HOWARD – On Monday, Nov. 20, the Howard Commons Activity Complex looked like a scene out of a Hallmark movie.

Over 2,500 people gathered at the facility for the First Annual Tree Lighting & Ice Rink Grand Opening.

Chad Hendricks of Howard was there to see his kids perform.

“[And] then we just stayed because it was like a Hallmark movie here, and we wanted to be in the Howard Hallmark movie,” he said.

The event featured special appearances by the Meadowbrook Elementary fourth graders, Bay Port High School Band and the St. Norbert College Womens Hockey team.

“We have like a host family event, so we have families that basically sponsor us in a way and they take us in and it’s [a] great way to network and get in touch

GREEN BAY – For many Americans, Thanksgiving is about extended family gathering to share in a traditional meal and possibly watching the Green Bay Packers beat the Detroit Lions on TV.

But what about those without the means to cook a traditional meal or who are destined to spend the holiday alone?

For the past four decades, the Christian Outreach Annual Ecumenical Thanksgiving Dinner has worked to provide food and fellowship to those in need.

Since 1983, volunteers have worked to provide, prepare and distribute meals in the community on Thanksgiving Day.

GREEN BAY – Northeast Wisconsin Fair Maps Advocates rallied Nov. 21 at the Brown County Courthouse in Green Bay.

The event was organized “to bring attention to the start of the Wisconsin Supreme Court oral arguments” for Clarke v. Wisconsin Elections Commission lawsuit.

On Aug. 2, Rebecca Clarke and 19 other petitioners filed a lawsuit with the Wisconsin Supreme Court alleging that the state’s legislative maps are “unconstitutional extreme partisan gerrymander” and that they “violate Article IV, Sections 4 and 5 of the Wisconsin Constitution because the districts do not consist of ‘contiguous territory’ and violate the Wisconsin Constitution’s separation-of-powers doctrine.”

"Yeah, all of the families that are like kind of paired with our program they'll have a kid that's in like the Green Bay youth hockey — usually a girl — and it's just a good way for people like me and all that don't have like any family here, a good way to like have a connection if I need something that's not like my team or my coaches," teammate Sydney Luttrell, of Thornton, Colo., added.

"We have 3,000 people receiving the meals in Brown County," said President of the Christian Outreach Ecumenical Thanksgiving Ministry Jessica Zeitler.

"We work with agencies in town for a little bit and then we open up to the general public and we take reservations; which filled in about 3 1/2 weeks. We create routes, and then we have volunteers come on Thanksgiving and they will deliver them to their homes.

"It's all volunteers, which is really cool. [Another] cool thing these days, you see multi-generations and people do it each year. So, it's almost like your Thanksgiving family that you get to see. It's just a fun thing.

"There's a waitlist for volunteers because we fill up, which is great for this part of it. And it's just a good thing, a good family thing. I have my daughter here working with me and my mom... Just a neat thing to see. We have the Packers GiveBack [Foundation] working. We've got 37 volunteers from the Packers organization working..."

Zeitler said that it takes the better portion of a year to prepare for the 2024 event.

"We're going to take about a month off, do our wrap-up; and then another couple months, and then will start up again. Probably in April for planning everything," she said.

Boyea to be crowned Miss Rodeo Wisconsin 2024

BY MICKEY SCHOMMER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

HOBART – On Saturday, Jan. 6, Tori Boyea will be crowned Miss Rodeo Wisconsin 2024.

Despite starting her rodeo career at 15 years old, Boyea said, “I definitely never saw myself running for a title this big or running for a title at all, but I quickly fell in love with the industry, the people involved with it, and the community that it brings.”

During her first year of pageants, Boyea was crowned Miss Manawa Queen in 2019, which led her to “jump right into and run for [Miss Rodeo] Wisconsin” for which she was runner-up.

Because she was getting older, she decided to focus on her career after her receiving runner-up and sold all of her things, Boyea said.

However, she decided at the last minute to enter again for the Miss Rodeo Wisconsin 2024 pageant this year.

For Boyea, competing in the Miss Rodeo Wisconsin pageant was a “no-brainer.”

“The things that I’m learning and the people I’m meeting have been wonderful. There’s been a lot of growth up until this point,” she said. “To go to these rodeos and to have the youth look up to you and want to be like you, it’s really something special.”

During her reign, Boyea will travel to various schools in Wisconsin to promote rodeo by “showing kids that it’s out there.”

“To get involved is huge for us,” she added.

Additionally, Boyea will travel with a Miss Rodeo Wisconsin Teen, and together, they’ll help out other rodeos with their local pageants and help other girls working towards titles like Boyea’s.

“There’s definitely a lot of things that we do with the youth throughout our year, and we want to make sure that we make a good impact,” she said.

During the final month of her title, Boyea will go to Las Vegas to compete in the Miss Rodeo America 2025 pageant.

Boyea’s coronation will be hosted on Saturday, Jan. 6, noon - 4 p.m. at the Hobart Fire Station during her largest fundraiser of the year.

Donations and money for the event will be used for travel fees and other events, which she will use to educate younger generations about rodeo.

She is excited to mingle with her hometown community, celebrate her coronation and create connections with other Miss Rodeos nationwide.

Mulva Cultural Center to open to public Dec. 8

FOR THE PRESS TIMES

DE PERE – The $100 million, 75,000 square-foot Mulva Cultural Center in downtown De Pere will open its doors to the public on Friday, Dec. 8.

“We are so excited to welcome people inside of this magnificent facility,” stated Tom Shefchik, executive director of community relations. “We know this will quickly become a major destination for northeast Wisconsin.”

The cultural center — a gift to the community from philanthropists and De Pere natives, James J. and Miriam B. Mulva — will be a showcase for traveling exhibits from around the world.

It also includes a state-of-the-art auditorium, educational classrooms, gift shop, specialty restaurant Savour on Broadway and event space.

The opening exhibit, curated by the GRAMMY Museum and Fab Four Exhibits and produced by Exhibits Development Group, “Ladies and Gentlemen...The Beatles!” brings us back to the early 1960s when rock n’ roll emerged.

“This exhibit covers the Fab Four from early 1964 through mid-1966, the years Beatlemania ran rampant in America. Visitors will ‘Twist and Shout’ for the range of Beatles memorabilia, rare photographs and an authentic replica of the Liverpool Cavern Club. ‘And the GRAMMY Goes to.....’ will give visitors an overview of the history of the GRAMMY Awards, how a GRAMMY is won, how the award is made, access to memorable costumes, red carpet looks and more,” a Mulva Center release stated.

“All exhibits in the exhibition hall will require a ticket for timed entry. Atrium exhibits will be free for all visitors.”

Center staff said that the exhibits are just one part of the experience visitors when they walk in.

“As visitors arrive, the facility’s transparent design will provide an elegant transition from outdoor to indoor spaces, creating visual connections from day to night and allowing the building to serve as a lantern on the Fox River. Inside, an expansive, open-air atrium creates opportunities for new connections between cultural programs. An auditorium, event space, flexible exhibition spaces, classrooms, restaurant, and outdoor terrace and indoor gathering spaces will provide new venues for cultural engagement,” the release added.

“Supported by a sophisticated structural system designed to maximize daylight and minimize material use and visibility, the architecture of the Mulva Cultural Center will provide a stylish background for the institution’s diverse programming. A palette of native stone, timber, glass and neutral metals will define the space, inspired by its location adjacent to the river.”

I retired. What I’m doing now keeps me busy and helps other people at the same time.”

After spending 12 years as a fourth-grade teacher at St. Francis in Hollandtown and working various other jobs over the years, Mary retired at the age of 63.

But she found herself with too much free time and at the age of 69 she began working at Walmart in De Pere “to add structure to my day,” she said.

Fifteen years later, she still works at Walmart 16 hours per week.

In 2016, still with some free time on her hands — as a then-77-year-old woman — and seeking to make an impact in the lives of others, Mary started providing several boxes a year to a community development center on the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota.

The boxes contained hygiene items and other materials.

That continued from 2016 until fall 2021, when Mary was preparing to bring more than 20 boxes to the site but couldn’t find anyone to provide transportation due to COVID-related issues.

“I could not afford to ship them, because shipping to South Dakota is very expensive. Previously, I had shipped a few boxes here and there, but not 20-plus,” she said. “So friends and family encouraged me to do a ‘Go Fund Me’ page just to raise enough money to send those boxes.”

Nearly 20 years after she retired, Mary Ehnerd, 84, works 16 hours per week and devotes another 30 hours per week to the non-profit organization she founded. Submitted photos

One thing led to another, and Mary — who had been operating solely as an individual — soon thereafter was applying for status as a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization for Mary’s Missions.

Today, more than 40 individuals and seven corporations donate money and items to her cause, which benefits veterans, the homeless and Native American women and children.

“I felt those were the three most underserved communities,” Mary said.

Assisting veterans

Mary connects with the Milo C. Huempfer Health Care Center in Green Bay.

Until just recently, she was providing the center with laundry baskets (filled with sheets, pillows, bath towels, etc.) and kitchen kits that were distributed to veterans transitioning from homelessness to independent living.

She plans to continue working with the Huempfer site, but her efforts will be shifting to special projects.

“For example, the Center just recently reached out to Mary’s Missions because they had a veteran who needed a bed and they asked if we could provide one,” Mary said. “So we got everything — bed, frame, comforter set, pillows, the whole works — and my son David used a truck to deliver them to the veteran’s house.”

The homeless

Once during the winter and three times during the summer, Mary’s Missions provides Newcap Inc. of Green Bay with items to support those who are homeless. In the winter, backpacks are filled with warm mittens, scarves, hats, hygiene items, a poncho, notebook and pens.

provides Newcap Inc. of Green Bay with items to support those who are homeless.

In the winter, backpacks are filled with warm mittens, scarves, hats, hygiene items, a poncho, notebook and pens.

Mary noted that fellow parishioner Marie Wall does an outstanding job making the mittens for those backpacks.

In the summer, items include healthy snacks, bottled water, sun screen, hygiene items and a pair of $5 McDonald’s gift cards.

Newcap Inc.’s mission for more than 50 years “has been to move people from poverty to opportunities and economic security, while enhancing community development.”

Native American women and children

About eight times during the year, Mary’s Missions provides a variety of items to support people on the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota.

The site, not far from Badlands National Park, is among the poorest areas in the United States.

Mary’s Missions recently switched its support site and now will be helping those at the Sacred Shawl Women’s Shelter in Martin, S.D., which is on the reservation.

“I saw that Native American communities closer to bigger cities were doing a little better, but ones further west like Pine Ridge Reservation weren’t doing well, so I went west,” Mary said.

When asked how it makes her feel to help others, Mary said, “I don’t really think about that. I just know it’s important to get things out the door and have them get distributed to people who are in need of them. In the future I just want to be able to more fully support the things we’re already doing.”

“I still remember what a donor said his mother told him, ‘If you can, you should.’ Well, I can, and I am. I want to help people.”

Among those supporting Mary on a regular basis are her sons, Dan Ehnerd and Dave Ehnerd; her fellow board members Janice Van Wychen, Dan Ehnerd, Michael McCormick and Phyllis Jaworski (Mary serves as board president); her grandson Zach Ehnerd (website updates); and her niece Laura Nagel, along with a few of Laura’s family members.

Mary was born and raised in Green Bay, where she lived until her junior year of high school.

