Lincoln County Supervisor Elizabeth McCrank launches bid for 35th Assembly District

Incumbent Representative Calvin Callahan seeking third term

FOR THE TOMAHAWK LEADER

NORTHERN WISCONSIN – A member of the Lincoln County Board of Supervisors last week launched a campaign for the Wisconsin State Assembly.

On Monday, May 13, Merrill resident Elizabeth McCrank, who currently represents District 3 on the Lincoln County board, announced her candidacy for the 35th Assembly District, which encompasses all of Lincoln and Langlade Counties, as well as parts of Shawano, Oconto and Marathon Counties.

As of press time on Monday, May 20, McCrank was the only candidate set to run against incumbent Representative Calvin Callahan (R-Tomahawk), who last month announced that he will seek a third term.

A release from McCrank's campaign said she "pledges to focus on real district problems and challenges, including rural population decrease, school and library support, comprehensive care needs of the youngest and oldest in our communities, the climate for entrepreneurs and people's right to make healthcare decisions for themselves."

As a Lincoln County Supervisor, McCrank has served on the Highway, Land Services, Social Services, Local Emergency Planning and Solid Waste Committees, as well as the T.B. Scott Free Library

Board of Trustees. She serves on the Historic Preservation Committee and the Enrichment Center Committee for the City of Merrill and is a member of the Merrill Historical Society, the Merrill Noon Optimists Club and the Lincoln County Sports Club.

McCrank's voting record as a Lincoln County Supervisor relating to the recently-sold Pine Crest Nursing Home in Merrill was highlighted in the release.

"McCrank twice supported a referendum on the status of Pine Crest Nursing Home, introducing a resolution tabled by Supervisor Calvin Callahan in May 2023, and then supported Supervisor Norbert Ashbeck's Aug. 15, 2023 resolution that died by a vote of 13-9," the release stated.

The release said McCrank's "diverse private and public sector work experiences help her identify

Bernardi receives citation

Last week, a School District of Tomahawk employee was commended for her efforts in assisting a person in need. State Senator Mary Felzkowski (R-Tomahawk) and State Representative Calvin Callahan (R-Tomahawk) stopped by Tomahawk Middle School on Wednesday, May 15 to issue a citation to Nancy Bernardi, who responded to an individual who was choking in the lunchroom. District Administrator Wendell Quesinberry said Bernardi's quick action in applying the Heimlich technique was able to dislodge the item, potentially saving the individual's life. # Dan Connor, new owner of The Old Towne Mall, greeted by Tomahawk Ambassadors

FOR THE TOMAHAWK LEADER

TOMAHAWK – The new owner of The Old Towne Mall in downtown Tomahawk was recently welcomed to the community by the Tomahawk Ambassadors.

“Dan Connor is no stranger to town as he grew up in Tomahawk – Skanawan to be exact,” a release from the Ambassadors said.

Dan moved away from the area for about 15 years, doing sales and delivery with Holiday Wholesale out of Wisconsin Dells.

“Taking time to concentrate strictly on selling online for the last three years, Dan also got a booth inside The Old Towne Mall,” the release stated. “The joke was Ginny telling Dan, ‘You’re going to buy this place when I retire.’ Fast forward to the end of last summer, when Dan’s Mom sadly passed away. Real life kicked in, and he started thinking about it, finally coming back to Ginny, saying,

‘Okay, let’s buy this place.’ The rest is history! Now, lo and behold, Dan came to find out that Ginny said that to everybody that came in, wanting to retire; she was just waiting to see who actually take her up on it! No worries though – Ginny didn’t go too far, as she still has a booth inside, including the book she wrote about her Dad, and she’s continuing to have her ceramics here as well.”

The Ambassadors noted that the only big change is that there will no longer be painting hours available to the public, with everything else pretty much staying the same.

“Dan is only improving on that original base,” the Ambassadors explained. “Each booth is a different vendor, and every vendor has their own niches and price points.”

