Massena talks traffic concerns

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

MASSENA -- Massena village officials are weighing the pros and cons and placing yield signs around the Bridges Avenue and Elm Circle area to slow traffic after numerous complaints.

According to Department of Public Works Superintendent Marty Miller, he sat in the area for three consecutive days to assess the traffic flow.

Miller said the area is of concern and likely needs a few yield signs.

For Trustee Ken McGowan, he has seen first hand why yield signs are necessary.

McGowan commented that he has new neighbors in the area, noting there are "a bunch of kids in the neighborhood now."

"It's a raceway in the Ransom and Bridges area at certain times of the day, just like every street in the village," he said.

Massena officials say yield signs could help ease issues.

McGowan said he "gets it," but said there is a merge there that includes a village park.

He said his neighbor reached out to him to see if the police department and DPW could weigh in on the situation.

Though he wasn't sure if a yield sign would actually be effective given the traffic flow pattern, he did say something needs to be done.

"You go to Elm Circle and there's yield signs everywhere," he said.

City sets sights on sewage

Special meeting Monday to address basement flooding

BY JIMMY LAWTON
North Country This Week

OGDENSBURG -- Ogdensburg City Council will hold a special meeting Monday, July 15 to discuss problems and solutions regarding sewage flooding into basements near Patterson Street.

Ogdensburg Mayor Michael Tooley said the city had hoped to have a discussion on the matter at the regular council meeting July 8, but said more information and data was being gathered that would be important to the conversation.

In June several members of the public raised concerns about the problem with city resident Ann Loffler explaining that her basement was filled with untreated raw sewage following a rain event.

The problem isn't a new one. Over the years the city has heard complaints about flooding that's believed to have stemmed from the street expansion

Also speaking at the meeting was Marlene Shaver who lives on East David Street who says the problem has predated the Patterson Street project. She said water comes up through the toilet and the shower shooting up "like a geyser."

Residents described the expense and shared the details about just how bad the problem had become.

Last month, Department of Public Works Director Shane Brown said that there are issues, but said he does not have a solution yet.

Brown said the problem is awful for the homeowners and is bad for the city too. He noted that the city just invested $40 million in a water treatment plan that nearly flooded in the recent rain event.

Unfortunately, on Wednesday July 10 a flood watch warning was issued for the region and the weather report called for as much as 4 inches of rain, which is likely to cause problems for some residents.

City officials were set to meet with the Development Authority of the North Country and a Syracuse engineering firm to discuss the issues on Wednesday.

Council has made clear they intend to address the matter, with Deputy Mayor Dan Skamperle referring to the situation as an emergency.

Although he wanted to see immediate action taken, other councilors said expert advice was needed before tackling a solution, which led to the meeting

Dirty Gringo eyes Dobisky concessions rental

BY JIMMY LAWTON
North Country This Week

OGDENSBURG -- The Dirty Gringo is looking to rent the concessions at the Dobisky Center after plans for "Hole in the Wall" to open there fell through.

On Monday City Council voted in favor of holding a public hearing July 22 that would pave the way for the city to rent the facilities to Murray and Jenna Graveline who operated the Dirty Gringo restaurant.

Ogdensburg officials explained that Nathan Griffith, who had been approved to rent the property from the city, was not able to meet the timeline to get started, the Dirty Gringo operators were hoping to move forward.

The Dobisky Center previously housed "The Window" eatery.

Prior to that, the city had struggled to keep a regular operator since its construction. Despite its location and negotiable price, it remained vacant from 2013 until 2021.

The kitchen is 389 square-feet in size and includes basic commercial kitchen equipment and appliances such as refrigerators, freezers, grill, fryers and a stove.

Griffith had proposed renting the facility for $500 per month through Oct. 31, 2024, but details on the Dirty Gringo proposal were not yet made publicly

Lalonde Family
INITIATIVE

Lalonde Family Initiative announces recipients of the 2024 Lalonde Family Athletic Scholarships

BRASHER FALLS — The Lalonde Family Initiative has announced the launch of a new program, the Lalonde Family Athletic Scholarships, beginning with the 2023-24 academic and athletic school year.

The scholarships will be given annually by the Lalonde Family Initiative to outstanding local athletes in the North Country.

A goal of the Initiative is to encourage participation in scholastic athletics, which provide an opportunity for high school students to enhance their discipline, perseverance, teamwork and leadership skills.

With these scholarships, the Initiative aims to highlight the strong, positive bond between scholastic athletes, the North Country and its citizens.

The Lalonde Family Initiative is proud to announce award recipients for the inaugural Lalonde Family Athletic Scholarships totaling $40,000 are St. Lawrence Central senior athletes Austin Mason, Kalissa Young and Ella Bellinger.

Austin Mason

Mason, a two-sport varsity athlete in basketball and soccer, finished his senior year as a Second Team All-Northern selection, two-year captain of the basketball team and the leading goal-scorer of St. Lawrence Central's soccer team.

Mason also earned Athlete of Distinction honors, which recognizes senior students who have maintained an academic average of 90 throughout their entire career.

Kalissa Young

Young is an all-around athlete at St. Lawrence Central, starting varsity all four years in soccer and basketball and three years in softball.

She has received back-to-back Second Team All-Northern selections in softball and basketball, and First Team All-Northern honors in soccer her senior year. Additionally, Young has been recognized as an Athlete of Distinction for her academic achievements.

Ella Bellinger

Central's swim team, where she has served as team captain and received several honors including the Lisa Lane Award, Swimming Sportsmanship Award and Athlete of Distinction recognition.

She has qualified for the New York State Championship in swimming since her sophomore year of high school, and has earned a total of six First Team All-Northern selections and seven Second Team All-Northern selections across a variety of events, including the 400-freestyle relay, where she broke the school record her junior year.

The Lalonde Family Initiative would like to congratulate each recipient on their athletic and academic achievements, which exemplify the values of the Initiative and the spirit of the mission.

Lalonde Family Initiative fosters scholastic athletics and service to the community in North Country

BRASHER FALLS -- The Lalonde Family Initiative was founded as a vehicle to foster the tradition of scholastic athletics and service to the community within the Tri-Town region of the North Country.

