Judge sends Zelenski to prison for life

BY ROBERT CLOUD
SENIOR EDITOR

COUNTY – Judge Raymond Huber sentenced William Zelenski to life in prison Friday, July 28.

Zelenski will become eligible for parole after he serves 35 years.

Huber said eligibility does not guarantee that Zelenski will actually be paroled. Family, friends and law enforcement will have an opportunity to testify at a parole hearing 35 years from now before a decision is made to release him from prison or not.

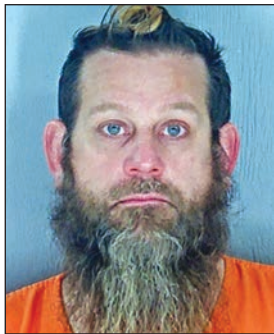

When he comes up for parole, Zelenski will be 82 years old.

A jury convicted Zelenski of first-degree intentional homicide on June 23 after a weeklong trial.

Zelenski killed Ryelee Manente-Powell with a 12-gauge, double-barrelled shotgun. The victim was 18 and the father of a 2-year-old son at the time of his death on the night of Oct. 19, 2020.

Four days before the shooting, Manente-Powell and a friend stole several exotic reptiles from Zelenski's rural Waupaca home.

"You don't bring a gun

to a fist fight," Huber said when weighing the three factors he must consider prior to sentencing.

Those factors are the gravity of the offense, the character of the defendant and the protection of the community.

"There is no more serious offense than intentionally taking the life of another," Huber said.

Huber said it was a cause for concern that Zelenski confronted an unarmed teenager with a shotgun, especially in light of Zelenski's training in law enforcement.

He also noted that Zelenski was involved in a similar, although not fatal incident while he was a Waupaca police officer.

Airport busy during air show

Sets fuel-sale record

BY JAMES CARD
STAFF REPORTER

WAUPACA – Air traffic peaked at the Waupaca Municipal Airport last week during the Experimental Aircraft Association's (EAA) AirVenture in Oshkosh, the largest fly-in air show in the world.

The Waupaca airport has become the equivalent of a park-and-ride for aviators. Like commuters that park outside of a congested city and take a shuttle or bus downtown, pilots looking to dodge the busy airspace around Oshkosh fly into Waupaca and take a shuttle service to the show.

As of Friday, July 28, 139 aircraft and more than 500 people passed through during the week. As the show ends, more airplanes will pass through on their way home.

done, they can come back to Waupaca. We encourage them to visit the Chain or go downtown," said Matt Klatt, airport manager.

During the week, six jets stopped overnight and a dozen other jets passed through. Klatt estimates at one time there was around $25-30 million dollars worth of jets on the ramp.

Two Cirrus Vision jets (made in Duluth) stopped in. Two Vietnam-era L-19 Bird Dogs flew in. The plane

Planning Commission still considering chicken ordinance

New London debates issue

BY ROBERT CLOUD

NEW LONDON – Zoning Administrator David Vincent will move forward on producing a rough draft for a chicken ordinance in New London.

He proposed an ordinance to allow chickens on property within city limits at a July 27 meeting of the Planning Commission.

Clintonville plans cross country course

BY BERT LEHMAN
STAFF REPORTER

CLINTONVILLE – Superintendent Troy Kuhn told the Clintonville School Board at its July 24 meeting that the district is working towards creating a 5K cross country course on school property around Clintonville High School.

Creating such a course has been talked about at previous school board meetings, with the board in favor of the idea.

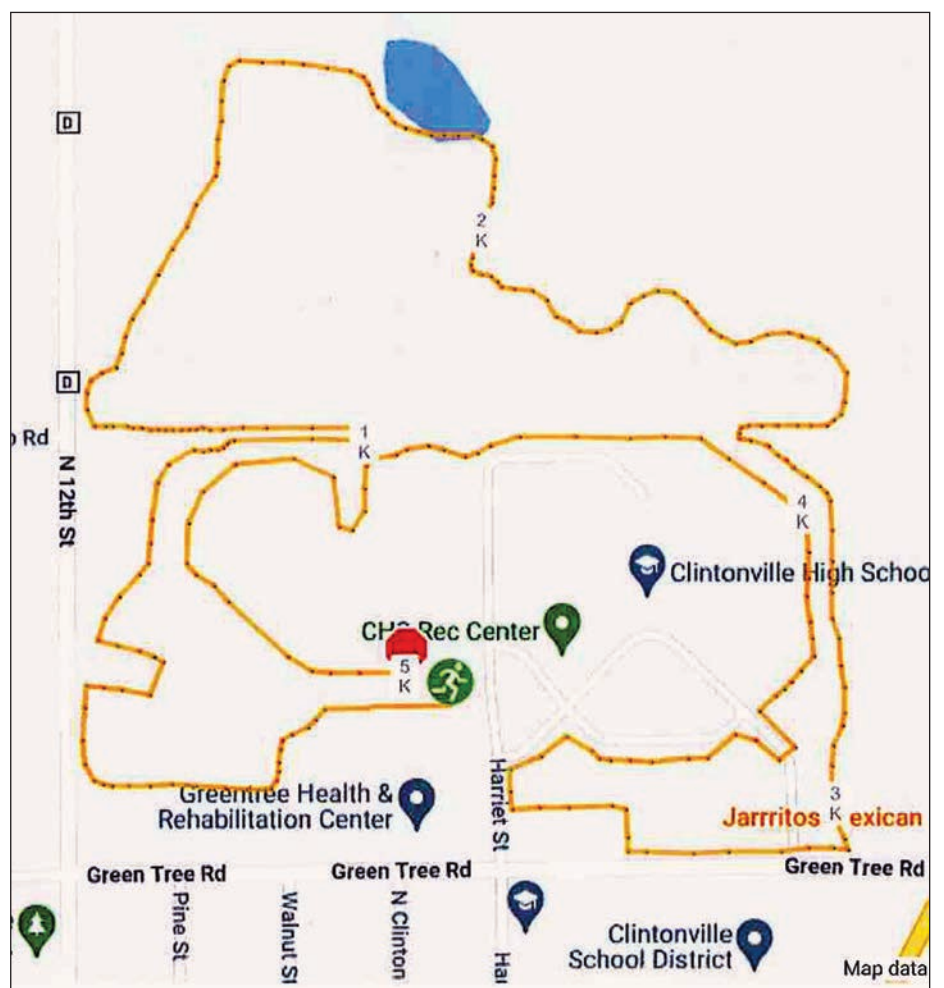

"The land we acquired behind the school, we can hold a true 5K cross country event without having people to run the same laps at the same times," Kuhn told the board.

Kuhn said he's working with a couple of people about dragging and leveling the proposed course.

"The exciting thing is, we can make it happen," Kuhn said.

He added that Athletic Director Shaun Liesch is of the president of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association landed in Waupaca. It is a Caravan float plane where the wheels retract into the pontoons. Aviators from England and Austria flew in and many Canadian pilots arrived this year.

Klatt and his wife and co-manager, Brittany, put out complimentary lunches for visiting pilots: hot dogs and hamburgers one day, pulled pork another.

It was the best month in airport history for selling aviation gas. Klatt set a goal to sell 5,000 gallons.

"We soared passed it to the point we were at risk of running out so I had to place an emergency order for fuel. This week has the most local economic impact for the airport," said Klatt.

"When Oshkosh has an unfortunate accident or it is overly congested, they will stop allowing people to land. As people get low on fuel, it's kind of a scramble.

So they will come here or they will come here to wait out the weather," said Klatt.

Movies, camping

On June 23, the airport hosted a drive-in movie night featuring "Top Gun: Maverick." Partnered with Waupaca Parks and Recreation, the event was a success other than a small rain delay. This year 125 cars arrived for the film and Klatt estimates there were no less than three people to a vehicle.

