Keeping the sap flowing despite challenges

BY CHERYL SHUMWAY
North Country This Week

What keeps local maple producers going year after year, despite the intense work and unpredictable weather?

They are passionate and proud of their sweet hobby. It can provide some extra income as well.

Many find happiness in continuing a tradition that has been a part of their families for generations.

"Our maple syrup business started about 60 years ago. We have four generations involved in the business," said Jeff and Lori Jenness, second generation maple producers. They own Orebed Sugar Shack, DeKalb Junction.

Laura and Paul McAdam were the first generation maple producers. Bill and Brianne Tulley and Courtney and Jud Foote make up the third generation. Gavin and Carole Tulley, and Judson, Jeremiah, Josiah and Laura Foote are the fourth generation.

house. The younger generations helped lead the tours and operate the shop selling their many maple products.

"This season has been slower to start because of colder weather. We had 70 out of 2,400 taps missed because of deep snow and snowstorms," said Jeff Jenniss.

Expert says gas stations aren't fixing prices

BY JEFF CHUDINSKI
North Country This Week

CANTON -- Higher fuel costs throughout St. Lawrence County when compared to neighboring counties has drawn the ire of consumers, something legislators have sought to address with the Attorney General's office.

According to County Attorney Steve Button, state officials supplied his office with a report of their findings after conducting an initial investigation into higher gas prices in St. Lawrence County.

"The report largely found that fluctuations were easily explained but probably easier explained by those in that field," he said.

To address those concerns, Button said he reached out to officials with Stewart's Shops and Mountain Mart. Only Stewart's accepted Button's invitation to speak with legislators during the March 24 Finance Committee meeting.

Vice President of Fuel and Transportation Pat Suprenant fielded questions from legislators, addressing a number of concerns during the meeting. Though many constituents have accused gas stations of price fixing, Suprenant said there are many factors that are out of the companies' control and largely dictate pricing.

Fixed costs related to compliance, pricing and procurement, along with fluctuations in the market play the biggest role, he said.

Plans to settle defamation lawsuit moving forward Ogdensburg mayor says

BY JIMMY LAWTON
North Country This Week

OGDENSBURG — Ogdensburg Mayor Michael Tooley says the city's plan to finalize an agreement to settle a defamation lawsuit is still moving forward.

In February Ogdensburg City Council approved a settlement to end a lawsuit filed against the former City Mayor Jeffrey M. Skelly and former City Manager Stephen Jellie.

"We believe it's in that the net expense to the city in terms of legal expenses, and at this time we are providing support attorneys to Mr. Jellie and Mr. Skelly, as well as the attorney representing the city, that the net legal cost of $30,000 to $35,000 today plus a $30,000 legal settlement falls short of what the estimated legal costs will be if we continue further in this litigation," Mayor Michael Tooley said after the February meeting where the deal was approved.

Gerald Mack, a former Fire Captain, filed the lawsuit following a dispute that stemmed from a dispute with former Mayor Jeffrey M. Skelly and former City Manager Stephen Jellie which has roots going back 2020, and centers around public comments made by them regarding a number of incidents.

In a recent interview Mack said he can only speculate that the suit is hung up due to disagreements between the lawyers representing the city and the attorney repre-sending Jellie and Skelly, who are funded by the city.

Mack, though, said he has been given no official reason for the hang up.

Although the council held an executive session Monday regarding litigation, no real update came following the 30 minute discussion, which may or may not have centered on this particular lawsuit.

However, later in the meeting the mayor stated that the city directed the city manager to finalize a deal put forward by the court. He added that things are still proceeding as planned and that the settlement is still expected.

Massena mayor's proposed budget includes 2.5% tax levy increase

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

MASSENA -- Mayor Greg Paquin's proposed budget would carry a 2.5% levy increase, allowing the village to stay below the tax cap threshold.

According to Paquin, the $158,300 increase comes in below the tax cap by about $40,000.

"Our tax levy this year would be $6.6 million or a 2.5% increase. The tax rate would be an increase of 1.16%. It would go to $17.34 per $1,000 (of assessed value)."

The rate last year stood at $17.14 per $1,000 of assessed value.

This marks the ninth year in a row trustees have proposed a tax levy increase, something Paquin said was a necessity this year with rising costs and a number of projects planned throughout the village.

If necessary, trustees can exceed the tax cap after passing a resolution to do so, however Paquin said he felt that would not be necessary.

Overall, department heads requested $12.9 million, a figure

Paquin's budget trims to $12.5 million. To cover expenditures and stay below the tax cap, Paquin's budget is also calling for the village to utilize $450,000 from the fund balance.

That figure is down slightly from the $494,292 used in the current budget.

"We have a healthy fund balance. Not $72 million like the county, but we're doing pretty well," Paquin said.

He said one aspect that helped the village increase the fund balance from $3.3 to $5 million was due to Treasurer Kevin Felt's efforts to switch health insurance plans and deductibles.

As part of the switch, the village is required to keep a certain amount of funding set aside for the deductible, Paquin said.

"They haven't come close to that. So, it added $300,000 to the fund balance. We now have the data to see on average how much we use, and it's going to be a significant savings. So, that really helped greatly," Paquin said.

Another measure Paquin said will save the village significant funds is a new 3-3 shift with the police department.

Under the policy, with a full complement of 23 officers, Paquin said the department will cut overtime expenses well over in half.

Budgeted overtime for the department stands at $185,000 under Paquin's proposed budget, a decrease of nearly $200,000 compared to the current budget.

For the fire department, $144,000 from the sale of a rescue truck will be used to pay an air pack debt payment, volunteer turn-out gear, career staff turn-out gear, as well as physicals and cancer insurance for volunteer staff members.

A proposed part-time code enforcement officer, which was slated to cost $34,000, was also cut from Paquin's proposed budget.

"We can revisit that down the road if it's something the board thinks we should add back in but right now we're cutting it from the budget," he said.

Currently, career fire staff also double as code enforcement and fire inspection staff, however Paquin and Deputy Mayor Chad Simpson have begun a push to transition all career staff to work as EMTs as well.

Paquin previously said that would likely require the village to hire a full-time code enforcement officer to handle those duties.

If successful, Paquin and Simpson previously said the transition would mean that Massena could eliminate E5 Services with the Rescue Squad.

The inclusion of E5 professional staff came under scrutiny last May when trustees questioned the contract expense, as well as failure to secure proper reimbursement due in part to clerical errors.

Trustees are also aiming to eliminate losses related to refuse, water and sewer expenses.

Under the proposed budget for refuse, $1.4 million in revenue is projected with $2.1 million in expenses expected.

Village officials said that figure isn't sustainable, requiring them to up rates.

For the water fund, $1.9 million in revenues are projected with $3.2 million in expenses expected.

The sewer fund is also projected to take a loss, with $1.7 million in revenue to offset $2.2 million in expenses.

"What you're going to see is our revenues are far less than our expenses or what we expected them to be. That's because we are buying a refuse truck, a loader, and a garbage truck. But, in doing so, we aren't going to see those for three years. So, that gives us time to build up our funds for the refuse, sewer and water," Paquin said.