She and her late husband, Robert, who passed away in 2004, were married at St. Paul Church in Wrightstown on Sept. 13, 1958; today, she is a member of St. Clare Catholic Parish.

When asked how long she plans to continue working, with so many projects on her plate, Mary didn’t hesitate to reply, “My plan is to die with my boots on. I’m not stopping.”

Connecting with the animals at Christmas

BY COLLIN PEREZ

GREEN BAY – The NEW Zoo and Adventure Park will host a Holiday Fest on Saturday, Dec. 2, 9 a.m.-1 p.m., with various winter-themed activities available throughout the event, including appearances from Santa Claus and Mrs. Claus in the Mayan Restaurant from 9 a.m. – noon.

Elves will be handy to give candies to kids, there'll be a dropbox for letters to Santa and "Monkeys on the Mantle."

"Just like Elf on the Shelf, we have Monkeys on the Mantle, we have little plush monkeys and they are dressed up like elves. So every single monkey has its own different hat, they all have little names and they have a hat and we play a BINGO game with them where we give you a BINGO sheet. It has all the monkeys listed on it and you go out into the zoo and find them hiding," NEW Zoo Education & Volunteer Programs Coordinator Angela Kawski said. "Once you find them you check them off on your BINGO sheets, then you get to just have fun. It's another activity for people to do when they're here; the kids really seem to enjoy finding those little monkeys all over the zoo."

The Education and Conservation Center will have penguins and other animals available, as well as games and crafts.

"I just love to see the kids get excited about those things," Kawski said.

"There's always something new to do there and it's always so much fun seeing people get to connect with the animals closely, more than just looking at the animals when they're in their habitats. You get to see them up close and ask questions to our zoo ambassadors who are there too. It's really a lot of fun."

"Holiday Fest is a very weather-dependent event, I'd say. When it's nice and sunny out and not too chilly we have pretty good crowds. Even when there's smaller crowds here it works out nicely, because people kind of get that feel, almost like the zoo is all to yourself. The animals don't mind the snow. They're still active when it's cold out, even more so active when it's cold out than they are when it's summer, so it works out pretty good."

The evening will end with the Neil Anderson Canopy Tour and the Merry and Bright Canopy Lights from 4-6 p.m. on Dec. 2, 9 and 16.

"We will have lights strung up in the trees that people can see," said Kawski. "We're calling it Merry and Bright Canopy Lights, so you can come after the sun has set and see those sights up in the trees which is kind of cool."

De Pere receives trees to reduce runoff

BY LEE REINSCH

DE PERE – De Pere will receive 250 trees as part of an effort to reduce the amount of runoff that drains into the Fox River and bay of Green Bay.

The trees, part of a Great Lakes Restoration Initiative (GLRI) grant in conjunction with NEW Water (the Green Bay Metropolitan Sewerage District), are slated to be planted over the next 18 months.

De Pere Director of Parks, Recreation, and Forestry, Marty Kosobucki, said at a recent board of park commissioners meeting that the trees are destined for street terraces, to replace some of the hundreds of ash trees removed throughout the city due to the emerald ash borer.

The one- to two-inch diameter saplings will be a mix of hackberry, Kentucky coffee tree, tulip tree, ironwood, turkish filbert, skyline honey locust, greenspire linden, triumph elm and ivory silk Japanese lilac.

The grant includes $31,500 for the labor involved in planting and caring for the trees until they are established.

De Pere, Bellevue, Howard, Hobart, Pulaski, Ledgeview and De Pere will receive a total of 1,860 trees.

According to the Great Lakes Restoration Initiative, the 1,860 trees will reduce the amount of runoff by 372,000 gallons per year.

The GLRI, Brown County and the Green Bay Metropolitan Sewerage District are partnering in the effort to get trees planted in parks, along streets and agricultural riparian areas.

believe in fair maps, and we know the people of Wisconsin want fair maps because we've got the data to prove it," said Dr. Kristen Lyerly, who organized the event along with Jane Benson and Penny Bernard Shaber.

"Over and over again the people of Wisconsin have stood up and said what's happening right now in our state does not reflect who we are. So today oral arguments begin in Madison, it's happening right now, and here we are in Green Bay gathering together to make sure that people understand that across the states we're all on board. We want fair maps, we want representation."

Denmark Senior Henry Pahlow, National Vice Chair of High School Democrats, will be voting for the first time in 2024 and was a speaker at the event.

"Young people across the country, and especially in the state, can feel disconnected from the political system and that because we don't have fair maps, people in my generation sometimes consider what's the point of me voting or running for office or getting involved because the outcome of the election is already decided by how the maps are drawn to benefit a certain political party, and I believe that by getting fair maps we can, No. 1, show young people that their voice does matter, that they can make a change at the issues they care about will be heard by those in government, and No. 2, it can encourage them to run for office because if young people know that they have a shot at actually winning and bringing their voices to Madison when they have a district that allows them to run a competitive race, they'll start running for office and trying to make the voices heard," he said.

"So, I think fair maps is not just a political issue, it's a democratic issue and it's an issue of engaging young people across the state so that they feel like they have something at stake in today's political system."

Others speaking at the event included President of the Greater Green Bay Labor Council Steve McFarlane and Assembly District 90 Rep. Kristina Shelton.

Also on hand was former Assembly District 57 Rep. Penny Bernard Shaber, who said that Wisconsin "really needs to have a fair mapping process for the legislative districts."

"The ultimate solution is for the legislature to pass either a constitutional amendment or a law that sets up a process by which there's no partisan advantage to drawing the maps," she said.

Don't stop the music

Webster Elementary Children's Center for Integrated Arts recently hosted various musical opportunities for their students. On Friday, Nov. 17, the school welcomed musicians from groups, such as the Fourth Wall Ensemble and the Weidner Philharmonic, to perform and talk to students about their music, followed by an opportunity to watch a performance by the Fourth Wall Ensemble. Michael Dewhirst, a cellist in the Weidner Philharmonic, also visited the third, fourth and fifth grade music classes and talked about the Weidner Philharmonic as well as the Nutcracker Ballet in which Webster students attended on Nov. 21, pictured above and below. Prior to the Nutcracker Ballet, some of the musicians from the orchestra met with Webster students to play some music and show them their instruments.

Tomika Tolar

With winter right around the corner, Tomika Tolar is getting pretty excited. 14 years ago, she relocated from Winona, Miss., to Green Bay in search of something different and says, "I like the cold weather believe it or not." It must be a family trait because Tolar's two sisters have made the move as well. Tomika enjoys cooking in her free time and likes to prepare a variety of cultural dishes. Four years ago, she created an online candy store, Carol's Candy Creations and aspires to establish a brick-and-mortar location. When asked what she likes about Green Bay besides winter, Tolar replied, "It's city and country, you get both worlds."

SNC 125: St. Norbert will be ready

BY KRIS LEONHARDT
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

After World War II, enrollments made a large increase. In 1952, the college became coeducational under the leadership of Abbot Bernard Pennings, who continued in this role until his retirement in 1955.

By 1955, enrollment had fallen to 693, but rebounded to 874 the following year — an increase of more than 20% over the previous year — making it one of the largest small colleges in the state.

About 70% of the student body came from within 70 miles of De Pere.

By this time, the college had spent $1,487,000 in new facilities and resources to keep up with expansion and changing times, including a new Hall of Fine Arts, but more was needed.

A development campaign was launched.

“Without our substantial financial investment in its future, the college cannot hope to continue serving the growing numbers of our youths who seek admission. There is a limit to what we can ask without expecting to give in return,” said campaign chair, W. Heraly MacDonald.

“I, for one, believe we have reached the point where it becomes our obligation to support the St. Norbert Development Program to the limit of our abilities.”

The campaign was asking for $4,208,000 over a 10-year period to address the growing population the college served.

Funding would be used to address faculty funding, a library and classroom expansion, a scholarship and lending fund, a science building and a student union.

By Dec. 10, 1959, the campaign reached $1.2 million and college officials started making plans for a student union, library and classroom expansions, as well as putting some of the funding toward faculty.

Ground was broken in December 1960 for the student union, which opened in October 1961, and was deemed the “living room of the campus.”

In May 1961, the college was still looking for $100,000 to construct a science hall, which would be the final project in what was considered the “first phase.”

Using the theme “St. Norbert will be ready,” over 100 volunteers began soliciting funds.

In 1963, new cornerstones were laid for two residence halls on the campus — one for 232 men and one for 176 women — made possible through a long-term federal loan from the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

During the ceremony, St. Norbert President Rev. D. M. Burke noted the significance of the new residence hall specifically for women.

“St. Norbert College has come into its own in its effort to afford equal educational opportunities to women,” he stated.

By adding the new residence, it allowed women from outside the area to take advantage of the education there.

By early 1967, a $2.8 million science building was under construction to provide labs and research areas and classrooms for biology, botany, chemistry, math, physics and zoology.

The structure would be the largest building on campus to date.

TREES

Director of Parks, Recreation, and Forestry, Marty Kosobucki, said the entire roof, including soffits and trusses, needs to be replaced.

Although a metal roof is expected to last two to three times as long as a shingled roof, it will cost more than the replacement shingled roof partially covered by the city's insurance plan.

The additional cost would need to come from unassigned reserves.

The lowest bid for repairs including a shingled roof is $124,000.

The lowest bid for repairs with a metal roof upgrade is $142,615.

The commission approved the metal roof 4-2, with Alders Dean Raasch and Amy Chandik Kundinger voting “nay.”

Raasch said he thought a metal roof would last longer than the building.

The building structure itself is 12-15 years old, and Kosobucki said he saw no reason why it wouldn't last 40 to 50 more.

Lights, action

The holiday light show at Voyageur Park will soon be underway. Volunteers with the Pink Flamingos will set up decorations and lights on Nov. 29.

The drive-through light display, formally known as “De Pere Holiday Light Festival Sponsored by Fox Communities Credit Union,” started in 2021 with a $12,500 commitment from the credit union in the form of $5,000 the first year and $2,500 the second, third and fourth years.

It has added more than a dozen new displays this year.

“We want to slowly get bigger and better each year,” Kosobucki said.

Playground updates

The new playground areas at Kelly Danen and Legion parks are up and running.

Kelly Danen's is the park's first playground, with play equipment sponsored by a local church.

Legion's new playground equipment replaces older equipment.

A third playground, at Lawton Park, is getting closer, according to Kosobucki.

Once a new sidewalk is installed and cured, wood chips can be put in place and the playground will be nearly ready.

GBAPS District Office building to remain

BY KRIS LEONHARDT
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

GREEN BAY – During its Nov. 27 meeting, the Green Bay Area Public Schools (GBPAS) Board of Education voted to remove the relocation of the district office building, currently at 200 S. Broadway, Green Bay, from the Facility Master Plan.

GBAPS Board Member Andrew Becker said that he would vote no on the matter because the community wanted to see something different and that it was also a matter of centralization and decentralization.

Becker said that they had been looking at a “traditional inside-the-box kind of office move.”

“You find a building with space, you try to make it look similar to what it is right now the inside space and you do it. So, I'm certainly happy to see some other options. I didn't like a lot of West (High School) being used for district offices, and I'm glad we removed [it],” he stated.

“However, I am concerned that this doesn't reflect listening to the community that overwhelmingly spoke up that they want this office closed in the survey. In fact, that was the only thing in the survey that I would say was overwhelmingly supported.”

