CUNE WINS BIG SECTION B

Council extends mask mandate

by Stephanie Croston scroston@sewardindependent.com

After hearing arguments from both sides. the Seward City Council voted 5-3 Jan. 5 to extend its mask ordinance to Wednesday, March 3.

Councilmembers Jonathon Wilken, Chris Schmit, Ellen Beck, Jessica Kolterman and John Singleton voted in favor, while Sid Kamprath, Karl Miller and Alyssa Hendrix voted against the extension.

The mandate requires people in Seward to wear a mask when they are in local businesses. The original ordinance was scheduled to sunset, or cease being enforceable, Jan. 5.

The public comment portion of the meeting started with representatives of Memorial Health Care Systems talking about vaccine numbers, new treatment options and the new variant of COVID-19, known as the U.K. virus because it was first found in the United Kingdom.

Dr. J.B. Ketner of MHCS said the new variant is more transmissible and because of that makes non-pharmaceutical options like social distancing or wearing masks more important.

'If you do the simple things, you have to do less of the complex," he said.

Roger Reamer, MHCS CEO, said the hospital has seen a shift in treatment from the emergency room to outpatient services.

Test Nebraska, which is available twice a week, tests over 100 people each week. Reamer said the positivity rate is concerning last week it was 53%.

MHCS received 350 doses of the vaccine in the first wave and. as of Jan. 6, had given out 330 to people in Tier 1A, which includes medical providers and first responders. He said they hope to start giving out the next tier, people age 75 and older, soon.

Ketner asked that the mask requirement be extended because of the lag time for the vaccine to reach maximum effectiveness. It takes about six weeks after

Sixpence hosting diaper drive

by Hope Moural hope@sewardindependent.com

According to the National Diaper Bank, one in every three families in the United States can't afford enough diapers to keep their children both clean and healthy as they grow, and that was before the coronavirus pandemic.

Not enough diapers mean babies can sit in dirty diapers for much longer than needed as some parents choose to provide either food or diapers for their children.

Katie Langner and Morgan Kozisek of ESU 6's Sixpence are looking to change that for Seward County and its surrounding communities with their "52 Weeks of Diapers" campaign happening throughout 2021

Sixpence is a nonprofit with the goal of providing help and services to parents of children ages 0-3.

'We've been thinking of this for a while, but with COVID, we've really seen the need of these families," Langner said. "We've seen things being taken away and parents really struggling."

So for 52 straight weeks, a diaper pantry established by Sixpence will take place.

For a week, local businesses in Seward, Milford and Utica can host a diaper collection at their location. At week's end, Langner and Kozisek will collect the donations and distribute the diapers to families once a month, or as needed.

So far, six local businesses including ESU 6, Seward Public Schools and Awe Salon have signed up to host.

Community members can get involved by bringing in packages or wipes or donating money for the Sixpence group to buy supplies.

The duo will send out a notice on Seward Community Chat on what business is hosting the diaper drive week by week.

Sixpence's goal by year's end is 75,000, and they will be keeping track of how much is gathered at each business that hosts.

For those who are interested in receiving diapers and supplies, the Sixpence group asks an appointment be made by calling or texting Langner at (402) 641-4998 or Kozisek at (402) 587-1454.

This is open to anyone in Seward or its surrounding areas. Appointments for picking up diapers will begin Feb. 1.

Sixpence hopes to continue a diaper drive collection in October, Diaper Awareness Month, to stock for families who may be in need in the future.

"Diapers and wipes are expensive, and we just don't want kids to suffer," Kozisek said. "We want to do more, do better for the community."

munity transmission," she said during the Four Corners briefing Jan. 7. "It's still more than we want."

Over the previous seven davs. Seward County reported 63 new cases. down from its height of over 100. she said.

The district is distributing the COVID-19 vaccine to the seven health care facilities in the district, McDougall said. That includes Memorial Health Care Systems in Seward.

Four Corners received 1.300 doses of the Moderna vaccine to share among the four counties.

"As soon as we get it, it's out the door and in arms," McDougall said.

Phase 1A is health care workers and priority groups, she said. The hope was to finish the first round of that phase of vaccinations within the next week.

It takes a couple weeks for the vaccine to start to kick in, she said. At that point, a person has 50-60% protection. The second dose is given 21-28 days after the first dose. The second dose boosts immunization to 95%.

"We still recommend masks and social distancing," McDougall said.

MHCS hosted a vaccination clinic Jan. 6 and gave 350 doses, he said.

Testing numbers have leveled off, with the hospital testing about 50 a week and Test Nebraska doing about 100 tests a week.

A new treatment, monochromal antibody infusion, is also available now. MHCS has two week's worth of treatments that are managed through the University of Nebraska Medical Center and the state of Nebraska.

The process takes about two and a half hours. On Dec. 7, MHCS received its first allotment and treated 45 people, Reamer said.

During the sector reports, David Kumm of Concordia University said students were to come back over the weekend. CU plans to continue with its protocols.

"We will play it conservative for January," he said.

The university plans to follow its traditional schedule with its regular breaks.

'No breaks was really hard on everyone," he said.

FBLA students take part in giving tree project

Under the guidance and leadership of the Seward FBLA project chairperson and chapter Vice President Carissa Gottschalk, the SHS Future Business Leaders of America sponsored a toy drive to collect gifts and toys for local CASA children in the greater Seward area.

This is the fourth year for Seward FBLA to participate in this project that assists the local CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocates) around the holiday. This year, a variety of FBLA members and other SHS students actively participated in asking for donations.

Students from Seward FBLA created a tree for FBLA adviser Wade Miller's classroom. The tree included ornaments that had information on each CASA child, including the ages, interests and the gender. As a result, more than 30 gifts were collected, specifically addressing at least one gift for each child involved in the CASA program.

The FBLA appealed to the students at Seward High, and as a result, individual students and families decided to sponsor CASA children.

Once the gifts were collected, junior members Sarita Richards and Ava King and senior chapter president Anna Hughes led the effort to make sure all the gifts were wrapped and ready to go.

"I could not believe the outpouring and generosity of the students here at Seward High" said Christian Seward community!"

"We are glad the FBLA could take a leadership role in this ef-fort to assist others," Miller said. "Leadership and Caring are two of the pillars of FBLA and this project fits so well with the mission of our group FBLA. We appreciated how the FBLA chapter and other students of SHS stepped up to help the CASA program and assist us with this project. Thank you, SHS and

Seward city council

Laura McDougall, executive director of the Four Corners Health Department, said rolling out the vaccine is a top priority.

"We've gained a lot of ground," she said, but added that case numbers have leveled off with a slight increase after the holidays.

Eleven members of the public, including two people from Omaha, spoke about their concerns and questions.

Most were opposed to extending the ordinance.

Danna Seevers of Seward told the council about a petition she'd posted on change.org on Jan. 2 that had already been signed by 586 people.

Jessie Enfield of Seward was also opposed and reminded the mask can be a problem for some people.

"The narrow-mindedness and lack of understanding is where a big part of the problem is,' she said.

"I don't think the facts show it's limited the spread," Zach Soflin of Seward said.

He shared statistics from the New York Times that showed a decrease in case numbers before the mandate took effect.

Kristi Ideus of Seward also pointed to those numbers and said there hadn't been the predicted huge spike after Thanksgiving.

"We have to find a way to live life with the virus," she said.

In an unrelated matter, the council voted to expend all the funds for the Downtown Revitalization Program up to 50/50 for approved projects.

Greg Butcher, city administrator, said Jan. 7 that the city wasn't able to conduct another round of applications because of time constraints. Money will be distributed by the end of February.

In other business, the council:

 approved Gary Jewell as manager of the VFW Club; approved a request by Hughes Brothers to hang banners along Seward Street and near the bandshell to celebrate its 100th anniversary; approved adding a stop sign for northbound traffic on Fourth Street at Waverly Road; and · reviewed job descriptions and the pay plan regarding two positions, one of which is now open and the other that will be in the future.

BVCA launches telehealth program

Blue Valley Community Action Partnership now offers free access to telehealth services in Seward, Butler, Fillmore, Gage, Jefferson, Polk, Saline, Thayer and York counties.

This new program is funded by the CARES Act and was created to address some of the more pressing issues created by the Covid-19 pandemic. A survey BVCA circulated to clients and the general public in 2020 indicated many people in BVCA's service area could not utilize remote medical or mental healthcare due to a lack of technology and/or internet access.

BVCA's telehealth program will loan clients a Chromebook or tablet for the purpose of online medical appointments. If the client does not have internet access at home, BVCA will provide a private, comfortable space at one of its facilities.

Each Family and Community Services office now has a station with a laptop and scanner clients can use. as well as an internet connection. Clients will still be billed by their healthcare providers, but there is no cost to rent or use BVCA's equipment.

BVCA's survey also indicated the pandemic contributed to a stark increase of feelings of depression and hopelessness. The organization will work with partner agencies to provide mental telehealth services at reduced or no cost to the client.

To learn more, contact the BVCA office in Seward at (402) 643-6425.

Julya Metschke, FCCLA T-shirt chair, delivers more than 500 T-shirts to Larry Joslin, program director at Living Water Rescue Mission in York.

Over 500 T-shirts donated in drive

In an effort to assist the homeless one shirt at a time, the students of Seward High gathered over 500 new and nearly new T-shirts for the homeless and those in need of clothing, donating them to the Living Water Rescue Mission in York. The original goal was 250 tees.