Under the proposed budget, Paquin is proposing a 10% increase in each fund over the next five years in a move to avoid "sticker shock" for residents.

In years prior, trustees adjusted rates every ten years in one lump sum. Paquin said the village needs to "have a good fund" when they go out to bond for future water projects to show they can cover the fund.

Public hearings are scheduled for April 3 at 5 p.m., at which time Police, Joint Recreation and the Treasurer will present.

On April 7 at 5 p.m. Massena Senior Citizens, Code Enforcement, Fire and Rescue will present, while on April 9 at 5 p.m. the Department of Public Works, the remainder of the budget and final review will be heard.

Officials can move to adopt on April 9, however the budget can also be adopted on April 15 during the regular board meeting.

Weapons charge

OGDENSBURG – An Ogdensburg man faces a weapons charge following the execution of a search warrant Wednesday, March 19, in the City of Ogdensburg. Rodney D. Pelkey, 39, of 719 Knox St., was charged with fourth-degree criminal possession of a weapon and first-degree failure to safely store a weapon. New York State police reported that a search at the Knox Street residence discovered two 12-gauge shotguns, one of which was modified. Pelkey was released on an appearance ticket for April 8 in Ogdensburg City Court.

Two face charges after man allegedly threatened to shoot woman

OGDENSBURG -- Ogdensburg Police have arrested two city residents on multiple felonies after receiving a call that a male subject was threatening to shoot a woman at Oak Street.

According to police, members of OPD surrounded the residence after receiving the complaint around 12:10 p.m. on March 14.

After a brief standoff, all residents exited the property, police say.

Police charged Elliot D. Roberts, 22, with aggravated family offense, criminal contempt 1st, unlawful imprisonment 2nd and coercion 3rd. He was arraigned in City of Ogdensburg Court by Judge Lemay and remanded to St. Lawrence County Correctional Facility on $5,000 bail or $10,000 bond.

Six days later, Ogdensburg Police executed a search warrant at the residence, which was prompted from the ongoing investigation.

At the conclusion of the search warrant, police say they recovered two shotguns, as well as an AK style rifle that were located in the residence.

Police say they then arrested Penny Arquitt, 52, on two counts of criminal possession of a weapon third-degree.

She was arraigned in City of Ogdensburg Court and remanded to St. Lawrence County Correctional Facility on $5,000 bail or $10,000 bond.

Police also arrested Melissa R. Gordon, 52, on two Morrision Court bench warrants and one St. Lawrence County bench warrant.

Ogdensburg Police say Gordon was subsequently turned over to the St. Lawrence County Sheriff's Office.

The investigation is ongoing with more arrests expected to follow.

Charged with criminally negligent homicide

CANTON – The driver of a vehicle involved in a double fatal in December in the Town of Potsdam has been charged with criminally negligent homicide, according to the St. Lawrence County Sheriff's Office.

Connor A. Graveline, 19, Ogdensburg, has been charged with two counts of criminally negligent homicide following an investigation into the fatal motor vehicle accident.

On Dec. 17, the St Lawrence County Sheriff's deputies responded to a two-car motor vehicle accident at the intersection of State Highway 310 and County Route 34 in the Town of Potsdam. The accident resulted in the deaths of Real "Frenchie" Coupal, 84, and Loretta Perez, 73, a passenger in the vehicle.

Deputies determined that at the time of the accident Graveline was operating his vehicle with negligence which contributed to the cause of the motor vehicle accident.

Graveline is scheduled to appear in Potsdam Town Court at a later date to answer the charges. The St Lawrence County Sheriff's office was assisted by the New York State Police.

Coupal was president of Frenchie's Chevrolet.

"Frenchie and Loretta were two cornerstones of this community. Each individual was highly involved in the community, whether that be with the Hospital board, the Elks, or the Italian American Club. Two very wonderful people who gave so much to the community and who I will miss dearly. My thoughts are with both of their families and I know the entire Massena community grieves," Mayor Greg Paquin said.

Deputies say a 2022 Chevrolet Silverado, operated by Connor A. Graveline of Ogdensburg, was traveling east on County Route 34 when he failed to stop at the stop sign at the intersection and struck a 2022 GMC Acadia, operated by Coupal.

Guilty plea from man who crashed into house

A Bronx man who fled from the Ogdensburg immigration checkpoint and later led St. Lawrence County Sheriff's deputies on a high-speed chase before crashing into a house earlier this year pleaded guilty to charges Wednesday, March 19.

Miguel Rodriguez, 36, pleaded guilty to high-speed flight from an immigration checkpoint and possession of ammunition by a prohibited person in federal court in the Northern District of New York in Utica, said a press release from the United States Attorney's office.

United States Attorney John A. Sarcone III; Erin Keegan, Special Agent in Charge of the Buffalo Field Office of Homeland Security Investigations (HSI); and Ogdensburg Port of Entry Director Thomas Trimboli made the announcement, said a press release from the U.S. Attorney's office.

Rodriguez admitted that on Jan. 20, 2025, he arrived from Canada to the U.S. Customs Port of Entry in Ogdensburg, driving a red Infiniti sedan, but sped away without stopping and reporting for inspection.

A short time later, a St. Lawrence County Sheriff's Deputy found Rodriguez driving the Infiniti in Ogdensburg and attempted to stop him.

Rodriguez refused to pull over and led law enforcement on a high-speed chase, which ended when Rodriguez struck a pickup truck occupied by three people and then crashed into a residence in Ogdensburg; no one was injured.

A search of the Infiniti revealed a 12-round handgun magazine containing four 9mm bullets. Rodriguez was prohibited from possessing the ammunition because of a prior felony conviction for assault.

At sentencing, scheduled for July 17, Rodriguez faces a maximum term of 15 years in prison for the ammunition possession and a maximum of 5 years in prison for fleeing from the Port of Entry, a fine of up to $250,000, and a term of supervised release of up to 3 years.

Carolann Kingsbury Nelson, 55

Massena

MASSENA - Carolann Kingsbury Nelson, 55, passed away on Saturday March 15 after a long battle with cancer.

She had many accomplishments, graduated Massena High School, SUNY Canton, studied at the University of Kentucky and she was a loving wife for 35 years.

She had a wicked sense of humor that made her unforgettable.

When asked if we had children in our house she told the psychologist, "I'd kill 'em if there were." It had her placed on watch but she said, "If you can't laugh at life, why live it?"

When her mother-in-law, Pat Nelson, was diagnosed with dementia and deemed unable to live alone, Carolann was already disabled but put her own comfort aside to move in with her and take care of her.

When her mother-in-law dreamed of restarting the farm, Carolann would talk about making a Dragon Farm.

The two of them would spend some happy hours planning on where to house the dragons, and of course the market for dragon's eggs.

She loved animals and graduated from SUNY Canton with a Vet Tech degree. That love and knowledge allowed her two cats, Murray and Madonna, to live into their 20s.

