EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

The Greater Green Bay Area Chamber of Commerce recently surprised its 2024 Golden Apple recipients in their classrooms. The local teachers were recognized in the areas of professionalism, leadership and innovation.

Leading up to the April recognition event, the Press Times is highlighting these eight honorees.

GREEN BAY – Denmark Middle School Spanish Teacher Gina Wagner is in her 29th year as an educator.

She said that the most important thing about being an educator, for her, is “fostering positive relationships with students.”

“When students feel supported and valued, the more likely they are to succeed. The rest falls into place so much easier when students know that you are in their corner,” she said.

“In addition, I am a very reflective person. Whether it is after an activity, an assessment, instruction or interactions with students I am always reflecting on outcomes. I note what I would like to do differently, things that worked, and how I might make something more engaging. I do an anonymous survey to my students at the end of each

DE PERE – Miami Dolphins fullback Alec Ingold sent a message to students and attendees at St. Norbert College on Thursday, April 4, where he challenged them to “Take something away from tonight. So that you are a better person tomorrow than you were today.”

It was a recurring theme during the final session of the college’s year-long student-athlete development series with the Suamico native.

Ingold spoke on overcoming adversity and laying the foundation of excellence, using messages from his book The 7 Crucibles.

sional football — adoption and going undrafted in the NFL — and brought stories that relay the messages of life and sports and a “blending together for the next generation.”

Ingold fell in love with football at eight years old. “It’s a football game. I could hear the pads crack. I could hear the whistles blowing. I could hear people scoring touchdowns. I could feel the emotion from a high school football game from miles away in my front yard. And in that moment, I fell in love with the game of football. I knew that’s what I wanted to do as long as I could possibly live. I wanted to play ball. I felt that as an eight-year-old kid. That’s what I wanted to do. That’s it,” he recalled.

He spoke at length about his ups and downs in high school wrestling and football at the high school, college and professional level.

“The message behind that was the preparation, the willingness to go through uncomfortable moments; the willingness to put yourself out there, to prepare as good as you

Partnering on mats with a message

GREEN BAY – Brown County Law enforcement, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives and Green Bay Area Crime Stoppers are partnering on a campaign to help prevent the illegal purchases of firearms.

“We want to make sure that people understand that if you do make an illegal gun purchase and that gun is used in criminal activity or violent [activity], the reality, you’re putting yourself at the scene as if you’re pulling the trigger,” said Green Bay Area Crime Stoppers Program Coordinator Hans Lux.

The mats are available at no cost to Brown County firearm dealers and pawn shops to place at their gun counters, with the verbiage: “REMEMBER – Buying a firearm for someone who can’t is illegal! This can result in... 15 years in prison and up to a $25,000 fine! There’s a reason that the person who is asking can’t buy a firearm themselves! Should you trust

A deeper understanding of the city

BY GRACELYN GIESE

GREEN BAY – Green Bay will bring back the City Hall Academy this May for its second class.

Focusing on public education regarding local government, these courses will provide deeper insight into how Green Bay operates.

Green Bay City Hall Academy is an eight-week program designed to give attendees a look into local governmental processes while providing insight to government services, functions and activities.

The academy achieves this through “unique and informative sessions” including tours, demonstrations and hands-on activities focused in a variety of areas in the municipal government.

Some areas explored include the mayor’s office, public works, transit, water, public safety and parks and recreation.

The first City Hall Academy was held in 2023 and was sparked by a desire to promote citizen engagement, transparency, accountability and educational incentives.

Green Bay Community Liaison & Special Events Coordinator Jessie Paque noted “the creation of the City Hall Academy was driven by the desire to foster a more informed, engaged and empowered community, which leads to a stronger community.”

Alyssa Specht, graduate from the inaugural City Hall Academy, said that she participated in the academy to gain a deeper understanding of how the city operates.

“Being a realtor, I’m all about being a go-to person in the community, and I figured this would be a cool way to learn more about how things work around here,” Specht explained.

Specht said her favorite activity during the City Hall Academy was the vehicle accident response simulation.

“It offered a firsthand glimpse into the dedication and hard work put in by these first responders, making it a memorable experience” she said.

Specht added that she not only gained a deeper understanding of the inner workings of Green Bay, but also a deeper respect.

“Witnessing the dedication of the city’s employees firsthand was inspiring. It made me immensely proud to call myself a Green Bay resident, knowing that such passionate individuals are working to better our city every day,” Specht stated.

The City Hall Academy will last for eight weeks, with classes hosted 6-8 p.m. every Thursday.

In order to graduate, participants must attend at least six of the eight courses, as well as one city council or committee meeting during the span of the course.

The academy operates on a first come, first serve basis with priority given to Green Bay residents.

Classes start May 2.

There is no fee to register, but the class is capped at 25 participants.

Cowles will not seek reelection

BY PRESS TIMES STAFF

GREEN BAY – Senator Rob Cowles (R-Green Bay) will not seek reelection to his District 2 Wisconsin State Senate seat.

Cowles, 73, was elected to the Wisconsin Assembly in 1982 and resigned five years later, after winning a seat in the Senate.

“After much thought and deliberation, I have decided not to seek reelection to the Wisconsin State Senate,” Cowles said.

“Many of the amazing individuals that I’ve collaborated with do their work in the background. I want to thank some of these great people who I’ve had the privilege of working with during my time in the Legislature.

“First, our state government truly wouldn’t function properly without the dedicated nonpartisan staff serving the Legislature... Second, few people have the chance to get to know the elected officials representing Wisconsinites at the state and local level on a professional and personal level like I have over the years. Despite policy disagreements at times, I’ve met some outstanding individuals who serve their constituents with honor and respect. I wish my colleagues all the best in their efforts to serve the people of Wisconsin in the coming sessions.

“Third, my staff, past and present, have been dedicated to helping advance my work and assist the people of Northeast Wisconsin. I’ve been grateful to have these individuals willing to work in my office, and I want to wish them all the best as they go forward in their careers.

“Last but certainly not least, the people of Northeast Wisconsin have been endlessly kind to me. From entrusting me with an amazing responsibility to serve them, the civility they’ve largely showed even in disagreement, and the countless times I’ve been welcomed into events, meetings and tours, I’ve met so many exceptional people that always reminded me what the work of a legislator is truly all about.”

Cowles serves as chair of the Wisconsin Senate Committee on Natural Resources and Energy and co-chair of the Joint Legislative Audit Committee, and serves on the Senate Committee on Transportation, Veterans and Military Affairs and the Speaker’s Task Force on Water Quality.

Under the new legislative maps, Cowles was put in the same Senate district as two other Republican incumbents — Andre Jacque and Eric Wimberger.

District 2 now includes parts of Brown, Outagamie, Shawano and Waupaca counties.

Hotel Northland: A return to glory

BY KRIS LEONHARDT
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Continue from previous week

GREEN BAY – Work on the $44 million renovation of the historic hotel lasted through 2016 and into 2017.

But, as the redevelopment progressed, so did costs.

Legal battles and funding issues soon brought work to a halt completely in June.

The hotel entered receivership in late 2017.

The receiver, Paul Swanson, appointed a new contractor and work resumed.

In February 2018, Swanson announced that the Northland would join a Marriott International chain of boutique hotels called the “Autograph Collection.”

The Autograph Collection chain works with properties of historic value and with unique character and experiences.

“Financial problems that devolved into infighting among the developers plagued the project from late 2016 and into 2017, when the hotel ended up in receivership. Greenwood Hospitality Group would buy the partially completed project in spring 2018 and rush to open part of it by December, in order to salvage the historic tax credits that helped fund the building,” a Press-Gazette article stated.

“After what could be considered a labor of love for the city, developers and contractors, the hotel reopened on Valentine’s Day.”

zette article stated.

About $50 million later, the hotel opened in early 2019.

After what could be considered a labor of love for the city, developers and contractors, the hotel reopened on Valentine’s Day.

Through the renovation, the hotel went from 350 guest rooms to 160, while contractors worked to retain some of its historic aura.

Today, as you walk beneath the lighted neon sign and in the front, you are whisked away to the 1920s as you are greeted by a hotel clerk poised to assist you in front of rows of old-time key slots.

The hotel’s significance is not lost to visitors as they climb the front entry stairs and see a bronze replica of Vince Lombardi’s hat.

This spring, the hotel hosted a “birthday party” to mark the one hundredth anniversary of the Northland’s glorious welcome to the city.

The hotel “Brand Mark” is this bronze Vince Lombardi hat at the lobby entrance.

Organizers will also host a 1920s-themed gala this September, with special 1920 menu items in the historic Walnut Room all year.

Creating confidence at an early age

BY MEGHAN CALLAHAN

GREEN BAY – High School Girls Leadership Conference Founder and Executive Coach Vicki Updike decided to start a leadership program for young women after realizing the issue of girls lacking confidence.

Updike, president and founder of New Sage Strategies, has been leading women’s leadership programs for six years now.

“In the corporate world, women around the table speak less and are called on less, so if we can create that confidence earlier I think it would just be awesome,” she said.

The thought of young women struggling internally with themselves also helped to inspire this conference.

“It’s kind of disheartening that they are internally having these issues and going about their day, for which I give them a ton of credit,” Updike added.

She said that the main goal of this experience is to build confidence and expose young women to professional leadership.

“For many girls, especially high school age, confidence is an issue. We want to kind of catch that early and teach them how to be confident from a young age,” she said.

“We hope that from this experience they know they’re not alone and that we can all be advocates for each other.”

The event will be held Oct. 3, 7:30 a.m. – noon at Resch Expo, 840 Armed Forces Dr., Ashwaubenon, with multiple confidence-building activities scheduled throughout the day.

Events scheduled for the course of the conference include a morning keynote speaker, Michelle Curran, a retired fighter pilot; an activity facilitated by Ali Starr, the creator of Tashi Deley; and an afternoon keynote speaker, Leah Jantzen, a life and business strategist.

“Each of the events will have motivational themes,” Updike explained.

The conference won’t be your typical “sit and learn” process according to Updike.

“Our energy is what sets us apart,” she added. “Schools will be able to register for the number of seats they want. We’re expecting up to 500 girls to attend.”

Registration will be open until September.

A first down for trees

For the 14th year, the Green Bay Packers and other corporate sponsors have donated trees to Brown County communities as part of the "First Down for Trees" initiative. Two nurseries, Meacham Nursery and Leaves Inspired provided the trees this year. The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources and Wisconsin Public Service helped to administer the program. "It got started to help offset the Packers' carbon footprint when they travel to away games," according to Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources Urban Forestry Regional Coordinator Patricia Lindquist, pictured. She said "402 of all sorts" were donated and 6,757 trees have been planted since the program's inception.

NWTC hosts 'State of the College'

FOR THE PRESS TIMES

GREEN BAY – Northeast Wisconsin Technical College (NWTC) hosts its annual "State of the College" — a forum for elected officials, businesses and community stakeholders to "engage in dialogue about the institution's strengths, initiatives and strategic direction to fortify the workforce and economy."

The event featured keynote remarks from NWTC President Kristen Raney, Service Plus President Tad Campana and Wisconsin Technical College System President Morna Foy.

Themed "Soar into the Future," this year's conversation focused on topics like new training initiatives, addressing workforce gaps and the vital role community partnerships play in higher education.

"At NWTC, we recognize that our work cannot be done alone. We are grateful for the support of our community... Together we are creating pathways to enhance the economic vitality of our great region," Raney stated.

Foy is on her "Tour of Excellence," visiting all of Wisconsin's technical colleges to recognize the work being done.

"The outstanding outcomes Wisconsin's technical colleges produce in partnership with local employers and community members makes us a national leader in career and technical education," said

Foy. "This is an opportunity to recognize the great work colleges are doing locally and their positive impact all across Wisconsin."

Foy also visited its Marinette Campus, North Coast Marine Manufacturing Training Center and other learning areas, such as health sciences, engineering and lab sciences.

"Since 1912, our highly-skilled graduates have been putting their skills to work right here in our communities. And now, as we look to the future, NWTC is well positioned to prepare students to thrive amidst the rapid changes in the workplace, creating economic vitality for individuals, employers, and communities throughout the state," Raney added.

A lasting impact

BY PRESS TIMES STAFF

GREEN BAY – Paul Jadin was the recent recipient of the On Broadway Impact Award — an honor that will now carry his name.

“Paul Jadin’s leadership and influence over three decades has resulted in the revitalization of the Broadway District. Serving as mayor for the City of Green Bay for eight years, Jadin led the charge to create and fund On Broadway, Inc. as a catalyst to drive change,” a release from On Broadway stated.

