Sac County considers jail replacement options

BY AMBER MOHMAND
The County Board of Supervisors is exploring the possibility of building a new jail to replace the current one. Sheriff Tom McClure said the county has begun "preliminary discussions" on renovating the jail in the courthouse basement, transporting inmates to another facility or building a new jail. The county's existing jail, built in 1974, doesn't meet the safety and security needs of prisoners, staff and the public, according to a report from the state jail inspector and from the state jail inspector and a grand jury.

Challenging Big Ag from a gravel road near Fonda

BY DOLORES CULLEN
Meet Grant Wells, an entrepreneur, salesman and investor. In 2010, he started his own company — Wells AG Supply — which has grown to become a sprawling complex on a gravel road north of Fonda. He has 30 employees work here and there's even an airstrip for rental planes. But a relatively new product manuevered at the property — bioisols — is putting the 2014 Newell-Fonda alum's operation on the

City taps farmer to haul treatment plant 'bioisols'

BY TOM CHILLEN
The Storm Lake City Council last month hired a Storm Lake farmer to haul 120 tons of "bioisols" away from its wastewater treatment plant. The council awarded Bryan Widman the contract to spread bioisols, or byproducts of human waste that is processed in the wastewater treatment plant, for $8 per ton, or $4,100. That's less than what the city would have to pay to haul away the bioisols for $8.25 per ton. Public Services Director Matt Beckman said the council Widman has been hauling bioisols from the wastewater plant over the last six years. The working relationship between both parties "has been excellent," Beck-

PFAS results trickle in

Six systems tested in BV, Cherokee
BY TOM CHILLEN
Of the 23 water systems in Buena Vista and Cherokee counties, only six of them will be tested for forever chemicals by the end of the summer. The Iowa Department of Natural Resources last month unveiled 30 cities and more than a dozen businesses that would be sampled for forever chemicals, otherwise referred to as perfluorinated and polyfluorinated substances, or PFAS. Storm Lake and Lake Park were included in the list, bringing the number of water systems that have been or will be tested for PFAS to six. Since the testing is estimated to cost $116,000, the city is currently in the process of looking at grants to cover that cost.

Hanna Jensen, right, and her brother, Dave, were all smiles after he was able to present Hanna her Air Force Wings. Hanna will join her dad at the 385th Refueling Wing in Sioux City, flying the KC-135 for the U.S. Air Force.

Local aviator earns wings

Dad was there to pin them on, salute Hanna
BY DIDNEY HODSON
Only 7% of military pilots today are women and one of them is Hanna (Hanson) Jensen, a 2013 Washington High School graduate. For Hanna, the daughter of Chairman Tom and Kristi Taylor, the apple didn't fall far from the tree when considering a military career. Her father, a former pilot in the 15th Refueling Wing in Sioux City and a 30-year military veteran. Even as a little girl, Hanna was interested in flying. She was eventually led to an enrollment into the Air Force as an aviator. Her uncle Jeffrey Jensen (Air Force) served her as her mentor. She was in a household, starting with her great-grandfather, Gale Hanson and Rosemary Jensen who served in World War II, with uncles, Dave (Army), Don (Army) and Larson (Marine) all serving four-year stints, while her dad is a current Master Sergeant at the 15th Refueling Wing in Sioux City and a 30-year military veteran. ## Board seeks school name change

Washington would become Cherokee High
BY ERIN HEDGREN
The Cherokee School Board is seeking to change the name of Washington High School to Cherokee High School. The board members on Monday discussed the potential of changing the name to Cherokee High School. The school building is currently named Washington High School. ## Group asks school board to holster its gun program

Cite expense, liability, bad feelings
BY TOM CHILLEN
A coalition of Cherokee School District residents has petitioned the board to allow to carry firearms on school grounds. A four-page letter sent to the school board Monday accused the board and Superintendent Kim Lingg of "unreasonable" and "unfair" actions. The coalition is asking the board to "holster its gun program" when it passed the policy in November. Lingg and board President Jeff Thorne declined to comment on the coalition's four-page letter because it was received in the public-comment period of Monday's meeting. Lingg said the board can discuss anything that isn't specifically listed on the agenda, but he said the board has not had a special discussion with the coalition. He said the board has not had a special discussion with the coalition. He said the board has not had a special discussion with the coalition.

Supervisors okay wages, RAGBRAI permits

Landfill building to be replaced
BY ERIN HEDGREN
Cherokee County Engineer Sarah Tracy presented wage substitution permits to the board of supervisors at Monday's meeting for two high school students who have been job shadowing and working training with her office. Students should be paid for actual working time, but not for their absences. Tracy said the board should be paid for actual working time, but not for their absences. ## Who will find the golden egg, win $1,000?

Carey's Furniture, Chronicle Times team up 15 years
Welcome to the Cherokee Chronicle and Carey's Furniture 15th annual Easter Egg Hunt! The search begins on Tuesday, March 29, and will end when the golden egg has been found. The egg — gold, plastic and a bit larger than a chicken egg — will be hidden within the city limits of Cherokee and public property. They will be the first to find it! The prize is a $1,000 gift card from Carey's Furniture and a one-year online e-subscription to the Cherokee Chronicle. The golden egg hunt is a tradition at Carey's Furniture and the Cherokee Chronicle. The golden egg hunt is a tradition at Carey's Furniture and the Cherokee Chronicle.