In the 90s she was really into "Random Acts of Kindness" so instead of flowers, please perform your own random act of kindness to someone.

Carolann is survived by her husband, Darrell Nelson; her mother-in-law, Pat Nelson; her Sister-in-law, Tammy Renshaw and her sister, Kitty Pierce.

Conservatives back Stec as Stefanik set to vacate NY 21st seat

BY JIMMY LAWTON
North Country This Week

Sen. Dan Stec has secured backing of the New York State Conservative Party in his bid to replace Rep. Elise Stefanik in the NY 21st Congressional District.

The NY 21st Congressional seat held by Elise Stefanik is set to become vacant when she is formally appointed and confirmed as U.N. Ambassador as part of President Donald Trump's cabinet.

Although there are many Republicans seeking support from the Republican Party Chairs, the front runners at this time appear to be Dan Stec, Liz Joy and Assemblyman Chris Tague.

It's unclear when the Republican Chairs will vote, but it's expected to occur soon as Stefanik's confirmation is planned for April 2.

"Thank you to NY State Conservative Party for naming me as their preferred pick to succeed my good friend Elise Stefanik as our next Representative in #NY21! I'm proud of my 100 percent Conservative rating and strong record as an advocate for common sense conservative reforms," Stec said in a statement released on his social media account Monday.

"This support is greatly appreciated, but by no means is the candidate selection process over. In the days ahead I hope to earn the support of our excellent 15 GOP Chairs, Congresswoman Stefanik and President Donald J. Trump. Given the thin Republican Majority in the House, it's imperative we retain this seat. I believe I am the candidate best suited to do that and I hope to make that case directly to our voters."

Whoever is picked, they will face a Lisbon farmer in a special election.

The Democratic Chairs of NY-21 are unanimously supporting Blake Gendebien as their special election candidate for the New York 21st Congressional District.

In a recent interview with North Country This Week Gendebien said he is a candidate who is not beholden to parties and will seek to represent the North Country.

"I'm not a politician. I'm a farmer at heart who cares about my neighbors. I don't have pressure from Albany. I don't have pressure from D.C."

He said he is disappointed in government gridlock and jockeying for power he's seen on both sides of the aisle.

"It resulted in a lot of inaction in the North Country," he said.

North Country This Week wins big in NY Press Association's 'Better Newspaper Contest'

Competing against some of the largest newspapers in New York State, North Country This Week and NorthCountryNow.com have been recognized for quality reporting and advertising design.

The staff was honored for spot news reporting, best ad campaign, government coverage, and innovative advertising in the Better Newspaper Contest at the New York Press Association spring conference in Saratoga Springs last week.

Jimmy Lawton, Adam Atkinson and Paul Mitchell received third place for "Spot News Coverage" for their extensive reporting on the August 2024 flooding and devastation after the remnants of Hurricane Debby hit the North Country.

"The storm had an enormous impact on the community, and it was covered very well," the contest judges said. "Critical information was provided throughout with details of what happened to plan for recovery."

First and second place awards in the category both went to amNew York Metro, a Brooklyn-based newspaper.

Debbie Morgan and Cathy Whalen were honored with a third place award in the "Best Advertising Campaign" category for a series of ads for 1844 House.

"Great graphics; consistent look throughout all the ads; clean font/text," the judges said. "Like the vertical reverse on the left side of each ad. Well done!"

The Warwick Advertiser received first place and the West Side Spirit of New York City won second.

News Editor Lawton was also honored with third place for "Best Coverage of Local Government."

Stories reviewed by the judges described how county property was used as collateral in a fugitive's release, a potential Ogdensburg developer said he would rather "chew glass than continue working with the city, and Ogdensburg's new mayor sees hope and opportunity.

"Each article was well written. A reader could get bogged down with so much information, but each kept my attention with a great lead and follow-through reporting," said the judge.

The Warwick Advertiser received first place and the Rye Record was second.

Advertising Consultant Amanda Hitterman, along with Debbie Morgan, Cathy Whalen and Publisher Bill Shumway were recognized with a second place award in the "Innovative Ad Project" category.

The award was received for "North Country Spotlight" pages, including pages sponsored by the St. Lawrence County League of Women Voters explaining how to register and vote; a page of cartoons created by children at Colton's Hepburn Library; a page explaining services offered by Helping Hands of Hannawa Falls and sponsored by Northern Insuring; and a page highlighting the Potsdam Humane Society sponsored by Barstow Subaru.

First place winner in the category was Caribbean Life, based in Brooklyn; the Adirondack Daily Enterprise of Saranac Lake received third.

SLC to add court navigators for mental health program

State funding allows for 2 case workers to help those in criminal justice system

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

CANTON -- The county Community Services Department has received funding from New York State to add two mental health court navigators to the system, but filling those roles may prove challenging.

Legislators approved a resolution to accept the funds, $199,677, for the two positions.

Community Services Director Jay Ullrich confirmed to legislators the funds would cover the salaries and benefits for the two roles for one year, allowing the county to hire two individuals to be embedded in the County Court and Ogdensburg City Court.

Ullrich said the two staffers will handle a range of tasks, including evaluations and efforts to address "barriers to mental health treatment." He said the navigators will work with the courts and interface closely with community partners to "foster the connection to behavioral health services."

According to Ullrich, the needs of the new program will best be met by creating and filling case manager positions.

He said those hired will play a key role in ensuring persons in the criminal justice system make their court dates, eliminating a number of pitfalls that occur for individuals suffering with mental health issues.

"Do you have any idea who's going to fill this or will it be internal moves for this?" Legislator David Forsythe asked.

Ullrich said his department had yet to identify anyone yet, commenting that they felt it was best to hire case workers because they are "much more abundant."

"We've had a number of licensed clinician openings, really for years," Ullrich said.

As for the status of the funding, Legislator Joseph Lightfoot raised concerns about the longevity of the program when he asked if the funding was a guarantee. "Is this funding for a year, two years, what's the length of the funding?" he asked.

Ullrich said he was informed the funding would be annually recurring unless "something catastrophic happens with the NYS budget."

But Lightfoot still raised concerns, saying it appeared the funding was "based on the goodwill of the state of New York."

Ullrich said that was true, that the funding was based on state officials' efforts to keep the program funded in the future.

If funding is reduced or eliminated, the positions will not become county-funded without additional board of legislators approval, according to county officials.

As for who is most likely to receive aid through the navigators, Legislator Ben Hull wanted to know if it would be based on a first-come-first-served basis or whether it would be prioritization based on need.

Ullrich said the department did not have enough experience with the two courts yet to make a determination, commenting that his office and the navigators would try to work closely with the various offices involved, including the District Attorney's Office, Public Defender, Indignant Defense to ensure individuals who needed assistance would receive it.

He said it was important for Community Services to get the word out once the two navigators are hired so they would be able to reach out to those who may need extra help and services.

"Has the state provided any evidentiary support as to the effectiveness of this program?" Hull asked.

