Problems in Larrabee

BY ROBERT CLOUD
SENIOR EDITOR

LARRABEE – Waupaca County Highway Commissioner Casey Beyersdorf has posted a YouTube video of the county highway facility in Larrabee.

The purpose of the tour is to show residents the need to replace the aging building, located near Clintonville.

In addition to the main facility in Waupaca, the county highway department has facilities in Larrabee, New London and Helvetia.

Crews from the Larrabee garage primarily service the northeast section of Waupaca County. Their plow routes include one U.S. highway, four major state highways, four county roads and four townships.

Eleven employees work out of Larrabee.

Since 1969, when the Larrabee facility was built, Beyersdorf said, "there's been some upgrades to it, some roof repairs, parking lot repairs, fuel island upgrades," but much of the exterior is rusty and needs replacement.

"The biggest thing that affects us at our Larrabee shop is the lack of space," Beyersdorf said.

Shamrock Club names Irish Man, Irish Rose

BY EMILY CONROY
STAFF REPORTER

MANAWA – A Manawa couple have been named this year's Irish Man and Irish Rose for the St. Patrick's Day celebration in New London, or New Dublin as it is known during Irish.

Deb and Dave Sarna take the titles this year, on the 40th anniversary of the Shamrock Club of New London.

According to Joan Malliet, a Shamrock Club trustee, Irish Man and Irish Rose are nominated and voted on by New London Shamrock Club members.

The nominees are generally of Irish heritage, club members, have a connection to the club or have volunteered for or helped promote the club's activities, Malliet said.

Dave is best known for his Irish Wake, or Finnegan's Wake, as he and his crew call it. Finnegan's Wake is named after the James Joyce novel, he said.

"In the true sense of an Irish Wake, it's always the same guy, Michael Patrick Finnegan. He dies every year about this time," Dave said. "So there is always a story behind how he died, the circumstances, we incorporate the family members of Finnegan."

Dave and his long-time friend, Mike Coyle, started doing the wake long before the Shamrock Club came to New London, he said. The idea really took shape when they were able to purchase and fix up a 1959 Pontiac Superior hearse from a local body shop for $300.

While showing off the power of the hearse, they found that they could get the coffin to fly out of the back of the hearse. This original idea was elaborated on from there, Dave said.

Every year Dave takes Finnegan's wake around to local bars in Waupaca County as well as through the New Dublin parade, even winning the Chicago parade one year.

Clintonville's revaluation project detailed

Project to end October 2025

BY BERT LEHMAN
STAFF REPORTER

CLINTONVILLE – Details about the revaluation project for the city of Clintonville were shared with the Clintonville Common Council when it met Feb. 13.

Adam Servi, assessor and real estate appraiser for Servi Group Inc., will be doing the revaluation.

He told the council that a compliance-based assessment, which encompasses revaluations, usually occurs every 7-10 years. During that process, an assessment model is built based on market data of sales prices at that time.

Once complete, that model stays consistent each year going forward until the next revaluation.

The last revaluation in Clintonville was an exterior inspection revaluation that occurred in 2009, Servi said.

Each year the state of Wisconsin analyzes property sales that occur versus the assessments in the city, Servi said. That number is listed on individual tax bills as "level of assessment or average assessment ratio." That compares where the city is sitting as an assessment level versus sales.

In 2009, when the exterior revaluation was completed, the city's ratio was slightly above 100%. By 2012, the ratio had risen to 107%.

He said the state requires that a municipality keep that ratio within 10% of 100%, meaning it can be as high as 110% or as low as 90% once every five-year period.

By 2016, appreciation began to increase, Servi said, driving the ratio down. By 2021, the ratio fell below 90%.

"The history for why this revaluation is coming in 2025 has to do with the timing of our last revaluation and what the market is doing at this time," Servi said. "Like I said, it fell out of compliance in 2021."

Once out of compliance, the city has five years to conduct another revaluation.

Servi said the city fell out of compliance in 2021, and 2025 was chosen to complete a revaluation because "it's within a window that works well to avoid some state mandated assessments that happen when you get further along in the window."

Servi said the city will probably be asked by residents why the highest point in the market was chosen for when the revaluation would be conducted. He said that's not necessarily true, as the same question could have been posed if the revaluation was done in 2021, 2022 or 2023.

"The market hasn't changed, it's continued to go up," Servi said.

He added that he tells municipalities that they shouldn't try to time revaluations with what is happening in the market.

"If it's time to do it (revaluation) based on the state schedule of compliance, it's time to do it," Servi said.

The city has been looking into doing a revaluation for the last three years, he added.

Levels of revaluation

Servi said there are different levels of revaluations that can be performed. In 2009, the city decided to do only an exterior revaluation. This consisted of visiting each property in the city and measuring the exteriors of the properties. Access to the inside of properties was not attempted.

"Through those projects the interior data that's pertinent to the valuation is assumed to be accurate within the roll, or is changed based on observations made through the exterior," Servi said. "But there's a lot of estimations that goes on with that."

The revaluation coming up in 2025 will include interior inspections, Servi said.

He added that state law allows property owners to refuse entry to their property.

"If they do that, then it moves into the exterior process," Servi said.

Because of the number of properties in Clintonville, the

He noted that crews must pull the entire fleet into the shop for cleaning off corrosive salt and mud and preparing for the next snow storm.

The same equipment used for "summer construction projects, gravel hauls, earth hauls, pavement hauling, are the same trucks we're outfitting in the winter months to plow our snow," Beyersdorf said. "So our fleet is being used year-round."

In the online video, Beyersdorf takes the highway committee around the shop and shows them a weak ceiling and an aging heating system.

In the building's mezzanine area, sunlight shows through the failing roof.

The building has no running drinking water because the water has been found to have arsenic levels that are too high for human consumption.

The well that services the facility also does not provide adequate water for washing the vehicles.

A water truck travels from Larrabee to the Waupaca facility to fill up daily during the paving season.

Beyersdorf said a contractor recently flushed 22 feet of mud out of the property's well.

He said he wants the facility to be on a parcel with access to municipal water service.

The building has 200-amp electrical service, which is insufficient for the needs of the department.

Outside, Beyersdorf noted that the ground is not level, it has two tiers.

"The building and the fuel island and the scale sit on the top half of that 6 acres, then down below is the salt shed area," Beyersdorf said. "In the middle of winter during a snow storm, anything like that, you're going up and down hills with trucks and loaders to get salt regularly. I'd rather it be one flat area."

Estimated cost

Beyersdorf estimated the cost to purchase 16-20 acres of land, design and build a new building, parking lot, fuel island, salt sheds, storage and culverts would be around $8 million to $9 million.

He said the project would not be scheduled until 2030.

Instead of the county borrowing money for the project, Beyersdorf said that savings in the Highway Enterprise Fund could be used as a way to save money.

Waupaca County generates revenues from snow plowing and road maintenance projects that the highway department does for municipalities.

REVALUATION

revaluations will be spread out over two assessment periods.

Timeline

By April, Servi said he plans to send each property owner in the city an introductory letter. By the end of April, Servi said he plans to send a mailing to property owners to start scheduling interior inspections.

He said the inspections will be done by neighborhood. He expects the inspections to go through June 2025.

The project should be completed by October 2025. This would mean notifications of assessment would be mailed to property owners in late August or early September.

Open book and board of reviews would be held in mid-to-late September so everything could be completed by October. Property owners would have the opportunity to ask questions about their revaluation results during an open book or board of review event.

Impact on taxes

Servi said when he does revaluations, it is not meant to increase the revenue for the city.

"What it's doing is updating the records to have better accuracy, and being more accurate in terms of market value and sale prices," Servi said. "But then it really redistributes the tax burden based on the value of your home."

Since there hasn't been much new construction in Clintonville, Servi said if a property value increases more than others, it will mostly likely be because that property was underassessed in the past due to interior remodeling that the city was unaware of.

"That could push you into a higher tax bill," Servi said.

Even though the revaluation project is starting in April of this year, the effective date won't be until Jan. 1, 2025. This means the revaluation won't be used for the 2024 property tax bills.

Interior inspection

Servi said an interior inspection takes about 30 minutes to complete. This includes a walk through of every level of the property. During the walkthrough, Servi said he would verify the room counts, whether the basement is finished, as well as the condition and quality of the property.

He added that no photographs would be taken inside a property, only photo of the exterior.

"We have requirements with the state of what is needed for each property ledger card and (exterior) photographs of all structures is one of those (requirements)," Servi said.

The revaluation will include residential and commercial properties in the city.

Deb is not a member of the Shamrock Club. However, she has spent many years volunteering and helping at events throughout the celebration week.

"It is important to me to volunteer as I know, all too well, how important staff is at a community event. I am in awe at how the event has grown," Deb said. "The event has become more family oriented and I love that."

Among the duties required of the Irish Man and Irish Rose include judging parade entries, riding in this year's and next year's parade, as well as participating in as many activities as they can during the week, most notably the family program on Thursday, March 14, Mal-liet said.

"I am most looking forward to Thursday night which is the family night with all entertainment coming from local folks, ranging from kids to the elderly," Deb said.

The Sarnas have been together for about 45 years and have two children, Mike and Dawn. Mike is an engineer for John Deere in Iowa and Dawn is a baker, being recognized in Wedding magazine for best wedding cake designers in the United States, Dave said.

The Sarnas both agree that the Shamrock Club has organized and created an amazing event that continues to grow.

"I have always been known as an ideas person, I know a lot of my ideas are off the wall. But I brought a lot of ideas to the Shamrock Club and a lot of them really took off," Dave said. "It really makes me very proud of things that I brought forward that flourished."

One of the ideas Dave brought to the club was a large meeting place for the event, which led to the large tent that now sits in the Festival Foods parking lot for Saturday's events every year.

"I am very flattered, unquestionably," he said. "I was lucky to be around a lot of people that appreciated my input and what I brought, even if it was crazy ideas and a lot of them flourished and I am very proud of that."

Deb agrees and said she is honored to be named Irish Rose for 2024, and notes that her grandmother is of Irish descent with the name McHenry.

