Independence Day celebrations planned

STAFF REPORT

North Country This Week

Several St. Lawrence County communities plan to celebrate the Independence Day holiday this coming weekend with fireworks and other festivities.

The following towns and villages have events scheduled.

Morristown

In Morristown, a busy day of events will take place July 3-4.

Fireworks will be held at dusk on Monday, July 3. There will be live music from Another Fine Mess from 7-11 p.m.

"Everything will return to normal with vendors and food," Morristown Fire Department Member Kevin Crosby said.

On July 4, the day's events begin with the Steven Spilman Memorial Fourth of July Parade on Main Street at 10 a.m. Bands from Gouverneur, Heuvelton, Lisbon, Morristown and Ogdensburg are slated to perform. Those who wish to be in the parade are asked to line up on Main Street at 9:30 a.m.

The parade is named in honor of long-time fireman Steven Spilman.

Moore said Spilman had organized the parade for many years and was named in his honor in 2014, shortly after his passing.

Independence Day activities shift to the fire station at 11:30 for a variety of activities. There will be a car show, craft show, chicken BBQ and a water ball tournament.

There will also be kids games, 50/50 raffle, games of chance, beverages and concession stand food will be sold as well.

Engle wins Sheriff primary

BY JIMMY LAWTON

North Country This Week

CANTON – St. Lawrence County Sheriff's investigator Patrick 'Rick' Engle has secured the Republican line on the November ballot after defeating Undersheriff Sean O'Brien in the primary race by a 2-to-1 margin.

Stolen signs, social media arguments and assorted criticism have been hurled over the past few weeks leading up to the race.

Engle secured 2,913 votes while O'Brien received 1,575, according to unofficial numbers provided by the St. Lawrence County Board of Elections.

In a brief interview following the primary Tuesday, Engle offered appreciation to his supporters. He said he "couldn't have done it without them."

He credited his success to speaking with people and giving them time to get to know him on the campaign trail.

"I've had conversations that were 20 minutes and some as long as two and half hours," he said. "It's about getting to know them and them getting to know you," he said.

Engle said he wasn't shocked at the victory, which was nearly 2 to 1, because he believes the support he's received is genuine.

"When I talk to people it's real. It's sincere. They aren't just telling me what I want to hear," he said.

Engle's confident he can carry tonight's

City hopes to fill council vacancy

BY JIMMY LAWTON

North Country This Week

OGDENSBURG — Ogdensburg Mayor Jeffrey M. Skelly says he hopes to appoint someone to fill the vacancy left on the council by Nichole Kennedy's resignation.

Those interested in filling the position will need to reach out to the city's vacancy committee. The committee will then recommend a candidate for approval by July 17.

The appointment would be good through the end of the calendar year. Kennedy, who was serving her second term, resigned her position Monday.

She announced that she'd be leaving at the end of the school year last November because her husband received a promotion and has been working in the Saratoga area for some time.

She was not present at the council meeting Monday, but received praise from councilors Dan Skamperle and Michael Powers, who said she was an active voice on the council.

The new vacancy on council has the power to change the dynamics of the upcoming election.

Mayor Jeffrey M. Skelly and councilors Bill Dillabough, Steve Fisher and John Rishe are not seeking re-election.

Ogdensburg Mayoral candidate Michael Tooley, D-Ogdensburg, is seeking the mayor's seat unopposed.

Democrats filing petitions to run for council include Jennifer Stevenson, R. Storm Cilley and Michael Weaver.

Running on the Republican line is Robert Edie.

However, with Kennedy's resignation, political party chairs will have the ability to nominate an additional candidate to run for the seat.

Under the city charter, the four candidates with the highest votes will win the seats and the one with the lowest number of votes out of the four winners would fill Kennedy's remaining two-year-term.

On Monday, Kennedy said goodbye to her constituents in a letter.

"I have met so many wonderful people and made so many friends over my last several years on council. We have bonded over common

"I look forward to coming back "home" for the many events that our community offers and seeing our family and friends. I am anxiously awaiting Ogdensburg to host major fishing tournaments, and art festivals just to name a few as our water-front projects are gradually coming to a close. momentum into November and said he will continue to work hard throughout the campaign and as sheriff if he's elected.

Engle lives in Lisbon and is a 20 year veteran of the Sheriff's Office. He previously served in the United State Marine Corps. In an interview with North Country This Week, Engle said his priorities include expanding the county's school resource officer program, tackling the drug epidemic plaguing the county and protecting Second Amendment rights.