The local campaign was coordinated by the members of the Seward High School Family Career and Community Leaders of America, cochaired by SHS freshman Julya Metschke. The tees were donated to the York Mission during her Christmas holiday vacation. This is the sixth year the FCCLA has promoted this project

The FCCLA members decided that one small way to assist the homeless was to gather/collect T-shirts for those in need and issued a call to the high school students to gather T-shirts for people who would use them and appreciate them.

"Most high school students have a drawer full of T-shirts that they never wear and we felt it was a way to help clothe the homeless," Metschke said. "We appreciated all the donations and everyone involved was glad to donate. We would like to thank the community and students for helping with this project.

"Originally, our goal was a ton of tees, but because of the Christmas holiday vacation, our collection goal was modified to 500 tees. But the 500 Tees goal also has a good ring to it and it all helps the cause of aiding the homeless and less fortunate. This project really opened all of our eyes to the need and that poverty does exist everywhere in the USA,

"In many ways this is also a very good example of recycling, as these T-shirts are being put back into use and actually doing some good for someone, instead of just sitting in a drawer and never being worn."

Members sorted, folded and boxed them into cases and delivered over 500 T-shirts to the Living Water Rescue Mission in York. The students were invited to tour the facility and discover firsthand the needs of the homeless. They discussed other ways that the SHS FCCLA Chapter might serve those in need.

Severity hits close to home

This week I have to steer away from my lighthearted columns,

I know that everyone is tired of reading the word COVID everywhere you look, trust me, I am too. But, this week, I feel I need to share.

I was not unaware of the seriousness of COVID, but the severity only really hit me after I said the words, "my family really hasn't been majorly affected by COVID." I should have knocked on wood because not even two hours after uttering those words I got a call that completely changed my view on COVID and made it that much more real. "Your dad has a major blood clot in his leg and smaller ones in his lungs," my mother told me over a phone call while I was at work. This diagnosis came after he was diagnosed with COVID-19 earlier this year and pneumonia a few months later.

Taking it one page at a time

by Hope Moural hope@sewardindependent.com

Happy New Year, readers! This is my first column for 2021, so I thought weeks ago, Hope we had a Moural poll question in our Reporter publications asking if New Year's resolutions were going to be made or not.

Judging solely from the response, many of you aren't, and that's OK.

I'll admit that I have, um, shall we say pretty low expectations for this year, but still have dreams and goals that need achieving.

Last year, (remember 2020?) I had a goal to simply keep track of the number of novels read. That was before the pandemic, when numerous events were canceled and I had no choice but to spend time indoors, wrapped up in blankets with some hot tea. (I embellished there but you get the point.)

In case you're curious, I read 26 books from January to December 2020. I slowly came to the realization this fall that I may enjoy nonfiction more than fiction, which really surprised me.

Maybe it's the journalist in me, but I like my facts laid out, dang it!

Out of those 26 novels, there were only three I didn't enjoy and really had to power through to complete.

To you this may

These are the books I read last year. What's on the list for 2021?

sound like a lot of reading, and it might be, but I was actually a bit disappointed in myself.

I yelped "What?!" after counting them all up, thinking the number was closer to 40, or at least in the 30s.

Maybe I spend too much time tracking authors and other online realize we aren't invinbookworms that I overestimated my reading abilities.

I saw a post on Twitter that another woman read 150 novels also last year and I was all. "How?!" and "How can I be you?"

I try to read any chance I get, in the car, in between basketball games and at night before turning out the lights. (OK, some nights I nod off and don't remember where I left off, but we're all human.)

I've been doing this basically since I could read, it's just this is the first year I thought my work was going to show.

Anyway, all of this is to say that this year's goal is to not compare myself to others reading habits or be hard on myself for goals not met.

At this point, I think we all need a break and cible, and things may no longer be expected of us that perhaps once were.

Put another way, it's alright to take a breather, take it day by day and just simply breathe.

In and out, in and out, there you go...

The year 2021 may be off to a crazy start so far, but I know for me at least, it will feature bunches of good literature, numerical goals met or not.

Just remember, one day (or book) at a time.

He would be put on blood thinners for the next six months, my mom told me.

Exactly one week later I got another message while I was working.

"Hey kid. Sounds like we are going to Norfolk with your dad. He's got fluid in his right lung and some bleeding that they want to drain," my mom's message read.

We are lucky this was all caught in time the same outcome. Fortunately, I was able to sneak away from Crete to go see him last week, but when I walked in I was face-to-face with something I never thought I would see – my dad in pain.

Let me put this in perspective. My dad is the kind of man who can almost cut his finger off chopping wood, duct tape it together and keep working. He dealt with severe knee pain for years while he was working laying flooring. He was even back to carrying in wood the day after he was diagnosed with pneumonia (against what we told him to do - rest). This man avoids the doctor like the plague, no pun intended.

It wasn't until I was sitting with him after he got his second chest tube put in that it really hit me, and I think that is how a lot of people are. They know it's bad but it hasn't impacted them close enough to really understand.

While he is doing better now, there was in the hospital makes it even more real.

COVID is more than losing smell and taste. It affects people differently, but for some it really takes a toll, sometimes even a life. It's not just COVID and done, sometimes it causes a ball to roll of medical complications.

COVID doesn't just impact that singular person. It impacts the wife who takes off work to stay in the hospital. It impacts the son who has to take care of the house while the parents are gone. It impacts the daughter who has to take off work to help her brother. It impacts the employers who are missing those employees.

I won't be naïve enough to think everyone who reads this will now take extra precautions because of this column, but I hope it shares the message that this is real and important.

Please continue to wear your mask and listen to the medical staff who are seeing this each and every day.

MHS performs Dante's Inferno

by Heath Kramer Seward County Independent

Never a group known for backing down to a challenge, the Malcolm High School drama program has taken some big steps over the years.

This year may have been one of its biggest as its director. Tami Mavtum, made the decision to bump her group up from Class C1 to compete in Class A.

Her students accepted that challenge and soared as their adaptation of "Dante's Inferno" garnered a multitude of awards this fall and the production earned its way onto the stage at the Dec. 11 NSAA Class A State Championships in Norfolk. Malcolm placed fourth.

"The NSAA reclassified teams after last year and we got moved up to Class B," Maytum said. "We are C or C1 in every other sport.

"We thought competing in Class A was a risk but that it might actually give us more opportunities for success. Our students jumped on board and put in the extra work required to go up against schools 10 times our size."

One of the benefits of attending a smaller school is that students get to be in multiple activities throughout the year. That also means that the drama program has to share football, volleyball and basketball players as well as wrestlers, cross country runners and members of the band and choir.

Since August, the Malcolm thespians have been masking up before entering The Galley -Malcolm's drama and speech building - each morning for 6:30 rehearsals.

"These kids are hard workers," Maytum said. "At the beginning of the season, there were so many questions that we could not answer. Were we even going to get a season? Do we even start this show and risk our hearts breaking if we lose another season? These kids needed this season."

Of course, COVID-19 and the accompanying cautions and restrictions added additional layers of challenge to the season as performers, often through no fault of their own, had to quarantine

"It is physically, emotionally and mentally draining," Maytum said. "Each day we hold our breath and hope that we don't lose a team member to quarantine.

"We did so much switching around this season due to students needing to be gone, but they stepped in and covered parts that I didn't even realize were affected."

While mask wearing has become the norm, especially in schools and at extra-curricular activities, those simple pieces of cloth are just one more hurdle to overcome on the stage.

"Theatre is all about voices and facials," Maytum said. "Add a mask to everyone, and you take away some of the key components.

"Our makeup artists have had to be very creative and flexible this season."

Through all of the difficulties, Malcolm has championships was again proven to be one of the top programs in the state. Its production, involving 87 students, earned district runner-up honors Dec. 5 at Lincoln High. The team claimed the East Central Nebraska Conference title and also took the top spot at the Mel Shoemaker Showcase in Kearney. Malcolm opened its season with a third place finish at the K-Dub Tournament at York.

Brian Streeter was named best actor at the ECNC event. Fellow cast members Archer Moody, Grace Schleining, Ethan Wollberg, Hana Maddox, David Swotek, Addie Hejl, Tyler Thieman, Gavan Dunse, Russell Dunse, Jacob Clarke, Addison Earnest, Cvrena Miller. Scarlett Battles, Cora Schweitzer, Karter Kinkaid, Anna Schweitzer, Jayce Broughton, Kali Maytum, Scarlett Battles and Abby Cantrell all received outstanding performance awards this season.

The tech crew has won multiple awards this season and the production has also been recognized for best hair and makeup.

Maytum has plenty of help to get her and her performers through the long season.

"There is no way this could have been pulled off without my assistant and artistic director, Austyn McKee, and my technical director, Mike Maytum," the director said. "Each of us knows our responsibilities and brings our own unique talents and ideas to the table. We balance each other out beautifully.

"Our parents are a force. All I have to do is reach out, and they will do whatever needs to be done. And, believe me, I have made some pretty strange requests."

The trip to the state Malcolm's seventh in the past nine years.

"Our students, our parents, my co-directors, have created some tradition over the past decade," Maytum said. "Even though it's a ton of work and hundreds of hours are invested by everyone involved, being a part of the one-act at Malcolm is something in which our students take a lot of pride."

