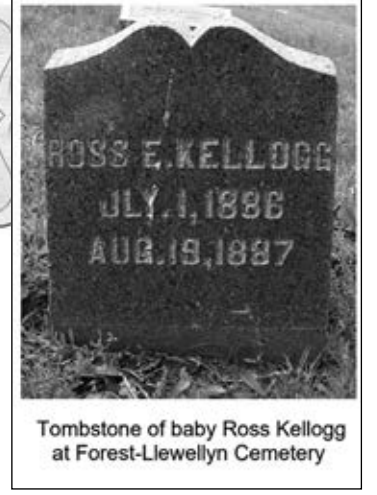

Jirah enjoyed nearly three years of prosperity in Adair County until his health began to fail. He decided to return to Pennsylvania as he wished to die in his home state and be buried beside his wife. He and his son, Warren, left Missouri for Pennsylvania in 1873. Warren would later return to Kirksville. Jirah lived until 1885. He has a large monument in Little York Cemetery in Wayne Co., Pa.

Jirah’s second son, 32-year-old James Silas Kellogg (1841-1915), came to Kirksville in 1873 to take over the property which his father had purchased. This land just happened to adjoin the extensive John T. Smith property to the northwest (now Kellwood Hills) which Warren Kellogg would later buy.

Accompanying James Kellogg to Kirksville were three of his sisters, Adeline, 30; Sarah, 18; and Dency 15. All of these sisters would soon marry Kirksville men. Four other Kellogg siblings would come to Kirksville a few years later. James seemed to be especially close to his younger brother, Edward, who came to Kirksville prior to 1900. Both lived on and worked the farm at the east end of Illinois Street. They were referred to as wealthy farmers who managed a very profitable horse and stock cattle business. The remaining five of the 12 children of Jirah Kellogg either stayed in Pennsylvania or moved elsewhere.

Surprisingly, between 1910 and 1920, five of the Kellogg children joined hundreds of thousands of people from the East and the Midwest who were intrigued with Los Angeles, Calif., and moved there in what was described as “the largest internal migration in the history of the American people.” History records that this move was brought on by “a frenzied period of wildcat oil drilling, intense business speculation, religious excitement, extensive suburban development, and the birth of the aircraft and film industries.” The Kellogg siblings who moved to LA all lived in the same neighborhood, most with houses on West 46th Street.

But, we are getting ahead of our story. When Warren Kellogg went back to Pennsylvania with his father in 1873, he got married before he returned to Kirksville. On November 15, 1873, Warren married Susan Kellam in the town of Deposit, Pa. The town’s name came from the large deposits of logs that lumbermen of the area placed there as they prepared to form them into rafts and float them down the Delaware River to Philadelphia. Since Warren Kellogg and his brothers were lumbermen, they probably frequented the town of Deposit, and this is likely how he met Susan Kellam who was a native of Delaware County where Deposit is located.

After their marriage, Warren and Susan Kellogg resided in Wayne County, Pa., where they had four children within the next five years—Raymond Warren, born in 1874; James Azor in 1876; Charles William in 1877; and George E. in 1878. In 1879, the couple moved to Kirksville where they stayed in the Kellogg home, which Warren’s father had purchased from William Henry Parcels. This seems to have become the communal home for all the Kelloggs who came to Kirksville, at least for a time. Two years later, Warren purchased the Smith-McGuire property.

Since the two Kellogg properties now adjoined each other, they created what was described as a “fenced causeway” between the properties, which was a tree-lined walkway so that occupants of the two homes could easily walk between properties and interact. Three more children were born to Warren and Susan Kellogg in Kirksville, Fred Oakley in 1880, Emma Leann in 1881 and Ross E. in 1886.

Besides the 720 acres surrounding the Smith-McGuire Mansion, which would now become known as the Kellogg Mansion, Warren Kellogg also owned 300 acres in Salt River Township of Adair County where Brashear is located. Like his brothers, Warren mainly raised cattle for a living. The extensive land around the mansion at that time included what is now Kellwood Hills, the Aquatic Center, Rotary Park, and probably Kings Ridge. At that time, Baltimore Street did not extend past where HyVee is now located.

In 1887, a tragedy occurred in the Warren Kellogg family. Little Ross Kellogg, who was age 13 months and 19 days old and just beginning to walk, climbed upon a keg or small barrel at his home, then fell from it. He sustained injuries which caused his death a few hours later. He was buried in Plot SL-13 at Forest-Llewellyn Cemetery in Kirksville, where later all but one of his immediate family members would later be buried.