“That change included cutting crime in the district by 80%, securing multi-million-dollar investments to make streetscape enhancements, securing grant dollars to buyout and relocate establishments and signing into law the Broadway moratorium which prohibited further expansion of liquor licenses in the district without a super-majority vote by council.

“After keeping his promise not to serve a third term as mayor, Jadin became president of the Green Bay Area Chamber of Commerce where he continued his commitment to Broadway by moving the chamber’s offices to the district.

“Then, as Secretary/CEO of the Wisconsin Economic Development Corporation he led the launch of the Connected Communities program to assist downtowns throughout the state which didn’t have full time staff, helping them grow into Main Street communities.

“The Broadway District is one of Wisconsin’s most talked about comeback stories and Paul Jadin is responsible for so much of the good that has happened. This was the driving reason for renaming the Impact Award the Paul Jadin Impact Award.”

“Paul’s remarkable contributions to the revitalization of the Broadway District have spanned several decades and through multiple roles,” said Brian Johnson, On Broadway, Inc. executive director. “It’s impossible to think of another person who has had a greater direct impact than Paul Jadin. His passion for the district is evident in every conversation, and he leads by example when securing support for On Broadway initiatives. It’s only fitting this Impact Award be memorialized with his name to inspire future recipients to positively impact the Broadway District just as Paul did.”

Jadin continues to serve the Broadway District in his retirement through a role on the Green Bay Public Market capital campaign cabinet.

“It’s hard to believe that it’s been nearly 30 years since we launched On Broadway as a Main Street program in an area that was synonymous with ‘slum,’” said Jadin. “When being honored like this I recall the work of Nan Nelson and Carol Karls at the chamber to kick off the effort and of people like Bill Bongle who led the Broadway community policing team that became the number one program in the world in 1998.

“I remember too how Greg Larsen, who passed away just last month, gave his heart and soul to the district.

“Finally, On Broadway could not flourish without the great directors and volunteers who helped make it one of the top five Main Street programs in the country in 2004. I’m delighted to see that dedication and commitment continue with Brian and his great team and I am grateful to my successors in the mayor’s office and all the alder people over the last three decades who recognized the need to invest in the core of the community.”

Pulaski Community School District to receive Fast Forward grants

FOR THE PRESS TIMES

BROWN COUNTY – The Wisconsin Department of Workforce Development (DWD) recently announced that 2,927 students in 17 state school districts — including the Pulaski Community School District — will benefit from advanced manufacturing training in preparation for high-demand job opportunities thanks to grants from the Wisconsin Fast Forward Program.

“There’s no denying the role of advanced manufacturing in the future of our economy and workforce right here in Wisconsin, and ensuring our kids have access to high-demand, high-skill job training opportunities is critical if we want to prepare our future workforce for the 21st Century,” said Gov. Tony Evers. “By investing in technical education in school districts across the state, we are connecting the dots and expanding career opportunities for thousands of students while positioning our manufacturers for success.”

The current round of Wisconsin Fast Forward grants from DWD totals $495,106 for school districts across the state to train students for career paths involving robotics, welding, plasma cutting, 3D printing, drones and more.

These grants reimburse school districts for the costs of purchasing and installing technical education equipment used for vocational training and technical education in advanced manufacturing fields.

This includes the purchase of new equipment such as computer numerical control machines, robotic welders, fiber laser cutting machines, 3D printers and more.

“Fast Forward grants accelerate advanced manufacturing training and equipment to better prepare our future workforce for careers in this high-demand, high-skill industry,” said DWD Secretary Amy Pechacek. “The state-of-the-art equipment, including robotic welders, laser cutters, 3D printers and other high-tech tools, will enable schools to provide coursework that aligns with industry standards and requirements.”

High school students will train in advanced manufacturing fields to prepare for stable careers while they obtain dual enrollment credits, industry-endorsed certificates and technical endorsements on high school diplomas.

Pulaski Community School District is being allocated $50,000 for an OMTECH CNC Fiber Laser Cutting Machine FC-105CFC, which will prepare students for careers in advanced manufacturing.

War and piece-by-piece

Can one person make a difference?

BY CHUCK RYBAK
GUEST COLUMNIST

In case the title and photo don't give away the game, I am finally reading War and Peace.

I emphasize "finally" because English professors live under two constant assumptions: first, that "oh, you're going to correct my grammar" and second, you're required to have read every classic ever written.

I can't tell you how many times people have said, "What do you mean you haven't read _____? You're an English professor!"

This is why I walk into the service areas of random car dealerships and yell, "You've never changed the oil on a 1968 Bentley? Amateur!"

Really, I'm reading War and Peace for a few reasons, and one of them is to simply slow down. Concentrate.

Be involved with a single task for a long stretch and know that not only is this okay, but this is also largely how successful work has been done throughout the age of humans.

I take 20 pages at a time and I'm 60 pages in — this could take four years and I could care less, as I am going to relish every second of this fictional world.

The novel opens at a party and quickly moves to subsequent parlors and parties.

My bookmark and I are still at one of these parties, sitting on something I imagine to be a divan.

I have a snuff box. Napoleon looms on the dark horizon, but it's likely a month or so until I'm properly introduced to France's premier post-revolution emperor.

His specter hovers like most of our worldly dangers — initially quiet, just a tremor, so you can still sit among friends and chat as if the world will remain the same.

The bubble contains your voices as the sharp, puncturing point moves slowly forward, piece by informational piece.

I've spent a lot of time lately thinking about deep work, protracted effort, the long game. Any synonym will do.

My perception is that we've de-prioritized this type of commitment in the age of refresh, notifications, pings and pushes and more quick-attention demands than we ever dreamed possible.

There are several people who, when we met, our initial connection was books.

As the years have passed, many of them don't read anymore in the same way, opting for audiobooks or podcasts.

Not that this is bad, I've never really given audiobooks a try, and maybe I'm the one who is missing out.

I admit to, when I was active on social media, having a hard time sitting down and focusing on a book, even making it through the first 50 pages.

I was lucky enough to recognize this and course correct, as I don't think I could ever, if I maintain my mind, surrender reading physical books.

In that world, I'm pretty much always going at the same speed, it's just the number of pages that changes.

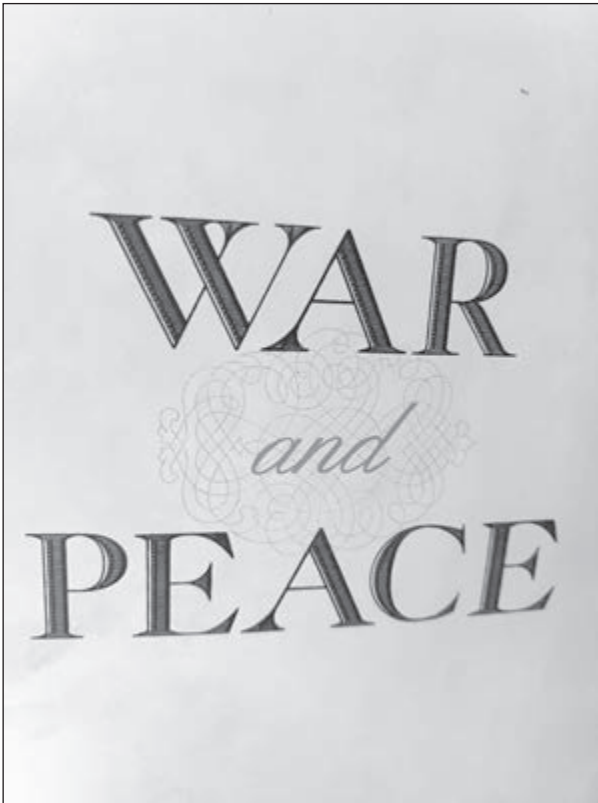

This connects to both my paradoxical fear of being, and desire to be, "left behind."

And while I want to slow down, our world trains us that this is wrong, inefficient and unproductive — this makes slowing down difficult.

You have to train yourself to decelerate.

You know what else is hard? Breaking habits.

Maybe I have a head start because I haven't been on social media for years, and

Submitted photo

Napoleon won't be here anytime soon, but I'm starting to have some success.

Just today, I finished and incredible 450-page read, Anti-Judaism by David Nirenberg, which I poured over to answer a single question that I couldn't answer for myself — why is antisemitism so persistent through time?

Why is it still present today in places like America?

I admit to being completely baffled by this, but now I finally have some answers and a long list of suggested readings.

For a more personal example of slowing down, I recently swam two miles in the YMCA pool.

For those counting at home — and I have it on expert authority that there is something called "the swimmer's mile"— two miles is 132 lengths.

I swim slowly.

I stare at the bottom of the pool and watch the tiles slide beneath me like history — people jump in and out of the pool to share my lane, but at the end I am always there alone, thinking about the poem I'm trying to write about all the broken neon signs in Los Angeles, about the younger generation Tolstoy has introduced me to because their worlds will soon be rendered unrecognizable.

Pierre? What will happen to this awkward yet eager Pierre when Napoleon appears on horseback atop a hill?

I am in no rush to find out, but I know I will get there.

This impulse to slow down has also made me want to dive back into the past — that place so derided in the world of the futurist — and revisit histories by Polybius, "old" literary criticism like Erich Auerbach's Mimesis: The Representation of Reality in Western Literature.

Heck, I might sit down for an hour or two and think about how, in the 1970s, a guy tried to jump across the Grand Canyon on a motorcycle with a literal rocket strapped to his back.

This was broadcast on national television. I don't know if "national television" exists anymore.

One of the many reasons I want to slow down is because I believe this quality makes me a better teacher.

It makes me better at "meeting people where they are"— a prized quality in this moment — because you don't fear the pause or digression; you embrace them as opportunities.

Here's a quick digression to perform slowing down and also serve as an example.

I recently took my younger daughter to her tennis lesson, and while she was playing, I was also listening to the lesson going on directly below me (you can watch from the second floor).

The teacher was an older man — which probably means my age — and he was working with a younger kid who might have been, at most, a freshman in high school.

During their lesson, I heard the teacher say, "Are you talking about when he went to the other universe?"

I sat up in my chair. This was clearly not tennis talk.

This resulted in a meeting at the net, teacher and student, where they had a two-minute conversation about...Aquaman.

I mean legit comic-book Aquaman, not Jason Momoa Game of Thrones Aquaman.

This was two minutes of pure slowing down, and they really got into it with a lot of back-and-forth verbal volleying.

There was some dispute over an event, and they eventually came to an agreement about who indeed held the trident at the most important moment.

They nodded, resumed positions and started playing tennis.

An interesting thing resulted — the kid started hitting great shots.

He didn't care about the score, about the last thing the teacher said about coming over the top of the ball.

They just hit the ball, repetitively, in a way that you could say the game slowed down, all because Aquaman became part of the lesson.

The teacher not only met the student where he was, but he was also prepared to do so.

If the lesson had been a class, the teacher essentially removed the threat that is grades — all by slowing down.

Remember, it took Odysseus 10 years to get home from Troy... he was no Aquaman.

semester. I ask them different questions about my instruction and the class. I compile and analyze the results to see what students perceive as my strengths and areas of growth. I then pick something that I can specifically work on for the next semester."

The support works both ways, but Wagner knows just how important it is during a person's youth.

"Both of my parents have always been so supportive of my teaching career; however, it was my dad that encouraged me to become a teacher," she recalled.

Wagner attended UW-Green Bay, where she obtained a bachelor of arts in Spanish and French PK-12.

"I graduated college with a double major in Spanish and French, but I wasn't exactly sure in what direction I wanted to go with that. My dad had suggested to get a teaching certification, so I went back to school to obtain my teaching license. I instantly fell in love with teaching, it was the perfect career choice for me," she added.

"Besides just being around students and getting to know them, I also love trying to come up with creative ways to engage them. I like to use things in class that students can interact with.

"For example, if we are learning about travel vocabulary, we will simulate going on a trip, including going to the travel agency and packing actual suitcases, going through all the necessary steps in the airport and boarding the plane. I will use props such as passports and airline tickets. I will have costumes that students can wear as the security agent, flight attendants, etc...

"I just love when students are excited about learning and are able to apply what they learned in different situations.

"I guess parents really do know best."

De Pere moves forward with recreation plans

BY LEE REINSCH
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

DE PERE — The De Pere Common Council moved ahead with four recreation-related issues, suggesting that summer may eventually happen.

Kid-safe playground surfacing for Willems Park, a grand-opening for Voyageur's newest addition, a future prairie and student-built tables for the summer beer garden were among the projects advanced.

Bouncing back at Willems

The common council approved funds to add rubberized, poured-in-place surfacing to the list of upgrades at Willems Park.

The total needed for the park upgrades including the surfacing — $114,360 — will come from a handful of other funds.

