PUBLISHER'S NOTE

Luck O' The Irish

Dear Reader,

Another Saint Patrick's Day is upon us, and for one day, everyone—Irish or not—joins in the celebration. On this day, we revel in the so-called "luck of the Irish" and pass it along to everyone we meet.

But what is luck, really? Some see it as pure serendipity—good fortune striking at random, being in the right place at the right time. Luck, in this sense, feels fleeting, unpredictable, something that happens to you rather than something you create.

Yet, there's another kind of luck—the kind that isn't random at all. It's the luck that comes from hard work integrity, and a commitment to doing what's right. This kind of luck isn't just stumbled upon; it's earned. It's built through perseverance, through lifting others up rather than stepping over them. It's the luck that carries not just the fortunate individual but those around them as well.

Of course, there's also another version of luck—the kind that comes at the expense of others. The luck of those who cut corners, take advantage, and push others down to climb higher. But that kind of luck is hollow, fleeting, and never truly fulfilling.

So this Saint Patrick's Day, may you find yourself on the right side of luck—the kind that brings joy, kindness, and goodwill to all. May your blessings be many, your troubles be few, and your heart be as full as a pint of Guinness.

Antigo Chess Club checks competition

The Antigo Chess Club made a remarkable showing at the Wisconsin State Grade Level Championship Chess Tournament on March 15, held at UW-Milwaukee's Student Union.

The three participants representing Antigo were Tate Gabriel, eighth grade; Sullivan Schwebler, eighth grade; and Sophie Schwebler, fifth grade. They ranked fifth, seventh and 12th in their respective divisions, proving their competitive spirit and skill and highlighting the talent and dedication of the Antigo Chess Club.

The Antigo Chess club is managed through 4-H and relies on donations from the community to help further its mission of providing local youth with the opportunity to develop critical thinking and strategy skills through chess. The club gave special thanks to CoVantage Credit Union, Antigo Dairy Queen, Pat and Tonya McKenna-Trabant, Bahr and Kilsdonk and Steve Faucik for their recent donations, which will help to sustain the club's activities.

Cheese challenge needs child chefs

On April 18 and 19, the UW Extension is hosting a grilled cheese competition for young chefs aged 8-17.

Tate Gabriel, Sullivan Schwebler and Sophie Schwebler ranked fifth, seventh and 12th in their respective divisions at the Wisconsin State Grade Level Championship Chess Tournament on March 15. Submitted photo.

Participants in the Marathon County Grilled Cheese Challenge will have 30 minutes to create a delicious grilled cheese from provided ingredients. First and second place winners will receive cheese baskets from Great Lakes Cheese with $50 and $25 worth of their products, respectively.

There will be two competitions: an individual competition, which will take place at 6 p.m. on April 18, and a team competition, which will take place the following day at 1 p.m. Teams will consist of two members. There is a maximum of 10 competitors per competition.

Entry is $5 to help pay for necessary supplies. Register by April 4 at <https://go.wisc.edu/grilledcheese>.

WPR offers candidate guide for spring election

To provide voters with the information they need to make an informed decision at the polls on April 1, Wisconsin Public Radio has brought back its candidate guide, this time focusing on the two statewide elections on the spring ballot — one seat on the Wisconsin Supreme Court and the next superintendent of public instruction.

Created in partnership with ElectUp, the interactive guide lets anyone quickly find and compare candidates' positions on the issues Wisconsinites told WPR they care about. All ballot-certified candidates running for statewide office in Wisconsin were invited to participate. Questions for the candidates were shaped by suggestions from people who completed a survey on wpr.org.

For state Supreme Court candidates, questions about recusal — the withdrawal of a judge from a case due to potential conflict of interest — and political funding topped the list for survey participants. In the race for state superintendent of public instruction, participants wanted to hear about student mental health, school vouchers and financial responsibility.

Find and compare the candidates' responses for both races at wpr.org/voterguide.

United Way wants your pasta

United Way of Marathon County kicked off its second-annual Lottsa Pasta food drive on March 20 to benefit local food pantries and needs the community's help to collect as much as possible.

Highly sought-after items include whole grain pasta, chickpea and black bean pasta and rice. Why pasta? It's shelf stable and easy and versatile to cook with.

After the drive, United Way's Hunger Coalition will sort and distribute it to local food pantries and non-profits.