The Lalonde family consists of 12 siblings and children of Canadian immigrants, Omer and Yvonne, most of whom attended St. Lawrence Central beginning in the mid-20th century.

The Lalonde children were seen as leaders in scholastic athletics at St. Lawrence Central, and future generations of the Lalonde family have continued this tradition of athletic engagement and leadership.

The Lalonde Family believes sports create a connection between individuals, education and the community.

For students at St. Lawrence Central, there exists a unique connection between teacher, coach, student athlete and the community.

This network of support for the student athlete creates a model for forming well-rounded adults that feel confident remaining engaged in community and service.

With this goal in mind, the Lalonde Family Initiative has focused on enhancing access for St. Lawrence Central students to athletic equipment, opportunities, and funding college schol-

Massena school switching to ParentSquare for communication with families

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

MASSENA -- Parents with children enrolled in the Massena Central School district will have a new communication platform for the 2024-25 academic year as the district looks to transition to ParentSquare.

Superintendent Ron Burke said the platform has "a strong record of improving communication between home and school."

The district's administrative team will begin learning how to use the program over the next few weeks to provide "better communication with all stakeholders," according to Burke.

According to Nicole Charleston, district director of curriculum, instruction and assessment, said multiple tools like ClassDojo and Messenger were used for communication purposes.

She said with so many platforms in play for communication with families, it became hard to navigate the information being sent to families, "especially if you have multiple children in different buildings."

She said the goal of the district was to clean up communication forms and find one platform that met the district's needs.

Enter ParentSquare, a platform that is currently utilized by 10 out of 18 school districts in the county.

Charleston said after just a couple of demonstrations with the administrative team and the district technology team it became obvious that ParentSquare would fulfill the district's needs.

For parents interested in learning more, information will be made available at the Ready 4 School event to be held prior to the start of the school year.

"I'm going to have a table set up and we'll help families set things up on their end. ParentSquare is one central tool. It's a two-way parent engagement," she said.

Staff will also have optional training made available for them this summer, along with time on the opening day of school to engage with the program and receive hands-on training.

Officials say they hope to have the program fully implemented by the start of school in September.

Family, dog saved from fire

OGDENSBURG -- Firefighters saved a family and their dog from a fire on East David Street Tuesday evening.

Fire personnel responded around 7:15 p.m. to a reported structure fire, according to the department's Facebook page.

Heuvelton Fire was called in for more manpower, and Morristown Fire provided standby, firefighters said.

"Crews went to work immediately with probationary firefighter Barr on the nozzle and first through the door, crews were met with a heavy volume of fire on the first floor, as the initial crew from shift 2 worked to extinguish the fire, off duty personnel began arriving on scene allowing crews to begin the interior search," the post said.

The home was reportedly cleared of people and the family dog was pulled from the fire.

Ogdensburg Volunteer Rescue squad members administered oxygen to the dog through a special mask designed for pets.

The fire was determined to be out and all units were placed back into service at 9:06 p.m.

"As always we want to thank HVFD and MVFD for their quick and dedicated mutual aide response as well as Ogdensburg Volunteer Rescue for their quick response and all the actions taken to help the animal in need. We would also like to thank the Ogdensburg Police department for their assistance on scene," the online statement said.

Convicted of stolen valor, sentenced to probation, community service, fine

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

MASSENA -- A former Massena man convicted of falsifying his military discharge forms has been sentenced to two years of federal probation.

According to a statement from U.S. Attorney Carla Freedman and U.S. Marshal David McNulty, Randall Montour, 45, was also ordered to pay a $10,000 fine and conduct 200 hours of community service as part of the conviction.

Montour, who now resides in Cornwall, Ontario, was convicted of violating the Stolen Valor Act of 2013 after he took a plea deal Feb. 29.

According to a previous release, Montour admitted he falsified his Form DD-214 to show he received an honorable discharge from the U.S. Air Force, along with numerous badges, campaign ribbons, citations, decorations and medals. Montour claimed he received the Purple Heart while serving as well.

According to court documents, Montour received a bad conduct discharge in 2001 and only received the Air Force Training Ribbon during his service. Montour admitted to altering his DD-214 in order to purchase and use Purple Heart Recipient license plates from the state Department of Motor Vehicles.

Montour also admitted to wearing an Air Force Uniform belonging to a non-commissioned officer, a rank he never achieved, while also displaying a ribbon stack with falsified awards, medals and badges he never won.

The case was investigated by the U.S. Marshals Service with assistance from the U.S. Air Force Office of Special Investigations, Homeland Security Investigations, U.S. Customs and Border Protection and the state Department of Motor Vehicles.

The case was prosecuted by Assistant U.S. Attorney Douglas Collyer.

July 21-27 proclaimed as Probation, Parole and Community Supervision Week

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

CANTON -- July 21-27 is Probation, Parole and Community Supervision Week.

County legislators issued the proclamation during the July 1 full board meeting.

According to the resolution, "community corrections professionals are trained professionals who provide services and referrals for offenders, and work in partnership with other community agencies to promote prevention, intervention, and advocacy."

Officials note that community corrections "is an essential part of the justice system," with community corrections professionals upholding the law "with dignity, while recognizing the right of the public to be safe-guarded from criminal activity."

Community correctional professionals are responsible for supervising adult and juvenile offenders in the community and provide services, support and protection to victims, officials say.

92-year-old slain by vehicle

OGDENSBURG – The victim in a motor vehicle-pedestrian accident on July 3 was a 92-year-old Ogdensburg woman, according to Ogdensburg police in a press release issued on Monday.

Police confirmed that Roberta J. Hagerty, was killed after she was struck by a commercial vehicle on the 300 block of Ford Street around 2:26 p.m.

Life saving measures attempted on scene by good samaritans and First Responders were unsuccessful and Hagerty was pronounced deceased on scene.

The investigation is ongoing with the assistance of the New York State Police Crash Reconstruction Unit. Assisting city police at the accident scene were the Ogdensburg Fire Department, Ogdensburg Volunteer Rescue Squad and St. Lawrence County Sheriff's Office.