Lawfare on the lakes

Waves rile residents, boaters

BY JAMES CARD
STAFF REPORTER

WAUPACA – The town of Farmington passed an ordinance prohibiting wake boarding on Rainbow and Round Lakes on Jan. 15.

During this ongoing issue, lawsuits have been lodged against the Waupaca Chain O'Lakes District and individual citizens, and a letter was sent to the town of Farmington threatening litigation if the ordinance was not repealed.

The town will host a public hearing on the ordinance at 6 p.m. Monday, March 18.

Making waves

Wake boarding is a cross between waterskiing and surfing. Some wake boat weigh up to 12,000 pounds when loaded with ballast.

The purpose of a wake boat is to displace huge amounts of water. This creates large waves that allow wake boarders to perform some acrobatic tricks. It also an investment as wake boats can range from $50,000 to $250,000.

The waves are about two-to-three times higher than waves made by normal boats. They are also more powerful and take longer to dissipate.

Opponents say the boats create multiple problems: shoreline erosion, damage to aquatic vegetation, the prop wash scours the lake bottom and releases sequestered nitrates and phosphorus that fuels algae, the ballast tanks can transfer aquatic species, and the waves can capsize small watercraft like canoes and kayaks.

In August 2022, Long Lake resident Brian Fielkow was boating with his wife when his 20-foot boat hit a wave generated by a wake boat. The force of the wave knocked down his wife, hurting her back. The windshield exploded sending shattered glass everywhere. He said it could have been much worse.

"When I hit that wave, I knew we were in trouble but I knew what to do because I've been boating on these lakes for a long time. But somebody with less experience? Or even worse, a kayaker or paddleboat or a canoe, it's a problem. The lakes can't tolerate waves that size. People asked, 'Did you get the name of the wake boater?' I'm like no; I've got the family covered in glass. I firmly believe there is a real risk here. It's a matter of time," said Fielkow.

Legal action

The Waupaca Chain O'Lakes District (WCOLD) is an independent governmental body for the Chain O' Lakes. It has the authority to make contracts, gain state aid and grants and make decisions on water quality issues.

WCOLD performed a capacity study on the Chain. They counted boats on the water and also docked, and used a drone to monitor boating activity to gather data. The report was approved at a WCOLD public meeting but it was hard to interpret.

Seven volunteers formed an advisory committee to make sense of the statistics and they came up with a list of 10 recommendations.

One recommendation was to make a new slow-no-wake zone on Columbia Lake where the water is shallow. They recommended this to the towns of

The town of Farmington voted to ban wake boarding on Round and Rainbow Lakes. A public hearing on this topic will be held at the town hall at 6 p.m. Monday, March 18.

Dayton and Farmington and the town boards approved it.

Another recommendation was to enact regulations against wake surfing and WCOLD passed a resolution calling on Dayton and Farmington to pass ordinances against wake surfing.

When two towns share boundaries in a lake, both towns have to enact the same ordinance word-for-word.

In August 2023, WCOLD had an informational meeting to inform the community about the impact of wake surfing. Wake boat owners attended and expressed their opinions. They also attended WCOLD's annual meeting and were vocal on the subject.

WCOLD sent out a survey to 650 people about the subject of wake boats. The response rate was 45%. Of that, 86% of the respondent wanted wake boating banned.

The Stratton Lake District also did a survey and 90% of the respondents were against wake boating.

A group of wake boat owners hired Eau Claire attorney Anders Helquist of the law firm Weld Riley to file a complaint with Kat Turner, the district attorney, alleging open-meeting law violations against WCOLD and the advisory committee.

WCOLD president Fred Silloway met with Turner and explained the background of the situation. He said Turner opted to take no action on the complaint.

Seven families are plaintiffs in the lawsuit. Of them, four are permanent residents and the rest live out of state, said Caroline Murphy, Farmington's town chair.

All of them own property on the Chain O' Lakes.

On behalf of their wake-boarding plaintiffs, Weld Riley filed two lawsuits against WCOLD and the seven individual volunteer committee members claiming open meeting law violations.

Their argument is that the citizens' advisory committee was a subcommittee of the lake district and not a group of independent citizens and thus, subject to open meeting law requirements.

They argue that if the proceedings of these meetings were illegal, then their recommendations would be illegitimate and as such, could not be relied upon for deliberation concerning ordinances.

This legal concept is called the "fruit of the poisonous tree" doctrine. It's a rule where evidence that is gained through illegal conduct is inadmissible in a criminal trial. This legal doctrine is universal in criminal cases but not civil affairs.

WCOLD has hired an attorney and that will include legal services for the seven individuals who served on the advisory committee. The district has an insurance policy that covers legal defense.

No big wakes

Farmington drafted a proposed ordinance, wrote a condition-use report required by the DNR, and scheduled a public hearing in October 2023. They passed the ordinance banning wake boarding in Rainbow and Round Lakes on Jan. 15, 2024.

The language of the ordinance focused on the watercraft: "No person may use . . . water sacks, ballast tanks, submersible wings or any other device which causes a boat to operate in a bow-high manner, or which increases or enhances a boat's wake."

The attorney representing the wake-boat plaintiffs sent a letter dated Jan. 22 to the town of Farmington "as an attempt to compromise to avoid litigation in this matter." They demanded two things: repeal the ordinance and replace it with an ordinance that restricts rather than prohibits wake surfing on Rainbow and Round Lakes.

The main point of the replacement ordinance is to allow wake boarding as long as there is a 100-foot buffer from anchored boats, swimming areas and public boat landings and also a 200-foot buffer from the shoreline.

"We've been asked to hold a public hearing to let the people tell us what we want to amend or repeal the ordinance. It's a big deal statewide. There are a lot of other towns that have passed this ordinance," said Murphy as she counted off townships that have recently passed similar ordinances. Her tally was 17 to 20 towns or villages have banned wake boarding.

"I felt it was necessary for the safety of our residents, the safety of the environment and the safety of the lakes," said Murphy. She said she does not know what will happen after the March 18 public hearing. "It depends on what the people are telling us. Today I have a pile of emails that are all in support [of the ordinance]," she said.

The town of Dayton is next to rule on the wake boating issue. The township has Long Lake, half of Columbia Lake, Stratton and Spencer Lakes.

"I respect Farmington for making the right decision and I hope Dayton will hopefully do the right thing, too. The state has made it clear for the townships and municipalities to regulate the lakes. It's just not for people with property on the lake. Think of all the people in Waupaca and the surrounding area who come in on a weekend and put a boat in the water. It's a public imperative, the enjoyment of the lakes," said Fielkow.

Community theater to stage comedy

Play written by Pat Phair

WAUPACA – Waupaca Community Theatre will present the original play "Critics' Choice" as dinner-theater Monday through Wednesday, April 25-27, at the Par 4 Resort.

Cocktails will be served at 5:30 p.m., dinner at 6 p.m. and the show starts at 7 p.m.

Written by local playwright Pat Phair, "Critics' Choice" is a murder-mystery farce as well as a brush with the time-space continuum.

While 21st-century newspaper theater critics are watching a play set in the mid-20th century, they come under suspicion for the crime. Instead of remaining the innocent bystanders that they are, they get caught in the search for the murder suspect.

Phair was inspired by a play at the Edmonton Fringe Festival. He liked the clever technique used by the writer to see non-actors becoming part of the live play.

Also at the Fringe, he found an example of perfect dramatic irony during a murder mystery in which the corpse was under the dining room table, unseen by the actors, with only the audience in the know.

"Inspiration for me starts with a good story, and then I try to make it work on the stage for audience enjoyment," Phair said. "'Critics' Choice' is a comedy intended to leave the audience laughing. It's a departure from my earlier dramatic works which centered on social themes and historic events."

Phair found that the play was fun to write. "I laughed out loud at times while writing it," he said.

He thinks it will be more fun to watch as it comes alive with talented actors.

Phair has heartfelt thanks for the "director, actors and the resources of WCT," and finds it rewarding that they took a chance on "Critics' Choice."

The comedy features actors both familiar to Waupaca Community Theatre audiences as well as some new to the group.

Monica Reeves and Amy Holterman, drama teachers and directors for the Waupaca School District, will both appear in "Critics' Choice" giving their current and former students a chance to see them in acting roles. Reeves has directed more than 50 plays in her career.

Dennis Sutliff, another director taking on an acting part, is founder of Sweet Lips Theater where he performed as an actor for 35 years.

Carmen Riebel is a veteran of WCT and the 4th director in the cast.

Additional cast members include Daniel O'Brien, Lori Bepko, Dave Larson, Neil Nusz, Brad Leonhardt, Tyler Higginson, Kay Ellingson, Deb Ostrander, Andrea Aurigue and Tyler Smidt.

This will be Barbara Laedtke's fourth directing effort for the Waupaca Community Theatre. She studied theater in London in 2016 while pursuing degree work at UW-Stevens Point.

After attending a William Butler Yeats play presented at Dolly's Cottage in Sligo, Ireland, Laedtke felt undaunted and decided that she would like to direct a play.

She directed "Luna Gale" in 2018 at the Historical Train Depot in Waupaca and "Frankenstein: The Radio Play" at the Gerold Opera House in 2020 with a post-Covid encore in 2021.

The Par 4 Resort will serve a lasagne buffet with both vegetarian and meat options along with salad and garlic bread.

All seating will be reserved with tickets available online for $35 at <http://our.show/cc>.

UWSP hosts Out on Screen Film Festival

BY ELISE FULMER CONTRIBUTING WRITER

STEVENS POINT – UWSP's Faculty and Staff Gender-Sexuality Alliance (FSGSA) will host their yearly LGBTQ+ film festival, Out on Screen.

The screenings will take place from Wednesday through Monday, March 27 to April 1, throughout the Stevens Point Community.

The conclusion of the film festival then kicks off the university's Campus Pride week.

Trescha Kay, a communication sciences and disorders professor, has been organizing the film festival for the past three years. Kay along with student Paislee House are excited for this year's installation of films.

"We try to represent as many individuals who exist in the LGBTQ+ community," Kay said. "We try our best to represent intersectionality for all of these folks."

This year's festival will have screenings in the DUC, Caravan Wine Shop and Bound to Happen Books.

"We have more genres this year than we've had in the past couple of years, which is very exciting," House said.