The collection drive runs through April 30. Donations can be dropped off at Festival Foods in Wausau, Express market by Festival Foods in Weston or the United Way office.

Last year, about 3,300 pounds of pasta were distributed to local food pantries. United Way teamed up with many community members and 27 local businesses.

For more information, visit unitedwaymc.org.

Antigo celebrates rural Wisconsin artists

Through May 10, the Antigo Visual Arts Gallery, located on the second floor of the Langlade County Historical Museum, will host the 2025 Wisconsin Regional Art Program (WRAP) Antigo Regional Art Exhibit.

The opening reception on March 15 celebrated the creativity of rural Wisconsin artists, drawing a crowd of art lovers, community members and local creatives to the gallery. The event also featured an award ceremony.

WRAP, organized by the Association of Wisconsin Artists, offers rural Wisconsin artists the opportunity to showcase their work at the state level. Each year, the association holds a state conference where regional winners are given the chance to exhibit their art at the Pyle Center on the UW-Madison campus. This year’s state exhibit was held at the Center for the Visual Arts in Wausau.

“It was an amazing opportunity for the residents of our town,” said Sherry Light, a local resident who attended the reception. “The diversity of art and artists was amazing. [Antigo Visual Arts] is an amazing organization for a small town.”

Antigo Visual Arts is a nonprofit organization dedicated to fostering creativity, art appreciation and community engagement through exhibits, education programming and events, offering a platform for local artists to showcase their work and connect with the broader artistic community.

Antigo Visual Arts will also host the WRAP-Teen exhibit, open to artists aged 13-19, which offers young artists a chance to display their work at the state level as well. The registration deadline for WRAP-Teen is March 28. For more details and to register, visit www.antigovisualarts.org.

DMV promotes licenses before election

The Wisconsin DMV reminds citizens to check and be sure that they have the proper identification needed to vote in the Spring Election on April 1, 2025.

“Most people already have some form of identification they can use for voting purposes, including a driver license or ID,” DMV Administrator Tommy Winkler said.

A federally compliant REAL ID card is not required to show at the polls. The Wisconsin Elections Commission notes other forms of identification are valid for voting, such as military or student ID cards. To see if a card meets the requirements, visit the Wisconsin Elections Commission website, <https://bringit.wi.gov>.

For a list of the required documents to obtain identification from the DMV to show at the polls, visit wisconsinidmv.gov/idcards. If their DMV-issued ID is not ready in time to take to polls, voters can receive a receipt, free of charge, that they can use at the polls in the ID’s place. CP

Qualified Charitable Distributions: Win-Win-Win!

Thanks to the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017, fewer people itemize expenses on their taxes due to the higher standard deduction amounts. For many, giving to their church or favorite charity doesn't offer added tax benefits. For those over 70 ½ though, a QCD from an Individual Retirement Account can be a win-win-win!

Many IRAs allow for Qualified Charitable Distributions, a tax-free withdrawal (win!) whereby the check is made directly payable to a qualified 501c3 charity, who in turn receives the money tax-free (win!) due to their charitable status. Additionally, the IRA owner may count the distribution toward their Required Minimum Distribution (win!) in the year the distribution is made. The check may be sent to the IRA owner to present to the charity, but must be made payable to the organization. There is no minimum for QCD's, but there is a maximum annual amount of $100,000 per person. QCDs can be made to multiple charities each year and can even be scheduled at the IRA owner's request. For your giving, consider Qualified Charitable Distributions a win-win-win!

Advanced Asset Protection Planning

Asset protection planning aims to provide an incentive for settling a claim, improve your bargaining position, and, ultimately, deter litigation.

You may think that only wealthy people need to do estate planning focused on asset protection. However, anyone who has accumulated any amount of wealth can be sued. The only way to fully protect yourself and your loved ones is to adopt more advanced forms of asset protection planning, such as irrevocable trusts and sophisticated business structures.

Don't wait until it's too late. We can help you go beyond traditional asset protection planning by creating a plan tailored to your family situation and financial status. Our advanced asset protection strategies help safeguard your wealth from long-term care costs, creditors, and unforeseen challenges. Linda Woodward's dog, Jasper, on the way to his last veterinary appointment following a medical emergency. Jasper is recovering following his treatment. Submitted photo.

and effect

Inconsistent care leaves pet owners at a loss

Inconsistent availability and quality of care at an area pet hospital has left pet owners uncertain of where to turn in their four-legged loved ones' times of need.

