Love's foundation, Better Days Mentoring partner on coat drive

BY KRIS LEONHARDT
 EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

GREEN BAY – Green Bay Packers Quarterback Jordan Love's foundation, Hands of 10ve, and Better Days Mentoring partnered for the mentoring program's fifth annual coat drive, held Nov. 12.

Better Days Mentoring Owner Eddie Boyce said this year the two organizations bought 1,100 coats — 400 more than last year.

By late morning, just 150 coats remained.

"You probably had close to 90 cars parked up and down (the street) and then you have close to 150 people that were just lined up," Boyce said of the turnout, even before Love and backup quarterback Malik Willis were both onsite to help hand out coats.

"Not everybody has a car, so you had people standing out here with children who have never had a coat," Boyce added.

Better Days Mentoring offers one-on-one individualized mentoring and other services to help individuals reach their full potential.

The organization has worked throughout Brown County for about a decade.

"Wherever the need is at, we are usually there for it," Boyce said.

"Periodically, we would talk, even throughout the season now, about the needs," Boyce explained. "Like, 'hey, what are you seeing?' He's like 'I just want to give back.' I was like, 'We'll host a coat drive, because the community will come.' "It's grown a lot bigger, especially with his help to reach more people."

The coat drive fits right in Love's foundation's mission "to inspire and empower children from all backgrounds to engage in sports, promoting physical and

Digital passport renewal now available

BY CAROLINE VAN SISTINE
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

GREEN BAY – The U.S. Department of State has recently launched an online passport renewal Program, making it easier for eligible Americans to renew their passports without the delays and hassle of the traditional system.

This service, expected to benefit around five million travelers each year, comes as a timely solution with the looming Real ID deadline of May 7, 2025.

Business Relationship Director for Vacation Sales at Fox World Travel Rose Gray highlighted the program’s significant convenience allowing applicants to complete the entire process online, from filling out their application to submitting a digital photo and paying the fee with a credit or debit card.

Applicants no longer need to visit a passport agency in person or send paper forms by mail, making the renewal process more accessible and efficient.

By removing the paper application process, “the Department of State is embracing digital transformation to offer the most efficient and convenient passport renewal experience possible,” Secretary of State Antony Blinken said in a recent statement.

While the processing times are currently the same for online and mail-in renewals at six to eight weeks, “We, at Fox World Travel, are currently hearing reports that online passport renewals are not taking that long; however, that is the ‘official’ processing time listed on the Department of State website” Gray stated.

The Department of State has bolstered its workforce by 12% to address the “historically high demand for passports” and continues to “recruit from a pool of hundreds of potential employees to manage the anticipated surge in new and renewal passport applications,” according to Gray.

While renewing a passport online incurs the same cost as mail-in renewals, this process saves applicants the expense of sending their documents through trackable mail services, offering a small cost benefit to users.

Ultimately, this streamlined online program is aimed to “address the severe backlog and reduce wait times, which had reached up to thirteen weeks,” explained Gray.

The online program hopes to bring substantial efficiency to the state department’s passport services, paving the way for faster, more accessible travel preparations for millions of Americans.

Eligibility requirements for the online renewal program are specific.

Applicants must be at least 25 years old and must be renewing a 10-year passport issued between 2009 and 2015 — with the passport having been issued more than nine but fewer than 15 years ago.

Additionally, the passport must be undamaged and applicants should not need to update their name, gender, date of birth or place of birth.

Catholic Woman's Club: Pioneers in community giving

BY KRIS LEONHARDT

In 1954, the Catholic Woman's Club (CWC) introduced the Cabrini book study club, held at the Allouez Community House and scheduled around breakfast.

Cabrini later joined with Avila to offer joint breakfast programs at St. Norbert College.

A couple of years later, a garden club was added, named the St. Fiacre Garden Club in recognition of a 13th-century Irish monk who is noted as the patron saint of gardeners.

The group assisted the wildlife sanctuary and Heritage Hill, along with other charitable works.

In May 1964, the club said goodbye to their long-time clubhouse after the Green Bay Press-Gazette purchased it.

The newspaper razed the 63-year-old building to expand their facilities on Walnut Street.

The club used a portion of the proceeds to fund the Newman Center at 338 Hartung Street.

The center was to be used as a resource for Catholic students at UW-Green Bay and as facilities for club activities.

In 1975, the CWC marked its 75th year, still honoring its commitment to social and philanthropic work in the community.

In 1981, the Newman Center moved to the new UW-Green Bay campus and the club sold the building to Green Bay Day Nursery.

Meetings then moved to the St. John the Evangelist Church, where they remain today.

In 1999, the CWC kicked off a year-long centennial celebration by presenting a $100,000 check to the Catholic Foundation of the Diocese of Green Bay.

The theme for the 100th year was "Pioneers in Community Giving" — reflecting the vision of its original members who filled roles later conducted by social services and other organizations.

"Whether people realize it or not, Catholic Woman's Club paved the way in lay leadership with trend-setting responses to community and social needs. As a result, Catholic Woman's Club has made a mark in the diocese and in Northeast Wisconsin," CWC President Rosemary Hinkfuss said during the celebration.

mental well-being"

"I think it's always been important to me, my family, kind of the way I was raised — to try and help give back," Love said. "I think my parents were very giving people, always trying to help out, especially in the community. So, I think it's always kind of been there, been how I was raised. It's one of those things where I have the opportunity. I've met the right people and the opportunity is there to give back."

Boyce said that with the need increasing, adjustments will be made to match the need.

"Next year, we'll be back at it. I think we've got a gauge — I think we are going to need a lot more," Boyce added.

GBAPS board votes to offer Bayer superintendent contract

BY KRIS LEONHARDT
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

GREEN BAY – During a Nov. 11 special meeting, the Green Bay Area Public Schools (GBAPS) Board of Education unanimously voted to offer GBAPS Interim Superintendent Vicki Bayer a contract for the superintendent position for the 2025-26 school year.

GBAPS President Laura McCoy said that it was a procedural vote to open up negotiation/discussions.

“It’s just a first step. After this vote tonight, we will have our outside counsel enter into negotiations, if indeed any are needed at all, but then we will come back as a board once we’ve seen a new contract and agree on a new contract, come back and vote on it in our next school board meeting to finalize it,” she explained.

GBAPS Vice President James Lyerly said he was proud to offer the contract to Bayer.

Adding that “twice in the last several years this district has had a vacancy in leadership, and in lieu of reaching out and finding someone to steward the district for a year or so, Vicki has taken it upon herself twice now to step up and perform duties that far exceed what we would have expected for someone coming in to execute some sort of contract for a year. So, I appreciate the board acting in this matter and look forward to the negotiations,” he said.

