COUNTY – All the concerts and all the grandstand shows at the Waupaca County Fair are free this year.

Fair manager Richard Luedtke said that's how the county fair, and fairgoers, will celebrate the event's 150th anniversary.

The Waupaca County Fair will be held from Wednesday through Sunday, Aug. 23-27, at the fairgrounds in Weyauwega.

Admission is $10 for day for attendees age 12 and older. Children under 12 are free. A season pass is $35.

Child's death leads to felony charges

BY ROBERT CLOUD
SENIOR EDITOR

COUNTY – An Iola couple face felony charges for the death of their 2-year-old child.

Cody L. Deschler, 30, and Emily M. Ferg, 27, are charged with child neglect resulting in death.

Their daughter became trapped between the slats in her bed and asphyxiated on June 12.

According to the criminal complaint, the girl was sleeping in a homemade, lofted bed about 3 feet above the floor.

When the child apparently tried to climb out of the bed feet first, her legs and torso slipped between the slats, but her shoulders became wedged.

Due to the height of the bed the girl's feet could not reach the floor.

Ferg and Deschler were sleeping in another room at the time of the incident.

They did not hear anything because a TV in the child's room was playing loud enough that the parents could hear it over the TV in their room.

Deschler told investigators the child had figured out how to climb over the railing and use items surrounding her bed to make her way down to the floor level, the complaint says.

Ferg told investigators she knew that the bed as it was built was hazardous and noted she intended lowering the bed to floor level to make it safe, but that had not been done.

She reportedly designed and built the bed with Deschler's assistance.

The complaint was filed Monday and an initial court appearance is scheduled for Aug. 29.

If convicted, they could each serve up to 25 years in prison.

Weller Store reopens

Iconic landmark revived

BY JAMES CARD
STAFF REPORTER

RURAL – Husband and wife duo Chris Johnson and Stacia Fields have reopened the Weller Store in Rural.

They live on the same street as the store and their children and nieces and nephews (now adults) have memories of a cup in their home loaded with quarters. The children would grab the loose change and head to the Weller Store for 25-cent ice cream cones.

Those cheap ice cream cones were also memory makers for tubers scampering barefoot and dripping wet out of the Crystal River and also for weekenders browsing Mr. Weller's vast collection of antiques.

"Over 56 billion served" read a sign in reference to the ice cream cones when Weller ran the store.

"Our main mission is to restore the buildings and to continue the tradition of retail here. And to continue creating new memories for people," said Johnson.

Bob "Boob" Weller passed away in June 2020. His grandson kept it open for that summer and then is closed down. Johnson and Fields purchased it in early March 2022.

"We purchased it lock, stock and barrel," said Johnson, meaning the buildings and their repair problems, as well everything inside. Weller had the place crammed with thousands of antique oddities in a semi-organized but musty inventory.

"We curate things and bring them out and have people come in and look at things that are old and jog nostalgia in their memories," said Johnson.

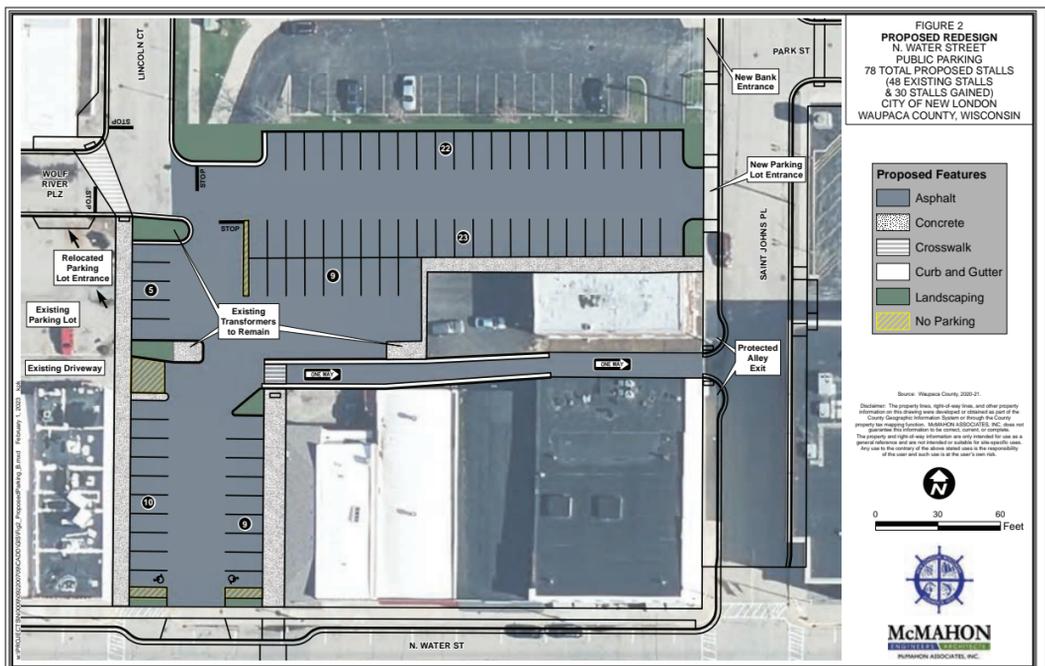

In the retail area they have vintage lunchboxes for sale, along with old comic books, pocket knives, dishware, toy cars, tube radios, sporting equipment and other antiques. It is 2023 and the days of 25-cent ice cream cones are extinct from inflation. They do sell ice cream sandwiches and other frozen treats, and also chips, candy and cold drinks.

