Compost misuse could end service

BY PAUL MITCHELL
North Country This Week

CANTON – Misuse of the village composting site has put that service in jeopardy.

At a joint board meeting Wednesday, both town and village leaders voiced their displeasure with the composting situation, reporting that improper and negligent practices at the composting site on the hill off Lincoln Street have become costly and unfairly cumbersome for village Department of Public Works employees.

“The trouble now is where to take it. We are not happy with this problem,” stated Mayor Michael Dalton.

He noted that people are not putting the shavings on properly creating problems with bees and maggots. The mayor also said DPW workers have been doing their best to remove the non-compostable items at the site and they are making

On Friday District Attorney Gary Pasqua shared new details regarding Michael Snow’s plans to seek revenge on former co-workers two years prior to killing Elizabeth Howell.

Murderer faces 22 to life

Howell offered kindness in her final moments

BY JIMMY LAWTON
North Country This Week

POTSDAM — In her final moments on Feb. 18 of 2022, Elizabeth Howell offered help to the man who beckoned her to his vehicle feigning a need for directions.

Michael Snow, her murderer, repaid her kindness with three shots from a .22 caliber “ghost gun” he says he purchased online.

In the courtroom Howell was described as a helper who cared for other people. She fought for her peers and worked to save other lives as a lifeguard for a time, according to her family.

Elizabeth ‘Beth’ Howell

She worked to bring good into the world and her killing tore a hole in her family and communities that can never fully heal.

She was a SUNY Potsdam student when she was killed and had performed with the Crane Symphony Orchestra and the Crane Chamber Orchestra.

She was a cellist and regarded as a “star” student who was working toward her goal of being a music educator.

Snow took that dream away from her and robbed future generations of a teacher who would likely have touched many lives during her career.

That reality was expressed in an impact statement her family submitted to be read by District Attorney Gary Pasqua at Snow’s sentencing on Friday.

Snow’s killing of Howell took more than her life.

“He took our lives as we know them,” her family said in the statement.

Her family said that while Snow will be

Potsdam Co-op finances improving

BY ADAM ATKINSON
North Country This Week

POTSDAM — The Potsdam Food Co-op has turned a corner away from the financial difficulties reported by the board earlier this year.

In a message to its over 1,300 members Friday, July 28, interim manager Jesse LaRose said the store has logged a profitable second quarter, the bills are now manageable and some needed repairs on the store on Elm Street have started.

“As most of you are probably aware, the Co-op suffered severe financial losses following the pandemic. Our situation had become pretty dire at the start of this year,” LaRose said to the membership. “When I took over as Interim, there was no shortage of difficult decisions that had to be made to ensure the Co-op could continue to operate responsibly. We were struggling to pay bills, the staff was exhausted in every way imaginable, our current building was in desperate need of repairs, and all of us were faced with the reality that we were not immune to the effect that the pandemic had on businesses.”

LaRose said, however, that the store has been profitable in all three months of the second quarter — April, May, June.

She also said that the co-op has received a large tax refund in July from the Employee Retention Tax Credit for retaining employees during the pandemic. That refund

Meet the Potsdam Neighborhood Center Director

POTSDAM -- Kristal Hayes has served local communities for eight years, serving as Potsdam Neighborhood Center Director for seven years and as Canton Neighborhood Center Director for one year prior to that.

Kristal Hayes

It takes unique individuals to work in Community Action and Kristal's dedication and compassion are assets to the work she does.

The Potsdam Center serves well over 100 households every month just for food assistance.

Kristal has obtained her Family Development Credential and is a "Getting Ahead Facilitator" through Bridges Out of Poverty. Kristal facilitates all Food Sense orders for all Neighborhood Centers as well as several other organizations that participate.

Stop in and meet Kristal at the Potsdam Neighborhood Center at 2 Park St., in the basement below the Potsdam Public Library. For questions about the Neighborhood Center, call 315-265-3920.

Potsdam Neighborhood Center fills an important community need

POTSDAM -- The Potsdam Neighborhood Center is an outreach program of the St. Lawrence County Community Development Program (CDP), providing food, clothing, housing assistance and many other services to families in need.

CDP's mission is to encourage and assist low-income individuals and families to obtain self-reliance, dignity, and self-sufficiency through education, guidance, and services. CDP has been effectively serving all communities of St. Lawrence County since 1966.

CDP was incorporated in 1965 as a not-for-profit community action agency and operates six Neighborhood Centers in Potsdam, Canton, Ogdensburg, Massena, Gouverneur and Colton/Parishville/Pierrepont. All centers offer a variety of services, some standard and some unique to each center.

Increase in utilization

With the end of the pandemic, some government stimulus support has ended, including supplemental SNAP benefits, formerly known as food stamps.

This has led to a significant increase recently in the utilization of our Neighborhood Centers.

Between October 2021 and September 2022, the Potsdam Neighborhood Center food pantry distributed nearly 62,000 pounds of food, thanks to Community Services Block Grant (CSBG) funding.

Since October 2022, the Potsdam Neighborhood

Center has distributed 55,000 pounds of food to 1,036 families or individuals in need.

Centers also receive generous grants through the United Way Emergency Food & Shelter Program and Stewart's Holiday Match Program.

Generous donations have also been received from various organizations, businesses, churches, and individuals throughout the county communities.

Donations gladly accepted

Many different forms of donations are gladly accepted. Examples include, but are not limited to, monetary donations, food, gently used clothing and shoes, housewares, pet food/products, personal hygiene items, baby items, games and toys, school supplies, small appliances, books, backpacks/purses, and services such as logo, brochure, and business card design.

Still, monetary donations from the community have drastically decreased in recent years.

The combination of events has put some Neighborhood Centers at risk of not being able to provide adequate services to their communities.

CSBG funds pay for Neighborhood Center directors' salaries.

Hunger Prevention and Nutrition Assistance (HPNAP) grants are earmarked for Neighborhood Centers and are administered by Food Bank CNY specifically for food purchases from them.

Road paving projects planned in Potsdam, Canton, this summer

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

CANTON — St. Lawrence County will see an additional 10 miles of county roads repaved this summer, in addition to the projects already slated for completion this summer.

Legislators approved a budget modification of $1.2 million during the finance committee on July 31.

In the 2023 budget, legislators originally approved paving 38.65 miles of roads.

County Highway Superintendent Don Chambers told legislators on the finance committee that he and County Administrator Ruth Doyle sat down for a meeting two weeks ago to discuss adding additional miles to the existing projects in progress.

“We’re going to slowly add additional road mileage to the county work this year,” he told legislators.

Chambers said he reviewed the entire county roadway system and came up with an additional 10 miles that would fit into the current plans.

Those roads that will see some work done will be recycled and surface treated, he said.

According to Chambers, it is his hope that additional CHIPS funding will become available in the future so more projects can be completed during the 2024 paving season, allowing the county to continue to expand on planned projects.

Last year, legislators and Doyle recommended adding 10 additional miles of paving to the planned schedule, which cost $2.1 million due to higher costs of materials.

Legislators again recommended adding an additional 10 miles this year as well to “address the challenges associated with ongoing maintenance of the county road system.”

In 2022, the county received $3,903,961 from the Consolidated Highway Improvement Fund and an additional $891,118 in PAVE-NY funding from the state, allowing the county to complete 26 miles of paving last summer.

In total, St. Lawrence County has 573 miles of county roads to maintain, along with other infrastructure.

Annually, the county has repaved anywhere from 28 to 32 miles of roads, officials say.

All county roads that are expected to be repaved this summer will be completed by county employees. The modification will now need final approval by the full board when they meet again next week.

Correction

NORFOLK — The headline for a front page story in last week’s edition incorrectly referred to the Town of Norfolk’s upcoming 200th anniversary celebration as a centennial. As the story indicated, the community is celebrating its bicentennial Aug. 4 to 6. North Country This Week regrets the error.

Burglary arrest

POTSDAM -- A Canton woman was charged with a felony following a larceny complaint at Walmart, 7494 U.S. Highway 11, according to St. Lawrence County sheriff’s deputies. Kayla L. Burkum, 35, was charged with third-degree burglary, felony, and petit larceny, officers said. Burkum had been issued a formal notice that she is no longer allowed in any Walmart properties.

Church renovation

CANTON — After over 125 years, the natural slates original to the 1896 construction of the Unitarian Universalist Church of Canton have been replaced with composite slates. Thanks to a generous grant of $2,000 from the Canton Community Fund and contributions from church members, Bertrand’s Construction from Ogdensburg began work on July 17 and completed the project within a week. The original slates were likely installed by steeple jacks.

Appellate Court affirms conviction of Massena murderer

The St. Lawrence County District Attorney has announced that the man convicted in the cold case murder of Lacey Yekel has lost his bid to overturn his 2019 conviction.

The Appellate Division, Third Judicial Department, on Thursday, July 27, denied the appeal of Christopher A. Hebert, 51, who argued that his conviction was not supported by the evidence and that other errors were committed during the trial.

Hebert killed Yekel on or around June 7, 2014 in Massena. Her skeletal remains were recovered from a wooded area near the Massena Industrial Park on Aug. 29, 2014.

In a unanimous decision, the Appellate Court found that the evidence was legally sufficient to support the verdict, and there were no other errors that would warrant reversal, Pasqua said in a press release.

