Kirksville police release video of officer-involved shooting

No charges to be filed against police officer

By Kirksville Police Department

The Kirksville Police Department, “in the interest of transparency and accountability,” provided the following briefing for the officer-involved shooting that occurred on Jan. 8. Included in this briefing are the dispatch recording, body-worn camera recording, and still photos. (Note: the body-worn camera for the second officer activated after the incident.)

“On Jan. 8, 2025, Adair County Central Dispatch received a call stating that Carl Lewis was suicidal and wanted to hurt himself with a knife or gun,” police officials stated in a press release. “Officers were dispatched to the residence. Cpl. Ryan Ford arrived on the scene first and heard yelling inside the residence. He opened the front door and the female resident told Cpl. Ford, ‘He’s got a knife!’”

Police say Ford was then confronted by Lewis, who was eight to 10 feet away with a large chef’s knife. Ford gave multiple orders for Lewis to drop the knife.

“When Ofc. Michael Davis arrived, Cpl. Ford instructed him to use less-lethal (Taser) on Mr. Lewis,” police officials said. “As Ofc. Davis attempted to position himself for a Taser deployment, Mr. Lewis charged with the knife raised in a stabbing position. At about six feet away, Cpl. Ford fired two shots from his duty-issued pistol, striking Mr. Lewis both times.”

Police said the time from initial contact to shots fired was approximately 26 seconds.

“The officers immediately notified dispatch for medical assistance and began rendering aid to Mr. Lewis,” police officials said. “Mr. Lewis was transported to Northeast Regional Medical Center, where he died from his injuries.”

The Kirksville Police Department notified the Missouri State Highway Patrol Division of Drug and Crime Control (MSHP DDCC) and MSHP DDCC took over the investigation.

The MSHP DDCC was given full access to all recordings, videos, and documents related to the investigation. Its full investigation was then presented to Adair County Prosecuting Attorney David Goring.

After consideration and review, Goring determined the use of deadly force by Cpl. Ford on Jan. 8, was justified.

City of Kirksville earns financial reporting award for 40th year

Staff Reports

The city of Kirksville announced it has received the Government Finance Officers Association’s (GFOA) Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting for its annual comprehensive financial report for the fiscal year that ended Dec. 31, 2023. This is Kirksville’s 40th year of recognition for this award.

According to a press release from the city, the award is the highest form of recognition in governmental accounting and financial reporting, and its attainment represents a significant accomplishment by a government and its management.

“This achievement reflects the value the city of Kirksville places on the financial resources entrusted to it by the community, and demonstrates the city’s efforts for full disclosure to clearly communicate its financial story,” the press release states. “It also shows the City’s commitment to responsibly using those funds.”

City officials offered gratitude to the finance department “for its dedication and diligence, year after year, to providing comprehensive and accurate financial reports.”

For more information on the city’s financial reports, visit kirksville.gov/p/financial-reports.

Truman State Piano Festival showcases promising performers

By Truman State University

The 42nd annual Truman State University Piano Festival and Piano Fellowship Competition will take place Feb. 14-15.

Performances will begin with a guest recital by Dr. Oliver Jia, a piano faculty member from Bilkent University in Turkey. With a repertoire of dozens of concertos and more than 200 solo and chamber works, Jia has performed for audiences worldwide. He made his official debut at the Isaac Stern Auditorium in Carnegie Hall, playing Sergey Prokofiev’s “Piano Concerto No. 5” with the Juilliard Orchestra.

Jia’s recital will take place at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 14 in the Ophelia Parrish Performance Hall. A live stream will be available at youtube.com/@trumanmusicconcerts/streams.

As part of the festival, Jia will present master classes and serve as a judge for students participating in the fellowship competition, Feb. 15. Incoming first-year and transfer students pursuing a degree in music with piano as the primary instrument will compete for scholarships. Top prize is a four-year renewable scholarship covering tuition and room and board. Second place is a scholarship package worth up to $4,000. Participating students were selected after applying and submitting video recordings of the required repertoire in January.

The top three competition participants will perform on Truman’s newly refurbished Steinway D and be professionally recorded during the winners’ recital at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 15 in the Ophelia Parrish Performance Hall.

Both recitals are free and open to the public. More information about the Piano Festival can be found online at truman.edu/majors-programs/majors-minors/music-major/piano-festival.

Second suspect charged regarding January robbery

By Kirksville Police Department

Kirksville police have made a second arrest regarding an armed robbery that occurred in January.

At approximately 10 p.m., on Jan. 8, Kirksville police responded to a robbery at the New Star Mart on 1312 S. Baltimore Street regarding an armed robbery. Responding officers were informed a white male suspect entered the business and came around the counter. The clerk reported the male suspect demanded money from the register and stated he would shoot the clerk. The male left the business with an undisclosed amount of cash.

During the subsequent investigation, police determined the clerk working at the time of the incident was a willing participant in the robbery and is accused of planning the robbery. The clerk, James Ray Findling Jr., 37, of Kirksville, was arrested in Kirksville on Jan. 31. He has since been charged in Adair County court with first-degree robbery, a class A felony. At the time of his arrest, Findling was in possession of methamphetamine, drug paraphernalia and a sawed-off shotgun. Charges are pending for possession of those items.

The investigation into the robbery is still active.

A criminal charge is merely an accusation and a defendant is presumed innocent until and unless proven guilty.

Anyone with information about this incident is encouraged to contact the Kirksville Police Department at 660-785-6945, anonymously at 660-627-BUST (2878), or email police@kirksvillecity.com.

Hospice of Northeast Missouri is looking for volunteers

By Hospice of Northeast Missouri

Hospice of Northeast Missouri, a specialty healthcare service that focuses on quality of life for people and their caregivers who are experiencing an advanced, life-limiting illness, is looking for people to round out their volunteer team.

Volunteer roles may involve direct contact with the patient where they provide comfort, support, companionship to the patient as well as offering some much-needed respite for the caregiver. Volunteering might involve reading, listening to music, or just sitting with the patient, among other small tasks. Volunteers do not provide any medical care to the patients.

Volunteers may also choose to do indirect care where they would help in the administrative office and assist with various tasks such as mailings, filing, answering phones and special projects.

For more information on becoming a volunteer, visit www.hospiceofnortheastmissouri.org, email the Volunteer Coordinator Lisa Bunch at LBunch@hospiceofnortheastmissouri.org or call 660-627-9711. Hospice of Northeast Missouri, a service of Hannibal Regional, is a non-profit hospice serving Adair, Clark, Knox, Lewis, Macon, Putnam, Schuyler, Scotland, Shelby and Sullivan counties.

ROBIN WRITES

Do it yourself or do without

I don't consider myself a lazy person. I like to think I am a productive, active part of humanity.

But lately, I feel the world is taking advantage of my willingness to take care of things myself. After decades of being asked to do "self" things, I'm getting tired of it.