Some claimed that this was only the beginning of the “curse” of this house upon yet another family in residence there.

PUBLIC HEALTH CORNER

National Breast Cancer Awareness Month

By Kirstyn Dietle, CHES®
Health Educator
Adair County Health Dept.

Welcome to the Public Health Corner: National Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Every October, National Breast Cancer Awareness Month shines a spotlight on the importance of early detection, treatment, and research for one of the most common cancers affecting women worldwide. It's a time to honor survivors, support those currently battling the disease, and remember those we've lost to breast cancer.

Early detection through regular screenings, such as mammograms, significantly improves the chances of successful treatment. Educational efforts throughout the month emphasize the importance of being aware of the signs and symptoms, encouraging both women and men to perform self-exams and consult with healthcare professionals if they notice any changes.

In addition to raising awareness, October is also an important month for fundraising to support ongoing research efforts aimed at finding a cure. Many organizations host events, such as walks and charity drives, to support breast cancer research and patient support services.

National Breast Cancer Awareness Month is a reminder of the strength of those affected by the disease and a call to action for everyone to take proactive steps for their health. Together, we can make a difference in the fight against breast cancer.

Those Memories are Playing

The lights were low... the room was filled... couples were dancing to the music that night,

And there I was standing... in my usual spot... but just listening for me was alright.

I watched as Bill... picked a flawless riff... I felt Mike's drums beat against my chest,

There was Darrel on rhythm... and Ray on bass... to me it was rock at its best.

The Court Jesters played... like never before... their music took my spirit so high, I mouthed the words... as Dave sang in the mic... "Excuse me, while I kiss the sky..."

Those memories are playing... each night in my mind... I just wish I could be on the stage too, I have a guitar... and I know how to play it... getting it back out is what I should do.

Fall in Missouri is an excellent time to get outdoors

KEVIN POWELL
CONSERVATION AGENT

Fall in Missouri is an excellent time to get outdoors.

There are many opportunities to enjoy the fall colors, fishing hotspots, and hunting your favorite quarry. As the hunting seasons kick-off, make sure to double check for the required permits and look for opportunities to take hunter education classes.

One of the great places in our area to enjoy fall colors is Union Ridge Conservation Area just north of Green Castle, Mo.. Union Ridge has an excellent mix of mature hardwoods, native grasses, and unique vistas. There are several intensive management strategies being used on the area. Prescribed burns are used to encourage native grasses and limit undesirable woody vegetation. Department staff recently burnt nearly 400 acres along highway D north of Green Castle. Other strategies have been timber stand improvement, which removes less desirable specimens of oak, hickory, and walnut. Please take an opportunity to visit and enjoy Union Ridge.

Hazel Creek Lake draws fishermen from far and wide this time of year. The muskie bite typically picks up between mid-September and mid-October. This fishery has been managed to hold trophy class muskie that feast on crappie and other bait fish. It has been my experience that it does not take 10,000 casts to catch one of these Barracuda like fish. Remember, Hazel Creek Lake is trolling motor only but feel free to find a big lure, check your drag, and start casting!

The fall deer and turkey seasons are underway. Please note a significant change that the fall of 2024 will require a fall turkey hunting permit. Turkey hunting privileges will no longer be included with archery permits.

The fall Turkey Hunting Permit will be good for an archery and firearms portion. Take a look at the 2024 Fall Deer and Turkey Hunting Regulations booklet for more information. The early firearms deer antlerless portion will be Oct. 11-13. This season is an excellent opportunity to enjoy mild weather and focused deer herd management. County limits will apply. Although mandatory sampling will only take place during the opening weekend of the November portion, CWD drop off coolers are available at the following locations:

Adair County—MDC Northeast Regional Office, 3500 E. Gans Rd. in Kirkville

Knox County—Edina Fire Department, 208 E. Monticello in Edina

Macon County—MFA, 1805 N. Missouri Street in Macon and New Cambria Volunteer Fire Department, 107 W. Jones Ave. in New Cambria

Schuyler County—The Outler, 811 US-63 in Lancaster

Sullivan County—Shop and Talk Convenience Store, 9 W. Hwy 6 in Green City

Hunter education class will be offered in Adair County Oct. 23. Please visit our website www.mdc.mo.gov for class dates, registration, and pre-course material.

For conservation related needs, please stop by the Kirkville Regional Office at 3500 S. Baltimore Street in Kirkville or call 660-785-2420.

