Village eyes major grant for bike trail

BY ADAM ATKINSON
North Country This Week

POTSDAM — The village is applying for a federal grant to help with the engineering costs of proposed safety improvements along the Route 11 corridor leading from the village to the Walmart and Tractor Supply plaza.

If approved, the money will cover the engineering work for the safety measure designs which would be installed inside the village borders.

The town is expected to apply for a similar grant to cover the portion of the study that will deal with the route outside of the village limits.

The village board approved filing an application for the funding at a special meeting on Aug. 3.

The money would come from the U.S. Department of Transportation's Rural and Tribal Assistance Pilot Program. The village is applying for $320,000 from the program.

The cash will be used "to prepare a technical study for the development of enhanced pedestrian and bicycle facilities to include preliminary engineering, preparation of draft, state, and federal environmental reviews, a construction requirement analysis, cost estimation, cost benefit analysis and public outreach" the resolution reads.

The resolution authorized the mayor or

Election inspectors want answers

BY JIMMY LAWTON
North Country This Week

CANTON — Hundreds of election inspectors are still waiting to be paid for work performed in early June, and the county has offered no indication as to when the checks might come.

During elections the county employs election inspectors to oversee polling locations throughout the county. In July, a primary election required the county to hire hundreds of inspectors.

Traditionally inspectors are paid in a timely manner, but this year a change in employment designation for inspectors has caused major delays.

Several inspectors have reported that they have not been paid for their work and have not been given a clear indication as to when they will.

Furthermore the county allegedly shut down a shared email box that allowed the board of elections to communicate with the inspectors. It has since been reopened.

Inspectors who spoke to North Country This Week shared a message from the board of elections in regard to the problem, but it offered little information as to exactly what is causing the delays and when they can expect to be paid.

The message comes from SLCElectionInspectorSharedMailBox@stlawco.gov, but is not signed by an official employee.

"I am very sorry for the delay on this response and the delay on getting you your pay. The County did an update to our email and it took away our inspectors

Canton Church & Community program goes mobile

BY PAUL MITCHELL
North Country This Week

CANTON — It's finally time for the Church & Community Program (C&CP) to literally hit the road.

The recent acquisition of a Pacifica minivan will now allow C&CP workers and volunteers to stretch their services into the outlying areas.

On Friday, Aug. 11, Big Red will be on site at 1 p.m. at the Village Park.

Tai Chi students and Master Sean Boutin will be on hand to present their gift to the pantry, an entire set of all-weather mats for the minivan.

"Years of dreaming and planning came together at the end of the year when our first-ever C&CP vehicle arrived. Thanks to years of fundraising and to a generous $20,000 grant from the Grassroots Fund, we now have a Pacifica minivan," stated C&CP Director Connie Jenkins.

The vehicle, she noted, will allow C&CP to enhance services to the Lisbon and Hermon areas.

"We'll be able to pick up more food donations and are working on plans for pantry outreach," said Jenkins. "We have a lot of details to work out, and must add more volunteers, but this news is just too good to keep quiet about."

"We still have a way to go to set it up, but we're figuring distribution spots where people farther away from Canton can meet us and pick up their food," she added.

Jenkins applauded Master Sean and his students.

"The mats will keep it (the minivan) bright and shining as pantry volunteers drive to outlying areas to distribute food to people who desperately need it, as well as to pick up donated food from many local businesses who

Reps Walczyk, Gray call for freeze on battery storage facilities at arrays

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

State Senator Mark Walczyk and Assemblyman Scott Gray are calling on state officials to put a freeze on battery storage facilities utilized at solar arrays throughout the state.

The initiative comes after a fire broke out recently at a solar facility in the town of Lyme, as well as a second facility in Chaumont.

Walczyk has been critical of the state's policies regarding solar projects, saying the policies "supersede both logic and the environment."

you could find it today in Chaumont. Another Convergent Energy battery storage facility has been burning for over a day, posing potentially serious health risks to residents. New York's green groups and Democrat politicians are driving public policy that's destroying the environment. I'm calling on the Governor to pause installation of these dangerous battery storage systems until the conclusion of a full investigation," Walczyk said in a statement.

The bill, which is being introduced in the Senate by Walczyk and in the Assembly by Gray, would mandate that every solar farm have the safety data sheet

(SDS) conspicuously posted that would likely be accessed by emergency responders in the case of a fire or other emergency.

In the event of a fire, first responders would then be able to pull up to an emergency scene and examine the SDS to make quicker and more informed decisions, according to Walczyk.

Gray also issued a statement, saying the legislation could address multiple points of concern.

"This legislation is one component of a multiple component issue that we will be looking to resolve. Making sure our Emergency personnel are completely equipped with the right equipment and information needed to respond rapidly and efficiently is the priority," Gray said.

"As this legislation moves forward we will be working closely with the Governor's task force in order to ensure public safety and health are paramount, when developing battery storage sites. This will help prevent and/or mitigate these fires from occurring in the future."

SLC woman dies after car crashes in Lisbon

LISBON — An Ogdensburg woman was killed after the car she was a passenger in crashed into a tree Thursday night.

Troopers said the one-car accident occurred Aug. 3 around 10:26 p.m.

A preliminary investigation determined a gray 2021 Toyota sedan was traveling west on Brown Road in the town of Lisbon, when the operator, William M. Bruyere II, 38, of Denver, Colo., approached the intersection of State Highway 68 and Cline Road failing to observe a stop sign.

Bruyere attempted to stop, lost control of the vehicle and exited the roadway striking a tree.

Bruyere was transported to Claxton Hepburn Medical Center for non-life-threatening injuries.

The passenger in the vehicle was identified as Rosella M. Turnbull, 58, of Ogdensburg. Numerous life-saving measures were performed by local fire and rescue personnel, State Police said.