The Weller Store was once a Phillips 66 gas station and a grocery store. When State Highway 22 was rerouted, the gas station closed in the late 1980s. The 66 sign remains and it is the symbol of the store. Fields had stickers of the image printed. The building next door was once an art gallery and later an antique shop.

The market animal sales is scheduled for 5:30 p.m. Friday in the show ring.

iconic property," said Fields.

The last year and a half was one of enormous work. They sealed concrete, painted, put up insulation, built a ceiling, built walls, had a new roof installed and repaired the foundation. Family and friends helped but there is more work to be done. Their neighbors have been supportive of their work at keeping the store alive.

The Central Wisconsin Tractor Club and the Old Time Auto Club of Waupaca have swung by for pit stops during their club rides.

They plan to participate in the Vintage Shop Hop, a road trip treasure hunt involving more than 400 antique shops, barn sales and consignment shops in Wisconsin and Illinois scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 6-7.

The Weller Store will be open seasonally through early fall. Their hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The store is located on the corner of E1380 Main Street across from the Crystal River.

as Pearl Street, from North Water to Waupaca streets.

The city is replacing water mains, sanitary sewers and old laterals to the buildings on North Water Street from Shawano to Pearl streets.

"At the end of this year's construction season, we will be placing a thin patch of asphalt over the utility trenches on North Water Street and Pearl Street to get us through the winter," Hoerth said.

In 2024, the city will replace storm sewer, curb and gutter, sidewalks, street lighting and the roadway on North Water and Pearl streets.

"The 2024 construction project is tied into a $2.9 million STP-Urban grant the city received to assist with the reconstruction of North Water Street," Hoerth said.

The design for North Water Street includes slightly narrowing the road and parking lane area to provide about 1 1/2 feet more sidewalk on each side of the street.

"This is to give the city and businesses additional options and promote more downtown pedestrian amenities like planters and sidewalk dining," Hoerth said.

In response to input from the public and businesses owners, the city is providing more downtown parking.

"The city purchased a vacant lot on North Water Street and a section of parking lot from First State Bank and will incorporate that into a design for a new centralized parking lot in the downtown," Hoerth said. "This parking lot will be developed in the fall of 2023 so that it is available for nearby parking when North Water Street is closed for the 2024 downtown revitalization construction."

Hoerth noted that because construction progress is fluid on a daily basis, regular updates will be posted on the city's Facebook page at www.facebook.com/cityofnfl.

He said Living Waters Assembly of God at 401 W. North Water St., and Grand Cinema Theater at 319 W. North Water St. have opened their private parking lots for public parking during the construction. Signs at the driveway entrances indicate limitations.

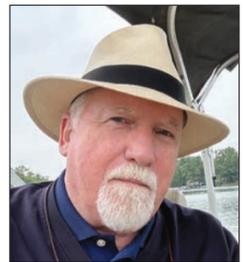

PUBLISHER'S LETTER

A Journey To Peru

Dear Reader,

This is a story of a missionary, a mission, a family, and a community of learners.

Sister Marie Esterre was a devoted nun of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet in St Paul, Minnesota. In the late 1960s, she became the Mother Superior of the order's congregation in Arequipa, Peru. Sr. Marie also was my aunt. During a Christmas visit to our family in the States, she and Frank Wood, my father, collaborated with St. Norbert College to create a program for St. Norbert students to teach and study at La Universidad de Santa Maria in Arequipa while living with Peruvian families. Dad led seven students to Arequipa in the program's first year in 1970, accompanied by our entire family of eight children. Tom and Luci Phelan guided the students in 1971, and Richard and Mechtild Calnin helmed the program in 1972.

Nowadays "study abroad" programs are an established feature in higher education; back then, they were a rarity, and St. Norbert was charting a course through a seldom-traveled wilderness. For many of the students, the journey to Peru marked their first exposure to a different culture, leaving them forever changed and connected to people, places, and history.

The instability of the Peruvian economy under the dictatorship of Juan Velasco Alvarado posed difficulties that ultimately became insurmountable. At one point in 1971, the program participants were trapped in Peru after Aerolíneas Peruanas, the airline they were counting on to bring them home, went bankrupt. Ultimately the third year was also the last year because of the increasingly volatile political climate. Nevertheless, it was a remarkable experiment that paved the way for St. Norbert College's international study programs today.

Visiting a foreign culture with both differences and shared virtues can profoundly impact individuals. This weekend, a Peruvian Reunion at St. Norbert College honors Professors Wood, Phelan, and Calnin and their spouses for blazing the trail for future learners with the installation of ceremonial benches in a prominent location on campus. This fitting memorial will remind all who participated to cherish those special moments from long ago.

Waupaca brewers make mead

Local honey key ingredient

BY JAMES CARD
STAFF REPORTER

WAUPACA – The Badger's Den Brewing Club celebrated National Mead Day at the Waupaca Railroad Depot.