Many regional airports offer camping to traveling aviators. Klatt is building campsites on the far end of the runway near the Waupaca River. It is far enough from the noise of U.S. Highway 10 to offer a rustic camping experience. Klatt and some volunteers have mowed and cleared brush to form the campsites.

"Over there it feels like you're camping, instead of being at an airport with a tent," said Klatt.

Zelenski's character

During her arguments at sentencing, Assistant District Attorney Veronica Isherwood said Zelenski and another officer were shooting target practice on Zelenski's property.

A neighbor complained, an argument ensued and Zelenski fired his gun, Isherwood said.

During the nearly three years that Zelenski was an officer, Isherwood said he was the subject of three internal investigations, cited for unprofessional conduct, and his record included suspensions and written reprimands.

The prosecutor also accused Zelenski of being a meth user and dealer, as well as a loan shark.

Isherwood said one woman said Zelenski threatened to cut off her fingers if she didn't pay him the money she owed him.

Timothy Hogan, Zelenski's defense counsel, said Isherwood's portrayal of Zelenski relied on stories rather than evidence.

He argued that police found "not a single shred of physical evidence" of methamphetamine use in the vehicle that they seized when they arrested Zelenski the night of the murder.

Huber said he didn't know whether or not to believe the allegations about drug dealing and threatening behavior. None of the people who reported them testified at the hearing about their experiences and Huber did not consider them to be reliable witnesses since many had court records. He described them as a "rogues gallery."

Huber noted that Zelenski had some positive characteristics, such as his love of animals and his efforts to help zoos deal with troublesome animals.

The judge also spoke of a drug court participant who described Zelenski as having a positive influence on him.

"Mr. Zelenski appears to demonstrate true remorse," Huber added.

Huber also questioned Zelenski's claim that he was motivated by his concern for the animals that Manente-Powell stole from him.

The judge noted that after Zelenski learned where the animals were located, he did not contact police or go to the home where he believed Manente-Powell was headed.

Noting that Zelenski's vehicle was loaded with "a plethora of weapons," Huber said much of Zelenski's "story doesn't make a lot of sense."

PUBLISHER'S LETTER*Political Integrity Meets Lower Local Newspaper Postal Rates

Dear Reader,

We must reflect on ourselves. We have witnessed instances where politicians misled or defrauded us, thinking they could escape scrutiny. The original Postal Act of 1792 established low rates for newspapers, ensuring that the public remained informed about current events. However, the Postal System now imposes exorbitant rates on newspapers, making it increasingly challenging to disseminate news.

Some might argue that alternative news sources exist. However, in many areas, this is not the case. As local newspapers shut down, more communities are becoming "news deserts," lacking a reliable source of local news, which has detrimental consequences, including increased governmental corruption and decreased community cohesion.

Politicians, being human, may sometimes be less than honest, especially when they believe no one is paying attention. However, we must prevent future news deserts because local journalism provides important insights into politicians' actions and reports on all laws and regulations, including their compensation, salaries, and pensions.

I ask you to support efforts to address the challenges in the Postal System and ensure accessible local news, starting with government mandated lowering of Postal rates for locally mailed newspapers rather than increasing them as they have been doing.

have chicken ordinances.

"I talked with the chief of police for Clintonville. He said they have had no problems whatsoever."

Clintonville passed an ordinance to allow residents to keep chickens in the city in July 2014.

Vincent distributed a copy of Menasha's chicken ordinance to members of the New London Planning Commission prior to the July 27 meeting.

He said Menasha city staff have heard no complaints regarding chickens since their ordinance passed.

"I have a question as to where this is coming from," commissioner Susie Steingraber said. "Is it something that we already have and that we want to control what we already have or is this something that we feel we need to have because you're getting requests for it?"

"We are getting quite a few requests," Vincent replied. "It is a trend that seems to be kind of taking over this area. Most of the outlying villages and stuff are adopting some type of chicken ordinance."

Vincent said chicken ordinances vary, with some municipalities setting limits on the number of chickens, prohibiting roosts and requiring minimum setbacks from property lines.

"We've got them in the neighborhoods now," he said. "I know of at least five or six places that either have had them or do have chickens."

"I've had four different families just from my district contact me," Ald. BaLynda Croy said "They are not in favor of having chickens next door. They're noisy, stinky, their feathers, everything goes everywhere."

"Three chickens in a back lawn in a chicken house aren't going to be smelly," commissioner Jeff Handschke said. "I think those people are thinking about farms where there are a couple hundred, couple thousand (chickens). As far as noise, you're going to have a lot more barking dog complaints than you are ducking chicken complaints. Chickens are very, very quiet unless you have roosters."

If the city decides against allowing city residents to have chickens, Vincent said he would be ready to enforce the ordinance, although he expressed some reluctance.

"I've got enough on my plate without being a chicken sheriff," he said.

Steingraber suggested the commission revisit the ordinance in six months.

"I think we need to act on this," Mayor Mark Herter said. "This is going on our second summer of discussing it."

City Administrator Chad Hoerth explained the history of New London's ordinances regarding chickens within city limits.

He said the city interpreted the municipal code to allow up to two chickens on parcels within the city.

However, a new city attorney reviewed the ordinance and found that it only applied to parcels that were zoned agricultural.

Vincent said New London's chicken ordinance could have restrictions that a chicken house be located at least 20 feet away from the property line. The 20-foot setback would allow most property owners in the city to have chicken houses because the average lot size is 60-feet by 120-feet.

Commissioners voted 6-5 in favor of Vincent moving forward and preparing a rough draft of an ordinance allowing chickens within city limits to be ready by the following meeting.

Voting in favor of moving forward were Jamie Walbruck, Jay Bessette, Dave Dorsey, Tim Roberts, Handschke and Herter.

Voting no were Croy, Bernie Ritchie, Susie Steingraber, Dona Gabert and Charlene Magolski.

Rosholt, Scandinavia and Waupaca. Iola Ambulance, Waupaca County Sheriff's Office and Waupaca County Highway Department were also at the scene.

"We want to thank everyone who came out and helped, even though it was at night it was still warm and humid," said Barden. "We needed all the help to rotate fresh people in to give everyone a chance to rest and cool down for a bit. A big thank you to our Iola EMT's for keeping the firefighters safe, hydrated and cooled down."

Corrections

In the July 27 Waupaca County Post article about the Fremont-Wolf River Fire Department, the town of Fremont was incorrectly identified as the village of Fremont. The town of Fremont purchased the new fire station, not the village of Fremont.

An article on the Clintonville City Council approving the elimination of the opt-out option at its July 11 meeting incorrectly reported that the vote was unanimous. It passed 8-2 on a voice vote. Ald. Mark Zachow and Ald. Peggy Zaemisch voted against eliminating the opt-out.

Local barbecue kept real

BY JAMES CARD
STAFF REPORTER

WAUPACA – Ed Klinger opened a restaurant during the Covid pandemic and it actually worked out for him.

Klinger owns the Moose Inn supper club in Wautoma and through that he started a catering business. When a Wautoma venue opened up four years ago, he opened Klinger's Real BBQ.

"We opened that right during Covid," said Klinger with a big laugh. "In hindsight, with our concept of food and how we serve people and our outdoor atmosphere over there was a perfect storm during Covid. People weren't eating inside. I think barbecue people are a little more resilient. It's not like my supper club that really suffered. This was a little more casual atmosphere so they liked going to a counter and your food is put together and then went to sit outside," said Klinger.

The Wautoma location has seating for 150 people with a covered patio.

"The timing worked out. We just got lucky. That concept took off and people loved the product," said Klinger.

He doubled down and opened a Waupaca location on N2826 County Trunk QQ this spring. His son Spencer is the co-owner.

Right along the road is their smoker in the form of 1966 cabover Freightliner. It was made by a childhood friend of Klinger, John Wenniger of Wenniger Auto in Wautoma.