“I would just add to that, that, yes, the survey did show that there was firm support for closing this building,” GBAPS President Laura McCoy added. “But the people that took that survey were not privy to this report that had all this detail. They just took an online survey and didn't have that information available to them when they did that. So, I wonder if we did that survey and they had access to all that information if they would feel the same way because the price tag is enormous.”

The board ultimately voted 6-1 to remove it from the plan, with Andrew Becker voting no.

A symbol for those passing through

BY SAM HAASE

SUAMICO – The same year that Wisconsin was recognized as a state, Green Bay partnered with Congress to build its first lighthouse.

The first lighthouse proposed in the area was placed near the mouth of the Fox River but Pottawatomie Island, the proposed site, was deemed unsuitable for construction and uninhabitable for a keeper.

It was later decided that the best place for the lighthouse would be on Long Tail Point about two miles north of the original proposed placement.

Congress allocated $4,000 in 1847 for the construction of the lighthouse and it was built using the stone and sand that was located nearby.

The tower was 51.5 feet tall with nine lamps at the top in the lantern room.

A stone house was built nearby with five rooms for the keepers to live.

The first keeper to live and work on Long Tail Point was Peter White who activated the lighthouse for the first time in 1848.

By 1859 the water level had risen and surrounded the tower with water.

Afraid that the lighthouse would fall, another one was built high uphill that same year.

Long Tail Point's second lighthouse built in 1859. The lighthouse also served as the keeper's house. National Archives photos

The second lighthouse was made out of wood instead of stone to ensure it was stable on the sandy soil that filled the area.

In June of 1890, the lighthouse was upgraded with a fog bell to signal ships even if the lamps could not be seen.

However, four years later it was decided that the bell was not of use to ships as it could not be heard in most weather conditions.

Because of this, the Lighthouse Board decided that the only solution would be to build a third lighthouse closer to the water.

In 1899 a wood and ce-

Long Tail Point's first lighthouse built in 1847. It was built using sand and limestone found on the eastern shore of Green Bay.

ment structure was placed directly into the water.

This lighthouse was outfitted with a fog bell during its construction which was updated in 1911 to a compressed air fog horn.

In 1936 that lighthouse was automated and no longer required a keeper.

This would prevent events such as the one that occurred in 1929 where the keeper at the time had to flee the lighthouse as it flooded during a storm.

The year 1973 saw the destruction of the third lighthouse.

A storm of 70 miles per hour winds caused waves up to 12 feet tall that tore apart the structure the lighthouse sat on as well as the building itself.

Both the 1859 and 1899 lighthouses were constructed because the people of Green Bay believed that the first lighthouse would be flooded and lost.

However, in an ironic twist of events, the original lighthouse built in 1847 is the only one that can still be seen today.

While the lighthouse is no longer in use, it can still be seen on Long Tail Point with a modern light located at the top to mark the tip of the point for those passing through.

Parking study requested for new Ledgeview development

BY MADDIE MARTIN
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

LEDGEVIEW – At its Nov. 21 meeting, the Ledgeview Town Board discussed a possible new development on Dickinson Road.

The board looked at a building site and operations plan requested by Allison Smits for a new development at LedgeCrest Reserve Unit 11.

The unit was proposed to be a two story, entertainment space, with the first floor being designed for events, and the top floor offering lodging space.

The proposal has been in circulation since spring, but hadn't come before the board due to various building and fire code issues that needed to be resolved.

The building lines were adjusted to adhere to fire code regulations.

Ledgeview Town Board Supervisor Alan Matzke raised concerns about parking in the area, suggesting that there may not be enough parking in the LedgeCrest Reserve for the additional unit.

Senior Planner Dustin Wolff pointed out that the area was always intended for shared parking, so those utilizing Unit 11 would have access to the existing parking in the area.

Ultimately, the motion failed, with the board suggesting that the proposal be brought back at the next meeting, with a study done regarding the available parking.

Should the study suggest that the existing parking space is enough for the additional unit, the board may reconsider the proposal at the next meeting.

The next meeting will be held on Dec. 4.

Katherine Johnson Academy of Enriched Virtual Learning to remain open

The board also unanimously voted to leave Katherine Johnson Academy of Enriched Virtual Learning open, while working to help it "become sustainable" as a virtual and enhanced learning institution, which might include the addition of an eighth-grade level.

While a motion was not necessary in the matter, the board chose to take action to make a statement on the matter.

"I think the reason I wanted to make this as motion is so that we're all clear on where we stand as a board and the programming offered a Katherine Johnson. So, I think this is an opportunity for the board to recognize that fact," said GBAPS Board Member Bryan Milz.

Boundary Adjustment Advisory Committee members selected

In other action, the board unanimously approved the selection of 15 committee members with two students and alternates for the Boundary Adjustment Advisory Committee.

Twenty-six people completed an online application and members were selected in accordance with the Boundary Adjustment Advisory Committee Charter by Superintendent Dr. Claude Tiller and McCoy.

"This is the culmination of a lot of work, kind of the first test of a new policy that we implemented this last summer, on how to handle advisory committees in our district," explained McCoy.

GBAPS students Genevieve Winkler and Q Yang.

Alternates are Tarron Talbot and Emily Tietyen

McCoy added that the selections were a little unbalanced in a geographical manner, but the selections had to be made from the individuals who applied.

"The geographical aspects were not considered as much as just trying to find some balance and make sure we have students. You can't control who applied right? And so, we weren't always able to cover all the geographic areas," she explained.

The committee will begin meeting on Tuesday, Dec 12, in a mix of virtual and in-person forums.

Love or Soulmates

Dear Reader,

Are there soulmates in this world? Possibly, and possibly not. When I think of my daughter Katelyn's love for her husband, I think of soulmates. When I think of other people who love each other, I think of them as semi-soulmates.

PATRICK J. WOOD
Publisher

And then, when I think of people who just like each other, and want to be with each other, possibly they are soulmates of some sort too.

Love can be so diverse, from the deep connection of soulmates to the affection between people who simply like each other. It's a reminder that there's no one-size-fits-all definition of love, and that's what makes it so unique and special for each person.

Having a safe and healthy holiday season

FROM BROWN COUNTY PUBLIC HEALTH

Brown County Public Health would like to remind everyone that there are simple steps you can take to help keep family and loved ones safe and healthy this holiday season.

"It's really easy to protect yourself, your family and your community from severe illness," said Anna Nick, Brown County Public Health Officer. "Simple steps like washing your hands, avoiding close contact with sick people, and most importantly, staying home when you are sick, are all ways you can slow the spread of respiratory illnesses here in Brown County, and keep your loved ones safe and healthy."

Viruses like RSV, COVID-19 and influenza have the potential to be severe, especially for young children, people who are immunocompromised and older adults.

If eligible, you can get the flu vaccine and the updated COVID-19 booster at the same time.

While vaccination is important, you can also take simple steps to increase your protection and help keep you and your loved ones safe while gathering this holiday season:

Wash your hands often with soap and warm water for 20 seconds and/or use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer.

Clean and disinfect surfaces that are touched often at home, work and school.

Avoid being around people who are sick.

If you become sick with the flu or another respiratory virus, help prevent the spread and protect others by:

- Washing your hands often with soap and warm water.

- Covering your mouth and nose with a tissue when you cough or sneeze. Throw the tissue in the trash after you use it.

- Staying home when experiencing symptoms, except to get medical care.

It's also important to keep food safety in mind when planning for parties, the holidays, or any other gatherings this winter season. You can prevent food poisoning and other foodborne illnesses by following these tips:

- Cook food thoroughly. Use a food thermometer to make sure meat, chicken, turkey, seafood and eggs have been cooked to a safe internal temperature to kill germs.

- Keep food out of the "danger zone." Bacteria can grow rapidly in the danger zone between 40°F and 140°F. After food is prepared, keep hot food hot and cold food cold. Refrigerate or freeze perishable food like meat, chicken, turkey, seafood, eggs, cut fruit, cooked rice and leftovers within two hours.

- Do not eat raw dough or batter. Dough and batter made with flour or eggs can contain harmful germs, such as E. coli and Salmonella.

Wash your hands with soap and water during these key times when you are likely to get and spread germs:

- Before, during and after preparing food
- Before eating food
- After handling pet food or pet treats or touching pets
- After using the toilet
- After changing diapers or helping someone use the toilet
- After touching garbage
- Before and after caring for someone who is sick
- Before and after treating a cut or wound
- After blowing your nose, coughing, or sneezing

You can learn more about holiday food safety and respiratory illnesses at www.cdc.gov/foodsafety/communication/holidays.html or www.dhs.wisconsin.gov/disease/respiratory.htm.

Time is almost up to select a Medicare plan

BY JEREMY GASKILL
HUMANA WISCONSIN
MEDICARE PRESIDENT

Choosing a Medicare plan that meets your health and financial needs shouldn't be a burden, especially during this time of year when most people are otherwise busy with holidays, get-togethers and celebrations.

In fact, a well-chosen plan can serve as a safety net, providing peace of mind for both routine and unexpected circumstances.

The Medicare Advantage and Prescription Drug Plan Annual Election Period (AEP), which ends Dec. 7, is a yearly opportunity for those eligible for Medicare to review their current plan, and join, switch or drop a Medicare Advantage plan.

It's an important decision, since the plan you select by the deadline is the plan you'll likely have for all of the coming year.

I want beneficiaries in Wisconsin to feel empowered during this year's AEP, so here are several key things to consider:

Out-of-pocket costs
Medicare Advantage plans have capped out-of-pocket expenses, whereas Original Medicare does not. Be sure to compare deductibles, copays and premiums to understand the financial aspects of each plan. Of note, Medicare Advantage members report they are saving more than $2,400 on average per year on out-of-pocket costs when compared to individuals enrolled in Original Medicare.

Prescription drug coverage

Understanding your plan's drug coverage is vital, as medications can get expensive if you aren't covered. Medicare Advantage Prescription Drug plans include prescription drug coverage, whereas Original Medicare requires a separate Part D plan if you want prescription drug coverage. Prepare a list of your current medications to help filter plans and compare costs.

Specialized offerings

Medicare Advantage plans are designed to help ensure your health care needs are covered, which is why it's important to consider a plan that includes dental, vision and hearing benefits. If you are eligible for both Medicare and Medicaid, look into Dual-Eligible Special Needs Plans that may include benefits like transportation to doctor visits and a monthly allowance that can help you pay for necessities, like rent, utilities and over-the-counter products. For example, Humana's D-SNPs include a Healthy Options Allowance that rolls over unused portions to the next month.

Reputation

Having an insurer with an outstanding plan and customer service ratings is useful for gauging how much support you'll have as a potential member. The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services annually assesses Medicare Advantage plans on a scale of one to five, with five stars representing the highest quality. The scores are available on the Medicare Plan Finder on Medicare.gov when you are comparing plans.

Love said the Packers' chemistry is evident on the field

BY TORI WITTENBROCK

EDITOR

GREEN BAY – After much doubt about which direction the 2023 season would go for the Packers, quarterback Jordan Love said that he feels things have definitely started to turn around for the team.

“The receivers balled out today. That’s that confidence. We’re just making plays right now and it’s huge. Obviously, we talk about how it’s not always perfect, but I just love how they are going out there and competing and making those contested catches right now,” said Love regarding the chemistry on the field with his receivers in their Thanksgiving Day game against the Detroit Lions (8-3).

After so many games this season hinging on a late comeback or coming down to the final drive, Love said that it felt good to finally be out in front, especially against one of the best teams in the league.