Pleads guilty to drugs, firearm crimes

HOGANSBURG -- A Hogansburg man pled guilty in connection with a drugs for guns trade that led to his arrest last summer.

Joseph Thompson, 37, pled guilty yesterday to possession with intent to distribute a controlled substance and possession of firearms in furtherance of a drug trafficking crime, according to United States Attorney Carla B. Freedman and Bryan Miller, Special Agent in Charge of the United States Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (ATF), New York Field Division.

As part of his guilty plea, Thompson admitted that in June 2023, he arranged to meet another individual at a parking lot in Massena, for the purpose of selling marijuana in exchange for firearms.

Thompson reportedly admitted that he gave the individual approximately 18 pounds of marijuana in exchange for 7 semiautomatic pistols and ammunition magazines. During the transaction,

Thompson said that he was a "middle guy," and that he had a contact in Montreal who would pay him approximately $2,000 to $2,300 for each firearm. Thompson was arrested immediately after the transaction.

At sentencing, Thompson faces at least five years and up to life in federal prison, a total maximum fine of $500,000, and a term of post-imprisonment supervised release of at least 2 years and up to life.

A defendant's sentence is imposed by a judge based on the particular statute the defendant is charged with violating, the U.S. Sentencing Guidelines, and other factors.

ATF investigated the case, with assistance from Quebec Provincial Police, St. Regis Tribal Police, New York State Police, U.S. Homeland Security Investigations, U.S. Customs and Border Protection, St. Lawrence County Sheriff's Office, Massena Police Department, and U.S. Bureau of Industry and Security. Assistant U.S. Attorney Matthew J. McCrobie is prosecuting the case.

Business fails ID enforcement detail check

One business fails, 5 others compliant in St. Lawrence County underage drinking enforcement detail

State Police in conjunction with St. Lawrence County Stop DWI conducted an Underage Drinking Initiative in St. Lawrence County on July 5.

During the initiative six businesses were checked for compliance. One person was charged with first-degree unlawfully dealing with a child, after selling alcohol to a person under age 21.

Valero, 3681 State Highway 37, Morristown, was not complaint under the New York Beverage Control Law Section 65, prohibited sale to person under the age of 21

The following establishments are recognized for their compliance:

Too many pets, not enough volunteers at Potsdam Humane Society

BY MATT LINDSEY
North Country This Week

POTSDAM -- If the meows and barks seem a bit louder at the local animal shelter, there is a good reason. Too many homeless pets.

The Potsdam Humane Society is full, nearly unable to accept any pets that may come through their doors.

On top of that, the number of volunteers needed to take care of the animals is shrinking, according to Eudora Watson, Potsdam Humane Society Animal Enrichment and Adoption Volunteer Coordinator.

College students often fill in the gaps volunteering during the year, but their time begins to trail off in late winter and ends in summer, she said.

"Retirees and those 16 and up make excellent volunteers, and so do those under 16 who volunteer with a responsible adult who has also done the training," Watson said.

Children over the age of 13 are eligible to volunteer at the shelter, pending a few hours of training by shelter staff. It could be a great opportunity for a team, or organization to provide community service by walking dogs, and petting cats.

The shelter, located at 17 Madrid Ave., displays 16 dogs in their adoption area, but they are caring for more than 30 other dogs in other areas of the facility, according to Bob Stewart, shelter volunteer.

Felines have it as bad, he said. The shelter is caring for well over 100 cats and kittens with minimal space to handle any emergency situations if they arise.

Cats and dogs are now filling space once dedicated to other pets such as birds, small rodents and ferrets. The shelter simply does not have the time or resources to care for and offer other kinds of animals.

Rising costs

Large litters of puppies and kittens, drop-offs and the economy all have contributed to the recent influx of animals, Watson said.

"People just can't afford pets," she said.

To help offset costs, the shelter recently held a "Pittie Party" where all pit bull breeds were 30% off. The shelter also has a food pantry for pets to help people get by.

Stewart has started creating short videos on their social media page highlighting each dog's personality.

This allows people to view the dogs prior to meeting them, eliminating some stress on the dogs and even the adopting family in the process, he said.

Walking into the kennel, dogs can act seemingly aggressive, when all they really want is to get near you to play with you, Watson said.

Watson, who trains dogs, said body language between aggression and playfulness is a fine line but there are ways to help dogs remain more calm.

Treats, minimal eye contact with the dogs and respect go a long way.

Adoption programs

How can you help? If able, adopt a pet, volunteer time or donate money or pet goods to the shelter.

Ideally, adoption of an animal is the best outcome for the shelter, the animals, and hopefully the person or family adopting it.

The shelter offers several programs that can make it easier to transition to live with a new pet.

The Seniors for Seniors program allows any person over age 60 to adopt a pet that is seven years or older for free.

Similarly, a Veteran's Adoption Program waives adoption fees for active duty or veterans of the military.

A third program can benefit everyone.

The Foster to Adopt Program allows a pet to enter a home with the intent to adopt, but to allow people and pets to see if they are a good fit.

This program also benefits the shelter by freeing up space, and resources.

Time is precious, especially for animals with short lifespans. Getting pets ready to get out the door to forever homes requires lots of time from volunteers.

Volunteers needed

Volunteers are needed to socialize, walk and train the animals. For those not ready for that commitment, the shelter can always use help with laundry, maintenance, clerical services and manpower in their Best Friends Thrift Store, which also serves as a source of income.

"We currently have 5-7 volunteers in any given month who work with our dogs. Ideally, we'd have 15 volunteers who came to the shelter at least four hours a month to work with the dogs," Watson said.

Working with dogs includes walking them, offering them quiet one-on-one time, playing games like fetch, and incorporating basic training in all interactions.

"Some dogs are quite shy and need a quiet, patient person to help them develop trust, and our youngest dogs benefit socially from meeting all types of people," Watson said.

The shelter has agility equipment available for those who either know how to use that equipment or would like to learn.

"We offer levels of training for those who want to advance their dog handling skills and encourage volunteers to work at the level they are comfortable with," she said.