However, Turnbull was pronounced deceased on scene by the St. Lawrence County Coroner.

The NYSP Collision Reconstruction Unit and the Bureau of Criminal Investigation responded to the incident as well.

St. Lawrence County Sheriff's Department, Heuvelton Fire and Rescue and Lisbon Fire and Rescue assisted with the scene.

The investigation of the accident is still ongoing, said State Police.

County wants help planning America's 250th

BY PAUL MITCHELL
North Country This Week

CANTON – St. Lawrence County officials are getting a nearly three-year jump on celebrating the 250th birthday of the United States of America — and they want the Canton community to help plan the celebration.

Both the town and village board addresses the county's invitation to participate at their respective July board meetings.

The county is asking both boards to create a local 250th anniversary committee composed of elected officials and a range of local citizens.

"We would like you to appoint your own local 250th anniversary committee composed of leading citizens, business people, veterans, fraternal organizations, educators, historical groups, museums, libraries, tourism leaders and others who can put together a series of events and activities while also coordinating with our county-wide effort to observe this once in a lifetime anniversary," a letter from County Administrator Ruth Doyle and chair of the Board of Legislators David Forsythe stated.

"It is our intent to encourage communities across the county to create a series of events and activities from now and through 2026 and beyond celebrating our nation's history. Instead of regarding history as the dry realm of dusty old books on some dusty shelf, the North Country needs to use this opportunity to harness the stories of our colorful past for economic development by using it to attract visitors and tourists to visit our communities, our stores, our restaurants and our lodging places", the letter continued.

"Many of our communities were settled by veterans of the American Revolution. Some stood in the snow at Valley Forge with George Washington, others fought at Saratoga, Fort Stanwix and other battles that helped free our nation from a foreign king. Our history is also entwined with British and Loyalists from the 13 colonies who fought for King and Country. It's also about the Oswegatchies and St. Regis Native Americans, some of whom fought for the Revolution and others who fought for the King. Some of the heroes from both sides of the Revolutionary War served in or settled in what is now St. Lawrence County. They built communities along the St. Lawrence River and over time carved out homes in our river valleys, the foothills of the Adirondacks and in between."

"We should take pride in our colorful past. We hope to work with tribal leaders from both sides of the border, representatives of the Loyalists and others who can help tell their important stories to give our children a better understanding of the important role so many people played in carving out what we now call St. Lawrence County."

"We also are organizing a county-wide 250th Anniversary Commission that will partner with your community and all the communities in St. Lawrence County to help tell our unique stories about our role in our nation's history."

Police find man in shed after chase

STOCKHOLM — A high speed pursuit of a Chevy box truck Thursday morning by state troopers eventually ended in charges for a Parishville man who was found hiding in a shed after the chase.

On Aug. 3, around 10:31 a.m., state police observed a white 2006 Chevrolet express truck traveling at a high rate of speed, said Trooper Brandi M. Ashley, Troop B Public Information Officer.

Troopers initiated a traffic stop, interviewed the driver, who was identified as Jeremai J. Montroy, 48, of Parishville.

An investigation determined Montroy had an active warrant for his arrest from a prior incident.

Troopers asked Montroy to get out of the vehicle to be interviewed further regarding the warrant, Ashley said.

Montroy failed to comply and sped off in the vehicle. Troopers initiated a pursuit. Montroy stopped the vehicle near his parent's residence on School Street (County Route 47) and fled into a nearby wooded area.

Troopers located Montroy hiding in a shed.

According to the eye witness at the scene, the pursuit of the box truck, which had "Jason Montroy's Driveway Sealing" painted on the side, went from Route 11B, down the McIntyre Road then back onto Route 47 (School Street) before the truck pulled over into a driveway on that road.

Montroy was arrested and transported to SP Canton for processing.

He was released on an appearance ticket for fleeing an officer in a motor vehicle 3rd and issued a vehicle and traffic ticket for speeding.

The tickets are returnable to the Town of Stockholm Court for a later date in September.

Courtroom remodel in works

BY PAUL MITCHELL
 North Country This Week

CANTON — A construction project in the works before the COVID pandemic hit in the courtroom is back on the table as the Town of Canton is now accepting bids for the work.

Work will focus on converting a storage closet in the downstairs courtroom at the Canton Municipal Building into an attorney-client meeting room.

The Canton Town Court will be looking to secure funding through a state Justice Court Assistant Program grant, noted Canton Town Supervisor Mary Ann Ashley.

"This project was approved by the building committee before COVID hit," said Ashley.

No plans have yet been approved for renovations to the upstairs town court office.

Earlier this year, the Canton Historian's office, located upstairs in the municipal building for decades, was moved downtown at 7 Main St. to ease congestion.

To adhere to the Town Procurement policy, interested contractors are requested to contact the court at (315) 379-9844 to schedule an appointment and get detailed information on the proposed work.

All bids must be submitted by Sept. 1 at 1 p.m. to Town Clerk Heidi Smith, 60 Main St., Canton, NY 13617.

CSEA agreement moves forward

BY ADAM ATKINSON

May 31, 2027.

There are around 30 CSEA members in the village offices, the DPW, the water and sewer plants.

"This is to agree to the changes that were agreed upon by both bargaining units during negotiations," Village Administrator Greg Thompson told the board.

"And this authorizes the mayor to sign the contract once the final language is complete?" asked Village Trustee Alexandra Jacobs Wilke.

"Exactly," said Village Mayor Ron Tischler.

The resolution was approved unanimously.

OBITUARIES

Willis G. Shattuck, 76 DeKalb Junction

DEKALB JUNCTION, NY -- Willis G. Shattuck was born June 7, 1947, to Arthur and Laura (Jeffers) Shattuck.

He attended Hermon-DeKalb Central School, graduating in 1965.