Ullrich said the state has assigned an individual to offer support moving forward. "So, what us and other counties that were awarded this funding start with may not be what we end up with based on learned experience over time," Ullrich said.

Massena school capital project may come in $2.4 million lower than expected

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

MASSENA -- Massena Central School officials say the possibility of Governor Kathy Hochul pushing back an electric bus mandate could cut $2.4 million from the next capital project.

According to Superintendent Ron Burke, the proposed $79.8 million project, which taxpayers will vote on May 20, could come in under the proposed budget.

In the meantime, he said the district is still planning for electric upgrades in the bus garage.

"When we talk about the electrical upgrades, we are talking about preparing the bus garage for the EV mandate. If I'm not mistaken, it's about $2.4 million that we're talking about for the electrical upgrades just for the electric buses," he said. "My hope is that we see something happen out of Albany that says we don't need to do that. If that's the case, we won't need to spend that $2.4 million."

Despite questions from board Vice President Kevin Perretta who wondered if the district would be on the hook for getting additional power to the garage, Burke said he did not have a concrete answer.

He noted he had "informal conversations" with Massena Electric Department Superintendent Andrew McMahon but would ask him directly if MED had the capacity to handle the extra electrical load if the mandate were imposed by the governor.

Perretta said he also wanted further information about how the increased capacity would impact the power allocation MED receives from the New York Power Authority. He said his concern was how it would impact MED customers.

"I'll get real firm numbers and firm answers because that's been my concern with Massena Electric getting the certain allocation of low-cost electricity. Once you get past that, you buy into the incremental power supply," Burke said.

Electric rates have been a big concern for residents and businesses alike in recent months, as the allocation of power from NYPA was used up rather quickly due to colder temperatures in January and February when compared to previous years.

Many Massena residents reported bills that doubled or even tripled compared to last year, with open market power rates nearly triple the cost of low-cost allocated power supplied to MED.

During the recent school board meeting, King + King Architects officials Megan Vanderbrook and Phil Squadrito updated board members on the extent of the project.

Squadrito said the firm and Facilities Committee have worked for the last 10 months to identify the scope of the project, landing on a $79.8 million budget.

He said 92.5% of the funding would most likely come from the state, which means $73.8 million would be covered. The remaining $6 million, or 7.5%, would come from the district's capital reserve fund.

Burke told board members that would ensure the tax levy for next year's budget would remain flat.

According to Vanderbrook, the work to be conducted relates mostly to mechanical upgrades, including heating and cooling systems, HVAC upgrades and the replacement of a temporary heating line that runs from the Central Administration Building to the high school.

Site improvements would include turf replacement of the existing field, which is beyond its lifespan, as well as stadium lighting, outdoor bathrooms, scoreboard replacement, new speaker systems and pool repairs.

Burke commented that the turf replacement was necessary for the safety of students, saying the field is already beyond the 10 to 12 years lifespan at this point.

That means by the time the field is refinished, it will be three years past its life expectancy.

"We have to do every year what's called a compression test to make sure that field is still safe to use by our student athletes. We continue to pass that, but at some point we will fail and we will not be able to utilize that field any longer," Burke said.

Other upgrades include roof replacement, securing of the main office entrance, gym renovations, renovations to the women's locker room and improvements to the athletic entrance.

One key component is the addition of windows in the office near the main entrance so officials can see who is approaching the school before they enter, according to Vanderbrook. She said other improvements include electrical and plumbing upgrades, along with LED lighting conversions and a new boiler system.

That will be a key component of the project as the district does away with the emergency heating line that runs above ground and through the high school parking lot, officials said.

"I want people to understand that when we talk about this high school work, which is approaching almost $40 million in totality, these are not luxuries. These are things that we know we have to do," Burke said.

Extensive work will also be conducted at each elementary school, the middle school and Central Administration Building. If approved, the project would likely be out to bid in November or December 2026, with a three year window of completion, landing at the end of 2029, school officials said.

Stefanik confirmation hearing set for April 2

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

Congresswoman Elise Stefanik is set for an April 2 confirmation with the U.S. Senate to become the next ambassador to the United Nations, a move that will trigger a special election in the NY-21 district.

Congressional leaders had slow-walked Stefanie's confirmation as Republicans held a slim majority in the House of Representatives, requiring Stefanik's vote to advance a number of recent bills.

One such bill was the stopgap funding measure that was almost unanimously opposed by Democrats.

Despite being President Donald Trump's first nominee for his cabinet, Stefanik is now the last remaining nominee to be confirmed.

But with two Republicans set to fill the seats left vacant after Representatives Mike Waltz and Matt Gaetz vacated them, members of the Senate can advance Stefanik's confirmation hearing.

Though the information was first reported by Axios and the New York Times, no specific schedule has yet been announced.

Who will fill Stefanik's seat will come down to a special election, which will be triggered when she is confirmed and resigns from Congress.

Under election law, a special election must be called by the governor in such circumstances.

Governor Kathy Hochul will be required to announce the schedule for the election within 10 days of Stefanik resigning, meaning the campaign would likely run into June or July before the election is held.

Who runs is determined by the 15 county party chairs, who have weighted votes.

Democratic Chairs of NY-21 are unanimously supporting Blake Gendebien as their special election candidate for the New York 21st Congressional District in February, which was met with controversy just hours later when a 2013 interview with TAUNY was brought to light.

In the interview, Gendebien discusses his farm and community, painting an unsavory picture of the area's workforce, which Republicans have been quick to call out.

Gendebien says corrections officers "don't have much self-worth," and says Hispanic workers are better workers than local kids because they "don't have practical independence and an ability to think and the knowledge these guys do."

He also says that his Hispanic employees work 12-hour days 6.5 days per week and that it would take six local workers to replace just three of them. He says that he is not obligated to check their legal status and recounts a time when he paid $10,000 to bail out one of his employees who was apprehended by border agents.

Gendebien says that the local workforce is lacking and that those that are available come with baggage like domestic abuse issues and custody battles.

Among those criticizing Gendebien are State Republican Party Chair Ed Cox and Stefanik.

"Democrats didn't do their homework when they selected Blake Gendebien and his catastrophic statements. Republicans will easily hold this seat in the upcoming special election, because the North Country is unquestionably Trump Country."

Although there are many Republicans seeking support from the Republican Party Chairs, the front runners at this time appear to be Dan Stec, Liz Joy and Assemblyman Chris Tague.

It's unclear when the Republican Chairs will vote, but it's expected to occur soon as Stefanik's confirmation is complete.

"Thank you to NY State Conservative Party for naming me as their preferred pick to succeed my good friend Elise Stefanik as our next Representative in #NY21! I'm proud of my 100 percent Conservative rating and strong record as an advocate for common sense conservative reforms," Stec said in a statement released on his social media account Monday.

"This support is greatly appreciated, but by no means is the candidate selection process over. In the days ahead I hope to earn the support of our excellent 15 GOP Chairs, Congresswoman Stefanik and President Donald J. Trump. Given the thin Republican Majority in the House, it's imperative we retain this seat. I believe I am the candidate best suited to do that and I hope to make that case directly to our voters."