If unable to adopt or give time, financial donations, and donations of food and pet supplies are always needed.

Caring for hundreds of animals is expensive, to the tune of $617,872 budgeted for this year.

The shelter also raises money through fundraisers such as Strut Your Mutt, bottle drives and grants, but the largest source of their income is donations from individuals, businesses and organizations.

"Volunteers make great advocates for our dogs, sharing photographs of our animals on social media and reminding people to 'shop local' when looking for a dog," Watson said.

County seeking state snowmobile grant

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

CANTON -- St. Lawrence County legislators have signed off to sponsor a snowmobile grant application through the state Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation.

According to the resolution passed during the full board meeting held July 1, St. Lawrence County has served as the local sponsor of the New York State Snowmobile Trails Grant-In-Aid Program since 1988.

The snowmobile registrations will be remitted to St. Lawrence County to be used for snowmobile trail development and maintenance, officials said. Officials said the St. Lawrence County Snowmobile Association and North Country Trail Maintenance Alliance are committed to continuing the maintenance of trails within the County.

In other action, legislators also passed a resolution to sign contracts with designated trail maintenance entities associated with the New York State Snowmobile Trail Grant Program. Officials said the program establishes a mechanism for allocating funds to local governmental sponsors engaged in the development and maintenance of snowmobile trails, designated as part of the NYS Snowmobile Trail System.

According to the resolution, the county is designated as the recipient of funds under the program and is designated as a "local sponsor" for receipt of NYS Snowmobile Grant funds.

"The Program establishes a mechanism for allocating funds to local governmental sponsors that engage in the development and maintenance of snowmobile trails designated as part of the State Snowmobile Trail System," the resolution states.

The county Planning Office has been tasked with the role of Authorized Project Administrator and will oversee the operations and deliverables on behalf of the county, officials say.

"Several snowmobile associations assist the County in maintaining the trail system and may be designated as Trail Maintenance Entities," officials said.

County signs contract with Blue Wing for tower revenues

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

CANTON -- St. Lawrence County legislators have agreed to a one-year contract with Blue Wing Services Inc. to utilize vacant tower space to generate revenue for the county.

County Attorney Steve Button spoke on the matter during the June 24 finance committee meeting, saying the lease agreement is allowed under federal regulations.

"As I think everyone here is aware, our towers have the capacity under their Federal Communications Commission licenses to be able to collocate with potential commercial carriers," he said. Button said with those regulations in place, the county can lease the tower space to carriers to generate revenue in the ballpark of $100,000 to $150,000 over a five-year period.

Since 2014, Blue Wing has assisted the county with planning, implementation and design of the St. Lawrence County Emergency Services Interoperability Telecommunications Tower Project, a partnership that has seen multiple public safety radio towers go up over the last decade.

Towers have been installed in Colton, Gouverneur, Hammond, Massena, Ogdensburg, Russell and Waddington, officials said.

County officials say during the implementation phase of the tower projects it was determined that collocations of user groups, like private carriers, could increase the likelihood of project approvals from various state and federal agencies as well.

As part of the agreement Blue Wing will retain 20% of all revenue for managing, collecting fees, maintaining and leasing the tower space, county officials say.

No additional fees can be charged and no additional payments for service will be issued for Blue Wing under the agreement.

In order for an entity to lease space county legislators will have to sign off on each individual agreement with a resolution, Button said.

Just when this will happen is still up in the air, Button said.

Button said the agreement has been drafted with general language but is not set in stone.

"We have prepared a contract, a proposed contract, associated with this leasing arrangement. Most of my contracts are drafted with general language that indicates the effective date commences upon final execution by the county," he said.

Button noted that a handful of tower projects are still in the works, with towers and repeaters in the southern portion of the county not yet online.

"We may have circumstances that preclude us from commencing on a specific date," he said.

In order to get the deal started, Button said they may have to "massage the effective date."

Button said the pre-existing relationship with Blue Wing and his review of the arrangements between Blue Wing and the county made it apparent that they were out of contract in regard to the development of towers.

The selection process to enter into the initial contract with Blue Wing was like many with the county, with a Request for Proposal (RFP) process used.

The competitive process allows many companies to submit a proposal to the county for consideration.

Before moving forward with the new agreement with Blue Wing, Button said he went through an evaluation process that included reviewing two other entities. After that time, he said it was apparent that Blue Wing was the best option.

"Generally speaking, the other entities were almost double the retained revenue compared to Blue Wing," he said.

The other two entities said they would retain 40-60% of the total revenue generated, while Blue Wing will only retain 20%.

Button said Blue Wing also has the pedigree with respect to the development of the towers themselves, something that will help as more towers are put up around the county.

But Legislator Larry Denesha said he would not support the measure, saying their service has been "less than stellar."

"For a myriad of reasons I cannot support this resolution," he said.

Button said he was aware of the concerns and took them into consideration, which is why the contract will be a one-year test run to see how well the process works with Blue Wing.

Legislators finalized the contract at the July 1 meeting.

Sheriff's office applying to be prime agency for state grant

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

CANTON -- The St. Lawrence County Sheriff's Office is applying to become the prime grantee for the Northern New York Trafficking Program Grant after the Erie County Sheriff's Office ended their involvement sooner than expected.

Legislators approved a resolution to close out the New York Labor Trafficking Program Grant that was previously accepted in 2022, returning any unused funds to the Howard G. Buffet Foundation within 15 days.

That action came during a special meeting prior to the finance committee meeting held May 20.

The grant, which was accepted unanimously by county legislators during a full board meeting on Sept. 12, 2022, was to be paid out over 3 years.

The grant funding was to be utilized for a task force that includes local law enforcement, victim serving agencies, legal service and outreach entities.

The grant funds were to be administered by the Erie County Sheriff's Office with sub awards "to local law enforcement and not-for-profit agencies to cover criminal investigations, prosecutions, outreach, legal advocacy, case management, emergency assistance, training coordination and data analysis," officials said at the time.

Officials said at the time that they hoped to conduct "victim centered proactive labor trafficking investigations and prosecutions" with the funding while providing "comprehensive case management and immigration legal services to identify victims, to conduct outreach services to vulnerable communities and to develop promising practices for identifying, responding to and servicing survivors of labor trafficking.