“Although defendant could not be convicted solely upon his statements to others, there was significant evidence that corroborated the commission of the crime, including the fact that the victim’s skeletal remains, clothing and a tarp were found in the precise location relayed by defendant,” Justice Michael C. Lynch wrote.

In addition, the Court found Herbert’s claims of prosecutorial misconduct unpersuasive stating “The challenged statement and lines of inquiry by the prosecutor were either fair commentary on the evidence, necessary to complete a narrative, or were not so egregious as to deprive defendant of a fair trial.”

“We are very pleased with the Appellate Division’s decision today affirming the jury’s verdict and conviction of Christopher Hebert. I hope this will bring some sense of closure and peace to a family that waited almost five years for answers while the murder of their loved one went unsolved,” said District Attorney Gary Pasqua.

“Christopher Hebert violently murdered Lacey Yekel in cold-blood, confessed about that killing to several people, and then nearly avoided responsibility for that crime. Today’s decision confirms he committed this horrendous crime and provides the justice this young lady deserves,” Pasqua said.

At the original 2019 trial, five witnesses testified that Hebert told them he murdered the 24-year-old. One of his confessions was captured in a 2017 jail-house recording and played in the courtroom.

He was heard on the recording saying he was “consciously aware” of what he was doing and said he killed the woman because he had beaten her so severely that he would have gone to prison even if she hadn’t died.

Testimony at trial revealed the killer and victim had been using cocaine together the day of the murder, injecting it with needles.

Hebert had agreed to accept guns from Yekel to pay for the cocaine she was getting from him.

They went to the Industrial Park on the night of June 7, but there were no guns there, and that’s when Hebert killed her, according to the evidence presented at the trial.

During the trial, Hebert took the stand in his own defense, claiming Yekel died of a cocaine overdose.

During his testimony, he said he lied to people about murdering Yekel to gain clout among his criminal associates.

However, the jury didn’t buy Hebert’s story and ultimately found him guilty.

Massena man accused of killing cats with hammer

MASSENA — A Massena man was charged Monday after allegedly beating and killing three cats with a hammer, according to state police.

Edward A. Briel, 28, was charged with three counts of aggravated cruelty to animals, police said.

Troopers said Briel allegedly took the victims three cats and struck them with a hammer. Two cats were dead at the scene and one was euthanized at Java Veterinarian Clinic due to its injuries, police said.

The incident took place on SH 37 around 5 p.m., officers said.

Briel was arraigned in Norfolk court and released on his own recognizance, police said.

Municipal building funding options weighed

CANTON – With little or no foreseen grant funding to help pay for a new $25 million municipal building in Canton, town and village leaders are now looking at freeing up space within the current 60 Main Street building by relocating certain departments to alternate sites.

At a joint meeting held Wednesday night, members of both boards pondered the situation.

“Maybe the answer would be to find alternate sites for departments and lessen the cost of a new building,” stated Village Trustee Klaus Proemm. “We could look at options and arrive at a doable project.”

Deputy Mayor Anna Sorensen noted that funding is limited.

“There is not a lot of funding to build a municipal building. Eventually it would have to be funded by the taxpayers,” she said.

Mayor Michael Dalton said the project cost is a steep one.

“Twenty five million is well beyond what the village and town can do. We need to look at a combination of other things,” he remarked. “In order to consider this building and do what we want to do, we need to relocate departments.”

Dalton said once the former McDonald’s building next door is torn down, the parking situation for the municipal building will improve.

Village Trustee Barbara Beekman inquired about grant funding for courts followed by Town Councilman Robert Santamoor suggesting researching what grant opportunities are available for town courts and police departments.

“We can ask the police department and court what grants are out there,” he stated.

“The biggest chance is the courts,” added Dalton.

Town Supervisor Mary Ann Ashley pointed out that she has contacted state representatives to help secure any funding that could be available.

The matter was sent back to each board’s respective Infrastructure Committees for further review, mainly searching for alternate sites and funding sources.

In March, both boards were introduced to a municipal building presentation by Bryan Cowell and Ariel Snyder from BCA Architects and Engineers, Watertown.

Blueprints for the new building featured a two-story structure that would increase the square footage from 13,000 square feet at the current building to 35,000 square feet. The price tag would be $25,710,300.

The breakdown would be $17,550,000 for the new building, $1 million for demolition, $927,500 for inflation, $1,947,750 for contingency, and $4,285,000 for incidental expenses.

The first floor will have separate town and village offices, the court system and the police department with secured areas. The second floor will house the historian’s office, assessor’s office, the economic development office, and separate town and village code enforcement offices.

The bulk of the project will focus on the court area to be located in the rear of the building and will have secure passages and courtroom with a 160-person occupancy. Many specifications for a new court area are mandated by the state.

The proposal will see a parking lot at the site of the current building and the new municipal building constructed to the east.

Canton man who shot woman in neck on the lam, police seek help

BY JIMMY LAWTON
North Country This Week

CANTON — A Canton man is on the lam after skipping his sentencing for the crime of shooting a female victim in the neck in March of 2022.

Shawn Sheridan, 8 Mechanic St., Canton, was charged with first-degree assault and second-degree criminal possession of a weapon.

Sheridan pled guilty to the first-degree assault charge, but failed to show up at his July 18 sentencing.

Despite his failure to appear, the judge sentenced Sheridan to 12.5 years in prison and issued a warrant for his arrest.

St. Lawrence County District Attorney Gary Pasqua said Sheridan had already had a warrant out for failing to abide by terms of his supervised bail release.

Pasqua said that he believes the sentencing is appropriate. He said he had several conversations with the victim who was hoping Sheridan would be sentenced to at least 10 years.

He said the plea agreement saved the victim from having to relive the trauma in the courtroom

Pasqua said Sheridan has proven himself dangerous, but he’s uncertain if he poses any immediate danger to the public. However, he expressed concerns that he could pose a serious threat to officers or deputies attempting to apprehend him.

“We believe him to be a dangerous individual based on his conduct and what he was convicted of, but I don’t know at this point if he is a danger to anyone aside from law enforcement,” he said.

Pasqua is urging anyone with information regarding Sheridan’s whereabouts to contact the St. Lawrence County Sheriff’s Department at 315-379-2222.

“We have an individual who has shown a propensity for violence. We want to see that he’s brought in as quickly and peacefully as possible,” he said.

St. Lawrence County Undersheriff Sean O’Brien confirmed that a warrant was issued for Sheridan’s arrest and that law enforcement is working to locate him.

The crime

On the morning of March 9 2022, at approximately 1:42 a.m., St. Lawrence County Sheriff’s Deputies responded to a reported domestic incident at 49 South Woods Road in Rossie.

Upon their arrival, it was determined that a victim had been shot in the neck during the reported domestic incident.

The victim sustained serious injuries and was transported by Medivac to Upstate Hospital in Syracuse for treatment

Over the initial course of this incident, Deputy Sheriff Matthew Merria arrested Sheridan, who was armed with a long gun and a knife, by himself, reports the sheriff’s office.

Deputy Merria also had an intern riding with him at the time of this call, and they were both able to render aid to the female victim until rescue could respond to the scene.

The St. Lawrence County Sheriff’s office has issued a warrant for his arrest.

Sen. Schumer visits Lisbon while pushing dairy farm support bill

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

LISBON — Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer is pushing a bill to keep the Dairy Margin Coverage (DMC) Program intact.

In a visit to Keystone Dairy today, Aug. 1, Schumer said it was time to “churn up support to protect this program for upstate New York farmers and consumers.”

“St. Lawrence County is the heart of Upstate New York’s dairy industry, with over 230 dairy farms, and by the end of this year many could be looking over a ‘dairy cliff’ that threatens lifeline payments, puts the industry in limbo, and increases the price of milk,” Schumer said.

The program, first passed in 1999, was authored by Schumer during his first term in the Senate.

The DMC is a program that offers monthly price support payments from the federal government to dairy farmers during times when expenses to produce dairy products outweigh the income from the sale of such products.

Though the program has been utilized this year, pumping millions of dollars into dairy farms across the country to offset declining dairy prices, Schumer said in many years such payments have not been necessary to keep farms afloat.

“This program gives monthly payments to our dairy farmers to make up the differences for the price of milk and dairy products. It’s a lifeline to our farmers. But if Congress doesn’t pass it, it could expire and that could mean our farmers go without the insurance provided by the DMC,” Schumer said.

According to Glenn Bullock, executive director of the Farm Service Agency for the USDA, DMC payments released to farms nationwide yesterday and today totaled $797,831,245.

For farms in New York state,

$74,468,950 has been received over the last two days.

Schumer said he worked with the New York Farm Bureau in 2018 to pass the bill that offered a “vital lifeline” to many farmers.

“We need to get this done and there are problems in the agriculture bill. That shouldn’t affect the DMC. I’m launching a new course to protect this program and as Senate Majority leader...I’m going to do everything I can to see this program is produced as part of the whole farm bill, or separately if we have to do that,” he said.

But other issues will also arise if the bill isn’t passed, Schumer said.

“The price of milk could potentially double. Cheese and other milk products could also double in price. And then we’d see billions of dollars in avoidable government spending because the Fed would go back to a policy from the 1950’s where they bought milk off the market,” Schumer said.

Schumer said St. Lawrence County, the second biggest milk producing county in the country, would be among the first impacted if the bill is not approved by Congress before Sept. 30.

According to Schumer, a lapse in the DMC would endanger North Country farmers and could have irreparable harm to the local economy.

But Schumer said the bill, which has always had bipartisan support, is a top priority for both the House and Senate as the deadline looms.

