PACT Act helps local veteran

Toxic exposure causes brain
tumor

BY HOLLY NEUMANN
STAFF REPORTER

IOLA – Josh Kampert, of Iola, was in the United States Marine Corp from 2002 – 2006, serving time in Fallujah, Iraq, as a front line Motor Transportation Operator.

He brought supplies to the people on the ground and gave support where needed.

Little did he know, that he was being exposed to cancer-causing smoke and dust that would eventually leave him fighting for his life.

Thanks to the Waupaca County Veterans Service Office (WCVSO) and the PACT Act, Kampert was able to battle brain cancer without having to worry about his wife JoAnn and their children Ryan, Tanner and Olivia.

The PACT (Promise to Address Comprehensive Toxics) Act a new law that expands VA health care and benefits for veterans exposed to burn pits, Agent Orange and other toxic substances,

“In 2019 I went on a trip to Key West, Florida,” said Kampert. “It was sort of a reunion with my Marine Corp buddies. Some of the guys were talking about disability benefits, which I did not feel like I deserved. We signed up to fight for the country. We did our part. Those benefits are for the people that lost their arms and legs and even their lives.”

His best friend continued to push the issue.

“He gave me Jesse Cuff’s number and the next thing I knew I had 70 percent rating out of 100, so I qualified for VA health care,” Kampert said.

Cuff is the director of Veterans Services in Waupaca County.

Tumor found

Then in 2022, Kampert was diagnosed with a brain tumor. He quickly learned the importance of these benefits.

“I had a seizure in the middle of the night,” he said. “It was pretty scary and I never want to go through that again.”

He headed to the hospital in Stevens Point, where after several tests, doctors determined that he had a tumor, deep within his brain.

JoAnn immediately called the WCVSO to explain the situation.

“They gave us an authorization number right away,” Kampert said. “They said we did not have to worry about anything.”

At the time, he did not know if it was cancer or not. “We just knew that it was a 3-by-1 1/2 inch tumor,” he said. “It was like a goose egg in the center of my brain.”

There was a struggle to find a surgeon who would even attempt to remove it.

“They finally found one at UW-Madison,” Kampert said. “And just like that I was in an ambulance headed for Madison where I was supposed to have surgery in the morning.”

Surgery delayed

When surgery was delayed until the following week, Kampert again reached out to Cuff once again.

“I thought I was going to die,” he said. “I asked him to run a claim for my brain tumor, through the PACT Act. This wasn’t for me, this was in case I die. I needed to know that my family is taken care of.”

After a few phone calls, including some to U.S. Rep. Mike Gallagher, everything was approved within weeks.

Surgery day arrived and most, if not all of the tumor was removed.

“He was in my head for 9 1/2 hours where they literally had to split my brain apart,” said Kampert. “I woke up 14 hours later.”

He could not walk and he could not talk.

“It was like I was a baby starting all over again,” he said. “But I was grateful that

Driver charged with homicide

OWI, hit and run alleged

BY ROBERT CLOUD
SENIOR EDITOR

WAUPACA – The driver accused of hitting a pedestrian who was helping a motorist now faces multiple felony charges.

Evan Barnick, 20, Oshkosh, was charged Monday, Nov. 6, with homicide by intoxicated use of a vehicle, hit-and-run involving death, first-degree reckless endangerment, a third OWI, operating while revoked and operating a vehicle without a court-ordered ignition interlocking device.

Around midnight Sunday, Oct. 29, 77-year-old Gerald Pagel, of New London was helping a woman whose vehicle had just struck a deer.

They were standing on the side of County Trunk W at Brehmer Road in the town of Caledonia.

According to the criminal complaint, a dark-colored Ford truck was travelling southbound on County W.

The woman told investigators that the truck was moving fast as it headed toward them.

Pagel waved his flashlight in an effort to alert the truck driver to slow down. The woman dived into a ditch to avoid being hit.

Barnick

She said she heard Pagel yell, “They are going to kill us,” just before the truck fatally struck him.

The driver allegedly did not slow down and continued southbound toward State Highway 96.

Deputies began searching for the truck and ultimately pulled it over on U.S. Highway 45 north of State 96 in Caledonia.

The driver was identified as Barnick. The truck was registered to a relative.

A records check indicated that Barnick has two prior drunken driving convictions, his license was revoked, he was restricted to a 0.02 blood-alcohol content and required to operate vehicles with an ignition interlock device installed.

Deputies reported that Barnick smelled of alcohol. He admitted to consuming alcohol, but denied striking a pedestrian, the complaint says.

Barnick is currently being held in custody on a $50,000 cash bond.

Hortonville bypass opening soon

BY JOHN FAUCHER
STAFF REPORTER

REGION – Commuters between New London, Hortonville and Greenville will soon have a faster, safer route to the Appleton area on a newly constructed four-lane State Highway 15 Bypass.

State and local officials joined in celebration of the nearly completed east Hortonville bypass segment Wednesday, Nov. 1.