The grant amount was $1,000,720 and was to be used to cover salary, benefits and "any other necessary equipment and contractual expenses." In a corresponding move, legislators also accepted a $45,000 grant for the Sheriff's Office in an effort to continue the work that began because of the former grant.

The charitable contribution from the foundation will assist during the transition to the new grant, which is potentially anticipated to be a 60-day period.

With the Erie County Sheriff's Office pulling out of their role as the prime grantee, allowing them to function as the pass through agency, St. Lawrence County Sheriff's Office will now seek to become the prime grantee in their place.

If successful, legislators will have to accept and modify the Office's 2024 budget accordingly, officials say.

The Sheriff will also work with the county treasurer's office to reconcile and return the balance of the grant funds in the meantime.

SUMMARY OF BOND RESOLUTION

A Bond Resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the Lisbon Central School District on July 2, 2024 authorizes the issuance of bonds and other obligations to purchase and finance two diesel motor 72-passenger student transport vehicles, including furnishings, equipment, machinery and apparatus as may be required for the purposes for which the vehicles are to be used and to expend therefore an amount, including preliminary costs and costs incidental thereto and to the financing thereof, not to exceed the estimated maximum cost of $360,000. The plan of financing includes the issuance of serial bonds in the aggregate principal amount not to exceed $360,000 and the levy and collection of taxes on all the taxable real property in the District to pay the principal of said bonds and the interest thereon as the same shall become due and payable, subject to applicable amounts of state assistance available or to any revenues available for such purpose from any other source. The bonds may be issued such that annual installments of principal and interest are substantially level, as provided by law. Under the Local Finance Law, the student transport vehicles have a period of probable usefulness of five (5) years. Such resolution shall be kept available for public inspection in the District Offices during regular business hours for twenty days following this publication.

Volunteers sought to participate in balance assessment and training research study

The Clarkson University Motion Analysis Lab is seeking volunteers for an exciting balance assessment and training of apparently healthy individuals between the ages of 55 - 80 years.

Individuals should have had no issues that can affect their balance in the past 6 months, including dizziness, muscle, bone or joint problems.

Since the study has been designed to improve your balance, your participation will most importantly contribute to scientific advancement in balance research and prolong longevity. You will also receive a gift card of $75.

Those volunteering to participate will be given balance-training tests on various standard clinical balance equipment. There will be 11 sessions over three weeks, each lasting 30-90 minutes.

The tests will be held at the Downtown Campus Clarkson University Motion Analysis Lab, Room 3102, 3rd floor, Clarkson Hall, 59 Main St.

This research will help researchers better understand how the balance system

Balance exercises prolong longevity, improve health

Balance exercises prolong longevity. Our balance system begins to degenerate after age 40, exposing us to risk of falls.

Over three million people experience falls in the U.S. each year, leading to health care costs exceeding $30 billion annually.

Early detection and training of balance problems will help to prevent fall incidence by 24% in older adults.

Importance of Balance Exercises

Balance exercises are an important way for senior citizens to maintain their health and prolong longevity.

- Exercises that improve balance help:
  - Prevent falls and maintain independence
  - Improve stability, flexibility, and endurance
  - Increase coordination and mobility
  - Enhance posture, boost confidence and reduce anxiety
  - Improve breathing capacity and function
  - Enhance cognitive function and overall quality of life
  - Reduce risk of injuries

- Delay the onset of bones and joint diseases such as arthritis and osteoporosis
- Prolong longevity

Tips on Improving Balance

- Have well-fitted, non-slip shoes
- Regularly check your vision and note any decrease in function
- Avoid walking in dark places and ensure good lighting in your environment
- Maintain an upright sitting and standing position
- Slow down on stairs and use handrails
- Be mindful of slippery surfaces when walking
- Use appropriate canes and walkers if needed
- Remove any obstacle in your environment that may pose as potential hazard
- Perform safe strengthening and flexibility exercises at least twice a week
- Monitor medications that may cause dizziness or affect balance
- Speak to your doctor about any loss of balance or potential fall experiences

Fiddling phenom to perform in Norwood

NORWOOD – The Norwood Village Green Concert Series will continue its 51st Annual Season on Sunday, July 14 at 7 p.m. with Michael Cleveland and Flamekeeper.

Born blind and almost deaf in one ear, Michael Cleveland has attained legendary status as one of the greatest fiddlers of his or any other generation.

The tension between tradition and innovation is at the core of bluegrass music, and the fiddle playing of Michael Cleveland exemplifies this musical tug of war. As a boy, Cleveland heard a local fiddler play “Orange Blossom Special,” which sparked a lifelong obsession with the tune that mimics that sound of a train. Cleveland’s improvisational versions push the piece’s descriptive tones and percussive bowing to a new level. With an encyclopedic memory for melodies, and an uncanny intuition for improvisation, Cleveland’s music is both rooted in tradition and fueled by his melodic imagination.

From an early age, Cleveland heard old-time and bluegrass music at local jams and festivals near his hometown of Henryville, Indiana. His grandparents hosted regular bluegrass gatherings at the American Legion, and at age four, he began playing the fiddle. He attended the Kentucky School for the Blind in Louisville, where he learned the Suzuki method of violin. While he practiced the violin at school, he played fiddle at home. When Cleveland was 12, he met music historian Dave Samuelson, who recognized the young musician’s interest and talent. Samuelson curated several Braille-labeled tapes for the young musician, which served as Cleveland’s essential listening guide to bluegrass music. Cleveland’s repertoire and musicianship grew, and in 1993 he played the International Bluegrass Music Association (IBMA) awards show with the Bluegrass Youth All-Stars.

Michael began playing professionally after he graduated from high school, however, Cleveland had dreamed of leading his own band. In 2006, he formed Flamekeeper, the seven-time recipients of the IBMA’s “Instrumental Group of the Year” award. Flamekeeper includes Josh Richards, Nathan Livers, Jasiah Shrode, and Chris Douglas.