Two weeks ago, Linda Woodward had her dog, Jasper, neutered. Five hours after bringing him home, Woodward realized that something was amiss.

"He started bleeding puddles," she said. Desperate to find Jasper medical care before things got worse, Woodward punched the number that her veterinarian had listed for after-hour services into her phone. "I called PAW in a panic and was told, 'We are not an emergency vet.'"

Woodward was directed by the person on the other end of the line to the next-nearest emergency vets, Blue Pearl in Appleton or UW Veterinary Clinic — drives that can take Marathon County residents anywhere from an hour and a half to over two hours.

"I was just shaking," Woodward said. "Luckily, my daughter had rushed right over when I called her. She called Appleton so I could explain what was going on."

The vets at the Appleton clinic advised Woodward to ice Jasper's wound, telling her that he should be fine until morning. After following their advice, Woodward was able to get Jasper in to see his regular vet, and he recovered.

"I told my vet to take [PAW Health Network] off their message for after-hours care," Woodward said. "My vet said that two weeks earlier, they were still told to list PAW for emergencies."

"Prior to PAW Health opening, all of the area vets had a rotating schedule for emergency services for our area," said Jody Michlig, who alerted City Pages to the rash of complaints against PAW Health Network in recent years. "If PAW Health is no longer an emergency vet and all the local vets close at 5 p.m., what services are available for our local communities?"

PAW Health Network, located in Kronenwetter, has been a staple in Marathon County since its establishment in 2015. Pet care facilities across the region refer their patients to PAW for after-hour, emergency care.

While PAW's website makes no mention of emergency services, the snippet that appears beneath the site link when googling the clinic advertises, "same day availability, urgency and emergency care." There are also repeated mentions on the site of being open 24/7, including holidays and weekends.

Amidst a nationwide veterinarian shortage — in which rural Wisconsin has been hit particularly hard — it's not uncommon for veterinary clinics to cut back their hours based on staff availability. If this is what has led PAW Health to turn away emergency cases, however, then there has been a lack of transparency that has left even those with otherwise positive impressions of the clinic miffed.

"We've gone there with two dogs over the years and thought Paws were perfect! 5 stars," reads a review on the clinic's Google listing posted last month under the name Al Johnson. This is followed by a "but..." with three sets of ellipses, then a line break for effect. "Tonight, it would be nice if their answering machine/website would have said they had no vets in for the evening. So that customer(s) did not have to drive there to find out the news."

In a post dated one year ago on the city of Wausau's subreddit, r/wausau, user Sweet_Tea_414 reports a "Mosinee emergency vet" refusing to see their injured dog.

"They refuse to see him because he's 'too anxious,'" Sweet_Tea_414's post reads. "... They have done this with every dog I have ever brought to them."

One commenter, with the username yurtbeer, advises Sweet_Tea_414 to drive to UW Veterinary Care in Madison if they're dealing with PAW Network.

"Don't have time for [the] whole story," reads yurtbeer's reply, "but they tried to put our foster dog down saying it could not be saved. UW had to call and demand they release the dog, who made a full recovery."

Notably, the name PAW Health is never mentioned in the original post, but Sweet_Tea_414 confirms yurtbeer's suspicion in their next reply, telling yurtbeer that they "ended up driving to Appleton" for emergency veterinary treatment.

These themes recur a lot in discussions of PAW Health, with an increase in similar stories over the past several years.

Google and Better Business Bureau reviews mention long wait times and high bills, neither of which are unusual for a visit to an emergency vet, but both of which compounded additional complaints about the clinic, like perceived inexperience of staff. Several more mention receiving letters from PAW banning them from the clinic after leaving negative reviews online.

A handful of reviewers describe feeling pressured to euthanize their pets, regardless of the severity of the animals' maladies.

In an email to City Pages, cat parent Katie Bedwell described a visit to PAW three years ago in which her cat, who had been slated for euthanasia, made a quick recovery after being taken home for the family to say their goodbyes.

"When I arrived home, my cat literally jumped out of the carrier and immediately started running and playing with the other cats. After seeing all those Peaceful Pine bags [in the PAW Health Network office] and the way my cat was acting normal, I decided to hold off on putting her down and wait the extra day for her vet to see her."