This year's lineup contains several narrative films, including horror and comedy pieces, as well as two documentaries and a short. The short is titled "The ABCs of Book Banning" and will be screened at Bound to Happen Books 6:30 p.m. Thursday, March 28.

In addition to attending the film festival, Kay urged people to go through Safe Zone training.

"Please reach out to us, we would love to give your organization training," Kay said.

The program aims to teach people about the LGBTQ+ inclusivity and how to be a good ally. House caddled, "A great way to start is coming to see some queer movies."

The first film, "Blue Jean," which chronicles a closeted gym teacher in 1988, kicks off in the DUC Theater at 7 p.m. Wednesday, March 27.

All screenings are free to the public.

City to purchase new loader

BY BERT LEHMAN
STAFF REPORTER

CLINTONVILLE – The city of Clintonville will purchase a new loader with attachments in 2024 for its Public Works Department.

The cost is not to exceed $248,429, with the funds coming from the city's capital funds.

The Clintonville Common Council approved the purchase at its Feb. 13 meeting, after it also approved re-allocating funds in its capital improvement budget. The reallocation of funds will allow the city to also purchase a new plow truck.

The loader to be purchased would be a Volvo L70H2 GPE Wheel Loader with attachments from Airing Equipment Company in De Pere. The cost of the loader and attachments would be $204,429. A snow plow kit would also be purchased through Alamo Group Snow & Ice Team for $44,000.

Finance Committee

When the Clintonville Finance Committee discussed the matter at its Feb. 12 meeting, Justin Mc Auly, director of Public Works for the city of Clintonville, told the committee that the Public Works Department has been looking to replace a couple pieces of equipment "for some time."

"We're noticing now that the original amounts that we put in the capital (budget) are not enough to replace the two pieces of equipment we want to do," Mc Auly said.

He said the department would like to replace a loader and a plow truck, adding that the truck would be a multi-purpose plow truck. It would also have a dump body so it could serve as a dump truck to haul snow, while also being able to plow snow.

In the future, the truck could be configured to collect leaves, which would allow this truck to replace the city's current leaf truck.

"We're essentially hoping to replace three to four vehicles with one," Mc Auly said. "But what we're noticing right now is what we had in the budget is not even touching (the cost of the new equipment)."

To make the purchases, Mc Auly said he would like approval to use funds designated for a new grader in 2025 to be used for the purchase of a new loader and dump truck. This would mean the grader purchase would need to be moved to a future city borrowing cycle.

"We're hoping to do some minor maintenance stuff on it to extend the life of the grader," Mc Auly said.

Without the reallocation of funds, Mc Auly said the city could afford only the loader or the dump truck, not both.

District won't add new vehicle

Budget concerns

BY BERT LEHMAN
STAFF REPORTER

CLINTONVILLE – Even though the funds to purchase a new vehicle for the Clintonville School District were designated in this year's budget, the school board decided to push the purchase into a future year, in order to save money.

The school board took no action when discussing a new vehicle purchase at its Feb. 26 meeting. The district's budget is facing a deficit, so the funds designated for a new vehicle will be used to reduce the budget deficit.

Superintendent Troy Kuhn told the board that the past couple of budgets it approved included $50,000 designated to purchase a van or SUV-type vehicle to transport students and staff to and from events.

He added that there is roughly $150,000-$180,000 of "unencumbered funds" in the maintenance and grounds budget.

"But I didn't necessarily think it was right for me or Stephen (Reinke, director of building and grounds), or anybody else to go out and purchase a vehicle without bringing it to the board because of our deficit we have," Kuhn said.

If a new vehicle were to be purchased, the district would not get rid of any vehicles it currently has, Kuhn added.

Reinke said the district currently has a 9-10 passenger transport van that teams use for traveling, as well as a minivan. There is also an older cargo van that doesn't leave the district.

"I don't trust it to go on long trips," Reinke said.

Reinke said there would be a need for a new vehicle, as the minivan is "getting up there in age." It has around 115,000 miles on it and is about 10 years old.

Kuhn said the district would definitely use a new vehicle if one were purchased, but questioned whether it is a need or a want.

"Do we want to have the vehicle stranded somewhere and we have to deal with it and then we're begging for money?" Kuhn asked. "Or, do we want to be proactive on this and buy a vehicle or start searching for one, get a good deal, knowing that it is budgeted for, but we could offset $50,000."

He added that if the district doesn't purchase a new vehicle this year, it will have to purchase one next year.

Board member Jason Moder said he feels since the district is currently "getting by" using its current vehicles, the purchase of a new vehicle should be pushed into the future.

Board member Chade Dobbe agreed.

Reinke confirmed that the district's current vehicles are "good vehicles" and they are safe.

Board member Glen Drew Lundt said the district should look for a new vehicle in case a good deal arises, but to push the purchase into the future if a good deal doesn't arise.

Shannon proud of Irish roots

Grand Marshal for parade

BY JOHN FAUCHER
STAFF REPORTER

NEW LONDON – Y100 WNCY Radio personality Randy “Shotgun” Shannon is the Shamrock Club of New Dublin’s 2024 Parade Grand Marshal.

Shannon is no stranger to New Dublin’s Grand Parade and Irish Fest.

The longtime radio program director and morning show host has driven the Y100 truck through the parade many times, but this year, he is among the Irish Royalty leading the New Dublin parade.

“I’m super excited about it, being Irish myself and just knowing what a huge parade it is,” said Shannon. “It’s going to be a lot of fun.”

His Irish roots date back many generations.

Randy Shannon can trace his family line back to William Shannon, or more likely, in that time Shanahan or Shaughnessy, which are the Irish versions of the name.

William most likely resided in Donegal or Clare, where he had a son also named William.

Wishing to give his son the chance at a better life, he gave him a ticket to America.

William made his way to Kentucky where he married and had many children of his own.

The name changed to Shannon because it was easier to spell on papers.

William created the life his father hoped for, prospering and spreading their name onto generations to come. He made sure his father’s sacrifice was not in vain.

To this day, Randy Shannon stands on the backs of those who strove to create a better life for themselves and he remains very proud to call himself Irish.

Shannon and his wife Amy reside in DePere.

Randy has worked with WNCY-FM radio since the early 1990s, and Amy is the assistant director of public safety for Brown County.

The couple raised two daughters who have since left home in pursuit of their own families and careers.

Family in Ireland

Ireland where she is finishing her doctorate in Irish literature.

She married Antoin Gorman who is from Dublin.

“Having a daughter and son-in-law over there gives me an excuse to travel over there,” said Shannon. “We try to get over there about once a year.”

He and Amy were there for Christmas this year when the Shamrock Club reached out and asked him if he would be Grand Marshal for New Dublin’s St. Patrick’s Parade.

“I was so honored that they asked,” said Shannon.

“They contacted me through my Facebook page. We were sitting in Scotland celebrating Christmas early and I was like, they just asked me to be the Grand Marshal for the St. Patrick’s Parade in New Dublin next year. And we were like, that’s awesome,” he said.

He and his wife are looking forward to spending some time in New Dublin and interacting with folks during Thursday’s Irish entertainment and family night at the high school auditorium.

“Shotgun” and his morning co-host Charli McKenzie have been promoting New Dublin’s Irish events and parade on Y100 all week.

The two have hosted the morning show together from 5 a.m. to 9 a.m. since 2017. Their show is known for its friendly and upbeat vibe infused with great country music, interviews and local content.

Early start in radio

Shannon, a native of Medford, got his start in radio 38 years ago when he was 14 years old.

He had a love for music, a full head of a hair and some experience playing records at the local skating rink.

The local radio station in Medford was running a fundraiser, sort of like a trading post, or purchase package deal to support the March of Dimes.

They were selling a one-hour or two-hour spot on the station to play and DJ a show.

“I spent all the money I had and I won second place,” said Shannon.

He skipped school and rode his bike down there to do the one-hour spot.

“I was in there introducing songs, playing music and talking, and the producer got up and said, I’ll be right back, just keep it going. He came back and asked if I wanted a job,” said Shannon.

“I’ve been on the radio ever since.”

From there he attended the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire where he continued working radio. From there he joined WSPT Radio in Stevens Point.

One of the more memorable stunts they pulled there was when they worked it out with the National Guard to bring a tank into a residential area and fire some blank rounds as they introduced Brian Adams “Wake up the Neighbors” album in 1991.

“Then we drove it downtown and kidnapped the mayor, of course he was a friend of the show,” said Shannon. “Yah, we spent the afternoon in jail that time.”

Shannon moved to the Green Bay and Appleton market in the early 1990s with WNCY-FM and has been there since.

Mayoral candidates look toward future

Herter, Roberts answer questions

BY ROBERT CLOUD
SENIOR EDITOR

NEW LONDON – Two candidates for New London mayor will appear on the April 2 ballot.

Incumbent Mayor Mark Herter and District 4 Ald. Tim Roberts are running for the position.

This is the final installment in a two-part series asking the candidates questions about their past experiences and hopes for the future of New London.

What do you consider some of your most important accomplishments for the city of New London over the past two years?

Roberts: I feel I provided a fresh look on the topics discussed by the committees that I serve on and as a part of the council. I created discussion on the issues being voted on rather than simply being another “rubber stamp” yes-man.

I contemplated and considered all aspects of the issues before I voted and then voted in a way that I felt benefited the people of New London best and not what benefited the council or city workers the most.

I vote for the people, not the council and that is why occasionally my votes are 9

Herter and Roberts to 1 Roberts.

Herter: Some of my personal achievements since taking office in 2020 has been meeting with my constituents and representing them at city, state and federal levels.

Among my accomplishments has been my commitment to be available to residents 24/7 in person, by phone or a simple conversation while grocery shopping and the ability to meet and work with the different groups such as the Boy Scouts/Webelos and Star Spangled Kids.

I have successfully created three new TIDs (Tax Incremental Financing Districts) for funding development. New London only ever had three TIDs, Now we have six under my administration, thus helping businesses to remodel with expansion like Titan Industries.

I have had great success with work force development, opening of the ATV/UTV routes in New London, bridging the gaps of communication from city government to my constituents, aggressive street repairs using grant dollars and ARPA funds while also setting up New London for future grant applications, downtown revitalization process and redevelopment, representing the interests of our city at county, state and federal levels.