The truck looks like it is a tanker but the tanker is the offset smoker. The firebox is in back and it is mostly loaded with oak. Some hickory is used for seasoning the briskets. The meat is loaded onto racks on the side of the tanker and the smoke passes up and over the meat and out two smokestack pipes near the cab of the truck.

While driving down County QQ, it looks like exhaust is coming from the truck. People stop to take pictures.

Near the smoker truck is a trailer loaded with oak firewood. Between both barbeque restaurants they will use 44 cords of wood per year. It takes 15 hours to smoke brisket. Pork butts are cooked overnight and ribs are cooked throughout the day as they take three to four hours.

Local ingredients

As for the name, Klinger's Real BBQ, the "real" part comes from using wood and keeping the ingredients simple.

Klinger became interested in barbecue and smoking meat through his grandfather. He was a hunter and angler and Klinger remembers him smoking salmon on Weber grill.

"I've always liked cooking with fire. At my supper club I always love running the grill. Smoking meat has always been a passion of mine. I'm an old kettle guy and I love the indirect heat concept. I still do it with wood and charcoal at home," said Klinger.

"I've always said food has gotten complicated over the years. People don't just want a hamburger anymore. They want a burger with 30 different ingredients on it. I like taking things back to the basics like our brisket. It's a salt and pepper rub. For our ribs there are about seven different ingredients that go into the rub. It's something that we make in-house. It's simple and anyone can do it and I'll give you the recipe if you want it," said Klinger.

He sources potatoes from a friend in Waushara County. For potato salad, they boil them, add salt and pepper and add eggs, celery and Hellman's mayonnaise.

"I'm big on less ingredients but really quality ingredients. Everything here fresh is the key," said Klinger.

They use 1,000 pounds of baby red potatoes each week.

Their main meat supplier is Stoneridge in Wautoma. Flyte Family Farms is the produce supplier. Star Dairy in Weyauwega provides the cheese curds.

They feature beer from Knuth Brewing, produced by fellow who was born and raised in Wautoma and runs a brewery in Ripon. They have Central Waters, New Glarus, Leinenkugel's and other Wisconsin-based beers except for Shiner Bock, a Texan beer that goes well with barbeque.

On the menu is brisket, pulled pork, ribs, chicken and smoked sausage and the sides are classic barbeque fare including collard greens and cheddar jalapeno grits – something not easily found on Wisconsin menus. Klinger suggests trying a Texas Twinkie: a jalapeño pepper wrapped with bacon and stuffed with brisket, sautéed garlic and onions cream cheese and cheddar and then cooked in the smoker.

They are open from 10 a.m. to close Wednesday through Sunday.

Standing on corner with a cross

BY JAMES CARD
STAFF REPORTER

WAUPACA – Two and half years ago, Tedd Lees asked the Lord: "What am I doing? Am I some kind of nut?"

He was standing near Burger King with a wooden cross. He felt the spirit of God was sending him out as a reminder.

Within 10 minutes, a woman pulled up in a white van, rolled down her window and started crying.

"Thank you for reminding me," she said. When he got home later that day, a government official that he knew left a voice message for him.

"I saw you and I want to thank you for reminding me," he said.

"Since that day, I go out three or four times a week, an hour or two at a time. I can't wait to see what happens next. Once you take the cross off the building, it starts speaking and it says things I could never say as a minister," said Lees who is a nondenominational minister, a Waupaca resident and the former owner of The Paint Store.

He has six spots in Waupaca and has stood with his cross in every town in Waupaca County.

Lees has two crosses. One is light weight and made of wood paneling. The other is heavy and made of black cherry that he harvested from a fallen tree in his yard. He built it with a hinge so it can fold up and he can load it in the back of his truck.

He stands with his cross in all seasons. In the winter he wears a furry trapper's hat.

"There's no bad weather, just bad clothes. You're either ready for it or you're not," said Lees.

He was standing on the corner of South State and School street, across from the Waupaac Recreation Center. People honked and waved to him. A man stumbled across State Street and approached Lees.

"Is there any way you got two dollars?" asked the man, slurring his speech.

"I already told you man, I'm not going to give you two dollars because you don't need two dollars. You need to go home before the police come and get you," said Lees as he put his hand on the man's shoulder.

The man laughed at the mention of the police.

"Are you hearing me? Now go home before you get in trouble. Go home and take a break. The next time you see me, I'll talk to you when you haven't been drinking," said Lees.

The man walked back across State Street toward the Marathon gas station to the Northland Liquor Store. Five minutes later, a Waupaca police squad car rolled up and an officer approached the man.

Black Hawk lands in Embarrass

BY BERT LEHMAN
STAFF REPORTER

EMBARRASS – Visitors to the Embarrass Fun Daze had the opportunity to view a UH-60 Black Hawk helicopter up close and talk to the crew who flew it to the July 29 event.

The Black Hawk landed in an open field behind the Embarrass Fire Department, which organized the event.

Once it landed and was secured, attendees were allowed to view the helicopter up close and climb inside.

Chief Warrant Officer 3 Scott Kramer told the Clintonville Tribune-Gazette that the four-member crew manning the Black Hawk came from a couple of different units that are part of the Wisconsin Army National Guard.

He said Black Hawk helicopters were first introduced in the early 1970s, and the one that was in Embarrass was a 1989 model.

"They're still making brand new helicopters for Black Hawks, but they've been around for over 50 years," Kramer said.

The Black Hawk that was in Embarrass, is and has been, used in duty, Kramer said.

"This aircraft will go overseas, wartime environments, stay here in the United States for domestic operations in states of emergency, as well as continuation of training for our folks, and community involvement as well," Kramer said.

Regarding community involvement, like the Fun Daze in Embarrass, Kramer said they usually do a couple a month.

"What I really like about the community type stuff is all of our crew members, mechanics, flight crew members, our maintenance people, we're all from the local community," he said. "I live in West Bend. The other folks live in the Fox Cities area and Milwaukee. So, we're part of these communities as well. Being able to come and bring some really, cool pieces of equipment out to local communities is really fun. It's rewarding for us."

He added that it is fun seeing the big smiles on the faces of children when they view and sit in the helicopter.

Pete Karlson, assistant chief for the Embarrass Volunteer Fire Department, said they wanted to bring the Black Hawk to this year's Fun Daze to provide a public attraction to attendees and to educate the public. He said it was also meant to support the military and give the military some publicity.

A Medevac Air Ambulance also landed at Fun Daze later in the day. Karlson said the medevac was brought in for the same reasons as the Black Hawk.

Karlson credited firefighter Dakota Maynard for submitting much of the paperwork required to have the Black Hawk attend Fun Daze.

"He (Maynard) said it was about five months-worth of paperwork to get all the approvals," Karlson said. "It was quite a lengthy process, but it makes it worth it to have another special thing for the event and the community."

The reaction of attendees was cool to see, Karlson said.

"They seem to enjoy it, and it's not something you get to see every day," Karlson said.

Karlson added that they would like to do something similar at future events.

"We're here to kind of get the community together and let everybody have a good time, and also to raise funds for the continued education of our firefighters and the support of our equipment, and help the department with its projects," Karlson said.

Pink fire truck

Those who attended the Fun Daze parade saw a pink fire truck in the parade. The truck was covered with signatures from those impacted by cancer.

The pink fire truck is owned by the Sheboygan County Chapter of Pink Heals. The Sheboygan chapter started in 2014, but Pink Heals is a national organization.

"It started through trying to raise money for cancer and help," said Tara Albright, president of the Sheboygan County Chapter of Pink Heals. "Over the years we've broadened our horizons and realized there's much more help needed. So, if it's a debilitating disease that affects the family structure, we will also help that way."

The fire truck was donated to the Sheboygan County Chapter by the Highwood Fire Department in Illinois. Albright said the truck had failed the pump test and couldn't be used anymore by the fire department, so it was donated to the Sheboygan County Chapter.