There are currently 47 signers.

Among a few updates visitors can enjoy is Kathy’s

Kitchen, the front area of the store where coffee, candy, pickled products, spices, dip mixes and more are available in honor of Dan’s mom.

“Kathy very much enjoyed baking and making food for the family – her way of making everyone happy was to share,” the Ambassadors stated. “The front display table is also a fun new game – Dan changes it up with a different theme, depending on the season or whatever holiday’s coming up, trying to gather bits and pieces here and there to incorporate and tie into the vendors throughout.”

A few new spaces are being opened as well, although Dan noted that the waiting list has already been filling up.

“Be sure to stop in, meet Dan and see all the treasures at The Old Towne Mall,” the Ambassadors said.

The Old Towne Mall is located at 206 W. Wisconsin Ave., Tomahawk.

Tomahawk Ambassadors Deb Tomaszewski, Diane Timm, MaryLu Voermans and Jennifer Turkiewicz recently greeted Dan Connor, the new owner of The Old Towne Mall in downtown Tomahawk. Shonna Buchanan and Raleigh Hodge were also on hand for the introduction.

and understand real-life issues,” noting that she is presently employed by the University of Wisconsin-Madison, but has worked in light construction, taught college and GED students, bussed restaurant tables and bagged groceries.

“We need leaders who believe that government is not just of the people and by the people, but for the people,” McCrank said in the release. “We need to focus on real-life issues that the majority of our residents face, not contrived crises and gimmicky culture war issues meant to distract from our legislators’ ineffective governance. Working people need someone honoring them, focusing on them and, most importantly, listening to them. We need to re-open the conversation about what the public wants from its government, and if the public wants a government different from a party’s desires, the public should win out over the party. Rather than disassembling local government and making our communities less attractive, we need to develop customized solutions for local circumstances, involving those most affected. Freedom for all includes freedom for women to make their own healthcare choices without interference from government or others who assert their personal freedom but choose to treat others like second-class citizens.”

Merrill man dies of natural causes in Lincoln County Jail, autopsy finds

BY TINA L. SCOTT
MMC STAFF

MERRILL – A Merrill man died while in custody at the Lincoln County Jail on Saturday, April 27.

According to an independent investigation conducted by the Langlade County Sheriff's Office, Terrence Andrew Wiegel, 68, of Merrill, was found unresponsive in a holding cell in the booking area of the Lincoln County Jail just after 4 p.m. on April 27 by a corrections officer, shortly after his evening meal tray was served. He was found lying on his bunk, but did not respond when the officer called out to him.

The officer immediately entered the cell and shook him, then radioed for assistance and began CPR. Additional corrections officers arrived to assist with lifesaving measures, which included use of an AED device, and emergency medical services arrived on scene within six minutes of finding the man and continued CPR for another 11 minutes. However, lifesaving measures ultimately proved unsuccessful.

The Langlade County deputy's report indicated that, per his review of video evidence in the investigation, Wiegel had been routinely checked on by a corrections officer and found to be lying down on his mattress on his bunk and breathing at 2:59 p.m., but it appears he may have had a medical incident just minutes later, after the corrections officer had left the area.

Wiegel had been in the most secured section of the jail, a holding cell by himself, with a camera, the deputy said.

Wiegel had been arrested and booked into the Lincoln County Jail the prior night at approximately 9:32 p.m. on Friday, April 26, on a charge of theft of mail.

The Langlade County deputy investigating the incident reported, "I was told inmates are typically kept in holding cells in booking for 24 hours before being moved to general population. Terrence had been in the same holding cell since he was booked in. There was video footage of that holding cell for the entire time that Terrence had been incarcerated. I reviewed the video footage of the holding cell from the time Terrence got booked in until after EMS left."

Wiegel was the only person incarcerated in the holding cell from the time of his booking until the time of his death.