In some cases in-person presentations at all levels of government like my opposition and presentation to the Wisconsin Senate of bill 691. I have introduced WiFi to a portion of our parks and look forward to expanding WiFi to all parks in the city. Complete a comprehensive plan for the development of the city owned property north of town. The new Kayak launch at our boat ramp, relationship building and creation of our sister city in Killaloe, Ireland, and connecting New London worldwide.

Group fundraising for Manawa sign

BY EMILY CONROY
STAFF REPORTER

MANAWA – The Triangle Park Renovation Project is making progress as fundraising continues and money is starting to come in.

Mary Mann, who has been working with her husband John, Deb Sarna, Patty Hirte and Karen Hoffmann to raise money for the new sign, noticed last summer that a lot of the logo boards were outdated and some of the organizations no longer exist.

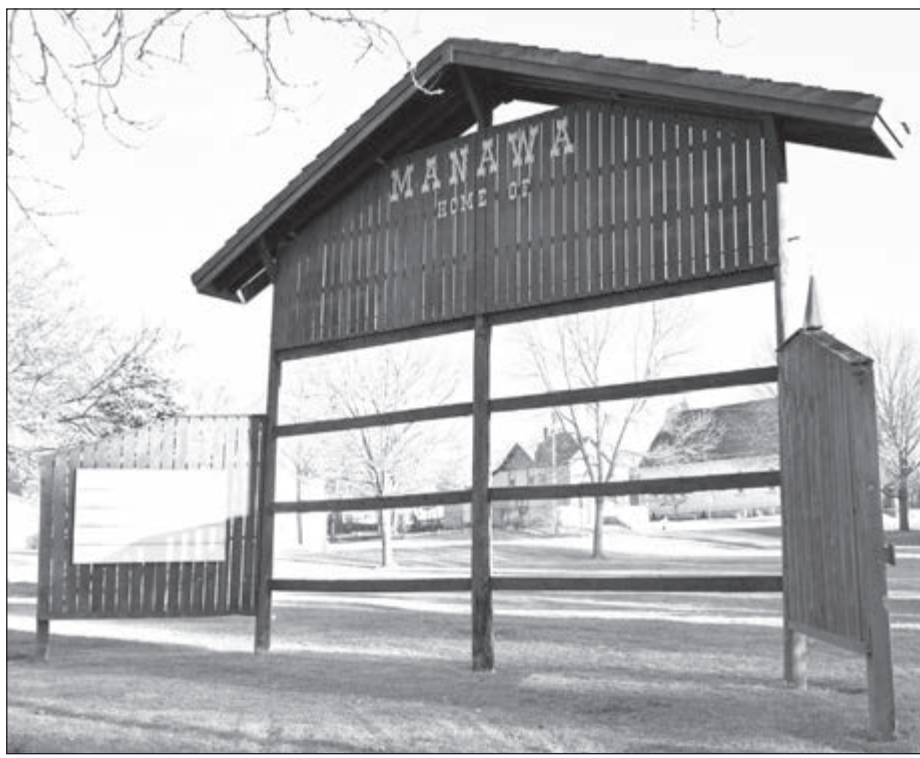

Mary said the sign was originally erected by the Women's Club of Manawa, with the process starting in 1984. They raised funds over the following two years and the sign was finished in 1986.

Sarna said this project came to fruition in August 2023 when they realized Manawa's sesquicentennial was coming the following year in 2024.

The goal is to have the sign finished by the first weekend in August ahead of the 150th anniversary weekend and to have the unveiling during the weekend celebration, Mary said.

Currently, the sign holds 18 logos, and in using the same frame the new sign will be expanded out to 32. Local organizations and churches have spoken for 24 of the logo spaces. No businesses will be displayed on the sign, Mary said.

"We really want to enhance the Triangle as a focal point in our community, yes the sign is there, but it was in such disrepair that, depending which way you were driving and looking at that sign, it really did not look great," Mary said.

The biggest update to Triangle Park will be the digital sign which will announce events and activities around the community, Mary said.

The bandstand and the Frederick Remington Bronco Buster replica statue will remain at the park, however the Melvin O. Handrich Congressional Medal of Honor Recipient Memorial will be moved to the Manawa Veteran's Park.

John Mann said the funds will not be coming from the city or from taxpayers, the renovation will be funded by donations from the community.

This is a one-time fundraiser, it will not be an ongoing thing, Mary said.

Sarna said that if there are enough funds left over after the sign is renovated they would like to have some additional enhancements, like a bench swing.

"What is nice about this, it is in the community if you choose to you are partaking in making your community better and more appealing to the eye. You can represent that with respect and dignity," Sarna said.

The donation can qualify for a tax deduction under the 501(c)(3) internal revenue code, as the project is being held by the Manawa Revitalization Committee LLC, Hoffmann said.

Donations can be sent to Manawa Revitalization Committee Inc., P.O. Box 130, Manawa Wisconsin, 54949. Their Facebook page, Triangle Park Renovation Project: Manawa, Wisconsin also has a QR code that visitors can scan that will bring them to the project's Venmo page.

Manawa schools send surveys

District seeks public input

BY EMILY CONROY
STAFF REPORTER

MANAWA – The Manawa School District will continue the process of strategic planning with surveys sent to community members starting March 4.

The survey will be a mix of open ended and multiple choice questions about priorities regarding the school district moving into the future, said Ryan Peterson, the Manawa school district administrator.

At the Nov. 27, 2023, meeting the school board voted that the Wisconsin Association of School Boards (WASB) would be in charge of taking over the strategic planning.

"We are really working to make sure we reach all members of the community and get as much participation as possible," Peterson said.

The survey will gather community opinions on things such as strengths and opportunities for the schools, skills that are important and financial priorities, Peterson said.

As the surveys are returned, a group of 20 to 30 stakeholders in the community will be meeting over the next three months.

A stakeholder is someone who is representative of a faction of the community, this could be a parent, business owner, clergy and non-profit organizers.

The stakeholders who have been identified in Manawa have been invited and Peterson said they are waiting for their responses and acceptance of the invite.

The survey's goal is to identify areas the community thinks need improvement in the school system.

"Ultimately, the goal is to create a strategic plan that is in alignment with the needs and wants of the communities that make up the School District of Manawa," Peterson said.

The stakeholders will hone in on what is important, Peterson said. The information will then come back to the school board.

"This community group will process the information and help the school district focus on priority areas that will guide continuous improvement for our schools in the coming years," Peterson said.

The target to get the information back to the school board is by the June meeting.

Some school board members at the Feb. 26 meeting voiced concerns that they have not been able to meet with the WASB representative and were apprehensive to move forward until the strategic planning process could be better understood by the board.

"The board hiring them, having the opportunity to actually understand what the process is going to be, what they expect as far as involvement or non-involvement and everything should have been understood before we got down all these other paths," said Sandra Reiersen, the Manawa school board president.

Kerri Jepson, the school board treasurer, agreed.

"I am blown away that all of this has happened and the board of education has had no input whatsoever," Jepson said.

Peterson responded in the meeting that the strategic plan does not belong to the board, the data that is received will come back to the board to implement and make the changes the community is looking for.

"The idea behind strategic planning is to have an objective set of input that funnels its way to the board so a plan can be designed through that," Peterson said.

Jepson made a motion to hold a special school board meeting in order to meet with the WASB representative. The motion did not receive a second.

It was decided to invite the WASB representative to the next school board meeting.

State finalists compete in Madison

Boys & Girls Club event

MADISON – Fifteen regional champions are set to compete on Capitol Square for Boys & Girls Clubs Youth of the Year, the highest honor given to a member.

Bally Sports, in conjunction with the Packers, Brewers and Bucks, will award $20,000 in scholarships.

These young leaders are from clubs in Stevens Point, Rhinelander, West Bend, Baraboo, Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, Berlin, Wausau, Oshkosh, Green Bay, Kenosha, La Crosse, Milwaukee, Chippewa Valley and Dane County.

One winner will represent the 117,000 Wisconsin youth who use clubs every year, and go on to compete at Midwest and National competitions.

Wisconsin clubs employ 2,440 staff at 203 club sites across 77 communities, and local competitions recently narrowed the field down to 15 finalists. As they meet Monday with seven esteemed judges, their interviews and speeches will be scored on youth leadership, public service, academic excellence and contributions to family.

While in Madison, youth also met with the governor,

Supreme Court justices and other government leaders.

Winners visited with state senators, Assembly members and staff from their home districts, and discussed top areas of concern to youth.

Finalists spoke from the Assembly Chambers in the State Capitol, sharing their inspiring stories of thriving through the pandemic.

Wisconsin clubs serve more kids per population than any other state in the country, and more youth than any other organization outside of the public school system.

City offers housing grants, loans

STEVENS POINT – The city of Stevens Point Community Development Department offers a variety of different grant and loan programs that are only available to its residents.

City staff will host an informational, one-hour session at 6 p.m. Thursday, March 21, at the Community Room of the Stevens Point Police Department, 933 Michigan Ave.

The session will provide an overview of all city housing grants and loans, as well as housing programs provided by CAP Services.

The city offers four grant and loan programs to resident homeowners to help maintain or improve their homes. Recent changes expand eligibility to the Housing Modernization Loan Program allowing for more homeowners to use low-interest rate (2%) loans to afford major improvements to their homes, with flexible terms up to 10 years.

The Neighbor Helping Neighbor Grant maximum award was recently increased to $5,000 with no repayment requirements, but there is a matching funds provision. More anticipated changes are soon to follow, which will also be discussed.

“Our housing programs are making it easier for our residents to reinvest in their homes during these difficult times,” says Mayor Mike Wiza. “The impact of the programs this last year has been visible, and I look forward to seeing what our residents accomplish in 2024.”

Residents and any contractors who work within the city are invited to attend

Go to <https://stevenspoint.com/595/Homeowner-Help> for information on all city-managed housing programs.

Residents are also encouraged to review federal energy efficiency tax credits with their tax preparers while planning their home improvements to further reduce costs. This information is also available online at <https://stevenspoint.com/1412/Tax-Credits>.