In addition to the $80,000 originally budgeted for Willems Playground, the upgrades will use $10,500 in funds for hard surfaces carried over from 2023, as well as leftover American Rescue Package Act (ARPA) funds leftover from three other park projects:

- $6,006 from Legion Park playground
- $9,005 from Lawton Park playground
- $12,455 from projects at the Legion Park ball field

The total of $114,360 includes $50,660 for poured in place surfacing; $44,200 for playground equipment; $15,000 for sidewalks and borders; $2,000 for drain tile; $1,500 for landscaping and $1,000 in miscellaneous expenses.

Home on the native prairie

The common council also approved the planting of two OK'd prairies totaling 6.5 acres on city-owned property along the East River Trail, between Wiese Park and Ledgeview Park.

The common council also approved the planting of two prairies totaling 6.5 acres on city-owned property along the East River Trail, between Wiese Park and Ledgeview Park.

native to the area have taken over, according to Kevin Corbett of the Brown County Land and Water Conservation Department.

Corbett said in a memo that, in addition to providing scenery along the East River Trail, the aim of the prairie project is to plant species that are native to the area and that will provide habitat for birds, pollinating insects such as bees and butterflies and other wildlife.

According to Corbett, preparing the site will take at least a full season and includes mowing, applying herbicide, tilling, seeding the area, covering the seeded area with straw and three mowings to control weeds.

If the site is seeded in spring, it can be mowed this year, while if it's not seeded until fall, it won't be ready to be mowed until next year.

Prairies take two to three years to get established, as the native plants need time to develop root systems, according to Corbett.

The future prairies will be added to the request for proposal (RFP) for the first phase of the future East River Water Trail plan.

De Pere Parks, Recreation, and Forestry Director Marty Kosobucki said that converting the two areas into prairie won't cost the city anything other than the labor it will take to mow and spray the areas during the prairie establishment period.

The future East River Water Trail is a joint effort by the county and several municipalities along the East River to clear and improve the navigable areas along the East River from Hoffman Road upstream to Ledgeview Park.

Among its aims is to improve conditions for fish and their habitats, restore areas near the shoreline and remove invasive species.

It was launched in 2022 with money from the American Rescue Package Act, along with grant money from the US Fish & Wildlife Service.

Pavilion grand opening

The common council also gave the green light to preliminary plans for the grand opening celebration for the Nelson Family Pavilion.

Between 2,000 and 3,000 people are expected to attend the grand opening event Friday, July 26, from 5 to 10:30 p.m. at Voyageur Park.

The event begins with an opening ceremony and ribbon cutting, with an acoustic performer from 5:30 to 7 p.m. on the patio.

Before the main music act, Johnny Wad, at 7:30 p.m., De Pere Mayor James Boyd will make a few announcements.

Beer sales end around 10:30 p.m., and the park closes at 11 p.m.

So far, approved expenses include $5,000 for Johnny Wad; $1,050 for 14 portable toilets; $605 for an 40'x80' tent; $1,000 for a portable stage; $500 for the electrical hookup; $3,000 for beverage; $500 for staffing; $750 for police protection and $720 for fire department services.

It doesn't include the acoustic act or a second tent.

Original plans were for a smaller event with a budget of $3,500, but planners decided a project of its caliber which has been a number of years in the developing deserved a more elaborate kickoff.

"As we got into planning stages with the mayor, the actual event took a much bigger leap in size and scope than we were originally guessing," Kosobucki said.

"It's a very, very responsible budget for such an awesome thing to showcase to the community," Alder Amy Chandik Kunderinger said, adding that sales of beverages will offset the larger outlay.

The David L. and Rita E. Nelson Family Fund donated most of the funding for the Nelson Family Pavilion building project.

Wood work would work

De Pere High School woodworking students will work with the city and De Pere Department of Parks, Recreation, and Forestry to refurbish round tables that are used for the summer beer garden concerts and other events at Voyageur Park.

They will also make signs, with designs approved by the city for the city's Urban Orchard program.

The Urban Orchard program invites the public to pick and eat organic fruit from any of the more than 80 fruit trees at seven public locations: Westwood Elementary School, Braisher Park, Voyageur Park, De Pere Community Center/VFW, De Pere High School, Samantha Park and Foxview Intermediate School.

GBAPS board presented with third boundary scenario

BY KRIS LEONHARDT
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

GREEN BAY – During an April 8 board meeting, Green Bay Area Public School (GBAPS) Interim Superintendent Vicki Bayer presented an update on the district's facilities master planning to the board of education.

"Facilities master planning has been an ongoing project with the district since 2016, and one of the major drivers of this work is bringing us back to the projected budget deficit that we continue to face due in part to the fiscal cliff caused by the ending of ESSER funds, which end Sept. 30, and public education funding that hasn't kept pace with inflation," Bayer recalled to the board.

"I would reference the public back to a document we shared on June 5 that outlines the funding for public education and how that helped us get into a budget deficit along with many other districts in the state of Wisconsin.

"In addition, our district is facing a declining enrollment. In five years where we are projected to have 1463 fewer students enrolled than this current school year. The culmination of all of this work of the facilities master planning lead to board resolutions back on June 5, and later then approved by the board. That included for the first phase the closing of three schools — Wequock Elementary School, Keller Elementary School, and Tank Elementary School.

"In addition, a resolution was presented to address the impact of adding K-8s and shifting boundaries, which is the task that was presented to the Boundary Adjustment Advisory Committee.

The district then contracted with Woolpert, who developed two conceptual scenarios for the committee to review and provide feedback.

"Committee member feedback often expanded beyond the board's charter, and I think that was a large part of the frustration for them — having to narrow it back to the focus of the work," Bayer explained.

Bayer and GBAPS Director of Communications Lori Blakeslee then presented feedback from a district survey, the Boundary Advisory Adjustment Committee and the community.

In response to that feedback, Bayer asked board members to consider a recommendation that district leadership create a "Scenario C" for the Boundary Advisory Adjustment Committee to consider.

This new scenario would be created implementing using "the facility task force recommendations, which focused on building education adequacy, enrollment and short- and long-term maintenance needs," while continuing to "address the budget deficit through school closures/consolidations, reduce overall district capacity to address declining enrollment — currently the district is at 76% capacity (1 in 4 seats empty) and in 10-years the District is projected to be at 67% capacity (1 in 3 seats empty) — and minimize student movement and feeder pattern disruptions, with a focus on elementary schools."

Bayer said that "feedback does not support K-8 because of the impact to boundaries and feeder patterns at the middle and high school levels" and that the "community feels overwhelmed with the amount of change at one time," while "budget deficit and declining enrollment must continue to be addressed."

"The facilities work has been a long, ongoing process, where ideas are developed and shared, and then the community has an opportunity to provide feedback," stated Bayer. "Throughout this process, we have been in conversation with our community and responded to the concerns. This is the next step in that process as we continue to narrow the scope, while still working to provide our students improved and appropriate learning spaces and use our limited financial resources towards support for students versus operational overhead."

The board is expected to vote on the directive during an April 15 special board meeting.

Hobart swears in new officer

BY MEGHAN CALLAHAN
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

HOBART – During the April 3 Hobart Village Board meeting, Officer Blake Main was sworn into the Hobart-Lawrence police department.

Hobart-Lawrence Police Chief Michael Renkas gave a brief speech beforehand.

A presentation was also given by Renkas on the Bola Wrap Restraint Device.

This device is meant to subdue armed perpetrators and get them in restraints without the officers having to go near the subject.

Each unit cost $900.

The money for these devices was raised by the golf outing fundraiser that took place last summer.

All officers of Hobart-Lawrence are trained to handle this device and have begun carrying them.

Renkas said that the department was awarded a law enforcement drug-trafficking response grant from the state to the amount of $43,546.

The money will be used for a TruNarc Unlimited which is a device for testing drugs that is safer for law enforcement, as it allows officers to test for substances through the packaging.

A needle disposal box will be installed at the drug box where people can drop their needles without the potential for causing public harm.

There will also be a drug deactivation system and education and prevention materials that will be provided to the public at various events.

Public works projects

The board also discussed the lowering the speed limit of South Pine Tree Road, from Orlando Drive (County Highway EE) to Nathan Drive/Schuering Road from the current 45 miles per hour to 35 miles per hour.

The motion passed and will be effective within the next week.

There is remaining funding from the $1.84 million that was borrowed for two projects in the north end to the effect of $517,472.

There is a motion to put that money toward public infrastructure into District 1.

The proposed project is to build Sorensen Park around the nearby detention pond.

This park would include a gazebo, some grills, some benches and a restroom of some sort.

It is still being decided whether to put down wood chips or gravel for the trail that will go around the small pond.

The park is projected to cost anywhere between $105,400-129,400.

In addition to this, more welcome signage has been proposed to be installed at the North Overland roundabout and the Triangle Road roundabout, projected to cost around $10,000.

The final project this money would go into is the underground water reservoir project on North Pine Tree Road, costing anywhere from $378,072-402,072.

There will be a public hearing held for citizens to voice their opinions and concerns with these projects.

BOARD

board," Lyerly said.

"Obviously, you know, we're doing this at Open Session. Anytime there is anything negative we would have to call a stop because that's really when we would have to make a decision about stopping that conversation or moving into closed session. We don't want to do that, right? We wanted this to be open and so keeping all the comments advocating for — versus against — a particular candidate is how we'd like to conduct it."

Interested candidates were asked to submit a letter of interest to the board, with 15 individuals applying.

The list was narrowed down to an interview pool of Rick Crosson, James McGee, Rissel Peguero Almonte, Duvall Perry, Shane Stout and Leah Weakley.

A special board meeting will be held on April 15 to interview the candidates and selecting an appointee.

PUBLISHER'S LETTER

Why It Matters

Dear Reader,

Pursuing fame and acclaim has been a long-standing desire, regardless of the avenue – whether it be academics, sports, or any other endeavor.

Unexpectedly finding success in an unanticipated field prompts reflection on the significance of any such recognition of this field or the others. While being acknowledged by faceless strangers may briefly satisfy the ego, the transient nature of their attention underscores the insignificance of external validation.

In the end, true fulfillment lies not in the fleeting acknowledgment of others, but in the pursuit of personal growth and fulfillment for the ultimate good.

Youth turkey hunt is April 13-14

FROM THE WISCONSIN DNR

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) reminds families, mentors and young hunters that there's still time to plan and participate in the 2024 youth turkey hunt happening statewide April 13-14.

Each year, the youth turkey hunt gives hunters under 16 the opportunity to gain valuable hunting experience and feel the excitement of turkey season before the regular season begins.

"The youth turkey hunt is a great opportunity to get the next generation of turkey hunters active outdoors, whether they are first showing an interest in hunting or carrying on a family tradition," said Alissa Kakatsch, DNR assistant turkey and pheasant ecologist.

What youth hunters need

Youth hunters must have a spring turkey license, wild turkey stamp and valid harvest authorization.

All of these are available online through Go Wild or in person at license sales agents around the state.

Youth hunters may use a harvest authorization for any period during the youth hunt, but they must hunt within the turkey management zone indicated on their harvest authorization.

Harvest authorizations not filled during the youth hunt may be filled during the regular hunting season in the indicated zone.

During this two-day youth hunt, the bag limit is one male or bearded turkey.

To participate in the mentored hunt program, youth hunters must be accompanied by a qualified adult 18 years of age or older and the adult may not accompany more than two youth hunters at one time.

More information on mentoring a hunter is available on the DNR's Mentored Hunting webpage.

Harvest registration

Harvest registration remains a critical component of wildlife population management, and turkey registration is mandatory, including the youth hunt.