He says as sheriff he believes he can improve morale of the sheriff's deputies, the corrections officers inside the sheriff's office and rebuild relationships with other law enforcement agencies. Engle will also run as an independent

O'Brien offered a comment as well.

"We respect the Republican electorate but when less than 20% of the Republican party comes out to vote, it is disheartening. We will evaluate these results and look to how we progress moving forward," he said.

O'Brien has already secured the Conservative line.

O'Brien was named Sheriff Brooks Bigwarfe's Undersheriff in 2020.

Improving school safety, growing the drug task force and establishing a SWAT-style emergency response team are just a few of the ideas O'Brien will push for if he's elected Sheriff. O'Brien says he'll also continue to protect Second Amendment rights, continue to increase transparency between the sheriff's office and the public and continue to make improvements at the St. Lawrence County Correctional Facility.

- Angelique Catalanotto, 57
- Roger Bechore, 48
- Jennifer Jacques, 40

Police are also asking for assistance locating the next of kin for Catalanotto. Anyone with information should contact Detective Mike O'Brien at the Massena Police Department by calling (315) 769-3577.

City to borrow $2.35 million for plant demo

BY JIMMY LAWTON
North Country This Week

OGDENSBURG — Ogdensburg City Council will borrow $2.35 million to knock down the former cheese plant.

The majority of the demolition will be covered by a $1.8 million Restore New York grant that was recently secured by the city.

On Monday, city council approved the plan in a 6-0 vote.

Because the grant will be a reimbursement the city will need to provide the upfront costs.

Council agreed that for safety reasons and development reasons the work should be completed swiftly.

The cheese plant has languished empty for years following unsuccessful lawsuits and attempts to fund demolition and cleanup of the site that resides in Ogdensburg's Marina District.

The building has attracted vandals and has been considered a safety concern for some time.

Tearing down the buildings has been a sticking point for Ogdensburg Mayor Michael J. Skelly who said he was elated to hear the city had secured the grant.

In a recent interview City Planner Andrea Smith, who landed the grant for the city, said the award was critical for the city.

"This will free up an entire city block for the purpose of redevelopment," she said. "It's an impediment in the marina district. Moving this forward and removing the blight will make the area more attractive to potential developers."

Burke hired as school super

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

MASSENA — Ron Burke has officially been appointed as the next superintendent of the Massena Central School District after the board of education approved his hiring.

Burke has received a three-year contract, set to begin on July 1, upon approval by the board.

Officials also took action on an interim appointment for current Superintendent Pat Brady, who was originally set to retire on June 30. Brady had offered to stay on a little longer to assist in the transition to Burke.

Brady has served as the superintendent of Massena Central School District since July 2015. He will soon retire after 35 years in education, which includes 18 years as a superintendent with both Potsdam Central and Massena School Districts.

Burke currently serves as the Canton Central School District superintendent and is expected to begin his time at Massena on Aug. 1, district officials say.

During last week's board of education meeting, numerous members of the Massena School District wished Brady well in his retirement.

Brady took a moment to thank faculty and staff alike saying everyone he has worked with has been "incredible" and have put students first.

"That's where our focus should be, and I think when you put students first and make decisions based on that, you make the best decisions you can, including in some of the challenging times we've been through," Brady said.

School officials question future electric bus use

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

MASSENA — Massena school officials have questions about the future use of electric school buses but aren't receiving many answers.

Transportation Director Darrin Jock told board of education members that the transition to electric buses is a big hurdle that the district will have to find a solution for.

Jock said many questions that have arisen have gone untested and unanswered, with "so many things going on" regarding the transition.

State officials enacted legislation through the 2022-23 state budget bill that requires all school districts to transition to zero-emission vehicles, in this case electric buses. New purchases and leases of student transportation must also meet zero-emission standards by 2027, according to the bill.

Of the largest concerns, Jock said the cost to replace the current fleet and install chargers will be extensive.

Jock told board members that not all chargers are compatible with each brand of bus as well, further complicating matters.

Of the three manufacturers, Jock said all three have different chargers.

"Now they're making adapters but of course they come with a price," Jock said.

Jock also told board members that the range of the buses is a large concern, if not the largest, as numbers for mileage have no been concrete in every meeting.

"One of the big concerns is the mileage you're going to get and some of our bus runs are longer than the actual mileage you get on a charge from what I've been told. We take trips and go farther than we can be charged," Jock said.

Though the transition isn't happening in the next few years, Jock urged board members to begin thinking about and planning for the eventual transition.

"I think it's going to be a real challenge for the board and for everybody that's involved," Jock said.