“The Board of Education has been incredibly fortunate to have a strong leader in Vicki Bayer who has led the district as interim superintendent through the return to in-person learning during the pandemic, a significant budget deficit, boundary changes and school consolidations, and two referendums,” McCoy stated in a district press release.

“The board is grateful to Ms. Bayer for her willingness to serve as superintendent for an additional year, while the Board of Education and District administration complete important ongoing efforts.”

The release also stated that “extending the superintendent contract to Vicki Bayer for the 2025-26 school year provides stability for the district as it completes transformative work for a brighter future” adding that the following items were scheduled to be addressed:

- Development of a strategic plan, which will provide a roadmap and measurable goals for the District for the next three to five years.
- Professional development to support implementation of a new curriculum.
- Completion of the 2022 and 2024 referendum projects to provide engaging and appropriate learning spaces for students.
- Finalizing school consolidations.

The board will vote on a 2025-26 superintendent contract at the Nov. 25 board meeting.

In the fall of 2025, the board will start the process of hiring a successor.

GBAPS Board member Kou Lee was absent for the vote.

Howard Village Board approves 2025 budget

BY KRIS LEONHARDT
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

HOWARD – During its Nov. 11 meeting, the Howard Village Board unanimously approved its budget for the 2025 year.

Through the approved budget, the total levy increased $335,131 from last year — a 4.03% change.

“We are proposing a 16 cent tax increase, which would have about a $47 increase on the average home, which is valued at about $294,000,” explained Howard Executive Director of Administrative Services Chris Haltom.

“Included in the proposal are adding to fire rescue employees. Also, we have a rather large increase for the county sheriff contract, and we have our cost of living increases for employee wages and some increases on the benefits. Actually, the benefit increases are some of the lowest we’ve had for quite a while, since a lot of times health insurance is much higher than 90%.”

Haltom showed the board some comparisons with other municipalities around the state that are similar in size.

“Some are smaller, some are larger population-wise. And the only one on this list that is lower than the village of Howard is Mequon. Now this is comparing last year’s tax rates, because we don’t have all this year’s information yet, and that one is, I think it’s a fairly wealthy community, so I’m sure that they pay a pretty good share at that rate, even with the properties that they have,” Haltom explained.

“We do have seven Tax Incremental Financing (TIF) districts in the village that are currently active, and in 2025 we are scheduling some of those to make some equipment purchases. Right now, those TIFs have outstanding debt of about $26 million which they are paying for.

“We have five other capital project funds primarily set up for equipment replacement, but also our Capital Improvement Fund uses money for road resurfacing, reconstruction, bridge replacement. The primary source of funding in these funds is property taxes, but the Capital Improvement Fund does have another large source, which is our state road aids.”

A public hearing was held earlier that evening, with no one coming forward to speak.

The next meeting is scheduled for Monday, Nov. 25, at 6:30 p.m. at Howard Village Hall Board Room, 2456 Glendale Ave., Howard.

Packers seek 27th FAN Hall of Fame honoree

FOR THE PRESS TIMES

GREEN BAY – The annual search for the next honoree for the Packers FAN Hall of Fame has begun.

Fans are asked to nominate themselves, a relative or friend for the honor of being the 27th member of the Packers FAN Hall of Fame with an essay of 500 words or less, describing the merits of the nominee. Each nomination should be accompanied by a photo.

The nomination period will remain open until Saturday, Nov. 30.

The first professional football team to have a hall of fame, the Green Bay Packers enhanced that distinction in 1998 by establishing a Packers FAN Hall of Fame. It was founded for the purpose of annually honoring a devout and longtime Packers fan.

The 10 finalists who best represent the spirit of the Packers will be chosen in December by the Packers FAN Hall of Fame selection committee.

The final round of voting will be from Jan. 1 through Jan. 31.

During the voting process, Packers fans will be asked to vote for one of the 10 finalists, whose stories will be profiled on packers.com.

The winner will be selected by Packers fans and the Packers' selection committee.

The nominating and voting process will take place entirely online through the Packers website at www.packers.com/FHOF.

Fans without internet access can mail their nomination essays, along with their contact information, to the Packers' Milwaukee office address: Green Bay Packers FAN Hall of Fame, 330 E. Kilbourn Ave., Suite 1455, Milwaukee, WI 53202.

For those mailing applications, a copy of the original photo should be submitted in case of damage or loss.

The honoree's selection will be announced in late February.

They will receive four club seats to a 2025 Packers home game, along with four pre-game sideline passes; four passes to the Packers Hall of Fame; custom Packers jersey; a $500 Packers Pro Shop gift certificate; and a one-year subscription to PackersNews.com.

The honoree also will have his or her name added to the list of FAN Hall of Fame honorees recognized in the Packers Hall of Fame.

PROHIBITION

is about 13 standard drinks per week," an article from Boston University stated.

The societal problems which resulted from alcohol consumption became a concern for those involved in the temperance movement, as well as religious clergy.

However, prohibition did not stop alcohol consumption around the state completely, and in particularly, places such as Green Bay.

From 1920 to 1933, Prohibition gave way to bootlegging — illegal production of liquor — and speakeasies — illegal drinking establishments.

Wisconsin breweries began to make "near beer" while others produced soda, ice cream and cheese, to stay afloat during those 13 years.

In February 1920, Green Bay had over 125 bars, and many of them converted to soda shops and continued selling illegally obtained alcohol.

When that supply ran dry, moonshine stills and home brew produced the needed product to keep the "soda shops" supplied.

Newspapers all over the state are peppered with details of raids; however, with the bootlegged being so lucrative and no loss to the bootlegger's reputation, their sales went uninhibited.

That coupled with a coordinated warning system

The nearby town of Preble also offered many roadhouses and houses of ill repute for travelers' entertainment.

C.M. Foote and W.S. Brown, surveyors and draughtsmen map in Brown County, gave the greater Green Bay community an upper hand in thwarting the raids.

A large raid in the fall of 1928, however, led to the arrest of 100 individuals and the closing of over 50 establishments.

"On the night of Oct. 17, 1928, the council passed a resolution that pretty well reflected the sentiment of the community but also gave the city nationwide publicity," Green Bay Historian Jack Rudolph wrote in a January 1969 Press Gazette article.

"The resolution, an involved sentence in itself, protested the [closure of the establishments] on several grounds, among them that it would be detrimental to the city's tax base, would interfere with business, and anyway prohibition was unpopular to begin with. Furthermore, the resolution said, the police knew where all the sports were and could control them, but now everything would go underground."

The council expunged the resolution from record at the following meeting, but it remained easy to get alcohol and beer in the city through a mix of longtime storefront establishments and well-concealed "speakeasies."