Declared by the American Homebrew Association in 2002 as a special day, the first Saturday in August is Mead Day to celebrate and recognize one of the world's oldest fermented beverages.

The event was open to the public and the goal was to spend the afternoon making 30 gallons of mead. Mead is sometimes called honey wine and it is made by mixing water, honey and yeast.

The alcohol content ranges from about 3.5% alcohol by volume to 20%. This Waupaca brew was expected to be a little on the strong side.

"Mead making is something that people did back in the old days but it's something that's alive and well now days. So we're doing this with the nationally orchestrated Mead Day," said club president Cody Bank.

He said mead making as a hobby is easy to get into. Unlike beer brewing where grains are steeped in large stainless steel kettle atop a propane burner, mead requires no heat and little equipment, just time and patience.

The Badger's Den brewers were working with the area's finest ingredients: artisan water from the old Lind Center Town Hall spring and Wisconsin wildflower honey produced by Kent Pegorsch of Dancing Bear Apiary. His wildflower honey recently won the Black Jar Honey Tasting Contest organized by the Center for Honeybee Research. It is a competition to determine the best tasting honey in the world.

One member said there was no excuse for screwing up this recipe.

The only other ingredients were yeast and a nutrient that helps activate the yeast. The mead was hand mixed until the honey was dissolved and poured into a holding container and bubbles formed near the top.

Mead can be carbonated or naturally sparkling.

The plan was to later transfer it to an oak bourbon barrel where tannins would imbue a piquant wine-like taste. The mead would be aged six months to a year.

Many samples of previously brewed mead were passed around. They tried Viking Blood, a mead made with hibiscus hops and a cyser, a mead made with honey and apples.

Member Robert Forseth cracked open a cinnamon cyser to share that he made in 2013. A guest brewer from the [Wisconsin] Rapids River Mash Masters shared an orange mead that was a popular flavor.

Mobile fly shop in King

First cast in Waupaca market

BY JAMES CARD
STAFF REPORTER

KING – Craig Cook, owner of Fall Line Outfitters, has brought his fly fishing shop to King in the form of a mobile base camp retail store.

He refurbished a camping trailer, buffed the aluminum shell until it gleamed and refitted the interior into a mini outdoor store.

He sets up in front of Bille's Heating and Air Conditioning on County Trunk QQ from 2 to 6 p.m. Fridays and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturdays.

He opened the fly shop in 2018 and moved into their downtown Stevens Point brick-and-mortar location in 2019 as he was transitioning from active duty with the U.S. Army.

"I did a bunch of research back in 2018 as far as the different fly fishing shops in the state of Wisconsin and where they were positioned throughout the state based off of their fisheries. Central Wisconsin didn't really have any. People started coming out of the woodwork," said Cook.

"There are such great fisheries in this area. I think a lot of the people come here and have all these great recreation opportunities but they may not realize we have a place where they can get all the goods from. From that perspective, let's create something mobile and bring it to the people," said Cook.

He started coming to Waupaca in July and will set up shop until the end of September.

"This is kind of a test run. I feel like there is a market down here. We got to test the waters a little bit. It's going to take time for people to realize we're down here. We have a decent following on social media and we've gotten sales from people that live down here. I think there's tons of potential," said Cook.

Cook joined the Waupaca Chamber of Commerce and he read a book about Waupaca history and learned that his current location is a historical thoroughfare because a trolley used to run from downtown to the Chain O' Lakes.

At his fly shop in Stevens Point they get inquiries all the time about kayaking. They don't do kayaks so they send everyone to Adventure Outfitters in Waupaca.

Fly-tying heritage

Fall Line has local fly tiers make specialty flies for pike and musky fishing and by doing so, Cook is keeping an angling tradition alive in central Wisconsin.

In 2021, PBS did a town history series of Stevens Point and one of the segments was about the fly-fishing history of the town. At one time, Stevens Point was the "Fly-Tying Capital of the World."

Carrie Frost was the first female entrepreneur in Portage County and started Frost Flies in the late 1800s. She was a fly-fishing school-teacher who was dissatisfied with synthetic material on her flies so she experimented with using natural fur and feathers. Her flies worked and she caught more fish.

At the peak of the fly-tying industry in Stevens Point in the 1940s, multiple companies where shipping flies all over the world. Mothers often carried the workload. After the children went to school, mothers would tie flies during the day until school let out. Bob Worth of the Worth Company grew up during the heyday of the Stevens Point fly tying scene and spent an afternoon telling Cook about the industry.

"It's a really cool lineage and history," said Cook.

He said after the PBS show aired, more people stopped by with an interest in fly fishing so they started fly fishing classes. At Iverson Park, they practice fly casting on the grass and then suit up the anglers in waders, get into the water and learn the way of catching fish in moving water.

They also run a full-service guide department with contracted fly-fishing guides and they target trout, smallmouth bass and musky. These are wading trips in small streams and this year they added a raft for drift boat-type fishing on bigger waters.

They added more to their inventory beside fly rods, reels and tackle. He added fly tying material and added more high-end brands of general outdoor gear from Filson, Orvis, Simms, Pendleton, Stormy Kromer, Marmot and Outdoor Research.