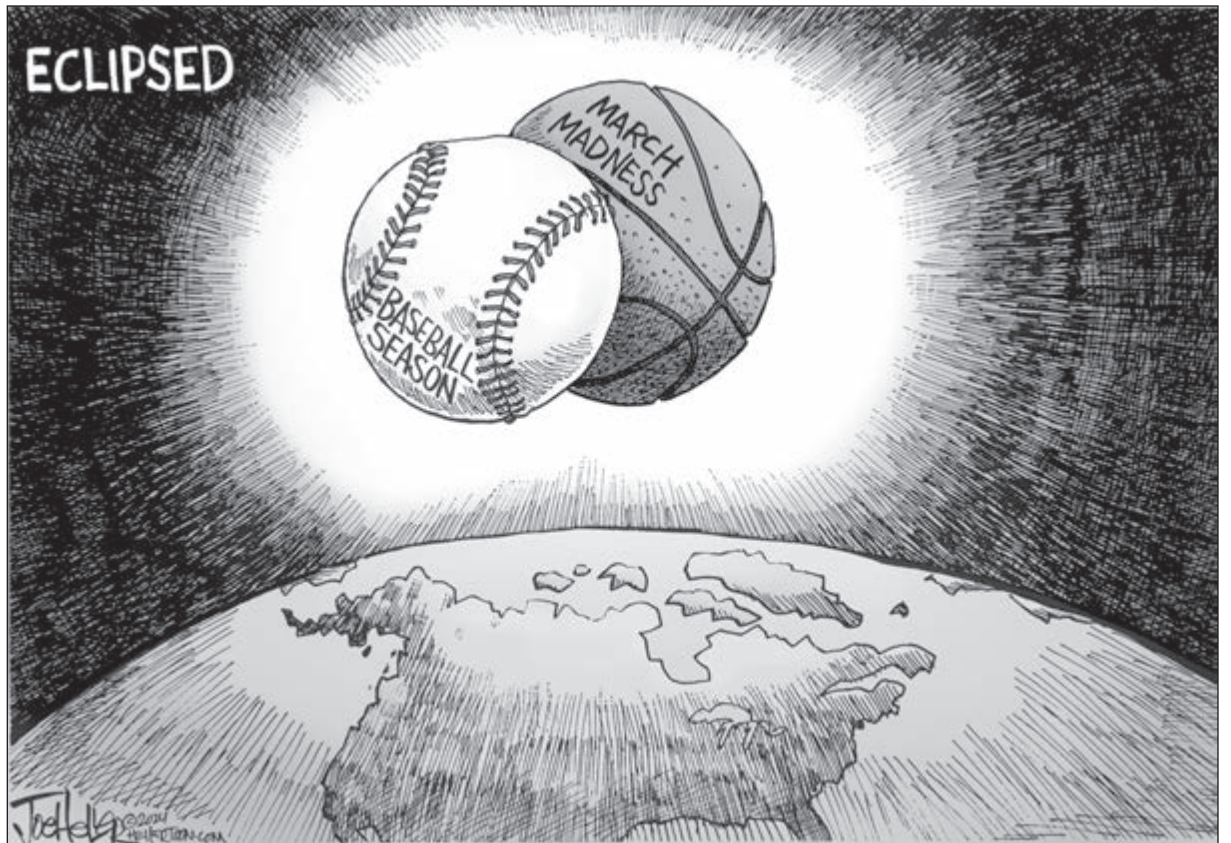

Hunters must register their turkey by 5 p.m. the day after recovery at gamereg.wi.gov or by calling 1 (844) 426-3734. Hunters will need their harvest authorization number to register their turkey.

For more information, visit <https://dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/hunt/turkey>.

Create an emergency plan and practice it

FROM READYWISCONSIN

Storms can develop quickly in Wisconsin, and knowing what to do when a severe weather warning is issued can help keep you and others safe.

To help encourage everyone to be prepared for tornadoes, thunderstorms and flooding, Wisconsin observes April 8-12 as Tornado and Severe Weather Awareness Week.

"Wisconsin made history this year when two tornadoes touched down in early February, which were the first confirmed tornadoes in the state during that month since record keeping began," said Wisconsin Emergency Management Administrator Greg Engle. "Tornadoes and severe weather can develop at any time, which is why we are asking everyone to take a few minutes during Tornado and Severe Weather Awareness Week to review their emergency plans and identify where the nearest safe place to take shelter is located."

Wisconsin averages 23 tornadoes annually.

In 2023, the National Weather Service confirmed 21 tornadoes in the state.

That includes 15 tornadoes that touched down in a single day, when storms can develop at any time, which is why we are asking everyone to take a few minutes during Tornado and Severe Weather Awareness Week to review their emergency plans and identify where the nearest safe place to take shelter is located."

SAVVY SENIOR

How to divide your possessions without dividing the family

DEAR SAVVY SENIOR,

Do you have any suggestions on divvying up my personal possessions to my kids after I'm gone without causing hard feelings or conflict?

I have a lot of jewelry, art, family heirlooms and antique furniture, and four grown kids that don't always see eye-to-eye on things.

Conflicted Parent

Stock photo

DEAR CONFLICTED,

Divvying up personal possessions among adult children or other loved ones can often be a tricky task.

Deciding who should get what without showing favoritism, hurting someone's feelings or causing a feud can be difficult, even for close-knit families who enter the process with the best of intentions.

Here are a few tips to consider that can help you divide your stuff with minimal conflict:

Sweating the small stuff

For starters, you need to be aware that it's usually the small, simple items of little monetary value that aren't mentioned in your will that cause the most conflicts. This is because the value we attach to the small personal possessions is usually sentimental or emotional, and because the simple items are the things that most families fail to talk about.

Family battles can also escalate over whether things are being divided fairly by monetary value.

So, for items of higher value like your jewelry, antiques and art, consider getting an appraisal to assure fair distribution.

Dividing fairly

The best solution for passing along your personal possessions is for you to go through your house with your kids or other heirs either separately or all at once to find out which items they would like to inherit and why.

They may have some emotional attachment to something you're not aware of. If more than one child wants the same thing, you'll have to make the ultimate decision.

Then you need to sit down and make a list of who gets what on paper, signed, dated and referenced in your will.

You can revise it anytime you want. You may also want to consider writing an additional letter or create an audio or video recording that further explains your intentions.

You can also specify a strategy for divvying up the rest of your property.

Fair and reasonable methods

Take turns choosing: Use a round-robin process where your kids take turns choosing the items they would like to have.

If who goes first becomes an issue, they can always flip a coin or draw straws.

Also, to help simplify things, break down the dividing process room-by-room, versus tackling the entire house.

To keep track of who gets what, either make a list or use adhesive dots with a color assigned to each person to tag the item.

Have a family auction: Give each person involved the same amount of play money or use virtual points or poker chips to bid on the items they want.

Use online resources: For families who want help or live far apart, there are web-based resources like FairSplit.com that can assist with the dividing process.

Packers Give Back awards $250,000 impact grant to Flight of Champions

GREEN BAY – Green Bay Packers Give Back today announced that the organization has awarded a $250,000 Veterans Impact Grant to the Flight of Champions Fund.

Donations to the fund help cover the cost of the honor flights that leave from Green Bay's Austin Straubel International Airport as part of the Flight of Champions effort between the Green Bay Packers, Milwaukee Bucks and Milwaukee Brewers.

The Flight of Champions honors veterans who served in WWII, the Korean War and the Vietnam War by bringing them to Washington, D.C. to visit the memorials and monuments dedicated to their service and sacrifice.

Each sports team sponsors a planeload of veterans, guardians and team representatives from their area.

This grant will fund future flights out of Green Bay, ensuring that more than 100 veterans can fly out of northeast Wisconsin to spend the day touring Washington D.C.

"Having been part of the Flight of Champions from the beginning has been an honor for me," said Al Timmerman, Jet Air Group CEO and Flight of Champions board member. "Listening to the veterans' experiences, watching them come off the plane with tears in their eyes has been a wonderful experience. Seeing them feel proud of what they went through and feel good about themselves. Listening to one veteran talk about being 17 years old, getting ready for church at 7:30 a.m. on Dec. 7, 1941. What a special way this is to give back to our vets. This grant will allow more veterans to experience recognition for their service."

The Packers have supported the Flight of Champions effort since 2019, helping support the flights through donations and by providing Packers alumni as guardians to assist the veterans throughout the day, serve as companions and make sure they have a safe and memorable experience.

This is the fourth consecutive year that Packers Give Back has awarded the Veterans Impact Grant specifically for organizations that serve veterans and their families. A component of the Green Bay Packers Give Back program, the grants, combined with other Packers charity endeavors, contribute to a comprehensive Packers charity impact in excess of $11 million in the past year.

Brown County Federation of History Organizations to host Brown County History Days

BROWN COUNTY – The Brown County Federation of History Organizations (BCFHO) has announced that it will host Brown County History Days from May 13-May 18.

Nine Brown County historical locations will provide a week filled with free programs spread throughout Brown County.

The event invites the public to visit Brown County's historical organizations, while enjoying exciting and diverse programs presented by expert staff in unique historical environments.

Participating organizations include Ashwaubenon Historical Society, Brown County Historical Society, Green Bay Diocese Museum, Green Bay Packers Hall of Fame, Heritage Hill State Historical Park, National Railroad Museum, Neville Public Museum, Oneida Nation Museum, The Automobile Gallery and Event Center.

Go Big Green Bay Comprehensive Plan: Community Partners

GREEN BAY – The community is being invited to share their ideas and visions for the future of Green Bay.

The Green Bay 2050 Comprehensive Plan is a community vision that will guide the city for the next 10-15 years.

Through robust engagement and analysis, the Plan will result in a set of policies that direct future growth and development and will also lead to strategies that will help guide city leaders with making thoughtful decisions for the community.

A Go Big Green Bay Community Visioning Workshop will be held Wednesday, April 24, from 6-8 p.m. at Titledown Brewing Company where participants will work in groups to create their own maps of Green Bay identifying planning priorities, indicating areas for future development and proposing projects and improvements.

A Community Visioning Survey is available in English at surveymonkey.com/r/GoBigGreenBay and in Spanish at surveymonkey.com/r/GoBigGreenBaySP.

St. Norbert College announces new programs

DE PERE – St. Norbert College has announced that it will add five new majors, five new minors, one new concentration and one new certificate program to provide students with expertise in high-growth areas in which employers are searching for talent.

New offerings available this fall include and engineering physics major, robotics minor, sustainability minor, management major, finance major, marketing major, supply chain major, digital marketing minor, project management minor, data analytics minor, game development concentration and a certificate in arts management.

"These new initiatives not only expand the horizons of our students, reflecting our commitment to providing students with cutting-edge and relevant academic programs, but also align seamlessly with our mission to address the evolving needs of the local community. By providing diverse and innovative learning opportunities, we empower our students to become catalysts for positive change, contributing meaningfully to the growth and well-being of our community," said St. Norbert College President Laurie Joyner. "This milestone reflects our dedication to shaping future leaders who are not only academically proficient but also deeply connected to the transformative impact they can make in the world."

April 15 individual income tax filing deadline is fast approaching

WISCONSIN – With less than one week remaining to the individual income tax return filing deadline, the Wisconsin Department of Revenue (DOR) reminds everyone to file their tax returns and pay amounts due before midnight on April 15 to avoid late filing fees and interest charges.

Like past years, DOR's Customer Service Call Center is extending hours to accommodate taxpayers' schedules during this busy time. Call Center tax specialists are available from 7:45 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Thursday until April 15.

New this filing season is DOR's WisTax electronic filing system, which is available for free to qualifying taxpayers who completed their federal Form 1040 or 1040-SR.

WisTax replaces WI e-file and plans are in the works to continue expanding this free tax filing service.

Wisconsin is also participating in the IRS Free File program for the first time.

Qualifying taxpayers can use a certified Free File software provider to file their federal and Wisconsin returns for free.

Free tax preparation services are also available to qualifying taxpayers through the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance and Tax Counseling for the Elderly volunteer programs, which DOR helps coordinate with the IRS and participating agencies.

More information about individual income tax filing can be found at revenue.wi.gov/Pages/Individuals/home.aspx.

The eight steps in new home construction

Dear Monty

BY RICHARD MONTGOMERY
SYNDICATED COLUMNIST

DEAR MONTY,

With the shortage of housing currently available, we are considering building a new home.

What are the steps in the actual construction process?

MONTY'S ANSWER

The construction process transforms a vision into a tangible structure.

The steps are in a logical order, and each step takes time to complete.

The steps below assume you have a lot, detailed blueprint, itemized list of components and quotes or estimates.

Here is helpful information.

1. The first step of this journey begins with the preparation of the construction site. This initial phase is of utmost importance, as it establishes the groundwork for the entire home. Assuming there is a recorded survey on record, the construction crew begins by clearing the building site of any debris or vegetation.

2. Wooden stakes which serve as a template for the foundation identify the excavating contractor's task. Once the soil is removed, a wooden frame outlining the template is constructed, and concrete is poured into it, creating a robust and solid foundation upon which the home will stand.

3. The basement contractor then fastens large metal walls on both sides of the entire template perimeter which are filled with fresh concrete. Once the concrete cures, the construction of frame of the house on the top of the foundation walls begins.

4. This is where the house begins to take physical shape. Skilled carpenters erect the wooden structure that outlines the walls, floors and roof of the home. This stage also includes the installation of windows and exterior doors. These elements not only provide functionality but also contribute to the overall aesthetic of the house. Once the basic frame is in place, roofing and siding are added. These exterior elements protect the house from various weather conditions, ensuring its longevity.

5. The "rough-in" stage; this stage involves the installation of essential services such as plumbing lines, HVAC ducts and electrical wiring. Typically, these systems are installed in a specific order: first plumbing, then HVAC, and finally electrical.

Each of these systems is critical for the comfort and functionality of the home.