At the time of his booking, according to the paperwork, Wiegel "did not appear to be under the influence of alcohol or drugs when he was brought in. Terrence did not appear to have any major medical concerns. Terrence had stated he had a sinus infection and asthma."

Corrections officers reported Wiegel had been cooperative during booking and had at various times said he had "a hard time breathing, but stated Terrence had been very talkative and seemed okay."

Wiegel met with the Jail nurse, but he declined to use the inhaler he brought with him and had only taken Tylenol during his time in the holding cell.

Immediately following the death, the scene was taped off, Lincoln County Coroner Valerie Caylor responded to perform her duties, and the Langlade County Sheriff's Office came in to do an independent investigation. The Langlade County deputy was on scene at approximately 6 p.m.

"With the death of anyone in our jail, per policy and standard procedures we have an outside agency conduct an investigation," Grant Peterson said on behalf of Lincoln County. "In this particular case, we requested the Langlade County Sheriff's Office to investigate the matter."

Peterson said while the matter was being actively investigated by Langlade County, Lincoln County had opted not to release any information "so as not to interfere with their investigation."

Wiegel was transported to Madison for an autopsy by Caylor and provided her preliminary findings and diagnoses report dated April 30 to Langlade County. According to that report, the autopsy determined the cause of death as natural, pending blood test results.

"She confirmed no trauma to indicate Wiegel was victim to a crime. She specifically noted cardiac and pulmonary issues," the report said of the forensic pathologist who had conducted the autopsy in her presence.

Memorial Day

Dear Reader,

As Memorial Day approaches, we're reminded of the solemn duty to honor those who made the ultimate sacrifice defending our freedoms. It's a day to reflect on the bravery and selflessness of those who gave their lives in service to our country.

Yet, amidst this reflection, we can't ignore the tragic reality of war – the senseless need for power, resources, and subjugation that often drive conflicts. Innocents become collateral damage in these atrocities, bearing the burden of decisions made far from their homes.

As we commemorate Memorial Day, we must contemplate the deeper meaning behind it. It's a day not just to mourn the fallen, but to question the necessity of war itself. Can't we aspire to a world where diplomacy triumphs over conflict, where peace prevails over violence?

Though the observance of Memorial Day will endure, let it also serve as a beacon of hope – a hope that one day, the need to wage war will fade into history, replaced by a collective commitment to dialogue, understanding, and peace.

LINCOLN COUNTY SHERIFF'S REPORT

As reported by the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office Monday, May 13:

On 05/8/2024 a deputy was sent to the Pride Dam in the Town of Bradley to investigate a report of a male subject with a gun. The R/P, a Tomahawk man, 64, reported that he was fishing at that location when an unknown male subject along with a passenger and dog pulled up in a red pickup truck. The dog then urinated on the R/P's tackle box and jacket so the R/P yelled at the dog. The unknown male suspect told the R/P not to yell at his dog and then displayed a gun. The suspect, along with his passenger and dog, left the area. No better description of the suspect vehicle or suspects were available. No one was injured.

Office received a complaint from the Children's Hospital of Milwaukee to report a possible case of child abuse. It was reported that the alleged abuse took place at the father's home on Heritage Rd. in the Town of Pine River. Staff from the hospital reported that a child, 3, was brought to the hospital with bite marks on his right upper arm and forearm. Pictures provided to the investigating deputy by the hospital clearly showed injuries consistent with someone being bitten. When deputies went to the suspect's place of work to question him about the bite marks, the suspect, a Merrill man, 25, elected not to speak to

Individual Unemployability (IU)

Individual Unemployability (IU) is a benefit service-disabled veterans can claim if they have service-connected disabilities that prevent them from substantially gainful employment. IU pays the veteran at the 100% rate even if the VA has rated them less than 100%.