Furthering his education, he graduated from SUNY Potsdam in 1969, receiving his bachelor's degree in education. He taught school in Elkland, PA, and then moved to Central NY for a job at APW. He changed careers and worked at Carpenter's Hardware in Camden.

In the late '70s, Willis returned to the family farm, a mile outside the village of DeKalb Junction, where his family had lived since 1898. He raised Angus beef cattle and worked in carpentry, building family homes, log homes, garages, etc...

In the 1980s, Willis attended the Missouri Auction School, fulfilling his lifelong passion of becoming an auctioneer. This led to the establishment of the Willis Shattuck Auction Service with the tagline, "The sound that sells". He was in the auction business for 35 years, specializing in estate auctions, cattle auctions, farm machinery, and household auctions.

Through the years, he also held benefit auctions for numerous entities including the Boy Scouts of America, Jefferson Community College, the Northern New York Cerebral Palsy Association, as well as local charities and non-profit organizations.

Willis enjoyed sports (especially hockey), and various kinds of music, and had a special interest in history with an uncanny memory for names, dates, and details.

He was known as a storyteller and over many years, developed his own brand of "spinning a yarn".

He used his stories to add interest and entertainment to his auctions. If a story wasn't exactly true, he might give himself away with the twinkle in his eye, his whimsical smile, and a twitch of his handlebar mustache.

His auction business brought him in touch with many people in Northern and Central NY and each auction had a family and a family's story behind it. He enjoyed working with people and did his best to help their situation.

He liked nothing better than a good visit and there was no better place to do just that than meeting great friends at the Silver Leaf.

In conversations, his teaching background often showed through as he shared his knowledge, practical advice, and stories with others. He has touched a great many lives.

Willis is survived by his best friend and companion, Donna Russell. They worked as a team in the auction business and in Life. Willis and Donna have a blended family. Often blood relations aren't as important as the establishment of strong family bonds. Willis is survived by a son, Brent (Jennifer Cougler) Eggleston, and a daughter, Kristen (Steve) Sanderson as well as the five wonderful people who call him "Grandpa"; Brandon and Brody Eggleston, Abbi, Emma, and Brayden Sanderson. He is also survived by a sister, Nancy (Ron) Aten, nephew Cory (Krysta) Aten, and their daughter, Kaylin, and nephew Cole (Courtney) Aten.

He is predeceased by his parents and a son, Joey Russell.

Surely this man will be missed and will live in our hearts forever.

We will see him as we look across the fields at the farm and certainly when we hear an auctioneer's call. Rest in peace, Willis!

Calling hours will be held on Thursday, August 10, 2023, from 2-4 and 6-8 PM at Lawrence Funeral Home & Cremation Services, 21 Park Street, Canton.

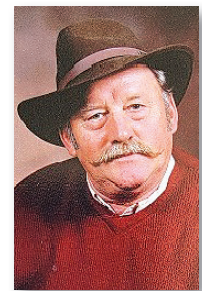

Additional off-street parking is available behind "LUNA" at 18 Park Street.

His funeral will be Friday, August 11, 2023 and will begin at 10:30 AM at the funeral home with Lay Pastor John Frary officiating.

Burial will follow in Hermon Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to DeKalb Junction Volunteer Fire Department, 4323 US-11, DeKalb, NY 13630, or to a charity of one's choice.

Joan Marie Knopp, 76

Weedsport

WEEDSPORT -- Joan Marie Knopp (76) of Weedsport, NY, passed away Wednesday, July 19, 2023, with her family lovingly by her side after battling cancer for several months.

Born August 21, 1946, to Frank and Genevieve (Conklin) Trombley, she grew up in Canton, NY with 2 sisters Carole & Mary Lou, 4 brothers William, Frank, Jack, and Paul, and a large extended family of aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces, and nephews.

Joan worked at Noble Hospital in Canton, NY prior to attending Canton ATC to study Medical Transcription and Secretarial Service. She met Lynn there, they were married and moved to Homer, NY to raise their family.

They were blessed that Lynn's job at Smith Corona took them and their family on incredible sight-seeing adventures across the globe before finally settling in Cortland, NY.

She was a homemaker for many years before working in the cafeteria while her children attended Homer Schools and retired when Lynn's job took them to San Diego in 1992.

She was actively involved in Beta Sigma Phi, a national non-academic sorority, and forged bonds with several beloved sorority sisters in various chapters.

With every move, she took great delight in decorating homes from Cortland, NY to Singapore, San Diego, Binghamton, Hastings, Weedsport, Wildwood FL, and of course her beloved "camp" in South Colton, NY.

She was a diehard decorator, decorating for Christmas, Easter, Halloween, and just because she felt like it.

Joan was an avid bowler in Singapore and leagues in Homer, NY – once appearing on TV for amateur bowling and collecting several trophies for her accomplishments.

Joan loved to bake and cook for others. She took great pleasure in making sure everyone was fed well – looking for that "just right" recipe that she knew they would love! She and Lynn loved to explore and discover wonderful restaurants and enjoy great food.

She loved to dance and was an excellent craftswoman - sewing, needlepoint, macrame, and quilting.

County saving for equipment

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

CANTON — St. Lawrence County will soon have a capital reserve fund for capital project equipment management.

Legislators approved a resolution to create the reserve fund from the 2022 budget during the full board meeting on Aug. 7.

In recent years, legislators have taken measures to establish and maintain fiscal stability, including yearly recommendations from County Administrator Ruth Doyle to build on existing reserves and create new ones when warranted, officials say.

Since 2018, five reserves have been established and funded, with the capital project management of equipment coming in anticipation of a capital expenditure anticipated in 2025, according to the resolution.

County officials issued a bond in 2017 to purchase equipment for the Highway Department “to ensure the safety of the workforce and to ensure the work completed could be done in a timely and efficient manner with proper equipment.”