At the end of the first quarter, the Packers were up 20-6 to the Lions at Ford Field in Detroit.

“It just gives you con-

Jordan Love said that the chemistry of the Green Bay Packers has really led to a difference on the field. Kris Leonhardt photo

“The defense balled out and they were able to keep getting us the ball back, so we could continue to try to put up points. I think there are some plays we left out there and made it an even bigger score than it was, but that’s what we want. We want to be able to start fast, put those points up early, help the defense out, and then go from there.”

“That’s what you want to do coming into a game. You want to get that advantage where you’re putting up points making the other offense play from behind, as opposed to us playing from behind. It’s huge any time you can do that.”

Packer fans have been excited to witness the growth of the team and to see countless incomple- tions slowly morph into touchdown receptions.

“We just continue to work every week. Obviously, we know it’s not going to be perfect, but the progress is there. We continue to put that work in every week and build that chemistry,” said Love. “Christian (Watson) has got trust, and he’s just going out there and making plays right now.”

Earlier in the season, the Packers saw a 34-20 loss at Lambeau on Sept. 28, and were seeking redemption in their next face-off.

However, because of the nature of the Thursday game and the short week, the preparation for the game looked different than an average week with a Sunday game.

“We had a really short week and I think that the coaches did a really good job scheming and game-planning, and then we went out there and brought the plan to life.”

Although the offense proved big this game and young receivers seemed to be a big part of the Packers’ success, the teams’ defense played a big role in the game as well.

“The defense balled out and they were able to keep getting us the ball back, so we could continue to try to put up points. I think there are some plays we left out there and made it an even bigger score than it was, but that’s what we want. We want to be able to start fast, put those points up early, help the defense out, and then go from there.”

The Packers have another big game ahead of them as they take on the Kansas City Chiefs (8-3) on Sunday, Dec. 3 at Lambeau Field, in a game that could bring their record up to 6-6.

NEWS BRIEFS

Fire in Howard

HOWARD – On Thursday, Nov. 23, at 10:40 p.m., the Howard Fire Rescue, along with the Packerland Fire District (Pulaski Fire and Suamico Fire), was dispatched to 4981 Millwood Court in Howard for a report of a building on fire.

Firefighters arrived on scene to find the building heavily involved in fire.

Crews worked to contain the fire for about 45 minutes and remained on scene for two and a half hours to overhaul and extinguish all remaining hot spots.

No injuries were sustained by responders or the property owners.

The fire was confined to the building of origin. The building and contents were a total loss estimated at $150,000.

The cause of the fire is under investigation by the Brown County Fire Investigation Task Force.

Howard Fire Rescue and the Packerland Fire District were assisted on scene by the Brown County Sheriff’s Department, Green Bay Metro Fire Department, Hobart Fire Department and County Rescue.

2024 Keep Wildlife Wild poster contest open for submissions

WISCONSIN – Submissions are now being accepted for the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) 2024 Keep Wildlife Wild poster contest.

Wisconsin students in fourth, fifth and sixth grades are eligible to submit a design.

Started in 2014, the Keep Wildlife Wild program aims to spread the word about our shared role in keeping all wildlife healthy and in its natural habitat.

Submitted posters should convey the importance of enjoying and observing wildlife in the wild and not keeping wildlife in homes or as pets.

The DNR encourages students to learn how they can help keep wild animals in Wisconsin safe and healthy by visiting the Keep Wildlife Wild webpage.

Submissions will be accepted electronically or by mail through Feb. 16.

Winners will be notified by email in March and be shared in a statewide news release and Facebook post during the sixth annual Keep Wildlife Wild Week in April.

For more details about the contest and submitting a poster, visit dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/WildlifeHabitat/posterdesigncontest.

DATCP announces 2023 Buy Local, Buy Wisconsin grant recipients

WISCONSIN – The Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP) has announced the recipients of its 2023 Buy Local, Buy Wisconsin (BLBW) grants.

BLBW is a competitive grant program designed to strengthen Wisconsin’s agriculture and food industries by helping farms and businesses more efficiently process, market and distribute locally grown food products.

BLBW grants provide consumers with access to more Wisconsin-grown food products, including organic vegetables, hops varieties, hazelnut products, locally-grown grain and other value-added products.

“Buy Local, Buy Wisconsin grants are another tool that local producers and processors can utilize to support their businesses,” said DATCP Secretary Randy Romanski. “These grants also benefit Wisconsin consumers as they help strengthen the connections between the farm gate and dinner plate.”

This year, DATCP received 13 funding requests totaling more than $473,000.

Five recipients were selected, including Lov-It Foods of Green Bay.

Lov-It Foods will use the grant funding to create a retail website to sell Lov-It cheese products including converted from 40-pound blocks, artisanal wheels and trim cheese from local Wisconsin cheese manufacturers, marketed to Wisconsin residents and tourists looking for locally crafted artisanal Wisconsin products.

Local business expands on 30 years

HOWARD – Keith Van Rixel, who has been in the flooring business for over 30 years, recently opened a flooring/retail store in Howard, called KVR Floors and More.

This store, which expands upon the flooring business Van Rixel already had, focuses on providing an array of flooring products in addition to installation services.

“We are now a flooring retail store offering a wide variety of products from luxury vinyl plank, carpet and tile to tile showers, customer rugs and professional installation,” he said.

This store, which expands upon the flooring business Van Rixel already had, focuses on providing an array of flooring products in addition to installation services. Submitted photo

“I started KVR Flooring 30 years ago as a flooring installation business. I always thought about opening my own retail store. So the opportunity was there and I opened up KVR Floors & more. I started building it out in July 2023 and opened for business Nov. 1.”

Van Rixel has been in the flooring business for decades, but has recently wanted a change.

On the topic of being a business owner, he said, “I’ve always wanted to start a retail business whether it be a flooring store or something else. Whenever I worked for another company I was really never happy working for a weekly paycheck. I was more looking at the owner and saying to myself ‘I want to be that guy instead.’”

Van Rixel said his clientele ranges from “residential and commercial with veterans, senior citizens and builders discounts.”

Overall, Van Rixel has said that being directly involved in his own business has been very fulfilling, and recommends it to anyone who would like to be their own boss.

For aspiring business owners, he said, “my advice to upcoming business owners is to stay focused on your idea, work hard, and don’t give up.”

KVR Floors and More is located at 2407 Glendale Ave, Green Bay.

Remembering Bay Beach's beloved otters

By Janelle Fisher
City Pages Editor

The Woodland Building at Bay Beach Wildlife Sanctuary has been a bit empty since July of last year, when the sanctuary's beloved resident otters, Sammy and Sadie, passed away.

Bay Beach Wildlife Sanctuary Curator Lori Bankson was involved with caring for Sammy and Sadie from the time they arrived at Bay Beach Wildlife Sanctuary after they had a rough start to life.

"Sammy and Sadie were found in a cranberry bog in Tomah in 2008 and brought to us when their mother was not found," she said. "They were just one week old. My husband Jared and I had the distinct honor to raise them with the goal of being released back into the wild."

Although illness prevented Sammy and Sadie from making it back to the wild, Bankson said they served a great purpose throughout their time at the sanctuary.

"When Sammy and Sadie became very ill and sadly could not be released back into the wild, they became beloved animal ambassadors here at Bay Beach Wildlife Sanctuary," she said. "For over 14 years, Sammy and Sadie taught us about not just otters, but also training and enrichment, keeping our waterways clean and helping others. Because of Sammy and Sadie, the wildlife sanctuary has also been able to be one of the few facilities in the state of Wisconsin to care for and release many, many more orphaned and ill otters back into the wild."

Bankson said the bond Sammy and Sadie shared, both with each other and with the people around them, was truly something special.

"Sammy and Sadie were definitely a pair — swimming, giving their happy honks and dining together, digging into snow piles, playing in boxes with their toys, sliding on their slide and, of course, giving each other otter kisses," she said. "They had a special bond as Sam always followed Sadie and depended on her. Sam and Sadie also had a special bond with our staff and our volunteers and many many people that loved them — they always recognized my husband when he came to visit them."

When the sanctuary lost both otters in July 2022, Bankson said the sanctuary began planning a way to remember Sammy and Sadie and their contributions to the community.

"When they sadly passed away within 10 days of each other in 2022, we thought about their lasting legacy that they have here and in our community," she said "We have been honored that Kent Hutchison was able to capture their spirit in this beautiful art installation. I really hope that you all enjoy this beautiful art installation as much as we do and always remember to play outside and take care of each other, just like Sammy and Sadie.”

A sculpture was commissioned from Kent Hutchison to be installed outside of the sanctuary’s Woodland Building for guests to pause and remember the playful pair.

Bringing the new sculpture to fruition took the effort of many people in addition to Hutchison.

“This is a city-supported park that we have here, but it would not be possible to make the investments that we’ve been able to make over the years without the Friends [of the Wildlife Sanctuary], which is just an incredible organization who have made so much possible, including this beautiful art installation,” Green Bay Mayor Eric Genrich said. “Also, thanks to Dan Ditscheit, our parks director, and James Anderson, our deputy director, and Lori and the whole team at the wildlife sanctuary for pouring their heart and soul into these animals and into this natural resource that we have to hold and protect here. And, last but not least, of course thanks to Kent for everything that he’s done throughout the city. He’s a big believer in public art and a great producer of public art.”

Hutchison said creating a sculpture for Bay Beach held a meaning to him even beyond memorializing Sammy and Sadie.

“I ended up working here after about 15 years of coming here or so, and that was a huge privilege,” he said. “If you have kids or youth coming up who want to go into the sciences or biology, they have awesome programs here and you can work and you can clean up a lot of poop. Those jobs kind of sculpted who I am and the direction I lead as an artist. This place has had a tremendous influence on me.”

Jackie & Jill

Conjoined red-eared sliders Jackie and Jill are something you don’t see every day. The duo toured full time with the Big Circus Side Show for over 10 years and are now enjoying retirement with Jake and Renee Eggert, of New Franken, WI. Residing in what must be described as a turtle mansion, the pair call a 165-gallon, indoor pond home. It’s not all rest and relaxation, as the Eggerts own and operate Mischief and Magic. Their company provides entertainment in the form of juggling, balloon acts, fire shows, and magic tricks. Occasionally, the turtle twosome will tag along on the Mischief Menagerie bus, a mobile assortment of oddities and mysteries. They happily greet fans from their 200-gallon, traveling aquarium. Jake says, “We get asked all the time if they fight over which direction to go, they do.” Jackie is the dominate of the two, “she has more muscle tone and her spine is complete” says Renee. The Eggerts have designed their pond layout to provide areas to relax, while avoiding obstacles that are too tough to navigate. Despite their unusual arrangement, The Eggerts report 20-year-old Jackie and Jill are perfectly healthy. They receive regular vet checks and enjoy a gourmet diet, including their favorite treat of dried shrimp. Shane Fitzsimmons photo ecosystem, including aquatic plants, crayfish, rainbow trout and, of course, Sammy and Sadie.

“These otters that you’ll see here were made from photos that I got from Lori,” he said. “I really tried to capture Sam and Sadie. Apparently Sam, the boy, was a little bit subservient to Sadie, who was kind of like the rule maker and would harass Sammy in a fun way. So I kind of tried to capture that whole dynamic as they played underwater... You’re supposed to feel like you’re underwater with Sam and Sadie, playing happily into perpetuity.” CP

SOUTHWEST TACKLES TOUGH TOPICS IN PRODUCTION OF THE PROM

By Janelle Fisher
 City Pages Editor

As the fall high school theater season comes to an end, Green Bay Southwest High School will open their auditorium this weekend for a show that packs a punch.