Alchemy Concrete wins awards

FOR THE GAZETTE

Nelsonville – Alchemy Concrete Inc., a full-service concrete provider based out of Nelsonville in central Wisconsin received two Wisconsin Ready Mixed Concrete Association Design Awards.

The company won the 2023 first-place North Central Region Award – Decorative Commercial for the courtyard at the Berard Center Boys & Girls Club in Stevens Point.

The Boys & Girls Club wanted a space intended for active and passive uses for multiple age groups. This project required careful attention to engineering detail. “The use of ready-mixed concrete provides the color, texture, utility, and sustainability to create a space for kids that offers gardening, chess, checkers, hopscotch, four square, and gaga ball, as well as space for table games, small group gatherings, and the ability to sit and watch away from the activity,” said Tom Dunbar, director of design.

Access to the site from a major street on the open side of the courtyard made it difficult to plan around morning and afternoon traffic volumes. The site was also bounded by a junior high school and the parks department, with the police station nearby.

Award for “The Retreat.”

The customer wanted to replace and improve a 1980s landscape consisting of concrete pavers and wood-timber retaining walls into a more sustainable, maintainable, up-to-date space. This required re-engineering to accommodate new materials, particularly related to improving site grading, drainage, and pedestrian movement.

Describing the idea behind The Retreat, Dunbar said, “The framework for aesthetics revolved around creating a design that honors the 1980s concrete paver and wood timber aesthetic while transforming it, using the color and texture that ready-mix concrete offers, into an elegant, warmer, robust, and more intimate visual context. The project's challenges included staging and construction sequencing that required vehicle and pedestrian access to the home throughout a construction process that surrounded and isolated the house.

Another challenge involved site excavation, preparation and construction access in a tight wooded condition with large boulders that could only be reduced in size, not removed.

“We feel very blessed to be surrounded by incredible team members and community!,” said Judah Haas, owner of Alchemy Concrete. “We are thankful for everyone who made this all possible.”

ROTARY

Members of the Rotary also host foreign exchange students and have done so for decades.

“I've had a foreign exchange student and so has Jim,” said Netzer, who still talks with her past foreign exchange student. “We are so close that he wants my kids in his wedding. He is trying to convince me to travel, as traveling scares me as there are big bugs in the Amazon!”

In Stevens Point, Rotary members engage in projects and activities to benefit their local community, while participating in international organization's broader mission of promoting peace, fighting disease, providing clean water, supporting education and growing local economies.

Ashley Paulus is the upcoming president of the Stevens Point Rotary Club and has been with the club for five years.

There are different kinds of memberships, and anyone can join the club.

“We have young people up to retired members in the club,” Paulus said.

Rotarian Jim Anderson has been with the club for 49 years,

“No one person could do this, being in a group, this group, you're able to do these things,” Anderson said.

The club sent an ambulance full of medical supplies to Nicaragua to support the hospitals and care centers.

“We do service projects internationally. We sent vaccines for polio and helped wipe it out of all countries but two,” Anderson continued. Stevens Point Rotary has also sent clothing and medical supplies to Ukraine.

“We do big and small projects. We raise half the funds ourselves and then we receive a grant that matches the amount we raised to finish the projects,” Anderson said.

Future events of the club are Highway and Green Circle Trail cleanup in the spring and fall, along with the Rose Sale in October.

PUBLISHER'S LETTER

Crossing Continuums

Dear Reader,

A fact of life is that as soon as we are born, we begin the brief or lengthy process of dying. No time is a "just right" time for death because of the many complex variables of living starting with the humanity around us.

I once knew a number of people who ran life in the fast lane. They ran hard. They accomplished a lot. And then boom! It was over, just like that. A heart attack. Cancer. Here and then gone in a few minutes, or a few weeks or months. If it wasn't immediately, it would be one sort of problem that cascades into another and then another. No one expects it. Fate steps boldly and dispassionately in: Fate is deaf to any brand of supplication. Prayers generally ameliorate yet don't affect the outcome.

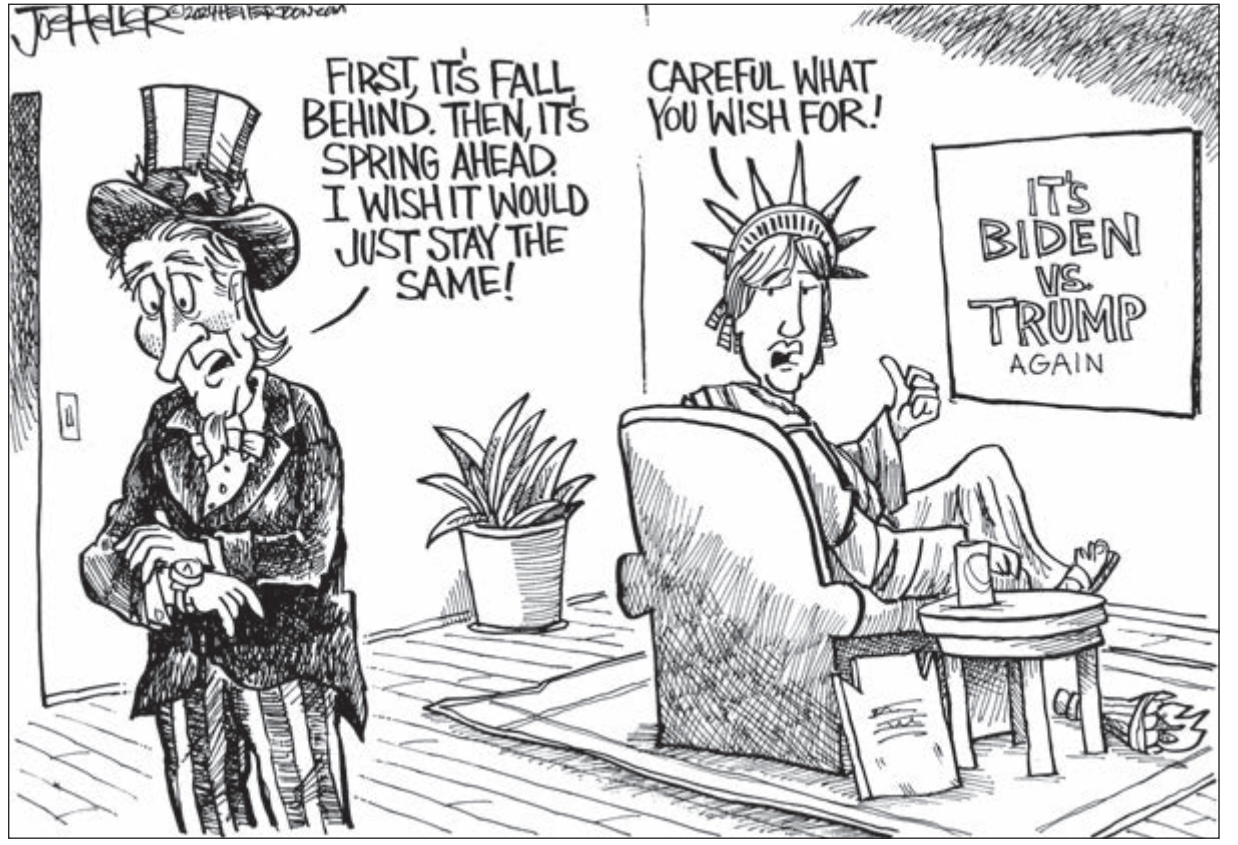

Each believed that they had so much more to do, so much more of life ahead of them. Not so. Sadness and disappointment barged in because there was so much more to do (or so they thought). And yet these untimely, hard stops were meant to be, for reasons no one has ever explained well. The hills ahead and the mountains behind falsely summoned – not knowing that the climbing can, as in so many cases, abruptly end. And then we are left with a legacy of what we have done with others remaining to witness and judge.

Perhaps it doesn't have to be what I've described above. We can make short-term plans for the foreseeable trails ahead. We can make the long plans, that may or may not happen, with low expectations. In a way, our past accomplishments are banked as a foundational legacy. The hopes and dreams which hopefully materialize beyond that can be icing on the cake if they are realized.

Being ready for the inevitable crossing over to the continuum of spiritual infinity makes us feel confident in what was done in our wake. The present and future are bonus deeds we garner as we try to live as beings with purpose – the noble purpose of doing good before departing, secure in the knowledge that what we left in the continuum of physical finitude has made it a better place.

LWVSPA supports school referendum

The League of Women Voters of the Stevens Point Area (LWVSPA) supports a yes vote on the Stevens Point Area School District (SPASD) Recurring Operational Referendum question on the April 2, 2024 election ballot.

The League has long supported a strong public education system in the community, believing it is in the best interests of a vibrant, successful community and well-informed citizenry. We believe the current proposal provides financial support for maintaining such an excellent educational system.

Consistent with the proposal:

1. The League supports maintaining staff salaries and benefits sufficient to maintain educational excellence and safety.

2. The League supports equitable and adequate taxation to support school and student needs.

3. The League supports the school district being fiscally independent.

The League of Women Voters, a nonpartisan political organization, encourages informed and active participation in government, works to increase understanding of the major public policy issues, and influences public policy through education and advocacy.

PCHCC sale moving forward

Portage County Executive John Pavelski and County Board Chair Al Haga are moving ahead at full speed to sell the Portage County Health Care Center (PCHCC), long called the "County Home," to Sam Follman, in spite of the long history of public support for the PCHCC.

According to records publicly available, the proposed buyer is affiliated with nursing homes in Wausau, Algoma, and Brown Deer, all under a brand "Waterfall." Waterfall Algoma has a 3-star rating, while both Waterfall Wausau and Waterfall Brown Deer have the lowest Medicare rating possible—1-star. These Medicare ratings are based on specialty care availability, staffing levels, injuries such as falls, infections and complaints filed.

Our PCHCC has a top level 5-star Medicare rating. Would these high ratings continue if the County sells the PCHCC to a private buyer and it becomes a for-profit facility?

The voters of Portage County have repeatedly shown their support for keeping the PCHCC a County-owned and operated facility through repeated referendums supporting its operations. And as recently as 2022, voters approved the construction of a brand-new facility on land near the existing facility.