6. Now, insulation is added into the walls, providing the home with thermal efficiency. Then, drywall is hung to form the walls. The drywall is then finished and prepared for painting. This stage also often includes the installation of interior doors, baseboards and other interior trim elements. The process also includes the installation of cabinets and countertops, adding utility and style to the kitchen and bathrooms.

7. After the house has been painted, flooring is installed. The type of floor can vary depending on the homeowner's preference and can include hardwood, laminate, tile or carpet. Each type of flooring adds a different aesthetic and feel to the home.

8. The final stage of the new home construction process is the finish work. This is where the house truly starts to feel like a home. This stage includes installing light fixtures, outlets, and switches, as well as bathroom fixtures like sinks, toilets, and showers. It also involves painting the trim and finishing the exterior landscaping.

Throughout each stage, municipal inspections are carried out to ensure that the construction is completed according to local building codes.

The new home construction process can take several months to a year, depending on the complexity of the design and any unforeseen challenges, such as inclement weather, material shortages and supply chain delays.

Special assessments coming in Howard

BY JANELLE FISHER
CITY PAGES EDITOR

HOWARD – The Howard Village Board approved two resolutions at its Monday, April 8 meeting, authorizing the levying of special assessments on Lineville Road and Brookfield Avenue and declaring the intent to exercise special assessment powers upon Lineville Road for road reconstruction.

Special assessments function as a way for municipalities to equitably distribute the cost of public improvements among the parcels or lots which directly benefit from the improvements.

The resolution authorizing special assessments on Lineville Road and Brookfield Avenue will impact 16 existing properties which will benefit from the installation of improvements by municipal sanitary sewer service, water service, safety and health and welfare.

The resolution declaring intent to exercise special assessment powers on Lineville Road is a preliminary resolution concerning a section of Lineville Road from Belmont Road to West Deerfield Avenue.

Construction on Lineville Road will include curb and gutter, storm sewer, sidewalks, asphaltic roadway, asphaltic multi-use trails and concrete driveways and is scheduled to begin in spring of 2024, impacting 28 properties.

Previously, a preliminary resolution was passed to assess just the section of construction set to take place in 2024, but the new resolution passed at Monday's meeting provides for the whole road to be assessed at one time.

Creativity converges for Wisconsin DI state tournament

By Janelle Fisher
City Pages Editor

Hundreds of students from across the state traveled to UW-Green Bay last Saturday, April 6, to compete in the Wisconsin Destination Imagination (DI) state tournament for a chance to advance to the Globals Finals tournament happening at the end of May.

To qualify for the affiliate tournament, teams competed at four sectional tournaments in one of six challenges — technical, scientific, fine arts, improvisation, engineering and service learning.

The technical challenge asked students to design and create a pinball system to be integrated into an action/adventure story.

Students in the scientific challenge dug into the world of archeology, discovering artifacts and characters from the past.

In the fine arts challenge, teams were tasked with bringing a piece of artwork to life.

Improvisational teams created two-act shows complete with costumes and stock characters on the spot.

The engineering challenge had teams creating modular devices to launch bean bags and be incorporated into stories where everything goes according to plan until a catalyst occurs.

Teams competing in the service learning challenge presented fantasy stories with details intertwined with details from community service projects carried out earlier in the season.

SNC Theatre Studies presents Silent Sky

By Kit Sanders-Mikkelson
Contributing Writer

St. Norbert College's theatre studies program will present Silent Sky by Lauren Gunderson this weekend and next weekend in the Webb Theatre in Abbot Pennings Hall of Fine Arts.

Gunderson's Silent Sky follows the story of Henrietta Leavitt, who discovered how to effectively measure cast distances to remote galaxies, leading to a shift in the scale and understanding of the scale and nature of the universe.

Henrietta Leavitt is surrounded by supporting characters including Margie, her sister; Williamina Fleming, a Scottish astronomer who was the first woman to be hired to catalog the stars at Harvard; Annie Jump Cannon, who developed the contemporary stellar classification; and Dr. Peter Shaw, who was Dr. Pickering's apprentice.

Many of the characters in the play were historical people, besides Dr. Peter Shaw and Margie, although she is probably based on Henrietta's real siblings.

The play follows Henrietta's discoveries through her time at Harvard — which would change the astrological community for the rest of time — with a little pinch of romance between Peter and Henrietta.

Henrietta Leavitt discovered that some of the stars, called Cepheids, have a consistent brightness no matter where they are located, making them a good measuring stick for astronomical distances. Her work helped American astronomer Edwin Hubble measure galaxy distances in the 1920s.

As Peter Shaw would say, "(Henrietta) work made the leap — for us all. Now we have a standard measurement — for the rest of time we have a standard."

Both Cannon and Fleming also made important discoveries that are still used today — Annie Jump Cannon is known for applying the system with a division of stars into the spectral classes O, B, A, G, K, M and Williamina Fleming was the first woman hired by Dr. Fleming to become a Harvard Computer to compute mathematical classifications and edit the observatory's publications.

This play brings the discoveries of Leavitt, Cannon and Fleming to the modern age in a way that is fun and engaging.

The cast and crew has been preparing for many weeks led by director Stephen Rupsch.

Rupsch is helped by assistant director Cassidy Catalano and nine crew members from his performance and production labs class, which he teaches with April Beiswenger who also serves as the scenographer for the production.

Dr. Michael Olson, a nuclear/particle physicist and an assistant professor of physics, helped the cast and crew understand the science behind the astronomy that is talked about in the play.

The cast is small with only five actors: Henrietta Leavitt, Naina Rattu; Margaret Leavitt, Violet Hagen; Peter Shaw, William Mlenar; Annie Cannon, Alexis Corrigan; Williamina Fleming, Jacqueline Stumpf.

"It's a story about feminism in the STEM world, which showcases women scientists from the past in a work of art. Henrietta Leavitt only received recognition after she died, so using a theatrical play to keep her story alive is quite beautiful. It shows how important these women are for the rest of human history," Naina Rattusaid, who plays Henrietta Leavitt, said when asked why this play is one that people need to see.

Performances for Silent Sky will be at 7:30 p.m. on April 12, 13, 18 and 19 with a matinee performance at 2 p.m. on April 14.

More information and tickets can be found at snc.edu/tickets.

King Louie Bankston - Harahan Fats

Goner Records

13 out of 13 stars

My apologies for not reviewing this righteous posthumous release sooner, but a number of things keep getting in the way.

I was holding off on buying it at the GBUFO when it first was released because it was selling well and the customer comes first, then I was broke, then I kept forgetting to buy it and when I did finally purchase it, I still hesitated to listen to it because I knew I would be in for a case of the feels when listening to what could be a swan song for, as they say in sports a lot these days, a generational talent.

I'm not going to lie — I was wiping away tears during the King Louie Memorial Family Band performance at Gonerfest 20 last September in Memphis.

They broke the mold with King Louie.

King Louie's don't grow on trees.

King Louie was a garage rock legend not only in New Orleans and Memphis, but all the hubs of where this genre is loved and supported in the United States and worldwide.

I saw King Louie perform in Chicago and Oakland, but he unfortunately never made it to Green Bay — although it came close to happening once at the Concert Cafe with his band The Royal Pendletons.

This album showcases why King Louie clicked with so many people and why his music will forever live on and continue to attract new fans.

Someone who might go, 'Well garage rock is not my cup of tea,' please consider giving Harahan Fats a listen, because if you like Johnny Cash, Willie Nelson, Dr. John or Townes Van Zandt, you obviously have an ear for what King Louie is cooking.

This album starts out at breakneck speed with "(Theme From) Crawzilla" a song that might be impossible to be unhappy while listening to.

Like Willie Nelson, Johnny Cash and Miles Davis, King Louie is great at doing over artists songs and he proves that with the Mel Tillis song "Coca Cola Cowboy."

Same goes for his version of "Rehab Legend" written by Cadalack Ron.

The sparse "Places Like This" is another favorite of mine.

"Trinkets," a song about making amends in life because you never know when that loved one may not be with us, has an extra coat of sadness that makes you want to follow his advice.

You want Americana straight from the tap? Then drop the needle on "Pawn Shop Row." Want some more Americana? Then try "Gone Too Far." Wilco hasn't written a song this good in awhile.

Heck, let me really compliment this song — this sounds like a Neckbones song.

I must admit, King Louie does make the idea of getting wasted at work sound appealing in the song "Wasted At Work."

You want some instrumental doom-sounding folk? Then "Down and Out" is for you.

You want King Louie acapella? Then "Harahan Boogie Man" is the ticket.

This entire album has a number of different textures and reminds me of how I feel about the amazing Matty Day album Meta Dada.

The closer of this album is the very fitting, "Writing The Same Song Over and Over Again," because I hope somewhere King Louie is writing that same song over and over again (as long as it's not some punishment like the one Sisyphus received in Greek mythology).

Long live King Louie! GP

Part of the fun of coming to the state tournament, Affiliate Tournament Director Mikaela Becker said, is the opportunity for teams to see how other students took on the same challenge as them.

"We have teams across all the challenges this year, so everyone is going to see some competition and everyone is going to be able to see other kids in the same challenge as them," she said. "They'll see how other kids think about the same problem and see how kids think about different problems across the spectrum."

Wisconsin DI Affiliate Director Mary Bykowski said this year's tournament was bigger than last year's, with more than 20 additional teams attending.

"We've been trying to build our teams throughout the year, so there's new people and new faces," she said. "We're so excited to see the kids on tournament day. When you walk in the door, the excitement is hard to explain unless you've been there... It's in the air and the kids are excited."

That excitement, Bykowski said, prevails for many teams regardless of the outcome of the tournament.

"Even at the end of the day, if things didn't go so well, they're just happy to come and watch other kids and do their thing and just be part of it," she said. "Because of how the Destination Imagination experience is structured, it's all the kids. It's their work, their writing, their costumes, their concepts without adult interference — whether you're at your sectional tournament or the state tournament. But to come here and get to put on your performance, knowing that these were all the best teams in the state and you're going to perform with those teams, it's such an amazing feeling. To be a part of that, I think, is really a cool thing for the kids."

And regardless of how a team placed at Saturday's tournament, Becker said the skills learned in DI are something participants will carry with them for life.

"There's not a single day that goes by where I don't use something that I learned in DI," she said. "I'm a project manager by day, and so I use all of those project management skills I learned in my time in DI. As a kid, I would not be confident enough to be doing a press interview right now or get up on a stage. Those are all skills that I was able to practice as a result of DI. I see kids who maybe don't otherwise get the opportunity to have their ideas heard, but they get to do that in DI which is just magical for them and for building their confidence and skills for their futures and careers."

From Brown County, Knight at the Arcade from Green Bay Area Public Schools placed second in the elementary level of the technical challenge, Phrases from the Unified School District of De Pere placed second in the middle level of the technical challenge, Runaway Hamstens from the Unified School District of De Pere placed second in the secondary level of the improvisation challenge and The Dust Bunnies from the Unified School District of De Pere placed second in the secondary level of the engineering challenge.

Each team placing first through third at Saturday's tournament earned an invite to Global Finals to compete against teams from around the world in Kansas City at the end of May.

Northeast Wisconsin Technical College's Artisan and Business Center (ABC) celebrated the opening of the Annual Showcase Tuesday, April 9, at the Neville Public Museum.

The exhibit features the work of student, faculty and resident artists who have participated in or been supported by ABC programming.

Those who attend the exhibit may notice a variety of mediums used to create the featured artwork, and Jan Scoville, dean of regional learning at NWTC and Artisan Center manager, said that is intentional.

"We have hundreds of people who use the Center and they work in all of our different studios — woods, metals, ceramics, glass and textiles," she said. "This is a way for people to see all the amazing things people make throughout the year and bring them together."

New for this year, the exhibition went through a formal jurying process.

"We had three jurors this year who looked at the art and used a rubric to objectively look at the art and make decisions about what pieces will be accepted..." she said. "Individual artists could submit up to three items, so not every item gets accepted into the show."

Katie Ries, artist and associate professor of art at St. Norbert College; Jennifer Flatt, vice president of student services at NWTC; and Devyn McIlraith, exhibitions manager at the Neville Public Museum, served as jurors for this year's exhibit.

Scoville said she hopes people who view the exhibit not only appreciate the work on display, but leave feeling inspired to create their own art — something the ABC can help them pursue.

"We hope that they develop an appreciation for the work that our artists make and for each medium and the beauty it brings into the eye of the beholder," she said. "Most people who come are supporting somebody that they care about, but they might also get that spark to try their hand at it, and so we always have class information available for people to pick something up."

The Annual Showcase will remain on display at the Neville for public viewing through May 19.