"We wanted to do a show that had a real message — that was timely and had a real message for today," Assistant Director Brent Brayko said. "With all the hate and polarization, this was a good time to do it."

The show is The Prom, and the story is one which really resonated with Southwest students and directors alike.

"For many years, we didn't get student input," Lead Director Brandon Rockstroh said. "This year, we did kind of a Google poll and asked 'What shows interest you?' We narrowed down the list to like seven shows between students and directors and from there everyone did some research and gave rankings. This show was the top vote-getter among the director team, among this year's senior class and among the large student population. I think the kids are excited about performing a show with a message that is just deeper than your typical musical."

"The show is based on a true story of a town somewhere in the South," Brayko said. "A girl wanted to ask her girlfriend to prom, and they created a second prom. They found out they couldn't discriminate or keep her from going so they secretly made another prom in another area of the city and never told her and this girl showed up to an empty gym while the rest of the kids all kept it a secret and had prom at a country club or something like that."

"As the show goes along, you see Emma trying to maneuver in a small town... trying to make her way through high school in a very bigoted, not inclusive school and community," Brayko said. "Alyssa, the girlfriend, is closeted and doesn't want anyone to know either, so they have the fake prom... And then in the second act, things really start to fall apart. The consequences of all the town's actions start to come to fruition and it finally comes around to an ending of inclusiveness."

While there are many things Rockstroh and Brayko love about the show — its songs, dance numbers, humor, etc. — it is the overarching message of the play that they say makes it impactful.

"I think everyone in this world could use some more kindness — more warmth towards other human beings — and this show is littered with it,” Rockstroh said. “The entire message is all about acceptance and kindness and I think our world would be a better place if people could treat each other better at the gas station, at the grocery store, in the school hallways.”

“We love this show because it’s not hit you over the head, smack you in the face, gay rights, gay rights, gay rights,” Brayko said. “It’s live and let live. Just love each other and don’t judge what’s not your place to judge.”

Throughout the rehearsal process, Brayko said he and Rocstroh have been working with the cast and crew to identify how they can relate the story to their own lives.

“We’ve really done a lot of work with the cast and the kids themselves, thinking about ‘When have you felt excluded for anything, or felt picked on or not part of the in crowd?’” Brayko said. “This is who we’re doing this show for and getting that message out.”

The culmination of those efforts? A collection of interviews with the students involved in the show to kick off the performance, sharing what the show and its message means to them.

“The show is going to begin with a five-minute countdown to the show,” Rockstroh said. “The lights will dim and a video plays, and it’s interviews about how this story has impacted you. And the students could go in whatever direction they wanted. There was a lot of personal attachment, and it was broad. It wasn’t just like ‘I’ve been bullied for my sexuality.’ It was ‘I’ve been bullied because of this, that or the other thing, and here’s why this story resonates with me.’ Nobody should be an outcast. Everyone belongs. Everyone deserves a seat at the table.”

Brayko said he hopes the show is well received by the community, and that attendees recognize that there is something in it for everybody.

“We really hope that this message gets out and that we get supporters here,” Brayko said. “It’s not an LGBTQ show. We don’t want it to be ‘oh, come because you’re LGBTQ.’ We want that support and that advocacy and for people to say ‘yeah, we can fill these seats...’ Whether you agree with the lifestyle or not, that’s not the issue here... It’s just about ‘don’t judge.’”

Southwest is among the first Wisconsin High Schools to put on a production of The Prom.

“I think some schools are hesitant that it’s not going to be well-received,” Rockstroh said. “The story, it’s not traditional. It’s not a male/female romance. And yet, I think once they see this story and experience the mood of the show, I hope other schools are like ‘we should be doing this, too.’ It’s an important story to tell.”

Some other schools who have attempted to tell the story of The Prom across the country have faced significant pushback and even threats from their communities, even leading to the cancellation of some productions before they can get off the ground, but Brayko and Rockstroh said they’re thankful to have been met primarily with support.

“We have heard things like ‘well, you’re never going to fill the seats. No one’s going to come to a gay show. They’re not going to come to a show they’ve never heard of...’” Brayko said. “So there’s been some of those kinds of comments, and I think there’s maybe some teasing of the kids a little bit in the school hallways. But it’s just because it’s groundbreaking... And the administration here has been very supportive along the way.”

“We received overwhelming support from last year’s principal, who approved the original show choice, and then this year’s principal gave me full support,” Rockstroh said. “I’m grateful to be in a school community where we embody who we strive to be. This entire show is about treating people with decency and I feel like our school community does that.”

Performances of The Prom will take place Dec. 1, 2, 7, 8 and 9 at 7 p.m.

by Janelle Fisher

Holiday Fest

Saturday, Dec. 2 | NEW Zoo, Suamico

Winter-themed activities, games and treats. Play holiday BINGO, find mischievous Monkey Elves around the zoo, and visit Santa and Mrs. Claus in the Mayan Restaurant from 9 a.m.-12 p.m. Stop by the Education and Conservation Center to see what special animal friends will be making appearances. Face painting will be available and all children will receive a bag of candy when stopping by to see Santa. This event is included with regular admission. To learn more, see newzoo.org.

Festival of Lights

Saturday, Dec. 2
Lambeau Field, Green Bay

Holiday movies and cartoons, holiday card making, area high school choirs performing holiday music and photo opportunities with Santa Claus. Sugar cookies for decorating will be available for purchase. Festivities begin at 5 p.m. The formal lighting of the tree will take place at 6:30 p.m. This year’s tree was donated by Roger and Patricia Gadda, in memory of the previous owner of their home, Tom, who passed away a few years ago and who was a lifelong Packers fan and always dreamed his tree would be selected to be displayed at Lambeau Field. This event is free to attend. Attendees are encouraged to bring new, unwrapped toys to donate to Toys for Tots to help families in need this holiday season. See packers.com/fans/festival-of-lights for more information.

Drinks with the Grinch

Saturday, Dec. 2
Resch Expo, Ashwaubenon

Tickets include one free cocktail, photo opportunities with the Grinch, holiday snacks and more. Buddy the Elf will be serving complimentary champagne samples. This event begins at 5 p.m. Tickets are $30. Attendees must be 21 or older. Visit reschcomplex.com for more details and to purchase tickets.

21st Century Policing and Police Reform

Wednesday, Dec. 6
Brown County Library - East Branch, Green Bay

Presentation by City of Green Bay Police Chief Chris Davis about current issues in law enforcement including police reform. Attendees will learn about what the Green Bay Police Department is doing to train officers, increase transparency and increase accountability.

There will be an opportunity to ask questions after the discussion. The presentation will begin at 6 p.m. Visit browncountylibrary.org for more details.

Gun deer harvest takes a nosedive

In the Outdoors

BY KEVIN NAZE
GUEST COLUMNIST

Hunters can't seem to agree on just what's causing a drop in the number of deer registered this year.

Up north, where a gauntlet of predators live and snow and cold extended into spring in some counties, it's easier to understand.

But here in farm country, things aren't so simple.

Some believe there've been too many antlerless tags given out in recent years.

Others think the increasing use of crossbows prior to the gun opener is playing a role.

Could it be as simple as a change in hunting methods?

Few groups get together to push woodlots and marshes any more, instead settling back to wait near a place where deer want to feed.

This year, thousands of acres of standing corn offered additional sanctuary to whitetails.

Whatever the case, the preliminary state nine-day gun harvest of 173,942 was down 17.6% statewide.

The buck harvest of 85,390 was down nearly 15%, and the antlerless take of 88,552 was down about 20%.

Locally, more than 5,000 deer were taken from Brown, Door and Kewaunee counties.

The breakdown included 1,214 in Brown (628 bucks), 2,203 in Door (1,100 bucks) and 1,733 in Kewaunee (786 bucks).

The kills were down about 10% in both Brown and Door County, and about five percent in KC.

Including all seasons — youth gun, disabled gun, bow, crossbow and nine-day gun — more than 266,000 deer have been taken so far.

That includes more than 142,000 bucks and nearly 124,000 antlerless deer.

Brown County was up to 2,296 on the season 1,271 bucks), Door 3,261 (1,665 bucks) and Kewaunee 2,553 (1,267 bucks).

Department of Natural Resources Deer Program Deer Specialist Jeff Pritzl crunched some numbers and found that Kewaunee County hunters led the Central Farmland unit in harvest density by killing about 14 deer per square mile of deer range (about five deer per total area square mile).

Hunters in Brown and Kewaunee counties combined to register more than 3,000 deer during the nine-day gun deer season, including more than 1,400 antlered bucks. Including the bow, crossbow, youth and ongoing muzzleloader totals, the two-county harvest has surpassed 5,000, about half of them bucks.

Door County hunters killed 4.5 deer per total square mile and 7.3 if divided by just deer range. Brown County hunters killed 2.3 total area and 7.7 deer range.

As of Monday, sales of all licenses allowing bow, crossbow and gun deer hunting reached 788,797.

Year-to-date sales for all licenses are down less than 1%.

Hunters in all 50 states and 27 countries have purchased a Wisconsin hunting license this year.

There were three non-fatal shooting incidents reported, including a self-inflicted injury to the foot.

The 553,479 hunters who bought licenses allowing gun deer hunting privileges were largely safe, with just three non-fatal shooting incidents reported, including a self-inflicted shot to the foot.

More hunting news
The 10-day muzzleload-er season in Kewaunee and Door counties and extended firearm hunt in the Brown County metro subzone ends Dec. 6.

After that, it's four days of antlerless-only Dec. 7-10.

All hunters, except those after waterfowl, must comply with blaze orange regulations when gun deer hunting is open.

In addition, bow and crossbow hunters may not target antlered bucks during the antlerless-only gun hunt.

Meanwhile, the fall wild turkey hunt in Zones 1-5 runs through Jan. 7.

All the Zone 2 bonus tags have been sold.

The northern duck zone closed Nov. 21.

Hunting is open through Dec. 3 in the southern duck zone and through Dec. 12 in the open water duck zone.

The northern goose zone hunt ends Dec. 16.

The southern zone goose hunt takes a break after Dec. 3, reopening Dec. 16 and running through Jan. 2.

For a complete look at all the fall and winter hunting season dates and regulations, visit <https://dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/hunt/regulations>.

Bear, turkey deadline

Applications for spring wild turkey hunting and fall black bear hunting are due no later than Sunday, Dec. 10.

Apply at any licensing agent, or online via your <https://gowild.wi.gov/account>.

If you want to be guaranteed a spring turkey tag, be sure to check that you'd accept a tag for any available period after your first and second choices.

In other words, don't limit yourself to just one or two periods unless those are the only ones you'd be able to hunt.

Weekly water levels

Green Bay and Lake Michigan water levels are down two inches in the past month.

Levels are about 35 inches lower than the monthly record high (1986), and 33 inches above the record low (1964).