Bedwell's cat had been diagnosed with kidney failure. When the cat's regular vet tested her kidneys, their readings had gone back to normal.

"If she really was in kidney failure, she is the one exception that made it out," Bedwell said. "My cat is still alive and healthy as ever."

As it stands, amidst PAW Health's refusal to respond to negative feedback, disgruntled pet owners are spreading their own narratives — and smearing the clinic in reviews and Facebook comments.

PAW Health Network's Facebook page was most recently active on Feb. 17 of this year. Prior to that, the page had posted regularly in Oct. 2023. The posts from this time — photos of staff with the hashtag #staffappreciationweek — appear to have had comments limited due to negative feedback.

Negative comments spiked seven weeks ago, following a post by Angie Farrar on Jan. 23 that read, "PAW Health is no longer an emergency vet and can choose which animals to see, so if you show up with a dying dog, they can turn you away... This was our experience. You decide."

A representative from PAW Health Network declined to respond when reached for comment. CP

SMASH BROS TOURNAMENT

One Dan Man Band

Friday 3/21 | Timekeeper Distillery, Wausau

It's exactly what it says on the tin: a one-man band named Dan. Okay, sometimes Dan teams up with guitarist Levi Ballenger, but that doesn't twist the tongue quite as nicely. Hailing from exotic North Central Wisconsin, Dan and his maybe one-, maybe two-man band are here to rock your socks off, offering a slap-style acoustic and electric performance that blends rock, folk and humor into one slammin', jammin', Dannin' show you won't want to miss. 6-8 p.m. Free, but expect to buy a drink or two. Seating is first come, first served.

Global Recycling Day e-Cycling Event

Saturday 3/22 | Good News Project, Wausau

Got junk? How about old electronics? To celebrate Global Recycling Day, the Good News Project and TDS are hosting an electronics recycling drive. Clear out some clutter without the guilt — Good News Project is accepting just about any device with a power cord or battery. 9 a.m. - 4 p.m. Cost is 49 cents/lb. For more information, including accepted items, visit goodnewswi.com/upcoming-events.

Computer Basics Class

Monday 3/24

Marathon County Public Library, Mosinee

Like it or not, computers are everywhere these days, but some of us might feel like we missed the memo. Fear not: MCPL's Mosinee Branch is offering a free Computer Basics class which will introduce attendees to basic computer terminology and functionality, as well as how to use and navigate internet browsers, search engines and websites. The class will be held from 10-11:30 a.m. and is open to the public. While it is free of charge, registration is required to attend. The library will provide participants with the laptops needed for the class. To register or for more information, call 715-693-2144.

Smash Bros Tournament

Saturday 3/22

Northwestern Technical College, Wausau

Play a mean Pikachu? Or maybe you prefer to blast your opponents off the screen with Samus? Whoever you main, get ready to show the Nintendo canon that you mean business in this Super Smash Bros tournament hosted by the Wausau and Marathon County Department of Parks, Recreation and Forestry. Who knows? You might even walk away with a prize. 11 a.m. - 2 p.m. Ages 10-14. $20 per child. Register at <https://secure.rec1.com/WI/marathon-county-parks-recreation-and-forestry/catalog?filter=c2VhcmNoPTM1NzI4OTk%3D&>.

Second Annual WDSO Fashion Show

Saturday 3/22 | Wausau Elks Lodge #248, Wausau

Get ready to strut your stuff! In recognition of World Down Syndrome Day, GiGi's Playhouse is hosting their second annual fashion show and dance celebration. Fashion show participants will rock the catwalk while modeling items from local boutiques. Bring the whole family for an afternoon of fun, games, dancing and more, and make some new friends while you're at it. Food and refreshments will be provided. 12-3 p.m. For more information, view Gigi's Playhouse's Wausau activity calendar at gigisplayhouse.org/wausau/sfcalendar.

Monthly Fiber Artists Meetup

Monday 3/24

Marathon County Public Library, Edgar

Looking for a social gathering but prefer to keep your outings on the subdued side? Bring your needlework project down to MCPL's Edgar Branch to craft alongside other fiber artists, show off your skills and maybe make a new friend while you're at it. Knitters, crocheters, embroiderers and menders welcome. 4-6 p.m. Free. CP