“Right now, margins for dairy producers are about as tough as I’ve ever seen them. Thankfully, the DMC program is built for times like these,” said Keystone Farms Co-owner Eric Fonda.

“In recent years, the DMC program has provided our 7-million-pound dairy farm with much needed support in the face of milk prices falling below the cost of production, providing as much as 10% of our farm’s income some months,” Fonda said.

Schumer and Fonda alike both spoke to the impact dairy farms have on the local economy, with dairy farms in St. Lawrence County selling around $140 million in dairy products every year.

“That’s 72% of the profits of agriculture products in the whole county,” Schumer said.

Catherine de Ronde, Vice President of Economics & Legislative Affairs, Agri-Mark Dairy Cooperative also spoke to the initiative to pass the DMC, saying dairy farmers also play a crucial role in regional food security.

“The Dairy Margin Coverage (DMC) Program is a vital safety-net that has proved invaluable in recent months. Congress must act to reauthorize the pending 2023 farm bill and ensure that the DMC program remains intact and evolves to fit the needs of today’s dairy farmers,” de Ronde said.

Chairman of the St. Lawrence County Legislature David Forsythe also spoke to the impact failing to pass the bill would have on the local economy, saying farmers are the backbone of the North Country.

“It’s only right and fitting that our elected officials stand up for the agricultural community, as Sen. Schumer has done today, to support this essential part of the nation’s economy with the inclusion of the dairy margin coverage, the next farm bill. The needed support that you deserve, this is not only about the continued success of the agricultural community but also for those rural communities like Lisbon,” he said.

Congress is expected to take up the bill again in the near future, with hopes of both the House of Representatives and Senate passing it before the current bill expires on Sept. 30.

Local musician to be honored

BY ADAM ATKINSON
North Country This Week

NORWOOD — A familiar face on local stages for decades will be honored for his work with the Norwood Village Green Concert Series.

Local musician Andy Van Duyne who has provided professional audio tech services, stage management and has run the PA at the series over the last 50 years will have a plaque dedicated in his honor at the village green at the upcoming Aug. 10 concert featuring the Norwood Brass Firemen.

Series founder and director Joe Liotta praised Van Duyne’s service to the series.

“If it weren’t for Andy, I wouldn’t have been able to do this for 50 years,” Liotta told North Country This Week.

The plaque will be installed in the backstage area, but Liotta is planning a presentation to Van Duyne from the stage.

The plaque reads: “Andrew H. Van Duyne, Musician, Educator, Community Servant, Technical Director for the Norwood Village Green Concert Series for 5 decades. ‘Without Andy, the Series would not have achieved its successes.’”

Van Duyne, who relocated to the area in 1973 when he attended the Crane School of Music, taught music for 32 years at Norwood-Norfolk Central School. He is a well known and accomplished musician who has performed rock, folk, country, and jazz in dozens of local bands over the years.

A multi-instrumentalist, vocalist and singer, he currently can be seen and heard as a member of the duo Microburst, the band Northbound, the Brass Firemen, King Kong and Fay Wray and sitting in with other musicians and groups like Mary Ann Casale and String Solstice.

SLC addiction, mental health treatment rate figures remain high

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

CANTON — Numbers remain consistent within the Community Services Clinic, including with addiction services, the mental health clinic and Outpatient Treatment Program (OTP).

Community Services Director Jay

Ulrich told county legislators recently that the averages for each department remain about the same, despite a history of numbers declining slightly during the summer months.

“The numbers are not quite as strong this month but they’re about the same,” he said.

Ulrich said changes to scheduling were made, with the month of June being the first month to reflect those changes.

“We met with each councilor and we came up with a matrix or a mix of what they needed in terms of how many 45 min visits, 30 min visits, 15 min visits they needed,” he said.

Ulrich said the scheduling assessment and changes are part of a corrective action plan to better utilize appointment slots.

According to Ulrich, in some cases appointments scheduled to last 45 minutes only lasted 30 minutes, leaving time available that could have been utilized for additional patients.

“We need to correct that and adjust,” he said.

The summer months are tough months for Community Services, he said, noting that a number of patients don’t come in for a variety of reasons, including nicer weather.

When it comes to the waitlist, Ulrich said the only two people still on the list are seeking OTP services currently.

“At the time it was five, now we’re down to two. Those are individuals who can’t be seen in a five day period,” he said.

Billing services have also dramatically improved, he said, with the previous issues largely being sorted in recent months.

“In terms of the billing process, I’m fairly confident we’ve got it about 90% fixed,” he said.

Ulrich said fixes have been put in place for background settings that have made it easier to get reimbursement.

Insurance claims are also dropping and getting reimbursed faster and in full, he said.

Revenue for Community Services totaled $257,016 for the month of June, with $165,000 being accounted for through OTP, Ulrich said.

During the meeting, Legislator Harry Smithers questioned the decline in wait list numbers, in particular those seeking mental health assistance.

“How do you explain it going down to zero? Are they getting help somewhere else,” he asked.

Ulrich said his staff have been able to bring more people in for case and in many cases have been able to reach those who are in need.

But hiring is still an issue, as two positions still remain open.

“We’ve had them for well over a year,” Ulrich told legislators.

Despite the two open positions, Ulrich said he and his staff will continue to look for and find ways to improve services and to ensure that everyone who needs care will be able to receive it in a timely fashion.

Nature's Storehouse now under new ownership

CANTON — The owners of the Adirondack Fragrance and Flavor Farm are now the proud owners of Nature's Storehouse in downtown Canton.

Yen and Clark Maine recently purchased the natural food and supplement business at 21 Main Street.

"We are thrilled to share the news of this purchase with everyone in the community who has helped make Nature's Storehouse such a vibrant, nurturing place," said Yen Maine. "As the new owners, we are deeply grateful for the incredible legacy that Rainbow, Joshua, and the entire Nature's team have built over the past two decades."

For Rainbow and Joshua Crabtree, who purchased the store back in 2002, new owners Yen and Clark Maine are a "natural fit."

"Joshua and I are excited to pass the baton to Yen and Clark. They are invested in the North Country and committed to working with local farmers and partnering with the community," says Rainbow Crabtree. "They are already owners of an independent natural products business and understand the value of Nature's to the community. We are confident they will succeed."

For the past 21 years, the Crabtrees have steadily grown the business at 21 Main Street with the help of a dedicated team of employees and loyal support from the community. Beginning their search for the next store owners more than a year ago, they worked with the Center for Businesses in Transition (CBIT) — a program established by the Adirondack North Country Association (ANCA) in 2018 to retain area businesses — and local CBIT liaisons at the St. Lawrence County Chamber of Commerce to find the right buyers who were genuinely invested in the business' neighborhood presence and its important role in the region. The Crabtrees eventually found their ideal successors in Yen and Clark Maine.

The couple has roots in the North Country and returned to the area in 2022 to build their family and assume leadership roles at their family business, Adirondack Fragrance and Flavor Farm. The company was started in 1979, by Clark's mother, successful local entrepreneur Sandy Maine, who sold her other well-known business SunFeather Natural Soap Company in 2009.

Yen and Clark Maine are working closely with the Crabtrees to ensure a smooth transition. The Maines have no plans for major changes to the business operations or dedicated Nature's Storehouse team other than incremental investments and enhancements as needed.

Upcoming events and offers include a Meet the New Owners Day, a Customer Appreciation Week and special discounts.

"We are excited to join the Canton community and committed to upholding the values and traditions that have made Nature's Storehouse so beloved," said Yen Maine. "We look forward to building the store's future together."

Nature's Storehouse is a full-service health food store located in the vibrant college town of Canton, N.Y. Founded in 1972 and independently owned and managed, the business and its ownership have remained committed to providing the local community with natural, organic, and local goods for more than 50 years. Located in an historic brick building, Nature's Storehouse is home to wellness practitioners and a retail space selling local produce, dairy, bulk foods, spices and herbs, grocery, supplements, body products, gifts, and house-made take-out. The 2016 recipient of the St. Lawrence County Chamber of Commerce Customer Service Excellence Award, Nature's Storehouse is a mainstay of healthy living in New York's North Country.

Adirondack Fragrance and Flavor Farm (ADKFF) is a family-owned, women-led, farm-to-home clean fragrance company founded in 1979 by longtime natural perfumer Sandy Maine. The farm's mission is to connect people everywhere to the wilderness of Adirondack Forest through its more than 200 natural fragrance products. The company uses all-natural ingredients, unique Adirondack botanicals, and collaborative artisanal processes in the creation of all its products. Yen and Clark Maine took over in 2022. ## Potsdam DRI public design workshop set

North Country This Week

POTSDAM — Village residents and stakeholders will have one more chance to offer up ideas, concepts, requests and concerns regarding the village's planned multi-million dollar downtown rehabilitation.

The Village of Potsdam has scheduled its final public design workshop for the Downtown Revitalization Initiative (DRI) funded Downtown Streetscape Enhancement and Riverwalk Project on Thursday, Aug. 3, from 6-8 p.m. in the Community Room above the Village Police Station, 2 Park St. The Community Room is accessible for persons with disabilities.

The $4.3 million Downtown Streetscape and Riverwalk Trail Project is funded through the Department of State and is part of the village's $10 million Downtown Revitalization Initiative award the village received in 2019.