On Aug. 15 they will start a recycle-reuse gear trade-in program. Bring in unused outdoor gear and they will estimate it and give in-store credit.

Plow truck purchase delayed

City to buy smaller equipment

BY BERT LEHMAN
STAFF REPORTER

CLINTONVILLE – The city of Clintonville is delaying the purchase of a new plow truck until its next borrowing cycle.

The city will use the funds designated for the plow truck to purchase smaller equipment scheduled for purchase in future years.

The Clintonville City Council approved the above changes to the city's Capital Improvement Plan (CIP) when it met July 11. All items in the CIP had previously been approved by the council to be purchased.

"It wouldn't be any net change with the CIP, it would just be adjusting that," said Ald. Brandon Braden, who is also the Finance Committee chair.

Justin Mc Auly, director of Public Works, said the plow truck was originally budgeted for 2021, but was moved to 2022, and then to 2023.

"One thing that we've learned, with large equipment it takes two to three years to order and receive," Mc Auly said. "We usually don't pay for it until we receive it, unless there's some sort of down payment."

He added that the city is currently in the third year of its borrowing cycle, and there is no chance the city would receive the truck by the end of the year.

"I feel its wise for us, this money is already borrowed in this borrowing cycle, to push this expense into the first year of the next borrowing cycle, and move projects and equipment that we have in our seven-year plan for the next borrowing cycle forward to 2023 to offset that money that we have," Mc Auly said.

By doing this, Mc Auly said the city may realize a positive in being able to purchase some items at a cheaper price now compared to buying them in the future.

In a memo the council, Mc Auly requested the purchase of the plow truck be moved to 2024, and then take the 2024-26 items and move them to 2023.

"This will help free up borrowing in the next cycle and help spend the surplus that will be created with the shift," Mc Auly said in the memo. "As we get a better vision of our current CIP, we can continue to see where we are at and if additional projects/equipment can be shifted."

In the memo, Mc Auly listed the projects and equipment that could be moved from the next borrowing cycle to the current borrowing cycle to replace the plow truck, which was budgeted at $267,100. The items included:

- Two Street Division mowers budgeted at $80,000
- Plumbing fix at the Clintonville Police Department – $12,000
- Camera update in the Clintonville Police Department interview rooms and other areas – $30,000
- Mower replacement for Parks and Rec – $30,000
- Tennis court resurfacing for Parks and Rec – $15,000
- One-ton pick-up truck for Parks and Rec – $80,000
- Trailer for Parks and Rec – $10,000

Total cost for the items replacing the plow truck would be $257,000.

Clintonville schools ready for fall

CLINTONVILLE – As the summer break draws to a close, the faculty, staff and administrators eagerly anticipate welcoming students back to school.

"We can't wait to welcome our students back and embark on another exciting year of learning and discovery," said Principal Kelly Zeinert. "Our dedicated team of educators has been diligently preparing to offer an exceptional educational experience that fosters both academic and personal growth."

The school administration has been working to enhance the curriculum and implement new initiatives that cater to the diverse needs and interests of the students.

One new component of the curricular process this year is the separate reporting of academic content and behavior skills on report cards. This will give students and families a clear picture of how their understanding of the content is developing, without that information being skewed due to behaviors exhibited in class.

The high school math team will roll out a new program with the 2023-24 school year, Illustrative Math. This new math program promotes student inquiry, high-level academic discussions, collaborative work, perseverance and enjoyment of mathematics.

The high school ELA team will launch a new literacy program, American Reading Company. Clintonville will now have a K-12 universal and comprehensive literacy curriculum that will provide students consistency in reading and writing routines, practices and expectations, and will increase in rigor and content year to year.

The introduction of innovative teaching methods, advanced technologies, and a range of extracurricular activities will ensure a well-rounded education for all students.

Curriculum and Instruction Director Brittany Schmidt expressed her optimism for the year ahead.

"We have a fantastic community of students, parents and staff, and I am confident that together we will make this upcoming school year a resounding success. We will continue to work hand in hand to empower our students to reach their full potential," Schmidt said.

Parents and guardians are encouraged to stay informed and engaged in their child's education by participating in school activities and communicating with teachers and administrators. The schools will maintain open lines of communication through newsletters, parent-teacher conferences, and a variety of online platforms.

Sporting clay shooters take aim at state title

BY GREG SEUBERT
SPORTS EDITOR

NAVARINO – Evan Guttormson and Ben Klein don't know each other, but they have at least one thing in common.

They joined more than 350 other competitors at the Wisconsin Sporting Clay Association's annual state meet, held Aug. 2-6 at J&H Game Farm near Clintonville.

Guttormson lives in Grafton and is a senior at Wartburg College in Waverly, Iowa, where he competes on the school's trap shooting team.

"I'm trying to train for the school year," he said. "I love sporting clays. It's my favorite of all the shooting disciplines. I started my freshman year at Marquette University High School (in Milwaukee) and didn't know shotgun sports existed until then. Halfway through my freshman or sophomore year, I finally got to go out and try sporting clays for a practice and a meet. I excelled at that more than I did at trap."

