Drone team nabs highest-ever place at competition

BY DON MUNSCH

don@azlenews.net

The drone competition team at Azle High School continues its success, as the students participated in the Bell Advanced Vertical Robotics Competition for the third time and had their best-ever showing this year.

Last year, the group finished 13th in the qualifying event, and this year, the group finished in second place.

On Nov. 13, the team competed in a qualifier event at the University of Texas at Arlington, said Tyler

Harrison, AHS coach and drone team adviser, in a news release. The students had to participate in four rounds of competition and conduct presentations to a group of Bell engineers. They placed second at this event and qualified for the championship event for the first time.

"We made a huge improvement," Harrison said in his class last week.

The championship event took place Dec. 3 at Bell Flight Research Center in Arlington. Fourteen teams from around the country participated. Azle's team finished 13th overall among the 70-plus teams nationwide.

"They worked very hard after last year's performance to improve and try to get to the championship," Harrison said. "It's really awesome seeing them learn real life skills. They built that drone from nothing. They designed some of the parts on there for it to complete the tasks. They just faced a lot of technical difficulties leading up to and at the competitions and they were able to think on their feet and troubleshoot and problem-solve and get everything working.'

Committee discusses future of AISD schools

BY DON MUNSCH

don@azlenews.net

The consensus among members of the Azle Long Range Facilities Planning Committee attending a recent meeting is they prefer as few as possible campus transitions for the school district's children.

That means they would like to see the district move to a three-campus arrangement in which pre-kindergarten through fifth grade students would be in one building, while sixth through eighth grade would be in one campus and then ninth through 12th grade would be in one building, which for the last set of students is the way the high school campus operates

"We think if you're looking for a recommendation - and we've said this before - we think the grade configurations helps us from having to build another fifth and sixth grade campus in the next upcoming years," Superintendent Todd Smith said at the meeting, held last week. "Now, if people like our (current) grade configurations and are OK with the transitions, then we probably need to start looking for some property for a fifth and sixth grade campus."

Smith said later in an email that the district supports the concept of three configurations - two transitions - and thinks it has advantages over the current model.

Hoover and Azle elementary campuses can be reconfigured into pre-k through fifth campuses, Smith said. Smith also said at the meeting that there's no planning committee support to renovate Azle Junior High School, so the district would have to look at the possibility of constructing a new AJHS. A new junior high school, with athletic facilities, would cost in the $125-150 million range, said Matt Adams, AISD assistant superintendent of finance and operations.

The matter of district transitions was but one topic discussed at the committee's meeting Dec. 12 at the AISD administration building. The Representatives from Community Caring Center, Good N.E.W.S., Eagle Mountain Pregnancy Help Center, and Safe Harbor Counseling Center appeared at First United Methodist Church in Azle last week to receive checks from the Lord's Acre fundraiser, held in early October. Shown here are Fran Simpson of Safe Harbor Counseling Center; B.J. Collins, large event council member at the church; Portia Jackson, executive director of the Eagle Mountain Pregnancy Help Center; Kristie Cooper of the Community Caring Center; Terri Bartlett of Good N.E.W. S.; and Bonnie Monninger of the Community Caring Center. It is the largest fundraiser of the year and is the largest mission project the church undertakes, said Ken Leemon, business manager and director of serving ministries at the church. Nonprofits receive a large portion of the funds raised. This year's donations totaled $11,737.38 and they were split equally among the four organizations. The event itself is a three-day event that includes a large tent sale, silent and live auctions, dessert sales, frozen food booths and a brisket dinner on Saturday. A drawing is held for people to enter for a handmade quilt.

Optimists recognize Hutton, Powers as Young Texans for December

FROM STAFF REPORTS

The Optimist Club of Azle announced that Brayden Hutton and Trinity Powers, seniors at Azle High School, were chosen as the Young Texan and Texanne for the month on Dec. 16.

Hutton has maintained a 4.0 grade point average throughout high school and plans to earn a law degree after college graduation. It is his goal to pursue a career as an attorney. He is ranked 26th in the senior class and holds a GPA of 101.02.

He has not yet committed to a college but told Optimist members that he would like to attend the University of Texas-Arlington. Hutton has played for the varsity soccer team at AHS and is a member of a club team out of Keller. He hopes to continue playing soccer through college and enjoys volunteering at youth soccer camps.