Officials say around that time when planning discussions around equipment purchases were being had, tentative plans were made to purchase equipment again after a 10-year period.

The move would provide an opportunity to make payments on the bond before looking at financing options on equipment that had not yet been replaced, officials say.

The move to create a capital reserve fund would allow legislators to plan for purchases of equipment in the future, improving the fiscal health of the county by avoiding bonding for equipment, officials say.

In other action, legislators approved signing a contract with New York State Indigent Legal Services for year five of the Hurrell-Harring contract.

The $1,769,999.10, awarded for a period covering April 1, 2022 to March 31, 2023, will reimburse expenditures related to indigent criminal defense representation for the Public Defender, Conflict Defender and Assigned Counsel, county officials say.

The resolution passed unanimously.

Potsdam town officials OK annexation of former Cheryl's Diner property

BY ADAM ATKINSON
North Country This Week

POTSDAM — The town has approved the annexation of the former Cheryl's Diner property over to the village.

Ronald Page, a local developer and businessman, and the owner of the property requested the annexation so he could supply the restaurant lot with more reliable village water and sewer service.

Prior the town board's approval of the annexation at its Aug. 8 meeting, both municipalities hosted a public hearing to receive comments on Page's request.

Several local residents spoke during the hearing in support of Page's intention to reopen an eatery at the location in coming weeks.

Page purchased the lot at 215 and 219 State Route 11B (parcel number 65.053-2-6) on March 1 for $45,000 from the estate of Janet Lindsay.

The property, which sits on town land, is surrounded on three sides by the village's Damon Field Airport which sits on village land.

The diner, previously managed by Cheryl and Dave Denny, closed in September 2019.

The town board unanimously approved the resolution granting Page's request for the annexation.

County legislators look to improve healthcare

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

July 1, 2023 and ends on June 30, 2027, officials say.

The purpose of the grant is to administer whole person-centered care management for the rural population served by FDRHPO, assisting post-discharge from inpatient or emergency department settings.

The program also seeks to implement chronic care management where eligible, high-risk, high needs patients work with their care team on a comprehensive care planning to achieve patients' identified wellness goals while engaging in preventative care.

Officials say they expect increased closure of identified care gaps, reduced hospital readmissions, increased access to care through telehealth services, improved patient-centered care, patient engagement in care planning and increased collaboration between primary care and community providers.

In other action, legislators authorized the chair to sign a letter to Medicare as part of the credentialing process for the opioid treatment program.

As part of the process, the application requires a signed letter from the legislative chair on official letterhead, legislators say.

The letter will state that the county will be legally responsible for any outstanding debt owed to Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS).

CANTON — St. Lawrence County legislators took action on a number of resolutions geared toward improving healthcare in the region.

During the legislature's full board meeting on Aug. 7, legislators approved signing contracts with Medicaid managed care organizations and commercial insurances for behavioral health provider services.

Legislators say the Community Services Department is in the process of updating and establishing new contracts with insurance providers that cover the North Country region.

To date, there are nine major insurance providers that service St. Lawrence County, with a mix of Medicare and Medicaid managed care organizations, along with several private commercial payers, officials say.

Officials say Community Services will receive consultation from EPOCH as part of the current agreement.

Legislators also approved a measure authorizing the chair to sign a memorandum of understanding with Fort Drum Regional Health Planning Organization to participate in a health resources and services administration (HRSA) grant.

County seeks bids for renovation project

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

CANTON — County officials are soliciting bids for renovations at the public safety complex.

Legislators approved a resolution to solicit bids during the full board meeting on Aug. 7.

According to the resolution, St. Lawrence County renovated the building at 49 1/2 Court Street in 1994.

The building was changed from an emergency bunker to a public safety complex that included a new administrative office space for economic development, as well as the One-Stop Career Center, a location for law enforcement and public safety answering point for 911 calls.

Legislators say the facility is now in need of updated functional space and technology after 30 years of continuous use and department funding changes.

The Building and Grounds Committee has since reviewed the current and future needs of the public safety complex and is ready to make recommendations for improvements, officials say.

The building is currently occupied by the Sheriff's Office road patrol and civil enforcement divisions, Emergency Services (PSAP), Planning and Conflict Defender, along with New York State Police, who lease space on the first floor.

According to the resolution, the need for an updated and state-of-the-art 911 center has been evaluated, along with the upgrade to the radio system will increase the volume in the center with an additional two desks and capacity for two more in the future.

The new and better equipment will create an increased ability to respond, officials say.

In 2021, District Attorney Gary Pasqua had also shown interest in sharing the space in the public safety complex as well, according to the resolution.

County officials authorized spending $5 million in ARPA funding, provided in 2021, to be used for capital projects. The public safety complex was the first to be deemed ready for construction, county officials say.

TOWN OF MASSENA

shared email box and we just got it back so we are now responding to the inspectors email we were not able to see. About your pay we were misinformed that we needed to set up 250 inspectors as county employees and the rest we would still be able to pay as vendors this year. When we went to pay you as a vendor in the beginning of July we were told we could no longer pay you that way. We were trying to have the county let us pay you one more time as a vendor but it doesn't look like they are budging," the email said.

The response goes on to say that the board of elections plans to send out paperwork to the inspectors to set them up as inspector per diem county employees allowing them to be paid.

According to a local news report, the county has said it is now required to make inspectors part-time employees rather than being paid vendors.

However, a representative from Sen. Mark Walczyk's office said he was unaware of a state requirement to do so.

County officials did not immediately respond to requests for comment.

On Monday at the St. Lawrence County Board of Legislators meeting, Sam Bryant of Star Lake spoke to legislators expressing his concerns.

"We were never notified about this change," he told legislators. He said he was unable to find any state law requiring the change in employment designation either.

He said requiring inspectors to be considered part-time employees is financially irresponsible of the board.