Sporting clay shooting is different than trap or skeet shooting, in which clay birds are thrown from standardized distances. In sporting clay shooting, targets of different sizes are thrown from any angle or distance.

"It's very similar to golf," Klein said. "It's a lifelong sport and everyone that competes gets a relatively even playing field. You're actually going from station to station like you go from hole to hole on a golf course."

"It's different because it's reactive," Guttormson said. "There is no one right way to do it. You can shoot your own way, whatever works for you. The way I shoot might not work for somebody else. It changes every time, so it's a lot more exciting. No two courses are the same. I'm here doing the main event, but I'm also doing the FITASC event. FITASC is an international version of sporting clays and it's a little different."

Guttormson returned to J&H for the first time since competing in an event with Marquette's trap shooting team. Klein got his start in the sport at J&H while growing up in Oshkosh.

"A friend I went to school with got me into it," Klein said. "He was quite the shooter at the time and I like hunting and fishing and all that stuff. I got into it that way. They have a youth program

New fire truck for New London

Supply chain issues delay squad cars

BY ROBERT CLOUD
SENIOR EDITOR

NEW LONDON – The New London Capital Project and Equipment Committee approved additional funding for a new fire truck.

“We’re going with the most expensive quote,” Fire Chief Mark Wilfuer told the committee at its Aug. 2 meeting.

Wilfuer recommended a 3,000-gallon tanker truck built by Marion Body Works with an estimated cost of $371,318.

New London also received bids of $370,613 from Pierce Manufacturing and $309,379 from Midwest Fire.

A major reason for going with Marion Body Works is that it is manufactured locally.

“The Pierce truck is a local company but the truck is actually built in Florida,” Wilfuer said.

The Midwest Fire truck is built in Minnesota.

New London currently has a 12-year-old truck made by Midwest Fire.

“We currently have some major issues with that truck as far as rusting,” Wilfuer said.

The cost to repair the existing truck will be at least $39,000, with an estimated 250 hours of labor “to get that truck where it needs to be,” Wilfuer said.

The fire chief said New London currently has three Marion Body Works vehicles in its fleet with the oldest dating back to 1986.

After learning about the rust-related damage on the Midwest Fire truck, Wilfuer inspected the other vehicles.

“There’s nowhere near the amount of rust on them,” he said. “The problem with the Midwest truck is that they did not undercoat anything and they used steel instead of aluminum.”

Wilfuer said the tanker truck from Marion has an all-aluminum frame that has adequate undercoating. “Some of the corrosion is due to a fitting that goes into the tank when we fill the truck,” Wilfuer said. “That’s been addressed once and it’s leaking again,” Wilfuer said.

Capt. Don Conat presented photos showing the extensive rusting and corrosion the undercarriage of the Midwest Fire vehicle.

“Will that truck last another 30 years? Not in that condition, I think,” Conat aid.

Judy Radke, the city finance director and treasurer, explained that the committee already approved purchase of a new fire truck for 2023, but it was for $350,000.

She said the fire department needed the committee’s permission to increase capital funding for the purchase.

The committee voted unanimously to increase funding for the new truck.

Squad cars

Police Chief Jeff Schlueter also spoke to the commission about issues regarding the purchase of emergency vehicles.

The New London Police Department normally replaces two squad cars each year because they operate 24 hours a day, average about 40,000 miles of city driving per year and spend a significant amount of time idling.

“They take a beating,” Schlueter said.

The problem this year is that Ford canceled New London’s order for one of the vehicles.

Schlueter said the canceled order was for a Ford Police Interceptor Utility vehicle.

Law enforcement agencies across the country are experiencing canceled vehicle orders for squad cars due to supply chain problems and shortages of parts.

As the fleet ages, maintenance costs increase.

“One squad that we were scheduled to replace we just did a whole brake job on,” Schlueter said.

He noted that the department previously attempted to go three years before replacing its squad cars, but the costs for repairs, including an engine replacement, proved to be as much as purchasing new cars.

Radke recommended that the committee allow Schlueter to purchase three squad cars when they become available, using money out of the city’s capital reserves rather than amending the budget.

She said the funds are available in the capital reserves.

Septic truck crash

Outagamie County Trunk S closed for several hours Monday afternoon following a crash between a Kuettle Septic truck and a former school bus converted into a motorhome. Reportedly, the motorhome was attempting to make a U-turn on County S when the septic truck struck it approximately 3 miles east of New London. The tanker overturned, spilling its contents. The road remained closed between Alcan Road and County Trunk M for approximately six hours allowing for cleanup. Both drivers were transported to area hospitals with non-life threatening injuries.

Big turnout for car show

BY JAMES CARD
STAFF REPORTER

WEYAUWEGA – The Weyauwega Car Show had another large turnout. Main Street, South Mill Street and the parking lot behind the Dahlke Life Celebration Center were packed with hot rods, trucks, cruisers and other vehicles of yesteryear.

Some of the vehicles were in pristine condition; some were works-in-progress and others looked like they just got pulled out of the barn.

The trophies awarded are shaped like a spark plug.

Besides award-winning cars and trucks there were many other vehicles of interest.

The General Lee, 1969 Dodge Charger from the “Dukes of Hazzard,” was there.