Oh, it wasn't so bad at first. It was the '70s, and I was in my 20s when gas stations started asking me to put gas in my car. The cute attendants were inside, waiting for payment, and I felt empowered and cool doing it myself.

In time, paying at the pump came along, so I didn't get to smile at the attendant anymore. But that was okay.

Then, Shop 'n Save came to our town. Their prices were great, but we had to put our own groceries in bags. And nobody was offering to carry those bags to the car.

I adapted. I was strong and used to carrying children and laundry. The savings were worth it. And I felt empowered with my growing autonomy.

We've all grumbled our way through the self-checkout lines at most every grocery store now. It's just the way it is.

I have adapted to these "do-it-yourself" social changes over the years.

But last week, I decided I'd had enough.

I hadn't been inside Taco Bell for a while; I prefer to get my tacos from an arm protruding from a drive-thru window. But the line was long outside, so I used my legs to enter.

I stepped inside, and the scent of meat and cheese and sauce surrounded me like a warm, fuzzy hug. The place wasn't crowded, and nobody was waiting at the counter.

As I strode toward the single cash register, I noticed three colorful, rectangular screens across from the counter. They were cartoon-colored pictures of tacos and burritos and nachos. Words covered each foodless inch, along with prices and options. They begged me to "Order Here."

Nope. I wanted to order the way I always had...to a grudging face with a placid smile and a t-shirt that proclaimed his allegiance to his brand.

Behind the counter, behind shelves of ovens and screens, employees were scurrying. Grabbing, looking here and there, stuffing paper wrapped food into brown bags. Just the way I remembered it.

I waited quietly, darting my eyes to anyone whose face was visible. 'You have a customer' I projected.

Then it happened. A face locked eyes with mine, and... looked away. What?

Surely, she would tell whom-ever was assigned to the counter that I was waiting. I felt I had been noticed. It wouldn't be long.

It was long. One after another, Taco Bell kids looked and looked away. Were they trained to ignore to people not in cars?

ROBIN GARRISON LEACH
ROBIN WRITES

Did I need to yell out: "I WANT A BEAN BURRITO!"

I turned slowly to the colorful kiosks. Was that my only option? Did I have to push buttons to get food, like a lab mouse, even though the employees were RIGHT THERE?

That's when I showed my age, my hunger, and my refusal to order from a machine.

"HELLO???" I called. I felt the entire Taco Bell work force sigh.

A live person loped to the counter. She was patient; I'm sure they'd been trained to deal with older adults who felt "uneasy" with modern technology.

I told her what I wanted. She pushed the buttons with her own fingers. I felt I'd made a stand against self-service, and my little victory made my day.

They put my burrito in a bag and slid it across the counter. I murmured 'thank you' to a retreating back, and headed toward the door.

Then I remembered I needed napkins and sauce. I turned back and trudged to the condiment self-service counter.

Seven-Dog Slim rides the Iditarod Trail

They are getting ready now, wondering if the race will bring prize money, glory to their dogs, or just some quiet laughter from the other mushers.

The Iditarod Trail.

It has come to mean "The Trail" to dog mushers and kennel owners all over the state of Alaska and in a lot of other places.

There are other long distance dogsled races now. We know that. But the Iditarod started all that "long, cold camping trip" stuff. And I was lucky to be a part of that very first Iditarod in March of 1973.

Strangely enough, each musher has a list of life-saving equipment and food on that sled. Unfortunately, when they check a musher's lungs and heart, they forget to test the brain. The race would probably be run quicker and more efficiently, but it undoubtedly wouldn't be as much fun.

In my closet, hanging on a hook where it's been for more than half a century, is a handmade down parka covered with gold-colored heavy cloth. I wear it every year on the first Saturday in March to remind me of the race and of a woman named Pam who made it for me. We lost Pam this last year, but she was the eyes and ears and ambulance dispatcher of the first few races. And she was my wife, then, too.

I was injured about 300 miles into this thousand-mile race and was rescued by military helicopter. I started the race with seven dogs, as that was the minimum and then the minimum was changed to nine dogs.

So if you find yourself somewhere between Anchorage and Nome and you see tired people and cold dogs with icicles hanging on them. Smile and say you send greetings from Seven-Dog Slim. Will you? Thanks.

Brought to you by Slim's book "Dogsled: A True Tale of the North" available on the internet and in bookstores everywhere.

THE ROCKWOOD FILES

Charlie and Pete, the sequel

A battle for the aged

The first backyard skirmish between Charlie and Pete happened five years ago on a night with a full moon. Charlie is our beloved beagle mutt who is now 14 years old and missing a few teeth. Pete is a trespassing possum who's been trying to drive Charlie crazy for years.

This puppy-possum war isn't personal. Charlie and Pete are just doing what dogs and possums do. Possums lurk around at night, sometimes in places where they're not welcome, and beagles sniff things and bark. If you've ever known a beagle or any other hound, you know they have a distinctive bark that's mixed with a bellowing, baying quality. An experienced beagle parent knows that sound translates to "Come quick. I've cornered a critter!"

When this not-so-silent war began five years ago, I saw what happened the moment Charlie's nose sniffed the open air and registered the scent of an invader. He took off across the yard like a bullet — a barking blur of fur and fury. He barreled to the base of a tree, which made the backyard motion light come on. That's when I saw Sneaky Pete the Possum scurry straight up the tree trunk, Spiderman style.

Charlie jumped after him, barking and nearly nipping the tip of Pete's skinny, hairless tail. But to no avail. Pete climbed out of reach, settling on a tree branch so he could look down at the dog and trash-talk him.

Having been outrun and outwit, Charlie decided his only move was to outlast the invader. So, he sat under the tree, staring up at Pete while barking his extreme displeasure. I had to go pick him up and bring him back inside to end the verbal onslaught.

Afterward, we didn't see Sneaky Pete for a long time. I assumed he either went out of state for college or started smoking cigarettes behind a honkytonk somewhere. Peace had finally prevailed, and our dog Charlie settled into a quiet retirement life. He mostly naps, eats, and gives us sad beagle eyes until we share our snacks.

GWEN ROCKWOOD
THE ROCKWOOD FILES

But last night, Tom and I heard that tell-tale barking and knew the battle was back on. I grabbed a flashlight and walked out on the deck to find Charlie on the ground below, barking a blue streak at something above him. I pointed my flashlight in that direction, and there he was — Sneaky Pete had once again penetrated the perimeter and was perched on the backyard fence.

He looked a little plumper than he did five years ago, and his rat-like tail dangled down over the edge of the fence. I tried to shoo him away, but if he wouldn't budge for a ballistic beagle, he probably wasn't moving for a miffed mom with a flashlight either.

I knew I'd either have to walk down into the muddy yard to scoop up my beagle or convince my furry little soldier to stand down. Calling his name yielded zero results. So, I tried negotiating a peace deal with the only currency this dog understands — cheese.