The planning process is complete, but the construction was halted when COVID-related inflation added to the cost. The building process remains stalled, pending one more referendum to cover these possible additional costs.

Instead, as of the publication deadline for this letter, a joint committee is expected to pass and forward a resolution to the County Board that would advance the sale process and establish an "ad hoc Health Care Center Committee" to take over the duties of the ordinance-created PCHCC Committee, which has not supported selling the Health Care Center.

The proposed "ad hoc" committee would be stacked with members supporting the sale, including County Executive Pavelski and County Board Chair Haga. The job of the "ad hoc" committee appears to be to shepherd the sale process to its conclusion at a future meeting of the County Board.

Let's put a stop to this forced privatization and hold that referendum—in November—so we can voice our support for the PCHCC once again and finally get the shovels in the ground for a new PCHCC. The voters deserve to be heard.

You still have time to contact your County Board Supervisor. Contact information is available on the Portage County website or from the County Clerk Maria Davis. If you are not happy with the impending sale of our PCHCC, now is the time to speak up, or forever hold your peace.

More information on the sale process is available at <https://www.stevenspointjournal.com/story/news/local/2024/03/08/buyer-submits-1-8-million-offer-to-purchase-portage-county-health-care-center/72884723007/> under the heading, "Buyer submits $1.8M offer to purchase the Portage County Health Care Center" March 8, 2024.

Lawmakers file for taxpayer-paid expenses

BY JEFF MAYERS
THE CAPITAL REPORT

Lawmakers spent more time in the Capitol than they did two years ago as per diems were up in 2023 compared to the last time they hammered out a budget, according to records from the Senate and Assembly chief clerks' offices.

In all, lawmakers claimed more than $1.4 million in 2023 for 12,890 days. By comparison, they claimed less than $1.2 million in 2021 for 11,468 days as both numbers took a dip from 2019 with the Capitol still getting back to its normal rhythm after the COVID-19 pandemic.

The two chambers have different rules for the expense reimbursements, which are meant to cover costs such as lodging and meals while lawmakers are in Madison for legislative business.

The Assembly allows members to claim up to 153 days in the first year of a biennium with a rate of $155.70 for overnight trips and $77.85 for coming into the Capitol for just the day. Dane County legislators can only claim the day trip rate.

The Senate, meanwhile, doesn't cap the number of days lawmakers can claim.

And lawmakers in both chambers also claim mileage for their trips to the Capitol separately from their per diem payments, which are in addition to their salaries of $57,408.

In the Senate, LaTonya Johnson, D-Milwaukee and a member of the Joint Finance Committee, claimed the most at $19,320. That was followed by Madison Dem Melissa Agard, who spent most of the year as the minority leader, at $17,360, followed by Majority Leader Devin Le-Mahieu, R-Oostburg at $17,080.

Meanwhile, Sen. Rob Hutton, R-Brookfield, claimed the least at $4,715, while Senate President Chris Kapenga, R-Delafield, had the second lowest at $5,040. Overall, the chamber's members claimed $405,489.

State reps, meanwhile, claimed just over $1 million. Freshmen took two of the three top slots – Rep. Peter Schmidt, R-Bond-duel, claimed the most at $19,211, while Rep. Karen Hurd, R-Fall Creek, came in at No. 3 with $17,888. In between was sophomore Rep. Calvin Callahan, R-Tomahawk, at $18,525.

Schmidt's office told WisPolitics the lawmaker makes a point to be in the Capitol each day leadership sets aside as a potential floor day and noted he lives in the northern part of the state about 2.5 hours from Madison.

Meanwhile, Hurd told WisPolitics she serves on six committees on top of chairing the Speaker's Task Force on Childhood Obesity and has worked on several bills during her first year in the Assembly, some of which were signed by Gov. Tony Evers. "It's called hard work," she said.

Former GOP Rep. Dan Knodl, who won a spring special election for a Senate seat, claimed the least at $1,401, while Rep. Jimmy Anderson, D-Fitchburg, was next lowest at $1,946.

Municipal revenues rise but not uniformly

BY WISCONSIN POLICY FORUM

With last year's enactment of historic state legislation, most Wisconsin municipalities are receiving their first substantial increase in a generation in their main source of state aid, shared revenue.

However, the increases in revenue vary widely by community. Some smaller communities have seen a huge percentage increase in revenue, while for others, the impact has been much more modest.

A 3.7% rise in December property tax levies also contributed to a historic revenue increase for municipalities in 2024. Preliminary data show Wisconsin's more than 1,800 cities, villages, and towns levied $3.48 billion in property taxes on December 2023 bills. The resulting 3.7% increase from the $3.35 billion levied in Deember 2022 is less than the 4.5% increase the year prior, but larger than any other year since 2009.

Meanwhile, the measure now known as 2023 Wisconsin Act 12 increased funding for shared revenue by 30.5%, from $674.2 million last year to $879.5 million this year. The combined collective impact for municipalities is an 8.2% increase in revenues from their two largest sources, property taxes and shared revenue. This average statewide increase is the most in at least three decades and likely much longer.

In recent decades, funding for shared revenue had badly lagged inflation, even decreasing in some years. In 1995 – as far back as we have data – the state shared about $761.5 million with municipalities. By 2012, that dropped to a low of $665.2 million, and by 2023 had barely risen to $674.2 million.

Starting in 2024, for many municipalities around Wisconsin, the Act 12 funding will have a significant impact on their budgets. Across all communities with under 1,000 residents, the combined 81.3% increase in state aid and 4.9% increase in property taxes will raise the total amount from these two largest sources of municipal revenue by an average of 20.3%.

The state's largest municipalities – those with populations above 20,000 – will also benefit, but not nearly as much. Their state aid totals will rise by 19.0%, and taken together with a 3.7% increase in property taxes, they will have an additional 6.4% in revenue on average from these two sources.

This increase for large municipalities, while certainly the largest in a number of years, should be viewed in the context of an 8% increase in the rate of inflation (as measured by the Consumer Price Index) in 2022 and a 4.1% inflation rate in 2023.

The passage of Act 12 was in many ways historic, even as its effects varied widely by community. Larger cities in the state received much less per capita, particularly in areas with high property values. This disparity means the degree of relief municipalities are receiving from their mounting budget challenges ranges from considerable to scant.

Algiers, Edgar

Edgar Lyle Algiers
July 7, 1932 - March 3, 2024
Ed is ski jumping on the hills of Heaven now, and is reunited with his lifelong love, Jane, after passing away peacefully on Sunday, March 3, 2024. He was called home to the Lord at the age of 91, with loved ones by his side, at Trinity Terrace in New London, Wisconsin.

Born in New London on July 7, 1932 to the late Lance and Mildred (Dalley) Algiers, Edgar Lyle Algiers grew to become a notable athlete, local business owner and devoted family man.

As the captain of the New London football team his senior year of high school, Ed escorted the school's first-ever Homecoming queen, Jane Klatt, to the Homecoming dance. That first date led to many more, and the pair married on June 14, 1952. They went on to have eight children and remained devoted sweethearts for 65 years, until Jane's passing in 2017.

Ed excelled not only in football but also baseball, golf and other sports throughout his lifetime, including ski jumping. He was an outstanding athlete and the proud recipient of the 1950 Jim Bodoh Athletic Award. Later in life, he was a champion "couch coach" for his favorite professional teams, never shying away from an opportunity to express his displeasure at a play he didn't like; his family extends their condolences to the Packers and Brewers, who will have to try and somehow manage without Ed's helpful input.

Ed ran his own successful house painting business in New London for many years, Edgar Algiers Painting and Contracting. He was a longtime member of the local United Methodist Church. He will be fondly remembered for his charm, honesty, and the constant twinkle in his eye - but most of all, for his wholehearted love for his family.

He will be dearly missed by all who knew and loved him, including his children, Karen (Timothy) Nitke of FL; Mary (Ron) Bellile of New London; Teresa (Rick) Kaepernick of CA; Ted (Pat) Algiers of New London; Jennifer Flease of New London; Kathy Algiers of Appleton; Tom (Valerie) Algiers of New London; and Tim (Jane) Algiers of Sun Prairie; as well as 16 grandchildren; 16 great-grandchildren; two brothers, Jack Algiers of King and Ted Algiers of Watertown; a sister, Kathy Waushesock of New London; and many nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

In addition to his wife, Ed was preceded in death by his parents, two grandsons, Lance and Kent Kaepernick; parents-in-law, Adolph and Ada Klatt; brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law.

The family would like to give special thanks to Melissa and Cassie and their team at Moments Hospice, as well as Rebecca, Brittany and the entire staff at Trinity Terrace Assisted Living, for their loving care of Ed.

The Memorial Service will be on Friday, March 8, 2024 at 11 a.m. at United Methodist Church, 709 W. Pine St. New London, with Rev. Joyce Rich officiating. The visitation will be on Friday at the church from 9 am until the time of the service. The Maple Crest Funeral Home of Waupaca is assisting the family with arrangements. In lieu of flowers, a memorial is being established.

Fritz, Mary Jo

Mary Jovita Fritz (Clark), 87, of Green Bay, Wisconsin, passed away peacefully with her children by her side, on March 1, 2024.

Mary Jo was a beautiful soul and was always happy to see you, and always had time to talk. To anyone. Anywhere. It became a standing joke over the years, and one of her most enduring qualities. She loved people and in true Irish fashion, had the gift of gab.

Mary Jo was born in Kalamazoo Michigan on July 11, 1936, the daughter of the late Thomas and Rosabelle (Elkerton) Clark. She graduated from St. Augustine High School in 1954 and went on to receive both her undergraduate and graduate degree in Education from Western Michigan University. She taught a few years in Three Rivers, MI and the rest of her time teaching was in Stevens Point WI teaching 1st grade. She was a director for Odyssey of the Mind (which became Destination Imagination), refereed swim meets, and was active in many ministries in the catholic church - she especially loved her prayer shawl group.

As a teenager, she loved to tell stories about her job working as a telephone operator at Michigan Bell, the same company at which her father worked. She truly enjoyed it.