He said someone made a mistake somewhere and he wants to know what happened.

Elections Commissions Jennie Bacon and Tom Nichols were not immediately available for comment Tuesday morning.

Although North Country This

Week could not confirm employment status of the elections inspectors, it's been anecdotally reported that a significant number of inspectors are retirees or people on fixed incomes.

support our work throughout the year," Jenkins remarked.

The public is invited to the park to check out Big Red, check out a brief Tai Chi demonstration and have lunch at one of the food vendors in the park during the Canton Farmers Market.

An essential service

Since 1974 the Church & Community Program has worked diligently to provide food, clothing, referrals and much more for those people less fortunate.

Today the pantry services a steady stream of families, individuals and homeless people. For example, in mid July, a Tuesday saw nine families come through the doors for food. On Wednesdays, 20 to 30

'Bear-el' of fun in Canton families seek assistance in some form or another.

So who comes to the pantry?

"Our clients include working people who are slipping between the cracks, grandparents raising their grandchildren, retirees, young couples, you name it," Jenkins stated. "I speak with 90-year-olds who can't live on $30 a month of food stamps, and others who can't make by on low-income part-time jobs."

"There's also a steady line of homeless people who are sleeping outdoors or shuffling between motels and single-room-only spaces as the county attempts to find them more permanent housing."

But there's more to C&CP than just food and clothing.

"The food we provide is essential. I wish it could be more but it's good quality and we try hard to get something special for everyone," Jenkins said. "Many times, the opportunity to talk with our clients is as important as the food. Amid the uncertainty of how they will manage to feed themselves and their children, where they will live, and what the future holds, they face a long series of shut doors."

"They're told they don't matter, and they're coming to believe it themselves. We're here to say otherwise. Everyone matters," she said.

we have to make that a better, safer corridor for both bicycle and pedestrian traffic become a reality."

Students from the Clarkson Construction Engineering Management Consulting Group (C3G) recently presented three sets of proposed improvements to the town board at its June meeting.

The group, led by Clarkson Civil Engineering Professor Eric Backus, has studied traffic and pedestrian trends and patterns along the roadway and developed solutions to make the route more safe. The town, village, and the Health Initiative each chipped in funding for the study.

The potential redesigns, described as most robust, moderate, and least robust can be viewed online at <https://tinyurl.com/2c-jntt89>.

More crosswalks, better lighting and bus shelters are included at each level of improvements, while the most robust and moderate designs designate lanes for pedestrians and bikers which would be separated from the main vehicle traffic lanes by a barrier.

A roundabout at the nexus of Sandstone Drive, Clarkson Avenue and Pine and Maple streets, is also included in the more extensive proposal.

Other design ideas include more extensive improvements to the Clarkson University back entrance-way and the Walmart intersection, and a new access to the Potsdam-Morley Road direct off the Walmart intersection, with the current connection of Potsdam-Morley to Route 11 being closed off.

A final presentation on the C3G proposals is expected sometime later this month or in September.

At the Aug. 3 meeting, Village Planner Fred Hanss said if the village applies for the federal grant in August that grant recipients would be announced early in the next federal fiscal year which starts Oct. 1. The village would then have two years to utilize the funding for the engineering work, which he said would be adequate time to finish the work on the design and analysis of some of the proposed improvements.

deputy mayor to sign the application and file it with the U.S. DOT as well as any grant agreement which might result from the application being accepted.

Village Mayor Ron Tischler stated that there is no local share required for the grant program, which means the village will not have to invest local tax dollars or in kind services to be able to access the money.

Village Administrator Greg Thompson said the federal funding would give the village some alternatives. "There is more than one plan on the table for us to take a look at," he said. "Depending on funding and financial capability, the avenues

NCNOW SURVEY

Debbie Morgan | NCTW

The Question: Will you be attending any fairs this year?

MANY FAIRS WILL be happening throughout the state and North Country this month. Will you be attending any fairs this year??

HERE ARE COMMENTS from some survey participants:

'North country folks get into their fairs.'

'It's a rough crowd at times, but I love walking through the livestock barns and getting fair food'

'Unfortunately, everything at these Fairs is way overpriced.'

'Always a big rip-off. Games that take your money, overpriced food, lousy parking...cow poop in the air while you eat.'

'Usually go to the SLC fair but I'm too busy this time around. Might go to the state fair. I do like seeing the local kids showing their animals and carrying on the farming traditions.'

'Loved the State Fair, but unable to go'

'Good to see the fairs getting back to normal'

'The fairs are filthy and disgusting. The workers are usually creepy and dirty.'

'Too expensive and don't enjoy them as much as I did when I was younger.'

'I don't have any the extra cash with the skyrocketing costs of living'

'Not if they are able to sell marijuana at fairs.'

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Senseless beating of animals

For the second time this week, I read where a "man" and I use that term loosely, beat an innocent animal.

The first article was about a man who beat a dog and then carried it off by the neck.

Luckily, it lived and was taken to a shelter where hopefully it'll get adopted by a person who will lovingly care for it for the rest of its life.

The second article was about another "man" who beat three cats with a hammer until they died (one had to be put down).

I have a question for you two "men" - why? If you don't care for animals, leave them alone - they're not hurting you.

You're much bigger and stronger than they are plus you use a weapon - hammer, whatever.

There's got to be a special place in hell for people like you.

Don't sleep on county's camping opportunities

Although I was born in Ogdensburg, when I was just two months old, my family moved out to Washington. My parents purchased a small piece of mosquito-infested property on a river roughly two hours away that was wide enough for boating, but that a reasonable athlete could probably throw a stone across.

The property was just over the state line in Idaho and it was there that my love for camping, swimming and nature truly began.

I remember packing into a van with the seats pulled out and the excitement building on the trip as my brothers and I formulated plans for the weekend.