Advocate against pay gaps

The federal Equal Pay Act was signed into law by President John F. Kennedy in 1963. That promise of economic equality for women, however, has gone unfulfilled for 62 years, and it now seems further out of reach than ever.

For decades, New York State has led the way in the effort to close the wage and opportunity gap with stronger state and local laws. Yet in New York today, women earn only 87 cents for every dollar earned by a man. The wage gap is even wider for Black, Latina, and Native American women in New York. For every dollar made by a white, non-Hispanic male, these women make, respectively, $0.66, $0.60, and $0.55.

On this Equal Pay Day, March 25, the League of Women Voters calls on our state leaders, employers, and all New Yorkers to reaffirm New York's commitment to equality.

To our state & local elected leaders: we expect you to continue to fight for workers' rights as the federal government retreats. On Equal Pay Day, commit to passing and enforcing transparency laws that hold businesses accountable to equal pay requirements.

To employers: step up efforts for equity in pay and continue to offer equal opportunities to women and marginalized groups.

To every New Yorker: know your rights, and the rights of your fellow New Yorkers. Push your employers and government officials to enforce workplace equity. Advocate for solutions to the persisting gender and racial pay gaps. Resist federal efforts to roll back workers' rights. Defend anti-discrimination efforts in the workplace. Fight for "equal pay for equal work" for everyone!

Why are we Messing with Canada?

"Why are we messing with Canada?!" exclaimed the man delivering firewood to one of us. "We sell logs up there, and our guy comes back with things from Canada. Did you hear they might cut off their electricity to here? My bill's already about $180. What's it going to be if they do that?"

People are alarmed at what the tariffs could do to Northern New York which has enjoyed a mutually friendly trade relationship with Canada for over 100 years. Maple producers are concerned because they sell their products to Canada, for example.

In February, Canadian visits were down 23 percent compared to a year ago. Earlier, the U.S. Travel Association warned that even a 10% reduction in Canadian visitors could translate to $2.1 billion in lost revenue and cost 140,000 jobs. Do the math for a 23 percent reduction. It's actually over $4 billion in losses and a quarter of a million jobs, according to Forbes.

This is going to slam local tourism. Our neighbors to the north do not appreciate hearing about tariffs or the ridiculous and repeated announcements of them becoming our 51st state, and our neighbors here who own restaurants, hotels, amusement parks, and etc. take the hit.

If enacted, tariffs on the electricity our region receives from Canada will not only slam people like the man delivering firewood, but will especially slam our farmers who already operate on "razor-thin margins," according to David Fisher, President of the New York State Farm Bureau which has joined opposition to a "wide-reaching slate of tariffs being proposed by U.S. President Donald J. Trump," according to an article North Country This Week.

Here's a real life illustration of how retaliatory tariffs on electricity would slam local farmers. Blake Gendebien is a second generation dairy farmer who grew up in the North Country, and he's our presumptive Democratic nominee for Congress once Stefanik resigns. He shared that his current average electric bill is about $4000 a month, and said that even going to $4500 would hurt substantially, adding up to an additional $6000 a year. That slams Blake's family financially, and probably means more expensive cheese for the rest of us.

Weren't "lower grocery prices" something we were all promised? If you want someone who understands the impact of these tariffs, who knows how to really reduce grocery prices, send a farmer to Washington when the special election happens. Vote for Blake Gendebien.

Morristown jogger Doesn't carry ID

I like going for walks. Sometimes a run. Okay, a slowish jog. When I'm running or walking the streets of Morristown, I'm not carrying a wallet. Why would I? I don't need it. Unless I'm on my way to either of the two local watering holes, and even then, it's easier carrying a couple $20s or just my iPhone for Apple Pay. Yes, I live on an international border, but I'm in no danger of being snatched by ICE. And y'all know why. It's because I'm white.

Home Alone 2 actor, failed casino owner, and Chapter 11 champion Donald Trump's harsh border policy is not about illegal immigration. Or really immigration in general. It's about making America white again.

The entire Trump era is a backlash to Barack Obama's presidency and the growing diversity of our nation. It's what white nationalists call the Great Replacement, the racist fear that liberal "effetes" are flooding our nation with darker skinned migrants to "replace" the good white folk.

If you're a non-white immigrant, Trump is going to do everything he can to deport you, even if you have a green card or student visa. And sometimes even if you are white, if you have the temerity to criticize Israel's ethnic cleansing of Palestinians in Gaza.

If Trump only wanted to deport illegal border crossers and expired visa holders, he wouldn't be removing temporary protected status from legal Haitian and Cuban refugees, he wouldn't be rounding up legal green card holders for exercising their free speech rights at campus protests, and he wouldn't be sending Lewis County consigliere Tom Homan, his less sophisticated Hans Landa doppelganger, on an auto da fé rounding up Spanish speaking people, some citizens who without white skin don't have the luxury like me of going for a walk without ID.

According to reports in the New York Times, Trump's drafting a travel ban list for countries including Venezuela, Cuba, Somalia, Sudan and Cameroon. While simultaneously joking (but not really) about annexing Canada and Greenland. He wants to keep non-white people away, while forcing white Danes from Greenland and white Canadians to become American, whether they want to or not. Long-time allies like Canada and Germany and the UK are issuing United States travel warnings to their own citizens. America's becoming a pariah nation and deserves to lose hosting privileges for the 2026 World Cup and 2028 Olympics.

A poem for early spring

You cheer the early arrival of Spring warmth.

But if you look behind the veil you will see what it forewarns.

Early Summer will follow bringing another year of record highs. The burning sun will dry the fields and chase the rain from the skies.

Across the world people will suffer but not have the resources we do.

Crops will fail, forests will burn, and children will die too. There is no global joy as you ignore another warning.

Climate change is knocking as sure as the earth keeps turning.

Or will it?

Assemblyman says Governor's plan to bar corrections officers from government jobs is hypocritical

Gov. Hochul's Executive Order No. 47.33, which declares a disaster emergency and includes provisions barring terminated Department of Corrections and Community Supervision (DOCCS) employees from seeking employment with other state, county or local government agencies, is an unacceptable overreach of executive power. This action represents an egregious suspension of civil service laws and municipal home rule, undermining long-standing legal protections for public employees. The executive order is in stark contrast to the Clean Slate legislation that allows criminal records to be sealed in order for convicted felons to gain employment—how is that for contrast! A blanket prohibition on rehiring qualified DOCCS employees within government agencies is punitive, unfair and counterproductive—especially at a time when many local governments and public safety agencies face workforce shortages. Executive orders such as this are only valid for 30 days. Unless the governor proposes permanent legislation, these measures will be null and void after that period. Executive orders should not be used to override established employment rights or interfere with municipalities' ability to hire capable personnel. I strongly oppose this EO and urge the governor to rescind it immediately. New York must uphold the principles of fairness and local control rather than penalizing hard-working individuals who have dedicated their careers to public service, yet felt unsafe and abandoned by New York state leadership who are soft on crime until it comes to their own workforce.