She met the love of her life, Francis Gerald (Gerry) Fritz, on a blind date in Michigan. As the story goes, he asked her out three times and she always had something else going on. If she had remembered Holy Thursday, Gerry would have moved on, and the great love wouldn't have happened. They celebrated 60 years in Jan 2023. Gerry passed away in Nov 2023. When you hear of someone dying of a broken heart, it's true. Mary Jo joined Gerry in heaven just four months after his death.

Mary Jo had a wonderful life and had so much life inside her. She had luck on her side, which aligned with her birth date of 7/11. She could easily find 4-leaf clovers, won door prizes and bingo, and found money randomly. She had many interests including her Thursday bridge group, traveling, shopping (always looking for a deal), studying genealogy, doing her daily puzzles, flower gardening, blueberry picking, writing stories, and walking. It used to be hard to keep up with her! Above all, Mary Jo had unwavering faith in God. It was her foundation for everything, and we are grateful she passed that faith down to us. Mary Jo wrote and published two children's stories and one story of miracles on earth.

Mary Jo absolutely loved spending time with her family and being involved in all the family adventures together, no matter what it was. She loved her kids, grandkids, and great grandkids with all her heart. She showed interest in all their activities and achievements and helped celebrate everyone's successes. They were her pride and joy, and she will be deeply missed.

Mary Jo is survived by her sons Michael (Joanna) Fritz, Chandler AZ, Paul (Jennifer) Fritz, Las Vegas NV, daughters Kathleen (Jim) Gibson, Sturgeon Bay, Kristin Battaglia (Rick Byrum), Stevens Point and Erin (Dean) Maniscalco, De Pere, WI, 12 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren. She is also survived by her brother Thomas (Wilma) Clark of Eau Claire.

Whenever asked how she was doing, Mary Jo would always answer "I am blessed". But we are the ones who were blessed to have you in our lives and will miss you dearly.

Funeral services will be held at St. Bernard Catholic Church on Tuesday March 19. Visitation from 9:30 A.M. to 11:00 A.M. with a mass starting at 11:00am.

Mary Jo would love for any donations to be made to Amigos for Christ. She truly disliked the thought of people not having access to clean water in their homes. www.Amigosforchrist.org

This report is designed to inform you about the quality of the water and services we deliver to you every day. Our constant goal is to provide you with a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. We want you to understand the efforts we make to continually improve the water treatment process and protect our water resources. We are committed to ensuring the quality of your water.

New London's water system now consists of three separate pressure zones, seven wells, three water towers, two booster stations, and two control valve stations. The water system is operated by a computer driven system called a SCADA. The high level pressure zone is located south of Cook Street from the west end of the city to Division Street, and south of Douglas Street. The primary pressure zone is everything north of Cook and Douglas Streets, and east of Mill Street including all parts of the city north of the Wolf River up to Jeanne St. The third zone is everything north of Jeanne St. A third zone has been established for the new Northeast New London Business Center. The three zones are made up of the following equipment:

PFAS Contaminants with a Recommended Health Advisory Level

Perfluoroalkyl and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) are a large group of human-made chemicals that have been used in industry and consumer products worldwide since the 1950. The following table list PFAS contaminants which were detected in your water and that have a Recommended Public Health Groundwater Standard (RPHGS) or Health Advisory Level (HAL). There are no violations for detections of contaminants that exceed the RPHGS or HAL. The RPHGS are levels at which concentrations of the contaminant present a health risk and are based on guidance provided by the Wisconsin Department of Health Services.

Contaminant (units)	Site	RPHGS or HAL (PPT)	Level Found	Range	Sample Date (if prior to 2023)
PFBS (ppt)		450000	1.20	0.00 - 1.20
PFHXS (ppt)		40	1.10	0.00 - 1.10
PFHXA (ppt)		150000	1.50	0.00 - 1.50
PFOS (ppt)		20	0.54	0.00 - 0.54
PFOA AND PFOS TOTAL (ppt)		20	0.54	0.00 - 0.54

Radioactive Contaminants

Contaminant (units)	Site	MCL	MCLG	Level Found	Range	Sample Date (if prior to 2023)	Violation	Typical Source of Contaminant
GROSS ALPHA, EXCL. R & U (pCi/l)		15	0	0.2	0.0 - 0.2	7/27/2021	No	Erosion of natural deposits

Contaminants with a Public Health Groundwater Standard, Health Advisory Level, or a Secondary Maximum Contaminant Level

The following table lists contaminants which were detected in your water and that have either a Public Health Groundwater Standard (PHGS), Health Advisory Level (HAL), or a Secondary Maximum Contaminant Level (SMCL), or both. There are no violations for detections of contaminants that exceed Health Advisory Levels, Public Health Groundwater Standards or Secondary Maximum Contaminant Levels. Secondary Maximum Contaminant Levels are levels that do not present health concerns but may pose aesthetic problems such as objectionable taste, odor, or color. Public Health Groundwater Standards and Health Advisory Levels are levels at which concentrations of the contaminant present a health risk.

Contaminant (units)	Site	SMCL (ppm)	PHGS or HAL (ppm)	Level Found	Range	Sample Date (if prior to 2023)	Typical Source of Contaminant
CHLORIDE (ppm)		250		110.00	8.70 - 110.00	8/26/2020	Runoff/leaching from natural deposits, road salt, water softeners
IRON (ppm)		0.3		0.20	0.00 - 0.20	8/26/2020	Runoff/leaching from natural deposits, industrial wastes

SULFATE (ppm)		250		86.00	14.00 - 86.00	8/26/2020	Runoff/leaching from natural deposits, industrial wastes

Volatile Organic Contaminants

Contaminant (units)	Site	MCL	MCLG	Level Found	Range	Sample Date (if prior to 2023)	Violation	Typical Source of Contaminant
TETRACHLOROETHYLENE (ppb)		5	0	0.6	0.0 - 0.6		No	Leaching from PVC pipes; Discharge from factories and dry cleaners
TRICHLOROETHYLENE (ppb)		5	0	0.2	0.0 - 0.2		No	Discharge from metal degreasing sites and other factories

Unregulated Contaminants

Unregulated contaminants are those for which EPA has not established drinking water standards. The purpose of unregulated contaminant monitoring is to assist EPA in determining the occurrence of unregulated contaminants in drinking water and whether future regulation is warranted. EPA required us to participate in this monitoring.

Definitions

Term	Definition
AL	Action Level: The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.
HA and HAL	HA: Health Advisory. An estimate of acceptable drinking water levels for a chemical substance based on health effects information. HAL: Health Advisory Level is a concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, poses a health risk and may require a system to post a public notice. Health Advisories are determined by US EPA.
HI	HI: Hazard Index: A Hazard Index is used to assess the potential health impacts associated with mixtures of contaminants. Hazard Index guidance for a class of contaminants or mixture of contaminants may be determined by the US EPA or Wisconsin Department of Health Services. If a Health Index is exceeded a system may be required to post a public notice.
Level 1 Assessment	A Level 1 assessment is a study of the water system to identify potential problems and determine, if possible, why total coliform bacteria have been found in our water system.
Level 2 Assessment	A Level 2 assessment is a very detailed study of the water system to identify potential problems and determine, if possible, why an E. coli MCL violation has occurred or why total coliform bacteria have been found in our water system, or both, on multiple occasions.
MCL	Maximum Contaminant Level: The highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.
MCLG	Maximum Contaminant Level Goal: The level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.
MFL	million fibers per liter
MRDL	Maximum residual disinfectant level: The highest level of a disinfectant allowed in drinking water. There is convincing evidence that addition of a disinfectant is necessary for control of microbial contaminants.
MRDLG	Maximum residual disinfectant level goal: The level of a drinking water disinfectant below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MRDLGs do not reflect the benefits of the use of disinfectants to control microbial contaminants.
mrem/year	millirems per year (a measure of radiation absorbed by the body)
NTU	Nephelometric Turbidity Units
pCi/l	picouries per liter (a measure of radioactivity)
ppm	parts per million, or milligrams per liter (mg/l)
ppb	parts per billion, or micrograms per liter (ug/l)
ppt	parts per trillion, or nanograms per liter
ppq	parts per quadrillion, or picograms per liter
PHGS	PHGS: Public Health Groundwater Standards are found in NR 140 Groundwater Quality. The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, poses a health risk and may require a system to post a public notice.
RPHGS	RPHGS: Recommended Public Health Groundwater Standards: Groundwater standards proposed by the Wisconsin Department of Health Services. The concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, poses a health risk and may require a system to post a public notice.
SMCL	Secondary drinking water standards or Secondary Maximum Contaminant Levels for contaminants that affect taste, odor, or appearance of the drinking water. The SMCLs do not represent health standards.
TCR	Total Coliform Rule
TT	Treatment Technique: A required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Additional Health Information

While your drinking water meets USEPA's standard for arsenic, it does contain low levels of arsenic. USEPA's standard balances the current understanding of arsenic's possible health effects against the costs of removing arsenic from drinking water. USEPA continues to research the health effects of low levels of arsenic, which is a mineral known to cause cancer in humans at high concentrations and is linked to other health effects such as skin damage and circulatory problems.

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. New London Waterworks is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at www.epa.gov/safewater/lead.

Health Information

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's safe drinking water hotline (800-426-4791).

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune systems disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Environmental Protection Agency's safe drinking water hotline (800-426-4791).

Educational Information

The sources of drinking water, both tap water and bottled water, include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity.

Contaminants that may be present in source water include:

- Microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, which may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations and wildlife.
- Inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally- occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining or farming.
- Pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff and residential uses.
- Organic chemical contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff and septic systems.
- Radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities.

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. FDA regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water, which shall provide the same protection for public health.

In our continuing efforts to maintain a safe and dependable water supply it may be necessary to make improvements in your water system. The costs of these improvements may be reflected in the rate structure. A rate adjustment was done in 2023.

Thank you for allowing us to continue providing your family with clean, quality water this year. We at New London Waterworks work around the clock to provide top quality water to every tap. We ask that all our customers help us protect our water sources, which are the heart of our community, our way of life and our children's future.

Forbes' survey recognizes Sentry

STEVENS POINT – Sentry Insurance has again been recognized by Forbes as one of America's Best Midsize Employers.