Butcher talks TIF at Rotary

Seward City Administrator Greg Butcher was the featured program at the weekly Seward Rotary Club meeting, He is married to wife Karen, a special education teacher at Seward Elementary and has three children -Alex in fifth grade. Rex in first grade and Samantha in preschool.

The Butchers have lived in Seward for four years and enjoy living in Nebraska's Fourth of July City and all that the city offers for their family.

Greg Butcher presented a program on the TIF program and the ramifications of the financing program for economic development. TIF is the acronym for Tax Increment Financing. It was first authorized by the Nebraska Community Development Law. by a voter-approved amendment to the Nebraska Constitution in 1979.

TIF is a mechanism for spurring redevelopment in blighted and substandard areas of municipalities. Butcher pointed out that TIF takes additional future property tax dollars generated by the project, and reinvests in the project upfront.

Butcher presented the six steps in the TIF process, which included 1.) An area is declared blighted and substandard; 2.) The project application is turned in to the city; 3.) The application is reviewed by the city administrator; 4.) The TIF application is considered by the Community Redevelopment Authority; 5.) The TIF application is considered by the Seward Planning Commission; and 6.) The TIF application is placed in final consideration by the Seward City Council.

He used the new Fast Mart TIF project as a successful example. Other TIF projects in the area include Sports Express, Cobblestone Inn, Jones Bank, Jones Insurance Agency, GNG (Old Middle School), Bottle Rocket Brewing, Urgent Care, Dairy Queen, Fast Mart, Plex Homes (North Columbia apartments), Alps Dog Retreat and the IH Feary Building.

He noted that he is most proud of the work of TIF in dealing with the successful IH Feary Building in downtown Seward, keeping the integrity of the beautiful downtown restoration intact

He also addressed issues with the TIF program. Some deal with the claim that TIF diverts funds away from the other taxing entities (school districts, ESU, county, city Airport Authority) for a period of 15 years.

He commented on Greenfield Development, asking if it is truly redevelopment, considering the issue of commercial vs industrial development. He noted that to date, TIF use for residential projects is very limited in the Seward area.

Veteran Tribute project presented

Michelle Waite, assistant to the Chancellor for Government and Military Relations on the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Campus, was the program at the Dec. 30 Seward Rotary Club noon Zoom meeting.

She also serves as the ROTC liaison on behalf of the chancellor and the MVSC/Student Veteran's Center. She is a Blue Star Mother, with a child in the military. She was introduced by the Rotary program chairman, Seward Rotarian Sen. Mark Kolterman.

Waite updated the Seward Rotary members on the history of the Veterans Tribute Project. The University of Nebraska is involved with this Veterans Tribute, because it is a land grant institution, signed into law by President Abraham Lincoln in 1862.

That legislation donated land to each state for the establishment of colleges to provide a liberal and practical education to the industrial class or the common person. These colleges would provide instruction in agriculture, military tactics, the mechanical arts and classical studies.

The tribute project began with a request by John Hilgert, the state director of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, almost three years ago, to celebrate the centennial of the end of World War I and Armistice Day.

The University of Nebraska has traditionally celebrated with a tribute to veterans at the home football game around Veterans Day, and centered on various ideas of ways to enhance that football game day experience.

At the same time, members of the community also hoped to enhance Memorial Stadium in honor of our veterans. Both Memorial Stadium and Memorial Mall were named to honor our veterans. Plans were unveiled to renovate Memorial Mall.

Several suggestions were received, and after significant research, it was decided UNL would attempt to find and replicate the original plaques that were supposedly mounted at the original entrance of the East Stadium honoring the 113 students who fought in World War I.

As an outcome of the creation of these plaques came a continued interest in honoring all the members of the military, veterans and their families.

Waite said the end result of all of these efforts was the Veterans' Tribute. With the chancellor's commitment to the project, support was provided to contract with a design team. Input was also received from members of the military and veterans, military organizations and student veterans.

The Tribute will be located just outside of the south steps adjacent to the Pershing Military and Navel Science Building, with the design moving west alongside the building east of the coliseum. The Tribute will honor veterans, members of the military and their families. illustrating the multiple facets of a service members' life, including the importance of family, faith and camaraderie, while also depicting the personal sacrifice that military service entails, with a focus on the positive attributes and humanitarian missions.

Her presentation focused on the proposed design of the Veterans Tribute, showing the steps at the front of the ROTC building featuring a flag plaza and performance and staging and formation area.

She said the panels on the Veterans' Tribute design are modeled after the American Veterans' Disabled for Life Memorial with glass panels that depict the life of a service member and their family.

She personally visited the AVDLM memorial in Washington, D.C., and visited with DAV representatives. Since early summer, the committee has been soliciting input for the text of the panels from veterans and members of the military and families.

The project model showed plantings and seating areas meant to create a space that will be used for education, reflection, rest and study. Located just east of Memorial Stadium, directly adjacent to the Athletic Hall of Fame, the project encourages and welcomes the foot traffic of the 92,000 UNL football fans.

The current fundraising campaign is now focusing on educating the public about this project, with a $4.5 million total cost/fundraising goal, including the $3.75 million of construction costs. She said the conceptual design is complete, yet construction has paused in light of Covid. The committee continues to refine input on the panel content and continues with fundraising efforts.

For more information on the project, contact Waite at (402) 472-2116 or email her at mwaite1@unl.edu.

What to know about the improved Paycheck Protection Program

by Zane Francescato SCCDP Development and Government Affairs Director

On Dec. 27, 2020, a massive omnibus package was signed into law. This package included $900 billion for COVID-19 relief to be used for another round of stimulus payments, enhanced unemployment benefits, education funding and direct aid to businesses still suffering from the economic fallout caused by the COVID-19 pandemic.

Among the various provisions of the package, the highly popular Small Business Administration Paycheck Protection Program was improved and reconstituted with $285 million in funding. Originally passed in March 2020, the PPP forgivable loan program is designed to provide direct aid to small businesses to keep their employees on payroll and doors open. Any small business that meets the SBA size standards that has been negatively impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic may apply for a PPP loan.

While the reconstituted PPP program is targeted for first draw PPP borrowers (businesses who have not received a PPP loan), second draw PPP borrowers (businesses who have received a PPP loan) may still apply if they qualify. For second draw borrowers to qualify, they must show that they have 300 or fewer employees, have used or will use the full amount of their first PPP loan and can show a 25% gross revenue decline in any 2020 quarter compared with the same quarter in 2019.

Small businesses who are approved for a PPP loan may get an amount of up to 2.5 times their average monthly payroll costs in the year prior to the loan up to $2 million. Any business with NA-ICS codes starting with 72 (hotels and restaurants) can get up to 3.5 times their average monthly payroll costs, again subject to the $2 million maximum.

Any PPP loans under $150,000 are designed to be forgivable, given the business uses the loan for eligible business expenses, meets the employee retention criteria, and can show that at least 60% of the loan was used on payroll and the remaining 40% on other eligible expenses over the loan's cover period.

Some of the key improvements/changes to PPP include:

 Maximum loan amount now set at $2 million (down from $10 million).

set their PPP loan's cover period to be any length between 8 and 24 weeks depending on business needs.

 Eligible expenses now cover operations expenditures, property damage costs, supplier costs and worker protection expenditures.

• Expands PPP eligibility for 501(c)(6) nonprofits, including local newspapers, radio and television broadcasters and direct marketing organizations.

 Greater flexibility for seasonal employees.

 A simplified onepage forgiveness application for loans under $150,000.

· Declaration that PPP loans will not be taxable income by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS)

Between Jan. 11 and March 31, the SBA will accept applications from SBA approved lending institutions for PPP loans. The Seward County Chamber and Development Partnership recommends interested businesses reach out to their lender to see if they are SBA approved and start the application process as soon as possible.

Success with houseplants: Humidity

Sarah

by Sarah Browning Lancaster County Extension educator

Last week, we looked at using supplemental LED light to improve the growth of your houseplants during winter. Two more factors playing a key role in winter plant success are humidity and fertilization. Humidity Many houseplants are native to tropical re-

Providing extra humidity Increasing humidity throughout your entire home can be done by installing a humidifier on your HVAC system. This may provide you benefits, too, if your home air is uncomfortably dry during winter. Or use a portable humidifier to adjust levels in individual rooms.

Another option is to place plants in bathrooms or kitchens, rooms normally more humid than the majority of the house. Avoid placing plants on or near outside doors, radiators, heat vents and ducts. Grouping plants together can also help. As plants release water from their leaves through transpiration, they create a small pocket of slightly higher humidity. Several plants grouped together can benefit each other. Creating a pebble tray is another option. Choose a tray or saucer, one to two inches deep and slightly larger than the plant's container, two to three inches on each side. Fill it with gravel or decorative stones. Place the plant on top of the stones and pour water amongst the stones in the saucer, keeping the water below the base of the plant's container. The plant should never sit in water. which would cause constantly wet soil and root rot. As water evaporates from the pebble tray, it will increase humidity around the plant's foliage. Replenish water in the pebble tray as needed. Finally, use a cloche or bell jar. This tall, bell-shaped, glass covering is placed over humidity-loving plants to trap moisture evaporating from the soil or being released from the leaves, maintaining a higher level of humidity. Misting plants is not an effective solution. You would need to mist plants on a very frequent basis, every few minutes, to make any real difference in overall air humidity levels. Plus, continual leaf wetness makes plants more susceptible to leaf spot diseases. If you do mist your plants, do it early in the day so their leaves are dry by nighttime. Cool, damp leaf surfaces during night are an ideal environment for disease infection. Next week we'll finish this series with a close look at houseplant fertilization, particularly in winter.