In order to be eligible, a veteran must be unable to maintain substantially gainful employment as a result of his/her service-connected disabilities. Additionally, a veteran must have:

- One service-connected disability rated at 60% or more; OR
- Two or more service-connected disabilities with a combined rating of 70% or more, with at least one individual disability rated 40% or higher.

Special consideration will be given for veterans when the following criterion is met:

- The veteran is considered unemployable due to a service-connected disability (or disabilities) but fails to meet the minimum percentage standards. In other words, if you don't meet the above standards but are still unemployable due to your service connected disability (or disabilities); OR
- There is evidence of exceptional or unusual circumstances to impairment of earning capacity due to service-connected disability (for example, frequent periods of hospitalization).

Veterans who are in receipt of IU benefits may work as long as it is not considered substantially gainful employment; it must be considered marginal employment.

Substantially gainful employment is defined as employment at which non-disabled individuals earn their livelihood with earnings comparable to the particular occupation in the community where the veteran resides.

Marginal employment is generally deemed to exist when a veteran's earned income does not exceed the amount established by the U.S. Census Bureau as the poverty level for the veteran only.

If a veteran is approved by the VA for IU, not only do they receive the 100% service-disabled rate of pay, but they may also receive additional benefits, including health insurance for their dependents, Property Tax Credit and a service-disabled military ID card.

TPL among Best Things Wisconsin's top-ranked libraries

FOR THE TOMAHAWK LEADER

TOMAHAWK – Tomahawk Public Library (TPL) was recently ranked among the best in the state.

Best Things Wisconsin provides rankings in a variety of categories, including entertainment, recreation, businesses, community resources and bars and restaurants.

TPL made the list recognizing the Badger State's top libraries.

"Located right on the Wisconsin River, the Tomahawk Public Library is a beautiful place to collaborate and gather," Best Things Wisconsin's website says. "Stop in and take out bestsellers, participate in events, sign your kids up for their Children's Program, do some light research and stay up-to-date on educational information."

Other libraries making the list were located in Bayfield, Brookfield, Madison, Marinette, Milwaukee, Neenah, Wisconsin Dells and Wisconsin Rapids.

the deputies without a lawyer present. The suspect was placed under arrest for child abuse and transported to the Lincoln County Jail. The suspect was later heard talking on the phone admitting to biting the child, but that it wasn't that hard, and it was in response to the child biting others.

On 05/11/2024 deputies were dispatched to an address on Liac Ln. in the Town of Schley for a reported domestic dispute that was physical in nature. The fight was reported to be between a Gleason woman, 55, and her daughter, 20. The deputies discovered that the daughter was the predominate aggressor by yelling at and hitting her mother. As a result, she was arrested and transported to the Lincoln County Jail and booked for domestic disorderly conduct and battery.

On 05/11/2024 a deputy on patrol observed a vehicle where she believed the driver had a revoked driver's license. The stop took place on STH 64 near French Ridge Rd. in the Town of Pine River. When stopped, the deputy went to make contact with the driver, a Merrill woman, 49. As the deputy spoke to the driver, she noticed signs of impairment, and as a result asked the driver to perform SFSTs. As a result of those tests, the driver was arrested for a second offense of OWI. She was then transported to the Lincoln County Jail, where she was booked for the offense.

On 05/11/2024 a deputy on patrol stopped a vehicle on USH 51 and the 211 mile marker in the Town of Merrill for vehicle equipment violations. Upon making contact with the driver, a Marathon man, 21, the deputy detected the odor of marijuana. As a result of that, the deputy conducted a search of the vehicle and located numerous drug items. The driver was subsequently arrested for possession of marijuana and transported to the Lincoln County Jail, where he was turned over to corrections officers.