Sabad's Restaurant in Norfolk suspends service

NORFOLK -- Sabad's Restaurant is suspending dinner services following two final services on Friday, March 21 and Saturday, March 22.

"With heavy hearts, we announce that Sabad's Restaurant will be suspending dinner services after this weekend. Please join us for one last meal either Friday or Saturday from 4-9," they wrote on Facebook.

"This decision was not an easy one, as this restaurant has been a gathering place for so many of you over the years. We are incredibly grateful for the opportunity to continue the legacy of this beloved establishment, and we have felt the deep love so many of you have for this place," they continued.

The suspension of dinner services was met with an outpouring of support from many community members, many of whom said they had been dining at the establishment for many decades.

"First and foremost, we want to extend our deepest gratitude to our amazing staff. You have been the heart and soul of this restaurant, and we could not have done this without you. Your hard work and passion helped create an experience that our customers won't forget. Thank you for being part of this journey with us -- we appreciate you more than words can express," the post stated.

"Since taking over in 2022, we have been blessed to work with so many wonderful people and to serve this incredible community -- sharing meals, laughter, and special moments with all of you. From the bottom of our hearts, we want to thank each and every one of you for your support, friendship, and loyalty," they continued.

Though the kitchen will go quiet after Saturday's service, plans are in the works to continue in the future.

"Though this chapter is ending, the kitchen won't be quiet forever. We have plans in the works and look forward to sharing more with you when the time is right," they wrote.

Frenchie's accountant faces larceny charge

BY JEFF CHUDZINSKI
North Country This Week

CANTON — An accountant formerly employed by Frenchie's Chevrolet in Massena has pleaded guilty to third-degree grand larceny.

According to District Attorney Gary Pasqua, Saralynn Burnett, admitted to embezzling more than $24,000 from the dealership.

Pasqua said the court is committed to five years of probation with restitution capped at $24,000.

"Unfortunately, due to the untimely and tragic death of Real Coupal, we lost a necessary witness in this case and it became impossible to prove the total amount of money stolen," Pasqua told North Country This Week.

Real "Frenchie" Coupal tragically lost his life in December, along with Loretta Perez, after the vehicle they were traveling in was struck by Connor A. Graveline, 19, of Ogdensburg.

Graveline was recently charged with criminally negligent homicide by the St. Lawrence County Sheriff's Office after a nearly three month investigation.

On Dec. 17, the St Lawrence County Sheriff's deputies responded to a two-car motor vehicle accident at the intersection of State Highway 310 and County Route 34 in the Town of Potsdam.

The accident resulted in the deaths of Real "Frenchie" Coupal, 84, and Loretta Perez, 73, a passenger in the vehicle.

Deputies determined that at the time of the accident Graveline was operating his vehicle with negligence which contributed to the cause of the motor vehicle accident.

Graveline is scheduled to appear in Potsdam Town Court at a later date to answer the charges. The St.

Lawrence County Sheriff's office was assisted by the New York State Police.

Coupal was president of Frenchie's Chevrolet.

"Frenchie and Loretta were two cornerstones of this community. Each individual was highly involved in the community, whether that be with the Hospital board, the Elks, or the Italian American Club.

"Two very wonderful people who gave so much to the community and who I will miss dearly. My thoughts are with both of their families and I know the entire Massena community grieves," Mayor Greg Paquin said.

Deputies say a 2022 Chevrolet Silverado, operated by Connor A. Graveline of Ogdensburg, was traveling east on County Route 34 when he failed to stop at the stop sign at the intersection and struck a 2022 GMC Acadia, operated by Coupal.

"A lot of people who volunteer have been impacted by the club over the years," said OBGCL Executive Director Meg McNamara. "We've always been blessed with volunteers." McNamara credits the success of the Expo to the almost 350 volunteers who lend a hand in the planning stages, which begin as early as September the previous year, and later during the event. The director also praised the area businesses who set up vendor stands every year, those who donate prizes for the expo raffles, and the school for letting the organization use the dome for the venue. "We are fortunate," said the director. "It's just a perfect venue." Admission to this year's Expo is $5 per adult, $3 per child, and $20 for immediate family. OBGC continues to provide food to members and families

The Ogdensburg Boys and Girls Club has continued to provide weekly dinners to our members through the NYS Alliance. St. Lawrence-Lewis BOCES Culinary Students with assistance from their teacher prepare a hot meal once a week for the members. This is a great partnership we have built together over the years. We have a couple supporters of the club that purchase all the ingredients needed and then drop it off at BOCES. The students then prepare the dinner and BOCES employees also deliver the food right to the club for the members. When Covid hit, we really saw the need to focus in our community on food insecurities. With the support of community members, the NYS Alliance, United Way of Northern NY, Child and Adult Food Care Program, the club was able to provide 9,000 healthy snacks, 4,000 dinners, and 110 bags of groceries to families throughout the year. "We want to thank everyone who helps make this possible for our members, we see the impact it makes and how much it helps and the families are so appreciative." With more than 150 kids bussed to the club afterschool it is important that we can keep growing these programs.

Homeowners can attend 'Green Living Fair' for exhibits, workshops, panels

CANTON -- SUNY Canton will host the 2025 North Country Sustainability Day & Green Living Fair from 10 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. on Saturday, March 29, in Dana Hall. The event is free and will feature a full day of exhibits, workshops, panels, and talks, culminating in a keynote address by a renowned ecologist.

The fair offers hands-on learning experiences about sustainable living, energy efficiency, local foods, composting, and recycling. Community members can also enjoy raffles, demonstrations, an EV and Hybrid car show, and interactive activities for all ages.

From 10:45 a.m. to 2 p.m., concurrent workshops, panels, and talks will dive deeper into sustainable practices and climate resilience.

- A Green Jobs Panel at 1 p.m. is among the anticipated highlights of the fair.

- A reception from 2 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. will offer networking opportunities.

- The event concludes with the keynote speech at 3:30 p.m. in Kingston Theater.

Keynote speaker Sunita Halasz, Climate Strategy Advisor for the Adirondack Research Consortium and Project Coordinator for the Adirondack Climate Outreach and Resilience Network (ACORN), will present findings from the North Country Rural Resilience Roadmap. This report highlights the region's role in achieving state and national climate goals, outlines local sustainability initiatives, and emphasizes the need for climate resilience in the face of extreme weather events like Hurricane Debbie.

"The Green Living Fair is a fantastic opportunity for students, faculty, and the wider community to engage in meaningful discussions and initiatives that contribute to a more sustainable future," said SUNY Canton associate professor Brandon Baldwin, who is serving as this year's event organizer.

For more information, contact Baldwin at (315) 379-3866 or baldwinb@canton.edu.

Boost value before selling

People considering buying or selling a home are facing a unique market. The real estate market has been in flux for several years, and high interest rates have made it more expensive to borrow.