The east segment from Hortonville to Greenville is set to open by Nov. 17, weather permitting.

Construction of the west segment of State 15 from Hortonville to New London is in progress and expected to finish late next year.

The total 11-mile corridor project, including design, real estate and construction, has an estimated cost of $137.9 million.

Project history

Planning for the corridor improvements more than 20 years ago, and in June of 2007, WisDOT selected a preferred corridor route based on the level of mobility it would provide the public and a goal to minimize impact on the surrounding environment.

According to WisDOT, the current project design received the most favorable comments during the public involvement period.

The Transportation Projects Commission enumerated the project in 2011.

The project was initially scheduled for construction in fiscal year 2017, but was delayed due to budget constraints following a state-wide program review.

During the delay, pressure on the existing State 15 continued to grow and accidents occurred at a rate higher than the state average.

According to WisDOT crash history, there were 418 crashes with 104 injuries and 15 fatalities, on State 15 from US Highway 45 in New London to Lily of the Valley Drive in Greenville between January 2014 to June 2021.

The annual average daily traffic on the route east of Hortonville is 18,700 vehicles.

Average daily traffic through Hortonville is 13,200.

Traffic west of Hortonville averages 10,200 vehicles per day.

Prior to construction, roughly 300 access points existed along State 15.

More than 200 access points were eliminated or modified as part of the project and roughly 90 access points remain.

According to WisDOT Secretary Craig Thompson, the new changes in roadway design will help improve safety and reduce crash related issues.

He said the improvements would also enhance economic development by providing easier travel, lower transportation costs, and a better means to transfer goods and services.

Board members of the Waupaca Humane Society broke ground on the future site of a second building. Demand for their services have grown and the building construction starts this fall.

Humane Society breaks ground

New building for growing demand

BY JAMES CARD
STAFF REPORTER

WAUPACA – Board members, volunteers, staffers, donors and friends of the Waupaca Humane Society grabbed gold shovels and donned hard hats for a groundbreaking ceremony on Nov. 6.

The one-story building will be 1,700 square feet and have an exam room, X-ray room, surgery and recovery room, pharmacy and kennel space.

The buildings will be intentionally separate. New animals are quarantined before they can be near other animals and if an outbreak were to occur, animals can be isolated in one building.

More outdoor kennels will be added and the new building will have a reception area.

Bayland Buildings Inc is the contractor and work will start immediately with the pouring of a slab and then it will be a race to get as much done before the cold weather sets in.

It is slated to be finished sometime in the spring of 2024.

“Demand for our services continues to grow,” said Raymond “Skip” Hansen.

He said many people use the Humane Society’s affordable veterinary services.

The "Pass It Forward" program has been a resounding success, thanks to the generous sponsorship of the Packers Give Back and Nicolet Bank. This initiative has thrived, powered by the unwavering support of seasoned editors and writers from the Press Times in collaboration with talented interns from UWGB and St. Norbert College.

Pass It Forward is not just an internship program; it is a transformational journey. It is a collective effort that has led to positive change in our local communities. By filling the gaps where coverage of news was previously lacking, this program has given a voice to stories that matter. Concurrently, our interns have realized that they are not merely students; they are the future of journalism, learning and growing through "Earn Your Press Pass" webinars, on-site seminars, and hands-on experience covering real stories across sports, entertainment, and government.

The impact of this program reaches far and wide. Our sponsors have seen their names associated with the incredible work of our interns, earning well-deserved recognition for supporting local news. As a community, we have a chance to acknowledge and appreciate these businesses that have given us the gift of knowledge and insight.

But our journey doesn't end here. We are on a mission to expand our reach and create more opportunities. In the coming year, we plan to extend Pass It Forward to other Wisconsin cities, including Wausau and Stevens Point. We also intend to welcome journalism and communications interns from a broader spectrum of schools, including both college and high school levels.

I was alive."

Kampert still had to have radiation and will continue to have chemotherapy through April of next year.

Community support

"The support of the community and my family has been amazing. We don't know what we would have done with them," he said. "The local churches had us on their prayer boards. The schools put money together for us and the staff was there for our kids while we were not able to be. It truly held true to the saying, it takes a village to raise a child."

Receiving the VA benefits was huge for Kampert. "I don't know what I would do without them," he said. "I didn't know if I was going to be able to go back to work. It made it possible for me to sleep at night and I was able to still support my family."

He knows he will never be back to where he used to be.

"But I am living my best life," he said. "I am thankful."

Looking ahead, Kampert hopes to share his story with other veterans.

"God saved me for a reason," he said. "Now I want to help as many veterans as possible."

Service to veterans

According to Cuff, the WCVSO is committed to the work they accomplish with the veteran community.

"Working with all our veterans is our honor and sacred duty," said Cuff. "Sadly, we are seeing history repeat itself with our current conflict veterans experiencing negative health consequences similar to that of our Agent Orange effected veterans. The PACT Act represents the largest expansion of veteran benefits in the history of the VA."