On 05/12/2024 a deputy on patrol stopped a vehicle on USH 51 near USH 8 in the Town of Bradley for a speeding violation. When stopped, the deputy made contact with the driver, a woman, 18, from Pine Grove, Ill., and her passenger, a woman, 19, from Marengo, Ill. In speaking with the woman and her passenger, the deputy detected the odor of marijuana from inside the car. In conversation, the driver admitted to smoking marijuana two hours before the stop. Due to her smoking marijuana prior to driving, she was asked to perform SFSTs. As a result of those tests, she was arrested for an offense of operating while under the influence of a restricted controlled substance 1st offense, as well as possession of psilocybin. The passenger is being referred for possession of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Deputies conducted 57 traffic stops and 14 security checks. Deputies responded to one car vs. deer crash.

The 911 Center took two hang-up calls and 13 nuisance calls.

Marshfield Clinic Research Institute asking public to submit ticks for research study

FOR THE TOMAHAWK LEADER

WISCONSIN – Scientists at Marshfield Clinic Research Institute (MCRI) are asking the public to submit ticks for a research study called the Tick Inventory via Citizen Science (TICS).

“Ticks might be one of people’s least favorite creatures,” a release from Marshfield Clinic said. “If you find a tick on yourself or your pet, the first reaction may be to squish it or flush it down the toilet, but that tick could help researchers learn more about the parasitic arachnid and its potential to carry disease.”

The release said the study is surveying the distribution of tick species in the area, including any new, invasive ticks that may be moving into Wisconsin.

“Eventually, they will also identify the microbes carried by each tick, including pathogens that may cause diseases, such as Lyme disease, anaplasmosis and babesiosis, and non-pathogenic microbes that may contribute to a tick’s likelihood of carrying disease,” the release stated. “While we cannot return the pathogen information this year, we will use this information to design future studies for our findings.”

“Ticks are moving into new areas as the environment changes,” said Alexandra Linz, MCRI Associate Research Scientist. “This is an opportunity for Wisconsinites to act as citizen scientists and help us learn about ticks and their diseases, which can potentially help us better inform on disease prevention and early detection, as well as develop improved diagnostic tools and treatments.”
“The first phase of this survey targeted central Wisconsin,” the release stated. “Now researchers are asking citizen scientists from across Wisconsin to contribute.”

For more information, or to request a pre-paid collection kit, contact tics@marshfieldclinic.org or 1-715-389-7796 (extension 16462).

The release said parks and nature centers interested in having kits available for their visitors also are encouraged to contact MCRI.

“Once the tick, dead or alive, has been placed in the collection kit, just drop it in the mail to submit,” the release stated. “Any tick found on people or pets is appreciated. Each kit will come with a unique identification number that people can use to look up, via an online dashboard, the species of ticks they contributed.”

MCRI said it has long studied ticks and tick-borne diseases, including:

- Improved and rapid diagnostic test evaluation in partnership with industry sponsors.

- Examining and developing a deeper understanding of post-treatment Lyme disease syndrome.

- Evaluation of occupation risks for tick-borne illnesses.

- Exploring changes in land use and its impact on the risk of tick-borne infection exposures.

- Enrolling participants in a national effort to collect samples to improve early Lyme disease diagnosis and treatment.

“This tick research, like many research projects at MCRI, is funded through generous donor support,” the release stated.

Aspirus: How to get the most out of seasonal allergy medications

FOR THE TOMAHAWK LEADER

WISCONSIN - Aspirus Health recently offered tips on how to get the most out of seasonal allergy medications.

"It's that time of year again - spring has sprung, and so have seasonal allergies, also known as hay fever," a release from Aspirus said. "According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), seasonal allergies affect as many as 60 million people per year in the United States. These allergies can manifest during specific seasons or persist year-round, depending on the allergen, leading to symptoms like sneezing, congestion, itchy eyes and throat irritation."

Aspirus provided the following tips from the American College of Allergy, Asthma and Immunology (ACAAI) to help make the most of allergy medications.

Choose the right medication

"It's important to choose the right allergy medication to treat your symptoms," said Lynn Halambeck, Aspirus Outpatient Pharmacist Manager. "For example, if you're having those itchy, watery eyes, preferably you would want to use an eye drop. If you have a runny or congested nose, perhaps you want to try the nasal sprays."