"Football historians have written — and there's certainly evidence to suggest — that Green Bay's blatant disregard of the Volstad Act, which allowed for the enforcement of the 18th Amendment, played a part in the Packers' survival," Cliff Christl wrote in Volume I of The Greatest Story in Sports. "Maybe even a big part."

The nearby town of Preble also offered many roadhouses and houses of ill repute for travelers' entertainment.

In 1926, Wisconsin voters approved a referendum amending the Volsted Act, allowing the manufacture and sale of beer with 2.75% alcohol.

In March 1929, ads ran in the Green Bay Press-Gazette asking Green Bay to vote "yes" to a referendum on the April 2 ballot asking "Shall the state Prohibition Enforcement Act, generally known as the Severson Act, be repealed?"

The ad argued that state prohibition laws meant "easy days for real criminals."

"Our Wisconsin police, if kept busy chasing bootleggers and raiding speakeasies, have no time to spend on murderers and burglars," the ad, paid by the Wisconsin Division Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, stated.

Voters in the city of Green Bay voted "yes" to repeal the law 3 to 1, in Brown County 4 to 1 and statewide 2 to 1.

In 1929, Wisconsin's prohibition enforcement law was repealed.

In December 1932, Wisconsin U.S. Sen. John J. Blaine proposed a constitutional amendment for the national repeal of prohibition.

Prohibition ended with ratifying of the 21st Amendment on Dec. 5, 1933.

Seller confesses misrepresentation five days before closing

Dear Monty

BY RICHARD MONTGOMERY
SYNDICATED COLUMNIST

DEAR MONTY

It is five days before closing.

The seller notified us today that they are having problems with the city, and the three units we are buying are legally only two.

We don't want to rent an illegal unit and can't rent that unit without having a legal permit.

On top of it, a cousin of theirs living in this third illicit unit doesn't want to leave by our closing date.

I feel discouraged because my agent keeps acting like our hands are tied, and without a legal third unit, we overpaid by about 20%.

And we have already paid $16,000 in earnest money.

Can we get that all back? Can we back out of this deal?

Can we seriously renegotiate? Any advice is welcome.

Monty's answer

This is undoubtedly challenging and stressful, but you have choices.

Let's break down the issues and potential options:

Legal status of the property

The discrepancy between the advertised 3-unit property and the legally recognized two-unit status is a significant material change. This alteration fundamentally affects the property's value and your intended use. In most jurisdictions, sellers must disclose such material facts, and failure to do so can be grounds for terminating the contract or renegotiating terms.

Earnest money

Given that the seller failed to disclose a material fact about the property timely, you likely have grounds to terminate the contract and recover your earnest money. Review your purchase agreement carefully, as it should outline conditions for the return of earnest money. Most contracts include contingencies that protect buyers in situations like this.

Options moving forward

Terminate the contract

You have substantial grounds to back out of the deal due to the material misrepresentation of the property. Consult with a real estate attorney before the scheduled closing to determine if you can terminate the agreement and recover your earnest money.

Renegotiate

You are in a solid position to renegotiate the price significantly. The loss of rental income from the third unit and the potential costs to legalize it (if possible) justify a substantial price reduction. Consider asking for a reduction that brings you the same return as the three units.

Fix the issue

You could propose that the seller resolve the zoning issues and legalize the third unit before closing. You can also determine the costs and time value of money, deduct them from the current price, and complete the required work to make the unit legal.

Dealing with the current occupant

The presence of the seller's cousin in the illegal unit adds another layer of complexity. If you proceed with the purchase, ensure the property is delivered vacant unless you explicitly agree otherwise. The seller should be financially responsible to ensure the cousin is out as agreed.

Your agent's response is concerning

They should advocate for your interests, and without their side of the story, it sounds like they are attempting to squeeze you into a closing. Skip the agent and go directly to the agent's broker.

You have leverage in this situation due to the seller's failure to disclose material information. Refrain from closing when the property no longer meets your needs.

Sellers might close at a lower price now, realizing it is unknown when a future buyer appears and may offer even less if you walk away.

Christkindlmarket returns to Broadway District

GERMAN-STYLE HOLIDAY STREET MARKET KICKS OFF THIS WEEKEND

By Janelle Fisher
City Pages Editor

This Friday, Nov. 15, Christkindlmarket on Broadway will return to Green Bay's Red Sculpture Park for its third year offering traditional German-style holiday street marketing programming, complete with unique gifts, festive food and beverages.

Those who have attended previous Christkindlmarkets can look forward to their favorite features returning to this year's line-up.

"Some of the crowd favorites are certainly returning for year three and include Santa and his reindeer, carolers, the Giving Tree that allows people to select an ornament and then purchase items for local nonprofits, Cocoa for a Cause, traditional German food options, the decorated truck for photo ops courtesy of Redfish (a Broadway District business) and the Cozy Igloos," said Mary Rhode, vice president of marketing and communications at On Broadway, Inc. "My absolute favorite part of this event is just the atmosphere. There is something special about the Broadway District this time of year, decorated for the holidays. You add the Christkindlmarket on Broadway to that, and it really creates a festive setting and ambience that brings out the holiday spirit in people of all ages."

"We always look to add new things to our events, especially when they are newer," Rhode said. "The Christkindlmarket on Broadway has been such a success in its first few years and for its third year, we're continuing to improve on it."

New for this year, attendees can expect to see some changes, including earlier start times on Fridays and Saturdays, added programming and workshops, more Cozy Igloos available for rent, additional food and beverage options and a Polar ▲ Festive programming for this year's Christkindlmarket season includes s'mores making with the Oddfellows Association.

▲ Cozy Igloos will be available for rental throughout the Christkindlmarket on Broadway season.

Bear Hunt throughout the Broadway District.

"Nine polar bears are loose in the Broadway District," Rhode said. "Help us find them by searching the window displays of the local businesses."

A free map can be turned in at the event for a prize. All participants in the Polar Bear Hunt will be entered into a drawing after the final Christkindlmarket to win one of the polar bears."

This year's market series spans 12 dates between Nov. 15 and Dec. 23, starting this Friday with the Tree Lighting Ceremony.

The Christkindlmarket on Broadway will run collaboratively with other On Broadway events, including the Winter Wine and Beer Walks and Small Business Saturday, all with the goal of getting people shopping in the Broadway District.

"The Christkindlmarket on Broadway is a destination for locals and visitors during the holiday season," said Allie Thut, chief operating officer for On Broadway, Inc. "Our team continues to add more experiences, programming and holiday fun while also promoting shopping small and supporting local this holiday season. This event offers a bountiful selection of unique gift items crafted right here in our community. It is always a magical experience that brings thousands of people to the Broadway District each holiday season."