"We just paid for the paint job and every truck that rolls, is named after somebody," Albright said. "We were fortunate enough to name ours after two people. We have Dawn. She was a volunteer with us. She ended up passing away from small cell lung cancer. And Ty, whose wife was also a volunteer."

The signatures, signed with a Sharpie marker, on the pink fire truck are for anybody who has battled cancer – a family member, a friend, anybody who has been touched by cancer can sign the truck.

"Over time they (signatures) fade," Albright said. "We like to say it's fading into the soul of the truck and giving room to the next batch."

Superintendent to hire, fire staff

BY BERT LEHMAN
STAFF REPORTER

CLINTONVILLE - The Clintonville school superintendent now has the authority to hire and fire support staff in the district, and then update the board at its next meeting of any action taken.

The Clintonville School Board approved that authority for the superintendent when it met July 24.

Superintendent Troy Kuhn told the board that he was requesting this authority for the superintendent for multiple reasons. He said many times the district needs to hire support staff but a new hire can't start working for the district until they complete their pre-employment physical.

Having to wait for board approval for a new hire delays that process.

He also said sometimes information about someone being hired starts circulating in the community before the hiring is made official by the board.

"Every other school district in the area, this is one of the things the superintendent does," Kuhn said.

Kuhn added that the hiring and firing of all salaried positions and all wage increases would still need to be approved by the school board prior to those actions taking place.

Kuhn noted that if a support staff employee leaves the district, sometimes it is important to immediately find a replacement. Having to wait for the next board meeting for approval delays that process.

Lindsay Norder, district business manager, said it is important for the district's superintendent to be able to hire and fire support staff.

"If it's a position that has to do with a special ed. kid, child, student, that has it in their IEP that they need a one-on-one and we don't have an extra person to move to that position that is already employed by us, and we have to hire somebody, legally, we have to have them here the first day that student's here," Norder said. "We can't wait until the next board meeting for that person to be approved because that IEP is a legal contract."

School Board President Ben Huber reiterated that most area school district allow this authority to their superintendent.

Skate park to be relocated

BY BERT LEHMAN
STAFF REPORTER

CLINTONVILLE – Because Clintonville Utility is scheduled to construct a new building on the site of the Armory building, the Gordon Noren Skate Park located in that parking lot will move to W.A. Olen Park.

The Clintonville City Council approved the relocation of the skate park when it met July 11. The current skate park in Clintonville has been located on the Armory property since 2016 when new equipment was added to the skate park.

Since the current plan is to raze the Armory to make room for a new building for Clintonville Utility, the skate park needs to be relocated.

Justin Mc Auly, the city's Parks and Rec director, said the best place to move the skate park to is the parking lot at W.A. Olen Park. He said the best location would be the lower east corner of the parking lot by the A-frame warming house.

"I believe back in the day it used to be located in that area before it came to the old Armory," Mc Auly said. "We're looking at an area that's already paved. We may need to crack seal some of the area, but that's all stuff we have and the capabilities of doing." Mc Auly said there is plenty of room at that location for the skate park equipment.

He added that a border could be painted around the equipment so people don't park in that area.

Council President Tammy Strey-Hirt asked if there are any concerns about that location since it is close to the river that flows through the park.

"I've never seen that parking lot flood," Mc Auly said.

Mc Auly said most of the flooding occurs in the center of the park.

"I don't see an issue (with flooding)," Mc Auly said.

Since the area is already paved, Mc Auly said the city wouldn't have to create a surface for the skate park.

Change of plans

In a July 27 memo to the Parks and Rec Committee, Mc Auly said that after another visit to the site approved for the skate park, it was "decided that for long term reasons it would make more sense to pour a new concrete pad just West of the warming house. This will give skaters a better surface area for years to come."

Mc Auly said he will seek council approval for this, with the funds coming from the sale of the Armory building to Clintonville Utility.

COURSE

already putting things together in an effort to finalize the course so future 5K cross country events can be held in Clintonville.

Board member Glen Drew Lundt asked if the course would be permanent course so that it can be used year-round by anybody.

"We would love for that to happen," Kuhn said.

Kuhn said the current plan is to till up the potential course, drag it and make sure all the stones are removed. Then compact the soil with a roller to make the course flat.

"That's our goal right now," Kuhn said.

Construction crews are working on the new facility for First State Bank in New London.

Bank closes New London drive-up

NEW LONDON – With a little more than two months to go on the construction of First State Bank's new office in New London, the bank's current drive-up facility permanently closed Friday, July 28.

Customers should use the bank's lobby starting Monday, July 31, which will be open 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

In the coming weeks, construction crews will demolish the remainder of the old drive-up so that they can complete sitework for the new facility.

Interior construction also continues over the next couple of months.

Bank officials are planning for the new office located at 220 W. Waupaca St. to open on Monday, Oct. 2.

New London Public Library launches 100 Extraordinary Women campaign

BY JOHN FAUCHER
STAFF REPORTER

NEW LONDON – The New London Public Library is looking for 100 Extraordinary Women.

In July, the library's fundraising committee partnered with the national 100 Extraordinary Women initiative. The 100 EW is an online fundraising platform used by nonprofits across the United States.

"It's a way of fundraising that empowers women to join together in support of a project that we believe in," said committee member Connie Jess Zolkoske. "It helps us create a much bigger impact than we would have had on our own."

Their aim with the 100 EW initiative in New London is to raise $100,000 towards the new library capital campaign.

Zolkoske joined the Friends of the Library in 2003.

She became actively engaged with the library fundraising committee in 2019.

So far $2.3 million dollars have been donated or pledged towards the $3.5 million dollar goal for the new library in New London.

Last year, First State Bank announced it would build a new bank headquarters on Waupaca Street and pledged the donation of its 26,000 square foot existing building for the library.

The former bank building will need extensive renovations to convert it into a library.

The new library will utilize both floors and include a commercial kitchen, STEAM (science, technology, engineering, art and math) room, audio and video recording rooms. It will have special areas for children, teens, adults, a computer lab, study areas meeting rooms and more.

Library Director Ann Hunt said, they are two-thirds of the way towards achieving their fundraising goal, but will need an additional $1.2 million to complete the project.

New London Public Library's "Heart of the Community" fundraising campaign is gaining momentum through initiatives like the 100 EW.

"This is just one of the initiatives we are working on," said Zolkoske.

The short-term initiative asks a minimum of 100 women to each donate, or pledge $1,000 over five years ($200 per year or $18 per month). Donations can also be made in a lump sum.

Each woman will have her name, or the name of a woman she wants to honor permanently listed in a special prominent area of the new library.

Women can form groups for one listing, such as family members, clubs, or leagues.

Men can also honor or remember a woman who is important to them.

Zolkoske said a celebration event is held for those who have made a gift or pledge. The group is hoping to hold a celebration event within the next few months.

The library will host a camping-themed Escape Room Monday through Friday, Aug. 14-25. Registration is required by calling 920-982-8519. The maximum number of people is six per time slot.

The Next Chapter Book Group will meet at 6 p.m. Monday, Aug. 28. They will discuss Celeste Ng's "Our Missing Hearts." Books are available at the circulation desk.

New London author writes first novel

NEW LONDON – Tammy Borden has released a novel based on her mother's accounts of one of the darkest chapters in human history.

"Waltraud — A True Story of Growing Up in Nazi Germany" is a novel that shares the perspective of a German girl who struggles to come to grips with the oppressive Nazi regime and the horrors of war.

Yet Waltraud finds the strength to persevere and resist the Nazis in big and small ways — ways that could have her and others sentenced to death.

In-depth research combined with vivid memories from the author's mother make this compelling novel historically accurate and moving.

Spanning from 1937 to post-war Germany, readers watch Waltraud as she transitions from the innocence of childhood into the harsh realities of war.