Other over-the-counter medication options include antihistamines, commonly used for relief from sneezing, itching, and a runny nose; decongestants, helpful in reducing congestion and sinus pressure; or combination medications that include both an antihistamine and a decongestant.

"Consult with a pharmacist before trying any new medication to ensure there are no interactions with your current prescription medications," Lynn stated.

Follow dosage instructions

Aspirus said it's important to follow dosage instructions carefully when taking allergy medications.

"Taking too much medication can be harmful, while taking too little may not provide relief," Aspi-rus stated. "Always read the label and follow the instructions provided by your healthcare provider or the package insert."

Take medications at the right time

The timing of allergy medication can be crucial, Aspirus noted.

"Some medications, such as antihistamines, work best when taken before exposure to allergens, while others, like decongestants, may be more effective when taken after exposure," Aspirus said.

Be aware of side effects

"Allergy medications can have side effects, so it's essential to be aware of these before taking them," Aspirus stated.

Common side effects of antihistamines include drowsiness, dry mouth and blurred vision.

Decongestants can cause nervousness, jitteriness and an increased heart rate.

Nasal corticosteroids can lead to nasal irritation, a sore throat and nosebleeds.

Avoid alcohol and other substances

Aspirus said some allergy medications can interact with alcohol and other substances, such as certain medications or herbal supplements.

"Always read the label and consult your healthcare provider or pharmacist before trying any new medications or supplements," Aspirus stated. "Alcohol can exacerbate certain allergy symptoms, such as nasal congestion and headache, so it's best to avoid it during allergy season."

Keep medications on hand

"Allergy symptoms can strike at any time, so it's important to keep your medications readily available," Aspirus said. "Consider keeping a supply at home, at work, and in your car to ensure access to relief when needed."

Consider allergy shots

Aspirus noted that if your allergies are severe or persistent, allergy shots, also known as immunotherapy, may be an option.

This treatment involves regular injections of small amounts of allergens over several years to desensitize the immune system and reduce symptom severity.

"If you're experiencing persistent or severe symptoms, talk to your primary care provider or local pharmacist about the best treatment options for you," Aspirus stated.

PUBLISHER'S LETTER

Rate Increases

Dear Reader,

The United State Postal Service recently announced another 10% increase in their rates effective July 14, 2024.

Since 2021, there have been five previous rate increases; this is the sixth. This announcement coincides with severe deterioration in the USPS's performance; simply put, the mail is often late. These rate increases affect individuals sending mail as well as newspapers delivering the news. The rate increases have grown to a crisis. Your voice is needed, to ask Congress to place a moratorium on any rate increases, effective immediately. Mail is a vital service to all Americans and provides information that cannot be transmitted digitally. The USPS's price increases have been so aggressive that mail volume is declining, which creates a death spiral: Each rate increase reduces the mail volume, making another rate increase necessary, leading to still more volume declines.

Consider the following:

First Class Mail Stamps

24 percent increase since 2022; another 7.8 percent increase scheduled for July 14, 2024.

Periodical Mail (Paid Newspapers)

Periodical postage increase for July 2024 will be about 5-7 percent increase since January 2024.

EDDM (Free Newspapers)

11 percent increase for community newspapers; the rate increase means newspapers are paying about 33 percent more for postage than three years ago.

Many newspapers rely on the mail to deliver local news to big, medium-sized and small communities alike. We depend on the Post Office and need it to succeed, but not at the cost of our ability to continue serving our readers.

For easy reference, following is contact information for your Senate and Congressional representatives, as well as State Senate and Assembly members. Please call them or leave a message on their constituent website. Ask them to put an immediate stop to postal rate increases that affect all of us. This action will help stabilize local news in your and our communities and preserve the stewardship that the print medium has had in helping our communities to stay strong, dynamic and filled with character.