I dangled the square slice of American cheese where he could see it. "Want some cheese, Charlie? Come on, buddy!" He looked at the cheese and then back at beady-eyed Pete. I could tell that part of him wanted to stand his ground and bark at that pompous possum all night, but Charlie is no longer a young pup. A bigger part of him wanted to curl up on the sofa, watch Wheel of Fortune, and eat some cheese.

Slowly, he trudged up the stairs to the deck, where I picked him up, rubbed his velvety head, and carried him inside. Pete the Possum may have held the high ground, but Charlie, the battle-weary beagle, enjoyed the cheesy spoils of war.

PUBLIC HEALTH CORNER

Teen Dating Violence

By Kirstyn Dietle, MPH, CHES®
Health Educator
Adair County Health Department

Welcome to the Public Health Corner: Teen Dating Violence

February is Teen Dating Violence Awareness Month (TDVAM), a time dedicated to raising awareness about unhealthy relationships and empowering young people to recognize the signs of dating abuse. Dating violence affects millions of teens each year and can have lasting emotional, psychological, and physical impacts. By educating communities, supporting survivors, and promoting healthy relationship behaviors, we can work toward preventing dating violence and fostering safer environments for teens.

Understanding Teen Dating Violence

Teen dating violence includes various forms of abuse within romantic relationships, such as:

- Physical abuse – Hitting, shoving, or any form of physical harm
- Emotional and verbal abuse – Insults, threats, or manipulation
- Sexual abuse – Any form of unwanted sexual contact or coercion

Digital abuse – Harassment, stalking, or controlling behavior through social media and texting

According to the CDC, one in three teens in the U.S. experiences some form of dating abuse before becoming an adult. Additionally, only 33% of teens who experience dating violence report it to anyone. This highlights the importance of awareness, education, and accessible resources.

Warning Signs of an Unhealthy Relationship

It is crucial for teens, parents, and educators to recognize red flags in relationships, such as:

- Extreme jealousy or pos-

sessiveness

- Isolation from friends and family
- Frequent insults or humiliation
- Unwanted control over social media, phone, or activities
- Threats of self-harm or violence to manipulate behavior

Encouraging open conversations about healthy relationships can help teens identify warning signs early and seek support when needed.

Teen Dating Violence Awareness Month is an opportunity to empower young people with the knowledge and confidence to build healthy relationships and seek help when needed. By raising awareness and fostering open conversations, we can work toward a future where all teens feel safe, respected, and valued.

POETRY CORNER

They're Waiting There For You

If you close your eyes... and go back in time... where in your past would you be?

What special moment... what special time... what's so special to see?

At your grandparents farm... without a care... on a warm and sunny day,

Playing at the pond... looking for frogs... or climbing that big stack of hay?

With cane pole in hand... staring at your bobber... and dreaming of a fish on your line,

Spending time with your Dad... that meant so much... one more day would be so fine.

Wonderful times... wonderful memories... and wonderful feelings too,

And they're all there... inside your mind... and they're waiting there for you.

EMBRACING LOCAL HISTORY

Part 141

Theaters of Kirksville – Chapter 14: Day Mangus’ Equestrian Career and the Demise of his Silver Star Drive-In Theatre

By Blytha Ellis, President
Adair County Historical Society and Museum

Kirksville’s Silver Star Drive-in Theatre was established in 1950 by local residents, Day and Frances Mangus, as was discussed in previous episodes of this column.

Throughout his theater career, Day Mangus also pursued his life-long equestrian interest by breeding, training, selling, and racing horses. In 1947, Day had built his Silver Star Stable and horse training track just south of where the Drive-in was later built. (The stable area would later become the location of Sellars Implement and then Galloway Lumber which is now near Maurices in the Hobby Lobby strip.)

Day raced trotters and pacers. He preferred trotters because pacers often became entangled in the hobbles. Trotters raced free of this detriment and consequently fell less often. They were, therefore, safer, not only for the horse, but also for the driver.

Day traveled about the entire U.S. hauling horses in his semi-truck. He also transported horses by rail, often loading them on trains at La Plata, Mo. He even transported some by airplane. Day actually accompanied his horses on airplanes, riding in the belly of the plane.

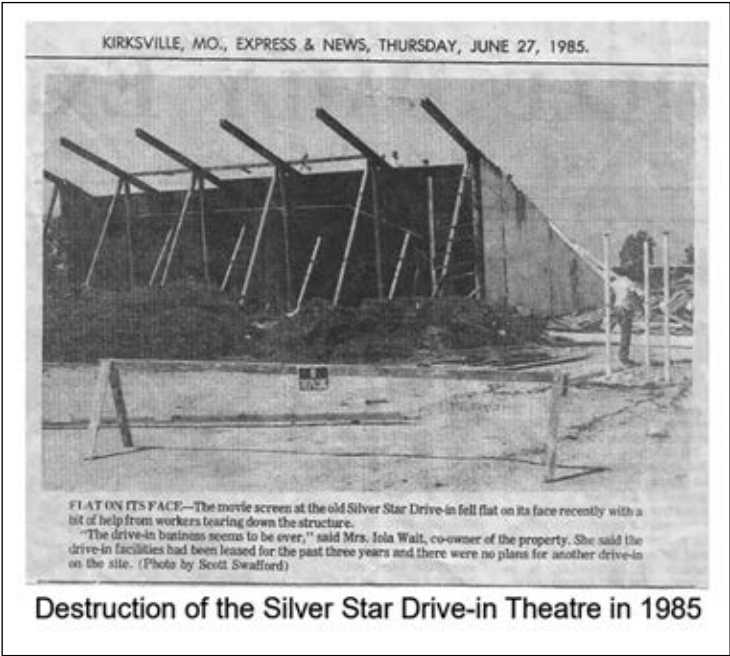

Day Mangus and his horses became well known on the racing circuit. They earned local state and national recognition and fame. In 1956, three of his harness horses were winners in all six heats of a three-event program. This was the first time an owner had swept a program in harness history. Perhaps most impressive, Day was named 9th in the National Harness Horse Driver competition for the U.S. during the 1956 racing season.

Many Adair Countians watched Day run sulky races at the fair in Kirksville. He raced one of his horses in the Hambletonian Stakes in DuQuoin, Illinois, a very high honor in equestrian competition. It is a major American harness race and is the first event in the Triple Crown of Harness Racing for trotters.

Day’s wife, Frances, also loved horse racing and played a vital role in Day’s business. She was the secretary, keeping track of such vitals as the horses’ bloodlines, eligibilities and fees required to race.

But horse racing was not all smiles and roses. There were many losses as well as wins, and sometimes, there were accidents. Day’s three daughters often attended his races to cheer him on, but they were also fearful of him getting hurt. Once in Painesville, Ohio, he had crashed and suffered a serious shoulder injury and broken ribs.