A black 1977 Pontiac Trans Am with a firebird on the hood came to th4 show.

Herbie the Love Bug was one of a number of movie-themed vehicles at the Weyauwega Car Show on Main Street.

With some vehicles the most interesting thing was under the hood. Some vehicles had their hoods open to show off the immaculate engine work.

It was the same car that Burt Reynolds drive in “Smokey and the Bandit.”

Herbie the Love Bug was present. The Volkswagen Beetle was painted with the 53 number and had the same red, white and blue racing stripes as the car in the film.

Ford’s answer to the half-car, half-truck El Camino was the Ranchero and a red 1979 Ranchero GT nicknamed the “Cherry Bomb” drew lots of attention.

Carl and Tammi Schooh’s 1925 Ford Model TT truck was one of the oldest vehicles on Main Street. There was a 1977 Dodge Tradesman 200 van that looked normal on the outside but the inside was decked out with roses in vases, plush red carpeting, red curtains and a bed with red pillows and sheets making it a mobile love nest.

A version of the Batmobile made an appearance but there were other mundane cars that one doesn’t see too often such as a 1974 AMC Gremlin X.

Some of the vehicles had drive-in window-mounted trays loaded with A&W root beer mugs, salt shakers and old-fashioned red and yellow ketchup and mustard bottles.

Grant awarded for legacy park

BY HOLLY NEUMANN
STAFF REPORTER

IOLA – The village of Iola will receive a $50,000 Vibrant Spaces grant from Wisconsin Economic Development Corp. to help fund the construction of Memorial Park in downtown Iola.

Vibrant Spaces is designed to help communities revitalize underused spaces to build community and attract future residents. Through the grant program, communities invest in their workforce attraction and small business development by creating inviting, walkable spaces in their downtowns, arterial districts and economic centers.

“Investment in our communities is one of the best talent attraction strategies Wisconsin has,” WEDC secretary and CEO Missy Hughes said. “These grants will help communities create new gathering places in thriving downtowns to draw in residents, visitors, new businesses and investments. Vibrant communities are places where people want to live and work.”

Memorial Park will be dedicated to Chester Krause, a lifelong Iola resident who played a role in building Iola into the community it is today. The space will feature a greenspace, public seating, event space and accessible restrooms. A mural depicting the history of Iola and a bronze statue of Krause are major features of the future park. The space aims to be a welcoming place for community members to come together and enjoy the myriad of community events that downtown Iola has to offer.

“The village of Iola is grateful to the WEDC for its help in making the Chester L. Krause Legacy Park a reality,” village board president Jennifer Schustek said. “During Chet’s business career, Iola’s population grew by 50% due in part to the many jobs created by his company. The park is the community’s way of showing what a huge impact Chet had and what a legacy he has left.”

This year, the Vibrant Spaces grant program, an initiative within WEDC’s Community Development and Investment grant program, supported 34 communities with more than $1.5 million in grants. Projects were evaluated based on their ability to create visible and pedestrian oriented public spaces that attract and accommodate multiple users and activities.

Successful grant applicants demonstrated that their projects would benefit the local district, nearby businesses and the community as a whole. Communities were required to match grant funds and begin construction this summer.

I-S graduate authors book

BY HOLLY NEUMANN
STAFF REPORTER

IOLA – Drawing inspiration from fishing in the Midwest, Lora (Johnson) Osborn, a 2003 graduate of Iola-Scandinavia High School, has authored her first children’s book.

According to Osborn, the idea for “Dan the Minnow” started with a conversation in a fishing boat.

“We were talking about what kind of fish we would be,” she said. “Someone in our boat said that if he could be any fish, he would be a minnow and would talk to all the other fish.”

This sparked an idea for Osborn. “This just felt like a great children’s story,” she said.

“Dan the Minnow” teaches a lesson in making new friends and appreciating their unique differences.

“Meet Dan, a curious little minnow who embarks on a fun little adventure one afternoon to meet some new friends within his lake,” Osborn said. “Along the way, Dan recognizes some distinct differences between him and his new pals and teaches all of a lesson in appreciating our unique qualities.”

Kiran Akram illustrated the book.

“I really wanted to find a design that supported the story and brought our lakes and fish to life,” Osborn said. “Kiran did an amazing job adding some colors and making the illustrations an essential part of the book.”

Osborn credited her elementary school principal, Tess Wojcik, and fifth-grade teacher Barb Kobs for inspiring her to become an author.

“Mrs. Wojcik always had extra stickers for writing stories and Mrs. Kobs actually had us write our first book,” she said. “My passion for writing started at a young age.”

The project took about four years, according to Osborn.

“I thought about it for a long time, but there was no clear path on how to publish a book,” she said. “I had to be ready to teach myself how to do that first.”

Osborn’s original plan was to self-publish the book

“After learning about all the complexities, I started my own publishing company, Autumn Loon Books, to support this project and help others who have a dream to publish their own book,” she said. “It feels amazing to have accomplished that goal. I already have two more books in the works; another children’s one and a novel.”

“Dan the Minnow” can be purchased at Country Chic Boutique, 320 N. Main St., Scandinavia.