As a first generation American, the author grew up hearing stories from her mother about coming of age during World War II.

"Through the years, I documented and recorded her extraordinary life experiences, often without her knowledge," said Borden. "I also took several trips to Germany with her to walk the cobblestone streets where she shared stories in their actual settings. To finally share them with others is a true labor of love. I only wish she were still here to see it."

Waltraud is available in paperback and Kindle eBook formats through Amazon. It currently ranks as the No. 1 new release in historical German biographies.

Chamber to host beer, wine tasting

Main Street building to be razed

Danger of 'imminent collapse'

BY JAMES CARD
STAFF REPORTER

WEYAUWEGA – The common council voted to raze the building at 118 E. Main St. during a special meeting on Monday, July 31.

All council members voted yes except for Tim Litscher who abstained. He owns the building next door and they share a wall. He estimated that it might cost him $25,000 in electrical, masonry and roof work.

The meeting was a full house and 26 people were in the audience. During the public comments period, many people asked questions and some addressed the council at the podium.

Richard Rupno owns the building that is home to the Weymont Food Pantry and he is a keen observer of the older buildings on Main Street. He suggested to the council that if razing was an option, then why not also consider a renovation option.

"I just wish that if council decides to take action tonight and request bids for razing the entire building, then they simultaneously ask for bids for repairing that south façade because I strongly feel that would be cheaper in the long run and better for the city of Weyauwega if that building were to remain," he said.

Kim Rogers, president of the Weyauwega Chamber of

The Weyauwega Common Council voted to raze the building at 118 E. Main St. An architectural report said the building is in danger of "imminent collapse."

Commerce, told the council, "That was where my dentist was when I was in kindergarten. It's a beautiful building and if we could save it and do something to stop the crumbling of the south side and try to preserve it for our character and some city pride—that would be worth trying," she said.

There was a sobering moment when Craig Kubiak of Amundsen Davis, the city attorney, took the podium. He cited the architectural report and the message was clear: to pass a resolution to authorize him to go to court to get an order to raze the property.

"That does not preclude someone coming in and rescuing but we can't wait much longer," he said.

Citing the report, Kubiak said, "The building is in dire shape and definitely a danger to the citizens. I expect more bricks and stones will continue to fall and the front wall is in danger of collapse."

He also cited other issues from the report and also from the building inspector: mold and deterioration on the inside, asbestos is present and repairs involved much more than tuck-pointing the south façade.

There will be no bidding process because of the urgent emergency situation. Kubiak said the process must be "done in days, not weeks." He said the contractor must have insurance or post a bond and take full responsibility for the demolition work.

Kubiak reiterated that the safety of Weyauwega citizens is of utmost importance and "We've got an architect's report saying 'imminent collapse.'"

At 118 E. Main St. more bricks and rock have fallen onto the sidewalk and the protective barrier on the sidewalk now extends past the curb. The front door is boarded up. Up near where the building adjoins the roof of Litscher's building, more loose bricks teeter and lean towards the street.

Paying for the razing of the building will go to the property owners and will be charged to them on their taxes.

"We have the ability to go after the owners. There is already a judgment against them," said Kubiak.

The title holder is a defunct corporation that was administratively dissolved as of 2012, yet someone continued paying property taxes and utilities on behalf of the dissolved corporation. The registered agent of the corporation is deceased.

Eventually, the city tracked down the Bennett siblings of Chicago that were successor to the defunct corporation. For years, they did not answer the city complaints or correspondence until the city obtained a court order to enter the building to inspect its architectural integrity.

Little car show gets bigger

WEYAUWEGA – Nicknamed the "best little car show in Waupaca County," the Weyauwega Car Show keeps getting a little bigger every year.

This year it will be held from 4 to 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 3, in downtown Weyauwega. The exhibition area will be the 100 block of east Main Street and will flow around and up south Mill Street to the public library. This downtown area will be cordoned off for car exhibitors and pedestrian traffic.

In 2022, the Weyauwega Car Show had 93 registered classic vehicles on display. This year the record is expected to be broken.

The event is free for both exhibitors and the public. Five trophies will be awarded: the Mayor's Choice, the Weyauwega Police Department's Choice, the Weyauwega Area Fire Department's Choice, the Veteran's Choice and the Kid's Choice. The first 75 registrations receive a custom Weyauwega Car Show dash plaque.

Show vehicles should arrive from 2:30 to 4 p.m. Attendants will be on hand to help exhibitor parking.

Public parking is available in the north city parking lot (off Wisconsin Street), the south city parking lot (behind City Hall, off Alfred Street), at Premier Community Bank (west Main Street) and side streets surrounding the event. There is an on-site registration tent for all show vehicles.

A local DJ will provide music, a brat fry tent will be open by the Weyauwega Chamber from 4 to 8 p.m., a spaghetti dinner will be held inside City Hall from 5 to 7 p.m.

The Weyauwega Police Department and the W-F School District will host a back-to-school food bank drive. All donations will go to the Weyauwega-Fremont School District Food Pantry to feed students within local schools. Bring donating non-perishable food items for donations. There will be 50/50 and basket raffles.

The show is hosted by the Weyauwega Area Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the Weyauwega Area Historical Society, the Weyauwega Police Department, the Weyauwega-Fremont School District and the Northeast & Central Wisconsin ATV/UTV Association.

Hoyord gains valuable experience with internship

BY HOLLY NEUMANN
STAFF REPORTER

IOLA – Isaiah Hoyord is gaining valuable work experience this summer through an internship with Hoffman Planning, Design & Construction Inc.

Hoyord, a 2022 Iola-Scandinavia High School graduate, is a construction management major at the University of Wisconsin-Stout.

“We had a career fair at UW-Stout where I started handing out resumes and that is where I met (Hoffman’s) Matt (McGregor),” he said. “I told him where I was from and he told me they were working on a project in Iola and Amherst.”

Hoyord said he never expected to get an internship as a freshman.

“It was an opportunity that I could not pass up,” he said. “It gave me a chance to work in the school district where I went to school.”

Hoyord is working on the STEAM construction project at the Tomorrow River School District and on creating administrative spaces and renovating the inside for science, math, family and consumer science as well as classroom spaces.

In addition, he will take part in renovating the existing technology education department at Iola-Scandinavia High School, which includes updating the welding/woodshop area; creating updated heating, ventilation and air conditioning; and creating an updated layout for metals, welding and woods.

McGregor, a senior proj-

Iola-Scandinavia High School graduate Isaiah Hoyord, now a student at the University of Wisconsin-Stout in Menomonie, is spending the summer as an intern for Appleton-based Hoffman Planning, Design & Construction Inc.

ect manager for Hoffman, said the Appleton-based company has offered college students the opportunity to be a part of their intern program for many years, a program that McGregor himself went through.

“Each year, we hire one to two students that are self-motivated, problem-solving and have the ability to communicate well,” he said. “Isaiah checked all those boxes for us this summer.”

The hope is to get students involved early in their education to make them aware of what is available in the industry, according to McGregor.

“UW-Stout and UW-Platteville both have an internship program that is required for credits as part of their degree,” he said. “Not only are we pushing it to get involvement in the industry, they are also promoting it, saying you are going to get some real world experience.”

Hoffman’s ultimate goal is to have recurring interns for multiple summers.

“We hope Isaiah will continue this internship throughout this college career,” McGregor said. “We are little over a month in and he has done a phenomenal job working with our staff, consultants, contractors and designers. He has been doing a great job this summer. Amherst is going to be going on over the course of two summers, so Isaiah could be right back on site in the mix of it next year. The same holds true for Thanksgiving, Christmas and spring break.”

McGregor said the internship program helps students get involved in the construction industry.

“We want to find these kids early on and try to hold them,” he said. “We are pretty much locking them right out of college. A lot of students at UW-Stout and Fox Valley Tech have their career locked in pretty much the senior year of their college courses.”