Hutton describes himself as a "person who is driven to achieve personal expectations and goals "that he has set for himself." Through soccer, Hutton said that he has learned to be selfless and that "sometimes the need of the team is greater than myself." He also said that he enjoys seeing the expectation that he is a "dumb jock" crumble when teachers start handing out grades, or when the other students start discussing their ACT and SAT scores.

Powers has received her acceptance letter to Midwestern State University, where she plans to study computer science. She plans to work in software development, she told Optimist members.

Her strongest subjects have been STEM-related, including math, which has helped her determine the career path she wants to take. Powers said that she is very interested in coding and the role it plays in software and web design and development.

Powers told the Optimists that she likes "the rigidity" of math, and it is the same with coding languages.

"There's certain rules to coding. ... They all work in different ways but the ways they work stay consistent, no matter what you're coding,"

"So once you get the basics, it is easy to understand, it's easy to create whatever you could possibly want to create," she said.

Powers is ranked No. 23 in the class and has a 101.30

AHS Principal Nate Driver (left) introduced Trinity Powers and Brayden Hutton to the Optimist Club on Dec. 16, giving examples of why they were chosen as the Young Texan and Texanne for the month. Optimist Club President Josh Reed (right) presented the certificates of recognition to the students.

When at first it doesn't work ... sometimes we just have to call for help

As we age, certain tasks become more difficult to perform and certain problems become more difficult to diagnose. Sometimes it is understandable After all people who are in their 80s or 90s are not part of the computer generation, and learning computer lingo and understanding modern electronics can be a rather daunting task. When something electronic is "on the fritz," it only seems natural for an elderly person to seek assistance.

When I called my dear sweet Miss Jayne one afternoon this past week, I got an earful. She is 91 and I would match her mental acuity against most anybody of a similar age. At the same time, she does become frustrated when things don't work properly, especially if they are electronic. When she answered the phone, she

FROM MY FRONT PORCH

By Sam Houston

Sam Houston is a syndicated columnist and newspaper executive. He is also an author, actor, playwright and responded to my warm greet- have done. Have you paid the ing with saying, "Oh Sam, this day has been hell." Upon hearing the tone of her voice, and the obvious frustration and despair, I was thinking her bad knee was hurting her the bedroom TV would be on, and kept her from sleeping the night before. She must be in pain! When I asked what was wrong, I quickly learned I was mistaken.

"The TV is out in the living room. It is working in my bedroom, but not in the living room. I can't lie in bed all day watching TV. What am I going to do? I have been bored to death. I do not know who to call, what to do, or what the cable company might bill? This is terrible!

I immediately told her the bill had been paid, and it made no sense the TV in the living room would be out and if the problem was with the cable system. As I made an additional inquiry to have an accurate status, she responded that two different people from the assisted living center where she lives tried to make it work and they could not get the TV to come on either.

Being 75 miles away from Jayne and in the middle of the work week, it was impossible for me to simply jump in a car and go and try to rectify the problem. I got on the phone, reached out to the cable company and the soonest I could make an appointment for a diagnosis was for the following day. I relayed the information to Miss Jayne, and she was distraught. How could she survive an additional period with no living room TV? One would think the heavens above were falling. I drove to see Miss Jayne the next day, arriving immediately after the repairman had made his appearance. The very first thing I asked was whether her TV was working. She nodded her head ves and then said, "Don't make me tell you what was wrong." I paused for a few moments. Knowing Jayne like I do, I knew she could not keep anything quiet for very long. "I am so embarrassed. There was nothing wrong with the cable. I had moved some knickknacks on the cabinet which holds the TV and when I did, I covered up the sensor which reads what the remote is telling the TV to do. There was nothing wrong at all. It was all my fault. I feel so foolish.'

I did my best to persuade my friend that her mistake was one anyone could make. She seemed to have her spirits lifted to know her transgression was not something limited to the acts of a 91-year-old woman. I proceeded to tell her that just that week I had to have someone in my office demonstrate to me how to use a piece of software that I have used a couple of hundred times previously. I simply could not remember what I needed to do to make the program do what I needed. She seemed to take comfort that all of us do silly things. We all make mistakes, and all have trouble adapting to new technologies and electronics.

I know things will eventually get even tougher for Jayne, and for me. It is part of the aging process, and simply a fact of life. Maybe the lesson to be learned is to accept our imperfections and laugh at our own silly mistakes. We all make them, no matter our age, and the sooner we can laugh at ourselves for our own transgressions, the better off we will be. Isn't that why they put erasers on pencils?