Natural Connections: Woodcock Dating Game

BY EMILY M. STONE

Dusk was deepening in the alder brush of the Bibon Swamp as we tiptoed down the gravel road. Robins yakked from the trees and spring peepers yelled from the water much louder than our feet, but still we kept our breath and movement and thoughts as quiet as possible so as not to miss it.

Peent.
I heard it first, since I knew what to expect. I pointed eagerly toward a featureless place in the bushes. Peent. The brand-new birder with me strained to pick that one sound out of the thicket. Peent. We waited; breaths held. Peent. We wanted more.

At the next grassy opening along the road, we heard another peent. We paused, peering into the place where grasses met alders. Twittering sounds burst from the grass, and a flappy little flier rose in a broad spiral, soon clearing the treetops and circling up toward the crescent moon. Fatter than a robin, smaller than a grouse, the winged shape twittered ever higher into the navy blue. About 200 feet up, the twittering became sweet chirping, and the American woodcock sideslipped down like a falling leaf. Peent. Back on his dancing ground, the male began his courtship display again. Peent. My friend and I turned to each other, grinning.

Woodcocks are funny looking birds with a fascinating spring display.

Nature has invented some pretty interesting courtship behavior over the eons, and American woodcocks are a lovely example. Somewhere in the bushes, a female woodcock pretends not to watch the male's strenuous antics. If he passes muster, she will let him approach her, bobbing with his wings raised, to seal the deal. That's it, though. She goes off to build a nest and he keeps displaying.

Over a decade ago, in Maine, I spent another evening surrounded by woodcocks. The blueberry bald reminded me of Friar Tuck's iconic haircut. Low shrubs and lichen-covered rocks dotted the top of the hill, with a shaggy forest forming a circle around the crown. As dusk fell, woodcocks peented and twittered and chirped in ethereal surround sound, as if in my own private Omnitheater. Private, except for an acquaintance who was not a birder. He stood by – bored – while I slowly spun in circles, high on the wonderment of nature.

Fast forward a couple years to my closest encounter with a woodcock. His peent buzzed right through the thin nylon of my tent wall. When I sat up in my sleeping bag to look out of the mosquito netting, his funny shape was just a few feet away, strutting on the packed dirt of the campground. I could see the silhouette of the woodcock's three-inch-long bill open with each peent. Absolutely thrilled, I poked my tent mate so that he wouldn't miss this cool experience. Grumbling about the noise, he pulled his sleeping bag up over his ears.

Like people, woodcocks' peculiarities are what make them fun to get to know. For example, they have some great nicknames: timberdoodle, Labrador twister, and bog sucker top the list. And their oddly fantastic attributes don't stop there. Sure, having big eyes on the top of a pointy head looks like a badly drawn cartoon, but that gives woodcocks the ability to see danger in any direction. Probing the mud for food with a super long bill doesn't seem like elegant dining, except that using their flexible, sensitive bill tip, woodcocks can both perceive a worm and grab it, all underground.

Woodcocks can even dance! Stepping one foot forward, they'll bob their body rhythmically while their head stays eerily still, then take a step and bob again. TikTok has discovered all the pop music with just the right beat to match the woodcock's moves. Scientists aren't sure why wood-cocks do this funny walk, but stirring up earthworms for easier feeding is one hypothesis.

Food wasn't their priority under the crescent moon last week. The peents came from both sides of the gravel road. The beginner birder and I listened to a particularly loud male call for a few minutes, and when he took to the air, we stumbled forward over grassy hummocks to get closer to where we'd thought he'd been. When his twitters turned to chirps, we crouched low and tried to become invisible. Peent. No luck, he'd landed behind us.

It didn't matter. Grinning in the darkness, we talked about all the amazing events of the evening on our way back to the car. I'm not sure what traits woodcocks are looking for in a partner, but I want to hang out with someone who goes looking for woodcocks!