Hoyord wants to gain as much knowledge as he possibly can.

“So far, I have found all of it very interesting,” he said. “Throughout high school, I had done a lot of carpentry work, which was residential, and a little different from the commercial work. There is a lot more steel than wood, which is used in a house.”

Hoyord is also excited to watch the Tomorrow River

School District project from groundbreaking to the finished project.

“It is a big, phased project,” he said. “Knowing how to coordinate those phases so that kids can get back in school in a month is critical.”

Hoffman partners with clients to create innovative designs and build high-quality, functional, attractive, energy-efficient facilities at costs at or below projects delivered using traditional design and construction methods. It is one of the largest and most diverse architectural firms in northeastern Wisconsin, with construction capabilities that span the smallest, local renovations to major construction projects across the country. Projects range in size from under $100,000 up to more than $100 million.

“We have internships on both the design side and the construction side,” McGregor said. “It offers Hoffman the ability to bring in individuals and helps them get experience in the industry and mold them into young professionals.”

Hoyord, the son of Jay and Kristen Hoyord or Iola, would like to be a project manager with a company, whether that is with Hoffman or someone else.

“I would like to start as a field manager and get a little more experience in the field, then move into the office as a project manager,” he said. “Kids need to know we need them in the trades and that there is a lot of room for growth if they are willing to work hard.”

Iola Dog Park nears completion

BY HOLLY NEUMANN
STAFF REPORTER

IOLA – The first part of the fencing is in place, with the remainder to go up shortly as the Iola Dog Park nears completion.

Rick Meyers, who has spearheaded the project, said the park is a good addition to the community.

“A lot of people with dogs don’t have the room for their dogs to run,” he said. “We are currently ordering obstacles for both sides of the park and it may also need to be reseeded due to lack of rain.”

A calendar raffle is currently taking place to help raise additional funds for the park. Tickets can be purchased at the Iola Village Library, area businesses or by emailing Meyers at carspec2001@yahoo.com.

Monetary donations are also still being accepted. Sponsorship levels include Big Bone ($500 and up); Medium Bone ($100 to $499); and Small Bone ($25 to $99).

Checks should be made out to Village of Iola Dog Park and donations can be mailed to Village of Iola, P.O. Box 336, Iola, WI 54945 or dropped off at the village clerk’s Office or the library at 180 S. Main St.

Names of donors will be placed on a sign at the park.

No opening date for the dog park has been announced, which is located at the corner of West Iola Street and South Townline Road.

Communities welcome new reverend

BY HOLLY NEUMANN
STAFF REPORTER

MANAWA – Leo Cadavos Jr., along with his wife Dina and children Lianah, 10, and Leandro, 6, have moved from Malabon, Philippines, to Manawa, where he will take the pulpit as the reverend of United Methodist Church in Manawa and Iola Methodist Church.

“I was at a conference for the United Methodist Church and was called to come here,” Cadavos said. “If God calls you to a particular place, you go. I am blessed to be one of the ones chosen to come here.”

Cadavos has a bachelor’s degree of art in religious education and a master’s degree of divinity.

“I spent eight to nine years getting an education before becoming an ordained minister,” he said.

Even though they left behind family, friends and only brought their personal belongings with them to the United States, the family agreed the journey was the hardest part.

“The trip took over 21 hours,” Cadavos said. “Seeing your children uncomfortable and tired for that long is really hard.”

Their flight landed at O’Hare International in Chicago on June 19 and they arrived in Manawa on June 30.

Knowing very little about the United States or Wisconsin, the family is excited to see snow for the first time.

“Leandro wore his winter coat here,” Cadavos said. “He thought there was already snow here in Wisconsin.”

Some of the differences they have noticed right away are the climate, housing, food and population.

“It is much cooler here and not as populated at Malabon,” Cadavos said. “The houses are much bigger here, too. This is the first time that the children have had their own bedrooms.”

They are enjoying American food like noodles, salads, chicken and turkey.

“We don’t have turkey in the Philippines,” Cadavos said. “It is much too expensive there.”

He is looking forward to meeting the people, working together with his congregations and doing the work of the Lord.

“Back home, there are much more youth involved in the church,” Cadavos said. “Here, there are a lot of people of retirement age. I hope to get the children more engaged and excited about church and I would like to see the children’s program grow.”

Like her son, Dina is looking forward to seeing snow for the first time and meeting new people.

“The people here have been so nice and hospitable,” she said. “We are looking forward to attending events like the rodeo, car show and Fourth of July.”

Lianah, though a bit nervous, is looking forward to meeting her classmates.

“I like singing and playing badminton,” she said. “I am surprised how quiet it is here.”

Leandro, a bashful 6-year-old who likes playing video games, is also looking forward to making new friends.

For now, the family is busy settling into new surroundings and getting to know the communities. They hope and pray to stay in the area.

“As long as our bishops want us here, we will stay,” Cadavos said. “We like it here.”

Chamber welcome

The Waupaca Area Chamber of Commerce recently welcomed new member TreeHouse Foods in Manawa, which was named the TreeHouse Foods Plant of the Year for 2022. “TreeHouse has 26 facilities across North America and for us to win speaks volumes of the dedicated workforce at our facility,” Plant Manager Dan Schuelke said. “This recognition is a result the work we do daily to be successful and should be celebrated by everyone.”

Helbach, David

A family man, a handyman, a caring man, David Joseph Helbach unexpectedly passed away on July 30, 2023, at the age of 87. Dave was born November 18, 1935, in the bedroom of the Helbach family farm in Lanark, WI to George and Neva "Merle" Helbach. One of ten children, Dave could sometimes be found sleeping in school after morning family chores. Though Dave was not overly excited about classes and school work, his inquisitive mind for innovation was vast and bright. Dave graduated from Amherst High School in 1953 and shortly after headed to the "paper valley" to begin his career in the printing and corrugated industries. Dave married Elizabeth "Betty" Sopa on September 20, 1958, at St. James Catholic Church. He then served in the U.S. Army in Würzburg, Germany, from 1959-1960. Between having five children with his supporting wife, Dave began, successfully managed, and eventually sold several businesses over an extensive 65 years in the corrugated converting industry. Dave's true passion was serving others; his faith, personal life, and career allowed him to follow that passion. Work, and sometimes pleasure, took Dave on adventures around the world. Thus, Dave had a great sense of adventure and direction. Often, he found a shortcut on family trips, even if there was not enough time to take the shortcut. But nobody could pack the trunk of a car or a carry-on suitcase more efficiently than Dave. Some of his fondest trips were taking all of his grandkids to Europe. But he always came home to Amherst. Dave is survived by his wife, Betty; his sister Hazel (Donald) Shulfer; his brother Robert "Bob" (Helen) Helbach; his children Mark (Morna) Helbach, Lisa (David) Waldoch, and Heidi Pronschinske; his son-in-law, Gregg Jensen; his grandchildren Lyn (Pat) Polster, Molly, Marcus, and Geena Jensen, Kelly (Justin) Chang, Frankie, and Connor Helbach, Hans (Chyaine) and Ian Waldoch, Nathan, Adam, and Chance Pronschinske; his great-grandchildren Elia Helbach-Chang and Rhet Polster; and his bonus grand and great-grandkids, Sam Bucholtz, Tyler Polster, and Archer Bucholtz. One of these relatives is going to have big shoes to fill making the Thanksgiving turkey. Dave has been reunited with his parents, George and Merle; his siblings Harold, Neva, Frederick, Joseph "Charles", James, Mary Ellen, and Marcia; his son David; and his daughter Mary. A Mass of Christian Burial will be held on Saturday, August 5, 2023 at 11 A.M. at St. James Catholic Church in Amherst, WI. Father Jerzy Rebacz will officiate with burial to follow at the St. James Catholic Cemetery. A visitation will be held on Friday, August 4, 2023 from 4 P.M. until 8 P.M. at the Jungers-Holly Funeral Home in Amherst, WI with a Rosary service to be held at 8 P.M. Visitation will also be held on Saturday morning from 10 A.M. until time of the mass at 11 A.M. at St. James Catholic Church.