A total of 22 vendors are lined up to participate in this year's Christkindlmarket series, with six of them — East Twin Arts, Door County Wildflower Candles, Stella Blu Bohemian Boutique, Jedi Woods LLC, WG Woodcraft and Silver Nest Studio Textiles — signed up for every event.

For attendees looking to support the community beyond just shopping local, the Giving Tree will return this year.

Each ornament on the Giving Tree features a local nonprofit organization for participants to gift this holiday season, including Howe Community Resource Center, Lucky 7 Dog Rescue, Community

Paws of Wisconsin and NEW Community Shelter.

Items can be delivered unwrapped at the Giving Tree at any Christkindlmarket event.

This year's market lineup also includes a variety of themes and special programming.

Friday, Nov. 15, will feature the tree lighting ceremony and photos with Santa and his reindeer along with a variety of festive activities.

Saturday, Nov. 16, is German Day at the Christkindlmarket, featuring The New Glarus Alphorns, an appearance by Christ Kind and activities hosted by the UW-Green Bay German Club.

On Friday, Nov. 22, attendees are encouraged to bring their furry friends out for Canine Christmas at the Christkindlmarket with opportunities for photos with Santa and a variety of pet-specific products available for purchase.

The Nov. 29 and 30 Christkindlmarket events will coincide with Shop Local Weekend, providing an opportunity for attendees to support over 20 small businesses.

At the Dec. 13 and 14 events, Christmas villains such as Krampus, the Grinch and Scrooge will make appearances.

Friday, Dec. 20 is movie night, featuring a screening of The Happy Elf.

The final Christkindlmarket of the season on Saturday, Dec. 21, will have a North Pole theme with carriage rides around the Broadway District and a chance to meet Santa and his reindeer.

Opening weekend weather key to a solid hunt

In the Outdoors

BY KEVIN NAZE
GUEST COLUMNIST

It's more than a week away as this column's being written, but opening weekend of the nine-day gun deer hunt looks like it could be cool, windy and possibly wet.

If the rain expected next week trickles into opening day, that might impact both deer movement and hunting pressure.

Whitetails — especially bucks that have been pursuing does for weeks — will already be less active than they were during the pre-rut and rut.

That's not to say deer will be invisible.

Many hunters will have opportunities. In fact, it's likely that close to 100,000 whitetails will be taken the first few days of the gun season, more than doubling what's been registered the first two months this fall.

Through Nov. 4, the state bow and crossbow kill was down about 10%, surprising to many after back-to-back mild winters and reduced antlerless harvest in recent years.

A total of 62,842 whitetails (36,301 bucks) were registered between Sept. 14 and Nov. 4.

That compares to 70,027 between Sept. 16 and Nov. 6 last year (41,000-plus bucks).

Area county totals included Marinette, 1,776; Oconto, 1,564; Manitowoc, 796; Brown, 731; Door, 682; and Kewaunee 512.

Crossbow harvests are far outpacing vertical bow kills.

The disparity is especially pronounced in northern Wisconsin.

Through early November, Marinette had 1,184 deer with crossbows vs. 360 with bow.

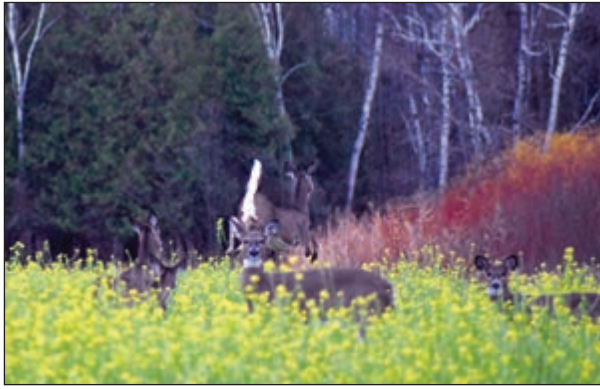

Oconto had 950 with crossbow and 405 with bow.

Pritzl weighs in

Department of Natural Resources Deer Program Specialist Jeff Pritzl said an unseasonably warm fall may have reduced hunter effort early on. He's also hearing that many hunters are getting choosier about what they're willing to shoot.

By weapon type, the crossbow kill dropped from 37,027 in 2023 to 33,355; the archery harvest from 25,143 to 21,753; and the youth hunt from 7,857 to 7,309.

The totals don't include tribal harvest, ag damage or car-killed deer.

Hunters scouting for the gun deer season have likely seen evidence of a very large crop of fawns this year. Tags for antlerless whitetails are specific to counties, and public or private land. Kevin Naze photo

The first eight weeks saw 19,840 bucks taken with crossbows, 12,484 with bows and 3,789 by youth gun hunters.

The remaining difference in both the bucks and overall count is likely whitetails registered during the disabled firearm hunt.

Last year's gun deer season kill was down more than 17 percent, a big surprise since it was the earliest possible opening day (Nov. 17) under the current format.

This year's opener, Nov. 23, is the latest possible.

While the corn harvest is ahead of schedule and access good due to a drought earlier this fall, Pritzl said history has shown that late openers suppress the kill due to reduced deer movement.

With that in mind, he encouraged hunters looking for venison to take advantage of good shooting opportunities when they see deer moving during daylight.

"There's no question that gun hunters have become more dependent on natural deer movement due to the way (most hunters) hunt them," Pritzl said. "Our research of collared deer shows that, in general, daytime movement declines as you move past the middle of November."

That's not to say there couldn't be solid sightings at a local level, he said, especially if more fawns (or does not bred earlier this month) come into estrous later this month.

Of the 62,000-plus deer reported through Nov. 4, the Central Farmland Zone produced 38,352. Marathon County had a state-leading 2,467 registrations, Clark 2,348, Waupaca 2,205, and Shawano 2,001. Marinette was fifth at 1,776 (1,252 in farmland, 524 in the Northern Forest Zone), Waushara sixth at 1,712 and Polk seventh at 1,634. Marquette and Dunn counties each had 1,582, and Oconto rounded out the top 10 with 1,564 (1,383 farmland, 181 northern forest).

Donate a deer

Hunters can share their harvest to help feed those with food insecurity issues.

That could mean giving directly to a neighbor, friend or family member in need, or participating in the state's deer donation program.

Since 2000, Wisconsin hunters have donated nearly 100,000 deer totaling close to four million pounds of ground venison.

Learn how you can participate at <https://dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/hunt/donation.html>.

Deer must be field-dressed and registered (bring the confirmation number) before dropping off. You have to donate the entire carcass, though you can make arrangements to get the head, cape and antlers back.