The property had a steep decline from the road to the river and we had a three-wheeler we'd have to pop the clutch on to start on the way down, then turn out of the way before hitting the water.

It might not have met modern safety standards, but we had a lot of fun.

One year, my brothers and I even attempted to carve a canoe from a fallen tree. We hacked away at the log with hatchets all summer until there was enough room to fit inside, but our adventure was short lived when the log rolled, since we hadn't done much to the outside of it.

We moved to New York when I was nearly 12. And I was again fortunate enough to live where woods were accessible. I'd often make my way out into those woods and camp. A few times I even went on horseback, which was also a pretty neat experience. It also made for some great "capture the flag" paintball games.

In high school I spent a lot of time out on the St. Lawrence River, camping frequently on what many call Big Island, near Lisbon beach. In those days it was also a hot spot for high school parties, with sometimes well over 100 kids from surrounding areas attending.

After returning to the area as an adult after finishing college, I still often camped on that island and I slowly began to learn just how special this area is for those who enjoy the outdoors.

Not long after moving back to the area, I tried backpacking. One of the first hike-camping combo trips I tried was at Wolf Lake in Edwards. It's a fantastic trail with three DEC shelters on it for those who might have missed it. It's a loop trail that I believe is less than five-miles round-trip.

As I gained experience, I eventually did the High Falls Loop and later added Dog Pond into the trip. Although I've never completed the full Cranberry 50 in one go, I've hiked all of it in various trips. The full run remains on my bucket list.

Last year, I enjoyed some canoe camping on Cranberry Lake with a couple of friends. In the two-night outing we paddled well over 20 miles and spent one night on Joe Indian island.

I'm hoping to return there before the weather changes.

The best part about these adventures is that aside from my $200 canoe and a small investment in camping gear, the cost for such outings is very reasonable.

In recent months I've written about mental health, suicide and depression. I talked about how music has been very helpful for me personally in dealing with the harder times in life. Camping, hiking, swimming and paddling in nature are also very helpful to me when things get tough.

These experiences are also amazing and affordable ways to make lasting memories with family and friends. I encourage anyone who is physically able and can carve out a bit of time to get out and see what the county has to offer.

Even something a little less adventurous like the Indian Creek Nature Center trails, the Remington Recreation Trail in Canton, the Munter Trail in Potsdam, the Nicandri Nature Center trails in Massena, or dozens of others in the county are an excellent way to spend the day.

As summer begins to wind down, the best camping weather is just ahead of us.

There's nothing quite like being disconnected from the busy world and breathing in the fresh air.

For those looking for some ideas of where to start check out <https://www.stlctrails.com/>. It's a great resource for finding trails close to you.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Great July 4th in Norwood

Norwood Volunteer Fire Department had a successful July 3 and July 4 of 2023. It was a beautiful day, with lots of sunshine, and a few clouds took over the afternoon. But didn't stop Majestic Fireworks, from setting up a beautiful show for the Norwood Community and surrounding villages and towns that came to see the sky light up with such a beautiful array of colors, and some loud booms. A local Glowstick Vendor was nearby, selling out of almost everything he had available for purchase for the children to enjoy, before and during the fireworks.

We were very fortunate to have manpower from nearby departments helping out with some of our events. Colton Fire Department, Louisville Fire Department and Morley Fire Department all lent a hand, some of the volunteer firefighters for 2 days in a row. Bounce houses were in the Village Green, rented from JET Jump N Slide, Mountain Express Locomotive Train Rides set up, also in the park for train rides for the children to enjoy. The St. Lawrence County Chamber of Commerce, and B99.3 were kind enough to spread our events for both days, and Jody Tosti interviewed Jess Grant, the organizer of the fireworks this year, and aired our interview on the radio station so people around our quaint area were able to help with donations towards our fireworks display.

Donation jars were placed at several local businesses in Norwood, including: Hometown Café, Merri-man's Lumber, Dollar General, 7/11 convenience/gas station, Hometown Market and Firehouse Pizzeria. The amount the community donated in a short time we placed them out was absolutely phenomenal.

Local businesses who donated include:

William Stone Construction, Norwood American Legion Post 68, Kevin LaFleur Collision Repair, J.C. Merriman's, Knowlton & Sons, Hagggett Excavating, St. Lawrence Federal Credit Union, Seacomm Federal Credit Union, North Country Savings Bank, Potter's Industries, North Country Collision, TJ Toyota Dealership, Café 56, Al Smith's Superette, Drew's Insurance Agency, Trinity Golf Course, Northern Mechanicals Inc, The Lobster House, Twin Cedar Construction Corporation (Frank Davey), Casella Waste Systems, Nikki Coates and Associates, Asian Buffet and Mongolian Grill, Perretta's Collision, Buck Funeral Home, Watson Electric, Back in Motion Family Chiropractor, Jim Mousaw, Leslie Clark, Kathleen and Steve Hartman, John and Jai Fiacco, The Village of Norwood, The St. Lawrence County Democratic Committee, Patriot Paving, Sharon Hicks, and Marina N Ben, LLC.

Next year we are looking at some big changes for 2024. The NFD would greatly appreciate your support in creating and hosting new events at a new location, and ending the 2024 Fourth of July off with one of the biggest Firework Displays the North Country will see over the Norwood Lake. We hope to continue to expand our firework display, and we hope we can continue to count on our community's help in doing so.

Wedding traditions have meaning behind the customs

Weddings are special events that celebrate two individuals' love for one another. Weddings bring together friends and family to witness couples share vows and devote their lives to each other.

Wedding guests recognize that certain components are commonplace in ceremonies and receptions. Perhaps you were once a ring bearer or caught the bouquet?

There's a rich history behind the traditions that feature prominently at many weddings.

Here's a look at traditions past and present and the meaning behind these customs.

Tie the knot

Getting married is sometimes referred to as "tying the knot."