Thought for the day: No matter how many mistakes you make or how slow your progress, you are still way ahead of those who are not even trying.

Until next time. sam@hcnews.com | 817-573-7066, ext. 260

District approves calendar, security system

BY DON MUNSCH

don@azlenews.net

Azle AISD board of trustees approved the 2023-24 district calendar at its Monday meeting.

Trustees saw the proposed 2023-24 district calendar at the Nov. 28 meeting, when they also approved a new district-wide security

The Azle ISD District Leadership Team created a proposed calendar that was one of two options presented to all of the Azle ISD Staff on Nov. 7, the district's agenda noted. Staff voted between the two presented options during Nov. 7-11. The calendar presented at the board meeting received the highest number of votes from the staff, and that calendar was presented for consideration by the board. HIGHLIGHTS OF THE CALENDAR:

- · Classes begin Aug. 16. · Thanksgiving week break is from Nov. 20-24.
- · Christmas/winter break for students will be from Dec. 22 through Jan. 9. Teachers will have a staff development day on Jan. 8 and a teacher work day is on
- · Spring break is March 11 15, but a teacher work day will be on March 8. A half day of school is scheduled for March 7.

March 29 is a day off for students and staff because it is Good Friday. April 1 will be a teacher work day, so students will get a four-day holiday weekend.

· Last day of school is May 23 (half day). A teacher work day is set for the following Ámanda Wimpee, director of curriculum and student services, talked to the board about the calendar, explaining that employees were asked what they valued in a calendar and what they wanted prioritized in building a 2023-24 calendar.

Their results were first shared with the District Leadership Team, which is made up of parents, community members, teachers, librarians, principals, assistant principals - "just a little bit of every sampling that we can include, so there's a wide array of voices," Wimpee

She said once the DLT had a chance to digest that information, it was shared with the entire AISD staff so everybody knew the information that officials were working from in order to build these sample calendars. The DLT met twice to review the results of the feedback and then to construct two sample calendars to share with staff as options for the next school year.

Wimpee said 387 staff members participated in the vote, with the winning calendar getting 64% of the vote.

The mid-August start is a comfortable start date for both parents and staff, Wimpee said.

Also at the November meeting, the board, in a consent agenda item, approved the Centegix CrisisAlert security system for campuses. The total amount would be roughly $84,000 a year, said Matt Adams, assistant superintendent of finance and operations, in a previous News story. Once approved, the system could be installed with six to eight weeks, Adams said. There would be upfront and installation costs. The three-year grand total is $339,300, according to information in the agenda packed and confirmed by Adams.

The new security system will help staffers by having them wearing a device to immediately alert leaders on campus in case of an emergency. The system seeks to enhance current safety practices and protocols.

The district contracted with Centegix, based in Austin, for the acquisition of the CrisisAlert device and system that allows individuals to send a signal through a click that can reduce incident response time. The device is easy to use, and it requires no wifi or cell service and offers room level location accuracy. Classrooms would be equipped with strobe lights and auditory cues that be integrated into the intercom system. Instructions for staffers would be displayed on computer and mobile devices, the News previously reported. The badge offers two types of alerts - one for staff alerts and one for campus-wide alert (lockdown). The staff alerts would be centered on such matters as medical emergencies, fights between students and other events on campus. When a lockdown occurs, everyone on campus will know, and instructions are given to teachers and staffers on what they should do, such as locking the door and turning off lights.

Have you heard it?

There's a song in the air. Have you heard it?

And — NO — I'm not talking about "All I Want for Christmas is You."

I'm actually not talking about any particular Christmas song that has been published or recorded (though I love so many of

I'm talking about — let me see if I can explain this —THE SONG of Christmas.

It's a big picture — a message of hope and encouragement shared creatively and artistically from the heart of the artist, poet, composer.

It encompasses the Christmas story from the Scriptures as well as the way the story has captivated artists throughout history. It can't be contained in a single songbook, or even in all the volumes ever written. It's too high and wide and deep; the combination of words and notes is too

That's why songwriters keep writing more songs as their individual and unique expressions — within their own times and contexts — of THE SONG.

Yes, the infinite and uncontainable is hard to grasp or explain.

Let me give a specific example inspired by Janet Denison's wonderful Advent Devotional, "The Songs Tell the Story" (available at https://www.denisonforum. org/store/).