In addition, anyone can support the program by donating a dollar or more at hunting license sales locations or online via the DNR's Go Wild website.

Weekly Fishing Report

brought to you by Smokey's on the Bay bait and tackle

Stable water temperatures bring slight upswing

Somewhat stable water temperatures on Green Bay should have walleye activity on a slight upswing for those looking to venture out.

University Bay has continued to hold dirty water, limiting the walleye activity.

A few angles that have been out trolling cranks report very limited catches.

The night bite around the Oconto and Door County shorelines has both seen an increase in activity.

Anglers trolling stick baits, like Perfect 10s and Berkley Hit Sticks and Rapala Husky Jerks, are all reporting some decent nighttime catches when the wind allows.

The Fox River has seen an increase in current due to the recent rains in the area and some gates being open both at the dam in De Pere and up river to the Winnebago system.

The increase in flow has certainly drawn lots of shad upriver to begin their spawning activities.

This increase in flow has also drawn in more walleye to chase those shad.

The more turbulent water has continued to keep the Fox water clarity very low.

Anglers jigging areas along the channel edges and current breaks have seen some catches.

Both hair jigs and jig/plastic combinations have worked along with jig/minnow combinations.

Casting crank baits up at the dam in De Pere has also seen an increase in catches.

Anglers working around in the current seams casting Flicker shads in No. 5 and No. 7, along with Berkley Hit Sticks, have had fair success.

Musky report finding fish scattered from near the mouth of the Fox all the way to the dam with the increase of shad upriver.

Most anglers seem to prefer trolling tactics vs casting.

Most anglers are reporting 0-3 fish boated per trip.

Shore fishing at Metro is producing some nice walleye, northern pike and musky.

If you go, please be safe, and take a kid fishing.

One Community Fund awards first $150,000 to address community needs

GREEN BAY — The Greater Green Bay Community Foundation has committed an initial $150,000 in grants from the newly launched "One Community Fund," aimed at addressing critical community challenges.

These early grants will support programs focused on youth mental health and childcare — both critical needs the foundation has identified alongside housing, diversity and equity and poverty and financial stability.

A commitment of $50,000 will support the School-Based Mental Health Initiative, a partnership between Bellin and Prevea health systems, all eight Brown County school districts and a number of nonprofits including Foundations Health and Wholeness, Family Services of Northeast Wisconsin and Innovative Counseling.

Over eight years, the initiative has grown to provide thousands of therapy sessions to children and teens and expanded to 37 school clinic sites.

With funding set to expire in 2025, the One Community Fund grant will allow the partners to evaluate and create a sustainable plan for its future.

"The One Community Fund is another strong example of how the Foundation is able to work closely with donors and local leaders to meet evolving needs across our community," said Dennis Buehler, President and CEO of the Greater Green Bay Community Foundation.

A $100,000 commitment over three years will support the YWCA, Family and Childcare Resources of N.E.W. and COMSA, a resource center serving refugees and immigrants, in launching a unique childcare center in Green Bay.

This center will increase critically needed childcare slots and provide culturally centered childcare for Somali children and families, enabling Somali parents to fully participate in the workforce.

"These initiatives have layers of solutions to intersecting issues, including mental health, childcare, equity, and financial stability," said Amber Paluch, senior vice president of community impact. "Organizations are coming together and using their individual strengths to collaboratively tackle some of the most pressing issues in our community in an innovative way. And this sets the stage for learnings and growth that can continue to build on that impact."

Reflecting on Our Blessings This Thanksgiving

Dear Reader,

As Thanksgiving Day approaches, we are reminded of the many blessings we enjoy as individuals and as a nation. This is a special time of year when we gather with family and friends, sharing a meal and reflecting on all for which we have to be thankful.

When you think about it, our country is the greatest in the world, built on the foundations laid by our forefathers and strengthened by each generation, including our own. We have much to celebrate and even more to protect and cherish.

Take a moment to think about the family you have and the family from whence you came. The love and support that surround us during this season are invaluable. Our families are our anchors, providing us with strength and comfort through the highs and lows of life.

Consider, too, the opportunities we have in our work and careers. With unemployment at a low rate, many of us are fortunate to have jobs, and for those seeking employment, opportunities are still out there. It's a time to appreciate the security and stability that employment brings, enabling us to provide for ourselves and our loved ones.

This generation has contributed to our nation's ongoing greatness, each of us playing a part in shaping our community and our country. As we look to the next generation, we see incredible potential—a future filled with hope, innovation, and progress. It is our responsibility to nurture this potential, ensuring that the blessings we enjoy today will be passed on to those who follow.

So, as you gather with your loved ones this Thanksgiving, take a moment to reflect on the abundance in your life. Share your blessings with those around you and offer a prayer of thanks for the goodness we experience daily. In a world that often moves too fast, let this day be a time to slow down, appreciate the present, and give thanks for all that we have been given.

State law requires drivers to brake for roadside workers

FROM THE WISCONSIN DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Roadside workers depend on drivers to keep them safe. Wisconsin's Move Over Law requires drivers to provide a safety zone for law enforcement, emergency responders and maintenance vehicles stopped alongside the road with their emergency lights on.

The Wisconsin State Patrol's November Law of the Month reminds drivers of their responsibility to protect those who work on the side of the road.

"The Move Over Law is one of the best protections our law enforcement officers, emergency responders, and road maintenance workers have to keep them safe on the job," Wisconsin State Patrol Superintendent Tim Carnahan said. "Stepping out onto the side of the road is one of the most dangerous parts of our job, and we have seen our own officers injured and killed in these preventable crashes. Drivers need to pay attention. Lives are at risk."

Over the past five years, 60 emergency responders were struck and injured by a vehicle while working on the side of the road in Wisconsin.

Nationwide, 32 emergency responders were struck and killed by a vehicle while working on the side of the road in 2023.

Move over or slow down, it's the law

When there are two or more travel lanes in the same direction, Wisconsin's Move Over law (346.072) requires drivers to move out of the lane closest to stopped law enforcement vehicles, ambulances, fire trucks, tow trucks, utility or highway maintenance vehicles that have their warning lights activated.

If unable to move over, or along single lane roadways, vehicle operators must slow down. Violations can result in a citation of $263.

If the violation results in a crash or injuries, the penalties can be much more severe.

Wisconsin further enhanced protections for emergency responders in December 2021 when Act 115 was signed into law.

The law creates an emergency response area within 500 feet of an authorized emergency vehicle with lights on.

Handheld cell phone use is banned and penalties for certain violations double in the emergency areas.

Attentive driving prevents secondary crashes

Crash scenes can turn dangerous quickly for law enforcement, emergency responders and highway maintenance workers.