Kirksville ruins Marshall homecoming

By Henry Janssen
Daily Express

The Tigers took care of business on Friday night, jumping out to a lead early and just adding to it, defeating the Owls 40-0. It was a game in which the blowout result came should come as no surprise – the Tigers are 5-0 and Marshall is winless and has yet to play a competitive game.

Senior running back Jace Kent scored twice in the first quarter, first from seven yards out then from 18 yards out to end the quarter.

Junior Logan Martin scored on a 23-yard rush in the second to give the Tigers a 20-0 lead into the halftime break, from which point on they could totally cruise. Kirksville's last possession of the half ended with an interception.

Kent added to his already impressive season totals by rushing for 153 yards and four touchdowns. Martin had the other two.

Senior quarterback Ryder Lyons completed 13 of his 17 attempts for 215 yards.

The Tigers allowed just 185 yards, and gave up just 59 in the second half. Junior linebacker Brantley Kottwitz led Kirksville with five solo tackles.

The Tigers look ahead to their own homecoming next week, and a game that has been circled on the schedule for quite some time when Hannibal comes to Spainhower.

Senior back Jace Kent breaks a tackle in a matchup against Chillicothe earlier in the year. Kent finished with 153 yards and four touchdowns in Kirksville's predictable rout of a struggling Marshall team. HENRY JANSSEN/KDE FILE PHOTO

Tigers fall in heartbreaker, lose to Mexico in five sets

By Henry Janssen
Daily Express

For the second time this season, the Bulldogs narrowly got the best of Kirksville in a fifth set. "This was a tough one tonight," Kirksville coach Missy Dempsay said after the loss at Kirksville Primary School. "Two lousy points." Mexico took the opening two sets, Kirksville took the following two, and the fifth was decided 15-13.

The match lasted nearly two-and-a-half hours — seldom in our part of the world do matches last an hour and a half.

The Tigers fall below .500 with a 6-7 record, while Mexico is 6-3. The Tigers have four NCMC matches remaining.

Senior hitter Kynley Gresham and junior hitters Olivia Boyer and Brooklyn Decker were a problem at the net for Mexico on Tuesday. Emphatic play up front accounted for the majority of the Tigers' points.

"We knew what to do and we sped it up and knew where our players were," senior hitter Lauren Burchett said. "We knew all along we could beat them and just fell short but, you know, that's sports. (The coaches) saw a couple of things we need to fix up, but I think our girls are playing well."

Mexico won the first two sets, 25-20, 25-21, before the Tigers battled back to take both the second and the third 25-18. Kirksville jumped out to 5-0 leads in both sets, and although the Tigers trailed in the fourth set 10-9, they went on a spree to force the fifth.

In the two teams' first matchup, it was the opposite. Kirksville had comfortable wins in the first two sets before dropping the final three on Sept. 5.

Kirksville plays again against Hannibal on Thursday.

"It's no well-kept secret that Hannibal is going to give any team all they can handle," Dempsay said. The Pirates enter the game 10-1.

Freshman setter Sydney Cochran controls the offense and gets a set to her girls at the net.

Junior hitter Olivia Boyer records a spike on Tuesday night. The Tigers' play at the net, especially hers, was especially impactful in crawling out of an 0-2 hole to force a fifth set.

Huge third quarter lifts 'Dogs to first win on Family Day

By Henry Janssen
Daily Express

Kellen Nesbitt picked up his first win as Truman head coach on Saturday in a 31-17 victory over Wayne State (Mich.) on a warm, nearly cloudless Saturday afternoon at Stokes Stadium. The Bulldogs once again played from behind the entire first half. The young team scrapping themselves out of a one-score hole, 10-3, looked like second nature after the halftime break.

Nesbitt said that he thought third downs were the difference in the game.

"In the first half, we allowed them to convert and had a turnover," he said. "I don't think it was even a matter of adjustments, we just made a concerted point of doing a better job on third down."

Truman improves to 1-3 while Wayne State remains winless, though the Warriors have played three ranked teams. Wayne State participates in the GLIAC, and Saturday is the end of the non-conference slate for the Bulldogs – their only GLVC competition thus far was a loss to Indianapolis two weeks prior.

After scoring a field goal on their opening drive and a touchdown on the following one, the Warriors were held in check until it was too late.

A late touchdown from Wayne State with just a few minutes remaining was the only reason the score was as close as it was. Though the Warriors had timeouts and clock remaining, they inexplicably elected not to onside kick at that point.