He said the entire veteran community requires the support offered by the PACT Act.

"Fortunately, our office is here to connect veterans with that support, free of charge," said Cuff. The work of CVSOs statewide is more important than ever." Cuff urges all resident veterans to reach out to their office to create a local veteran profile and be screened for benefits and eligibility.

"We also work with eligible dependents of veterans to access benefits and services, look into veteran benefits and services to improve their quality of life and their families' quality of life," he said. "Together, our community is stronger when each individual is the best and most healthy version of themselves."

To reach the WCVSO, call 715-258-6475, ext.3. Their office can help begin the process with the veteran and develop the evidence necessary to access benefits including documents like the DD214 confirming military service.

County to drop property tax rate

2024 budget raises levy

BY ROBERT CLOUD
SENIOR EDITOR

COUNTY – Waupaca County’s portion of the property tax levy will increase by less than 1% for next year.

Finance Director Heidi Dombrowski presented details of the 2024 budget to the Waupaca County Board at its Oct. 31 meeting.

The county’s tax levy will rise to $29.88 million for 2024, up by $261,000, or 0.88%, over 2023.

The tax rate will drop to $5.01 per $1,000 of equalized value for 2024.

In 2023, Waupaca County property owners paid $5.76 per $1,000 of equalized value.

Dombrowski said the median home value in Waupaca County is $159,600, according to the U.S. Census Bureau.

“The tax bill for 2024 for that home would be $798.85,” Dombrowski said.

The tax bill on a home of the same value was $919.92 in 2023.

“That homeowner would pay approximately $121 less in 2024 than they did in 2023,” Dombrowski said.

A contributing factor to a homeowner’s tax bill is its market value compared to the previous year.

“Although Waupaca County experienced an increase of 16.77% in equalized value, the increase for net new construction remains low at 1% or $246,058,” Dombrowski noted in the county’s 460-page annual budget.

That means some property owners will see their tax bills increase even as their tax rates go down.

Revenues

While local property taxes account for $29.88 million in the county’s 2024 revenues, intergovernmental revenues (primarily state aid) account for $19.74 million. That amount represents a drop more than $1 million from 2023.

The county also budgeted for a continued increase in sales tax revenues, which have grown from $3.29 million collected in 2015 to $5.1 million projected in 2024.

Dombrowski said, “Interest rates on investments decreased significantly in 2021.”

In 2022, the county experienced an unrealized loss of nearly $165,000. But revenues from interest is expected to rise to nearly $1.16 million in 2023. The county anticipates investment income of $1.16 million in 2024.

The Highway Operations Fund has total operating expenditures of $18.72 million.

The county charges state and municipal governments for services such as snow plowing on town roads and state highways. This accounts for a total of $15.34 million in revenues.

Property tax levy of $1.8 million is applied to the debt service and interest payments on the highway facility.

Expenditures

According to the 2024 budget, Waupaca County’s total revenues will be $95.8 million and its total expenditures will be $99.12 million.

The 2024 county budget will use an estimated $3.32 million from various fund balances. Last year, the county used $1.93 million from fund balances. Some of these funds include money from the opioid settlement and the American Rescue Plan Act.

Transportation Services, Health and Human Services and Economic Development have their own funds.

“All fund balances applied or restored are for the purpose in which they are restricted, committed or assigned,” according to Dombrowski’s message to the county board.

Operating expenditures in 2024 include $8.62 million for general government, $15.1 million for public safety, $24 million for public works, nearly $18 million for health and human services, $2.22 million for culture, recreation and education, $2.98 million for conservation and development, $3.82 million for debt service, $13.18 million for capital outlay and $11.37 for other financing uses.

Debt Service

Waupaca County currently has $19.37 million in outstanding debt and will levy $3.82 million for debt service.

The tax rate for debt service is 64 cents per $1,000 of equalized value.

Teachers recognize young artists

WAUPACA – Waupaca students will see their art in the Waupaca County Post and be recognized with awards made possible by an Aaron Truman Memorial grant.

Tricia Price, an art instructor for the Waupaca School District, said encouraging creativity is a necessary part of education.

“Art really forces students to use a different part of their brain than what many classes call for,” Price said.

“I also tend to see that the most creative students are not the ones who always do well in the core classes, but I think it’s important that their strengths be recognized,” Price added.

Each week teachers will recognize students’ art, rotating among the district’s schools.

Price told the Waupaca County Post that the student who is chosen

Cooper Roberts, a WHS senior in advanced placement studio art and ceramics, was recognized for his pen-and-marker drawing called “Mansion-Hollywood Hills.” Roberts has taken “his incredible architectural drawings to the next level with his detailed line work and addition of color,” according to his teacher.

by their teacher demonstrate the Waupaca Way, and show consistent efforts towards their creative and artistic development.

“They come to class each day ready to learn, they participate in class, are dedicated to their projects and helpful to their peers,” Price said.

The students’ work will appear weekly, either in the paper or online.