De-icing agents are sometimes needed for safety but can be harmful to plants. You may wish to check what you're using at home. Common deicing compounds are listed below. These may be used alone or blended together to improve performance or reduce damage to concrete or landscapes.

Also, keep products on hand that improve footing on slick surfaces, like sand, sawdust, or cat litter. They can be used instead of traditional deicing products, Calcium chloride is the most effective deicing product at low temperatures, working down to -25°F. It will not damage vegetation if used as directed.

 Magnesium chloride is sprayed on roadways before a snowstorm to prevent ice bonds from forming, making ice and snow removal easier. It causes very little damage to concrete or metal. It's also gentle on landscape plants and pet safe if used as directed.

• Acetates can be found in three forms – calcium magnesium acetate (CMA), sodium acetate and potassium acetate. CMA is a salt-free product and is the safest product for use around pets and landscape plants. CMA is made from dolomitic limestone and acetic acid (the principal component of vinegar). Studies have shown the material has little impact on plants. It also has a very low level of damage to concrete or metal.

• Beet juice deicers, a newer organic option, are products derived from beet juice. They contain only 12% sodium chloride (salt), much less than traditional sodium chloride. Beet juice products are fully biodegradable, but shouldn't be applied where melt runoff will move to aquatic areas.

gions, being adapted to rainforest or riverside humidity levels. Know-Browning ing this makes it easier Extension to understand why educator growing some plants indoors can be such a challenge.

During the summer, air conditioning systems circulate cool, dry air; in winter, furnaces produce warm, dry air. The Mayo Clinic recommends indoor humidity stay between 30-50% for human health and comfort, but many homes have much lower humidity levels. For plants, humidity requirements vary by species, but generally 70-80% is best.

Plants take in water through their roots and it is pulled up the stems, into leaves and released from tiny openings in the leaf surface through a process called transpiration. Water loss moves more quickly when temperatures are high, sunlight is intense, drafts are present or humidity is low. Fast water loss through the leaves makes is more difficult for a plant to maintain a good hydration level.

Drying and browning around leaf edges or tips is a common symptom of low humidity. This is similar to marginal leaf scorch seen in outdoor trees during August, when leaf edges turn brown, dry, brittle and papery during very hot, dry conditions.

Selecting plants based on their need for high humidity is one way to work around this problem. Ferns (many species), Rex begonias, Prayer Plant (Maranta spp.) and Calathea spp. are just a few of the plants requiring high humidity to grow well. Plants that tolerate low humidity well include cacti, succulents, cast iron plant (Aspidistra sp.), Chinese evergreen (Aglaonema sp.), Devil's Ivy or money plant (Scindapsus aureus), Philodendrons and Draceanas, to name a few.

Obituaries

Clara M. Krieser May 19, 1923 – Jan. 2, 2021 Clara Marie Krieser, 97, of Seward, passed away Jan. 2, 2021, in Lincoln. She was born at home on

May 19, 1923, to farmer Henry and Minnie Schildt of Pleasant Dale. Clara was baptized (1923) and confirmed (1936) at Immanuel Lutheran Church by Pastor Mertz. She attended the one-room Middle Creek School. She graduated eighth grade at the age of 12 to work on her father's farm, helping with the hay, milking the cows and taking care of livestock until she married at the age of 18.

On Oct. 22, 1941 Clara married Erwin Krieser at the Middle Creek parsonage by Pastor W.C. Ollenburg and moved to rural Garland. She worked their farm, walking through the "junk" (pasture) to get the cows to milk, gardening, canning and raising four children.

She later worked outside of the home and became known for her famous chili at Li'l Lueb's Bar in Seward. She also cleaned businesses in Seward, including Blevins Law Office, Dale's Motel and Vahl Drug, until she retired. She was widowed at age 58.

Clara was an active member of the Immanuel Lutheran Church and was fond of hand quilting in the Ladies Aid and playing Pickle cards at the Seward VFW. She enjoyed playing cards, especially with her grandchildren - who would sometimes catch her cheating - and indulged in an occasional trip to the casino to play the slots.

She delighted in being included in family vacations and even a Caribbean cruise. Clara happily attended many of her grandchildren's school activities and continued with her great-grandchildren's events.

As the years passed, affectionately known as "Great Grandma Ho Hum," Clara's most favorite place became her own home. She took pleasure in watching her favorite soap opera, completing the Word Jumble in the newspaper and chatting on the phone with friends and family. She relied on and treasured her daughter Bev's daily phone calls to check in and chat.

Clara took joy in receiving visitors, above all, her son, Clark, on his daily stops to check on her and visit. She always had her homemade German Gritzwurst ready for son, Phil, to enjoy and take home when visiting. She was patient and generous and was a truly kind, strong and humble woman, who will be greatly missed.

Clara is survived by her daughter, Beverly (Robert) Naber, Waco; son, Philip (Cheryl) Krieser, Green Valley, Arizona, and son, Clark (Diane) Krieser, Seward; grandchildren, Jonathan Krieser, Denver, Colorado; Julie (Steve) Schroeder, Lincoln; Jennifer (Tim) Kennel, Polk, Keri Krieser, Davenport, Florida, Matthew (Misty) Krieser, Grand Island, and Nathan (Andrea) Krieser, Lincoln; nine great-grandchildren, Stephanie and Mark Schroeder, Lincoln, Maddie Krieser, Davenport, Florida, Addison and Charlie Krieser, Grand Island, and Alana, Abigayle, Aubriana and Kamden Krieser, Lincoln; sister-in-law, Lola Schildt, Seward; and a host of nieces, nephews and friends. Clara is preceded in death by her parents; husband, Erwin (1981); son, Douglas (1990); grand-daughter, Corina Krieser (2001); grandson, Jeffrey Naber (2012); sister, Selma Murphy; brothers, Martin and Raymond Schildt and one sister-in-law, Ida Schildt. A memorial service was Jan. 11 with private inurnment at Immanuel Lutheran Cemetery (Middle Creek) in rural Seward. Memorial contributions are suggested in care of Immanuel Lutheran Church (Middle Creek) or Heartfelt Inc. Condolences may be left for the family at www.volzkefuneralhome.com.

Seward bowlers win tourney, win at home

by Stephanie Croston scroston@sewardindependent.com

The Seward bowling teams continue to do well in competition. SHS swept the Pius X tournament Jan. 4 and hosted a double dual Jan. 9.

The boys' tournament Monday featured some of the top teams in the state, Coach Steve Conner said. Seward beat previously undefeated Fremont and Pius, which means there are no unbeaten teams left in Nebraska boys' bowling.

The Jays opened with 6-2 wins over Millard South and Papillion-LaVista and beat Creighton Prep 8-0. In the seeded part of the tournament. Seward beat Millard West 3-2, Fremont 3-2 and Millard North 3-0 in the final.

"It was not an easy tournament," Conner said.

"All five stepped up and performed when they needed to," Coach Conner said. Seward hosted a double dual Jan. 9 and Everyone from Seward bowled about as expected, he said. Dane Conner averaged 205, and Ashton Koetter bowled a 237 game.

Girls win, too The Seward girls' bowling team also won the Pius Invitational. SHS beat Millard West 704-593, Millard North 692-610 and Marion 664-559. Sky Brumm bowled the high series of 523 and a 190 high game and was named to the all-tournament team.

In the seeded tournament, Seward beat Marion 3-0 and Fremont 3-0 before edging Papillion LaVista South 3-2 in the final. Coach Julie Benes said in the final game, Olivia Benes got the spare in the ninth frame and Sky Brumm bowled a spare in the 10th to give Seward the win.

"It was very exciting," the coach said. On Jan. 9, Seward

Kierra Green of Centennial came off the bench to score 15 points for the Broncos in a win over Sutton Jan. 8.

Broncos fight for trio of wins

by Stephanie Croston scroston@sewardindependent.com

The Centennial girls' basketball team completed a busy week with three more wins. The Broncos beat David City 57-45, Sutton 47-40 and Raymond Central 50-25.

Coach Jake Polk said the games against David City and Sutton were big because they're conference match-ups and could have gone either way.

The Broncos trailed David City by five at halftime Jan. 5. Polk said the team played with more heart in the second half and held the Scouts to 19 points. "We flipped the script," he said.

More scripts were flipped Jan. 8 when the Broncos trailed Sutton by eight at halftime. Polk said he didn't think the team was playing badly, but Sutton made six three-pointers in the first half.

"We made a couple adjustments," he said, adding that a press helped force more turnovers.

CHS outscored Sutton 31-16 in the second half. Kierra Green made four three-pointers in the second half and finished with 15 points to lead the Broncos.

"She spends extra time shooting," Polk said of the senior. "I'm proud that paid off."

Trent Stauffer of Milford, right, looks for an opening against Colby Homolka of Wilber-Clatonia Jan. 8 during dual action at WCHS.