Secondary crashes happen when other drivers are not paying attention to the scene or backups and cause another crash.

In 2023, there were 760 secondary crashes in Wisconsin causing three deaths and 385 injuries.

Many of those crashes could have been prevented if drivers had slowed down and stayed alert around crash response scenes.

Crash Responder Safety Week

Crash Responder Safety Week, Nov. 18-22, is a nationwide effort to call attention to the risks first responders face on duty.

Responders train to manage and clear roadside incidents with a focus on safety, but drivers play a critical role in keeping workers safe.

Drivers should always scan the road ahead carefully for potential traffic problems or incidents, including stopped emergency responders.

Wisconsin State Patrol remembers officers killed on duty

Wisconsin State Patrol officers will always remember two of their own who died in incidents that could have been prevented by a driver moving over.

A passing vehicle hit and killed Trooper Deborah McMenamin while she was walking back to her squad car during a traffic stop in 1989.

Trooper William Schoenberger died in 1993 after a semi hit his patrol vehicle while he was parked on the shoulder protecting the scene of a car fire.

If you smell gas, move fast to a safe area

FROM ALLIANT ENERGY

With the arrival of cooler weather, Alliant Energy encourages customers to be safe around natural gas.

"Safety is our top priority," said Adam Marxen, manager of gas integrity and standards for Alliant Energy. "As customers begin to turn on their furnaces to stay warm as temperatures drop, there are some precautions they can take to keep their families and communities safe."

Alliant Energy offers the following tips:

Know the signs of a gas leak and what to do

Signs include an odor like rotten eggs; a hiss, roar or whistle near a gas appliance, meter or pipeline; or blowing dirt, bubbling water or discolored vegetation in an otherwise green area. Leave the premises immediately. From a safe location, call 911.

Symptoms such as dizziness, shortness of breath, headaches, confusion, nausea and fainting can also be signs a furnace or gas appliance has malfunctioned and exposed you to natural gas or carbon monoxide.

Leave the premises immediately. From a safe location, call 911.

Install carbon monoxide and natural gas detectors

Detectors help identify odorless threats like carbon monoxide and are especially important for those with a known loss of smell.

Additionally, certain soil conditions can strip the rotten egg odorant out of natural gas, making it more challenging to detect without proper equipment.

If your natural gas detector goes off, move quickly to a safe location and call your provider.

Prevent snow and ice from blocking gas vents

Once winter arrives, snow and ice can damage gas meters and pipes.

Use a broom to keep gas service equipment clear.

You must clear vents for gas appliances following a major snow or ice storm to enable proper venting and prevent carbon monoxide accumulation.

Dig safely

In addition to increased potential gas and carbon monoxide risks when the weather turns cooler, there's also an increased risk of gas pipeline damage as homeowners rush to finish yardwork.

Digging incidents are the most common cause of underground natural gas leaks.

If you plan to dig, including constructing a fire pit, visit call811.com at least three days ahead of time.

This will initiate a free process for utilities to locate and mark underground lines so you can dig safely.

Even minor damage to a gas pipeline such as nicks, scratches, cuts, scrapes, dents and gouges can result in pipeline failure or a major incident in the future if not properly assessed.

Call your provider if your digging equipment or tools contact underground pipelines.

Finally, never place a fire pit above a buried line.

If the fire gets too hot, it could cause the gas pipeline below to leak or melt.

"We urge customers to install natural gas and carbon monoxide detectors for greater security," Marxen said. "Customers should replace batteries regularly and get into a routine of practicing their emergency plans annually."

SANE program marks 20 years

This year, HSHS St. Vincent Hospital's Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner (SANE) program marks 20 years of dedicated service to victims of sexual assault in northeast Wisconsin. The HSHS St. Vincent Hospital SANE team consists of 17 specially trained sexual assault nurse examiners and registered nurses who care for sexual assault victims, collecting medical evidence and performing necessary examinations, and providing them options and resources for treatment. Working with local agencies including human services, law enforcement, the Sexual Assault Center and the district attorney's office, the HSHS St. Vincent Hospital's SANE team connects patients with multiple local advocacy groups available to sexual assault victims and their families. In many cases, these nurses are also called to testify in court as expert witnesses. HSHS photo

Lambeau Field offering nonprofit fundraising opportunities at Thanksgiving game

GREEN BAY – The Green Bay Packers and Delaware North are inviting nonprofit organizations to spend Thanksgiving at Lambeau Field with special opportunities available to volunteer at the Packers-Dolphins game.

Delaware North is seeking several additional nonprofit groups to enhance their roster of organizations involved in their concessions fundraising program.

The program allows volunteers the chance to work in Lambeau Field concession stands and keep a portion of the proceeds for their charity organization, plus 100% of their tips.

With the Nov. 28 game taking place on Thanksgiving night, volunteers can celebrate the holiday at home before arriving at the stadium at 2:20 p.m. for a 7:20 p.m. kickoff.

As the holiday season approaches, many charities are seeking additional ways to raise funds, and volunteering at Lambeau Field provides a fun opportunity to bring together a group of friends and family to spend Thanksgiving at the stadium while raising money to support their organization.

Volunteer groups of any size are welcome and training at the beginning of the shift will be provided.

Opportunities are limited, so interested volunteer groups should secure their spot as soon as possible by contacting Delaware North at greenbaynpo@delawarenorth.com or at (920) 965-3737.

Saving lives and feeding neighbors at The Community Blood Center's Season of Giving

GREEN BAY – Community members can make a double impact when they donate blood at The Community Blood Center's (CBC) third annual Season of Giving Blood Drive happening in Oshkosh, Appleton, Green Bay, Wausau and Chicago.

CBC is partnering with local food banks in each community to help provide meals to families in need this Thanksgiving.

For every presenting blood donor, CBC will make a monetary donation to the local food bank.

"We know how difficult the holidays, kicking off with Thanksgiving, can be for blood collection," said John Hagins, president and CEO of the Community Blood Center. "We also know that for some families in our communities, food insecurity is a significant issue. Season of Giving blood drive events allow us to work together with local organizations to try to help out with both of these challenges. Our hope is that, together, we can help save lives and feed our neighbors this Thanksgiving."

All presenting donors will receive a long-sleeved CBC t-shirt and breakfast or lunch and all-day coffee.

Healthy and eligible blood donors are encouraged to schedule a donation at their nearest Season of Giving location.

By donating blood ahead of the holidays, donors help ensure CBC has a stable blood supply going into this more challenging time for blood collection.

Community members are urged to invite their family and friends to join them in donating.

To schedule a donation at one of the Season of Giving locations or to learn more about Season of Giving, please visit communityblood.org/2024/10/season-of-giving/ or call (800) 280-4102.