They spent most of their lives in De Pere and moved to the Three Pillars Senior Living Community in Dousman, WI during 2019. They celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary this year. Prior to her marriage, Betty moved to the Green Bay Area where she worked at H.C. Prange for 2 years. She also worked at the Mariner Supper Club, Ford's Bakery and East De Pere High School. Betty loved kids, baking, bowling and playing cards. She was every child's favorite playmate and cuddle buddy. She would spend hours playing house, school or whatever a child's imagination came up with. Betty loved baking and making desserts. Everyone could always count on her to make their favorite including Schaum Tortes, coffee cake, sugar cookies and many other pies, bars and cakes. Betty and Ed were in many bowling leagues, sometimes bowling twice a week. She was able to continue bowling for over 50 years. They thoroughly enjoyed their time at the lanes where they met many people and many lifelong friends. Ed and Betty were also avid card players. They were part of many card clubs where they also made terrific friendships.

Betty and Ed love spending time outdoors. In their younger years they took many family vacations and weekends that involved camping. Later they enjoyed their summers at Lake Noquebay in Crivitz, fishing, making campfires and cooking out. Betty's love for fishing never faded. At 88 years old she was featured on the John Gillespie Show for the large bluegill she caught off their dock at Lake Noquebay.

Betty is survived by her husband Ed and her children: Douglas (Vickie) Seeman, Dennis (Tracy) Seeman and Judy (Dan) Berghofer; grandchildren: Brianne (Phil) Kleman and Kendra Moline (Kevin Feller), Nick (Annie) Seeman and Emily (Blake) Johnson, Anna (Duffy) Eberhardt and Emma (Andrew) Shuler; 10 great-grandchildren: Kasen, Kenley and Kolton Kleman, Lilli Moline, Huntley and Jack Feller, Cole, Finley and Oliver Seeman, Mark Johnson as well as nieces, nephews and other close family members; sister-in-law Viola Hoppe, and brothers Jerry (Judy) Smith, Jim Smith and Richard Smith. Betty was also Godmother to 3 very special people in her life, Peggy Mecklenburg (Hoppe), Kris Stock (McKenzie) and Debbie (Smith) Titting.

In addition to her parents, Clayton and Anna, Betty was preceded in death by her brother Norman Hoppe and sisters-in-law Val Smith and Gail Smith.

The family would like to send a special thank you to the caregivers at Three Pillars Senior Living Community and Allway Home & Hospice for their enduring care, devotion and advocacy of our mom and wife, Betty. Family and friends visited at Cotter funeral Home, De Pere on Wednesday, November 29, 2023 and at St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, De Pere on Thursday followed by a mass at 11:30 a.m. and dedication to Betty's time with us. In lieu of flowers, Betty's family asks you consider a donation to the Alzheimer's Association- Wisconsin Chapter in her name.

Weekly Fishing Report

Fishing good on the Fox

Fishing on the Fox River last week was pretty good.

Walleyes are being caught jigging around structures and areas where there is more current.

Trolling the 172 Flats was also very productive for catching some nice eyes.

The night bite seems to be the best.

Lots of muskies were caught last week trolling the mouth of the river and the 172 Flats by the warm-water discharge on the west side of the river.

Perch were still being caught out of Bayshore, the Suamico River, Duck Creek and the Fox.

This might change the beginning of this week, as colder than normal weather is icing up some of the waterways.

Shore fishing by Metro and Voyageur Park is still going strong, especially during the evening hours, with fishermen catching some nice walleye, pike, musky, whitefish and an occasional brown trout.

Remember to take a kid fishing.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
Notice is hereby given, in compliance with requirements of Section 147(f) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, that the Housing Authority of the City of Green Bay, Wisconsin (the "Authority"), will hold a public hearing at 10:30 a.m., or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard, on December 14, 2023, at City Hall, 100 North Jefferson Street, Green Bay, Wisconsin, regarding the proposed issuance of the Housing Authority of the City of Green Bay, Wisconsin Housing Revenue Bonds, Series 2023A and 2023B (The Gateway Collective, Inc. Project), in an aggregate amount not to exceed $12,150,000, pursuant to Sections 66.12.01 to 66.12.11 of the Wisconsin Statutes, to finance a project to be owned by The Gateway Collective, Inc., a Wisconsin nonstock, nonprofit corporation (the "Borrower").
The Borrower's project consists of the (i) acquisition of a design-build housing facility located at 301 North Adams Street, Green Bay, Wisconsin (the "Facility") comprised of 72 units ranging from 1 to 4 bedroom apartment options, which will provide housing for mixed-income residents at affordable, workforce, and market rates, (ii) acquisition and installation of certain furniture, fixtures, and equipment at the Facility, and (iii) payment of professional fees and costs (the "Project"). The bonds will be special, limited obligations of the Authority and will not constitute an indebtedness of the Authority within the meaning of any state constitutional provision or statutory limitation or a charge against its general credit. At the hearing, all persons will be afforded a reasonable opportunity to express their views, both orally and in writing, on the proposed bonds and the location and nature of the Project proposed to be financed. Comments made at the public hearing are for the consideration of the Authority but do not bind any legal action to be taken by it.

11. NEW BUSINESS ITEMS a. 6:30 P.M. PUBLIC HEARING – Regarding the 2024 Budget
 B. McIntyre opened the public hearing. Nobody spoke. B. McIntyre closed the public hearing.
b. Review, discuss, and take action on the adoption of the 2024 Budget
 C. Haltom led a Power Point presentation of the final draft of the 2024 budget, which included a review of the General Fund revenues and expenditures. He reviewed the Capital Projects Funds and Enterprise Funds and then offered the board language options to approve the budget document. The board discussed. R. Suennen moved to approve the 2024 Budget as presented, including borrowing $5.4 million to extend water north of the village border and $3.2 million to allow the future extension of sewer to the property on the north side of Glendale recently annexed into Howard. M. Lasecki seconded. The motion carried unanimously.
c. Review and take action on Ordinance 2023-14, amending Sanitary Sewer surcharge rates for industrial customers
 C. Haltom explained the difference in the billing formula he has been using versus the one NEW Water has been using and said the increase in surcharge rates for industrial customers will help eliminate the billing discrepancies. C. Hughes moved to approve Ordinance 2023-14, amending surcharge rates for industrial customers of the sanitary sewer utility, effective with billings prepared after December 1, 2023. S. Beyer seconded. The motion carried unanimously.

Minutes 7725
d. Review and take action on Resolution 2023-18, amending Storm Water rates for all customers
 C. Haltom said the Storm Water Utility experienced cost increases in operating expenses over the past three years and expenses are expected to remain at a higher level in 2024. He said the third quarter 2023 financial report for the utility is reporting a new operating loss of just over $16,000, and the utility needs to have positive operating income annually to maintain enough funds to help support future operations from revenues and allow for future replacement of infrastructure. The board discussed. A. Lemorande moved to approve Resolution 2023-18, amending storm water utility rates effective Dec. 1, 2023. J. Muraski seconded. The motion carried 8-1 (No: C. McAllister).
e. Review and take action on Resolution 2023-14, amending Section 9(c) of the Village of Howard personnel policy related to PTO accrual for fire/rescue employees working a 48/96 shift
 C. Haltom said Fire/Rescue employees will be working 48 hours on/96 hours off, thus they have a need for different PTO accrual. D. Staeven explained the revised policy would allow those working extended shifts to earn an equal amount of PTO, specifically 12 hours for each day they take off, instead of the General Employees receiving 8 hours for a day off. C. Nielsen moved to approve Resolution 2023-14, amending Section 9 (c) of the Village of Howard personnel policy related to PTO accrual for fire/rescue employees working a 48/96 shift. S. Beyer seconded. The motion carried unanimously.
f. Review and take action on an updated Village of Howard TMDL Implementation Plan
 J. Gerrits summarized the TMDL Implementation Plan and the village's progress toward mandated goals. M. Lasecki moved to approve the Village of Howard TMDL Implementation Plan update. C. Nielsen seconded. The motion carried unanimously.
g. Review and take action on Preliminary Resolution 2023-15, declaring the intent to exercise special assessment powers under Wisconsin Statute Section 66.0701 upon Security Boulevard and the Plat of Lancaster Creek Residential Addition J. Gerrits said the proposed subdivision will create nine single-family lots and will also dedicate storm water, trail, and conservancy areas to the village. Improvements required for the project include a storm water pond, sidewalk, eight additional sets of service laterals, sanitary sewer extension, and storm sewer re-routing to direct storm water to the pond. He said costs for the project will be assessed to the development and the village with no other properties receiving improvements or being assessed. C. Hughes moved to approve Preliminary Resolution 2023-15, declaring the intent to exercise special assessments upon Security Boulevard and the Plat of Lancaster Creek Residential addition. M. Lasecki seconded. The motion carried unanimously.
h. Review and take action on Preliminary Resolution 2023-16, declaring the intent to exercise special assessment powers under Wisconsin Statute Section 66.0701 upon the Plat of The Cottages at Hidden Creek Third Addition J. Gerrits said the proposed subdivision will create 39 single-family lots. Improvements required for the project include sidewalk, asphalt roadway construction, service laterals, sanitary sewer extension, water main extension, and storm sewer extension. He said costs for the project will be assessed to the development with no other properties receiving improvements or being assessed. M. Lasecki moved to approve Preliminary Resolution 2023-16, declaring the intent to exercise special assessments upon the Plat of The Cottages at Hidden Creek Third Addition. A. Lemorande seconded. The motion carried unanimously.

i. Review and take action on Preliminary Resolution 2023-17, declaring the intent to exercise special assessment powers under Wisconsin Statute Section 66.0701 upon the Plat of Hazel Estates First Addition J. Gerrits said the proposed subdivision will create 20 single-family lots and would extend improvements all the way to the future extension of Marla Lane. Improvements required for the project include sidewalk, asphalt roadway construction, service laterals, sanitary sewer extension, water main extension, and storm sewer extension. He said costs for the project will be assessed to the development with no other properties receiving improvements or being assessed. M. Lasecki moved to approve Preliminary Resolution 2023-17, declaring the intent to exercise special assessments upon the Plat of Hazel Estates First Addition. C. Hughes seconded. The motion carried unanimously.
j. Review and take action to approve the naming rights agreements for the Howard Commons Activity Commons splash pad
 P. Evert reviewed the donations from the foundations representing Roger and Linda Huijbregtse. M. Lasecki moved to approve the naming rights agreements between the Village of Howard and the Roger Huijbregtse Family Foundation and the Linda Curl Foundation to name the splash pad at Howard Commons for the period ended Oct. 31, 2023 and Howard Commons Activity Center for the period Aug. 15 through Oct. 31, 2023. C. Haltom reviewed the financial reports. The board discussed. No action was taken.
13. CLOSED SESSION
 M. Lasecki moved to convene to closed session. C. Hughes seconded. The motion carried unanimously, and the board convened to closed session at 7:46 p.m. pursuant to Sec. 19.85(1)(e), Wis. Stats, to discuss potential development agreements for VH-3339 and VH-727-103.