Police to hide rocks

BY HOLLY NEUMANN
STAFF REPORTER

IOLA – The village of Iola has started its Iola Cops Rock program.

Each week, an Iola police officer will hide three rocks around the village in public spaces, not on private property. The hope is to get families out and about in the village this summer.

Families are encouraged to help their kids look around town and find these rocks. When one is found, it can be brought to the village office and the child can pick out some prizes.

“We have a whole bucket of goodies to choose from,” said Missy Fenn, a trustee on the Iola Village Board. “We will give them a bag and they pick out a few things.”

Prizes will vary each week from pens, fidget toys, stickers and more.

The program will run in August and September.

If rocks are not located, clues will be posted on the village website, www.villageofiola.com.

Dallmann, Jeanette

Jeanette Agnes Dallmann, age 89, of Mukwa, Wisconsin, passed away peacefully on Saturday, August 5th at Trinity Terrace. Jeanette was born on December 2, 1933 in Shawano, Wisconsin to the late Henry Frederick Dallman and the late Mary (Bertram) Dallman. She worked as a governess in the Chicago area for many years helping families. She also worked at several hospitals over the years as a nurse's aide.

Jeanette was quite a phenomenal woman, and could do anything she put her mind to, including building a house with her mother; the very house that they would live in for many, many years. They built that house without any power tools. They sawed every board by hand and carried each brick one by one. Jeanette enjoyed the companionship of her mother until she passed away at the age of 92.

In her free time, Jeanette loved gardening and bird watching. She also enjoyed collecting stamps and coins.

Jeanette is survived by her brother, Kieth Dallmann, and she was preceded in death by her parents, Henry and Mary Dallmann.

The Mass of Christian Burial for Jeanette will be held at 11:00am on Thursday, August 10th at Most Precious Blood Catholic Church in New London, with Fr. John Kleinschmidt officiating. Visitation will be from 10:00am until time of service. Burial will be in Floral Hill Cemetery.

The family wishes to thank the caregivers at Trinity Terrace and the Compassus Hospice nurses for the loving care given to Jeanette. They would also like to thank Dr. Jim Ziegler for his kindness over the last several years. Most of all, they would like to express their appreciation to a very special person, Carrie Doughty, who helped Jeanette with showering, shopping, and any other daily need she might have had.

Kasel, Raymond D.

Raymond D. Kasel, age 77 of Clintonville, passed away on Friday morning, August 4, 2023 at his home with his loving wife at his side.

Raymond Dominic Kasel was born on June 11, 1946 in Rice Lake, Wisconsin. He was the youngest of six children born to Math and Rosemary (Wagner) Kasel. His early years were spent living on a farm at rural Barron, Wisconsin. He attended a one-room schoolhouse until his family moved into the city of Barron in 1955. He attended schools at Barron, graduating from Barron High School in 1965.

Following graduation, Mr. Kasel enlisted in the U.S. Air Force. He received military training at Lackland and Amarillo, Texas. From 1966 to 1968 he served at Misawa, Japan, and from 1968 to 1971 he served in Germany. After an honorable discharge, he attended University of Wisconsin-Barron County and went on to earn a BS degree in vocational rehabilitation from the University of Wisconsin-Stout. In 1975, he came to Clintonville, Wisconsin to accept a position with Unified Health Services and later Waupaca County Department of Health and Human Services. He retired in 2003 as director of Waupaca County Industries at Manawa.

Mr. Kasel married Gloria Terfeh on June 30, 1979 in Kent, Minnesota. They went on to raise two sons. They enjoyed traveling together and with the family. Among the vacations were trips to Hawaii, New Orleans, Florida, the Black Hills, Washington D.C., Branson, the Bahamas, and an eight-country tour of Europe.

Mr. Kasel was an active member of St. Rose Parish, Clintonville. He was parish council president, trustee, and served on other parish committees. He managed the website for St. Rose and St. Mary Parishes for many years. He is a past member of Clintonville city council. He served on the Clintonville library board and chaired the Clintonville Housing Authority. He spent many years tracing his family genealogy. One branch of the family tree was traced to the 1500's. He was known to be a good cook. He enjoyed dancing, gardening and working on the lawn. In later years, some of these activities were curtailed because of multiple sclerosis complicated by the effects of neuropathy. Although there were many physical challenges, he never complained.

Throughout his professional career, Mr. Kasel worked and advocated for people with disabilities. He was the legal guardian of a disabled man. He was always available to help others when he could. He was a humble man. He never boasted about his many accomplishments. When his mother's health became increasingly challenging, he helped her move to Clintonville where he and his wife could better attend to her health needs.

Mr. Kasel is survived by his loving wife of 44 years, Gloria. He is also survived by two sons: Philip (Megan Franks) and her two children, Madilyn and Laylani, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; and Matthew (Robin) and their two children, Payton and Madalyn, of Kaukauna, Wisconsin. He is further survived by one brother, Matthew of Rapid River, Michigan; one sister, Rosemary (Victor) Vanderslice of Forest Lake, Minnesota; and sister-in-law, Veronica Kasel of Menasha, Wisconsin. Twenty-one nieces and nephews further survive him.

He was preceded in death by his parents; a sister, Ramona Starkey; brothers, John "Jack" and Gerald; and sisters-in-law, Betty Kasel and Sandi Kasel.