Eagles hit mat again at WC

by Stephanie Croston scroston@sewardindependent.com

After the five-day moratorium, the Milford wrestlers came back to practice but couldn't wrestle a competition until Jan. 8 when they were at the Wilber-Clatonia Duals.

MHS finished the day 5-0 and saw senior Konner Schluckebier hit the 150-win milestone.

The Eagles wrestled conference foe Wilber-Clatonia in the first dual and set the tone with a 45-27 win.

"Dual tournaments are fun but you have to be ready to go right away. You may have your toughest match of the night right away unlike an individual tournament where you work your way to the finals match," Coach Joe Schluckebier said.

The dual against the Wolverines was the first time Milford had beaten WCHS in a dual in recent memory, the coach said.

Milford beat Wakefield 69-6 and edged Logan View 40-34. Coach Schluckebier said the dual was tied going into the last match. Carter Springer pinned his opponent to give the Eagles the 40-34 win.

Milford also beat Bishop Neumann 61-10 and Norfolk Catholic 69-0.

The tournament win was the fourth of the season for Milford, setting a new school record.

The Eagles got up Saturday morning and hit the road to David City Aquinas for another dual tournament.

Milford drew Aquinas, the defending state dual champions, in the first round and lost 42-27. MHS came back to beat Conestoga 67-6 and Blair, ranked No. 3 in Class B, 45-29. In the thirdplace dual, Milford ran out of steam against David City and lost 45-31.

"We need to work on finishing the job, but it doesn't take away from the previous 8 duals where we really performed better than I would have predicted," Coach Schluckebier said. "We beat teams ranked B#3, C#4, C#9 and C#10 and beat multiple individually ranked opponents." The Eagles will close their dual season Thursday, Jan. 14, in a triangular at York with YHS and Cross County-Osceola. The team is scheduled to wrestle at Arlington Saturday, Jan. 16.

Clippers host dual, tournament

by Heath Kramer Seward County Independent

When it comes to wrestling, skill and ability are obviously important. But heart might be an even greater asset. Matt Coufal is hopeful he will see a little more heart out of his wrestlers over the next few weeks. The head coach of the Malcolm grapplers knows his wrestlers have more to offer than has been shown in the first half of the season.

"I feel like we showed up for a knife fight but brought our pillows," Coufal said. "Our guys need to decide how good they want to be."

The Clippers hosted the 11-team Malcolm Invitational Jan. 9 and placed sixth with 93 team points. Yutan won the meet with 202.5 points while Wayne was the runner-up with 175. Six of 11 Malcolm grapplers medaled with four silver medals.

Zane Zoucha placed second in the 120-pound class. The sophomore's only loss was a close 3-2 decision against Trev Arlt of Yutan.

"Zane knows what it takes to be great," Coufal said. "It's really up to him how good he's the 160-pound junior lost a 6-2 championship match to Brody Dickinson of Freeman.

'That's a solid wrestler," Coufal said. "But it's a match that Gavin can, and should, win. Hopefully, he learned from this one as he'll see him again in a few weeks.'

Riley Donahoo went 3-1 on the day to finish second. The 195-pound junior was pinned by Yutan's Jesse Keiser in the second period. Donahoo pinned wrestlers from Omaha Concordia and Cross County-Osceola.

"Riley knows what it takes to get to the next level," Coufal said. "That kid from Yutan is a solid wrestler but he's someone Riley should be able to hang with. These are opportunities to learn and get better for February.'

The Clippers' fourth silver medal went to Kale Nordmeyer. The 285-pound junior opened his day by getting pinned by Concordia's Neil Hartman. The Mustangs' senior is 22-1 on the season. Nordmeyer bounced back and won his next four matches with three pins.

"That one was frusthe Clippers hosted Broken Bow for a dual. It was a rough night for Malcolm as it won just two of 12 matches.

"It was hardly worth their while to come all this way," Coufal said. "Fortunately, they were on their way to an allday Saturday tournament."

The Zoucha brothers were the only Malcolm grapplers to earn wins as Zane picked up a 5-0 decision at 120 pounds and Gavin pinned Zack Gaffney in the first period of their 160-pound match.

"The only two highlights of an otherwise miserable night," Coufal said. "The positive of it was that it might have been a wakeup call entering our invite the next day.

The Clippers have a couple of chances for redemption this week as they host Raymond Central for a Thursday, Jan. 14, dual before welcoming Conestoga, Fairbury, Shelby-Rising City and Tekamah-Herman for a round robin tournament on Saturday, Jan. 16.

"I'm not changing my expectations," Coufal said. "I think they can do so much better than they've done so far. We need to keep grinding and we'll see improvement."

The Seward boys' basketball team stayed with Beatrice Jan. 8 but couldn't get past the Orangemen, falling 49-41.

Napier leads CU GPAC honorees

When it comes to Concordia University football, senior linebacker Lane Napier is in a class all by himself.

Napier now owns the distinction as the only Bulldog in the GPAC era to earn first team all-conference accolades all four seasons. Napier was one of nine Concordia players to garner recognition on the 2020 All-GPAC football teams announced by the conference Dec. 23.

While Napier was selected as a first teamer on defense, four Bulldogs landed on the first team All-GPAC offense: junior receiver Korrell Koehlmoos, junior tight end Garrett Schardt, sophomore guard Christian Schlepp and sophomore running back Jonah Weyand. In addition, senior safety Peyton Mitchell and junior center Johnny Robinson collected second-team honors and senior defensive end Chase Hammons and senior fullback Chevy Stout picked up honorable mention accolades.

A native of David City, Napier found himself onto the first team despite missing three games due to injury in 2020. When healthy, Na-when he reeled in seven receptions for 132 yards and two scores at Northwestern. Over the final five games of the season, Schardt caught at least five passes in each outing. Schardt's career totals stand at 40 receptions for 684 yards and four touchdowns.

Koehlmoos, who hails from Pilger, provided a consistent deep threat. He was one of three GPAC receivers with 25 or more catches to average more than 20 yards per reception in 2020. Koehlmoos recorded 25 receptions for 533 yards and three touchdowns on the year. His season included three 100-yard receiving games. Koehlmoos added 589 yards on kick returns for a total of 1,129 all-purpose yards this fall. In three seasons as a Bulldog, Koehlmoos has collected 91 catches for 1,399 yards and eight touchdowns.

Robinson III (Houston, Texas) and Schlepp (Manhattan, Kan.) played a major role in the significant improvement displayed by the offensive line as a whole in 2020. Robinson started all eight games at center while Schlepp made seven starts at right guard. With their

CHS, Sutton play three overtimes

by Stephanie Croston scroston@sewardindependent.com

Centennial had a battle on its hands Jan. 8, just like every time it plays Sutton.

"It was a crazy game," Coach Cam Scholl said. "It's what you sign up for when you play those guys."

This year's regular-season edition needed three overtimes to determine a winner, and Sutton took home the 52-50 victory.

"We were just one play short," Scholl said. Down two at the end of regulation, freshman Alex Hirschfeld sank a pair of free throws to force the first overtime. Senior Cooper Gierhan and junior Jake Bargen scored at the end of the first two overtimes to tie the score and keep the game going.

Sutton had the final say, however, taking the lead in the final minute of the third overtime. The Broncos had a three-point attempt to win at the buzzer but couldn't connect.

Scholl said the loss was tough to take, but it's a learning experience for the younger players.

Bargen finished with a career-high 32 points to lead the Broncos.

Lane Zimmer of Centennial looks for an open teammate against Sutton in the Broncos' triple overtime loss to the Mustangs Jan. 8.

Gierhan added a double double with 13 points and 14 rebounds.

The Broncos opened the week with a 57-32 win at David City.

Gierhan made six three-pointers and finished with 18 points. Maj Nisly scored 16 and Lane Zimmer 11 for CHS. Gierhan notched another double with 11 rebounds, and Nisly delivered five assists.

"It was a nice way to start the week," Scholl said.

The Broncos were supposed to play at Raymond Central Jan. 9, but the game had to be postponed because of covid concerns for the Mustangs.

Scholl said the Broncos rebounded and shot well in both games, which was nice to see.

Centennial (6-4) is scheduled to travel to Shelby-Rising City Jan. 12 and Columbus Lakeview Friday, Jan. 15, before hosting Central City Saturday, Jan. 16, with tipoff set for 4 p.m.

pier was as productive as usual in a season that saw him rack up a teamhigh 54 tackles to go along with three tackles for loss and a sack.

With 14 tackles in the season finale at Dakota Wesleyan, Napier surpassed 400 tackles for his career. His four-year stat line also includes 34 tackles for loss, 10.5 sacks, seven pass breakups and an interception. Napier was selected as a 2018 NAIA First Team All-American by the Associated Press and has twice been tabbed an honorable mention All-American by the American Football Coaches Association.

He was subsequently named the NAIA National Offensive Player of the Week. Weyand also ran for 169 yards and two touchdowns in the victory over Doane.

While starting all eight games in 2020, Mitchell made 25 tackles, including 1.5 for loss. He also broke up seven passes. recovered a fumble and blocked a kick. Mitchell also earned second team All-GPAC honors in 2019 when he notched a team high five interceptions. Mitchell owns 59 career tackles to his credit.