Widely considered the bluegrass fiddler of his generation, Cleveland has been recognized 12 times as the IBMA’s “Fiddler of the Year” and in 2018 was inducted into the National

How to support someone who is grieving

BY KATE FAVARO

Hospice of St. Lawrence Valley

When I share with people I work for a Hospice providing grief support to patient's family members after their deaths I typically get one of two responses.

The first is a large gulp followed by some version of "ok..." and then, suddenly, they've remembered they need to be somewhere (anywhere) else.

The second is "Wow! I don't know how you can do that job; I could never do it!"

When the response is they could never do my job, I always assure people they could in fact do what I do, and likely have for their own friends and family already.

To help empower people to support others in their grief Hospice of St. Lawrence Valley offers the following suggestions:

- Do not be afraid to bring it up! Too often people don't want to ask how someone is doing since a loss because they don't want to make them sad or upset. The person who is grieving is already impacted by their grief. By asking how they are you are letting them know their grief is seen, normal, and ok to talk about. Bonus points here if you use the name of person who died. After someone dies, people may avoid saying their name for the same reason as above.

- Respect their grieving style. The way people express their grief happens along a spectrum with most people falling toward one of two sides. Intuitive grievers are the people who feel better when they cry, they want to tell you about the person (even if it makes them cry harder), they're people you take one look at and know they're going through it. The other side are your instrumental grievers. People who grieve this way do not benefit from crying and talking about the person. They work through their grief in hands-on ways. They'll redo a bathroom, plant a garden, or make a piece of art. If you're supporting someone who does not want to talk about their feelings, it does not mean they're avoiding their grief. Rather than trying to talk, find an activity to do together.

- Recognize you're not here to "fix" anything. Grief, and someone who is grieving, are not things that need to be "fixed." Grief is a natural response to loss. It's hard, it hurts, it's exhausting and confusing, but it is natural. As someone supporting a griever, you're not going to fix this. What you can do is remind them there's nothing wrong with grief and let them know you're able to help by listening or doing an activity with them to distract them. Side note, do not let them know you're there to help with "anything they need" unless you truly mean it. It can also be helpful to offer to help with something specific, such as picking up dinner, or taking the dog to the groomer, since griever's do not always know what they need.

A big concern people have when thinking about supporting someone who is grieving is they'll say the "wrong" thing.

Spoiler alert, you will say something wrong!

I do this for my career and have said wrong things to people. When you accidentally say the wrong thing, simply acknowledge it was not the best thing to say and apologize.

For more information on being a good grief supporter contact Hospice Bereavement Services at 315-265-3105.

United Helpers resident's love of fire trucks fulfilled by Rensselaer Falls Fire Dept.

OGDENSBURG – When David Margeson first came to United Helpers in August of 2007, he arrived with a shoebox containing his personal belongings – some magazines, family photos, a few dollar bills and several toy fire trucks.

As he began to adjust to his new surroundings, it didn't take staff at the Kendrew IRA in Rensselaer Falls very long to realize that David loved both firetrucks and firefighters.

According to Spruce Street IRA Residential Manager Karen Howie, he would eventually become an honorary member of the Rensselaer Falls Volunteer Fire Department. He would help wash trucks and even ride in them with other members of the department during parades.

In 2018 David moved to the essay nominating United Helpers for a $1,000 grant through the Northern New York Community Foundation's Youth Giving Challenge.

In that essay she wrote, "I would like to donate to the IRA in Ogdensburg, because I have a really good connection with some of the residents there and the employees," she wrote. "This one resident is so nice; he always called my sister and me 'his girls.'"

Her essay was selected and in memory of David, United Helpers used a portion of the grant to purchase two shrubs to plant at the IRA. Those plants, appropriately titled fire chief arborvitaes, were planted in the home's front yard adjacent to a small monument, which of course includes a picture of a fire truck.

The monument reads, "In Memory of David Margeson, a Friend & Inspiration to us all. 1938-2023."

Prior to the unveiling of the monument, both Mrs. Howie and David's Advocate Stacey Cannizzo recalled David and the impact he had on their lives, as well as those around him.

"One thing I'll always remember about David is how much people loved him and how much he loved people," Mrs. Cannizzo said. "Today is a testament to what David stood for, which is family and friends."

While his brother Paul was unable to attend the unveiling, David did have many friends in attendance, including staff who had cared for him, fellow program members and several members of the Ogdensburg Fire Department, who of course arrived in a shiny red fire truck with lights and sirens, just the way David would have liked.

McIntyre IRA and in 2020 he moved into the Spruce Street IRA in Ogdensburg. Those two moves just introduced him to more firefighters to become friends with.

In fact when he celebrated his 85th birthday, a party was held in his honor. In attendance was a truck from the Ogdensburg Fire Department along with several members of the city's fire department.

Just over a month later, David would pass away.

"Every time David saw a fire truck his face would light up," Mrs. Howie said. "Sometimes when David was having a bad day, he would even pull the fire alarm at the IRA, which of course would sound the alarms and then the local fire department would show up. A smile would begin to creep across his face as he could hear the sirens and then when the truck pulled up, his day would instantly turn around."

It was while living in Ogdensburg that David met Peayton Stark. Peayton's mother, Colleen Stark is a Medical Direct Support Professional (MDSP), and she would often bring Peayton to visit with program members.

"During those visits Peayton developed a special bond with David," Mrs. Howie said.

This bond led her to write an

Rockin' The River 2024: Gon' Country in Massena

MASSENA — Get ready to go “Gon’ Country” at this year’s Rockin’ The River music festival on Saturday, August 3, starting at 3 p.m. at the Massena Town Beach.

This free, annual summer celebration returns with a boot-stompin’ country theme, bringing the spirit of Nashville to the beautiful St. Lawrence River.

The festivities kick off with rising regional star Taylor Lavalley taking the stage with her powerful vocals and heartfelt songwriting that’ll transport you to the backroads and honky-tonks.

The electrifying headliner will be Brett Westgrove - one of country music’s newest breakout acts straight from Music City.

With hits like “Kiss Me Like That” and “Heartbreak Hangover”, Brett’s rich voice and infectious melodies fuse authentic country roots with a fresh, contemporary energy.