This stems from the custom of "handfasting," which is a common practice among various cultures around the world, and notably in ancient Rome.

The bride and groom's hands are tied together for the duration of the ceremony, not to be released until the wedding is made official. This isn't something you see too often at modern weddings, but can be something unique couples may want to consider.

Bridal bouquet

A bouquet of beautiful flowers is held by the bride on her wedding day. Roses, orchids, peonies, and other fragrant blooms are often included, but in ancient times brides' bouquets were likely made of herbs.

According to the resource Minted Weddings, these aromatic herbs were used to ward off evil spirits.

Veil

Evil spirits also were the basis for the wearing of bridal veils, as they were utilized to hide brides from these miscreants. Veils now are more style than substance.

Bridesmaids

In ancient Rome, bridesmaids were tasked with protecting the bride. They wore the same dresses as the bride to confuse evil spirits from finding the soon-to-be-betrothed and cursing her. Today's bridesmaids are less decoy and more helper.

They may wear similar dresses to the bride and one another, but they aren't trying to fool any spirits.

Cutting the cake

At the reception, many couples link hands and make the first cut in their wedding cakes.

Wedding Wire says it's a tradition that around 80 percent of wedding couples partake in.

It is believed this tradition symbolizes the couple's first official task performed together, and marks the promise to support and take care of one another throughout the marriage.

However, in the past, brides were responsible for cutting the wedding cake alone and distributed slices to guests to aid in fertility, according to BakingNook.com.

Choosing a wedding officiant requires careful consideration

Receptions may get their fair share of attention, but the ceremony is the true centerpiece of a wedding.

This is the part of the day when the couple will exchange vows and pledge their love and devotion to one another.

It's also the time when the wedding license is signed and the union becomes official.

An officiant is an essential part of any wedding.

This person is responsible for leading the ceremony and ensuring that all requirements are met so that the marriage is legal.

He or she will guide the exchange of vows and helps set the tone of the wedding.

Officiants vary depending on the ceremony, including religious, non-denominational or even family or friend.

Since the officiant's role is so significant, it is important to give careful consideration to potential officiants before making a final decision.

Know the rules

If you will be having a religious ceremony in a house of worship, there may be some restrictions regarding who can officiate the wedding.

Know what you want

Some officiants may not have formal training or lots of experience officiating weddings, particularly if couples ask a friend or family member to do the honor.

Check for skills

Professional officiants treat this as a business and have amassed skills throughout the years.

Choosing the right person to perform this important function is a big decision that requires careful consideration.

For three years he was the Associate Director of Orchestras at the University of Michigan.

His program choices are titled Visions and Reflections and include: The Abduction from the Seraglio by Amadeus Mozart; Crystal Gazing by Dolores White; Le Tombeau de Couperin by Maurice Ravel; and Symphony No. 2 by Jean Sibelius.

Performances are Saturday, April 27, 2024 at 7:30 pm in Hosmer Hall, and Sunday, April 28 at 3 pm in First Presbyterian Church, Watertown.

The final concert of the season is An American Salute, a rousing program of American music such as Liberty Bell March by John Philip Sousa, Cuban Overture by George Gershwin, selections from The Sound of Music by Richard Rodgers, and The Cowboys by John Williams, among several others.

songs. Ranky Tanky means get "Funky and Work it!"

Their debut self-titled album, 'Ranky Tanky', was released in October 2017.

By the week of February 10, 2018, it was listed number one in the Billboard jazz charts, a position it held for two weeks.

For their album Good Time, the band won the 2020 Grammy Award for Best Regional Roots Music Album. In 2023, they won a second Grammy in the Best Regional Roots Music Album category, for Live at the 2022 New Orleans Jazz & Heritage Festival.

Apart from lead vocalist Quiana Parler, four of the group's members, Quentin Baxter, Kevin Hamilton, Clay Ross, and Charlton Singleton, previously played together in the Charleston jazz quartet 'The Gradual Lean' in the late 1990s.

The Gullah lyrics and melodies that Ranky Tanky uses range from traditional spirituals, to children's rhymes and dance music.

Due to its relative geographic isolation, the Sea Islands region preserved more of the West African rhythms, dialects, and musical traditions than the mainland US, which once combined with British colonial influence emerged as the distinct Gullah culture.

Ranky Tanky's use of instruments like the electric guitar and trumpet are novel additions to Gullah music, which was historically performed using only a cappella voices and body percussion.

Clay Ross credits the 20th century African American folk singer Bessie Jones as laying much of the groundwork for the band, due to her extensive recording and documentation of the songs and rhymes later used in Ranky Tanky.

For more information about the group, check out their website at: Rankytanky.com

The series is supported in part by the Office of the Governor and New York State Legislature.

Read all about this new teaching space dedicated to a Master Gardener Volunteer at blogs.cornell.edu/fruition.

Celebrate Local Farms and Businesses

Right now, local farmers and food businesses are busy working in the fields and kitchens to bring delicious food to our plates, pantries, and freezers. To recognize their efforts and strengthen connections to these essential members of our community, save the date and get out into the community on September 8th, 9th, 10th, 2023 for the second ever Local Foods Weekend! This 3-day celebration of our rural food system is powered by many farmers, retail stores, restaurants, along with local organizations and customers. Over 30 public events hosted by food producers and businesses participating throughout the region offer you a chance to connect with and visit one or multiple locations.