Anglers ask wardens to police rivers

In the Outdoors

BY KEVIN NAZE
GUEST COLUMNIST

Social media's impact on fishing is often blamed for putting pressure on certain spots and species, or fueling unrealistic expectations.

But in the case of recent posts by passionate, upset anglers in the Green Bay area, it just might spawn some positive changes.

Department of Natural Resources conservation wardens have been receiving boatloads of complaints for illegal activity in bay tributaries, mostly focused on snagging and overharvest of walleyes.

Staffing shortages — the DNR had nearly two dozen vacancies in its warden force last fall — gets some of the blame. But even if fully staffed, some anglers are pushing for more closed areas during the spring spawn.

One spot getting a lot of attention this week was below Stiles Dam on the Oconto River, where online reports indicated frequent snagging and overbagging of large walleyes.

"Plain and simple, there isn't enough law enforcement on the bay," one angler wrote. "People feel they won't get caught."

Stay tuned. Wisconsin Outdoor News Editor Dean Bortz is planning to interview DNR staff and anglers

Wild turkey gobblers like this beauty are on the minds of thousands of hunters as the 2024 seasons draw near. Wisconsin's annual spring hunt for youths age 15 and under takes place this weekend, April 13-14, followed by the first of six seven-day regular turkey hunting periods starting April 17.

for a story in next week's issue.

Meanwhile, rainbow trout and suckers are spawning in bay and Lake Michigan tributaries, and brown trout, pike and a few lake trout are being caught in the main bay and lake.

There was some smelt dip net and seining success in the past week, but it's been hit-and-miss. Look for that to peak in most areas this week.

Steelhead egg-taking

DNR fisheries staff have been operating the Root River Steelhead Facility in Racine since late February, with nearly 1,200 fish captured and 736 spawned.

The first two egg-takes at the Besadny Anadromous Fisheries Facility near Kewaunee took place March 27 and April 3.

A total of 92 of the 328 steelhead captured were spawned, resulting in nearly 400,000 eggs.

The Besadny site is open to the public and is located at N3884 Ransom Moore Lane.

Fish tourney news

Fishing tournaments that are statewide or regional in nature, seasonal without specific fishing dates or that have fewer than 20 boats or 100 participants are now required to register with the DNR free of charge.

A screening tool that asks questions will help organizers determine whether they need a registration or permit.

To learn more, visit <https://dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/Fishing/tournaments> or contact Kayla Sasse at kayla.sasse@wisconsin.gov.

Wild turkey hunt

April 13-14 is the youth turkey hunt.

Youths must have a tag, and if successful, they can't use it during the regular season.

However, if they don't bag a bearded bird, they can hunt in the week specified.

Some zones still have leftover tags available for purchase.

Check the list at <https://dnr.wisconsin.gov/permits/springturkey.html>.

Meanwhile, see all the youth hunting rules at https://widnr.widen.net/s/qnbdwkwvw/spring\_turkeyyouthhunt.

Outdoor field trips

More than two dozen field trips around Northeastern Wisconsin are among more than 270 offered this year by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and the Natural Resources Foundation (NRF) of Wisconsin.

Foundation membership is required to participate, and fees vary by trip.

The group was formed 38 years ago as declining budgets compromised critical DNR programs.

Native plant sale

Wild Ones Green Bay Chapter in De Pere is holding its annual native plant sale through April 30. Check out what's offered at <https://greenbay.wildones.org>.

In addition, nurseries offering native wild plants all season include Door Landscape and Nursery in Egg Harbor (www.doorlandscape.com), Stone Silo Prairie Garden in DePere (www.stonesiloprairie.com) and Hoot Blossom Farm on Washington Island (<https://hootblossomfarm.com>).

Water levels up, down

Lake Michigan and Green Bay water levels went up about two inches in the past month, but are still down about four inches from last year at this time.

Levels have dropped nearly three feet since the monthly high in 2020, but are still about 31 inches above the all-time low, set in 1964.

Water levels are projected to rise three inches this month.

Trout tournaments

The Blue Door Brown Trout Derby is set for April 13, and the Baileys Harbor Brown Trout Tournament — with fishing allowed in Door and Kewaunee counties — is April 18-21.

Weekly Fishing Report

brought to you by Smokey's on the Bay bait and tackle

Precipitation muddies the water

The Green Bay area got its fair share of rain and snow the last week.

The runoff and precipitation brought muddy conditions for anglers getting out on the Fox River and Lower Bay Thursday through Sunday.

On the Fox, working brighter colored plastics and hair jigs did catch some fish, but the very muddy water made the bite difficult for most.

Trolling brighter color crankbaits was also working in the dirty water with slow speeds around 1.0-1.2 mph.

Night-time trolling on the river for most anglers proved to be tough with the very dirty water making it difficult for the fish to find the baits.

With the increase of current and warming water, the fish are starting to spawn more heavily.

Fishing out on the bay areas of slightly-cleaner water were productive.

Trolling the east shoreline from the university up to Point au Sable in anywhere from 5-9 inches of water with crankbaits over the weekend was fair to good.

Again, slower speed running baits, like Flicker Minnows and P-10s in brighter colors, and baits with some white on them seemed to be the most productive.

Working the waters from around Point Comfort all the way to Dykesville has also been producing some good catches.

The water up that way is a littler cleaner yet.

Most fish have come from 8-16 inches and using both Flicker minnows and P-10s have also been working up there.

Reports of a few fish showing up in the Suamico area have also hit the radar, and trolling up there is the most productive plan of attack.

In the Oconto area, walleyes are starting their yearly spawning ritual.

Some fish are still staging you in 14-18 inches off the mouths of the rivers, while others have moved into the Oconto and Peshtigo rivers.

Over the weekend, both pre-spawn and post-spawn fish have shown up, but the post-spawn fish seemed to be more prevalent by the weekend.

Casting Hair Jigs in purple, purple/black, white/pink and purple/chartreuse colors all took fish.

Rippin' Raps in dark colors also caught some walleyes.

With the Rippin' Raps, a slow lift of a foot or less triggered bites, as these fish were not aggressively chasing baits.

A few fish have come on jigs and plastics also.

Water temperatures ranged from 41-46 degrees Fahrenheit by Sunday afternoon.

The Door County areas did not have a lot of activity this last week, mainly due to the higher winds across the bay.

Be safe and tight lines.

CITY OF GREEN BAY SPRING LOOSE LEAF COLLECTION

The City of Green Bay Department of Public Works will begin its spring curbside collection of loose leaves, garden waste, and grass clippings on Monday, April 15, 2024. This material should be placed out to the curb in separate piles (leaves/grass together and brush/branches together) and should not be co-mingled. Bagged material will not be picked up.

For route collection information, check out our NEW interactive collection map at <https://greenbaywi.gov/yardwaste>.

MAY 12, 2024 – DEADLINE FOR YARD WASTE ITEMS TO BE PLACED AT THE CURB FOR FINAL COLLECTION.

Yard waste placed to the curb after May 12 WILL NOT be collected by the City.

Residents are responsible for disposing of their own yard waste after the spring collection period, or they will be assessed a fee for collection. Please see Yard Waste Drop-Off Center information below.

Please note that placing yard waste in the street itself is against City ordinance, and residents who do so will be subject to citation. Similar to past collection periods, Public Works staff will be recording violations.

Residents are reminded that raking leaves into the street increases pollution of storm water, may cause flooding by blocking drainage structures, and most importantly, piles of leaves in the street are a dangerous attraction to young children.

Please refrain from piling yard waste next to trees, poles, mailboxes, or other obstructions as this slows down collection crews and may cause damage to equipment or the obstruction.

YARD WASTE DROP-OFF CENTERS

The City of Green Bay Department of Public Works Yard Waste Drop-Off Centers are open daily (including weekends) April 1 until Thanksgiving Day from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Residents may bring their loose leaves, grass clippings, and garden waste to either of the City's two (2) yard waste drop-off sites located at 2530 East Shore Drive on the east side and 1470 Hurlbut Street on the west side.

Contractor generated/collected yard waste debris is NOT acceptable at these sites or at the curb for City collection.

Further information may be obtained by calling the Department of Public Works – Operations Division at (920) 448-3535 or visiting the City's website at www.greenbaywi.gov/publicworks.

WHEREAS, the Village Board for the Village of Howard, Brown County, Wisconsin, held a public Hearing at 6:35 p.m. on the 8th day of April, 2024, for the purpose of hearing all interested persons concerning the Preliminary Resolution and the report of the Village Engineer on the proposed improvement, construction, and installation of sanitary sewer & laterals, watermain & services, and roadway reconstruction. The areas to be assessed shall be:

A. The southerly, and northerly sides of Lineville Road, beginning approximately at the intersection with Cornell Road, continuing easterly along Lineville Road approximately 2,600 feet, for sanitary sewer and laterals and water mains and water services construction including:
Parcel VH – 747-B-742
Parcel VH – 1428
Parcel VH – 747-B-733
Parcel VH – 136
Parcel VH – 120-2

B. The westerly and easterly sides of Brookfield Avenue, beginning approximately at the intersection with Lineville Road, continuing southerly along Brookfield Avenue approximately 2,600 feet, for sanitary sewer and laterals, and water mains and water services construction including:
Parcel VH – 120-2
Parcel VH – 117
Parcel VH – 120
Parcel VH – 118-1
Parcel VH – 118-4
Parcel VH – 123
Parcel VH – 118-2
Parcel VH – 118-3
Parcel VH – 118
Parcel VH – 123-4
Parcel VH – 123-1
Parcel VH – 123-3

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, by the Village Board of the Village of Howard, Brown County, Wisconsin, as follows:

(1) That the report of the Village Engineer and/or consulting engineers pertaining to the construction of the above described public improvements for installation of sanitary sewer and laterals, watermain and services, and roadway reconstruction, including plans and specifications therefore, is adopted and approved.

(2) The Village engineer is authorized to carry out construction and installation in accordance with the Engineer's Report.

(3) That payment for the improvements shall be made by assessing the costs thereof against the above described benefited properties as indicated in the Engineer's Report.

(4) That the Village Board, based in its view of the property and its review of such report determines that the above-described properties are benefited by such public improvements and that the benefits and amounts assessed against each parcel on the basis shown in the report, representing an exercise of the police power, are determined to be on a reasonable basis and are hereby confirmed and approved.

(5) Financing and Payments:
(A) Type A payment plan – i. Special assessments levied against properties as set forth in Schedule C of the Engineer's Report denoted as "Assessment Type A" shall be paid in cash or in ten (10) annual installments to the Treasurer, such installments bearing interest, at the rate of 3 7/10% annually or 1/2% over the Village borrowing rate at the time of the assessment whichever is greater, on the unpaid balance, until such time that any of the following events occur:

1. The land is developed (building or use permit, sewer or water use, etc.), or

2. The property is divided by a certified survey map or plat, or

3. The property is sold or transferred, except for transfer between father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

ii. At the time events "1", "2" or "3" occur, the balance of principal, late fees, penalties and accrued interest shall be immediately due and payable in full.

(B) Type B payment plan – i. Special assessments levied against properties as set forth in Schedule C of the Engineer's Report denoted as "Assessment Type B" allow deferred payment without accrued interest until such time that any of the following events occur:

1. The land is developed (building or use permit, sewer or water use, etc.), or

2. The property is divided by a certified survey map or plat, or

3. The property is sold or transferred, except for transfer between father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

ii. At the time events "1", "2" or "3" occur, the balance of principal, late fees, and penalties, without accrued interest, shall be immediately due and payable in full.

(D) Type D payment plan – i. The cost of improvements that benefit property, identified and set forth in Schedule C of the Engineer's Report denoted as "Payment plan Type D" shall be withheld and are currently determined to be unbuildable due to the presence of wetlands or floodways. The cost of improvements shall be exempt and withheld until such time that the circumstances have changed, such that any portion of the withheld area is removed from said environmental regulation and is deemed buildable, or should the property owner obtain a building permit for any type of property improvement or otherwise improves the property without a permit. At that time, the Village shall promptly assess the property owner for the cost of the improvements as set forth in Schedule C of the Engineer's Report plus accrued interest at the rate of 5% % annually or 1% over the Village borrowing rate at the time of the assessment whichever is greater, on the unpaid balance from the date of adoption of the initial final resolution.

The balance of principal, late fees, penalties and accrued interest shall be immediately due and payable in full.

(6) Installment Notice: Notice is hereby given that a contract has been or is about to be let for the above described improvement and that the amount of the special assessment for the improvement has been determined as to each parcel of real estate affected and a statement of the assessment is on file with the Village Clerk; it is proposed that some of the assessments as described above may be paid in installments, as provided for by section 66.0715 of the Wisconsin Statutes, with interest as described above; that all assessments eligible for installments as provided above except assessments on property where the owner files with the Village Clerk within 30 days from date of this notice a written notice that the owner elects to pay the special assessment on the owner's property, describing the property, to the Village Treasurer on or before the following November 1, unless the election is revoked. If, after making the election, the property owner fails to make the payment to the Village Treasurer, the entire assessment shall be placed on the following tax roll.