10. UNFINISHED BUSINESS OR OLD BUSINESS ITEMS
a. Review and discuss the second draft of the 2024 budget
 C. Haltom led a Power Point presentation of the second draft of the 2024 budget, which included a review of the General Fund revenues and expenditures. He discussed the Capital Projects Funds, which include the TIF Districts, General Government Capital Equipment, Park Impact Fee Fund, and Capital Improvements Fund and gave a quick overview of the Enterprise Funds, which will be discussed in detail at the next budget presentation. He reviewed the timeline of future budget discussions and action and said the board will need to consider borrowing money to fund the water and sewer utilities that are continually losing money, which would cause a rise in the rates. The board discussed. No action was taken.
11. NEW BUSINESS ITEMS
a. Review and take action to determine if the Lineville Road reconstruction project will be assessed per the village's Special Assessment Policy (Resolution 2018-29)
 J. Gerrits said there are 38 properties along the Lineville project that would be specially assessed for the improvements according to village policy, and six properties would be required to connect to municipal sanitary sewer and water utilities. He said Suamico either does not have a policy or has a different policy, and he believes Suamico properties along the project will not be assessed. He said while staff supports the policy, the board has the final decision. C. Nielsen moved to have staff prepare the preliminary resolution for special assessments on Lineville Road. R. Suennen seconded. The motion carried 8-1 (No: C. McAllister).
b. Review and take action to determine the schedule for the reconstruction and extension of Hillsdale Court
 J. Gerrits said as part of the construction of the Bank of Luxemburg on Cardinal Lane, a CSM was recorded to divide the property and dedicate right of way for future extension of Hillsdale Court to connect to Cardinal Lane. The road would be reconstructed and extended with curb and gutter, storm sewer, and sidewalk, per village policy. He said the watermain would be extended on the road extension to create a loop to Cardinal Lane. Additionally, sanitary sewer would be extended from its current terminus to Cardinal Lane to provide service to all properties along Hillsdale Court. The board discussed whether and how to fund the project in 2024 versus 2025. C. Nielsen moved to include the Hillsdale Court project in the 2024 budget. M. Lasecki seconded. The motion carried 8-1 (No: C. McAllister).

Nicolet NATIONAL BANK PRESENTS Senior Spotlight

Darren Deines, Green Bay Southwest High School, cross country, basketball, track & field

Parents' names: Brad and Erica Deines
Siblings: Brett and Taylor Deines
Position or events: Cross country- team captain, basketball- team captain/power forward, track & field: 800m run Career highlight: Breaking 20 minutes in cross country my sophomore year.

Deines is a three sport athlete. He has been a captain on cross country for two years and participates in track and basketball.

Which sport did you first gain a passion for? How did you get introduced to it?

I first gained a passion for basketball back in second grade when I started attending youth camps for Southwest and I joined the Southwest Youth Basketball Team. From there, I branched out to teams such as Green Bay Metro and Team 1848 for AAU.

How has balancing academics and athletics been different for you from your freshman year to your senior year?

Considering my freshman year was a Covid year, balancing academics and sports wasn't too bad. However, my sophomore and junior year became a struggle since I started taking more difficult classes and started to add more extracurriculars to my plate. For my senior year, I've been able to manage it well so far.

How does it feel being a senior, looking back at how far you've made it through three sports?

Being a senior gives me a sense of pride and accomplishment that I've made it this far over the years and I see everything I have contributed to the three sports I have played in and how I've grown and matured from freshman year to senior year.

Which sport is your favorite?

My favorite sport is basketball because I have played it the longest and there can be many fun aspects of the game.

Which of your sports is the hardest?

Basketball is definitely the hardest sport because there are many physical and mental aspects of the game one must master in order to be great at it. The sport is not just about brute strength and athleticism, but having the knowledge of the game to make good decisions.

Who is one profes-

sional athlete that you look up to?

One professional athlete I look up to is Harry Boyce because not only did I get to watch him play in Germany, but he also coached me and taught me basketball for years and I wouldn't be where I am today without him.

What is the hardest part about balancing three sports?

The hardest part about balancing the three sports is finding time to practice each sport during the other seasons. For example, trying to find time to practice basketball while I'm running cross country.

How have you found that each of your sports impact each other?

While training for cross country doesn't necessarily impact heavily on basketball since I'm gaining endurance, training for basketball doesn't help for cross country and track since basketball is more fast paced and quick actions whereas cross country and track are more long distance and not sprinting.

What is your ultimate pregame meal?

My ultimate pregame meal is chicken breast with some form of seasoning, cheese flavored rice with broccoli pieces and broccoli on the side.

Favorite collegiate or professional sports team?

My favorite professional sports team would be the Milwaukee Bucks.

What is your favorite song on your warm-up playlist right now?

I like listening to Eminem songs, however one I would pick out would be "Godzilla".

Do you enjoy weight training or conditioning more?

I definitely enjoy weight training more as there are many different moves for building both muscle and flexibility.

Any memorable coaches or teammates that you would like to give a shout out to?

Like I said earlier, I would definitely give Harry Boyce a shoutout as without his training and teaching and overall caring for me, I wouldn't be where I am today.

What are your plans for the future (college/major/career)?

My plan for the future is to hopefully attend UW-Madison and major in Finance and Real Estate with a minor in Spanish. As for a career, I was thinking possibly either a Financial Advisor or possibly the Real Estate industry.

Any advice you would give to the younger generation of athletes?

Advice I would give to the younger generation is don't let losing games deter you from doing what you love. As long as at the end of the day you are happy and passionate about what you do for a sport, that is all that matters. Because if you aren't having the fun, then no matter what you aren't winning.

Solid goaltending, strong special teams leads to St. Norbert victory

BY RICH PALZEWIC
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

DE PERE – Behind solid goaltending and strong special teams play, the St. Norbert College hockey team recorded a 2-0 non-conference victory over the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire on Nov. 24 at the Cornerstone Community Center.

Freshmen goalie Hunter Garvey made 28 saves in net, while the Green Knights scored both of their goals on the power play.

St. Norbert (7-3) was also a perfect 0-for-6 on the penalty kill.

"It was a good win," St. Norbert Coach Tim Coghlin said. "You're playing against one of the top 10 teams in the country — we know who they are. We saw them twice here last season, and they're a very good team."

The Blugolds (5-2-1) came into the contest ranked No. 7 in the latest USCHO Division III Poll.

After a scoreless first period, the Green Knights killed off three power plays in the first 10-plus minutes of the second period.

St. Norbert made the most of its first power-play opportunity when Dayton Deics slapped home a one-timer at the 11:55 mark of the middle period off assists from Logan Dombrowsky and Carter Hottmann.

Deics' third goal of the season came just six seconds into the power play.

The St. Norbert College hockey team killed off all six UW-Eau Claire power-play opportunities in a 2-0 victory on Nov. 24.

"Our special teams was the difference," Coghlin said. "Eau Claire's power play coming in (to the game) was at 36% — that's a big number."

Toward the end of the second period, with the Green Knights nursing a 1-0 lead, Coghlin burned his team's timeout.

"We had a tired group on the ice," Coghlin said. "Eau Claire put its top line back on the ice, so I didn't want our tired group allowing a puck in the back of the net. I decided to use our timeout early."

Early in the final period, the Blugolds went on the power play for the fourth time in the game before St. Norbert was called for another penalty 1 minute, 44 seconds later.

The Green Knights killed off the short 5-on-3 situation and the subsequent man advantage to keep the momentum.

St. Norbert went up 2-0 when Liam Fraser scored his fourth goal of the season on a 5-on-3 power play at the 11:46 mark.

Adam Stacho and Dombrowsky picked up assists on the play.

Garvey improved to 4-1 on the season.

"He's been solid all year," Coghlin said of Garvey. "Every game he's been in there, he's given us a chance to win. He's sticky — there's not a lot of pucks laying around him, and it makes it tough on the opposition."

After starting the season 1-2, the Green Knights have won six of their last seven games.

"We're playing nine freshmen almost every night — we played eight tonight, including a freshman goaltender," Coghlin said. "It's been a fun group to be around and a fun group to coach. They have lots of ups and downs in the day-to-day, but they're staying with it and seeing results."

The Phoenix get their second win of the season

BY GREEN BAY ATHLETICS
FOR THE PRESS TIMES

GREEN BAY – The Green Bay men's basketball team has matched their win total from a season ago just six games into the 2023-24 season, with a 64-51 win over St. Thomas Saturday afternoon. The Phoenix is now 3-3 on the year heading into their Horizon League opener at Purdue Fort Wayne on Wednesday, November 29.

The Phoenix spread out the scoring, with just two players reaching double figures, led by Elijah Jones with 12 points and Marcus Hall with 10 points. Noah Reynolds set the tempo for the Phoenix, finishing with seven points, six rebounds and six assists.

Green Bay dominated the boards, outrebounding the Tommies 38-25. Reynolds and Rich Byhre led the way for the Phoenix with six each.

The Green Bay defense held St. Thomas shooters to only 31.7 percent from the field, including 22.7 percent from three-point range. Raheem Anthony led the way for the visitors, pouring in a game-high 18 points, to go with four assists and three rebounds.

How it happened

The Green Bay defense was stingy in the first nine minutes of action, allowing just two St.

Thomas points until the 11:01 mark. At that point, the Phoenix had built a 12-4 lead that they would maintain for the majority of the half. Elijah Jones led the Phoenix in the first half with seven points and four rebounds, and the team went into the locker room with a 29-19 lead.

Green Bay kept its lead intact before going on a 5-0 run, finished off by Foster Wonders' three, to grow the lead to 34-21 with 15:22 to go in the contest. St. Thomas attempted to battle back, but Green Bay never let the visitors cut their lead to anything less than eight. UW-Green Bay hit their free throws down the stretch, and secured the 64-51 win.

Game notes

The Phoenix win is the first over UST in program history. Green Bay never trailed on the day.

The Green Bay bench added 21 points to its scoring output.

Green Bay outshot St. Thomas from the floor 43.5% to 31.7%.

Green Bay finished 5-of-14 from deep (35.7%).

On the horizon

Green Bay will play a pair of HL games this week before finishing out the nonconference portion of the schedule. They'll start the week by traveling to Fort Wayne, Ind., to take on PFW on Wednesday at 6 p.m. CST. Following, the Green & White will host Milwaukee at the Resch Center on Saturday at 6 p.m. CT.

Sophomores score big in Preble/East game

BY JANELLE FISHER
CITY PAGES EDITOR

GREEN BAY – The Preble Hornets defeated the Green Bay East Red Devils 83-53 Tuesday night, but both Preble Head Coach JD Devault and East Head Coach Rick Rosinski said they consider the game a success.

“Both teams played hard,” Rosinski said. “I thought both teams played well offensively. It’s just a matter of skill and experience, and I think we’re a little older than what [East] has. For their first game, like I told [Devault], I thought they played well. Sometimes the score isn’t indicative of how you ended up playing a game, and I was impressed with how they played.”

The Hornets started the scoring off for the game less than a minute into the first half and maintained that lead throughout the game.

Despite having lost the game, Devault said there was still something to be gained from the game for the Red Devils.

“I feel like they gave us a good test and it was a good game for us to see what our strengths are and what the things are that we need to work on and keep going,” Devault said. “I don’t like to lose, but I’m satisfied with the way my team came out for their first game because we played hard and I didn’t know what to expect with this group because they’re really young.”

Defense proved to be difficult for East, but Devault said that with this being the team’s first game of the season, there are still some things to be figured out as the season progresses.

“We have taller guys, but they’re not so thick,” Devault said. “So we’ve got to work on how we’re going to defend the post... Just a lot of stuff, teaching young guys how to play basketball at the varsity level.”

Despite a lack of varsity-level experience, two sophomores rose to the occasion and led their respective teams in scoring.

In his first-ever varsity game, East sophomore Quincy Shields came off the court with 22 points under his belt — nearly half of the Red Devils’ 53 total points.