Event activities range from guided tours, special menus, open houses, children's activities, live music, and more. Dive into the region's rich food culture by attending events hosted by the 2023 participating businesses: Adon Farms, Akwesasne Farmers Market, Angel Acres Farm, Birdsfoot Farm, Bittersweet Farm & Milkweed Tussock Tubers, Canton Apples, Canton Farmers Market, Cedar Hedge Farm, Earthbound Bread and Pierpont Cider, Eye on the Sparrow Farm, Finen Maple Products, GardenShare at the Massena Farmers and Artisan Market, Healing Pastures, Hoof & Horn Butcher and Eatery, Jernabi Coffeehouse, Kaneb Orchards, Kent Family Growers, Laing Family Farm, littleGrasse Community Farm, Martin's Farmstand, Nature's Storehouse, One Steep at a Time, Pat and April's Pork, Potsdam Farmers Market, Potsdam Food Co-op, Rock Hollow Farm, St. Lawrence Nurseries, The Blue House, The Cook

Farm, Trout and Heron, Tuckers Black Angus Ranch, Village Veggies, and Wildwood Hills Farmstead.

A community member said of last year's event, "Local Foods Weekend offered a window into our food system that I don't usually see. I took advantage of the activities and went on a tour of a vegetable farm, as well as an Open House featuring multiple area businesses. The producers were so knowledgeable, and I liked getting to meet them and learn more about their businesses."

Visiting participating Local Foods Weekend businesses has its perks! For every event you visit you may enter for a chance to win a $100 gift certificate to the participating business of your choice.

For more information including event listings, photographs, and more visit <https://bit.ly/lfw23>.

Cornell Cooperative Extension of St. Lawrence County is organizing the publicity of the Weekend, and each participating business is coordinating and running their chosen activities. For questions regarding specific events, contact the participating business directly. For general questions about Local Foods Weekend, contact the Local Food Program Leader, M. "Flip" Filippi at (315) 379-9192, ext. 229 or mpf65@cornell.edu. If your business or public location would like a stack of brochures to promote the weekend, contact the Cornell Cooperative Extension office.

Local Foods Weekend has been made possible with funding from the United States Department of Agriculture as part of Extension's Growing Resilience initiative.

Preserving Garlic Workshop at the Harvest Kitchen

Garlic is an essential cooking ingredient that brings spicy or sweet flavors and adds comfort to many meals. Learn a variety of preservation methods and recipes, such as storing whole heads or how to make garlic powder and pastes, to enjoy throughout winter during the Preserving Garlic workshop August 24th from 6:00-7:30 pm at Cornell Cooperative Extension of St. Lawrence County's Harvest Kitchen.

Extension's Local Food Program Leader and Master Food Preserver volunteers will lead you through the steps to ensure high quality preserved garlic with engaging hands-on opportunities, samples, and recipes. Master Food Preserver volunteers receive intensive training from Extension on preserving many different foods and then share this information with the community through workshops and 1-1 support.

Registration fee is on a sliding scale from $10-$40; participants choose their amount to pay. Class size is capped to allow for hands-on opportunities, so registration is required to reserve your spot.

For additional information or to register for this opportunity, visit the Cornell Cooperative Extension event page at <http://stlawrence.cce.cornell.edu/>. Contact M. "Flip" Filippi with questions at (315) 379-9192, ext. 229 or mpf65@cornell.edu.

This workshop is part of the Grow and Preserve series which consists of paired workshops on cultivating food plants and then preserving the harvest from May through October 2023. The Grow and Preserve workshop series is dedicated to sharing timely information in a hands-on, accessible format, including support materials for participants to use at home.

This programming is made possible with funding from the ALCOA Foundation, as part of Cornell Cooperative Extension of St. Lawrence County's Celebrating Local Food Initiative. Cornell Cooperative Extension is an employer and educator recognized for valuing AA/EEO, Protected Veterans, and Individuals with Disabilities and provides equal program and employment opportunities.

Visiting St. Lawrence Nurseries

The local foods team at Extension recently visited St. Lawrence Nurseries in Potsdam as part of their free professional photo shoots for any farms and food businesses selling direct to the community in St. Lawrence County. Connor and Allyssa Hardiman purchased the business several years ago and have recently established their nursery stock of cold hardy plants on their property outside Potsdam. As part of Local Foods Weekend they are celebrating the businesses 100th birthday with food, live music and more on September 9th. Fund full schedule of events at bit.ly/lfw23.

Cycle the St. Lawrence event planned

HAMMOND — The Adirondack Foothills Cycling Club, in collaboration with the 1,000 Islands International Tourism Council and the St. Lawrence County Chamber of Commerce, is hosting the first-ever Cycle the St. Lawrence bike event on Aug. 27.

This cycling event starts at Bonnie Castle in Alexandria Bay, and continues with views of castles and lighthouses from the river, with vineyards and Amish Farms on the shores of Black Lake.

Cranberry Lake show to feature local art

CRANBERRY LAKE — The 6th annual Cranberry Lake Art Show will take place Aug. 12 and 13 at the Cranberry Lake Fire Hall.

Over 45 North Country artists are expected to participate.

The artist created pieces will be on display both days, and include paintings, photography, furniture, fabric art, pottery, wooden sculptures and jewelry.

The show is open 10-3 both days.

The live auction will be held Saturday, Aug. 12 at 3 p.m. Todd Moe of NCP, a media sponsor of the show, will once again be the auctioneer. Auctions from past shows have featured decorated Adirondack chairs, wooden fish, mini canoe paddles and loons.

Artist demonstrations of techniques and approaches will be held on Sunday, Aug. 13.

The silent auction will be held both days and closes at 2 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 13.

Food and drink will be available and provided by the Cranberry Lake Fire and Rescue Department.

A chicken BBQ by the Fire Department will be held for lunch Saturday.

The sixth show will feature a live auction of decorated Adirondack pack baskets creatively designed and produced by participating artists.

In addition to the live auction, a silent auction of pieces donated by the participating artists is active both show days.

Money raised from past shows has provided scholarships for graduating seniors of the Clifton-Fine School.

Funds also benefit the Clifton Community Library, the Cranberry Lake Fire Department, the backpack program at the school and the Clifton Fine School Art Department.