Horse trading was also a precarious game. Day once sold a 3-year-old filly trotter to a man in New Jersey for $48,350. The buyer gave Day post-dated checks totaling $45,000 and promised to pay the rest when he received the horse. The checks bounced, and the recipient made false accusations that the prize horse was disabled. This brought on a long court battle which ended in Day’s favor. The case brought so much attention that the story ended up in “Sports Illustrated” magazine.

Frances Mangus died suddenly in 1957 at the age of 53 from a heart ailment. She was only able to enjoy the success of the Silver Star Drive-in for seven years after its opening.

Day was described by his family as never meeting a stranger. He could converse with anyone, no matter their status. He was a risk taker and an entrepreneur, always possessing new ideas. Back in the day when much of the land across Highway 63 from the Drive-in Theater was vacant, Day expressed to his family that he would like to construct a series of business buildings there. What he described was much like a strip-mall today, but that term had not yet been coined. This was one dream that Day never got to fulfill.

After the death of Day’s wife, Frances, he would later remarry. He often spent his winters in Florida. He drove his semi truck when he went to Florida and took his horses with him where he continued to train them.

Day passed away in Kirksville in 1974 at age 69. He was quoted as saying to his daughters before his death, “There were so many things I still wanted to do.” Truly he was an innovative person. Were it not for his risk-taking, Kirksville might never have had a drive-in theater. Fortunately, he did not live to see the demise of this grand idea.

The Silver Star Drive-in Theatre ceased operating under the Mangus family in 1981. At that time, it was leased for three additional years to the B and B Theater chain. For a variety of reasons, drive-in theaters across the country, which had once been a lucrative business, began to wane in popularity.

One problem was the inception of Daylight Savings Time which had a detrimental effect on the outdoor theater business. The movie couldn’t begin until dark, and with this new time frame, darkness did not arrive in the summers until around 9 p.m. This resulted in movies ending later, and this often affected the work schedules of patrons for the next day, especially on week-nights.

This was also the coming of age for VCR players and movie rentals. Nearly everyone had home air conditioning which made it less appealing to sit in a hot car in the summer and watch a movie as opposed to watching one at home.

One might also blame an increase in other outdoor activities such as Little League ball and more people traveling and taking vacations in the 1970s. Theaters lost some of their popularity.

With these and other factors considered, the Mangus family made the decision to close the Silver Star. After the three-year lease to another company, the drive-in was torn down in 1985. To many, one of the saddest newspaper pictures ever published in the “Kirksville Daily Express” was on June 27, 1985. It showed the Silver Star screen laying on its face during the demolition! This was 35 years to the month after its opening.

Jo Miller, the Mangus’ daughter, recalled that one time when her daughter, Nancy, was only 5 years old, her three male cousins, the Wait brothers, dared Nancy to climb the interior ladder to the top of that Silver Star screen and come out on the high catwalk. True to her nature of being a “little daredevil,” her mother reported, she did just that and suddenly appeared near the top of the screen. Luckily, Jo didn’t see this, but her sister, Iola, mother of the boys, did. She made haste to make sure little Nancy got back to the ground safely, and her sons were dealt with about the dare!

The theater land was long ago sold to other investors, and other businesses have now built up along this area of highway. Auto Plaza, Arby’s and Brawner Insurance buildings now sit where once a multitude of cars parked for an evening of outdoor theater entertainment. Only the memories live on with those fortunate enough to have attended the Silver Star.

(Much of this information is thanks to Pam Sylvara, Biographer for the Adair Co. Historical Society, who wrote the history of the Silver Star Drive-in and the history of Day Mangus in an article for the Jan. 2018 issue of “The Adair Historian.” She interviewed Marilyn “Jo” (Mangus) Miller and other family members for this article.)

This Week in Local History

125 Years Ago, February 9, 1910

Kirksville was in the grasp of the grippe, grip, or la grippe, now commonly known as influenza. Kirksville physicians said that more than half of the cases they were seeing were cases of la grippe. The epidemic which was sweeping the city left some on their backs for a week or more and others suffered but only for a day. Not much was known by doctors or medical researchers about la grippe. Dictionary makers did not even list “la grippe” until the early 1900s. Webster’s dictionary finally listed it as: “In medicine, influenza or epidemic catarrh.” The malady had just sprung into prominence in the previous few years and had been assigned a bacillus all its own by the medical profession. The disease was without a doubt highly contagious. While it did not result directly from the common cold, it was thought that the bacteria easily attacked those in a weakened condition. The worst danger from la grippe was that it sometimes results in pneumonia which had a high fatality rate.

J. T. Angevine, operator of an undertaking establishment, lost money on one of his undertaking jobs. He and his wife were preparing a cheap casket for the burial of an old lady. In the process a diamond brooch that Mrs. Angevine was wearing became detached from her dress and fell among the trimmings into the casket. The lady was buried the next day. The day following the funeral, Mrs. Angevine realized the brooch was gone, and she faintly remembered hearing something fall into the casket on the day that she and her husband were preparing the body for the burial. The booch had been given to Mrs. Angevine by a relative and was worth several times over the cheap casket which had been buried. Angevine told the newspaper reporter: “There was nothing to do but laugh about the loss. The brooch was buried, and we could not take up the body to get it after it had been sealed and buried. I often bury diamonds on corpses, belongings of the deceased which the relatives do not care to keep, but this is the first diamond of our own that we ever buried with a corpse. I lost money on that undertaking case.”

Helen Keller and her teacher, Mrs. Macy, attracted a large crowd to the Normal School auditorium. Keller, who had been deaf and blind since she was 19 months old, was known to the world as a motivational speaker. Keller’s life had been an unbroken series of triumphs over obstacles. Deaf and blind at the age of nineteen months, she remained in intellectual darkness until she was nearly seven. Then she was discovered by Mrs. Macy who went to Keller’s home in Alabama and began her education. At the age of ten she had learned to speak. At age sixteen she prepared for college and eventually graduated with honors from Radcliffe College in 1904. Keller then became a writer, writing three books and “The Story of My Life,” which was translated into fifteen languages. In addition, she spent a great amount of time educating the deaf and blind. Initially, Keller could speak, but only loud enough that she was audible for those near her. When she spoke to a large audience, Mrs. Macy repeated each sentence she said. Keller was then taken under the tutelage of a singing instructor at the New England Conservatory of Music who helped her greatly improve her speaking voice. The Kirksville crowd was inspired by the lecture of Keller and her teacher. Because Mrs. Macy developed a sudden onset of bronchitis, she and Keller were required to stay in Kirksville for a few extra days. They were forced to cancel speaking engagements in Mexico and Springfield, Missouri before the following lecture in Kansas City. During her unexpected stay in Kirksville, Keller and Macy stayed at the Pool Hotel with which they were greatly pleased by the homelike atmosphere. Upon her departure from Kirksville, Helen Keller presented Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson, operators of the Pool Hotel, with a picture of Keller and a note that read: “I shall always remember with pleasure my stay at the Pool Hotel. The many kindnesses shown to my teacher and me by the people of Kirksville shall be treasured in my heart as long as I live. Helen Keller. Mrs. Macy was greatly impressed with the osteopathic treatment of her onset of bronchitis. She was so impressed that she retained the osteopathic doctor to accompany Keller and her to Kansas City to administer follow up treatment.