Library offers passport services

Browse books while waiting

BY JAMES CARD
STAFF REPORTER

WAUPACA – The Waupaca Area Public Library now offers U.S. passport services by appointment. Before returning to his hometown and becoming director of the Waupaca library, Eric Bailey worked at a library in Illinois. He noted that many Illinois libraries offered passport services and there are a few in Wisconsin that also offer this service.

He worked to make the library a designated Passport Acceptance Facility. Two employees are trained to handle the official paperwork and more will be trained later.

He pointed out that there are a number of benefits of taking on this service. One bonus is that the library has longer hours for in-person applications (applying in person is a passport requirement). The only other place to get a passport is the Waupaca County Clerk’s Office and the hours are from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. This means people might have to take off time from work or pull children from school.

Another benefit is that it takes approximately 30 minutes to process the application. At the library, unlike the county clerk’s office, one can browse books, music and movies to pass the time. Children can be sent downstairs to the youth section and play area.

Another bonus is that it generates revenue for the library as they get $35 to process the paperwork.

Bailey pointed out that for some of the Illinois libraries, this was a significant income stream.

Information on making appointments and what to bring can be found at waupacalibrary.org/passports. The library does not provide passport photo services.

Grants enhance Digital Makerspace

WAUPACA – Waupaca Arts Hub received two grants that will fund the purchase of cutting-edge technology for the organization’s Digital Makerspace.

Waupaca Rotary Club’s $1,166 grant will be used to buy a 3D printer that will allow Arts Hub students to transform digital concepts into tangible objects.

A $7,095 grant from the Waupaca Area Community Foundation will support the purchase of a 3D printer, laser cutter, Cricut cutter and heat press.

“The Arts Hub Digital Makerspace is not just a place for creating; it’s a space for inspiration and growth,” remarked Rachel Bailey, Administrator at The Arts Hub. “With this advanced equipment, we aim to prepare our students for success in an increasingly technological world. Beyond the technical skills, they cultivate creativity, determination, and resilience through hands-on experiences.”

Starting in November, students enrolled in Arts Hub digital classes will have the opportunity to explore the potential of the new equipment.

While currently available to 8-14 year olds, the Arts Hub has plans to expand the Digital Makerspace programming to include teens and adults in 2024.

For more information about The Arts Hub and its programs, visit WaupacaArtsHub.org or follow the group on Facebook and Instagram for updates and announcements.

K-9 donation

The Wisconsin Moose Association recently donated a new K9 protective vest to Officer Bosco and Officer Eric Krause of the Marion Police Department. Clintonville Moose Lodge 1502 held fundraisers to help cover the cost. WMA past-president Mike Wixom's community service project as president was to provide vests for K9s across the state. A donation was also given to the Clintonville Police Department for the K9 unit that will be needed in a new squad car. ## Street project bids approved

Work planned on 16th, Harriet

BY BERT LEHMAN
STAFF REPORTER

CLINTONVILLE – The Clintonville City Council awarded contracts for grant administration and engineering services for the 2024-25 street and utility projects.

Kunkel Engineering Group will handle the work planned for 16th and Harriet streets.

The council approved the contracts when it met Oct. 10. The bid for grant administration was for $36,910, while the bid for engineering services was for $130,860.

At the Oct. 9 Clintonville Finance Committee meeting, City Administrator Caz Muske said that even though separate bids were requested for grant administration and engineering, the city hoped that one firm could be hired to do both.

Based on pricing and the city's familiarity with the firm, Muske recommended that the city go with Kunkel Engineering.

Muske said when the city applies for CDBG grant funding it recoups the cost of administrative services. "There is no cost to the city because we are reimbursed through the grant for admin funds," Muske said.

The city received four bids for the grant administrative services. Robert E. Lee Associates had the lowest bid at $36,200, while Ruckert Mielke came in at $60,000, and MSA came in at $137,000. Even though Robert E. Lee was $710 lower than the Kunkel bid, Kunkel's bid scored the best when measuring different criteria in the bid.

Engineering bids

The same four companies submitted bids for the engineering work for the projects.

Muske said the project would include full reconstruction of the streets and the utilities underneath the streets.

"These bigger projects are why we seek (grant) funding because it's significantly more expensive than just a resurfacing project," Muske said.

Kunkel submitted the lowest bid at $130,860, which was slightly lower than the $131,920 bid submitted by Robert E. Lee. The Ruckert Mielke bid was $175,044, while the MSA bid was $186,329.

When scoring other criteria of the bids, Kunkel and MSA tied for the best score.

Muske told the committee that the city has worked with Kunkel in the past.

Council OKs assessment bid

Contract for $279,350

BY BERT LEHMAN
STAFF REPORTER

CLINTONVILLE – The city of Clintonville awarded the contract for its annual assessment maintenance services and full revaluation to Servi Group Inc. of Green Bay.

Servi bid $279,350 for the contract.

The Clintonville City Council approved the bid when it met Oct. 10.