During the Cuban Missile Crisis, French WW2 veteran Noel Rigney was walking the streets of Manhattan absorbed in the sense of fear and uncertainty that many Americans experienced during those 13 days in October 1962. Almost every face he saw showed the anxiety.

He noticed two mothers walking their babies in strollers. What he really noticed was the babies laughing, smiling, and playing oblivious to the things that grownups fear. Watching them, he realized that he was smiling, too.

By the time he got home, the words to a song had formed in his mind. He wrote them down and his wife, Gloria, composed the tune.

Bing Crosby's 1963 recording of "Do You Hear What I Hear" gave the song worldwide acclaim.

Here's my point today: THE SONG of Christmas is expressed in various ways through words and tunes we can hear with our ears.

But, if we are "hearing" with our hearts the hopeful, life-giving message of Christmas, we might be able to help our distracted neighbors today hear the same hope.

Be amazing this Christmas, my friend.

Do You Hear What I Hear

Lyrics by Noel Regney, Music by Gloria Shayne

Said the night wind to the little lamb Do you see what I see? Way up in the sky, little lamb Do you see what I see? A star, a star, dancing in the night With a tail as big as a kite With a tail as big as a kite Said the little lamb to the shepherd boy Do you hear what I hear? Ringing through the sky, shepherd boy Do you hear what I hear? A song, a song high above the trees With a voice as big as the sea With a voice as big as the sea Said the shepherd boy to the mighty king Do you know what I know? In your palace warm, mighty king Do you know what I know? A Child, a Child shivers in the cold Let us bring him silver and gold Let us bring him silver and gold Said the king to the people everywhere Listen to what I say! Pray for peace, people, everywhere Listen to what I say! The Child, the Child sleeping in the night He will bring us goodness and light He will bring us goodness and light

APD advises council about possible equipment needs

BY DON MUNSCH

don@azlenews.net

Azle City Council at its Dec. 6 meeting heard about the type of equipment the Azle Police Department could request from a federal program.

Azle Police Chief Ben Hall, in accordance with a presidential directive, advised the council and the public that the APD participates in the Federal Law Enforcement Support Office's 1033 program. His presentation explained the nature of the program and what types of equipment may be requested from the LESO program. APD has had a relationship with LESO for about 10 years, and it is a division of the Defense Logistics Agency.

The Law Enforcement Support Office provides access to federal and military gear that may be used by law enforcement, Hall said in his presentation. The gear varies in type and quantity but is generally received by agencies with the only expense related to shipping or delivery. This program received national attention after military hardware was seen at riots following critical incidents associated with the officerinvolved shooting of Michael Brown in Ferguson, Missouri, Hall said.

Under President Joe Biden, notification to governing bodies and the public of a law enforcement agency's involvement in the program is now required, and those law enforcement agencies are required to notify the public and the governing body of the jurisdiction what specific equipment may be requested.

"There's a huge list of things that a police department may request through this program, but (as) part of this new (directive) under the Biden administration, we have to tell you what we are likely to or may request in the next year," Hall said, adding that what the department may request does not require any obligation to go forward with that request. He said the key word is may in this regard.

HERE ARE ITEMS THAT AZLE PD MAY REQUEST: · Tactical and command

vehicles (not armored)

· Specialized firearms and munitions (not for regular

· Breaching tools

· Riot control personal gear including batons, helmets, shields and protective gear

· Firearm parts, optics, less lethal devices, slings, etc.

· Uncontrolled items including gear bags, training clothing and winter gear

Hall said someone at the police department - a subject matter expert - administers the program and will advise Hall if there is something that the police department might use, and then the police department can request that equipment if it is desired. The department is only responsible for getting the item(s) delivered.

committee has been meeting since May and will continue meetings into the first part of 2023, with the next meeting set for 6 p.m. Feb. 6 at Eagle Heights Elementary School. Committee members have toured several campuses to gauge where facilities stand now on their features.

Last week's meeting was a time for committee members to discuss their views on topics related to a bond issue that the district could call next year. Azle ISD had a two-proposition bond in November 2021, with one prop passing and the other failing. The items in the failed bond proposed, among other features, expanded instructional and performance space for fine arts and renovated and expanded locker rooms.

At the Dec. 12 meeting, Smith welcomed the group and said that he wants to see the committee work toward a comprehensive plan of what items are the most important.