(7) The total amount assessed against benefited properties shall not exceed the total cost of the improvements.

(8) That the Village Clerk of the Village of Howard is directed to publish this resolution as a Class I Notice and is further directed to mail a copy of this resolution and a statement of the Final Assessment against the benefited property to every property owner whose name appears on the assessment roll whose post office address is known or can, with reasonable diligence be ascertained.

(9) If any section, sentence, or clause of this Resolution or any Special Assessment set forth or referenced herein shall be declared invalid for any reasons whatsoever, such decision shall not affect the remaining sections or assessments approved herein, which shall remain in full force and effect.

(10) This Resolution shall remain in full force and effect from and after its passage and publication according to law. Adopted by the Village Board of the Village of Howard, Wisconsin this 8th day of April 2024.

Notice that the Assessment Roll is Open for Examination and Open Book

STATE OF WISCONSIN VILLAGE OF HOBART, BROWN COUNTY
Pursuant to Wis. Stat. § 70.45, the assessment roll for the Year 2024 assessment will be open for examination starting on the 2nd day of May 2024 at 9:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. Additionally, the assessor shall be available at the Village Office (2990 S. Pine Tree Road, Hobart WI 54155) on May 2, 2024, from 9:00 a.m. until 11:00 a.m. Instructional material will be provided at the open book to persons who wish to object to valuations under Wis Stat. § 70.47.

NOTICE OF BOARD OF REVIEW TWO-HOUR MEETING

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Review for the Village of Hobart, Brown County, Wisconsin, shall hold its first meeting on May 9, 2024, at 9:00 a.m. at the Village Office (2990 S. Pine Tree Road, Hobart WI 54155). Please be advised of the following requirements to appear before the Board of Review and procedural requirements if appearing before the Board of Review:
1. After the first meeting of the Board of Review and before the Board of Review's final adjournment, no person who is scheduled to appear before the Board of Review may contact or provide information to a member of the Board of Review about the person's objections, except at a session of the Board of Review. Open book shall occur no less than 7 days prior to the Board of Review.
2. The Board of Review may not hear an objection to the amount or valuation of property unless, at least 48 hours before the Board of Review's first scheduled meeting, the objector provides to the Board of Review Clerk written or oral notice on an intent to file an objection, except that upon a showing of good cause and the submission of a written objection, the Board of Review shall waive that requirement during the first 2 hours of the Board of

Meetings and Public Hearings 7720

Review's first scheduled meeting, and the Board of Review may waive that requirement up to the end of the 5th day of the session, or up to the end of the final day of the session if the session is less than 5 days, with proof of extraordinary circumstances for failure to meet the 48-hour notice requirement and failure to appear before the Board of Review during the first 2 hours of the first scheduled meeting.
3. Objections to the amount or valuation of property shall first be made in writing and filed with the Board of Review Clerk within the first 2 hours of the Board of Review's first scheduled meeting, except that, upon evidence of extraordinary circumstances, the Board of Review may waive that requirement up to the end of the 5th day of the session, or up to the end of the final day of the session if the session is less than 5 days. The Board of Review may require objections to the amount or valuation of property to be submitted on forms approved by the Wisconsin Department of Revenue, and the Board of Review shall require that any forms include stated valuations of the property in question.
Persons who own land and improvements to that land may object to the aggregate valuation of that land and improvements to that land, and no person who owns land and improvements to that land may object only to the valuation of improvements to that land. No person may be allowed in any action or proceedings to question the amount or valuation of property unless the written objections has been filed and that person in good faith presented evidence to the Board of Review in support of the objections and made full disclosure before the Board of Review, under oath, of all that person's property liable to assessment in the district and the value of that property. The requirement that objections be in writing may be waived by express action of the Board.
4. When appearing before the Board of Review, the objecting person shall specify in writing the person's estimate of the value of the land and of the improvements that are subject of the person's objection and specify the information used to arrive at that estimate.
5. No person may appear before the Board of Review, testify to the Board of Review by telephone, or object to a valuation if that valuation was made by the assessor or the objector using the income method of valuation, unless no later than 7 days before the first meeting of the Board of Review, the person supplies the assessor with all the information about income and expenses that the assessor requests, as specified in Assessor's Manual under Wis. Stat. § 73.03(2a). The Village of Hobart has an ordinance for the confidentiality of information about income and expenses that is provided to the assessor under this paragraph that provides exceptions for persons using information in the discharge of duties imposed by law or the duties of their officer or by order of a court. The information that is provided in this paragraph, unless a court determines that it is inaccurate, is not subject to the right of inspection and copying under Wis. Stat § 19.35(1).
6. The Board of Review shall hear upon oath, by telephone, all ill or disabled persons who present to the Board of Review a letter from a physician, physician assistant, or advanced practice nurse prescriber certified under Wis. Stat. § 441.16(2) that confirms their illness or disability. No other persons may testify by telephone unless the Board of Review, in its discretion, has determined to grant a property owner's or their representative's request to testify under oath by telephone or written statement.

7. No person may appear before the Board of Review, testify to the Board of Review by telephone, or contest the amount of any assessment unless, at least 48 hours before the first meeting of the Board of Review, or at least 48 hours before the objection is heard if the objection is allowed under Wis. Stat. § 70.47(3)(a), that person provides notice to the Board of Review Clerk as to whether the person will ask for the removal of a member of the Board of Review and, if so, which member, and provided a reasonable estimate of the length of time the hearing will take.
8. No person shall be allowed to appear before the board of review, to testify to the board by telephone or to contest the amount of any assessment of real or personal property if the person has refused a reasonable written request by certified mail of the assessor to enter onto property to conduct an exterior view of the real or personal property being assessed.

The Green Bay Rockers have added three more names to their roster for this upcoming season, including Mack Crowley, a Green Bay native. Tori Wittenbrock photo

Rockers sign Green Bay native Mack Crowley, two others

Ashwaubenon High School alum Mack Crowley to return to pitch for Rockers in NWL

BY THE GREEN BAY ROCKERS FOR THE PRESS TIMES
 ASHWAUBENON – The Rockers have added three new faces to the roster and among them is a familiar face to many in Ashwaubenon, pitcher Mack Crowley.
 Joining Crowley on the Rockers will be University of Mississippi outfielder Seth Farni and Galveston College right-handed pitcher Clayton Beckel.

Mack Crowley - RHP – University of Minnesota-Mankato - 6'3"/185lbs. – RS FR
 Hailing from Green Bay, Crowley is set to return home and compete with the Rockers this summer. Crowley pitched for Ashwaubenon High School where he garnered unanimous first team All-Conference honors while also appearing on the Capital Credit Union Park mound during his time there. Crowley is currently a redshirt freshman at Minnesota-Mankato, where he has made five appearances on the bump thus far. The local product has struck out 10 batters across 10 innings of work on the season.
 This will be Crowley's second stint in the Northwoods League as he appeared in seven games, making four starts, for the Mankato MoonDogs last season. In 29 innings on the mound for the MoonDogs he posted a 1-0 record with 18 strikeouts and a 2.48 ERA.

Seth Farni - OF – University of Mississippi - 6'0"/190lbs. - FR
 The switch-hitting Farni was ranked the number one outfielder in the state of Mississippi and chose to stay close to home for college where he is a true freshman this spring at Ole Miss.
 A four-year letterwinner at Saint Stanislaus in Gulfport, he led his team to become the 2023 Baseball 3A South State Champions in 2023. As a senior, Farni posted a .402 batting average with a 1.342 OPS, collecting 46 hits and 11 home runs as the team captain.
 As a high school junior, Farni was selected to take part in the 14th annual International Power Showcase amateur home run derby held at Marlins Stadium and left as the event's overall champion.
 Farni was joined by top amateur power hitting prospects from 27 countries around the world and throughout the United States to display their skills in a Major League Baseball stadium in from of the sport's best scouts. Farni ended up with a total of 37 home runs in the derby and will look to showcase that power at Capital Credit Union Park this summer.

Clayton Beckel - RHP – Galveston College - 6'5"/205lbs. - FR
 Beckel comes to the Rockers by way of the Lone Star State. Not only is the pitcher at Galveston College, but he is a native of San Antonio, Texas as well.
 Beckel appeared in one game for the Whitecaps this spring, dominating to the tune of eight strikeouts in three innings of work.
 Single game tickets are on sale now. Season ticket packages, group tickets and Flex Packs are available as well.
 Visit www.greenbayrockers.com or call the ticket office at 920-497-7225 to reserve your seats today. The Rockers front office at Capital Credit Union Park is located at 2231 Holmgren Way in Ashwaubenon. Office hours are Monday-Friday 8:30 a.m.- 5 p.m.

Golf continues spring season at Western Illinois Spring Invite

BY GREEN BAY ATHLETICS FOR THE PRESS TIMES

SILVIS, ILL. – The Green Bay men's and women's golf teams took part in the Western Illinois Spring Invite on Friday and Saturday. The teams competed at TPC Deere Run, a professional course used by the PGA.

It was a strong weekend for the men, with four placing inside the top 22. Joe Forsting led the squad by scoring a 220 (+7), good for a tie in ninth place. He dominated the second and third rounds, combining for seven birdies over the 36-hole span.

Zak Kulka was one stroke behind him, tying for 11th overall. Kulka finished the Invite on a high note, recording four birdies, including two on the back nine, to finish even in round three.

Trent Meyer snuck inside the top 20 by tallying a 223 (+10), tying for 19th place overall alongside two other individuals.

Freshman Yinta Yang rounded out Green Bay's top four performances by stroking a 225 (+12), best for a tie in 22nd place.

Lexi Meade paced the women's team with a 235 (+22) to take 17th place overall. In round two, she notched a birdie and had consistent success in round three, recording part 11 times. Riley Pechinski and Grace Welch were part of a three-way tie for 23rd place, tallying a 241 (+28).

Nicolet NATIONAL BANK PRESENTS Senior Spotlight

Ellie Mangold, Pulaski High School, basketball and soccer

Parents' names: Jamee and Sara Mangold
Siblings: Gavin Mangold
Instagram: @emango922
Position/events: I play outside midfield in soccer.
Career highlight: Scoring the only goal of the game to win the regional championship against West De Pere my sophomore year. We went on to win the regional championship again the next year.

At what age did you start playing soccer?

I started playing soccer at the age of four.

How has balancing academics and athletics been different for you from your freshman year to your senior year?

Balancing academics and athletics has always been a focus of mine starting from freshman year all the way up to my senior year. School is a very important part of my life and I have challenged myself with advanced, AP and dual enrollment courses throughout my four years at Pulaski.

It definitely took a lot of dedication to learn how to be successful in both school and sports while keeping myself physically and mentally healthy. During my freshman and sophomore years, I was figuring out how to learn in class and study to best benefit me. Participating in both basketball and soccer has made me find the balance that works best for me. Developing strong skills while I was a freshman and sophomore has made the transition to the more difficult years of high school much easier on me. Now I will be able to utilize all of these skills in my future to ensure I am successful in college and beyond.

What moment has impacted you the most in your high school career?

One opportunity that has impacted me the most was the GLASS program. I was nominated for the Girls Leadership Academy for Service and Sports by my soccer coach my junior year. This program brings high school aged girls from around the country to Costa Rica for ten days. During this time we have daily leadership workshops, service activities, sports performance training, excursions and time for connecting with the other girls and mentors. During this time I was able to help different communities through the service opportunities and grow as a leader during the leadership workshops. This was a life changing opportunity for me and I couldn't be more happy that I went.

How does it feel as a senior, to look back throughout high school and see your growth (as a person and athlete)?

Looking back at my high school years, I feel very accomplished to have made an impact on the school and the teams I have been on. I have seen my maturity and personality grow in such a positive way and that is due to all the activities I was a part of in high school.

Any memorable

coaches or teammates you'd like to give a shout out to?

Both of my high school coaches, Coach McElrone and Coach Logue, have inspired me to become the best version of myself and I am so appreciative of them. I would also like to give a shoutout to my senior year basketball team who I have had the most fun season with.

What are your other hobbies outside of sports and school?

Outside of school, I really enjoy spending time outside in the summer boating, waterskiing and camping.

Favorite restaurant?

My favorite restaurant is In-N-Out Burger.

Future plans? (college, sport, major, career, etc)

I plan to attend a four year college to major in biology with a pre-physician assistant focus. After I earn my undergraduate degree I will attend graduate school to earn a master's degree in physician assistant studies.