Phillip J. Fowler, Adair County Superintendent of Schools, announced that Adair County pupils would have a chance to participate in a district spelling contest which would be held at the Teachers College (now Truman State University) in April. The preliminary contest was to consist of a school district contest which would be held in each district in the county (rural schools included). This was to be followed by a county contest, in which the winners in the district contest meet to determine the champion speller in the Adair County. After this competition, the county winner would participate in the district meet which included representatives of each county in the district. The winner of that competition would be entitled to participate in the state spelling contest.

100 Years Ago, February 11, 1925

The Truitt Brothers, Charles and Archie, owners of a garage and motor agency in Novinger, purchased the Sands Motor Garage in Kirksville. The Truitt brothers planned to continue operation of the Sands business at the same location but with a name change. They also planned to continue operation of their business in Novinger. The Sands Petroleum Company planned to continue its wholesale business as distributors of oil and gasoline. The Truitt firm in Novinger was established a few years earlier by Henry Truitt and was later taken over by his sons, Charles and Archie.

75 Years Ago, February 15, 1950

The Interstate Commerce Commission authorized the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad (CB&Q) to abandon about 23 miles of track between Kirksville and Green City. The railroad speed on the track was limited to 25 miles an hour and loads were limited to 800 tons. The cost of rehabilitation would be $118,000, and the ICC concluded that traffic on the line would not justify the expense.

35 years Ago, February 8, 1990

An announcement was made in Kirksville that Robert L. Thompson had been named regional manager of the new Kirksville facility of Wire Rope, Inc. scheduled to open the next month. The company had been searching for a location in the Midwest, and after working with Kirksville city officials, decided to locate in Kirksville. The facility would be a regional fabrication facility, like its three existing facilities in Alabama, Pennsylvania, and Texas. The operation was to initially specialize in fabrication of mechanical spliced slings for Midwest distributors and would eventually specialize in rotary swaged products. The company planned to start small, hiring initially five or six employees but hoped to double the number of employees within a year.

NEMR participates in Great Northwest Day at the Capitol

By NEMR

It was another successful Great Northwest Day at the Capitol, Feb. 4-5 in Jefferson City, according to NEMR's CEO Michele Gillespie and Marketing/Sales Mgr. Jennifer Chrisman. The two who attended the event with the Sullivan County delegation, were able to visit with Gov. Mike Kehoe, Lt Gov. David Wasinger, Representatives Rusty Black, Danny Bu-sick, Greg Sharp, and other legislators from all over Missouri. "It was a great evening meeting face-to-face with our legislators and elected officials," said Gillespie. NEMR displayed a map highlighting their fiber network, ongoing expansion projects, and areas in need of grant funding to build infrastructure and deliver high-speed internet to underserved communities in the northern part of the state. Earlier in the day, a priorities panel spoke on key issues, lack of childcare, housing, workforce, and the need for community revitalization. Attendees were encouraged to engage with lawmakers and advocate for investment in the 19-county region of the Great Northwest. Learn more about Great Northwest Day at www.greatnorthwestday.com.

Four Kirkville seniors signed

National Letters of Intent last Tuesday to become Truman football student athletes. What the ‘Dogs decide to allocate this group’s talents mostly remains to be seen, but Jace Kent and Carter Pinkerton will see pre-season reps at their default offensive positions of running back and receiver, respectively. Hayden Davis anticipates entering the program with a wide receiver designation as well. Cole Kelly’s absence with a foot injury was a crucial blow for the Tigers throughout the season.

The Gophers claimed their second consecutive La Plata Invitational title on Saturday night, defeating Canton. “It’s a really solid win ... playing Atlanta and them back-to-back nights in a tournament setting I think was important for us and our energy moving toward Districts,” senior Noah Tipton (22) said. After a gritty, bump-and-grind 50-39 win over Atlanta in the La Plata tournament semifinal, Green City won the title, 76-63, over Canton on Saturday night. The Gophers outscored Canton 16-5 in the third quarter to capitalize on what was already a 45-42 halftime lead. Canton never got back within eight, and the Gophers were able to cruise on the back of their defense in the fourth to improve to 20-0. It was just Canton’s fifth loss as they fell to 17-5 with the defeat. Green City defended its title from last year’s tournament with the win. Ty Hall finished with 24 points, Xander Salas had 13, and Ivan Littrell finished with 10. Canton’s Preston Brewer led all scorers with 33.

Green City senior Noah Tipton said that he thought his team’s depth and conditioning were the difference in the second half of the third game in four days. “We saw our big men beating their guys down the floor on about four straight possessions,” Tipton said. “We had an idea that they were tired and we still had all of our energy throughout the second half. We got great minutes from our guys off the bench. Our energy was where it needed to be against a solid team. “This was a really good test for us.” Tipton finished with nine points. By the time of this publication, Green City will have hosted Linn County on Tuesday night. The Gophers head for North Shelby on Wednesday.

Junior Ivan Littrell extends his team’s lead in the second half with a wing three-pointer. Littrell, usually in the starting mix, finished with 10 points off of the bench.

Mark Sells and David Brown were honored at last Tuesday’s senior night versus Highland and Brookfield for their contributions to wrestling in Kirkville and beyond. As a senior, Sells won a title in 1978 in the 119-pound weight class to become the Tigers’ first State champion. Brown was instrumental in the growth of the Kirkville Wrestling Club. He started as a volunteer coach in 1981 under the tutelage of Jerry Speed, and took over leadership of the group in 1984.

David Brown was foundational in getting the Kirkville Wrestling Club going full-speed ahead. He took full oversight in 1984 after volunteering as a coach for several years.

NMFC announces open registration for recreational and travel soccer programs

The Kirksville wrestling teams wrapped up regular-season competition nicely on Thursday in a tri at Battle High School. Southern Boone was also in attendance. The boys and girls both swept, and all-conference honors were also awarded last week.

The Tiger girls finished strong, winning both legs of the three-way. Kirksville defeated the host handily, 47-18, and won against Southern Boone, 30-20.

The girls finished 2-3 in the conference and placed three wrestlers on All-NCMC teams. Brooklyn Rader-Johnson was named first-team all-conference at 190 pounds. Tyne Melnick was second team at 105, as was Morgan Crawford at 145.

The boys defeated Battle, 59-17, and edged Southern Boone, 42-35.