County opposing state's fossil fuel ban

BY JIMMY LAWTON
North Country This Week

St. Lawrence County's Board of Legislators is opposing action by the state to ban the use of natural gas and other fossil fuels in new homes by 2026.

"It's another example of Albany telling us what we can't do," said Harry Smithers, R-Gouverneur.

Smithers said St. Lawrence County has a good supply of natural gas and said that while he believes the state's goal is laudable, he believes they should focus on making electricity affordable, rather than mandating its use.

Legislator James Reagen, R-Ogdensburg, pointed to the harsh North Country winters. He said that during the ice storm, many St. Lawrence County residents went without power for weeks. He said other forms of heating, such as natural gas, provide more of a safety net during such times.

Legislator Ben Hull, R-Madrid, said he did not believe the technology is at a level where it can support a conversion to electricity.

"Natural gas is widely used in the United States, and according to 2020 data from the U.S. Department of Energy, sixty-one percent (61%) of American households used natural gas for either space heating, water heating or cooking in 2020, and that number is higher in the Northeast where sixty-seven percent (67%) of homes use gas, including fifty-two percent (52%) in New York State," the resolution said. "According to the American Gas Association, the direct use of natural gas is ninety-two percent (92%) efficient from production to customers which underscores how important it is to look at how energy is produced and delivered when looking to define energy efficiency."

Legislators said natural gas plays a critical role in ensuring Americans have access to affordable and reliable energy, and consumers should have the choice to use this abundant fuel source for their appliances.

Not all legislators supported the measure. Margaret Haggard, D-Potsdam, said the resolution did not include enough information about the governor's energy plan.

The measure passed in a 14-1 vote.

Senator visits city for child care center

OGDENSBURG - U.S. Senator Kirsten Gillibrand visited the Ogdensburg Bridge & Port Authority (OBPA) to highlight the $2.1 million in federal funding she fought to secure for OBPA to develop a new 15,000 square foot child care facility in the community. Ogdensburg currently has few local child care options; this new facility, which is expected to open in September 2025, will provide 300 families in the area with high-quality, affordable care close to home. After construction is complete, The Arc Jefferson - St. Lawrence, a social services organization and preschool operator, will run the center.

"We are fortunate to have elected officials such as Senator Gillibrand advocating for transformative projects that will have a positive impact on our community. Through her leadership and courage in tackling the big problems we are confident that initiatives such as improving access to childcare will lead to greater economic opportunities for the people we serve," said Steve Lawrence, Executive Director of the Ogdensburg Bridge and Port Authority. "We are very appreciative of the work Senator Gillibrand has done for us and look forward to our continued collaborations in all the good work we have in front of us."

Town of Massena's new health insurance plan well received

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

MASSENA — A new health insurance plan is set to begin on Jan. 1, a move that has made many Town of Massena retirees very happy.

Town retirees previously raised concerns about loss of certain benefits and cost changes in a plan that town officials had previously opted to change too.

Following an uproar, a committee with town board members, retirees and various other parties was formed. That committee oversaw the implementation of the new plan, which goes into affect on Jan. 1.

Zachary Zuckerman, who works for USI Insurance Services in Syracuse, presented the new plan to the board recently. Zuckerman has also worked with the village board in recent years on the village's health care plans as well.

With the new insurance plan selected, Zuckerman said the town and retirees alike are set to save money on the health insurance plans.

The key to those savings was the enroll in Medicare Part C, the Medicare Advantage Program, he said.

Zuckerman said a number of companies do it on a group basis, offering a price range to cover retirees after assessing the client pool.

With more members comes a better star rating for the company, meaning a greater reimbursement from the federal government.

In many cases, employers will put out a request for proposal to shop for rates as opposed to wasting resources doing it themselves, Zuckerman said.

One such case was Broome County, who established an association known as Broome County Healthcare Alliance. That association covers over 6,000 retirees.

United Healthcare won the bid with Broome County, offering four plans.

One of the benefits, according to Zuckerman, is that the major medical portion of the plan has been paid in full.

There are also no co-payments for members and prescription drugs have a $0 co-payment for generics, $5 for preferred brand name drugs and $20 for non-preferred brand name drugs.

That means there are no hidden expenses for prescription drugs, saving the town a large sum of money on premiums.

Badenhausen Library formed

BRASHER FALLS – On Tuesday, June 20, residents of the Brasher Falls Central School District voted to approve the formation of the Badenhausen Public Library. The vote grants the former reading room an official charter as a school district public library through the New York State Education Department.

With the establishment of the library, voters also approved the election of five trustees and an annual budget of $77,000.