Hammons, who calls Columbus home, led the team with five sacks while battling through injuries this fall. Hammons recorded two sacks in the 23-3 win carry). Weyand made big over Jamestown and was named the GPAC Defensive Player of the Week. He also posted two sacks in the victory over Briar Cliff. In his collegiate career, Hammons has produced 50 tackles and 7.5 sacks. At fullback, Stout earned notoriety this fall after Barstool Sports dubbed him "America's Fullback." The native of Grand Island mostly did the dirty work as a blocker and caught one pass for 11 yards.

Head Coach Patrick Daberkow's squad concluded the 2020 season with a 4-4 overall record. The Bulldogs defeated Doane, Hastings, Briar Cliff and Jamestown.

Concordia University

Honors

A prolific week of scoring resulted in recognition for Taysha Rushton. The freshman from Lubbock, Texas, has been named the GPAC/Hauff Mid-America Sports Player of the Week, as announced by the conference Jan. 5. Rushton led the Concordia University women's basketball team to wins over Mount Marty and Northwestern.

Rushton has quickly adapted to the college game while taking over the starting point guard role. She equaled a career high with 23 points versus Mount Marty before surpassing that standard with 28 points at Northwestern. Over the two victories, Rushton produced a combined 51 points, six rebounds and five assists and went 11-for-19 from 3-point range and 10-for-12 from the foul line. Rushton reached double figures in scoring in the first quarter in both of last week's outings.

Among GPAC players, Rushton ranks first in free throw percentage (.881), tied for fourth in scoring (15.0), fifth in assists per game (3.40), ninth in 3-point field goal percentage (.364) and 12th in steals per game (1.87). Rushton and the Bulldogs (10-5, 9-3 GPAC) will return to action on Wednesday with a GPAC clash at Dakota Wesleyan (6-5, 4-5 GPAC).

Men's basketball

In its first trip back to the Corn Palace since the memorable 2020 GPAC tournament championship game, the Concordia University men's basketball program threatened the win streak of 18thranked Dakota Wesleyan Jan. 6. Once again, the Tigers showed their level of comfort in these nitty-gritty GPAC affairs. Dakota Wesleyan remained unscathed inside conference play with a rugged 70-64 victory. This battle wasn't unlike the contest the Bulldogs won this past weekend, in overtime, at Northwestern. "Our effort was good, especially in the second half," Limback said. "Ryan Holt on the glass provided a lot of hustle plays. All of our guys gave good effort defensively. It's about the little things in a game like this against a team that's at the top of our league. We have to be able to finish at the free throw line and we had some execution issues in the last two or three minutes. I was proud of our guys for the physical effort, but we're going to have to improve on the little things and be sharper in those clutch moments." In the midst of some midseason shooting struggles, Concordia has had to try to get things done with tough defense and rebounding. Fifteen offensive boards had a role in the Bulldogs playing the Tigers to a 60-60 deadlock through 38 minutes of action. A Concordia field goal drought of more than five minutes late in the game provided the opening DWU needed. The home team made 6-of-6 attempts from the free throw line in the final 30 seconds to lock it up. Justin Wiersema carried the torch for the Bulldogs on the offensive end. He put home a team high 17 points on Carter Kent of Concordia reached 1,000 career points during Jan. 9's game against Jamestown.

6-for-9 shooting from the floor. Unfortunately, Concordia shot only 35.5 percent as a team and was 8-for-32 from beyond the arc. The Tigers have a way of gumming up their opponents having entered the night ranked No. 1 in the GPAC in field goal percentage defense (.411).

Coach Matt Wilber rode his starting five for most of the night. The Bulldogs struggled to contain Jeffrey Schuch (20 points on 9-for-13 shooting) on the interior. Guard Nick Harden posted 17 points, five assists and four steals while reigning GPAC Player of the Week Koln Oppold added 14 points and seven rebounds. Dakota Wesleyan (13-1, 9-0 GPAC) has won 13-straight games since losing its season opener. Carter Kent (currently at 993 career points) joined Wiersema in double figures with 13 points (3-for-15 from the field). Holt snared 10 rebounds, including four on the offensive end. Gage Smith also contributed seven points and seven rebounds. Off the bench, Thomas Young canned a pair of treys. 'We had some great spurts," Limback said. "We got down double digits (55-45) in the second half and fought our way back in. Against the best of the best in the league, I feel like we're right there. We want to push it over the top. Our goal is to win each day. We have to find our shooting confidence and get our rhythm back from 3-point range. We have to also tighten up some things execution-wise at the end of games. It all starts tomorrow with our focus at practice."

night and defensively we forced 16 turnovers and that led to some layups and some breakaways," Limback said. "The identity of this team needs to be our hunger and our defensive effort. Certainly it was there tonight."

Three weeks earlier in the 89-87 overtime loss at Jamestown, the Bulldogs allowed Mason Walters to go wild for 38 points, 11 rebounds and seven assists. This time around, Concordia at least managed to contain Walters (22 points on 9-for-16 shooting) to some degree. Meanwhile, Smith (22), Kent (20) and Wiersema (16) combined for 58 points in rediscovering the hot hand.

Concordia shot 57.9% (33-for-57) from the floor and limited its turn overs to 10. In another key factor, the Bulldogs surrendered only five offensive rebounds (31-30 rebounding edge) against one of the nation's best rebounding teams. "We learned a lot (from the loss at Jamestown)," Kent said. "Walters is a great player. He's super hard to stop. We had to game plan a lot around him. We knew he was going to score a lot, but it's about making those shots difficult and preventing the threes. It was hard to go into a break from that (first meeting with the Jimmies). I feel like we learned a lot and bounced back.' Concordia is always going to be tough to beat when its top players perform like this. Kent scored 14 of his 20 points in the second half (6-for-8 from the field after halftime). Smith supplied nine rebounds, four assists and three steals. Wiersema posted nine rebounds and four assists of his own. Kent set the tone after halftime with a three-pointer that pushed him past 1,000 career points. "I think the wins and the camaraderie with his teammates are what he's going to remember most," Limback said. "It's a lot more special to score 1,000 points in a game that you win.'

credit to them."

The Bulldogs never trailed the rest of the way. CU built an advantage as large as 13 points and found an answer whenever Jamestown threatened to claw back into it. Smith added an exclamation mark with a three-point play in the closing minute. Holt pitched in with eight points and four rebounds and AJ Watson and Grant Wragge supplied six points apiece.

Jamestown shot a solid 49.1% (26-for-53) from the field. Outside of Walters, the Jimmies got a good chunck of their production off the bench, courtesy of Allante' Pickens (14 points) and Jack Talley (12 points).

The Bulldogs will hit the road on Wednesday, Jan. 13, when they are slated to take on Mount Marty (7-10, 4-8 GPAC). Tipoff from Cimpl Arena in Yankton, South Dakota, is set for 8 p.m.

Women's basketball

After falling behind by 20 points in the first half, the Concordia University women's basketball team rallied to make Jan. 6's clash at the Corn Palace a barn-burner down the stretch. Ultimately, Haidyn Pitsch and host Dakota Wesleyan's hot shooting was too much to overcome. The Tigers shot 52.5 percent from the floor and won, 85-80.

The defeat snapped a four-game win streak for Head Coach Drew Olson's squad. Olson had led his program to wins in nine of the previous 10 meetings with the Tigers. The Bulldogs stand at 10-6 overall and at 9-4 in GPAC play.

"We got in too big of a hole," Olson said. "It took us too long to settle in and fight. Once we did you saw that we could be right there. We crawled back into the game and got ourselves in a position to win. When you get down 20 you have to do all of the little things right. We have to do the little things to beat a good team on the road and we just didn't do that today." Concordia star guard Taylor Cockerill enjoyed a monster night that saw her pour in 33 points (equaling a season high). Her offensive outburst nearly succeeded in leading Concordia all the way back from a 42-22 hole in the opening half. Cockerill and company got within two points on two separate occasions in the fourth quarter, but never could grab a lead. Entering the final minute, the Bulldogs trailed just 78-75. In the closing stretch that followed, Dakota Wesleyan went 7-for-8 from the foul line to put the game away. In crunch time, the Tigers had an answer every time they were threatened. Cockerill kept faint hopes alive with a deep trey in the final seconds, prior to more free throws for DWU. Pitsch went 4-for-7 from long range on her way to a team high 25 points. Known more for their work on the defensive end, the Tigers (7-5, 5-5 GPAC) put together their second highest single-game point total of the season. Additional double-figure scorers were Matti Reiner (17), Isabel Ihnen (14) and Kaylee Kirk (13). Reiner and Jada Campbell helped DWU own a 39-22 advantage in rebounding. Kirk and Reiner played 36 minutes apiece.

STEPHANIE CROSTON/SCI

Concordia freshman Taysha Rushton was named the GPAC player of the week.

Cockerill made 12-of-19 shots from the floor on Wednesday. Mackenzie Koepke filled up the stat sheet with 11 points, four assists, four blocks and three steals as the team's only other player to score 10 points or more. Bailey Conrad chipped in with nine points (all in the second half). Meanwhile, Rylee Pauli produced seven points and six rebounds and reigning GPAC Player of the Week Taysha Rushton was limited to six points on 2-for-12 shooting.

On the plus side, Concordia committed only nine turnovers (compared to 16 by the Tigers). In addition, transfer Chaise Pfanstiel made her Bulldog debut on Wednesday. The Millard West High School alum began her collegiate career at Northwest Missouri State University.