In addition, Rockin’ The River features a vendor village showcasing local artisans, businesses, and makers.

Food trucks, cold brews and refreshing drinks will be onsite.

New for 2024 is the Kids’ Zone packed with activities and entertainment to keep the little ones engaged throughout the day.

Stay tuned for more details on performances times, vendors, and more.

Le Siege re-enactment set for July 20 at Van Rensselaer Point

OGDENSBURG -- The Fort La Présentation Association will host "Le Siege" on Van Rensselaer Point in Ogdensburg, on July 20 and 21. French and Indian War re-enactors from across the northeastern US and Canada together with period craftspeople will provide guests with a glimpse of life in the St. Lawrence Valley in the 1760's.

Le Siege is a reenactment of the historic Battle of the Thousand Islands that took place just downstream from the International Bridge on Chimney Island. For three days in August of 1760, a small force comprised of French marines and militia held out against a British armada of 10,000 sailors, soldiers and colonial militia. The battle marked the last battle of the French and Indian War in North America.

Visitors to Le Siege will encounter historic re-enactors engaged in activities of daily life including cooking over an open fire, colonial anglers, a blacksmith, shop owners, sailors and soldiers.

Popular historic musician Linda Russell will entertain visitors and there will be games for children and adults.

An historic battle reenactment will be presented on both Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Commentary will be provided by St. Lawrence County Legislator Jim Reagen, author of Warriors of Fort Présentation.

The gates open at 10 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

The admission price is $5 for adults and $2 for children (ages 6-16).

Free admission for children on Sunday with paid adults.

For more information and updates go to www.fort1749.org.

Hammond Field Day, BBQ, parade planned

HAMMOND – The Hammond Fire and Rescue Annual Field Day will be held on Saturday, July 20, at the fire station located at 300 Lake St.

The day starts off with a chicken barbeque from 2-3:30. Pre-order take out or eat in chicken dinner by calling 315-783-2396.

The Firemen's Parade follows at 7 p.m. and features many area high school bands, civic organizations and local groups.

Sign up for the parade at hammondsec@aol.com or call 585-750-1426.

Fire Chief Len Bickelhaupt describes the day, "as a fun family event with lots of things to do for kids of all ages."

The auction, bounce house, and kid's games will open immediately after the parade and the day concludes with a dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. featuring the band Common Revolution.

Anyone wishing to donate items or gift certificates for the auction can contact any Hammond Firefighter or drop it off at the station July 15-19 after 6:30 p.m.

Hammond Fire and Rescue, Inc., is a not for profit organization that provides fire protection and ambulance service to the Village and Town of Hammond.

Leave Those Kids Alone to perform in Waddington

WADDINGTON -- The Waddington Summer Concert Series will present Leave Those Kids Alone at a free concert on the river on July 12 from 6:30-9:30 p.m. at the pavilion on the St. Lawrence River, at the foot of Main St. Leave Those Kids Alone features talented teenagers performing note-for-note renditions of classic rock favorites.

Audiences from across Ontario, the U.S. Midwest and world wide online audience love hearing LTKA's renditions of Styx, Frampton, The Beatles and so many more chart-topping hitmakers.

Formed in 2018, the band has performed over 300 shows and are no strangers to events with 5000+ people in attendance.

Based in Windsor-Essex Ontario, LTKA is a go-to act for family friendly events, festivals, summer concerts and other events.

Brother-sister duo Alex (guitar) and Addi (drums) are paired with Luca (bass) and Lou- is (keyboards).

In 2015, as students of the Canadian Conservatory of Music in Windsor, Ontario, the kids began rehearsing and performing classic rock hits with school director, Peter Palazzolo and Alex's father John-Paul Bonadonna.

Three years later, with recital performances and a growing local and online reputation under their wings, the band claimed the moniker Leave Those Kids Alone and began performing to audiences across the region.

As recording artists, LTKA released their debut all-original album titled "Groundwork" in 2022, featuring seven songs written by the band.

The bands 2022 CBC Music Searchlight entry was named the fan vote winner.

Organizers are actively seeking teams and sponsors for the event.

The event is sponsored by SeaComm.

The tournament will follow a four-person scramble format with a shotgun start at 9:00 a.m.

The team entry fee is $320, which includes greens fees, a golf cart, prizes, and a meal.

Following the tournament, participants are invited to an awards reception in the clubhouse, featuring a prize ceremony and a raffle.

In keeping with the organization's mission to support youth and community activities, this year's tournament is dedicated to Scott

Rogers, a former Massena Police Officer, in honor of his contributions to our community. A portion of the proceeds will fund 10 youth member scholarships in Scott's name for the 2024-2025 school year for our after-school program.

"We are excited to host this event again and look forward to bringing the community together for a day of golf and goodwill," said Zachary Monroe, executive director at PAL of Massena.

"This tournament is not only a great opportunity to enjoy a round of golf, but also a chance to support our youth programs and honor the legacy of Scott Rogers."

To register your team or inquire about sponsorship opportunities, contact 315-705-6075, visit www.massenapal.com or follow on social media @MassenaPAL.

Free yoga offered this summer

MORRISTOWN -- Free gentle yoga will be offered at Morristown Public Library on July 15, 22 and 29 at 6 p.m. with Ellie Beeler from the Canton Yoga Loft.

Bring a mat (and blocks if you use them).

Ellie began practicing yoga in 1999 (on the advice of her doctor) to address joint problems and pain associated with aging and arthritis.

At the Canton Yoga Loft, Ellie teaches 50+ Yoga, a practice for seniors who are in reasonably good health, and Chair Yoga which enables people to enjoy the benefits of yoga without getting down and up from the floor.

Ellie completed her Hatha Yoga teacher certification at Shoshoni Shambhava Ashram in Rollinsville, Colorado in 2007, and continues to take annual refresher courses. She is also certified to teach Liz Franklin's Yoga in Chairs®, a specialized program for bringing yoga to people with mobility limitations.

Farmer's market changes name

OGDENSBURG — The Ogdensburg Farmers Market is now called Ford Street Green Market.