Yes, I've played a number of other sports but wrestling has been my favorite.

How has balancing academics and athletics been different for you from your freshman year to your senior year?

Freshman year I was more focused on wrestling than classes, but throughout my high school career I've been able to find a balance of school life and wrestling.

What is your favorite part about wrestling? What about it has caused you to stick with it for this long?

I like that you can always keep getting better and jump levels as an individual. I also love meeting new people and making friends and making connections with people all over.

Is there a professional athlete you look up to? If so, whom and why?

I look up to Sarah Hildebrand. She is a 2024 Olympic gold medalist and 2020 bronze medalist for USA women's wrestling. I look up to her because she continues to keep making leaps in her wrestling career and pushes herself to get better everyday.

that historic state tournament happen.

How does it feel as a senior, to look back throughout high school and see your growth (as a person and athlete)?

It feels like time has moved so fast and I've grown so much as a person on and off the mat, so it's fun to look back at the differences from my freshman year to senior year.

I always braid my hair before any matches.

Do you take any extra steps to prepare for a big meet, outside of regular?

Green Knights legend to lead women's soccer program

BY SNC ATHLETICS FOR THE PRESS TIMES

DE PERE - Katie Guns has been named St. Norbert College head women's soccer coach, athletics director Cam Fuller announced.

A proven winner with St. Norbert in her blood, the former Katie Vanden Avond is one of the most decorated athletes in college history. The only female athlete in school history to have her jersey number retired, Guns has been an assistant coach with the Green Knights' women's soccer program since 2017. She will begin her full-time duties on Nov. 25.

"Katie embodies the four pillars of our department - academic success, athletic competitiveness, student-athlete experience and community building," Fuller said. "She distinguished herself from a talented pool of candidates and is the type of leader we seek. She has achieved so much as a student-athlete and her dedication to excellence will undoubtedly propel the success of our women's soccer program."

Guns, a 2015 St. Norbert graduate and a De Pere native, is the all-time NCAA Division III leader and is second in all NCAA divisions in career goals scored with 130. Her career point total of 281 is currently seventh in all divisions. Guns is one of two players in NCAA soccer history to have two seasons with at least 37 goals scored, including a school-record total of 39 in 2015.

"I am thrilled to be stepping into the head coaching role for women's soccer during a time when the team has so much momentum and potential," Guns said. "I would like to thank Bob Rickards for taking this program to the next level during his time as head coach and I look forward to building upon the existing culture. St. Norbert soccer is in my blood and I am eager to get started."

Guns led St. Norbert to some of its brightest moments on the soccer pitch, including its only NCAA Division III Tournament appearance in 2013. The Green Knights won Midwest Conference championships in 2011 and 2013, posting a 49-23-8 record during her four playing seasons.

Guns was selected a two-time All-America honoree by D3soccer.com and once by the National Soccer Coaches Association of America (currently United Soccer Coaches). She was also a two-time first-team Academic All-America honoree by CoSIDA (currently College Sports Communicators). Guns was also a three-time Midwest Conference Offensive Player of the Year and was a team captain for two years.

Guns resides in De Pere with her husband, Kory, and children, Porter and Yukon.

brought a spark on offense with a shot just wide of the net.

Past the 15-minute mark, the Hornets found themselves in the attack with several free kicks and by settling into a good rhythm on offense.

Yet, the Hornets seemed unable to find the back of the net, despite landing several shots on frame.

In the 22nd minute of the match, Middleton ripped a shot off the crossbar that was then followed up by a shot into the near post, keeping the Hornets defense on their toes.

By the 33rd minute of the match, the intensity bred several chippy plays in the midfield.

A yellow card was awarded to Tyce Bergstrom in the 33rd minute for a foul in the midfield.

Despite their efforts, the score held at 1-0 going into the second half.

In the 43rd minute, Middleton again took the field with an offensive strike ringing the crossbar.

Middleton continued to possess the ball in an attempt to keep the Hornets on their heels throughout the second half.

The nail in the coffin came in the 62nd minute of play with a bar-down goal just between goalkeeper Landin Gauthier's hands and the crossbar.

Gauthier finished the night with 3 saves.

The Hornets were out-shot 15 to 5 with Middleton's 8 corner kicks to their lone attempt.

"I thought they did a really good job sticking to the game plan," said Becker.

"I thought they handled [Middleton's] speed and they did a really good job of containing them."

Green Bay Packers make lead gift to endow Director of Athletics position in Mark Murphy's name

BY GREEN BAY ATHLETICS FOR THE PRESS TIMES

GREEN BAY – UW-Green Bay and the Green Bay Packers announced today that the Packers are making a leading gift to establish and endow the Mark Murphy Director of Athletics position at the University.

The gift of $250,000 is being made by the Packers in honor of the organization's longtime President and CEO as he approaches retirement in July after 17 years.

The Packers' gift will kickstart a fundraising campaign with a goal of $1 million that will help ensure Phoenix student-athletes are able to excel in competition, in the classroom and continue to make a positive impact in the community — all ideals that Mark holds very dearly.

The endowment will include discretionary funds, for use as designated by the Director of Athletics to support the Athletic Department's area of greatest need, which will help ensure the University remains competitive in the ever-changing Division I landscape.

The gift connects and honors two aspects of Murphy's professional life.

Prior to joining the Packers as President in 2007, Murphy had a long career in college athletics, serving as the Director of Athletics at Colgate University from 1992-2003 and Northwestern University from 2003-07.

During his time in Green Bay, Murphy has been a vocal supporter of UW-Green Bay, serving on the Council of Trustees and participating in fundraising and promotional activities to benefit the university.

Current UW-Green Bay Director of Athletics, Josh Moon, will become the first 'Mark Murphy Endowed Director of Athletics', effective immediately.

"I'm tremendously honored that the Packers are making this lead gift to UW-Green Bay to establish the endowed Athletic Director position," said Murphy. "I have loved my involvement with UW-Green Bay and am so pleased that we can help the school in this manner. The University is a vitally important institution in our region. A strong and successful Division I athletics program brings so much to the campus and the community."

"We cannot imagine a more fitting person to name our athletic director position after than Mark Murphy," said UW-Green Bay Chancellor Michael Alexander. "His career as a professional athlete, athletic director and President & CEO of the Green Bay Packers are only a small part of what makes him amazing. His character, leadership, and kindness are an incredible reminder to our student athletes, athletic department, and the entire university what it means to display greatness. We are honored to have his name associated with the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay. Thank you to the Green Bay Packers for further cementing Mark's legacy in this way and for investing in our Division I Athletic Department."