"TC had a great game," Olson said. "Koepke kept us in it with plays on both ends. I thought Pauli played well and Bailey stepped up in the second half. Offensively we were fine. Our defense early on wasn't there in that first quarter. Then you have the little things at the end of the game with us missing layups and free throws. We needed all of those points to come back."

6, 6-6 GPAC) fought back from the rough third quarter and got as close as one point (56-55) in the final period.

In a moment as big as any in the game, CU freshman Bailey Conrad drove and scored to push the lead to five (60-55) in the final four minutes. The Bulldogs held off Jamestown the rest of the way with free throw shooting (7-for-8 in the last three minutes) and grit. A couple of late turnovers also made life difficult on the Jimmies.

Cockerill went 8-for-8 from the foul line on her way to a team-high 14 points. She also grabbed nine rebounds. She was joined in double figures by Taysha Rushton (12 points) and Conrad (10 points, five rebounds). Mackenzie Koepke filled the stat sheet with seven points, nine rebounds, three blocked shots and a steal. Rylee Pauli chipped in with five points, six rebounds and four steals and, off the bench, Taylor Farrell (nine points) knocked down three treys.

Concordia found

CU 81, Jamestown 70

Concordia did not want to squander its first opportunity to play at home in a month. The trio of Kent, Smith and Wiersema powered the Bulldogs to an 81-70 victory over Jamestown Jan. 9. Kent really got going after halftime while becoming the program's 32nd member of the 1,000-point club.

Limback's squad earned a victory to begin a stretch of six home games over the final eight regular-season outings. Concordia has moved to 12-6 overall and to 9-4 in the GPAC.

In the second meeting with Jamestown in just over three weeks, Concordia flipped a switch after halftime. The Bulldogs used a game-defining 22-2 run to put the Jimmies on their heels while pulling out a 67-61 victory Jan. 9. Three Concordia players scored in double figures as part of a balanced effort.

The Bulldogs (10-6, 9-4 GPAC) effectively bounced back from an 85-80 loss at Dakota Wesleyan three days earlier.

"I just thought we played harder and had a little bit tougher mindset this season. I thought defensively," Olson said of the third quarter run. "Thankfully some shots went in for us. We've talked to our team about it – the margin of error is just so small (in the GPAC). It really comes down to being able to execute and get stops when you really need it."

It was an accomplishment for Concordia to hold GPAC leading scorer Hannah DeMars to nine points (well below her average of 20.1). In a battle of man-to-man defensive looks, DeMars and Taylor Cockerill frequently locked horns in a matchup of backcourt stars. Despite DeMars shooting 2-for-11 from the floor, the Jimmies (9-

'This group is just so much fun to play with," Koepke said. "We have younger girls stepping up and playing roles that are big roles – it's impressive. I just think we're a really tough team mentally. We play together and we've got good chemistry."

This marked the 10th time that Olson has gone head-to-head with former Bulldog teammate Thad Sankey as opposing coaches. Sankey's squad was led by the 15 points from Macy Savela. Kia Tower added 13 points. Jamestown shot 39.2% from the floor, but lost the turnover (18-12) and rebound (44-35) battles.

'She's one of the best players in the league," Olson said of DeMars. "She's just dominating we did a really nice job at times of limiting her touches and making everything difficult for her. Taysha was fantastic hounding her and I felt like we had a lot of other people step up and take their turns."

A Wednesday road trip awaits for the Bulldogs, who shift their focus to Mount Marty (3-12, 1-11 GPAC) and a 6 p.m. tipoff in Yankton, South Dakota.

Clippers hang on for showcase victory

by Heath Kramer Seward County Independent

In order to score in basketball, you need the ball. The Malcolm girls have made an art form out of taking the ball away from its opponents. The ability to force turnovers may very well be the reason this team is unbeaten six weeks into the season.

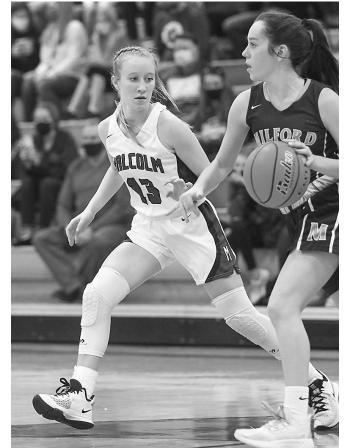

The Clippers forced an average of 25 turnovers in three games last week including 32 in a 33-32 overtime win over No. 8 North Central at the Jan. 9 Nebraska Girls Basketball Showcase at Broken Bow.

"Sometimes we win ugly," Malcolm head coach Andy Klepper said. "That's kind of who we are."

The No. 5 Clippers were far from error free in the defensive struggle. Depending on which stat you focus on, you may wonder how the Clippers came out on top. The Clippers shot a dismal 19-percent from the field including going just 1-of-13 from threepoint range.

"We couldn't hit anything," Klepper said. "Nobody could. It was kind of a blood bath."

The Knights (a co-op of Bassett-Rock County and Keya Paha) were slightly better from the field as they hit on 27% of their attempts and knocked down five three-point attempts.

The game was highlighted by high-pressure full-court defense, yet somehow the two teams combined for just 27 fouls in 36 minutes of basketball.

"I don't like to sav much about officials," Klepper said. "But, they let both teams get away with a lot."

After trailing most of the game, Ashlynn Sehi provided a spark to give Malcolm a two-point lead. The senior scored the first five points of the fourth quarter by finishing a three-point play then returning to the line to make two more free throws.

"She was playing with confidence," Klepper said. "In the huddle during the quarter break she was asking for the ball. That's something we've been wanting to hear."

After letting the lead slip away, Malcolm tied the score at 28-28 with 38 seconds to go in regulation when Diamond Sedlak hit a free throw. The two teams exchanged turnovers down the stretch before North Central called a timeout with nine seconds go. Emma Brown got a big blocked shot on the Knights' game winning attempt in regulation.

"That was a huge," Klepper said. "She had a tough day on offense but still did some big things for us.'

The sophomore had 14 rebounds, two blocked shots and two steals.

"Alyssa struggled from the field but she sure showed up at the line," Klepper said. "Those free throws down the stretch were big."

Fortik finished with 13 points and was a perfect 6-of-6 from the charity stripe. Sehi had nine points and four steals.

"Ashlynn really transformed her game in the offseason," Klepper said. "She doesn't always score a lot of points but she is making a difference in a lot of ways. She might be our most improved player."

The win over the Knights capped off a three wins in three days stretch for Malcolm. The Clippers hosted Milford on Jan. 8 and earned a 46-33 victory in which Brown led the way with 18 points.

On Jan. 7, Malcolm traveled to Palmyra and came home with a 49-29 win. Jordan Denton came off the bench to lead the Clippers with 12 points.

"Jordan is a secret weapon," Klepper said. "She has the ability to do some special things when she plays with confidence."

Malcolm (11-0) will host Fillmore Central (3-8) Tuesday before heading to Yutan (5-4) Friday. The Clippers return home Saturday to host David City (7-4).

Eagles hold on for win at Malcolm, top Scouts

by Stephanie Croston scroston@sewardindependent.com

The Milford boys' basketball team maintained its unbeaten record this week – barely.

The Eagles needed a big fourth quarter to escape Malcolm with the Jan. 8 victory. Milford scored 20 in the period and left with a 55-54 win.

"It was quite the game," Coach Tony Muller said. "We weren't playing well, and they were shooting well."

The Eagles were without Seth Stutzman, who with a five-point run.

Milford was down 11 in the fourth quarter, but Isaac Yeackley (6 points), Micah Hartwig (5 points) and Weyand (7 points) brought the Eagles back.

Weyand led the team with 21 points, and Hartwig added 12 points to go with eight rebounds and four steals.

"Malcolm has had some bad luck. They're better than their record," Muller said.

The next day, the Eagles were home to host David City and beat 14 points, six steals and seven assists.

The Eagles (12-0) are scheduled to play at Raymond Central Thursday, Jan. 14, in a makeup game from the first week of the season. On Saturday, Jan. 16, MHS is to host Thayer Central with tip off set for 7:45 p.m.

Muller said Raymond Central has a good shooter the Milford defense will have to contain. Thayer Central is more athletic than in years past, as well.

"We were a little out of sorts without Seth," Muller said.

Muller said Milford switched defenses in the second quarter and started to dig out of the 15-3 first-quarter hole. Jaxon Weyand scored 10 of Milford's 23 in the second quarter.

The Eagles cut the Malcolm lead to one with the first five points of the third quarter, but the Clippers responded

(continued from 1B) In the fourth quarter, the Broncos played free and loose and closed the game out with free throws, Polk said.

Although Kate Hirschfeld only scored six points, she dished out seven assists and grabbed five steals. Asia Nisly just missed a double double with 16 points and seven rebounds.

Polk said Jaycee Stuhr and Kiley Rathjen did a great job rebounding in the second half.

The team came back Jan. 9 at Raymond Central and got off to a slow start before the offense got going in the second quarter. CHS was able to build a lead and let the starters rest in the second half.

Hirschfeld finished with 12 points, seven rebounds, five assists, five steals and two blocked shots.

The Broncos (10-1) are scheduled to travel to Shelby-Rising City Jan. 12, to Columbus Lakeview Friday, Jan. 15 and the Scouts 62-35. Muller said Milford got off to a better start, leading 14-9 after the first quarter, and continued to expand the lead.