CITY OF MANAWA

COMMON COUNCIL MEETING

Proceedings of the Manawa Common Council meeting held Monday, June 19, 2023. Called to order at 6:00 PM by Mayor Frazier pursuant to open meeting regulations, Pledge of Allegiance and roll call. Alderpersons present on roll call: Ann Bonikowske, Mary Eck, Alice
Brown, Aaron Timm, Jim Roenz, Mark
Lehrer, Mayor Mike Frazier. City
Employees: Josh Smith, Jason
Severson, Logan Hass, Audley
Lance Litchfield, Kara Tohm, Holly
Neumann.
Moved Bonikowske/Timm to approve the agenda of June 19, 2023. Carried.
Moved Eck/Timm to approve the council meeting minutes of May 15, 2023.
Carried.
Moved Bonikowske/Eck to approve of the Bills of Allowance $205,802.76.
Carried.
Audience: Lance Litchfield – School
District of Manawa Athletic Director:
Lance said he would like the city crew to line and drag the baseball and softball field for high school games. In Tigerton the village and school district have an agreement where the city maintains the fields for high school games. The school would pay for lime and supplies. The contract is old and outdated from 2018.
It needs to be updated and looked at every single year. I am new and came in January. Currently the coaches are the ones that prep and setup field before games. I can't because I am always subbing because there is a sub shortage. Kara said MYSA has issues in getting field ready before games.
Currently we pay $25 a game to have
Dave Augustine to get the fields ready.
We have 24 home games this year for baseball and softball.
Improvements: Streets: Moved Bonikowske/Brown to approve agreement with Cedar Corp for professional services for Factory, Walnut and Grove Streets reconstruction and roadway improvements. Carried.
Protection: 4 dogs: Moved Roenz/Brown to allow June Schulz and John Thompson to have 4 dogs at present time. They can't add anymore and has to go down to 2 dogs. Carried.
Mayor: City logs: Mayor Frazier said that we need to table the city logo because we can do better. We should not rush with the logo. I received complaints from residents about the logo when it was posted on Facebook.
We need to get rid of the water tower and put the year the city was established. We need it to be short and sweet. Mayor Frazier recognized Dominic Krueger for 1 year of service for the city. Mayor Frazier said that Mary Craig and Ronda Mollica are working on a digital and paper book for Manawa for the 150-year celebration. Sandy Wilz is working on the clothing for the celebration.
DPW: Josh went over his report. Asphalt patches have been filled in from previous water main breaks. Getting ready for the Rodero. Painting the crosswalks, parking stalls, curbs this week. Made a repair to sewer main.
Final step in the alarm system upgrade is complete. Replaced effluent meter at sewer plant. Would like to meet with a committee to discuss steps at clinic and have Safeway come in and inspect our sidewalks.
Police: Chief Severson went over his report. Rodero parade prep is going well.
Started hiding painted rocks and police have had good interaction with the kids.
Police Department sponsored parent pitch MYSA team. SRO topic is on school committee meeting June 21 and hopefully school board will vote on it June 26. September 11 is the go live date for new cameras.
Fire: Chief Josh Smith went over his report. Will be receiving the remaining sets of wildland gear. Prepping for Rodero weekend. 25 total members added 1 new member. Assisted with Memorial Day events. 11 calls in the last month. 67 total calls. Mark asked do I need a burning permit for campfire. Josh said no you don't. Mark asked for clarification on the fire last week. Josh said it was a little confusing at first where the fire was it was located in the woods area.

Library: Board rep Alice said in July Memorial Garden at the library will be recognized. Ellen will be retiring in December. She worked 34 years in position.

“People are hurting and lost and without God they don’t know which way to go,” said Lees. “There are so many different religious systems. Many people are sincere and they mean well but the systems have taken the place with their relationship with God.”

Last fall he was standing near the post office, a woman asked him what he was doing. He told her and she said she never thought she would see somebody in Waupaca with a cross. She left and 20 minutes later she returned.

“She was bawling. She falls down to her knees. She starts crying out to God, repenting. She said, ‘Lord, I made such a mess of my life. I’ve been driving around for 20 minutes to try to keep from coming back here. Lord, you know I’m doing better. My kids are messed up and I’ve been married three times and you know I’m doing better with those scratch-off lottery tickets,’” recalled Lees who went over and prayed with her.

Some people give him the finger and a few stop to argue with him.

“There is a spiritual battle and it’s raging right now,” said Lees.

Other people have brought him water, coffee, hot chocolate, pizzas, chicken, venison jerky and Chex mix. Many people wave, give a thumbs up and honk when they see him.

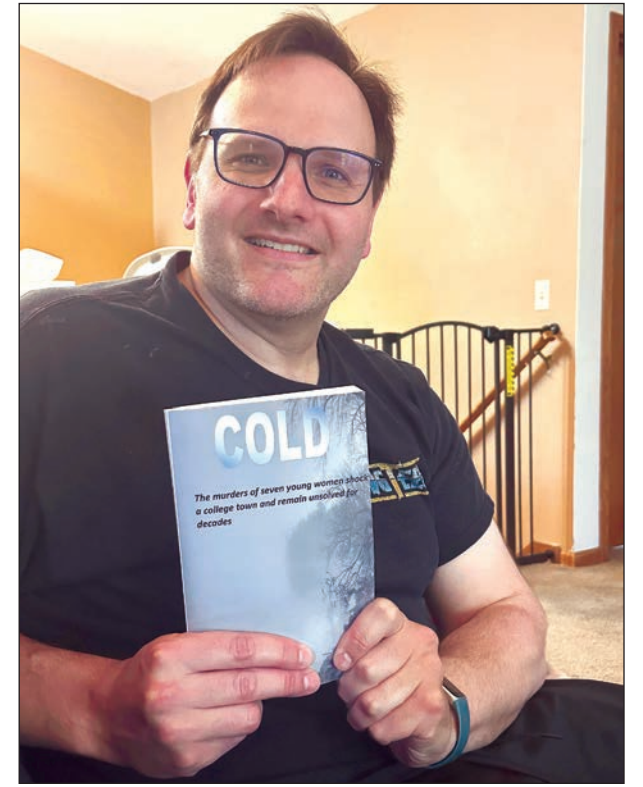

Lees is a minister for the New Wine Fellowship and they meet at the Little Wolf Town Hall every Sunday morning at 9 a.m. The name of their fellowship was derived from the Winemaker’s Daughter shop in Manawa where they held their first meeting.

graduated from Iola-Scandinavia High School in 1999 and studied journalism at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh. He has held multiple positions as a reporter and editor at newspapers and he currently is a writer for the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, where he writes stories of veterans in the My Story, My Life program.

“Back in 2017, I was with Capital Newspapers and I’ve always been interested in cold cases and missing persons,” Damask said. “It fascinated me going back to when I was a kid watching ‘Unsolved Mysteries’ and ‘America’s Most Wanted.’ I ended doing some cover stories on local cold cases in the Columbia County area. I’ve wanted to write a book for years and I thought that might be something to tap into.”

Damask lives in Sun Prairie with his wife and son and he dug into cold-case murders in that area. He discovered the last homicide that occurred at UW-Madison in 1982 and another that happened at Camp Randall Stadium in 1968. He found more unsolved murders of other women that were not UW students.

“All those murders happened between 1976 and 1981,” he said. “That interested me, too. Was there a serial killer on the loose around Madison or the southern Wisconsin area? That was the catalyst of the book.”

The youngest victim was 17 who left for work one night and vanished. A year and a half later, her body was found near Lake Mendota.