GREEN BAY – Game in São Paulo will take place Friday night of Week 1, marking Green Bay's second international appearance

The NFL announced today that the Green Bay Packers will face the Philadelphia Eagles this season in a Week 1 matchup in São Paulo, Brazil, in the first-ever regular season game in South America.

The game, which will take place on Friday, Sept. 6, will kick off the season for the Packers and marks Green Bay's second international regular-season appearance, following the team's game in 2022 at Tottenham Hotspur Stadium in London.

"We're looking forward to being a part of this historic matchup against the Eagles in São Paulo," said Packers President/CEO Mark Murphy. "We're excited to play in front of our devoted fans in Brazil and help build upon the international popularity of the NFL and the Packers. We had a great experience playing internationally for the first time a couple of years ago and we're proud to be part of the league's continued global growth."

First announced in December, the matchup will take place at the Corinthians Arena. The venue is home to Brazilian soccer team the SC Corinthians and hosted both the 2014 FIFA World Cup and 2016 Olympic Games. The game will also be the first time the NFL has played a game on Friday night of opening weekend in over 50 years (Cardinals at Rams, Sept. 18, 1970).

"As global growth continues to be a critical and strategic priority for the NFL and its 32 clubs, we are thrilled to have the Green Bay Packers playing against the Philadelphia Eagles in our first-ever game in South America," said Gerrit Meier, NFL managing director and head of international. "With over 35 million passionate fans in Brazil, the Friday night 2024 regular season opener in São Paulo will bring an incredible energy – marking a historic moment for our sport internationally."

As the Eagles were designated to host the game, the matchup will be considered a road game for the Packers. Because visiting teams typically do not receive a ticket allotment for Season Ticket Holders, tickets to the game are not currently available to purchase through the Packers. Ticket packages will be available through On Location, the Official Hospitality Partner of the NFL, at <https://onlocationexp.com/packersbrazil>. If an opportunity becomes available for Packers Season Ticket Holders to purchase tickets through the team, the Packers will share details as they become available. For news about the 2024 São Paulo game and to receive ticket information from the NFL, sign up here.

The NFL also announced recently that Peacock (NBCUniversal) has secured the rights to exclusively stream the game. In keeping with a long-standing NFL policy, the game will be available on free, over-the-air broadcast television in the local markets of the competing teams as well as on mobile devices with NFL+.

With the game in South America, the NFL will have played a game (preseason or regular season) in five of the seven continents around the world. Prior to the Packers' trip to London in 2022, the team previously played internationally during the preseason on three occasions: in Toronto in 1997, Tokyo in 1998 and Winnipeg in 2019. The game in Brazil is part of the 2024 NFL International Games, with four previously announced games taking place in Europe. For more on NFL International, visit nfl.com/international/.

The rest of the Packers 2024 schedule will be announced later this spring and will feature nine regular-season home games and one preseason home game hosted at Lambeau Field.

As previously announced, the Gold package will receive the ninth regular-season game this year, the first year the ninth game will be hosted at Lambeau Field. Green package Season Ticket Holders will receive their typical allotment of regular-season games (six) and will also receive this year's preseason game. The next time Lambeau Field hosts the ninth game, the Green package will receive the ninth game and the Gold package will receive the preseason game. More information about how the 17-game NFL schedule and international game schedule impacts Season Ticket Holders is available at packers.com/tickets.

"His legacy will be unmatched at UWGB. You could argue that he has made the biggest impact on UWGB since its inception," said Moon. "He has over 800 wins and 13 NCAA Tournament appearances. You can look at all these banners around here — the guy is just all about excellence."

Borseth said that there were multiple factors that went into his decision to pass the baton after this past season.

"A couple of things came into play here," said Borseth. "I'm going to be 70 in June, so you have to look at age. And the second thing is that the last couple years it has been difficult to recruit. Players know that I am going to retire soon and as a result, I just couldn't capture. It was evident in the '24 class and even more evident in the '25 class with players asking that question. At what point do I end up just draining the program and the next coach has nothing left?"

Though his career has spanned a long time, Borseth said that this decision did not come easily at all. "I was sitting in my office a little while ago thinking, 'Alright, this is going to be a cakewalk. I'm going to go down there and get this over with and then me and my daughter are going to walk down to the river for some afternoon fishing.' Then I walked out the door and I just went, wham! It really hit me," said Borseth.

"I hope God pointed me in this direction and I hope this is where I am supposed to be, because without it there would be a void."

"It's incredible — the amount of adjusting to change that they did," said Phantom's Head Coach Chad Johnson. "This team has had to adjust to a lot of change — a new playing style, a lot more minutes in certain positions and just a different way of having to do things, and somehow they are catching on and they are keeping up."

Johnson is in his first season at the helm of the program after taking over for Matt Gazen who led the team for nearly two decades.

"This early in the season, they are allowing the coaching staff just to add little things because the previous staff really has built what is here. This staff is very lucky — we have to admit — it's a good team that we are now in charge of managing. Coach Ganzen did a great job in the past with his staff and we are just here to make minor tweaks and changes."

The Phantoms started off the game strong by slipping a through ball behind Menasha's backline for Marissa VanDeHei's breakaway for a clean finish just three minutes into the game for a 1-0 lead.

The Phantoms kept their momentum up, and moments later Faith Walder found herself on a break-away up the middle of the field for a shot that went just wide of the far post in the 11th minute of play.

Soon after, another goal put the Phantoms even further ahead when Ella Blom volleyed a shot into the back of the net off of a flicked header by VanDeHei from a corner kick, bringing the score to 2-0.

West De Pere's keeper kept the team in the game, posting a big save in the 17th minute and eventually getting the shutout.

A cross by VanDeHei after winning a battle down the sideline was chipped just over the net by Havanah Brockington, keeping the momentum in their favor.

A challenge by Walder on a 50/50 ball in the box caused a brief scramble but was scooped up by Menasha's keeper in the 27th minute.

Walder found herself in a 1v1 with the keeper, but the score remained 2-0 when her shot was deflected off for a corner kick in the 30th minute.

The Phantoms saw one last attempt before the half with a Belle Mommaerts give-and-go down the sideline for a cross in the 38th minute but West De Pere could not find the back of the net and went into half-time with a score of 2-0.

The Phantoms came out just as determined in the second half.

A hard shot by VanDeHei went just wide of the goal post just 50 seconds into the half.

Though the Blue Jays attempted to test the Phantoms' backline, when centerback Katie Neuens had the ball poked away from her she battled hard to win it back for her team and send it up the field.

In the 56th minute, Van-

DeHei posted her second goal of the night following up a bobble out of the keeper's hands for the 3-0 lead in the 56th minute.

Walder took the ball down the line to the flag for service into the far post a few minutes later but could not finish it.

In the 72nd minute, VanDeHei found herself in a 1v1 with Menasha's goalie and kept her composure as she dribbled around her in the box for an easy tap-in to secure a hat trick and a 4-0 final score for her team.

"Marissa is always going to be a threat. We give out a trophy every game to one player to take home and add something to it and then bring back for the next game — that was Marissa tonight. She is going to have to get used to getting attention on the field, but the other players around her are going to have to get used to getting more open in case that happens," said Johnson. "I think the best of Marissa is yet to come. As a former forward myself and a coach that loves to teach attackers, there are some things that we can teach her that are going to make her really dangerous."

As the team prepares to go deeper into the season and face more teams that pose a challenge for them, Johnson said that there are a few aspects of the game that he is hoping they can clean up going forward.

"It's the understanding that even when you're not in, you're in the game, which means that if you're in the game and the ball is clear across the field, you have to know that you are still in the game even if the ball is still 60 or 70 yards from you. We have to adjust to that and the physicality. We've just got to gain more confidence on the ball. I think these are a lot of things that programs are focused on mid-season and I think that we are a little ahead of things, which is good," said Johnson.

Tritons off to strong for 2024 season

GREEN BAY — After a 5-0 win against Lakeland and a 2-0 win against Luxemburg-Casco to start the 2024 season, the Notre Dame Academy Tritons clipped off a 7-0 win against the Sturgeon Bay Clippers on Monday, April 8, to continue their streak.

"We started the season off well and after a long offseason, they have really been pushing the ball around well and possessing and scoring early on which is good," said Tritons Head Coach Nick Browne.

The Tritons came out hungry from the kickoff immediately building into the opposing team's half off of the kickoff.

Lacey Fabry posed an early threat to the Clippers throughout the first few minutes getting off multiple shots on goal and keeping the ball in the box for her team.

Just three minutes into the match, senior Audrey

Audrey Burnell forces a turnover in their game against the Sturgeon Bay Clippers on Monday, April 8. The final score was 7-0, NDA.

Burnell lofted a far left-footed shot just inside the far post for an early 1-0 lead that would give her team momentum for the rest of the game.

The Tritons continued to possess the ball in the midfield, led by Charlee King who forced repeated turnovers to gain back possession for the Tritons.

Moments later, another NDA goal lit up the scoreboard when King knocked the ball into the back of the net off of an assist from midfielder Abbie LaMere's negative pass to the top of the box for the 2-0 NDA lead with 27 min remaining in the first half.

Just five minutes later, Fabry netted a goal into the far post over the top of the Clippers keeper from near the byline for the 3-0 lead.

The Tritons gained possession straight off the kick off and a nearly identical play was tapped in by Teya Bordini for the 4-0 lead as the Tritons began to pull away.

The Clippers earned their first real chance at an attack with 20 minutes remaining in the half, but NDA's back line defended it well, forcing the ball out for a goal kick.

After multiple shots across the face of the net and a header attempt by King, Sturgeon Bay was able to hold the Tritons to 4-0 going into the second half.

"I think we are a deeper team than we have been in the past. With games like this it is great to get everyone in and get all their minutes in and see them push the ball around and possess like we do because a lot of those girls are the future of the program," said Browne.

Three minutes into the second half, a shot by LaMere skimmed the top of the crossbar, keeping Sturgeon Bay on their toes.

Six minutes later, Elisa Juarez rang the far post with service across the box.

Though the Clippers defense dropped their back line to ward off shots from NDA in the second half, Bella Hill's unassisted goal with 23 minutes kept the Tritons on top, bringing the score to 5-0.

Though NDA was able to keep the ball in Sturgeon Bay's box for the majority of the second half, finishing in the final third seemed to be a struggle given their opportunities.

Bordini's goal through a follow-up shot in the box with 10 mins remaining seemed to break the streak but was called offside moments later.

However, Bordini quickly netted a redemption goal following up on an assist by Maddi Massart to bring the score to 6-0 with six minutes remaining.

Senior Jasmin Martinez scored the final goal of the game one minute later assisted by Bordini for a final score of 7-0.

"Today wasn't our best showing and when you play a team that plays a little bit more defensive it's going to be up to us to spread the ball out wide or take those opportunities to get it out to the wing and force their keeper to make a lot of saves," said Browne.

Forever a Phoenix legend

Kevin Borseth announces retirement

BY TORI WITTENBROCK
ASSOCIATE SPORTS EDITOR

GREEN BAY - UW-Green Bay Women's Basketball Head Coach Kevin Borseth has announced his retirement at the conclusion of the team's 2023-24 season.

During his final season, Borseth amassed his 800th career win, as well as 500 wins as the head coach of the Phoenix and 13 NCAA Tournament appearances.

"I spent 42 years of my life doing this and it's not easy. It's something I really love to do. If I had to do anything else, I don't think I would have half the success I had on the basketball floor. To get up tomorrow morning and think that I am no longer the head coach - it's going to hurt," said Borseth.

"It goes back to when I was younger and all I ever wanted was keys to the gym. We were crawling under fences and breaking in through windows and getting kicked out and all I ever wanted was keys to the gym. I finally got my keys to the gym so I just hope that these guys don't take my keys away."

UW-Green Bay Chancellor Michael Alexander said that Borseth's contributions to the Phoenix community are invaluable and that he is a living legend whose impact will last within the university for years to come.

"If you look in our gym and you look at all of those banners, those don't happen by accident. That is sustained excellence," said Alexander.

"He's an incredibly easy guy to root for. He works incredibly hard and he shows us at UW-Green Bay what is possible."

Amid Borseth's retirement announcement Alexander said that the school has another important announcement to make regarding the women's basketball program and Borseth's legacy.

"Forevermore, when someone parks behind us in the Kress Center, they are going to make a turn onto Kevin Borseth Way so that everyone that comes into this facility is going to know the excellence that Coach Borseth brought to this university for over 20 years," said Alexander.

While the next few months will be focused on a celebration of Borseth's amazing accomplishments, UW-Green Bay Athletic Director Josh Moon said that remembering Borseth's legacy is an important part of the journey of his career.