The first section of the Downtown Riverwalk Trail through Garner Park on Raymond Street was completed in the fall of 2021. Grant funds from the Department of State's Local Waterfront Revitalization Program funded through the NYS Environmental Protection Fund were used to undertake the first phase of the Riverwalk Trail.

Once complete, the project will develop a multi-modal riverwalk trail that will provide greater public access to the Raquette River shoreline.

Planned improvements include new sidewalks and curbs, decorative pavements and striping, ADA and crosswalk improvements, art in the landscape, roadway resurfacing, green stormwater infrastructure, street tree plantings, signage and way finding, streetscape furnishings and bike and pedestrian facilities.

After the conclusion of the Aug. 3 public workshop, design work and permitting is expected to roll out by fall, project bidding and contract approvals are slated for winter and spring, and finally construction will begin sometime in next year.

The village's DRI award is supporting extensive project work in the community and among a local businesses and non-profits including an expansion of the Potsdam Food Co-op, a community skate and art park, and expansions and rehab work of the North Country Children's Museum, North Country Arts Center, Market Square Mall, and Roxy Theater.

The state's DRI program redirects millions of taxpayer dollars each year to single communities in various regions of the state through a competitive process some detractors have referred to as the "Hunger Games."

Most recently in St. Lawrence County, Massena was named the recipient of a DRI award in 2021.

The DRI program connects various state approved projects in the recipient communities with specific state agencies and funding streams, often with local match funding match and public engagement requirements.

Potsdam has sponsored three public design workshops thus far seeking public input in the design process for the Streetscape Enhancement and Riverwalk Trail project including a meeting to solicit input from downtown business and property owners, a second workshop geared toward community residents and most recently, a third at Potsdam SummerFest.

Potsdam's design consulting team from LaBella Associates and CLA Sites are collecting comments from residents, business owners and property owners and will use them to inform the draft for the project's final design.

Residents of the Village and interested parties are encouraged to attend this final design workshop to learn more about the proposed project design and take advantage of the opportunity to provide comments to the Village and its design team, a press release from the village said.

The concept plans for the Downtown Streetscape Enhancement and the Riverwalk Trail are also available for the public to view and offer comments. The plans are on display in the Civic Center Board Room. Written comments will be accepted until Aug. 8.

For more information contact Fred Hanss, Director of the Village of Potsdam Planning and Development Office at fhanss@vi.potsdam.ny.us or (315) 265-1670.

Raffle benefits N-N-R Christmas fund

NORWOOD — The residents of 4 Baldwin Avenue of Baldwin Acres had an exclusive raffle to benefit the Norwood Norfolk Raymondville Christmas fund.

Raffle tickets were sold over a six week period by Robin Van Guilder beginning in May and ending the day of the drawing on June 24.

Paula Wells pulled out the winning ticket held by Jody Sabad. Kelly Lustik who chairs the Christmas fund was notified of the raffle and was given the money in the amount of $140.

"A huge thank you goes out to all who helped with this raffle and the residents are very happy to help the community. Please remember we live in senior citizen housing and we are still a very active part of our community's needs. On this statement, they challenge other senior citizens' housing facilities to beat this amount they achieved," a press release from the residents said.

Thanks for a magical music reunion Event organizers are unsung heroes of local entertainment

The Ogdensburg International Seaway Festival wrapped up this weekend and featured one of the best fireworks displays I've seen in St. Lawrence County.

The week was filled with family fun thanks to a countless number of volunteers who dedicated months of time to bring it all together.

To all those who helped out, I

Editor's Notebook

appreciate your hard work and dedication.

Although not officially part of the Seaway Festival, a small but magic thing happened on Ford Street recently, and while most St. Lawrence County residents probably missed it, for those in attendance it was quite the reunion.

In the 1990s and early 2000s, the local music scene here was thriving. Nearly every weekend teenagers played live music at community centers and American Legions, garages and Hurleys in Potsdam.

It was no small task to convince venues to allow for the mayhem that ensued, but somehow dedicated musicians worked to make it happen.

The music scene created something rare, it brought kids across the county together on a near weekly basis.

Many of the life-long friendships I formed were created by this atmosphere. As the years went on many of us left and would return from time to time.

New bands would form and Sully's Tavern in Ogdensburg had become the venue of choice for the old bands, when they reunited from time to time.

When COVID-19 hit, bars took a major blow. Live music sort of dried up for a bit and people fell out of touch.

Greg Bresett, an Ogdensburg Free Academy graduate, artist musician who was at the forefront of the old music scene and who has probably set up more live shows than some professional managers, decided it was time to bring everyone back together during the Seaway Festival.

He currently plays in a successful surf rock band in the Syracuse area called Underwater Bosses, but you may recognize him from other bands including Milwaukee Talkee, Snake Blood Drinker or The Oswegatchie River Boys. I'm probably leaving out a half-dozen other bands he was in, including his short stint with my old cover band The Smugglers.

Bresett has helped set up dozens of jamborees to benefit various families and people in need over the years.

He worked with young musicians

It was like a class reunion for people who didn't attend school together, but were united through a love for music.

and promoted newly formed bands in the area for years.

This year, as sort of a pseudo-Seaway festival event, he decided it was time to get everyone back together.

He reached out to members of some of the old-area musicians and got Flood to join the Underwater Bosses and Milwaukee Talkee to perform once again at Sully's.

The event drew well over a hundred people to the small bar. It brought friends back together, many of whom hadn't been reunited in close to a decade.

It was like a class reunion for a group of people who didn't attend school together, but were united through a love for music.

Recently, I wrote about the local events around the county that are worth attending and as an adult I have to say this little zap of lightning in a bottle was a great experience.

Everyday while we go to work there are people out there working to create such events for us. Sometimes it's organized groups and sometimes it's just people with a vision.

So thanks to Greg and the hundreds of others out in the community that put in the time and effort for the rest of us to enjoy these little pieces of magic. It's appreciated.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Don't feed the waterfowl

One of the great things about living in the North Country is having plenty of access to water. For the same reason, waterfowl love the North Country also. As a result, humans and waterfowl often come into close contact. Something about the waterfowl, especially ones that readily habituate to a human presence (like Mallards), we find irresistible. Kids and adults love watching them, and feel the desire to attract them, and to treat them to the kindness of free food. It's all with light hearted good intentions.

There is a sad truth here though, that can't be seen in those brief encounters. You only see it when you observe these animals throughout the entire cycle of the seasons. The sad truth is that these intended acts of kindness have devastating consequences for the waterfowl being fed. Often the artificial feeding leads to nutritional deficiencies or imbalances that can lead to crippling conditions in the animals.

It creates overcrowding leading to potential disease spread, and perhaps even more disturbing, unnatural changes in behavior and a basic degradation of the individual animals as well as the species.

In nature, Mallards spend the majority of their time foraging. When humans provide food, they fill their bellies in just a few minutes. Not needing to forage, they take to other activities, such as relentlessly attacking other Mallards until they eventually kill them – not so cute after all. Perhaps the most devastating and inevitable consequence is the loss of the migratory instinct. If Mallards are fed throughout the Summer and into the Fall, they simply will not leave the area. They'll find open water nearby, but they won't find enough food to survive the Winter. The "kindness" we bestow upon these graceful creatures, unfortunately, leads to their demise.

Please continue to observe and admire them in their habitat, and show them true kindness by not altering their habitat with unnatural food sources. There is a chance that if the feeding is discontinued early enough, they will feel their natural food sources dwindling in August, and their natural instincts may return in time. Please, please, please, don't feed Mallards or any waterfowl.

Minister supports CARE Act

Dear Saint Lawrence County Board of Legislators,

As a Minister of Word and Sacrament in the Presbyterian Church (USA), and as the spiritual leader of my congregation, it is my charge and duty to care for my congregants – their spirits, souls, and bodies.

This is why I am in support of the CARE Act in New York State.

In many ways, religious leaders are like doctors. It is our job to help people find healing and wholeness in their lives, and this work begins, just as it does with physicians, with "doing no harm."

For this reason, it is imperative that clergy be required to report known physical and sexual abuse when it is brought to our attention. For us to have the legal option to look the other way is an injustice to our congregants who entrust us with their care.

I would like to say that clergy respect our congregants' needs for care and trust, but at times our own human proclivities overrun us. We can be fearful of the political consequences of calling out abuse; we can become arrogant and assume that we have the resources to deal with situations involving abuse "in house," when in fact we do not; and at times we run the risk of taking on the role of God by offering forgiveness to offenders of abuse before justice is served.

Currently, New York State lags behind nearly 30 other states at holding clergy responsible when abuse is reported to us. This must change. Every week newspapers report on clergy who have covered up abuse, and our society is becoming increasingly aware of the exponential harm this causes.

It's time to act. It's time to hold clergy responsible. It's time for us to become mandated reporters of physical and sexual abuse.

I am counting on you to do the right thing – to hold me and my colleagues responsible for doing our jobs properly. Like other community leaders, we must serve the community by stopping harm in its tracks.

The Rev. Katrina Hebb
Minister of the First Presbyterian Church, Potsdam

NCNOW SURVEY

The Question: Do you support marijuana being sold at fairs, festivals and other events in St. Lawrence County?

Most do not want marijuana being sold at events in St. Lawrence County

Debbie Morgan | NCTW

MARIJUANA CAN NOW be legally sold to adults over age 21 at fairs, festivals, and other venues in New York state under a measure approved by state regulators July 19. Pot farmers around New York have said they entered this growing season still stockpiling marijuana from last year because the state has been opening stores too slowly. There are only 20 licensed retailers currently open statewide, and more than 40 in development, according to regulators. Do you support marijuana being sold at fairs, festivals and other events in St. Lawrence County?