Six boys landed on the all-conference team, with four of them being named first-team. Jaden Crisp at 113, Justin Schutter at 138, Austyn Hunter at 157, and Luke Cahalan at 165 received first-team honors. Jason Schutter at 106 and Ethan Hale at 120 were named to the second team. Kirksville finished

Success at the free throw line lifts ‘Dogs against Baptist

By Henry Janssen & Truman Athletics

Truman held off Southwest Baptist down the stretch to pick up their 10th win of the season and even their league record to 7-7 with an 84-77 win on Saturday. Molly Joyce scored 28 points and Bryar Duwe added a career-high 17 points.

Joyce, last year’s Great Lakes Valley Conference freshman of the year, has gotten back to form and found her stride in the past handful of games.

“We know we can play confidently and the coaches trust us to trust each other,” Joyce said. “Our shooters pulled some defenders away from me today, and my teammates opened it up for me to play the way I want to play.”

Truman State led by as many as 13 points in the first half and led 43-38 at the break after shooting nearly 70 percent in the first quarter.

The lead swelled to 64-48 with 2:09 remaining in the third quarter.

The Bearcats made a late charge with an 8-0 run with less than five minutes to play. That run cut the score to 74-70 with 2:30 showing on the clock. They would pull to within three with 30 seconds left by Joyce and the team was solid at the free throw line.

The Bulldogs knocked down 20-of-22 free throw attempts with Joyce making 11-of-12 to aid in her 28 points. Duwe and Jordan Cunningham each made three triples during the game.

“As much as we like to shoot the three, we want to be physical and aggressive,” Bulldog coach Theo Dean said. “Going to the basket and getting to the line has been a huge point of emphasis in both games against them.”

Truman shot 38 free throws in an earlier game against the Bearcats.

Amber Storr led Southwest Baptist with 17 points.

Truman State will play two road games this week, heading on Thursday to Jefferson City to face Lincoln and continuing Saturday at Missouri S&T.

Casen Lawrence had a day on Saturday, finishing 8-of-14 from three-point range and finishing with 24 points. Every one of his field goal attempts was from beyond the arc. HENRY JANSSEN/DAILY EXPRESS

Sixteen Bulldog three-pointers proves Bearcats’ doom

By Henry Janssen & Truman Athletics

The ‘Dogs hit from everywhere on Saturday, knocking down 16 three-pointers and 10 in the second half to overcome a nine-point deficit on Truman’s way to a 79-73 home victory over Southwest Baptist. On 33 attempts, Truman’s percentage was barely under 50.

Casen Lawrence scored a career-high 24 points with eight three-pointers on 14 attempts and had the biggest connections as the Bulldogs pushed past SBU seven minutes into the second half. His second during that span gave Truman a 50-49 lead.

The Bulldogs grabbed their largest lead at 71-61 with 4:31 to play but needed clutch free throw shooting down the stretch to fend off the Bearcats. SBU got to within five at 75-70 with a minute left before Xavier Hall knocked down his free throws and Kobi Williams converted on both ends of a one-and-one to seal the win.

Hall finished with a double-double with 13 points and tied his career-high with 13 assists. Williams finished with 15 points and six rebounds.

Southwest Baptist dropped in 10 three-pointers on the day and were 19-of-20 from the foul line. Drenin Dinkins paced the Bearcats 15 points.

The win avenged an earlier loss to SBU as the two teams split their season series.

The Bulldogs head out to Lincoln on Thursday and league-leading Missouri S&T next Saturday.

Kaitlyn Patke gets out in transition in Saturday’s victory. “Our bench play is huge when you get late in a season,” Truman coach Theo Dean said. “Our depth and flexibility with lineups is a major factor in how far we can go.” HENRY JANSSEN/DAILY EXPRESS

Kirksville City Council gets update on Contour Airlines' performance

by Henry Janssen

The Kirksville City Council, at a meeting held on Wednesday, January 22, 2025, was updated on the performance of Contour Airlines. The update was given by Jeff Propst, Missouri Land Specialist for Whitetail Properties Real Estate, LLC, 636.209.0362.

Contour Airlines, an 80 percent ownership stake, due to winter weather and other factors, was a significant factor in the airline's performance. The airline's performance was also affected by the airline's decision to cancel flights to and from the airport. # Increased prevention and treatment needed for common cardiovascular condition

Prevalence of atrial fibrillation on the rise due to lifestyle factors, aging population

By Northeast Regional Medical Center

The prevalence of one of the most common cardiovascular conditions in the U.S. is significantly higher than previously estimated, underscoring the need for better prevention and treatment strategies. Atrial fibrillation (AFib) is a rapid, irregular heartbeat that can lead to stroke or sudden death if untreated. A 2024 study in the Journal of the American College of Cardiology estimates the current national prevalence of AFib to be at least 10.5 million adults, compared to previous estimates of 3.3 million adults.

Many people with atrial fibrillation don't know they have it and don't have symptoms. However, common symptoms of AFib include an irregular heartbeat, heart palpitations, light-headedness, shortness of breath, fatigue and chest pain. The U.S. Preventive Services Task Force recommends adults without symptoms of atrial fibrillation or other risk factors should be screened at age 50. Those with risk factors such as high blood pressure and diabetes may need to be screened sooner and anyone experiencing symptoms should contact their doctor. "Atrial fibrillation is highly treatable with lifestyle modifications, medication, and in some cases surgical procedures," said Dr. Larry Handlin, cardiologist and medical staff at Northeast Regional Heart Center. "It is important for adults to understand underlying factors that may increase their risk of AFib and talk with their doctor about addressing those factors. For some, it may be exercising more and eating a heart healthy diet, but others may also need clinical intervention." One in five cases of AFib can be attributed to high blood pressure. Other risk factors include advancing age, obesity, diabetes, heart failure, sleep apnea, alcohol use and smoking. The risk of stroke is four to five times higher in people with AFib, and AFib-related strokes tend to be more severe than strokes caused by other factors. In addition, AFib can lead to heart attack, heart failure and sudden cardiac arrest. "Left untreated, AFib can have devastating consequences for patients and their families, so it is important to get screened if you are in a high-risk group or have symptoms," added Handlin. "The most common screening tool is an electrocardiogram, a non-invasive test that can detect irregular heart rhythms, along with a thorough physical examination." Patients who are at high risk for AFib should maintain regular wellness checks with a primary care physician and talk with their doctor about their concerns and further screening. # February is Earthquake Awareness Month in Missouri with emphasis on preparedness

Missourians reminded of risk of damaging earthquake in the New Madrid Seismic Zone