Other victims were in their late teens and early 20s. Since many of the bodies were left in wooded rural areas to decompose, there wasn’t much evidence left for investigators to gather. Evidence was also lost or thrown out. Some of the victims were stabbed, others strangled.

Damask worked on the book – his first – for three years. It can be ordered at www.barnesandnoble.com.

Clippers stay alive at state

BY GREG SEUBERT
 SPORTS EDITOR

ASHWAUBENON – Play hard and have fun. It's a recipe for success that has worked this summer for the New London Clippers.

The team is still alive in the American Legion Class AA State Baseball Tournament, which began July 28 at Ashwaubomay Park in Ashwaubenon.

New London faced Ashwaubenon Aug. 1 in the final day of the double-elimination tournament and needed to beat them twice to win the state championship. The state tournament is nothing new for the Clippers, as the team won the Class AA state championship in 2019 and also made it to state in 2012 and 2018.

"My style is to just have fun," said Jim Thorpe, who has coached the team for 13 years and recently wrapped up his first season as coach of New London High School's varsity baseball team. "We can't do baseball without having fun. Even in the spring, all they talk about is Clippers ball."

Warrant issued in county deer poaching case

BY GREG SEUBERT
 SPORTS EDITOR

WAUPACA – A bench warrant has been issued for one of two suspects charged in a Waupaca County deer poaching case.

Travis J. Vander Heiden, 37, of Pampa, Texas, had an adjourned initial appearance scheduled for July 25 in front of Waupaca County Circuit Court Judge Raymond Huber, but failed to show up in person or by telephone.

Vander Heiden faces 51 misdemeanor counts, including 25 counts of party to a crime of hunting/fishing/trapping after revocation (second offense within five years); 25 counts of party to a crime of illegal shining of deer, elk or bear; and one count of failure to obtain a deer hunting license.

He moved from Appleton to Texas after the charges were filed and has not appeared in court in person. All of his previous court appearances were by telephone.

"He was supposedly going to try to get a lawyer over time," Huber said July 25 after realizing that Vander Heiden was not going to appear. "I finally said we would send him a Dean application (for a court-appointed attorney) and he would need to file it. Well, he has not filed it. He does not appear today. I will authorize a warrant for his arrest."

Meanwhile, a sentencing hearing for the other suspect in the case, Eric A. Feavel, 41, is scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 10, in Waupaca County Circuit Court. He faces 25 felony counts of bail jumping; 25 misdemeanor counts of party to a crime of illegal shining of deer, elk or bear; and one misdemeanor count of failure to obtain a deer hunting license.

Feavel, formerly of Menasha, recently began serving a one-year sentence at Dodge Correctional Institution in Waupun on an unrelated charge and originally had a jury trial on the Waupaca County charges scheduled for Aug. 10-11.

An investigation that led to the 102 charges against Vander Heiden and Feavel included six state Department of Natural Resources conservation wardens: Jeff Nieling, Zachary Seitz, Kaitlin Kernosky, Jonathan Kaiser, Jason Higgins and Mark Schraufnagel.

According to a criminal complaint filed Feb. 20,

CLIPPERS

Ayden Kanaman and Easton Sievert had run-scoring hits for the Clippers in the first inning to give New London a 2-1 lead.

Medford regained the lead with three runs in the top of the third inning, but the Clippers took the lead for good with three runs in the fourth. New London loaded the bases with nobody out before Austin Schwallenberg's RBI single gave the Clippers a 9-4 lead. The final runs of the game came in the sixth on Kanaman's three-run double.

New London 13, Waupun 3 (5 inn.)

The Clippers scored eight runs in the first inning July 30 and went on to eliminate Waupun from the tournament.

New London 9, Pulaski 6

Sievert, Tommy Fields and Spencer Handschke each had two hits for New London July 29, while Degan Nelson pitched 4 2/3 innings to get the win on the mound.

Medford 4, New London 2 (8 inn.)

Medford scored twice in the top of the eighth inning to break a 2-2 tie.

New London had a 2-0 lead on the tournament's first day before the game was stopped due to rain.

The game resumed the next day.

Most of the Clippers' 2023 roster is made up of players from New London's spring team.

"We're down four or five (players) from that team and we picked up a couple of freshmen and three JV players," Thorpe said.

The roster also includes Dakota Stroud, a three-sport athlete at Little Wolf High School in Manawa, and Jonah Schlueter, who competed on New London's boys' golf team this spring.

"Dakota played with these kids since they were kids and he started in New London and Jonah's played with these kids all the way through," Thorpe said. "They all know each other."

The Clippers qualified for state after winning a four-team regional tournament at Hatten Stadium in July.

"Those three teams were really good," Thorpe said. "We split with Seymour during the year, had no clue what Antigo was going to bring and Waupaca's always a good ball club, no matter what level. Whoever comes out of it has to be playing good ball."

Thorpe said the Clippers can always count on fans showing up at games.

"Our fans are always there, our Legionnaires are always there," he said. "I've had parents from when I started 13 years ago come to games just to watch good baseball. They know that when it's Clippers season, it's usually pretty good ball."

senger.

According to the criminal complaint, background checks indicated that Vander Heiden's hunting privileges had been revoked and Feavel was out on bond with an ankle bracelet, which is why he is facing the felony bail jumping counts.

Nieling and Kaiser drafted a search warrant Nov. 23 for Vander Heiden and Feavel's cell phones and investigators found 37 photos on Feavel's phone, including photos of a buck in the back of a truck, a dead buck in a field, Feavel posing for a picture while holding a buck's head, carcasses hanging in a garage, buck heads on a tarp and a buck's head in a trash can.

Vander Heiden admitted to shooting at eight to 10 deer during the fall of 2022 using Feavel's crossbow with the aid of a light and told wardens he had recovered two of the deer.

He also told wardens that Feavel had shot at about 20 deer last fall while Vander Heiden aided him with a light. He said Feavel had hit about eight deer, but recovered only three.

Mondello coaches in all-star games

BY GREG SEUBERT
SPORTS EDITOR

WAUPACA – Waupaca High School baseball coach Rocky Mondello wrapped up his 2003 season at the Wisconsin Baseball Coaches Association's All-Star Classic, held June 30 and July 1 in Oshkosh.

Mondello, Hortonville's Greg Yeager and Fox Valley Lutheran's Joel Kramer coached the North team, which included 18 of the top recently graduated players from northeastern Wisconsin.

"This weekend was one of my favorite sports times ever, from the coaches' golf outing to the last out of our last game," Mondello said. "The WBCA has made this a memorable and meaningful event not only for the players and their parents, but the coaches of each team as well. I was able to coach the North team with two great friends and take the best 18 players in our area and compete against 54 of the best players from around the state."

The North roster included Camden Kuhnke and Nate Vela (Hortonville); Jaden Stuhr (Marion); Deuce Musial II and Landon Lozier (Notre Dame); Max Mueller (Chilton); Lucas Miller (Denmark); Brayden Deering and Evan Olson (Kimberly); Boone Kirst (Ashwaubenon); Hunter Loser (Kewaskum); Garrett Hietpas (Appleton North); Ashton Henning (Shawano); Payton Kohnle (Kewaunee); Bryce Erdmann (Manitowoc); Jake Lucas (Kaukauna); Erik Grey (Oshkosh West); and Will Bieber (Coleman).

"The amount of talent in just this sample size was amazing," Mondello said. "As we had our team meetings on Friday morning, the boys were quiet and maybe sizing up the competition. By the end of it, they were hugging and exchanging numbers. It was truly an awesome experience to witness."

The North team had a 1-2 record after playing three games.

"The wins and losses are more for bragging rights, but it was an incredible time nonetheless," Mondello said. "I now have a lot of faces to put the names to and I can track their careers from here on out. Wisconsin has some unbelievable baseball talent and it is easy to see that we're no longer being ignored."