HERE ARE COMMENTS from some survey participants:

'If the wineries are allowed to sell their products, marijuana growers should be allowed to sell products as well.'

'Yes, as long as it is only sold to adults over 21 years of age. Just like alcohol, ID is mandatory in order to buy it.'

'I've seen people cause a scene because they got drunk at a public event. I have never seen someone make a scene while high at a public event. Weird.'

'No! I will immediately leave any fair or festival selling pot. This is crazy and dangerous.'

'Absolutely not due to the presence of minors at all these events. Keep it accessible in stores that minors are not allowed to enter.'

TO READ MORE COMMENTS, visit NorthCountryNow.com/ncnow-survey.

TO TAKE THE CURRENT SURVEY, visit bit.ly/3ZpfrM.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION: Many fairs will be happening throughout the state and North Country this month. Will you be attending any fairs this year?

The NCNow Survey is an unscientific poll of visitors to NorthCountryNow.com who choose to participate. Please keep comments to 150 words or fewer; all are subject to editing.

Great Civil War Weekend

We held our third annual Civil War weekend at Fort Tribute, July 29-30. I would like to thank Ron Sheppard, President of the Board of Trustees, Roger Austin, Trustee, as well as all of the volunteers of the St. Lawrence

Power and Equipment Museum for their support.

We also want to acknowledge the support of Timothy Cryderman, President of the St. Lawrence County Historical Association Board of Trustees, SLCHA Marianna Locke, Director of Operations and SLCHA Carlene Bermann, Director of Collections & Community Engagement, SLCHA Tracy Robertson, Events Coordinator and their volunteers for all of the support they gave to this weekend. This joint partnership enabled this weekend to be a huge success.

Many thanks to the sponsors including: SeaComm, Edward C. Seymour VFW Post 1231, Anson Burke AllState Insurance Agency, Niles Asset Management, Massena Transport, Parkway Auto Group, Tim Hortons & Parkway Express, St. Lawrence Federal Credit Union and Scott and Doreen Wilson.

Special thanks to the reenactors, who come from near and as far as Virginia, New Hampshire and Maine to share their knowledge of this time period. Without all of those living historians none of this would have been possible.

Commemorating a wife, mother and sister

One year ago, my wife, Nancy Adella [Petrie] Walters, mother to a daughter Tammy Lynn [Petrie] Weaver (William) of Potsdam, NY; a son Timothy Scott Walters (Lisa) of Hudson, NY; a brother Herbert Dale Petrie (Patricia) of Arlington, TX; a grandson William Wallis Walters of Hopewell Jct., NY; an adopted grandson Dillon Evans Walters, Oneonta, NY, and 56 years of Heavenly bliss in marriage to Henry Wallis Walters, Potsdam, NY. Nancy also has many friends, nephews, nieces and cousins biologically and through marriage, in the U.S.A. from border to border, coast to coast.

Born May 2, 1944 at Ogdensburg Hospital, her End of Life came at 10:56 PM on August 1, 2022 in St. Joseph's Hospital Heart Center, Syracuse, NY due to cardiac arrest and was interred in section A Bayside Cemetery, Potsdam, NY August 8, 2022 under the direction of Donaldson-Seymour Funeral Home, Potsdam.

Daily, her daughter Tammy (Bill) and Nancy's husband Henry, comes to her gravesite. Henry talks to her Spirit and sings their dance songs as loudly as he can: "Could I Have This Dance For The Rest Of My Life" 3 times and flows into "I'm In Love With You Always" 2 times and flows into a third song, "I Love You Truly" 3 times and ends singing final verse to "I'm In Love With You... A L W A Y S..." rain, shine or snow.

Norwood Golden Agers thank Norwood

Norwood Golden Agers, would like to publicly express our thanks to Norwood Mayor Tim Levison and staff for letting us have A Meet and Greet in March at the Municipal Building; Norwood Library and staff for letting us hold our first meeting in April; Rev. Kathryn Boswell who offered us a permanent room for our meetings and activities at St. Philips Episcopal Church; and The American Legion and Elaine Saarinen, for our first fundraiser and helping us to resume The Norwood Golden Agers Senior Citizen Club.

Norwood Golden Agers started their club 56 years ago in the Fall of 1967 in Norwood. They built their membership up to about 89 members over the years. Then Covid came. No more meetings. So we decided to resume the club again. With the help of the of the names we've mentioned we now have 26 new members.

Our meetings are in St. Philips Church in Norwood on the fourth Tuesday of every month at 1 p.m. We will have speakers at every meeting. Plus maybe another date when speakers have to travel to get here. These speakers will help our Senior Citizen with things they didn't know about. There will be activities; chair yoga, social afternoon, craft projects, day trips, SUNY and Ogdensburg for shows and special lunches and holiday doings, etc.

So all Senior Citizens from Norwood and surrounding areas come and join us, have fun, enjoy making new friends and find out what's out there for us. Dues are $5 a year, for 50 years old and up.

On behalf of our board and members, thank you so much to the people that helped us restart our Club again.

Byrd, Lambiase Group to perform at Village Green

NORWOOD — The Norwood Village Green Concert Series will continue its 50th Anniversary Season on Sunday, Aug. 6 with a special performance from the world touring Brad Byrd and The Ray Lambiase Group at 7 p.m.

Brad Byrd is a name that you have likely heard over the years. Whether it be from consistent new music releases, syncs in popular TV shows & and major films, to radio play (legendary LA radio DJ Nic Harcourt has been spinning Byrd's in rotation for years), to national and regional touring, the songwriter/troubadour has made a name for himself along the way.

After years bouncing from Boston to NYC to LA and back, Byrd resides in the high desert of California. Transitioning away from the frenetic city life, has allowed the artist the space to produce his work in a more focused and joyful manner. Byrd has also made a name for himself as an abstract painter in recent years for the same reason. The pandemic aided in drifting away from Los Angeles and allowed Byrd to slow down and focus on writing some of his strongest material that authentically reflects the human condition back at the listener. Yearly national runs around the country in his touring van have transformed him into a seasoned road warrior and when he's not delivering a full band performance backed by top session/touring musicians in Los Angeles, Brad Byrd has a polished, one-of-a-kind solo show where he plays drums, bass, keys, and loops swelling guitars over edgy tunes.

Ray Lambiase began writing and performing his own songs as a teenager on Long Island. In the late '70's he was involved in the early formation of the legendary Racquette River Rounders. After traveling the college coffeehouse circuit in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, he formed his first band and recorded Slow Dance Romeo/Who'll Run to You Now in the early 1980s.

During a career with ABC TV News he continued to perform, record, and write songs. Now retired from the daily news grind, Ray continues his musical odyssey. His fourth CD, 'Kid Bayonne', debuted in December 2018 at #7 on the Folk DJ radio chart, and featured ten original songs, anchored by the title cut suggesting love is always worth fighting for. Ray Lambiase has recently released his fifth full length CD, 'The Road Ahead', featuring eleven new songs that celebrate a range of Americana musical genres, and stories that will introduce listeners to a number of new memorable characters.

The band features nationally recognized musicians Kenny Kosek on fiddle (performed with Jerry Garcia, James Taylor), John Widgren (performed with Martina McBride, Toby Keith) on pedal steel, and Howard Emerson (performed with Billy Joel, Eric Andersen) on guitar.

These performances are supported by the Sweetgrass Foundation. The series is also supported in part by the Office of the Governor and New York State Legislature.

For further information consult the series website: nvgs.org or call 315-261-2866.

Village Green to host Brass Firemen

NORWOOD — The Norwood Village Green Concert Series will continue its 50th Anniversary Season on Thursday, Aug. 10 with a special performance from Norwood's very own The Brass Firemen at 7 p.m. The original inspiration for the Norwood Village Green Concert Series, organizers said it was only fitting to make sure they were a part of the 50th Anniversary Celebration. The Brass Firemen is a brass band composed primarily of volunteer firemen, founded by Fred Morgan in 1945. The band has played in front of numerous audiences ever since.

In 1979 the band was invited to play in Albany, New York and was telecast across the state.

In 1980, the band was invited by former Congressman David O'Brien Martin to play in Washington, DC on the Capitol steps and also at the Lincoln Memorial. The band was invited back to Washington DC in 1982 to play for then First Lady Nancy Reagan.

The band played on and performed at the International Luge event held in Lake Placid, New York in 1983. The band as usual drew notice while performing, this time from the US Olympic Committee (USOC), and was invited to play at the 1984 Winter Olympics held in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia. The Brass Firemen would be the Official USA Band in the Opening Ceremonies for the 1984 Winter Olympic Games.

The Brass Firemen play a mix of New Orleans style jazz, military, and traditional marching band standards, affectionately referred to by the band members as, "Dixieland jazz, North Country style."

This performance is supported by the Sweetgrass Foundation. The series is supported by the Office of the Governor and New York State Legislature.

Snack Pack Program hosting 'Back to School Fair' in Potsdam Aug. 19

POTSDAM — The Potsdam Snack Pack Program, in cooperation with the Potsdam Central School District and Potsdam Chamber of Commerce, will host the fifth annual "Back to School Fair" Aug. 19

The event will be held from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at New Hope Community Church, 33 Grant St. Students will receive free school supplies, and have access to other necessities such as socks, basic hygiene items, and a limited number of vouchers for free haircuts.