The bids for the contract were discussed at the Oct. 9 Clintonville Finance Committee meeting, with the Finance Committee recommending the council award the contract to Servi Group.

"This was a challenging one," Muske told the Finance Committee. "Not only did they score the same, the only difference is roughly $10,000."

In addition to the city receiving a bid from Servi Group, the city also received a bid from Accurate, which is located in Menasha. The bid from Accurate was for $288,000.

Muske told the committee that the city currently works with Servi Group, adding that the city has never worked with Accurate.

Because the two companies scored the same on their bids and the bids were separated by only $10,000, Muske provided committee members with the complete proposals from both companies to review.

"One of the things I like about Accurate is they seem like they have a very robust communication process," Muske said. "So, knowing that we're going to be going through a revaluation next year, interior and exterior, there's going to be a lot of questions from the public. So, if we can have an adequate communications plan, which is what I see in Accurate, it will help the headache associated with this process."

Committee member Greg Rose asked what the city's experience has been like working with Servi Group.

"I have had no negative experiences with Servi," Muske said.

Finance Committee

Chair Brandon Braden clarified that Servi Group is currently doing the annual assessment maintenance services for the city. The contract ends this year, so the company the city would choose from the bids would take over that service next year, as well as do the full upcoming revaluation for the city.

Muske said she thought Servi Group could probably deliver a robust communication plan, but that wasn't specified in their proposal.

"I do feel that they would be receptive to figuring out our needs, abiding by the needs we feel is appropriate to navigate through this process," Muske said.

Braden said his personal feeling was to choose Servi Group because the city has worked with the company for a fairly long time and the company had the lowest bid.

"The only reason we are considering the other company has more to do with their proposal, which seems to be a little fancier and they seem to have a good social media presence," Braden said.

Alumnus Honoris nominees sought

CLINTONVILLE – The accomplishments of a Clintonville or Bear Creek High School alumni will be recognized when the Alumnus Honoris Award is made at the commencement ceremony.

Detailed information and a detailed description of the accomplishments to be included with the nomination.

The nomination should include newspaper articles about the nominee, a resume of accomplishments, any published articles that the nominee has authored and letters of support.

The recipient need not be living, but if the person is alive, his or her acceptance will be required after the selection has been made. If a nomination has been made in the past, but it was more than three years ago, a renomination will be necessary.

Nominees must have distinguished themselves either in a professional, vocational, business or military field.

Documentation should clearly explain the scope and significance of the candidate's accomplishments. The scope of the achievement should be state, national, or global, and not limited to their profession.

Donation supports Wreaths Across America

NEW LONDON – Customer donations to Mission BBQ in Green Bay will pay to place 175 wreaths on veterans graves at Floral Hill Cemetery in New London.

Nationwide, Mission BBQ raised $369,590 to donate to Wreaths Across America through the sale of its American Heroes Cups.

The effort will sponsor placing wreaths on more than 24,000 U.S. veterans graves on Saturday, Dec. 16, in recognition of National Wreaths Across America Day.

“This is the third year that I have been the local coordinator for Floral Hill Cemetery plus three other local cemeteries,” said Mary Schoenrock, of New London. “Each year it has grown as to the number of wreaths that we have been able to place.”

To place a wreath at every veteran’s grave at the four cemeteries that Schoenrock covers requires approximately 750 wreaths.

Wreaths Across America is best known for its annual wreath-laying ceremonies across the country at more than 3,700 participating locations, but their year-long mission is to remember the fallen, honor those who serve, and teach the next generation the value of freedom.

“The Mission BBQ model of giving back in the communities they serve through the generous support of their loyal customers, is such a wonderful example of how one person or group can make a big impact,” said Karen Worcester, executive director, Wreaths Across America.

American Heroes Cups are available year-round, retailing at $4.99 with $2 of every cup purchase donated to a charity supporting national military charities and local first responders.

Mission BBQ has five locations in Wisconsin, including Kenosha and Green Bay.

Landmark Main Street building patched up

Sidewalk to reopen soon

BY JAMES CARD
STAFF REPORTER

WEYAUWEGA – There is no longer any danger of walking down Main Street and getting conked in the head by falling debris.

After taking over the 118 E. Main St. building a couple days after his surprise announcement at a recent common council meeting, Brad Leonhardt immediately set up scaffolding and went to work.

There were two spots that were crumbling near the corners. Up near the roof, Leonhardt found a squirrels’ nest and some rotted wood.

He learned that improper drainage off the sloped roof was causing the problem. The protective layer of tin rotted away over the years and water went behind the bricks. The water would freeze in the winter and push the mortar and bricks outwards.

“I took anything that was loose and damaged and re-bricked everything. It’s not perfect because there were repairs done in the past that interfered with me trying to put it back to where it was originally but it’s all stable. It’s all stable and solid and it’s not going anywhere. There’s no imminent danger of anything falling down anymore. That’s not even a possibility,” said Leonhardt.

Leonhardt said that since the building was a bank, it was originally built with high standards. There are five layers of brick on the front and three layers on the sides.