The Badenhausen Public Library is the first new chartered library for North Country residents since the Williamstown Library was established in 2006. Being a chartered library makes Badenhausen eligible for state funding and other support, such as NYS Library Construction Aid.

NORTH COUNTRY THIS WEEK | MASSENA-OGDENSBURG, NY | JULY 1-7, 2023

It's time to re-think how and when we track homeless populations Nothing works well in January in the North Country

I've never been homeless, though I once did share a two-bedroom apartment with eight people, which may technically qualify.

Unfortunately, many people have been and continue to be in St. Lawrence County, which has long had an "invisible" homeless problem.

Editor's Notebook

Jimmy Lawton

In recent years though, the curtain has been pulled back.

Last year, we saw numerous reports of a growing homeless population in the Ogdensburg area.

The problem was exacerbated by the county's drug problem and led to human waste and needles becoming a common sight in the city's parks.

I recently spoke with officials in Ogdensburg who said that while the homeless population has not been as visible this year as it was last year, it's still larger than it once was.

St. Lawrence County's massive geography combined with its low population makes providing services particularly expensive and difficult to administer.

There are many organizations that offer some services, but navigating the path to public assistance tends to be a deterrent to many who need help the most.

I don't have up-to-date numbers on the county's homeless population, but I feel confident in saying I doubt it's improved significantly since a story I wrote some time ago.

In a 2016 report, it was estimated that as many as 1,000 people were living homeless in St. Lawrence County.

A 2013 report noted that more than 223 families had sought help for shelter from the St. Lawrence County Department of Social Services.

According to the state Education Department, 533 children from pre-K through grade 12 in St. Lawrence County's 17 school districts were counted as homeless at some point during 2014-15.

Most, 485, found shelter by "doubling up" with relatives or friends of their parents.

Five were sheltered for a time in a hotel or motel.

Thirty-eight were "sheltered" in a "primary nighttime residence" other than a hotel or motel, or a friend or relative's home.

Five were "unsheltered," staying in cars, parks, campgrounds, temporary trailers, or abandoned buildings.

Counting the number of homeless adults is more difficult and accurate numbers are hard to come by.

Speaking with people in the know on the issue, I'm not sure that isn't by design.

Each year the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development conducts a homelessness assessment.

The goal is to get a snapshot of the homeless population in a particular moment of time and use that as a sort of census to determine the number of homeless on a single night in a given area.

The problem with the survey is it's held in January.

That's a problem in places like North Country, where the homeless population becomes particularly invisible.

The bigger problem then becomes that these numbers are used to target funding and services. In other words, we were using bad numbers to make determinations on spending and targeting funds.

My estimation, though I'm no expert, is St. Lawrence County's being overlooked.

In recent years, local leaders have questioned if a homeless shelter is needed in St. Lawrence County. I don't know the answer, but I know it's a conversation that needs to continue.

In the meantime, I think it's time to reach out to those in power and seek a change on when the homeless survey is done, because nothing works well in the January where we live.

Massena Library has new director

The Massena Public Library Board of Trustees is pleased to announce Krista Briggs as the next Library Director, effective July 1. Ms. Briggs brings with her a wealth of experience and a passion for the transformative power of libraries. Her background in developing library programming and building partnerships, and her desire to use library services as a means of connection within a community make her a superb asset to the Massena Public Library.

To commemorate this occasion, the Library Board, along with the Friends of the Library, invite the public to a Welcome Reception for Ms. Briggs at the Massena Public Library (41 Glenn St.) on Wednesday July 12, from 4-6pm. Members of the community will have the opportunity to meet the new Director, engage in meaningful conversations, share their ideas, and reacquaint themselves with the many programs and services our library has to offer. Light refreshments will be served.

Whether you are a dedicated library enthusiast, a parent seeking fun and engaging opportunities for your children, a student in search of a quiet space for studying, or someone who simply appreciates the value of accessible information and cultural resources, we encourage you to join us in extending a warm welcome to Ms. Briggs and expressing your support for the library. Mark your calendars for July 12, and plan to attend the meet and greet event as we embark on a new and exciting chapter in the history of our community library.

Thank you for your continued support, and we look forward to seeing you there.

City councilor says farewell

As many of you know I announced several months ago that my family and I would be relocating to another area of the state after Gabbie, Owen and Wyatt completed their school year. Bob, Gabbie, Owen, Wyatt and I will always consider Ogdensburg "home", the people here make Ogdensburg what it truly is.

During both of my campaigns for the Ogdensburg City Council I stated that "Ogdensburg always shows up" and I still stand by those words.