"The Potsdam Business Community looks forward to its partnership with the Potsdam Snack Pack Program to help collect supplies that will help offset financial burdens families with school-age children face," said Megan Mulvenna, executive director of the Potsdam Chamber of Commerce. "We participated in the inaugural event in 2019 and we are excited to resume our collaboration with the program."

Opportunities are still available for organizations or community members interested in sponsoring an activity, hosting a table with resource information, donating school supplies, or volunteering to help at the various stations.

Stop by the Chamber Office, located at 6

Market Street, to drop off your donation and find out ways to get involved.

Other locations accepting donations include the B99-3 radio station, New Hope Community Church, The UPS Store in Potsdam, and Foster the Plant Café.

To learn more about how you can support the Potsdam Snack Pack Program and the Back-to-School Fair visit their website, www.potsdamsnackpack.org, or Facebook page.

According to Brendan Lennox, the co-coordinator of the Back-to-School Fair, the goal is to "provide a safe and fun atmosphere where families can enjoy the carnival games, food, prizes, and much more as the children receive school supplies. Last year we distributed 280 bags filled with school supplies, 120 new backpacks, and other essential items to help get students ready for school."

The fair will also bring together resource providers, businesses, and organizations with information on programs to serve local families.

Students will also have access to hundreds of brand-new books suitable for k-12 readers, made possible through the collaboration between The UPS Store and Toys for Tots Literacy Program.

Cranberry Lake Art Show slated

CRANBERRY LAKE — The 6th annual Cranberry Lake Art Show will take place Aug. 12 and 13 at the Cranberry Lake Fire Hall.

Over 45 North Country artists are expected to participate.

The artist created pieces will be on display both days, and include paintings, photography, furniture, fabric art, pottery, wooden sculptures and jewelry.

The show is open 10-3 both days.

The live auction will be held Saturday, Aug. 12 at 3 p.m.

Artist demonstrations of techniques and approaches will be held on Sunday, Aug. 13.

The silent auction will be held both days and closes at 2 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 13.

Food and drink will be available and provided by the Cranberry Lake Fire and Rescue Department. A chicken BBQ by the Fire Department will be held for lunch Saturday.

MADRID — Cannons blasted, rifles fired, and wounded soldiers fell at the Civil War Reenactment Weekend held at Fort Tribute in Madrid.

The reenactment drew hundreds of people to the St. Lawrence Power and Equipment Museum on July 29 and 30. The weekend was filled with a variety of events, including tours of the military camps, infantry, artillery and cavalry drills were held.

Period cooking and field hospital demonstrations were given. Civil War era artifacts and displays, speakers and music were also available for attendees.

Organizer Scott Wilson thanked the many reenactors who volunteer their time to make history come alive. The reenactors came from as far as Maine and Virginia, as well as Canada, but many were also local residents.

Remington Golf Classic set

CANTON - The Frederic Remington Art Museum is hosting its 18th Annual Golf Classic fundraiser on Friday, Aug. 18, at the St. Lawrence University Golf and Country Club to benefit the Museum.

There are men's, women's and mixed divisions.

Pre-registration fee is $85 per golfer which includes 18 holes captain and crew golf, golf carts, cash prizes, a silent auction, door prizes for everyone, and a meal immediately following the tournament in the Laurentian

Room at the Best Western University Inn.

There is a limited number of teams so pre-registration is necessary. For more information and to register, call Debbie Ormasen at 315-393-2425 or 315-486-2799. Participants can also pay online through the Museum's website.

The Museum seeks sponsors for the event, to help defray the cost of the tournament.

To help sponsor the event, contact Debbie Ormasen at 315-393-2425.

St. Lawrence University hockey teams announce 2023-24 schedules

CANTON — The St. Lawrence University hockey teams are gearing up for the 2023-24 season.

Women's Season

The women's season will feature two exhibition games, 12 non-conference games, 10 out of the first 11 games at home and a trip to Ohio State after Thanksgiving.

The St. Lawrence University men's hockey team has announced their 2023-24 schedule that includes 12 non-conference games, a match-up against the US National Development team, and the University of Ottawa, along with their ECAC slate.

The Scarlet and Brown open the year with two exhibition games at Appleton Arena against Colgate on September 23 for Laurentian Weekend and a Tuesday night tilt with McGill University Sept. 26.

Following the exhibition games, St. Lawrence will play a large portion of their home schedule that spans 10 out of the first 11 games. The Saints will host Mercyhurst Sept. 29-30 and Providence Oct. 6-7.

The Saints then travel to Vermont for their first away game on Thursday, Oct. 12, before heading back home to take on the Catamounts on Saturday, October 14. St. Lawrence will host RIT on Oct. 19, and is scheduled to open ECAC Hockey play the following weekend against Princeton and Quinnipiac, October 27-28.

The Saints will play two non-conference games against Route 11 rival Clarkson on November 10 and 11. St. Lawrence will then continue ECAC play and mix in a post-Thanksgiving trip to Ohio State before closing out the semester on the road at Dartmouth and Harvard, December 1-2.

The Saints will return to action on January 5-6 with an away series against Colgate and Cornell, then will face Union and RPI at home, before another Tuesday night match-up at Syracuse on January 16.

League games against the Golden Knights are scheduled for January 26 and 27 will and the Saints will wrap up the regular season at home on February 16-17 against Harvard and Dartmouth.

"What a great schedule we have in place this season," said head coach Chris Wells. "A few familiar teams in our non conference schedule as well as a couple new additions. No doubt we will have a real good understanding of where we sit by the December Holiday break. For now, we will enjoy the remainder of the summer, but I know the players are excited for the upcoming season."

Men's Season

The Skating Saints open the campaign on October 7 where they will play host to RIT at Appleton Arena. The following weekend, the Saints will welcome Vermont and Penn State to Canton before heading to Merrimack College on October 22 for a single contest.

St. Lawrence will continue their early home-heavy schedule on October 27 when the Saints host Michigan Tech before taking on Lake Superior the following night. After a trip to Ferris State on November 3-4, the Skating Saints open their conference slate with games against Union and RPI at Appleton Arena.

After their trip to Yale and Brown Nov. 17-18, the Saints dip their toes back into non-conference play with a trip to the alma Mater of SLU Head Coach Brent Brekke in Western Michigan on Nov. 24-25.

The Skating Saints will move into December where they will host Dartmouth and Harvard on December 1-2, then on the 8th will welcome the US National Development team to Canton for a matchup. After Christmas on December 30, the team will close out 2023 with an exhibition game with the University of Ottawa at Appleton.

Among the conference contests is Route 11 rival Clarkson whom the Saints will play in Potsdam on January 26th before the rivalry comes to the friendly confines of Appleton Arena.

The rest of January, all of February, and the first weekend in March, will feature the rest of the Saints' stretch run of games against ECAC opponents as they gear up towards the 2024 ECAC playoffs.

Dobbs named women's hoops coach

POTSDAM — Clarkson University has a new women's basketball coach.

The Clarkson University Athletic Department welcomes Sherry Dobbs as the new head coach for the Golden Knights' Women's Basketball team in 2023-24.

Dobbs replaces nine-year head coach Maureen Webster, who guided the program since 2014, including a conference title and NCAA Tournament appearance in 2016.

Dobbs began his coaching career nearly three decades ago as an assistant coach for the women's basketball team at SUNY Potsdam in the mid-1990s, where the team earned 20 victories over the course of the 1995-96 and 1996-97 campaigns. Following a one-year stint at St. Lawrence University, Dobbs moved on to Ithaca College, serving a dual role as assistant coach for the softball and men's basketball teams for a stretch of five seasons. As assistant for the Bombers' softball program, Ithaca reached the NCAA Division III College World Series on four occasions, including a national title in 2002.

Dobbs returned to Potsdam as the Bears' men's basketball coach in 2003, and spent the next decade guiding SUNY Potsdam, earning SUNYAC Coach of the Year honors in 2005 in a season in which he guided the team to the NCAA Elite Eight. The Bears enjoyed multiple NCAA Tournament appearances in his tenure.

Most recently, Dobbs was the top assistant coach for Hamilton College of the New England Small College Athletic Conference. From 2017-2023, Dobbs helped produce 97 victories (.708 winning percentage), including three appearances in the NCAA Tournament (2018, 2019, 2023) with a pair of top-15 finishes in the final D3hoops.com poll.

Sherry Dobbs

Dobbs has a lengthy track record in recruiting, which included scouring the Northeast for student-athletes while at SUNY Potsdam and internationally for Hamilton College, where he recruited players from Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Ireland, and Turkey in addition to those from North America.

A graduate from SUNY Plattsburgh with a degree in history, and a master's degree from SUNY Potsdam in Secondary Social Studies Education, Dobbs has also taught Physical Education classes at the college level for nearly two decades.

A growing community

Downtown Norfolk, circa-1930's, was a bustling district with numerous businesses that supported a growing community of factory workers and loggers. Today, many of the previous buildings and businesses no longer exist as workers sought employment in larger towns.

Mills, railroad, library and fires part of Norfolk's history

On April 9, 1823, the town of Norfolk was divided from Louisville as a large swamp forms a natural dividing line between Louisville and Raymondville.

Norfolk became a separate township in excess of 35,000 acres, when a section of Stockholm was annexed.