“Once you fix it, it will be fine for another 100 years,” he said.

He also fixed the arch on the second floor window.

“That was in bad shape. That one took me a little while because I had to support the bricks as I took them apart so the rest wouldn’t fall and collapse,” said Leonhardt.

The large arched window on the first floor is partially covered with out-of-place vinyl siding. That will be removed and the large window will be opened up again. On the small arched window above the door, he would like to see some stained glass going in there.

Leonhardt expects the sidewalk to be opened back up in a week or so depending on the weather. It is safe to walk under now but he needs to keep the scaffolding up to finish some flashing work.

Besides fixing the headache-from-above masonry problems, he also removed a piece of tin above the doorway that revealed a four-letter word. BANK is engraved into the stone and it has not been seen in years.

Leonhardt pulled up a black-and-white postcard image from the Wisconsin Historical Society. It is a 1905 street-view image of the building. The BANK engraving is there and lettering on the large front window reads “First National Bank.”

On the second floor window there is lettering that reads “Dr. Keyes.” He was there until 1913 and he sold it to another doctor. Later it was a dentist office.

The first floor started as a bank and later it was a photography studio. The last tenant was the Thomas Bennett accounting firm.

There are clues as to how long the building has remained vacant. A 2009 calendar still hangs on the wall.

Nathan and Brad Leonhardt are restoring the 118 E. Main St building that used to be the First National Bank. They fixed the crumbling facade that was raining debris and soon the sidewalk will be safe again.

James Card Photo

The building is mostly empty other than a few filing cabinets, an old typewriter, copy machine and large tomes of the U.S. Tax Code. There are some old financial documents he intends to burn and destroy.

The basement is a mess but he found the walls to be strong and solid. The basement still holds the vault. It’s has three feet of brick on the outside and a metal ceiling. It’s missing the door.

Leonhardt’s greatest discovery was the furnace from 2009. It was almost like brand new and barely used.

On the second floor there is a skylight that leaked water at one time until the roof was repaired. He walked the rafters and found everything solid. On one corner he replaced some new bricks, added some beams and re-pointed the mortar. He intends to cover the brick walls and have it insulated so someday it might make a comfortable living space.

He might leave a bare brick wall on the interior wall he shares with his neighbor, Tim Litscher.

“Tim’s been great. He’s been very helpful and he lets me use water and stuff like that. His building is old, too, but I think the wall between the two is fine. When two buildings are pushed together they get pretty sturdy,” said Leonhardt.

As of now, his only plan is to turn the upstairs into a loft apartment with modern standards of construction with an old feel to it. As for the downstairs, he is unsure of what it will become.

“My whole objective is to have a nice-looking building in downtown. There isn’t a lot of buildings that have a lot of character in this town, there is some but this is one of the more exciting looking buildings and that’s why I wanted to save it,” said Leonhardt.

Village board has one open seat

BY HOLLY NEUMANN
STAFF REPORTER

SCANDINAVIA – One seat remains open on the Scandinavia Village Board.

Bob Fredy vacated his trustee position after being named the village's treasurer.

Trustee Becky Morgan asked to form a special committee to identify an agreeable process to filling vacancies.

According to village president Dave Mork, if someone was leaving their position in the past, that person would find their replacement.

Trustee Mike Hayes asked why things needed to change, noting that he, Morgan and Pat Knautz were appointed to the board.

Morgan said all village members should have the opportunity and suggested the use of social media and the newspaper as a way to get the word out.

"I know that Kati (McDermith) posted a sign at the co-op and here," she said at the board's Oct. 31 meeting. "One of the reasons I feel it is important to do this is because I asked at a couple of places to put up notices, too. At one place, I asked if anyone was interested and was told in no way do they want anything to do with being on the board."

Morgan also asked for a process to be put in place for deciding tied votes when filling vacancies.

This was not an agenda item and could not be discussed, but will be added to the agenda for the board's December meeting.

Steve Smith and Kelton Willhite were later nominated to fill the vacant trustee position and the vote ended in a tie. With no process in place to break the tie, the position will remain open until the next meeting.

In other business, the board hired Berrens Snow Plowing to plow snow at an hourly rate of $130.

The village's preliminary 2024 budget showed state shared revenue for the general budget increased from $47,000 to $83,000.

"We have a little increase in our revenues," Fredy said. "With snow and ice removal, we only budgeted $8,000 last year and we are going to be closer to $18,000 this year, so I upped the budget to $18,000."

There was also a jump in legal fees, which are close to $4,000 for 2023 and increased to $8,500 for next year.

"We had a little extra money so I threw it in the general government category," Fredy said.

A budget hearing will take place at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 21.

Lions announce poster winners

IOLA – The Iola Lions recently held its annual Peace Poster Contest in partnership with Lions International and the Iola-Scandinavia School District.

Club member Mark Forseth announced the winners of the contest to the sixth-grade class. Winners are Lillian Wiskirchen (first place); Aubrey Weinreis and Sophia Jones (second place); and Nola Mae Vater and Casey Hendricks (third place).