"We are grateful to the Packers for their gift honoring Mark's amazing commitment to this community and especially the impact he has made on UWGB and Phoenix Athletics," said Moon. "He has been a tremendous mentor and friend to each of the Green Bay Athletic Directors during his time with the Packers, and he has especially made a significant impact on me since my arrival. To have someone in his position be accessible and willing to help at any time - it says a lot about his character and humbleness — Mark epitomizes what Green Bay is all about!"

The announcement was made at Lambeau Field on Tuesday morning, Nov. 12.

To make a gift in honor of Mark's legacy and to help the future of Green Bay Athletics, you can visit the giving page through the UWGB Foundation or contact Athletics Development Coordinator, Denis Kreft at kreftd@uwgb.edu.

All gifts will be tax deductible through the UWGB Foundation, a 501 c 3 non-profit organization and pledges can be set up for multiple years to meet the needs of each donor.

Phoenix men's soccer returns to Horizon League Semifinals

BY GREEN BAY ATHLETICS FOR THE PRESS TIMES

GREEN BAY – For a second consecutive year, the Green Bay men's soccer team is headed to Rochester.

The No. 4-seed Phoenix defeated No. 5-seed Cleveland State 3-1 en route to the Horizon League Semifinal game.

The win boosted Green Bay's record to 11-6-2 overall, surpassing last year's win total of 10. It's the most wins for the program since 2011, also 11 under Kris Kelderman.

How it happened

Green Bay began the match strong, forcing two saves by the Vikings.

In the 14th minute, Luke Nicholson cashed in for the Phoenix, scoring unassisted from the box after the ball was blocked back to him.

Myles Sophanavong had blasted a shot just beforehand, which led to the block.

Green Bay kept pressuring CSU, as Josh Johansen and Andrew Paolucci recorded shots on goal in the 33rd minute.

Johansen's shot ricocheted to Paolucci, who had a shot deflect off a Viking in the box.

Paolucci regained control and found the back of the net on his second chance, doubling the Green Bay lead to 2-0.

Cleveland State had a couple of chances late in the half, but Green Bay held the 2-0 advantage going into halftime.

The Phoenix came out of the locker room sharp, getting an early goal from Sophanavong. He scored on a nifty header, set up by a great pass lofted inside by Johansen.

Cleveland State outshot Green Bay 10-7 in the second half and converted an opportunity in the 77th minute.

Caleb Trowbridge scored for CSU on assists from Marko Rimac and Kyle Folds.

Green Bay stiffened defensively and allowed just one shot the rest of the way, winning 3-1.

Game notes

Green Bay had a 9-5 edge in corner kicks.

Trowbridge and Rimac led all players with five shots.

Paolucci tallied four shots, all on goal.

Nicholson's goal was the fifth of the season, tied for second on the squad with Paolucci.

On the road to Rochester

The Phoenix will travel to Rochester for a rematch against Oakland, who is the No. 1 seed again this year.

Green Bay lost to Oakland in Rochester earlier this season but took down the Golden Grizzlies last season in the Horizon League Championship Game. Fans can watch on ESPN+ or follow with live stats.

of 26-2 and conference record of 9-0.

Bay Port won their Appleton North Sectional Final match against Kimberly with final set scores of 25-20, 25-19, 25-23.

Menomonee Falls will advance to face Hamilton (37-7) in the semifinals.

FOOTBALL

out strong and worked their way up the field for a touchdown pass from quarterback Patrick Greisen to wide receiver Brock Story from just inside the 20-yard line to take the 7-0 lead.

However, strong offense by Kaukauna led them to even the score at 7-7 on their next drive.

Kaukauna took the lead before the end of the first quarter after a long reception by wide receiver Parker Schuh brought them down field.

Kaukauna led the game 14-7 going into the second quarter.

Things seemed bleak for the Phantoms when Story had the ball stripped from him after a long reception which the Galloping Ghosts recovered at their own 22-yard line.

After the Phantoms pulled out a stop, a few drives later Kaukauna's Linkoln Xiong came up just short on a field goal from the 19-yard line with 3:25 left in the first half.

Phantoms Wide Receiver Judea Kniskern clinched a reception to bring his team in scoring position.

Brandon Schaefer then nailed a field goal from the 15-yard line to bring the score to 14-10 — a score that would hold the last minute and a half going into half time after defensive back Colin Jindra's interception on the Ghost's next possession.

The Phantoms found themselves 39-yards out from the end zone, but the Phantoms' next field goal attempt was blocked from the 24-yard line.

Going into the second half, a bobbled punt by Kaukauna led to a West De Pere touchdown a few plays later by Kniskern with 8 minutes left in the third quarter to bring the game to 17-14 as West De Pere took the lead.

Schaefer made another field goal a few drives later to bring the score to 20-14 with 7 minutes left in the game.

Kaukauna made their final drive down the field and brought themselves to 4th and 1 with the ball on the 7-yard line with 16 seconds on the clock.

After securing the first down, two false starts brought them to 1st and 15.

With 6 seconds remaining in the game, the Phantoms defense came up big with a stop to put away the win and advance to the next round of the WIAA post season.

"[Kaukauna] is a great defense and a really well-coached team. They dropped 8, sometimes 9 guys. They mixed up the coverage and they did a really great job with Patrick changing up the coverages, but he was able to find enough and our offensive line got the run game going a little bit and got it in," said Coach Greisen.

"I mean holding Kaukauna to zero points in the second half. That's huge. Hats off to Coach Morrison and our defensive staff and the kids."

MILWAUKEE — The No. 4-seeded Green Bay Preble Hornets (17-3-3) took second place to No. 3-seeded Middleton (21-3-1) in the WIAA State Final with a final score of 2-0 after a hard fought season.

The championship game kicked off with both teams working together in the attack for a chance on goal.

Senior midfielder Yosef Navarro had a breakaway in the box that was stopped by Middleton's strong defensive line within the first thirty seconds of the match to give the Hornets the first shot of the game.

Just a minute later, however, a header into the far post upper-v by Middleton set the tone for the first half, forcing the Hornets to climb from behind.

"We could have scored a goal at 37 sec-

KAUKAUNA — After a season ending 13-7 loss to Kaukauna in last year's post season matchup, the West De Pere Phantoms exacted their revenge on the Galloping Ghosts with a 20-14 win to advance to the next round of the WIAA postseason.

"I saw G.R.I.T. We've talked about it.

Those are the four pillars — Grind, Intensity, Responsibility and Trust. I'll tell you what, I don't care how we win, whether it's the old Patrick throwing 8 touchdowns or the defense coming up strong at the end of the game. This is awesome for our team," said head coach Chris Greisen.

On their first drive, the Phantoms came