To begin the second half, Truman got the ball and utilized five minutes of clock, ending on an eight-yard touchdown reception from Denim Cook. Once the 'Dogs had the game tied at 10 apiece, they took total control.

Cook caught another 11-yard touchdown pass from sophomore Dylan Hair, and once Truman had taken a 17-10 lead in just a matter of moments, the Bulldogs forced Wayne State to punt from its own 39-yard line.

Senior return man and defensive back Jake Closser shook and shifted toward the sideline to take the punt to the house, making the game 24-10.

"We've been bound to get one, and it's great to go out there and actually get one," Closser said. "We take a lot of pride in our

Sophomore quarterback Dylan Hair leaps into the endzone to score his team's final touchdown and give them a three-score lead at the time. PHOTOS BY HENRY JANSSEN/DAILY EXPRESS

Senior defensive back Jake Closser breaks up a pass in the first half of Sunday's win against Wayne State. Closser's 83-yard punt return for a touchdown in the third quarter to give his team a two-score lead was arguably the most important play for the Bulldogs.

special teams, and our guys know that a lot of times, that's the difference between wins and losses."

Pointing back to the Indy loss, the Bulldogs took a kickoff to the house then the Greyhounds immediately did the same, and Truman lost by one score.

The Bulldogs added their final score of the game with a two-yard Hair rush late in the fourth on a drive that chewed 6 minutes of clock.

Statistically, the teams were quite comparable. Truman finished with 330 yards of offense to Wayne State's 308. The Warriors finished with more first downs than Truman, 21 to 18.

Cook finished with 120 all-purpose yards to lead all players. Chris Kerr was Truman's leading receiver with four catches for 45 yards.

"This game was just making easy plays easy and playing together as a team, just putting it all together and now we know what that looks like," Cook said. "We have to figure out how to get it going early as a team. We can't come out slow. That's been a bad look for us – we'll look at that second half on film and we have to play every quarter like that in all three phases."

The 'Dogs face Upper Iowa on the road next Saturday in a GLVC matchup, which each game will be from here on out. The Peacocks also came from behind last week, overcoming a 20-7 deficit to win 29-28.

A host of Bulldogs stop Wayne State at the line on Saturday.

Commission announces plan for MoDOT leadership change

MoDOT director leaving organization in September

By MoDOT

JEFFERSON CITY – Missouri Department of Transportation Director Patrick McKenna has informed the Missouri Highways and Transportation Commission he will be leaving the department. His last day at MoDOT will be Sept. 20.

"We thank Patrick for serving in his role the past eight and a half years. His leadership has revolutionized the way the department does business. His partnership with the governor and general assembly has increased Missouri's transportation funding from a $1.7 billion STIP to an $14.6 billion STIP," said Commission Chairman W. Dustin Boatwright. "Under his leadership, Missouri is at the forefront of asset management and critical transportation improvements for Missourians. The commission has full confidence in the MoDOT team's ability to execute the historic investment as we work through this leadership transition."

"We've appreciated Patrick's innovative thinking, steady hand of leadership, and partnership throughout his tenure as MoDOT Director," Governor Mike Parson said. "By working together, Missouri's infrastructure improvement is on a solid foundation, and we have achieved unprecedented wins, including expanding I-70 to six lanes, the Focus on Bridges program, the new Rocheport and Buck O'Neil bridges, and huge investments in lettered roads across our state, among countless others. While Patrick will be greatly missed among our cabinet team, we wish him the absolute best. We are proud to have had his leadership in Missouri and know this new legacy of excellence will continue on at MoDOT."

The commission is prepared with a succession plan so there will be no gap in leadership to ensure MoDOT's critical work continues. Effective end of day Aug. 23, MoDOT Deputy Director Ed Hassinger will assume the duties of the director as interim director during this transition and search for a new director. Hassinger has worked for MoDOT for more than 40 years and has served in the role as deputy director and chief engineer for the last 11 years.

The commission intends to launch a national search for its new director following its monthly meeting in September.

"MoDOT has an existing team of leaders who consistently exceed expectations to deliver for Missourians, and we value each of them" said Boatwright. "The commission will exercise due diligence by performing a national search open to both external and internal candidates, giving consideration to the extensive network of transportation professionals who are ready to compete and lead a world class organization. We are confident we will have a new director in place by the end of the year. We appreciate the abilities and skills of our industry partners in engineering design and construction of roads and bridges. Together we will continue to deliver on these needed transportation projects for all Missourians."

McKenna has accepted a position with the Eno Center for Transportation to begin in early October.

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