I have met so many wonderful people and made so many friends over my last several years on council. We have bonded over common goals, especially keeping Ogdensburg safe for our residents. I know that my fellow "minority" councilors will continue that fight and I am eagerly waiting, like many of you for the voters to make a change in the November election.

Many people have asked why I cannot just continue to fulfill duties "remotely" and the answer is a simple one. The residents of Ogdensburg deserve a full time, devoted, and involved councilor. That cannot be done when you are not living in the city you represent. I have always taken great pride in the fact that I have upheld the charter, and fulfilled my duties with integrity. I will not change who I am or what I represent, even though I would love to continue to represent the residents of Ogdensburg.

As of today, Monday June 26th my family and I officially no longer maintain a residence in the City of Ogdensburg. I formally submitted my resignation as a member of the Ogdensburg City Council. I thank you for over six years of support and criticism as both of those things have made me a better person and councilor. I am thankful for the faith and trust you placed in me as your City Councilor and will always be grateful for the time I was able to serve the citizens of Ogdensburg.

It is with great hope for Ogdensburg that the new council elected in November will not have a "majority" or "minority" it will just work for all citizens of Ogdensburg.

I look forward to coming back "home" for the many events that our community offers and seeing our family and friends. I am anxiously awaiting Ogdensburg to host major fishing tournaments, and art festivals just to name a few as our waterfront projects are gradually coming to a close. These events would be the economic boom that our community so desperately needs.

My family and I are looking forward to our next adventure, and we hope to see you all real soon.

Nichole Kennedy

momentum into November and said he will continue to work hard throughout the campaign and as sheriff if he's elected.

Engle lives in Lisbon and is a 20 year veteran of the Sheriff's Office. He previously served in the United State Marine Corps. In an interview with North Country This Week, Engle said his priorities include expanding the county's school resource officer program, tackling the drug epidemic plaguing the county and protecting Second Amendment rights.

He says as sheriff he believes he can improve morale of the sheriff's deputies, the corrections officers inside the sheriff's office and rebuild relationships with other law enforcement agencies. Engle will also run as an independent

O'Brien offered a comment as well. "We respect the Republican electorate but when less than 20% of the Republican party comes out to vote, it is disheartening. We will evaluate these results and look to how we progress moving forward," he said.

O'Brien has already secured the Conservative line.

O'Brien was named Sheriff Brooks Bigwarfe's Undersheriff in 2020.

Improving school safety, growing the drug task force and establishing a SWAT-style emergency response team are just a few of the ideas O'Brien will push for if he's elected Sheriff. O'Brien says he'll also continue to protect Second Amendment rights, continue to increase transparency between the sheriff's office and the public and continue to make improvements at the St. Lawrence County Correctional Facility. ## Fritz's Polka Band to perform

WADDINGTON — The 14th annual Waddington Concert Series will kick off July 7 with its annual memorial dedication concert at the pavilion at Island View Park featuring Fritz's Polka Band from 6:30-8:30 p.m.

Playing everything from modern-style polka to country to rock and even blues, FPB performs an eclectic mix of musical styles.

Fritz's Polka Band is not an oom-pa-pa band or the stereotypical "polka" band.

In fact, FPB is known for breaking the stereotype regarding "polka" music. FPB is the first polka band to perform at a Woodstock Festival (Woodstock '99). On October 7, 2010, FPB was inducted into the Syracuse Area Music Hall of Fame.

Individually, Fritz has performed on-stage with Steve Augeri (former lead singer of Journey) and Charles Giordano (current accordionist/key-boardist for Bruce Springsteen).

FPB has performed at B.B. King's Club (2003), The China Club (2006), and The Metropolitan Club (2007).

FPB even appears on "The Manchurian Candidate" DVD, released by Paramount Pictures in 2004.

AKWESASNE – Akwesasne Travel is pleased to announce the 2023 Akwesasne Art Market & Juried Show will take place Sunday, July 2 at Generations Park.

The impressive list of guest artists featured by the All Star Big Band throughout the years, follows in chronological order: Laurel Masse', Ed Shaughnessy, Vince DiMartino, Joe Carello, Pat LaBarbera, Jeff Jarvis, Russ Kassoff, Bret Zacek, Gary Smulyan, Danny D'Imperio, Ken Peplowski, Dennis Mackrel, Michael Davis, Ray Vega, again Ken Peplowski, Wycliffe Gordon, Wayne Bergeron, Denis DiBlasio, Tony DeSare, Steve Wilson, Sherrie Maricle, Nick Marchione, Darmon Meader, Tommy Igoe, and Ronnie Leigh.

This year's guest artist is saxophonist Mike Dubaniewicz.