The Eagles played good defense, he said, holding David City to 18 and 17 points in each half. Milford forced 21 turnovers, of which 18 were steals.

Weyand led the offense with 25 points and 10 rebounds for a double double. Hartwig added

Concordia

(continued from 3B) ventured into competition for the first time in the year 2021. A group of 12 Bulldogs represented the program at Jan. 9's Hastings Cusatis Open in Hastings and combined for 22 wins and 10 pins. Junior Issiah Burks and senior Gabe Crawford led the way with place finishes in their respective brackets.

Calhoun's squad last competed at its own Concordia Bulldog Duals on Dec. 19. For family reasons, Calhoun had been away from the team for a large portion of the month of December.

'For me personally being able to be back in these guys' corner was pretty awesome," Calhoun said. "It was great to get back into the swing of things after everything that has been going on. I thought it was a good test for us to see where we're at and see what we need to continue to improve on. I'm pretty happy with how the day went overall.

Calhoun went as far to as saying this was the best Burks has wrestled in his entire career. The native of Hemet, California, suffered a loss to sixth-ranked Giovanni Bonilla of Grand View (Iowa) before settling in. Burks (17-6) went 5-0 the rest of the day and secured third place at 157 pounds. He picked up three pins, including two that occurred in the first period.

At 165 pounds, Crawford made his way to the championship match with three-consecutive wins. In the semifinals, Crawford handled Grand View's Scott Betterton, 5-2. The most dominant win of the day for Crawford came in the quarterfinals when he scored a major decision over Midland's Chase Engelhardt, 13-4.

"Issiah won five matches on the back side to get third - and that's really tough to do," Calhoun said. "That's the best I've seen him wrestle in his career. He looked very good. With Gabe, the first semester was kind of up and down. He came out and was really excited to wrestle. He came out and wrestled free and had fun. When he does that he's hard to stop."

At heavyweight, team season wins leader Jacob Telles (21-7) advanced to the quarterfinals by pinning his way through rounds 1 and 2. Telles was then edged in the quarterfinals, 3-2, by Briar Cliff's Matt Wilke. Telles notched additional win with a pin over

SHS sees mat success at AG

by Stephanie Croston scroston@sewardindependent.com

The Seward wrestlers were back on the mat Jan. 8 after the Christmas break and finished fourth at the Ashland-Greenwood Invitational.

Cash Duncan and Cameron Schrad earned second place in their weight classes. Boone Duncan and Mason Bisbee were third, and Breckin Schoepf and Conner Rosendale placed fourth.

Coach Bob Core was pleased with how the Jays wrestled in their first meet back.

"The guys wrestled well," he said.

The upcoming week will be a grinder for the Jays, according to the coach. Seward was to compete in a threeteam tournament at Wilber-Clatonia Jan. 12, travel to Grand Island for a dual with Northwest Thursday, Jan. 14, and head to Nebraska City for a dual tournament Saturday, Jan. 16.

Clippers close, but miss wins

by Heath Kramer Seward County Independent

Close counts in horseshoes. Unfortunately, for the Malcolm boys, their game is basketball, and losing a close game only shows up as another loss in the record books. Of their eight losses, six have been by single digits and three by two points or less, including a 55-54 heartbreaker to No. 7 Milford on Jan. 8.

The Clippers came out on fire as Drew Johnson had the hot hand. The sophomore sharp shooter hit three-in-a-row from beyond the arc to help Malcolm to a 15-3 first quarter lead.

"We've talked a lot about needing to get a lead in the first quarter because we haven't done that a lot this year," Malcolm head coach Chris Lewandowski said. "It felt good to not be chasing a team right away."

The Eagles chipped away at the Malcolm lead in the second quarter as Jaxon Weyand started penetrating the Clippers' defense. The junior guard scored ten of his game high 21 points in the quarter by getting to the free throw line four times.

"He's a load," Lewandowski said. "He's quick and he's strong. He was a difference maker for sure.

Malcolm grew its lead from six to nine in the third quarter as Maclain Beach got active from mid-range. The senior scored ten of the team's 14 points in the frame.

"Drew got in some foul trouble and wasn't on the court as much," Lewandowski said. "We had some other guys step in when he was out and Maclain was a big part of that."

Malcolm's Maclain Beach grabs a rebound in between Milford's Maddox Baack, bottom, and Bryce Jakub.

The Clippers spent the fourth quarter trying to hang onto their lead as Milford called on Weyand and Issac Yeakley to help keep the Eagles undefeated. The pair of guards combined for 13 points in the final frame and Yeakley's shot with 31 seconds remaining gave Milford the lead for good.

"We let another one slip away," Lewandowski said. "It gave us confidence to know we can hang with good teams and it was sure a better performance than the night before."

In addition the double-digit scoring performance from Beach, Johnson finished with 14 points and seven rebounds.

The Clippers' play against Milford was a marked improvement over the previous evening when a hot shooting Palmyra team put away Malcolm 64-47. The Panthers hit 10-of-16 from three point range while shooting 63-percent from the field.

"I've never seen anything like it," Lewand-owski said. "It seemed like the only thing they missed was free throws."

Palmyra was just 4-for-15 from the charity stripe.

By contrast, the Clippers were just 31-percent from the floor while missing 19 three-point attempts.

"Not a formula for success," Lewandowski said. "Our shot selection needs to improve and we have to do a better job of identifying and closing out on their hot shooters."

Hayden Frank led the Clippers with 12 points and nine rebounds while Malcolm Saltzman added ten points and three assists.

Malcolm (2-8) has chances to get back in the win column this week as they host Fillmore Central (0-9) Tuesday night before traveling to No. 4 Yutan (8-2) Friday. The Clippers host David City (2-6) Saturday night.

"We've shown the type of team we can be for parts of games this year," Lewandowski said. "Now, we just need to put it together for a full game and see what happens."

Milford's girls' basketball team split its games last week, falling at Malcolm 46-33 and de feating David City 46-40 at home. Coach Phil Stauffer said the Eagles got off to a slow start on defense against Malcolm but improved in the last three quarters. The team got off to a better start against David City. Hannah Kepler scored 13 of her 15 points in the first quarter, and Taylor Roth had her best offensive game of the year, Stauffer said. The Eagles (6-6) are

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF SEWARD COUNTY, NEBRASKA Case CI 20-111, ADAIR ASSET MANAGEMENT, LLC, Plaintiff, vs. RANDALL J. MICEK, DEUTSCHE BANK NATIONAL TRUST COMPANY, TRUSTEE ON BE-HALF OF THE CERTIFICATE HOLDERS OF MORGAN STANLEY ABS CAPITAL I INC. TRUSTEE, VILLAGE OF UTICA, JOHN DOE AND MARY DOE; and all other persons/entities UNKNOWN claiming any right, interest or title in the real estate described herein,

To: John Doe and Mary Doe; and all other persons/entities UNKNOWN having or claiming any right, interest or title in Lots 5 and 6, Block 38 in Wright's Third Addition to the Village of Utica, Seward County, Nebraska. You have been sued by Adair Asset Management, LLC. The object of the plaintiff's Complaint is to foreclose on Tax Sale Certificate No. 2012009 for the delinquent taxes on the real estate described above. The taxes due under the certificate are for the 2010 thru 2013 taxes plus interest at the rate of 14% per annum. The Complaint asks the court to find that the taxes are a lien against the real estate, as provided by law, and that upon establishment of such lien the real estate which may remain unredeemed be sold at public sale to satisfy the decree so entered, together with interest and costs, including attorney's fees as provided for and by Nebraska Revised Statute §77-1909, as amended, and that the defendants be forever barred of all claims upon, interest in, right or title to, lien upon or equity of redemption in the real estate upon confirmation of the sale. To defend this lawsuit, an appropriate written response must be filed with the District Court of Seward County, Nebraska, 261 S. 8th St, Ste 145, Seward, Nebraska 68434, within 30 days of the last publication of this notice. If you fail to respond, the court may enter a judgment for the relief demanded in the Complaint. ADAIR ASSET MANAGEMENT, LLC Deana K. Order, the Third-Party Defendant was awarded custody of the minor children, and Defendant was ordered to pay support on behalf of the minor children in the amount of $440.00.

6. Since the entry of the Order For Support, there has been a substantial and material change in the circumstances of the Parties, to-wit: the income of the Parties has changed such that application of the child support guidelines which would result in a variation by 10 percent or more, but not less than $25, upward or downward, of the current child support obligation, child care obligation, or health care obligation, due to financial circumstances which have lasted 3 months and can reasonably be expected to last for an additional 6 months,

7. Since the entry of the Order For Support, there has been a substantial and material change in the circumstances of the Parties that would result in a change of the custody of the minor children and/ or parenting time with the minor children, and a review of the same would be in the best interests of the minor children.

8. Applying the current support obligation would place Defendant below the poverty guidelines, in violation of Nebraska Supreme Court Rule $4-218.

9. The Nebraska Child Support Guidelines have been amended to reduce Defendant's child support obligation, 10. No deterinination has been made as to the tax exemptions for the minor children.

WHEREFORE, Defendant prays the Court for an Order modifying his child support obligation in accordance with the facts and the law, modifying the custody and/or parenting time regarding the minor children, for a determination of tax exemptions based on the minor children, and for such other and further relief as may seem just and equitable in the premises.