Homeowners with properties they are considering listing for sale would be wise to make certain changes that will help garner the best prices from buyers.

The kitchen is the heart of many homes. Real estate agents may recommend that homeowners make minor to moderate kitchen upgrades like resurfacing cabinets, upgrading countertops and changing fixtures or hardware to give the room an overhaul.

Homeowners also should look to bathroom updates as smart investments that can improve home value. Katie Severance, author of The Brilliant Home Buyer, characterizes kitchens and baths as "money rooms" that add the most value to a home.

Painting a home is a cost-effective renovation with a lot of oomph. Freshly painted rooms appear clean and updated, says HGTV, and that can appeal to buyers. Homeowners should choose neutral colors to accommodate the widest array of potential buyers.

The exterior of a home is the first thing potential buyers will see as they roll up to view a property or look at a listing online. Homeowners should start by evaluating and enhancing the landscaping. Ensure the lawn is well-maintained and add plants that provide color without a lot of maintenance.

Homeowners can think about adding to the usable space in a home. This translates into finishing basements or attics or even converting garages to rooms. Or it may involve adding a three-season room.

What to know about replacing gutters

Certain home renovation projects are more glamorous than others. A remodeled kitchen is sure to garner its share of “oohs and aahs,” while a newly paved driveway is much less likely to dazzle guests.

A gutter replacement is another job that might not have the wow factor. But fully functioning gutters are a must and can help to prevent potentially expensive roof damage. Gutters rarely draw attention, but homeowners can keep an eye out for signs that indicate gutters need to be replaced.

Signs gutters should be replaced Various signs indicate it's time to replace existing gutters. Homeowners should act promptly if any of the following signs arise, as poorly functioning gutters can make it hard for water to get into the downspouts, ultimately pushing it backward and likely underneath roof shingles, where the result can be costly water damage.

- Peeling paint
- Cracks
- Pooling water in the gutter
- Mildew in the gutter, which can sometimes be seen even from the ground
- Water damage: Water damage on the gutter can be limited to certain spots and will be noticeable on the underside of the gutter
- Soffit damage
- Sagging gutters
- Detached gutters, which can be detached from other pieces or the house
- Rust

Who should replace gutters?

Many home improvements can be completed successfully by skilled do-it-yourselfers, but a gutter replacement is best left to the professionals. Homeowners who live in single-story homes may be able to replace gutters on their own, but the issues that can arise when gutters are not functioning at optimal capacity make this a job best suited to professionals, even in residences without high roofs.

Some gutters may be under a manufacturer's warranty, so homeowners can check to see if their gutters qualify for a free upgrade. Experience is one of the best reasons to work with a professional gutter installation team. Experienced professionals can identify which gutters are the best fit based on a host of factors, including the pitch of the roof, local conditions and the size of the house. In addition, gutter installation requires the use of various tools that many DIYers may not have on hand, which can cut into the cost savings of doing the project yourself.

Tips for renovating on a budget

Renovations around the house require an investment of time and often considerable amounts of money.

Findings from the 2024 U.S. Houzz & Home Study show that home renovations are becoming more expensive. The median renovation spending for homeowners has gone up 60% since 2020. Homeowners who are conserving funds can rest assured that it is possible to make meaningful changes both inside and outside a home without breaking the bank. Here are some ways to renovate a home on a budget.

• Create a budget and don't waver. Figure out exactly what you can afford for a renovation and then make that your maximum dollars spent. Research comparable projects in your area and be honest about whether you can afford the renovation as-is or if you must adapt ideas to fit your price. Make sure to build in a cushion of around 15 to 20 percent for any unforeseen expenses that may arise once a renovation is underway.

• Maximize an existing floor plan. This Old House suggests looking for ways to maximize your current layout before you invest in major renovations like an expansion. Bring in a designer with an eye for utilizing space. For example, see how you might be able to replace shelves with pull-out drawers in the kitchen. Moving furniture around or rethinking floor plans also can help to lower costs.

• Balance DIY with hiring contractors. You can save money by tackling some projects yourself, but only if you are confident in your renovation skills. Rather than risk making costly mistakes and having to redo things, hire well-vetted professionals but ask if there's any DIY work you can do to cut costs.

• Check clearance and resale stores. Shop discount stores for building materials to save money. Checking the clearance and markdown sections of other stores may yield considerable savings on items needed for a renovation. Warehouse retailers like Costco or Sam's Club also can be great places to find certain home improvement materials and furnishings.

• Take advantage of free services. Certain stores may offer things like free consultations with designers who can show you what a renovation can look like. This is advantageous to the stores because once you see the potential you're more likely to buy the products, even if it's not mandatory.

• Resurface instead of redo. Certain items can be made to look new with minimal effort. Paint is a relatively inexpensive tool that can transform walls and more. A good hardwood flooring company can buff out a floor and put a new coating instead of an entirely new floor. Kitchen cabinets can be resurfaced instead of replaced as well.

Thousands expected in Ogdensburg as Expo returns to Golden Dome

BY JIMMY LAWTON
North Country This Week

OGDENSBURG -- Thousands of visitors are expected in Ogdensburg April 5 as Ogdensburg Expo returns with family fun and a worthy cause.

The event is one of the city's largest draws and is crucial in supporting the Ogdensburg Boys and Girls Club.

For decades the expo has marked the arrival of spring and served as a social event that brings old friends together and celebrates local talent.

OBGC Executive Director Megan McNamara encouraged people to get out of the house and enjoy the festivities.

"Bring a smile and enjoy the entire day. You will luckily run into an old friend or familiar face unexpectedly and enjoy what the show has to offer," she said.

McNamara said expo's a special event for the city that brings the community together.

"The Ogdensburg Boys and Girls Club expo continues to be one of Ogdensburg's Biggest Events because this event brings the community together for exhibitors, entertainment, and a bazaar area. It is a great family event to bring the kids to and also with the weather breaking everyone is ready to be out and about! The event has been around for so long that people look forward to this all winter long," she said.

It's also an important one, as EXPO is crucial for our fundraising efforts for the year.

She said club attendance has never been greater with generally 160-170 members after school daily.

This year performances from Jill's Dance Studio and Julie's dance Study are planned for Saturday.

Ogdensburg Free Academy's Section X championship hockey team will be honored in a brief ceremony at 3 p.m. and a live performance from Eric Monnat and Kirsten Morley will take place at 5 p.m.

On Sunday Ryan McNally and Gerard Powers and friends will perform.

Lena the Lizard Lady will bring her exotic animals around the expo on Saturday from 10:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m.

McNamara took the role of Executive Director Jan. 1, 2025.

And while this will be her first expo in that role, it's certainly not her first rodeo.

McNamara has been employed by the Club for 21 years, and served the last 12 as the assistant executive director.

She said she's looking forward to another successful year for the club.

The Expo features an exhibit hall at the Golden dome at 1100 State St. with concessions, carnival games, exhibits featuring automobiles, boats, crafts, and products of all kinds over the two-day event.