“He’s only a sophomore and this is his first varsity game of his career,” Devault said. “I was just hoping to get a couple points — ten from this guy, maybe eight from another guy. He came out his first game and had 22, so that was big for us and it kind of held us together in the first half. We started making our little mistakes against their pressure, but he held us for pretty much the whole game.”

For Preble, sophomore Gavin Sullivan managed 19 points and some strong defensive plays.

“I think Gavin Sullivan came off the bench — he’s only a sophomore — and I thought he gave us a smart defense with some steals...” Rosinski said. “I’m not expecting that from them because, in a sense, we’re still a young team, too. We got three sophomores and a freshman that are up so we’re trying to mix them in with the older crew.”

Red Raiders looking for first win

BY GREG SEUBERT
FOR THE PRESS TIMES

The Pulaski girls’ basketball team’s quest for its first win of the season came up short Nov. 21, as the Red Raiders dropped a 42-37 decision to New London.

New London improved to 3-0 with the home win, while the Red Raiders fell to 0-3.

Pulaski led by as many as five points in the first half before the Bulldogs closed the half with a 16-2 run to take a 25-16 lead into the locker room at the break.

The Bulldogs scored 13 straight points to erase a 14-9 deficit. Pulaski’s Lydia Gwidt scored to cut the home team’s lead to 22-16, but Jensen Mix’s three-pointer at the buzzer gave the Bulldogs a nine-point advantage.

Pulaski scored eight of the second half’s first 10 points to cut the Bulldogs’ lead to 27-24. Jada Fischer’s three-pointer later tied the game at 33-33 and her second three of the game gave the Red Raiders a 36-35 lead with 5:40 remaining in the game.

Neither team scored again until a pair of free throws from Mix gave New London a one-point lead with 2:06 to go. New London then outscored Pulaski 5-1 the rest of the way.

Maggie Lardinois led Pulaski with nine points, while Shelby Glodowski and Mix led the Bulldogs with 13 and 12 points, respectively.

The Red Raiders hosted Luxemburg-Casco Nov. 27 and will open Fox River Classic Conference play at 7 p.m. Friday, Dec. 1, by hosting Sheboygan South.

think the guys around him are helping that situation as well. The guys up front are doing a really nice job with pass protection,” said LaFleur.

“I think we as coaches have a much better idea of what these guys are capable of doing so that we can put them in a position for success, but ultimately, they have to go out there and execute.”

Despite the thrilling upset victory, during which the Packers led as much as 23-6 going into halftime, they also have to bring their A-game as they face one of the most notoriously dominant teams in the league the past few seasons.

“We also know that you’re only as good as your last game. We’ve got one of the best defenses in the league, coming in here for Sunday Night football. It’s going to be a great challenge for our guys,” said LaFleur about how he knows that football

LaFleur said that the internal competitive nature of the Packers is fueling their success, and making decisions about who sees the field on game day difficult for him and his coaching staff. Kris Leonhardt photo can quickly humble a team that has found success on the field.

“A couple of years ago we went against the Chiefs at their place and they really shut our offense down.”

However, LaFleur said that he intends to trust what he is seeing out of everyone’s performance in practice and under pressure at Lambeau on game days.

“I think it’s just a process. Sometimes you figure some things out a little earlier than others. You’ve got to bank the reps and you’ve got to see what these guys are doing in practice, and then that gives you the confidence to call the plays in games. Then you see how they react in the game, so I would just say that it’s part of the growth process that you have to go through.”

Lemorande said. “We want to get the ball inside to Ellie, but every coach is going to key on her, which makes it difficult. I thought we’d play a little better than that.”

The Phantoms (4-0) got points from eight players, including 13 from Madison Berggren, 10 from Faith Walder and eight from Alexa Rattray.

As part of her night, the sophomore Rattray nailed a pair of first-half three-pointers — the second which gave West De Pere the lead for good a few minutes before halftime.

“I thought I played well,” Rattray said. “My teammates encourage me and help me get out of my slumps. If I make a mistake, they bring me up.”

Alexa’s sister, Anna, a junior, also hit a three-pointer in the second half. “My sister Anna and I connect well,” Alexa said. “She encourages me a lot, too.”

With Bay Port (0-2) leading 17-15, the Phantoms ended the first 18 minutes on a 7-0 run to grab the momentum heading into the locker room.

“I was happy with how we started, especially defensively and with our effort,” Lemorande said. “But then we just couldn’t make any shots in the second half.”

West De Pere began the second half with a 15-4 surge to put the game away.

“I told the girls at halftime we had to move the ball better,” Abaray said. “In the second half, we played well defensively and that spurred our offense. We made the extra pass (in the second half), whereas in the first half, it was one pass and a shot. Later on, it was three or four passes and a shot.”

The Phantoms are without the services of junior Ella Francois, who Abaray said tore her ACL late in the summer.

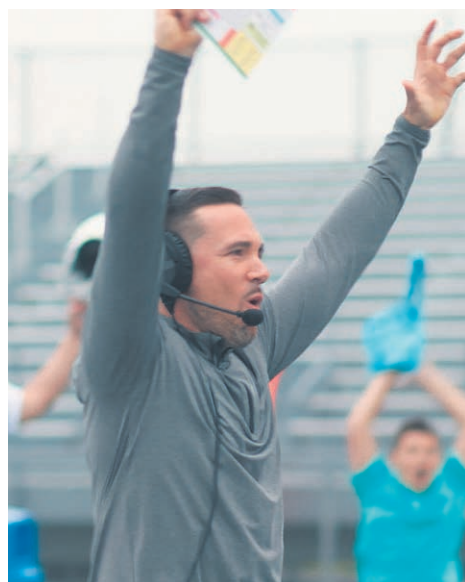

In Francois’ absence, Green Bay Preble transfer Mia Racine gives West De Pere an inside presence.

“Mia is a nice addition to the program and a nice fit,” Abaray said. “She gives us that anchor in the middle size-wise we haven’t had in a while.”

The Phantoms are off to a perfect start, but Abaray said his squad isn’t resting on its laurels.

“We’re not settling,” he said. “You can start hot, but you’re preparing for the tough winter of games ahead. These girls are getting after it in practice — I’m proud of their effort and togetherness.”

Payton Dudra led the Pirates with nine points, while Chole Tebon hit a pair of three-pointers.

LaFleur, keep rhythm or return to vets after Thanksgiving Day upset

BY TORI WITTENBROCK
ASSOCIATE SPORTS EDITOR

GREEN BAY – After the Green Bay Packers (5-6) acquired a 29-22 victory on Thanksgiving Day to upset the Detroit Lions (8-3), head coach Matt LaFleur said that there are still tough coaching decisions to be made going forward.

Now that the young roster has finally seemed to find a rhythm on the season — a win against the Los Angeles Rams, a close game against the Pittsburgh Steelers, and a win against the Chargers seemed to hold a promising pattern for the Thanksgiving Day face-off — there is still no guarantee of smooth sailing for the rest of the season.

LaFleur said that the internal competitive nature of the players is to blame for making his job so difficult as they approach their game against the Kansas City Chiefs (8-3) on Sunday, Dec. 3.

Dontavion Wicks is one of the youngest players on the Green Bay Packers' roster at just 22 years old. Despite his age and limited experience in the NFL, he has racked up 20 receptions, 331 receiving yards and 1 receiving touchdown on the season.

After dealing with such a lengthy injury report for much of the season, the Packers have relied on young players to step up and fill roles. However, now that the veterans seem to be getting healthy, the Packers coaching staff must decide who will take the field in one of their most challenging games of the season.

"It's a competitive situation, and obviously you are going to try to put the people out there that are going to help you win and have the best chance at winning," said LaFleur.

"What's been great about this whole deal is that we've had to play some younger guys, or guys who maybe haven't had as much opportunity, and they've done a really nice job, so that always makes it more of a challenge, I would say, when you're making those decisions."

Though many of the players this season have had to play around others with a lack of experience in the National Football League (NFL), they have seemingly caught on amid the pressure.

"I think we are definitely operating at a much higher level. Jordan (Love) is doing a really nice job. I SUAMICO – It may have taken the West De Pere girls basketball a little bit to get rolling, but once it did, it was tough to stop.

Behind a big second half, the Phantoms rolled to a 50-29 non-conference victory over Bay Port on Nov. 28.

West De Pere led 22-17 at intermission before outscoring the Pirates 28-12 in the second half.

"We were sloppy to start, but all in all, it was a solid defensive effort," West De Pere Coach Chris Abaray said. "We wanted to take (Bay Port's Ellie) McDermid out of the game, and we did a good job of that most of the time."

McDermid, a Division I commit to Bradley University, was limited to eight points.

"We didn't shoot the ball well," Bay Port Coach Adam

Green Bay downs undefeated Washington State

BY GREEN BAY ATHLETICS
FOR THE PRESS TIMES

CANCUN, Mexico — Another upset! Green Bay women's basketball secured their second win over an AP-Top 25 ranked team with a 59-48 victory over undefeated No. 23 Washington State Saturday afternoon. The last time Green Bay won two games against an AP-Top 25 team was during the 2017-18 season when Green Bay took down #24 Arizona State (at the Cancun Challenge) and #23 Marquette at the Kress Center. Head coach Kevin Borseth is just two wins away from capturing his 800th career win.

The Phoenix (4-2) responded with the victory after a loss yesterday to Maryland. Maddy Schreiber, as she did on Friday, paced the squad with a dozen points. Jenna Guyer impressed off the bench with 11, and Bailey Butler added 10 more. Natalie McNeal finished in a three-way tie for a game-high six rebounds. Washington State suffered their first loss of the 2023-24 campaign, despite a solid game from Charlyse Leger-Walker (17 points) and Tara Wallack (16 points).

How it happened

Both teams began sluggish in the opening frame, combining for a 2-for-20 start from the floor. Guyer and Schiltz provided sparks towards the end of the quarter, with the former drilling a triple from the top of the key before the latter making a layup, making it 14-10 in favor of the Cougars going into the second quarter. The Phoenix cranked it up a notch, outscoring WSU 20-11. It was the Natalie McNeal and Jenna Guyer show, with the duo combining for Green Bay's first nine points in the opening 3:34 of the frame. Wallack brought it back to within one with a layup, making it 22-21 with 3:11 left before halftime. Schreiber and Butler splashed three-pointers after that, helping give the Phoenix a 30-25 lead at the break.

Washington State came out with some fight in the third quarter, eventually tying the game at 36 after Leger-Walker, who was named Tournament MVP, finished off an and-one with 3:29 remaining in the frame. Wallack capped off the quarter with a couple of free throws, keeping it a four-point game going into the final 10 minutes. Jasmine Kondrakiewicz, McNeal, and Callie Genke dropped Green Bay's first seven points of the frame, extending the lead to 50-41 with 7:09 remaining in the contest. Schreiber took the game into her hands and scored four consecutive points, putting Green Bay up 54-41 with 5:34 left. Green Bay kept it on cruise control the rest of the contest, leading by no fewer than nine en route to the 59-48 victory.

Game notes

Green Bay shot well from beyond the arc, draining eight of 19 three-point attempts.

The Phoenix held the Cougars to only 34.6% shooting from the field.

Green Bay never trailed in the second half.

The Phoenix had a 33-26 edge on the boards in the win.

Butler dished out a game-high five assists.

Coming up

Green Bay will return to the Dairyland for an in-state clash against Milwaukee next Thursday to close out November. Catch the game on ESPN+ or follow with live stats.