By Missouri State Emergency Management Agency

JEFFERSON CITY – It's been an active year for earthquakes in the New Madrid Seismic Zone (NMSZ), with 293 minor quakes reported in the past 12 months. Though most were too small to be felt, they are an important reminder that southeast Missouri is located in the heart of the NMSZ, which generated some of the most powerful earthquakes ever to jolt the nation. A series of major quakes occurred in 1811-1812, destroying buildings, ringing church bells hundreds of miles away and briefly causing the Mississippi River to run backward. The area has remained seismically active ever since and averages more than 200 small quakes annually. Each February, Missouri observes Earthquake Awareness Month to emphasize preparedness for the risk of another major earthquake occurring in the NMSZ. While no one can predict when an earthquake will occur, scientists agree that large earthquakes in this zone still pose a risk. Experts estimate a 25% to 40% chance of a large earthquake occurring in the next 50 years. "A large earthquake in southeast Missouri could potentially be the worst natural disaster Missouri has ever seen, and it would occur without warning," State Emergency Management Agency (SEMA) Director Jim Remillard said. "Earthquake Awareness Month is an important time to learn about the risks and how to protect yourself and your family." When shaking starts, the best way to stay safe and protect yourself from falling debris is the "Drop, Cover and Hold On" technique. Drop to your knees, cover your head, get under a desk or table if possible and hold on until the shaking stops. Experts say that in developed countries with modern structures, falling debris is the most common source of injury. It's also important to prepare before an earthquake occurs by taking some simple safety steps: Bolt bookcases to wall studs, install strong latches on cupboards and secure your home's water heater. If it tips over, it could start a fire or gas leak, and you could lose a valuable source of water. Secure overhead lighting fixtures and move heavy objects from high shelves to lower ones. Many injuries in an earthquake are caused by this type of falling debris. Put together an emergency kit, including a flashlight, first aid supplies, portable radio, drinking water and blankets. A major earthquake could leave families without utilities for weeks. Develop a family communication plan. Identify a relative living at least 100 miles away that everyone can call to check in and tell family you're safe. Know how to turn off your gas and water. Find out if your house is covered for earthquake damage. Most homeowner insurance does not include earthquake coverage — it must be purchased separately. More resources for families, schools and businesses are available on SEMA's earthquake preparedness website, including fact sheets, interactive maps and informational videos explaining what to do in the event of an earthquake. For more information, visit sema.dps.mo.gov/earthquake\_preparedness.

Fill in the grid so that every row, every column and every 3x3 box contains the numbers 1 through 9 only once.

Each 3x3 box is outlined with a darker line. You already have a few numbers to get you started. Remember: you must not repeat the numbers 1 through 9 in the same line, column or 3x3 box.

Preferred Family Healthcare extends new care groups for youth

By Preferred Family Healthcare

Preferred Family Healthcare announced the rollout of a new effort to help children and adolescents with behavioral and emotional challenges in Kirksville. Effective Feb. 1, youth with Medicaid coverage can enroll in the new psychosocial rehabilitation program at the Preferred Family Healthcare campus at 900 E. LaHarpe Street in Kirksville. Psychosocial rehabilitation is a group activity that provides meaningful social, recreational and vocational interaction for participants. “We really have a heart to serve our community, and if we see a need that’s within our wheelhouse, we want to try to meet that need,” Preferred Family Healthcare Vice President of Integrated Health Services Vince Winn said. “We’ve been providing one-on-one case management and other services to children and adolescents for years and we are able to add to the array of services we provide in Kirksville.” In the after-school groups, clients learn about anger management, social skills, communication skills and impulse control. To qualify for the psychosocial rehabilitation program, youths must establish service with a case manager and a qualified mental health professional at Preferred Family Healthcare. A team of providers can help determine if psychosocial rehabilitation is right for each client. It’s part of a person-centered approach to individualized care made possible through Preferred Family Healthcare’s state statutory designation as a community psychiatric rehabilitation center. “There is a value in peer relationships and learning to navigate challenges in a peer-to-peer setting,” Winn said. “Social connection plays such an important role in mental wellbeing, and teaching young people to develop peer-to-peer relationships can be a powerful form of treatment for youth in outpatient behavioral health care.” PFH’s designation as a community psychiatric rehabilitation program by the Missouri Department of Mental Health allows individuals with Medicaid coverage to receive care in their home communities. Preferred Family Healthcare’s youth psychosocial rehabilitation program is internationally accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Rehabilitation Facilities (CARF).

Youth in the psychosocial rehabilitation program at Preferred Family Healthcare typically meet after school in a meeting space at Preferred’s Kirksville campus.

Red Cross: Donors needed now to build up the blood supply

$15 e-gift card for those who come to give blood by Feb. 28

By American Red Cross

COLUMBIA — The American Red Cross urges donors to give blood in February to help build up the blood supply after thousands of donations went uncollected last month. People of all blood types — especially those with type O negative blood — are encouraged to make and keep their donation appointments so hospitals can continue to ensure critical care for patients this winter. Since the beginning of the year, hundreds of blood drives have been canceled and more than 15,000 blood donations have gone uncollected due to severe winter weather and wildfires. As February continues, so does the potential for additional weather systems to disrupt blood drives. Flu and other seasonal illnesses are spreading, which could also force more people to cancel scheduled donation appointments, compounding the impact to collecting lifesaving blood products. Give with your whole heart this month. To book a time to give blood, use the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit RedCrossBlood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767). As a thank-you, all who come to give from Jan. 27 through Feb. 28, will get a $15 e-gift card to a merchant of choice. See RedCrossBlood.org/Flurry for details.

Upcoming blood donation opportunities Feb. 16-28:

Adair County — Kirksville

Feb. 18: 1:30-5:30 p.m., Kirksville R 3 High School, 1300 S Cottage Grove.

Feb. 21: 1-5 p.m., Faith Lutheran School, 1820 S Baltimore Street.

Feb. 28: 11 a.m.-3 p.m., Northeast Regional Medical Center, 315 S Osteopathy Street.

Macon County — La Plata

Feb. 17: 12:30-5 p.m., LaPlata Fire Department, 1000 Amoco Road

Schuyler County — Greentop

Feb. 18: 1:30-5:30 p.m., Greentop Park, 208 E First Street.

Lancaster

Feb. 27: 1:30-5:30 p.m., XLCR Building, 105 N Marion Street.

How to donate blood

Simply download the American Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit RedCrossBlood.org, call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) or enable the Blood Donor Skill on any Alexa Echo device to make an appointment or for more information. All blood types are needed to ensure a reliable supply for patients. A blood donor card or driver’s license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in. Individuals who are 17 years of age in most states (16 with parental consent where allowed by state law), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements. Blood donors can save time at their next donation by using RapidPass® to complete their pre-donation reading and health history questionnaire online, on the day of their donation, before arriving at the blood drive. To get started, follow the instructions at RedCrossBlood.org/RapidPass or use the Blood Donor App. Amplify your impact – volunteer! Another way to support the life-saving mission of the Red Cross is to become a volunteer blood donor ambassador at Red Cross blood drives. Blood donor ambassadors help greet, check in and thank blood donors to ensure they have a positive donation experience. Volunteers can also serve as transportation specialists, playing a vital role in ensuring life-saving blood products are delivered to nearby hospitals. For more information and to apply for either position, visit redcross.org/volunteertoday.