The five winners will share a $350 prize pool provided by the Iola Lions.

Wiskirchen's first-place poster will move on to compete at the district level.

Local artist Sharon Anderson handled judged entries from 42 students.

"Thank you to Mark Forseth and the Iola Lions for their efforts to continue this wonderful art contest," art teacher Jill Willems said. "This poster contest unites our sixth-graders to a wonderful community organization in a combined effort promoting peace globally."

"The quality of the posters makes judging extremely difficult," Forseth said. "We're so thankful Sharon Anderson assisted in this task."

Addams Family to visit Manawa

BY HOLLY NEUMANN
STAFF REPORTER

MANAWA – Under the direction of Michael Etwiler-Kealiher, the Manawa Music Department will present the musical "The Addams Family."

Performances are scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Nov. 17-18, and 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 19, in the Little Wolf High School lunch room. General admission is $5.

The 19-member cast includes Jack O'Brien (Gomez Addams); Mya Stephens (Morticia Addams); Hannah Raffin (Wednesday Addams); and Beau Otto (Uncle Fester).

There are also five crew members in addition to the pit musicians led by Michael Chula.

The storyline includes every father's nightmare: Wednesday Addams, the ultimate princess of darkness, has grown up and fallen in love with a sweet, smart young man from a respectable family, a man her parents have never met. When Wednesday confides in her father and begs him not to tell her mother, he must do something he's never done before, keep a secret from his beloved wife.

Everything will change for the whole family as they host a dinner for Wednesday's boyfriend and his parents.

Etwiler-Kealiher said the audience will enjoy the chorus of the family's descendants.

"They are almost like another lead role," he said. "They act as singers and dancers and add an extra punch to the show."

Manawa sees drop in enrollment

BY HOLLY NEUMANN
STAFF REPORTER

MANAWA – The Manawa School Board discussed the Manawa School District's recent drop in enrollment during its Oct. 23 meeting.

According to numbers presented the board, there were 567 students in May 2023, with 31 open-enrolling into the district and 95 open-enrolling out.

Students attending St. Paul's Lutheran School are included in the open enrollment out.

There were 537 students in September and 533 in October. During these months, 21 students open-enrolled into the district and 93 open-enrolled out.

Board member Craig Fietzer said he wants to look further into this issue to see why students are leaving the district.

"We will know how better to address our programs and services to attract more students," he said.

In other business, the board discussed possible changes to the Athletic Code regarding academic eligibility.

"The old code talked about suspending students for getting F's," District Administrator Ryan Peterson. "This is about students being academically ineligible if their grades are not good. It basically lives on the idea that co-curriculars are a privilege at school. You're a student-athlete, but you have to be a student first."

The old code states students will be suspended for a duration of time, while the new code would allow for students to re-engage.

"This says that after 15 days of instruction, the students can go to their teachers and tell them they need to re-establish eligibility and have them sign off that they are now passing their classes," Peterson said. "The administrative team thought that this was a restorative opportunity for kids. This will give kids an incentive to do better."

The board unanimously approved the change.

The board also approved the purchase of a new public address system upgrade for the Manawa

Middle School/Little Wolf High School gymnasium. The cost of the project is up to $19,591, with a 10% allowance as needed.

The board approved several winter sports coaching positions pending background checks.

They include Larry Davenport, boys' eighth-grade basketball; Terry Nellis, boys' seventh-grade basketball; Terry Johnson, girls' varsity basketball; Autumn Curtis, girls' junior varsity basketball; Troy Wiesner, girls' JV2 basketball; Mike Frazier, girls' basketball volunteer assistant; Rick Zemple, boys' varsity basketball; Brad Butterfield, boys' JV basketball; Connor Scheid, boys' JV2 basketball; Kris Zielke and Trevor Krueger, boys' basketball volunteer assistant; Kevin Klemm and Tim Schulke, wrestling varsity co-coach; Corey Beyer, wrestling volunteer assistant; Cody Dean, middle school wrestling coach; Kellyn Kaczorowski, girls' eighth-grade coach; and Corrie Ziemer, girls' seventh-grade coach.

SEYMOUR – A Clintonville High School senior has been named the Bay Conference's senior swimmer of the year.

Dani Huss received the award Oct. 24 at the Bay Conference Swim Championship in Seymour.

"Each of the seven coaches in the conference is allowed to nominate one senior from their team who is then voted on by all of the coaches," Clintonville coach Cassie Hoffman said. "The senior swimmer of the year is one who exhibits leadership qualities, good sportsmanship and is well-rounded in swimming and academics, as well as other extracurricular activities. Swim capabilities are largely considered, including accomplishments throughout their time in high school swimming and sportsmanship in and outside of the pool."

Clintonville joined New London, Wittenberg-Birnamwood, Shawano/Bonduel, Marinette/Peshigo, Door County United and Seymour at the conference meet.