On April 5, 1844, a portion was returned to Louisville, Raymondville soon became known as Lower Village to distinguish it from Norfolk, the Upper Village, and East Norfolk became known as Slab City.

The first Norfolk Village Post Office opened on May 22, 1823. The first saw mills were built in East Norfolk in 1824 and 1825.

The growth of the young town was reflected in the development of its churches: Grace Episcopal Church, organized in 1825. In 1820 the Episcopal Church Society had been organized by Russell Atwater. This church was destroyed in a 1915 fire which burned both sides of West Main Street and never rebuilt. The First Presbyterian-Congregational Church in Raymondville was formed in 1828 as a branch of the Norfolk village church.

Here are some Norfolk historical highlights:

- 1871: Present Town Hall was built, cost $300
- 1874: First Butter Factory built by Charles Clark at Raymondville
- 1901: Remington-Martin paper mill built by Charles Remington and Orrin Martin and began operating paper mill and Norwood & St. Lawrence R.R. in 1902
- 1904: Raymondville Paper and Pulp Mill and R.R. extended to Raymondville
- 1906: Union High School opened
- 1913: First Norfolk High School graduating class
- 1915 and 1918: Two worst first in Norfolk history
- 1920: High school opened
- 1921: Hepburn Library opened on Hepburn Street
- 1922: New high school opened

Paramedic program open house at Clarkson

POTSDAM – Clarkson University’s Lewis School of Health Sciences has announced its new nine-month paramedic program, set to commence this November. This initiative is the result of a collaborative effort with Clarkson University’s School of Health Sciences and St. Lawrence Health. This new program aims to tackle the significant Emergency Medical Services (EMS) staffing shortages in the North Country and its surrounding rural areas.

An open house will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 8 from 6 to 8 p.m. at Clarkson Hall. Attendees will have the opportunity to meet the program staff and tour the facility. Applications for the program will also be on hand.

As a New York State Course Sponsor and a provider of several EMT programs annually, Clarkson’s EMS education program continues to evolve by developing a comprehensive feeder program that anticipates accommodating 20 students per cohort in the new paramedic program.

“Clarkson is committed to addressing the pressing healthcare needs of our local communities,” said Douglas Wildermuth, Director of EMS & Experiential Learning at Clarkson University. “The launch of this paramedic program is a big step in training and equipping healthcare professionals with the capability of delivering high-quality emergency medical services.”

To address financial constraints faced by some EMS providers in rural areas, Clarkson’s new paramedic program will offer a range of scholarships to qualifying applicants. These scholarships can assist with the financial obstacles that may hinder individuals who are passionate about this field from pursuing their dreams. With these resources, students can focus on their studies and the practical application of their skills in the community.

“We aim to provide equal opportunities for aspiring paramedics, regardless of their financial background,” said Wildermuth in stressing the importance of this

Nocturnist hospitalist joins Canton-Potsdam Hospital

POTSDAM — Physician Dorly Nerval, MD, has joined the Canton-Potsdam Hospital (CPH) team as a Nocturnist Hospitalist.

Dr. Nerval earned her medical degree at the American International School of Medicine, Guyana; and completed her Internal Medicine residency at St. John’s Episcopal, Far Rockaway, NY; and her Psychiatry residency at Howard University, Bronx, NY. Furthermore, Dr. Nerval was awarded a Fellowship at North Shore University, Geriatrics Medicine, Long Island, NY.

Dr. Nerval comes to CPH from Unity Hospital in Rochester, NY, which is part of Rochester Regional Health, the parent company of St. Lawrence Health. She noted she is excited to be working in this part of New York as the next phase in her career.

“Treating patients here is exciting and rewarding. In a small town, people are so genuine; what you see is what you get,” Dr. Nerval said. “I look forward to experiencing the close-knit community that feels like family - which everyone advises me Potsdam will be sure to deliver. I was born and raised in a big city, and now working at a rural town is giving me the best of both worlds.”

As a Nocturnist Hospitalist, Dr. Nerval works only at night, and is a specialist in the care of hospitalized patients. As a member of the care team, she coordinates acute-level care with primary care practitioners, case managers, allied health members, and specialists.

additional runs to the landfill.

"It's not the DPW's job," Dalton said. "People are starting to bring other junk."

Users are throwing non-acceptable items in the "Metal Only" dumpster located at the Village DPW. It was noted signage and cameras are not deterring the abusive activity and enforcement of violators was fruitless.

"It's costing the taxpayers money," said Deputy Mayor Anna Sorensen.

Town Supervisor Mary Ann Ashley said she thinks it's time to discontinue the composting initiative, an experimental program put in place two or three years ago.

"We don't know where we're going with this. The intent and desire to do it was right but it's not working," Ashley stated. "It's great to do new things when you have the money or staff. I don't think we should continue."

The issue was referred to the village board's Sustainability Committee who will examine ways to make the composting program economically feasible and more correctly utilized before a decision is made to shut down the composting site.

Acceptable materials include fruit and vegetable scraps, coffee grounds and filters, tea bags, cut or dried flowers, houseplants, rice, pasta, bread and cereal, egg and nut shells, and soiled brown paper products.

Not permitted include meat, chicken, fish, greasy food scraps, oil, animal waste, litter and bedding, coal or charcoal, plastic or Styrofoam.

After depositing food waste, people are asked to add a scoop of wood shaving located next to the waste receptacle, then take all plastic containers and other trash with them to dispose of at home.

has allowed the co-op to catch up its bills, retain some savings and increase inventory.

"We've also begun some needed repairs on the building and grounds, that had been deferred due to lack of funds. Our roof and parking lot are receiving some TLC, and we also plan to make some merchandising improvements in the store and replace failing equipment to strengthen our operations," LaRose said.

Other changes are in the works as well.

A new promotional program in connection with the National Co-op Grocers will begin at the co-op next week which will provide low prices on the store's grocery, refrigerated, frozen and wellness departments.

"As an employee for nearly 15 years (and counting), I am absolutely over the moon to see our Co-op moving in the right direction and to have had the opportunity to lead it over the last several months," LaRose said.

"I also want to take a moment to thank our incredible staff for their dedication, hard work, and supporting me as their leader. I could not have done all of this without them. Next time you are in the store, be sure to thank them for their efforts."

The co-op will celebrate 50 years at its annual open house on Sunday, Sept. 17 from 11 a.m.-5 p.m. There will be custom t-shirts for sale, photo ops, live music, kids activities, free food and drink samples, craft beer and discounts on store products.

SENTENCED...

in prison for at least 22 years, those who knew and loved Howell will remain in a prison of grief for the rest of their lives.

In the impact they talked about the loss.

How they will wait for her to walk through a door she'll never open.

How their holidays and family gatherings would be changed.

How they will not get to see her achieve her dream of spreading her love of music to others or get to see her graduate college.

Her parents, who are also musicians, won't be able to enjoy songs they once cherished with their daughter.

They will never get to hold her again.

Howell, though, will not be forgotten.

Her legacy as a musician and goal of becoming an educator will live on through scholarships established in her name.

St. Lawrence County District Attorney Gary Pasqua did not mince words at the sentencing.

He said that when Snow is up for parole two decades from now, whether he is a private citizen or a district attorney, he will do his best to convince the parole board that Snow should remain incarcerated for the rest of his life.

Pasqua revealed previously undisclosed details about Snow's plan to kill someone, which began more than two years prior.

He said Snow twice attempted to purchase an AR 15 rifle, but had been denied. Snow was angry over the loss of a family member as well as co-workers whom he believed were at fault for him losing his job.

Pasqua said he stalked the co-workers and had plans to take revenge on them and when they became aware of his plans he changed his course of action.

He would instead take revenge on their employer SUNY Potsdam. His plan was then to hurt their reputation with an act of violence.

On Feb. 18, 2022, he put that plan into action.

His plan to kill someone was not spontaneous, according to Pasqua.

Although the murder was planned, the victim was chosen at random.

She was simply walking home, when Snow beckoned her over to his vehicle under the guise of needing directions and shot her three times, Pasqua said.

Snow, himself, described Howell as "helpful" and "pleasant," in the moments before he shot her, according to Pasqua.

He says Snow has failed to show remorse for his actions.

Snow also spoke at sentencing. He said he regretted his actions and offered an apology to the family, but those in attendance did not appear convinced by or concerned with his statement.

They weren't alone.

Judge Craig P. Carriero agreed that Snow should remain behind bars for the rest of his life.

"All Beth was trying to do was help you with directions. And you killed her," he said.

Carriero did not know Howell.

However, he was still touched by her as he read through the impact statements.

He said that he believed she would have been the kind of teacher who would help talented musicians flourish while also ensuring those without such natural gifts could be drawn into and touched by music.

He said that in two decades on the bench, Snow's case was the worst.

"The killing of Beth Howell was cold, random and senseless," he said.

He said that the record of the court will show that his actions were "evil."

In a brief press conference following the sentencing, Pasqua and his team and members of local law enforcement discussed the sentencing.

Pasqua said that quick action by multiple law enforcement agencies allowed his team to build a strong case against Snow and led to the plea that could keep Snow behind bars for life.

Pasqua was clear though, that even if Snow remains imprisoned, it will never bring peace to those who knew and loved Howell.

In an email sent to the SUNY Potsdam community President Suzanne Smith said grieving services were being offered and invited those looking to reflect and remember Howell to visit Cassie's Harp, a memorial space dedicated to all SUNY Potsdam students "who have been lost too soon."