About the American Red Cross:

The American Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides comfort to victims of disasters; supplies about 40% of the nation’s blood; teaches skills that save lives; distributes international humanitarian aid; and supports veterans, military members and their families. The Red Cross is a non-profit organization that depends on volunteers and the generosity of the American public to deliver its mission. For more information, please visit redcross.org or CruzRojaAmericana.org, or follow us on social media.

Complete Family Medicine, Kirksville R-III raise $5,000 for local cancer fighters

By Complete Family Medicine

Complete Family Medicine continues to support local cancer patients. This time, with a contribution of $5,110 to the Inspire Hope campaign, which helps offset costs for those forced to travel for radiation oncology services.

Partnering with Kirksville R-III schools, Complete Family Medicine put on a Pink Out event as the Kirksville Tigers girls' and boys' basketball teams took on the Moberly Spartans.

The event played host to three local cancer survivors and their families as guests of honor: Robert Moots, with his wife, Elaine, and daughter, Veronica; Cindy Craggs and her daughters Tanya Tipton, Shona Lene, and Kayla Western; and Jeremiah Billington with his wife Courtney, and son, Dax.

A moment of recognition took place just before the boys' varsity game and included a heartfelt message from Complete Family Medicine's Keaton Wagner. "Cancer does not care. It only destroys," said Wagner. "It's up to us as a community to care and to build up."

Kirksville High boys and girls basketball team members pose for photo with Pink Out guests of honor.

Complete Family Medicine's Chief Medical Officer, Dr. Justin Puckett, added: "The Inspire Hope fund is a necessary stopgap to care for our friends and neighbors battling cancer until we're able to bring modernized, best-in-class radiation oncology services back to Kirksville. That's what this community deserves and that's what we're building towards."

Continuing the evening's events, Kirksville High School's Levi Martin and Ryan Kelly participated in halftime events that resulted in a $3,000 gift from the physician team at Complete Family Medicine. It should be noted that Martin, on his own, raised more than $700 selling Pink Out shirts and collecting donations.

The night ended in storybook fashion, with both the girls' and boys' varsity teams earning hard-fought victories over Moberly, resembling the grit and toughness of the cancer survivors cheering them on.

About Inspire Hope

For years, cancer patients in Kirksville and the surrounding area requiring radiation oncology services have been forced to travel extensively. A lack of care locally means patients experience an unnecessary, and often devastating, disruption to their quality of life at a time when they are already at their most vulnerable.

The Inspire Hope campaign, initiated in 2023 by Hannibal Regional Foundation and Complete Family Medicine, has raised over $130,000 to help offset travel costs for these local cancer fighters. To find out more about supporting the inspire Hope Campaign or Hannibal Regional Foundation, call (573) 629-3577.

Truman Theatre earns awards, performs at regional conference

By Truman Theatre

Truman Theatre's production of "Ride the Cyclone" was recently performed at the Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival in Des Moines, Iowa.

For more than 50 years, KCACTF has supported and celebrated all things theatre at colleges and universities. Truman is in Region 5, which includes schools from Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota. Of the nearly 300 productions taking place in KCACTF Region 5 this year, "Ride the Cyclone" was one of only four to be invited to perform at the festival.

"It was really an amazing experience for our students to have a production invited to the festival," said Brad Carlson, associate professor of theatre and chair of the Department of Communication and Theatre Arts. "Over 1,300 theatre students, faculty, staff and guest artists attended the festival. There was an amazing outpouring of enthusiasm from the festival audience."

"Ride the Cyclone" ran on campus in November. This somewhat new production blends comedy, tragedy and enchantment as it tells the story of six teenage chamber choir members who meet their fate on a doomed roller coaster ride.

Prior to finals week, the department learned "Ride the Cyclone" had been invited to perform at the festival. That allowed the cast to host a rehearsal before break, followed by two more full rehearsals at the start of the semester before making the trip to Des Moines. This is the first Truman production to be performed at a KCACTF festival. "Ghosts in the Machine" was previously included in a virtual festival.

Carlson knew "Ride the Cyclone" would be in consideration for a performance and factored that into the original stage construction.

"I took that as an opportunity to build the set as a traveling production," Carlson said. "This isn't something that we typically do, and it was a great opportunity for our students to build in a different construction method than our typical builds."

The set was engineered to come apart in manageable pieces and fit into a box truck for transport to the festival. Some elements needed to be reengineered to make them travel more easily, and most of that work was done during the winter break.

"Ride the Cyclone" was not the only Truman production to be honored. "The Rocky Horror Show" earned more accolades than any other production in Region 5. In total, five Truman productions from the past year received recognition at this year's festival, as did a number of individuals. Student Kala Cotter received a special recognition in Excellence in Stage Management.

Jonathan Wehmeyer, assistant professor of theatre, received the National Alliance of Acting Teachers Acting Teacher of Excellence award. He receives a one-year complimentary guest membership in the Alliance and will be invited, with full registration paid, to attend the National Alliance of Acting Teachers national conference in June at The Juilliard School.

Carlson was awarded the Kennedy Center Gold Medallion. It is the most prestigious award given by KCACTF and is considered one of the greatest honors in educational theatre. This award honors individuals or organizations that have made extraordinary contributions to the teaching and producing of theatre and who have significantly dedicated their time, artistry and enthusiasm to the development of KCACTF.

— dor.mo.gov/contact/documents/FY2024MVandDLEstimatedTransactionsandProcessingFeesSummary.pdf

License offices are operated by independent contractors and are overseen by the Missouri Department of Revenue. All license office contracts in Missouri are awarded through a competitive bid process.

While the Memphis office is closed, the Department encourages customers to visit one of the following nearby locations to receive assistance with their motor vehicle and driver licensing needs:

Kahoka License Office – 178 W Main, Suite 1, Kahoka, Mo., 63445
Edina License Office – 55682 State HWY 6, Suite B, Edina, Mo., 63537

Kirkville License Office – 105 W. Potter Ave, Kirkville, Mo., 63501

A full list of license office locations and hours of operation can be found at: dor.mo.gov/license-office-locator/.

The following online services are also available:

License Offices accepting phone-in vehicle and watercraft registration renewals can be found here: License Offices Accepting Phone-In Vehicle Registration Renewals (mo.gov).

License Plate Renewal — The Online License Plate Renewal System is a convenient way to renew your license plates. If your county participates by sharing personal property tax information with the department, you have an easy registration option. Check here to see if your county participates.

Renewal Requirements Inquiry — Online inquiry to obtain information regarding registration renewal requirements.

Get answers 24/7 with the help of the department's chatbot, DORA, a virtual assistant programmed to respond to common taxation, motor vehicle, and driver licensing questions.