It is an open-air market showcasing handmade, homemade, or locally produced items.

The market is now located behind the First Presbyterian Church, 423 Ford Street, just before Phillips Diner.

It is open Thursdays and Saturdays from 9 a.m. - 2 p.m., weather permitting.

For more information, contact manager Elizabeth Graham Lyons at 315-869-6188 or bethglyons@gmail.com.

Art exhibit honors Dottie Goodrich

BRASHER FALLS - The Badenhausen Public Library, 897 Main St., will host an art show honoring the memory of Dorothy (Dottie) Goodrich and her contributions to the arts.

Dottie, an accomplished painter, was known for her finely detailed renditions of historic places in the Brasher Falls area. Several of her paintings, as well as art from other local residents, will be on display in Cras-

Hall above the library.

The show will open Saturday, July 13, at 3 p.m. A "Meet the Artists" reception will begin at 6 p.m.

The show will be open for viewing during regular library hours on Monday, July 15 (9 a.m.-1 p.m.), Tuesday, July 16, (10 a.m.-2 p.m.) and Wednesday, July 17 (11 a.m.-6 p.m.). Admission to the opening reception and the art show is free of charge.

TRAFFIC...

Though nothing serious has occurred yet, McGowan said he is surprised given the existing concerns.

"We have a nice porch and we sit on it all summer. I'm just surprised there hasn't been something," he said.

This isn't the first time village officials have sought to curb speeding drivers in residential areas.

Officials also previously discussed putting a new stop sign on Liberty Ave. last year, which had been in discussion for several months. Officials said the sign would very likely slow traffic on a street that is described as "a run-way" or "drag strip."

According to Massena Police, the street is a known issue to the department, however patrol officers are not able to monitor the street 24/7.

Following discussion in early spring of 2023, officials moved forward with the plan and placed a stop sign on Liberty St. in an effort to make the residential area safer.

Officials said it had taken some time for drivers to catch on to the new sign but confirmed it has reduced speeding in the area.

In other action, village trustees discussed possibly selling a parcel located at 56 1/2 Main St., which currently sits vacant.

According to Village Administrator Monique Chatland, the parcel is a non-buildable vacant lot that was assessed at $7,400. Given that village law states the government must sell property for "fair and adequate consideration," the village plans to move forward with a purchase offer of $2,530. Chatland said she reached out to the assessor to give the parcel a second look since it was assessed at $7,400 since 2007, at which time the assessor determined the offer to be fair.

"If the assessor says that's a good price, she's the expert," McGowan said. Chatland said if the sale were to go through, it would eventually save the village money in maintenance costs while also putting the parcel back on the tax rolls.

SEWAGE...

with DANC and engineers.

At the previous meeting the city discussed bolstering a program that reimburses residents for some costs associated with a black flow installation and other measures, but no formal action has been taken.

Tooley said that the July 15 meeting would allow the city to give the situation the attention and discussion it deserves.

"Allowing for a special meeting to deal exclusively with this subject, I think is something that will be a good use of council's time as well as our community's time," Tooley said.

GRINGO...

available.

Although the city council unanimously approved the public hearing, councilors did ask to be presented with an average cost for commercial space to be made available for the next meeting.

The Dirty Gringo is a 'fresh Mex' restaurant that opened 2011 at 104 Ford St.

Project Coordinator Workforce & Strategic Initiatives

Salary: $44,000 - $47,500

Description of Duties

SUNY Canton is accepting applications for a full-time Project Coordinator for Strategic Initiatives. The successful candidate will work half-time in the Center for Workforce, Community & Industry Partnerships (CWCIP), reporting directly to the Executive Director, and half-time supporting the Vice President for Strategic Relations & Communications (which oversees the CWCIP).

Center for Workforce, Community & Industry Partnerships:

The Project Coordinator will be responsible for coordinating scheduling, invoicing and administrative duties associated with workforce development and relevant campus grants/initiatives. The incumbent will coordinate microcredential initiatives, community engagement, and workforce trainings. This position will work with other staff, faculty, and administrative units on campus when required. Responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

- Perform administrative coordinating duties related to the Center for Workforce, Community & Industry Partnerships.
- Facilitate project operation by creating timelines, milestones, and deliverables to contribute to effective planning and implementation.
- Coordinate invoicing, scheduling, and tracking of workforce development trainings and other initiatives, including summer camps.

Strategic Relation & Communications:

The successful candidate will provide administrative and program support for the Vice President of Strategic Relations and Communications in the areas of economic development, community relations, government relations, and special projects. Responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

- Perform administrative coordinating duties related to the Office of Strategic Relation & Communications.
- Budget tracking.
- Draft/edit/proofread communications and other documents.
- Aid in administrative details for planning and implementation of projects/initiatives.
- Facilitate communication and coordination between internal and external constituencies.
- Special projects as assigned.

We seek candidates with a combination of most of the following qualifications. If your experience does not align perfectly with these qualifications but you believe you would be a good fit, we encourage you to apply.

Qualifications:

- Bachelor's Degree and/or 2 or more years of related professional experience.
- Strong analytical and problem-solving skills, independent judgment, ability to work collaboratively, and initiative to accomplish goals.
- Excellent communication skills (oral and written.)
- Familiarity with project management tools and office software, including the Microsoft Office Suite.
- Class D driver's license.

Prior to a final offer of employment, the selected candidate will be required to submit to a background check including, but not limited to, employment verification, educational and credential verification, and criminal background check. Position is open until filled.

Application Deadline: Review will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled. Prior to a final offer of employment, the selected candidate will be required to submit to a background check including, but not limited to, employment verification, educational and other credential verification, and criminal background check. Persons interested in the above position should apply online at <https://employment.canton.edu/>

All appointments are contingent upon continued receipt of State funding and r renewal of appointment is subject to the Research Foundation of SUNY policies and procedures, sponsor guidelines, and the availability of annual funding.

The Research Foundation, a unit of the State University of New York, is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer, with a commitment to building a culturally diverse and pluralistic faculty to meet the needs of our diverse student population and strongly encourages applications from minority and women candidates.