The money raised from the expo helps support the club's $580,000 operating budget and programming which provides educational and recreational activities for local youth at a membership cost of only $6 a year and no one turned away for the inability to pay.

The club serves about 600 youth through membership and as well as other youth through community outreach.

Average daily attendance is 165 different youth per day during the peak months which is helped made possible by the support of the Ogdensburg City School District and Superintendent Kevin Kendall, as the district buses students from both Elementary Schools everyday afterschool to the club.

MAPLE . . .

Hoping for two more weeks of sap running

His grandson, Gavin Tulley, laughed as he described the difficulty in finding the vacuum lines in the deep snow.

Maple sugaring also runs in the blood of the operators of Sweeter Creations, in Waddington. Current owner Michael Kenny said his grandfather, Clarence Kenny, had a small sugarhouse as a hobby. Michael later started his own sugarhouse, now in its 53rd year. Last year it produced 2,400 gallons of syrup.

His son, Nicholas Kenny, helps out part-time, and Nicholas' son Owen, age 7, is also beginning to help.

"Owen was upset when the snow this year was too deep for him to be able to tap the trees," said Michael.

"I slept only two hours between Friday and Saturday because, with the warmer weather causing more sap to flow, we had 13,000 gallons of sap that we had to make into syrup," said Michael.

Another generational family-run business in the Maple Weekend tour is Brick Chapel Maple, of Canton.

Owner Elliott Rodee, and his son Brandon Rodee, were busy stoking wood for their evaporator and monitoring its temperature to the precise boiling point for syrup production.

They were concerned maple production will a shorter season because of the warmer weather now.

"The old-timers said once you freeze the frogs out of hibernation three times the season is over," said Elliott, who says the saying is not far off in predicting when the sap is done.

Woody's Maples, in Hermon, is a sixth generation maple producer, with a large scale business. Owners Jessica and Josh Whitford were hoping to produce 6,000 gallons of syrup if they could get at least two more weeks of sap running, despite the warming temperatures predicted next week.

"With the deep snow, it took forever to dig out the main lines this winter," said Josh. "Snow was up to our chests and snowshoes did not help much."

Trout Lake Maple owners Richard and Jeanne Hamilton, lease four nearby maple tree bushes and truck the sap to their sugar house, now relocated on Chub Lake Road, Gouverneur.

Their certified kitchen makes a wide variety of maple products from maple ice cream and donuts, to maple covered popcorn, nuts and pretzels.

They sell these maple treats in many local locations, including Save-a-Lot stores, flea markets, craft fairs, SLU Brewer's Bookstore and White's Flowers.

"If you can put maple in it, I sell it," said Richard Whitford.

GAS . . .

Taxes also play huge roll in rising gas prices says Stewart's rep

"A lot of that goes into the pricing but it's not a linear formula," he said.

When asked about significantly lower pricing in the Clifton-Fine area, Suprenant said they were "getting quite a deal in that market."

He commented that when compared to Malone, which is a highly competitive market, margins remain razor thin.

"Fuel is a loss leader to get people in there to change their shopping habits," Suprenant said.

He said in the case of the two Stewart's locations, one is barely profiting on fuel while the other is losing money everyday.

"We have to squeeze the margins where we can," he said.

He said fixed costs, coupled with hauling expenses that fluctuate drive prices.

Suprenant said Stewart's also ships fuel from multiple locations, including Montreal, Albany and Syracuse.

Different fuel brands, whether it be Valero fuel from Montreal or Sunoco fuel from Syracuse, also play a role.

He said when compared to Sam's Club in Plattsburgh, which was $2.88 per gallon on March 24, Stewart's can't compete with pricing that is a loss leader.

But Legislator John Burke questioned if buying power would have any effect on pricing, something Suprenant said was not the case.

He said he had seen the pricing offered to much smaller stores and saw "not much, if any difference," he said.

When Stewart's purchased 45 Jolly's stores in Vermont, Suprenant said he received the pricing they received, noting it was exactly the same as Stewart's had received for its then 365 stores.

He said purchasing options all affect pricing, with barges in the Capital Region being one way to save money.

"That's why pricing down there is lower, while we have to truck it up to St. Lawrence County. We can't do that up here," he said.

Burke also questioned how smaller "mom and pop operations" were able to compete with Stewart's pricing as well.

Suprenant said he can't speak to their business practices but did say in the case of Stewart's, more money was spent on labor and compliance, which drives costs.

"We're pricing at a retail price where we need to be to make any sort of margin in our markets. We don't speak with other competitors, nor would I dare to allow our employees to do so either," he said.

Suprenant also clarified that some fuels, such as 91 non-ethanol, is trucked up from Syracuse or Albany because it is not available in Canada.

One location in Gouverneur is also a Sunoco fuel branded store, meaning fuel has to be brought up from downstate. That contributes to expenses rising as well, he said.

In some cases Stewart's will ship a split load with 87 octane or diesel to offset those shipping costs, which also affects unleaded pricing, he said.

"We'll do a split load to the other store as well. We need to have a full truck coming up from Albany," he said.

But sending an empty truck back "isn't very efficient," he said.

Legislator Rita Curran also questioned the pricing scheme as it relates to Massena and neighboring counties, saying prices are 12 cents lower in Waddington.

She said many constituents wonder why neighboring communities have cheaper fuel prices when multiple stores are in close proximity in Massena.

"Well, it isn't always cheaper to pull from Albany, pulling from Canada is usually cheaper unless tariffs are involved," Suprenant said.

He commented that gas is usually cheaper in Albany based on raw cost when compared to Canada or Syracuse but logistics play a big role as well.

Suprenant said Stewart's, like other operations, weigh their various expenses when calculating fuel prices.

"It's the way we price the market. We're not price fixing. I'm not going to jail for that," he said.

Taxes also play a huge role in costs rising, with an 18 cent federal excise tax, 22 cent state sales tax and state excise tax of 8 cents impacting retailers.

Suprenant said taxes account for roughly 65 cents per gallon before it's ever put into tanks.

"We're a pretty fair, community based business. We wouldn't have been in business for 75 years if we weren't," he said.

Suprenant said some operations may also undercut pricing as they attempt to sell off, with larger corporate stores buying up independent operations.

"The everyday cost changes every day based on what the market does.

"That's what we have to pay for fuel that day, within that cost that's your refining cost, blended cost of all products, cost of getting it to a terminal. Everyone takes a piece as part of their margin. That's where the cost lands, then you have distribution and taxes too," he said.

LAWSUIT . . .

Mack was charged with stalking and criminal mischief

Mack and Skelly have had several interactions, including a December 2020 incident in which Skelly was charged with second-degree harassment for an incident that occurred at city hall.

Mack alleged the mayor had knocked him to the ground.

The mayor was eventually found not guilty of the charges.

In November of 2021 Mack was charged with stalking and criminal mischief after Skelly accused Mack of slashing tires on his vehicle.

The charges were eventually dropped by prosecutors.

In August of 2022, Skelly was charged with making false statements, the charges stem from the allegations he levied regarding the tire slashing.