DNR holds angler educator workshop

BY GREG SEUBERT
SPORTS EDITOR

OSHKOSH – As a part-time fishing guide interested in working with a high school fishing club down the road, Ed Emery showed up Nov. 2 at an angler instructor training and certification workshop at the Oshkosh YMCA with plenty of questions.

So did Taylor Douglas, the Y's youth and family director. Emery and Douglas are two of six people to register for the 3 1/2-hour-long class, which the DNR's Angler Outreach Program offers throughout the state.

Participants left the workshop with a binder full of information ranging from casting and knot-tying tips to how to properly handle fish to how to identify certain species.

The DNR's Theresa Stabo and Cal Sinclair ran the workshop.

"Our angler education program is designed to get people of any age fishing," said Stabo, whose official title with the DNR is aquatic resources education director. "Sometimes, we'll focus on school teachers so they can bring their students out and incorporate (fishing) into their classroom curriculum. We work with local parks and recreation programs and locally based community centers, too."

A variety of people show up to get certified as an angler instructor, according to Stabo.

"It really depends on who sees the notice," she said.

"Sometimes, we'll have fishing club members come or teachers who are very interested. If they're a school teacher, it'll be incorporated into their program. If it's a Scout leader, maybe they'll help Scouts earn their badges, arrows or different awards they have. Local parks programs offer local fishing programs."

The DNR has offered the workshop since 1989. Anglers found the workshops through the federal Sport Fish Restoration fund. A small percentage of that apportionment supports angler education and other Angler R3 (recruitment, retention and reactivation) programs.

Certified angler instructors provide a range of clinics and programs in a variety of places. The DNR provides teaching materials, along with tips that help instructors tailor their programs to meet the needs of the groups they serve.

Certified angler instructors need to meet a number of qualifications, including:

- Be at least 18 years old.
- Have an interest in aquatic resources and their well-being.

- Possess a strong personal sense of outdoor ethics.

- Enjoy working with people of all ages.

- Have good communication and organizational skills.

- Hold a current fishing license when while fishing or leading fishing outings.

General fishing skills are helpful, but not required. A willingness to participate and learn is essential.

"We're not really teaching people how to fish, we teach them tips on how to share their knowledge and skills," Stabo said. "A lot of times, people are really good at something, but they don't know how to transfer that knowledge."

Instructor duties include conducting angler education programs for clubs, youth groups or schools in their communities; recruiting assistants and participants; returning loaner equipment and materials promptly and in good condition; and documenting and submitting timely and accurate program records to the angler education office.

Instructors are asked to offer at least one program within the first year of certification. Recertification will automatically renew for instructors who provide a program at least once every two years, but instructors inactive for two years must attend another workshop to become recertified.

"I've had people who know how to fish really well, but they're a little organizationally challenged," Stabo said. "We'd love to have them come and help us, but they might not be the ones who are running a program. They might be someone who helps by showing how to tie a knot. Some might need a little more coaching or a little more help, so we encourage them to work together. We want to help people establish a relationship with the resource. You take care of what you love, so we want to spark a love affair with aquatic resources and our fisheries."

Emery primarily guides in the Crivitz area, but his plans include moving to the Medford area, where he is involved with the Esadore Area Lake Association.

"I'm going to sit down and really read through this and decide after that where I want to go with it from there," he said. "Hopefully in a couple years when we move to the Medford area, I don't know if their high school has a fishing club, but I'd like to try working with them. You go to Illinois and it's a sanctioned sport in high schools through the state."

Emery wasn't sure what the workshop would entail, but said it was worthwhile.

"I was kind of hoping it would be a little more intensified, but with the duration of time we had, you can't really get that intense," he said. "If I take people out on a guide trip, I tell them, 'I'm here to teach you, not just to have you catch fish.' I want to teach you things to help you catch fish on your own later on."

Douglas contacted the DNR about bringing the workshop to Oshkosh.

"We started a new youth fishing program at the Oshkosh YMCA this summer," she said. "We wanted to provide youth in the community with the option and the knowledge to get outdoors and catch some fish. A lot of my staff and I have experienced fishing, but did not have the experience teaching children how to fish. We were doing some research, found this great program and reached out to them to see if they would be willing to come and teach us so we can teach the youth. We're going to be using it at the YMCA to do fishing clinics, workshops and summer programs. I know there's another person who hopes to be a professional fishing guide. This is a good way for them to show that they know how to teach clients or people on their boat that don't have much experience."

Details about the angler education program is available through Stabo at Theresa. Stabo@wisconsin.gov or 608-577-6332.

Not everyone who attends the workshop is an experienced angler, Stabo said.

"Some are and some aren't," she said. "They're passionate about our lakes and streams and fishing is the conduit to kind of spread the gospel about why it's so important to take care of our resources. Some of my best instructors really did not know how to fish when this started, but they know how to wrangle a group and coordinate. That's a big piece of it: pulling people together to make sure their needs are going to be met during this experience. That's what we're looking for."