"A useful life on Earth ended and an eternal home in Heaven began when he fell asleep to awaken in a better world."

A memorial mass will be held at 11AM on Wednesday August 9, 2023 at St. Rose Catholic Church, Clintonville. Military honors will be conducted following the service by the Air Force Honors Team, VFW Post #664, American Legion Post #63, American Legion Auxiliary Unit #63, & VFW Auxiliary Unit #664, all of Clintonville. Inurnment will take place on a later date at Wayside Cemetery near Barron, Wisconsin, next to his parents.

Visitation will take place on Wednesday at the church from 9AM until the time of service.

The Eberhardt-Stevenson Funeral Home & Crematory, Clintonville is assisting the Kasel family.

An online guestbook is available at eberhardtstevenson.com.

Bench dedicated in Rosenthal's name

BY HOLLY NEUMANN
STAFF REPORTER

SCANDINAVIA – The family of the late Ron Rosenthal unveiled a bench in his honor Aug. 6 during the Scandinavia Vikings' Badger Amateur Baseball Association game with New London in Scandinavia.

Rosenthal, who passed away unexpectedly June 2, left behind a legacy and love for the Vikings, a team he played for from 1966-87.

He had the opportunity to play with his son Tracy for a couple of years and over time, his younger sons, Willie and RJ, also joined the team. RJ continues to play for the Vikings and his daughter Jaci is the team's bat girl this season.

Rosenthal's wife, Jo, his children and grandchildren dedicated the bench in his honor.

"Ron would be so proud," Jo said.

"Nothing can ever take away a love the heart holds dear," said Jaci Bartel, Ron and Jo's daughter. "His life was a blessing and his memory a treasure to always hold deep in our hearts. He will always be remembered, loved and never forgotten."

Clippers fall in state final

BY GREG SEUBERT
SPORTS EDITOR

ASHWAUBENON – The New London Clippers' quest for a second state championship came up just short.

The Clippers fell to Ashwaubenon 6-5 Aug. 1 in the championship game of the Wisconsin Class AA American Legion State Tournament in Ashwaubenon.

New London needed two wins over Ashwaubenon Aug. 1 to win the team's second state title. The Clippers defeated Ashwaubenon 4-3 in the first game.

"These boys left everything they had on the field," coach Jim Thorpe said. "I am so proud that these boys understood that this was more than just baseball. It was about being a team, a teammate, struggling, failing, winning, being together, working together, growing up, battling for the person next to you, digging down deep, heart, love, passion, picking each other up, laughing, crying, enjoying the moment and having fun."

New London dropped its opening game to Medford before picking up wins over New London, Waupun and Medford to set up the matchup with Ashwaubenon.

Tournament scores included:

Game 1: River Falls 11, Pulaski 1.

Game 2: Waupun 5, Holmen 4.

Game 3: Medford 4, New London 2.

Game 4: Ashwaubenon 7, Fort Atkinson 1.

Game 5: New London 9, Pulaski 6 (Pulaski eliminated).

Game 6: Holmen 3, Fort Atkinson 2 (Fort Atkinson eliminated).

Game 7: Medford 3, River Falls 1.

Game 8: Ashwaubenon 6, Waupun 0.

Game 9: River Falls 4, Holmen 3 (Holmen eliminated).

Game 10: New London 13, Waupun 3 (Waupun eliminated).

Game 11: Ashwaubenon 13, Medford 3.

Game 12: New London 9, Medford 4 (Medford eliminated).

Game 13: Ashwaubenon 10, River Falls 1 (River Falls eliminated).

Game 14: New London 4, Ashwaubenon 3.

Game 15: Ashwaubenon 6, New London 5 (New London eliminated, Ashwaubenon wins championship).

"None of this was possible without our amazing Legionaries and American Legion Post No. 263 for the sacrifices they made for us when they were young men," Thorpe said. "We were able to play a game for them to enjoy and represent them on a baseball field."

Deer council members sought

MADISON - The state Department of Natural Resources is encouraging anyone with a passion for conservation to apply for a seat on a County Deer Advisory Council.

Each CDAC includes representatives from the hunting community, as well as a variety of stakeholder groups with interest in hunting and deer management.

The application period for each county is open until Tuesday, Aug. 15.

Council members meet annually to review deer management data, gather public input and provide recommendations to the DNR and state Natural Resources Board regarding deer management decisions in their respective counties.

Applicants must have experience or involvement with at least one of seven stakeholder categories: agriculture, forestry, tourism, transportation, hunting, land management and local government.

"All council seats are open to new applicants," DNR deer program specialist Jeff Pritzl said. "County Deer Advisory Councils are provided an in-depth look at deer management issues and meet with DNR staff as representatives of their community. Those selected will serve for three years and, during that time, will reach out to the stakeholders they represent as they develop recommendations for the fall season framework each year."

The DNR established CDACs in 2014 to provide an open venue to develop county-specific deer population objectives and herd management strategies through public involvement. Council members review and consider a variety of metrics on deer herd trends, impacts to habitat and various human-deer interactions.

More information about the councils and an application form can be found at dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/Hunt/cdac.