In collaboration with analytics firm Statista, Forbes selected America's Best Employers for 2024 based on an independent survey of 170,000 American workers who were asked about every aspect of their employment experience. Sentry is one of 400 companies nationwide that made the list of Best Midsize employers, defined as companies with 1,000–5,000 employees.

This is the third time Sentry has made the Forbes America's Best Employers

List. "We don't actively seek these awards, and are extremely honored when we are recognized," said Pete McPartland, Sentry's chair and CEO. "I'm proud of our employees – both past and present – and the culture they've built at Sentry. Throughout our 120-year history, they've remained committed to serving our customers, our communities and each other. It's a great success story."

Sentry had another successful year in 2023. McPartland said this reflects a commitment by every employee to making thoughtful decisions every day, in the best interest of policyholders and claimants, and the long-term success of the company.

"Credit also goes to our retirees for laying the foundation of operational and financial success, and for creating the value system that we adhere to today," he added.

Sentry's ranking

Sentry's ranking is based on personal and public evaluations that includes feedback from employees, friends and family of employees, and people who work in the same industry. Forbes' evaluation process analyzed survey data collected over the past three years to identify companies that have consistently received high ratings.

Sentry saw a balanced performance in all survey categories, according to Statista. Participants across the board recommended the company, which means it's held in equally high regard by its employees and by others in the insurance industry.

Founded in 1904, Sentry currently employs more than 4,900 people.

More information about the list of America's Best Midsize Employers 2024 can be found online at forbes.com.

Upcoming Waupaca library programs

WAUPACA – Dr. Ivan Wayne will present "Fake is the Wrong Word: The Psychology of Professional Wrestling" at 3:30 p.m. Thursday, March 21, at the Waupaca Area Public Library.

According to Wayne, professional wrestling can be one of things people love, hate or completely forget exists. The world of sports entertainment blurs the line between fiction and reality with an idea coined "kay-fabe."

This session will walk through the many psychological layers of pro wrestling, including "underselling," "heels," and getting "over" with a crowd.

The library will host "Let's Talk About That" at 4 p.m. Wednesday, March 20, in the lower-level Teen Room.

The group is led by teens and discusses topics that affect the daily lives of teens in grades 6-12.

A child and youth advocate from CAP Services will be available to talk with and provide resources.

The library will celebrate completion of a renovation project in the lower level Exhibit Room from 6-7:30 p.m. Monday, March 25.

Desserts and refreshments will be served. All ages are welcome.

The project was made possible by a donation from the Fran and Carole Vergauwen family.

In celebration of Women's History Month, Becky Liegl will discuss the lives of 18th-century women at 5 p.m. Tuesday, March 26, at the library.

Liegl spent a week at the George Washington Vernon Institute at Mount Vernon last summer and will share her experience learning about Martha Washington and the lives of women during the 18th century. She uses primary sources and research from top female historians. She will also discuss ways to engage young children through picture books.

Tim Lencki will be the guest speaker at a Lunch and Learn program at noon Wednesday, April 3, in the lower level of the library.

The owner of Adventure Outfitters, Lencki will talk about some adventures that can be found in Waupaca.

There is no charge for the event, but registration is required by going to <https://waupacalibrary.org/>, clicking Events, then scrolling down to the Lunch and Learn information box, then clicking the reservation link.

CANDIDATES

What do you hope to accomplish in the future if you are elected mayor of New London?

Herter: If re-elected as your mayor, I would first like to continue to grow my relationship with you, the community, by being available 24/7 as I am now. I aim to keep the aggressive progress towards fixing and reconstruction of our roads and doing so with county and state grants programs.

With keeping that promise I made about our roads and to you in 2020. I will continue to be a member of those committees that delegate county, state and federal funds as I am currently doing. Thus, insuring New London doesn't get left out on any grant money available as I have been successful so far.

I plan to continue talks at the Park and Recreation Committee to construct an archery range in the city.

I am currently researching the possibility of the DORA program here in New London. This could be a great thing for our downtown district as well as their clientele. Growth and development sets New London up to seek out more opportunities for grocery store and shopping entities.

With the positive direction NL is heading, I will aggressively seek to bring in those businesses to our community just like I did with Aldi and the strip mall north of the city where Drop n Go and Total Fitness opened. I aim to seek out restaurants like Culver's, In-n-Out burger and others, Also, continuing workforce development as all of this comes to fruition.

Roberts: I hope to get the most out of your tax dollars without over spending on unnecessary items that can be cut or tabled indefinitely. For huge, extraordinary expenditures, I would like to ask the Council to declare that the people of New London should decide by referendum.

I support responsible growth in New London, growth that benefits the people who have lived here for years. I want to see new jobs, affordable housing and new businesses that will benefit old and new alike. We need growth ... But the right kind of growth, Growth that doesn't force current residents out of town because they can no longer afford to live here. We want an affordable city.

As your mayor, I want to make sure that the citizens of our fair city are heard and that decisions are made with their best interests in mind.

And most importantly, I want to make sure that our roads are finally fixed, without new or unnecessary taxes.

SHOOTING

Ashton R. Tody, 21, Clintonville, is charged with first-degree reckless endangerment as party to a crime and disorderly conduct.

Both men were released from custody on $1,000 signature bonds.

Shortly after 5 p.m. Friday, March 1, Clintonville police responded to a report of gunfire in the area of Anne and 15th streets. When they arrived, all the men involved in the shooting had fled the scene.

A witness reported seeing a man dressed in black standing at the entrance to Christus Lutheran Church on Anne Street. He was arguing with two men who were standing at the corner of Anne and 15th streets.

She said the man in the church driveway pulled out a gun and started firing.

One of the other men fired back, according to the criminal complaint. All three men fled the scene.

The witness gave Clintonville Police Officer Anthony Arrieta a nearby address on Anne Street where she believed two of the men lived.

Sgt. Matthew Wright went to the Anne Street address, where he spoke with Tody.

Wright told Tody about the shooting incident and asked to check his residence to ascertain that nobody had been injured.

Tody allowed Wright into his home and Wright did not find anybody else there, the complaint says.

Meanwhile, Marion Police Officer Greg Dey found several spent bullet casings at the scene.

Witnesses also provided a description of a vehicle they believed was involved in the shooting.

A review of traffic safety camera images indicated that a gray Hyundai Sonata matching the description came into Clintonville on U.S. Highway 45 at 4:50 p.m.

Clintonville Officer Cody Rollin conducted a records check on the vehicle's license plate and found that it belonged to Dismuke's girlfriend.

Records also showed that police made a traffic stop of the vehicle a few months earlier and Dismuke had been the driver.

Another witness told police that while she was taking a one-hour work break, she met with a friend, identified as Dismuke's girlfriend, and a man identified as Dismuke.

She was the front-seat passenger when Dismuke's girlfriend drove them to the church parking lot. Dismuke was sitting in the back seat next to his newborn daughter.

The witness said after the girlfriend parked the car, Dismuke exited the vehicle and was later involved in an argument with two other men. One of them allegedly pulled a gun and fired two shots at Dismuke, who fired one shot back at them. The witness told them to drive her back to work.

Calumet County deputies arrested Dismuke at his home in Menasha, where they found a 9mm handgun.

Dismuke's account of the incident was similar to the account of the witness who had been in the car.

He has been charged with reckless endangerment for each of the three people who were in the car with him.

Tody denied being involved in the shooting.

"I don't have the words right now," he said. "I feel like I'm going to cry and all that stuff, but I'm just so proud of these guys. They just kept battling all year, put the work in and kept their composure when we needed to."

"I'm just so happy for our community, our school, all the former players," he added. "I wish I could take them all down there (to Madison). They built this."

I-S softball team plans egg fundraiser

IOLA – The Iola-Scandinavia softball team will hold its annual Egg My House Easter egg hunt fundraiser.
This year's event will be held the evening of Saturday, March 30, the day before Easter.
"We will be taking orders through Friday, March 22," coach Tom Anderson said. "Most of our deliveries are in the Iola and Scandinavia areas, but we have also delivered to Waupaca, Amherst and Stevens Point. We do have a 30-mile limit."
Players will deliver eggs even if the weather becomes a factor.

"We will still deliver the eggs, but we will put all the eggs in a plastic bag and put the bag near the front door," Anderson said. "Also, we would be happy to take your plastic eggs back after Easter. Return them to the elementary or high school offices."
The cost is $25 for 25 eggs or $30 for 35 eggs.
Last year, the team visited just over 45 houses and hid more than 1,500 eggs.
Orders can be placed by completing a registration form and returning with payment to the Iola-Scandinavia High School or Iola-Scandinavia Elementary School offices.

Forms can also be emailed to Anderson at anderson@iola.k12.wi.us or leaving a voice message with him at 715-445-2411, ext. 5000.
"This is a great team-building experience for the girls and they love it," Anderson said. "We enjoy packing the eggs with candy, but the real fun is to venture out and deliver the eggs. There is the thrill of sneaking into someone's yard and trying to stay quiet while staying out of sight. They all wear bunny ears just in case little eyes are peeking out the window."

Timber Ratters to help softball team

IOLA – Iola-Scandinavia High School's softball team and the Wisconsin Timber Rattlers are joining forces to help raise money for the softball team.

The Thunderbirds will earn $3 for every ticket sold through a special Iola-Scandinavia softball link: fevo-enterprise.com/event/Iolascandinavia24.
"The softball team is inviting all community members, friends and families of the team to join us in the fun-filled day cheering on coach Manley and the Timber Rattlers," coach Tom Anderson said.

The T-Birds, the defending WIAA Division 4 state champion, are scheduled to open their season at 4:30 p.m. Monday, April 1, at home against Manawa.

Spring hike scheduled

WAUPACA – A celebration of the spring equinox will be held Saturday, March 23, at Hartman Creek State Park.
The Friends of Hartman Creek State Park are organizing the event, which will include a hike from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. on the park's Deer Path Trail.

Hikers will look for clues that spring has arrived.
Participants should meet at the Allen Lake Picnic Shelter and dress for weather conditions and perhaps a muddy trail. All ages are welcome, but the trail is narrow and has a few small hills.

The event is free and open to the public, but a state park pass is required to enter the park, which is located at N2480 Hartman Creek Road, Waupaca.