"Our hearts are with Beth's family and friends, and with all members of our community who have been affected by her tragic loss—today and always."

For all who knew and loved Beth, there are no adequate words of solace or comfort, even as her murderer is sentenced. A talented Crane School of Music student, Beth was a gifted cellist and an aspiring music teacher who was beloved by all who knew her. She was set to graduate with honors in May 2022.

As her family wrote, Beth "knew what she wanted out of life, and went for it without hesitation."

Following her death, SUNY Potsdam posthumously awarded her degree and presented it to her family in her stead at Commencement, alongside her classmates," she wrote.

In the wake of her death, SUNY Potsdam released a video of performance of Peace Like a River, which can be viewed online at <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=X-n14gN2RQZg&t=3s>

The SUNY Potsdam Alumni Association recently honored Brooks Washburn of Potsdam, with Honorary Lifetime Membership, during a ceremony at Reunion 2023. Honorary Lifetime Membership is presented to non-alumni who have made exceptional contributions to the SUNY Potsdam Alumni Association and/or the College. Washburn was recognized for his long-standing relationship with the College and his impact on The Crane School of Music and beyond.

Local students honored with Helen S. Randles Scholarships

CANTON – One student each from Hermon-DeKalb Central School, Ogdensburg Free Academy, and Gouverneur Central School were honored by the Society of the United Helpers with Helen S. Randles Scholarships.

The $750 scholarships are funded through an endowment created by the late Ms. Randles, who established the scholarship more than 45 years ago to provide merit-based aid for students looking to enter the healthcare field.

One of this year's recipients, Jaedyn Awan, is currently employed by United Helpers as a Direct Support Professional. Awan, who will graduate from Ogdensburg Free Academy, is the daughter of Colleen Ashley and Craig Awan. Awan will be attending SUNY Canton, where she is majoring in Health & Fitness Promotion with a minor in Early Childhood Education. She is hoping to one day be a school-based occupational therapist.

Zachary Platt will be graduating from Hermon-DeKalb Central School. He is planning to attend SUNY Brockport and will enroll in its Nursing program. Platt is the son of Tim and Sarah Platt. He is hoping to one day become an ER nurse.

Elizabeth Riutta will be graduating from Gouverneur Central School. She is also planning to attend SUNY Brockport and enroll in its Nursing program. Riutta is the daughter of Roger and Sarah Riutta. She is one day hoping to become a nurse practitioner.

United Helpers CEO Todd Amo told the winners they are the future of healthcare in the North Country. He also challenged them each to be leaders in the classroom and in the healthcare field.

"We're counting on you," he said. "I'm 52 and it won't be long before I'm needing your services."

Society of United Helpers Vice President Patti Wood chaired this year's scholarship committee. She also challenged recipients to look for what patients and residents are giving and sharing, whether it's a smile, a song, or a tidbit of useful knowledge.

"Health care is so much about giving, but I challenge you to think about what you are receiving," she said. "Your patients will always give you something; sometimes you just have to look for it."

She then relayed a story shared with her by an employee from United Helpers Rehabilitation and Senior Care. Making the story even more impactful, at the center of it, is Wood's own son, Tyke.

"We're all familiar with burn-out," Wood started. "We've all been impacted by COVID and we all know the tremendous hit the healthcare field has taken."

Fast forward to a conversation Wood had with an employee, who was feeling burnt out. The employee went to her supervisor to give her notice, but instead the supervisor told her about Tyke.

"We've got this young man coming in and we think you can help him," the supervisor told the employee, who then agreed to stay on and see if the new resident could reinvigorate her passion for nursing.

"She told me, 'He saved my life. I would go home at night after caring for him and always have a story. That kept me from going home and being depressed,'" Wood said. "Those stories were Tyke's gift to her."

Walsh memorial scholarship awarded to Potsdam student

POTSDAM – Clarkson University’s Melissa A. Walsh ’03 ’05 Memorial Endowed Scholarship has been awarded to the Class of 2024 student, Xuan Li, of Potsdam. The scholarship was established in memory of Walsh by her family and friends to assist a Clarkson University physical therapy student with qualities and goals similar to Walsh’s.

Walsh was a Massena High School and Clarkson University graduate, who lost her life in a 2007 motor vehicle accident. At Clarkson, she earned a bachelor of science degree in psychology in 2003 and a master of physical therapy degree in 2005.

A description of the scholarship reads, in part, “The Walsh Scholarship was established to celebrate Melissa’s life and continue support of the physical therapy profession.

Melissa was a standout student, respected amongst professors and peers. She went on to become a licensed physical therapist and worked in outpatient orthopedics. Melissa put her heart into all that she did, whether in relationships, education, or employment. Melissa was a role model in every sense of the word, in her personal life, her professional commitment, and her belief in caring for others. Melissa’s life and accomplishments are an excellent example of what a Clarkson University student should strive to achieve.”

Any bid may be withdrawn without prejudice prior to the official bid submission time or any publicized postponement thereof.

Please visit thebcgroup.com/bidding for the project information and select the project and complete the Bid Set Request Form to order a printed or digital copy or both, of the bidding documents. Printed copies of the documents for each prospective bidder may be obtained from the office of BCA Architects & Engineers upon payment of $100.00 for printed sets. A payment of $100.00 will be required for each printed additional set requested (if available). Bidders wishing documents mailed to them shall include, in addition to the document deposit, a non-refundable check of $15.00 per set for handling and postage or a UPS/FedEx account number. There is no cost to the bidders for digital copies.

PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS REMAIN THE PROPERTY OF BCA Architects & Engineers AND PRINTED MUST BE RETURNED IN GOOD CONDITION WITHIN THIRTY (30) BUSINESS DAYS AFTER AWARD OF CONTRACT OR REJECTION OF BIDS. The plan deposit for one set of Plans and Specifications will be refunded to bona fide bidders returning Plans and Specifications to BCA Architects & Engineers within 30 business days after award of Contract or rejection of bids. A partial refund of the plan deposit, in an amount equal to the full amount of such deposit, less the actual cost of reproduction of the Plans and Specifications shall be made to non-bidders and unsuccessful bidders for the return of all other copies of the Plans and Specifications in good condition within 30 business days following the award of the Contract or the rejection of the bids.

Plan Deposit Policy, Plan Holders List, Pre-Bid Estimates, and a list of Addendums, if any, may be found at www.thebcgroup.com/bidding.

Access to the site for inspection of the work area can be scheduled by contacting Emerson Northrop via email at enorthrop@cliftonfine.org.

Bids shall be prepared as set forth in the Information to Bidders, enclosed in a sealed envelope bearing on its face the name, address and phone number of the bidder and the title of the project.

Each bidder agrees to waive any claim it has or may have against the Owner, the Architect/Engineer, and the respective employees, arising out of or in connection with the administration, evaluation or recommendation of any bid.

The Owner further reserves its right to disqualify bidders for any material failure to comply with the Information for Bidders and General and Special Conditions.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any informalities or defects in such bid either before or after opening.

Each bidder must deposit with his bid, security in the form and subject to the conditions provided in the "INFORMATION FOR BIDDERS". Attention of bidders is particularly called to the requirements as to conditions of employment to be observed and to the minimum wage rates to be paid under the Contract. No bidder may withdraw his bid within 45 business days after the date of the opening of bids.

ATTENTION OUT-OF-STATE BIDDERS
Please pay particular attention to the Form of Proposal and its related forms in the project manual. Out-of-State Bidders are required to complete the "Statement Concerning Authority to do Business in the State of New York for non-New York State Companies" located in the Form of Proposal package. There are three sections that must be completed. You must also have the Non-Collusion Certificate completed and signed and if you are a corporation, you must have the Resolution completed and signed.

No bid will be considered when opened unless accompanied by a certified copy of your Authority to do Business in New York State. This is not to be confused with a sales tax certificate. The Authority can be obtained by contacting:
New York State Department of State
Division of Corporations
162 Washington Avenue
Albany, NY 12231
(518) 473-2492
If the Certificate does not accompany the bid, the bid is not valid.

In the event you are of the opinion that you are not required to obtain the Authority To Do Business in New York state, and you are not a New York State Corporation, then you should complete the Statement Concerning Authority to do Business. You must complete two out of three sections. The top portion must be completed by all vendors needing to complete this document and then either the Individual Acknowledgement or the Corporate Acknowledgement, depending on the status of your business.

Clarkson University professor named Fulbright Specialist

POTSDAM – Robert Thomas, Assistant Professor in the Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering at Clarkson University, has been selected by the U.S. Department of State and the Fulbright Foreign Scholarship board as a Fulbright Specialist at Birla Institute of Technology and Science (BITS) in Telangana, India. The award will provide funding for Thomas to visit BITS for two weeks in August, 2023. The main focus of his visit will be to collaborate with BITS faculty on curriculum development to support emerging low-carbon concrete technologies. He will also give several research seminars and visit with students and faculty from BITS and neighboring institutions.

Thomas hopes the visit will produce fruitful collaborations with international scholars working in his research field. Concrete construction is responsible for more than 7% of global carbon dioxide emissions. Thomas and his research team are working to change that. Thomas is one of more than 400 U.S.

citizens who share expertise with host institutions abroad through the Fulbright Specialist Program each year. Recipients of Fulbright Specialist awards are selected on the basis of academic and professional achievement, demonstrated leadership in their field, and their potential to foster long-term cooperation between institutions in the U.S. and abroad.