"Because the reality of this is, we know what our needs are, but as we can identify some of our needs and kind of start developing a comprehensive list, I want our list to be very comprehensive in kind of everything," he said. "I don't want to get so pigeonholed into this is number one, two and three, because I think a big part of that will (involve) what are some of the costs.'

He said he wants the committee to start planning for the future, and determine what are the capacity numbers that the district feels comfortable with at campuses.

Azle ISD Superintendent Todd Smith, right, standing, talks with Long Range Facilities Planning Committee members at the meeting last week. The group will meet again in "What do we feel comfortable (with) at a high school number?" Smith said, explaining that the district remains a "ways away" from two high schools, but the reality is if people want to stay at a certain number - 2,400 to 2,500 - at the high school, then they should know the district will be expected to reach that number in the next several years. A new high school for 2,400 students would cost between $275-$300 million, Adams said at the meeting.

The earliest the district could have a bond election is next November, Smith predicted, adding that the election has to be held in May or November. He wondered about holding the election in November 2024 because that would be during a presidential election and he thought some "crazy things" could happen in that election cycle.

"Do you stay away from that one? I don't know," he said.

Committee members got a rundown of the district demographics, with those demographics including current and projected enrollments. The district expects to add nearly 1,000 students in the next five years (2027-28 school year) and nearly 2,000 students in 10 years, in the 2032-33 school year.

AISD's enrollment increased by 224 students this year, Adams said, noting the number of active subdivisions - 33. Groundwork has started on nearly 700 lots in AISD, the district noted in the presentation, and there are 12 future subdivisions planned.

Adams showed proposed new attendance zones when the new elementary campus, Hilltop, opens next year. The district will have six elementary school campuses once Hilltop opens, and Adams discussed the new feeder patterns that schools will have next year as well as rules concerning new attendance zones and students being grandfathered into a zone.

"What we have proposed is, if you're an incoming fourth grader or eighth grader next year, you'll be grandfathered in," Adams said, adding that if a student is grandfathered into a zone, then the district will not provide transportation. He further explained that if a student is in Eagle

Heights but will be zoned to move to Hilltop's zone, that fourth grader may stay at Eagle Heights but his or her family will have to provide transportation.

"Because our bus routes will be based on elementary attendance zones," Adams said. Transfer students also do not receive district transportation.

Committee members heard about the district-desired capacities at elementary campuses - 500 to 600 - and that the district did not want to go larger than that because of various logistical reasons.

Wreaths laid on veteran gravesites at Azleland

BY CARLA NOAH STUTSMAN carla@azlenews.net

A host of individuals, families and other groups gathered in Azleland Memorial Park Dec. 17 to lay wreaths at the graves of military veterans as part of Wreaths Across

As it has done annually since its charter in 2012, Azle Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol hosted the annual ceremony to honor veterans. This year, the ceremony in Azleland was one of 3,702 that took place across the country. The 500-plus wreaths placed in the cemetery were among 2.7 million similar wreaths laid across the U.S. 1st Lt. Tracy David-Day, both of the Civil Air Patrol, are location coordinators for Azleland. Killian also serves as public affairs officer for the Azle Composite Squadron, Civil Air Patrol.

The ceremony began as 1st Lt. David-Day welcomed the crowd to the event, followed by Air Force veteran 1st Lt. Scott Moore, Civil Air Patrol, who gave the invocation.

The Color Guard was comprised of the following Civil Air Patrol cadets Cadet Chief Master Sgt. Sara Jackson, Civil Air Patrol, of Azle carried the right rifle; Cadet Master Sgt. City to consider creation of beautification commission

BY DON MUNSCH

don@azlenews.net

The Azle City Council discussed the creation of a beautification commission at its Dec. 6 meeting.

City Manager Tom Muir said several months ago that the council expressed interest in starting an arts commission, but he said that he had not made any progress on that front largely because the council wanted to have it as part of the planning and development department and that the department would be the liaison for that endeavor. The city recently hired a new community and marketing specialist staff member, Kristen Pegues, and her newly created position is for economic development.

The commission would be a beautification commission or board, and would be centered on beautification and commercial corridor efforts. Pegues will be involved in the effort to create the beautification board.

Some of the thought behind it, council member Stacy Peek said, would be to encourage businesses to conduct landscape and façade improvements and that it would encompass landscape ordinances and enforcement of some of the ordinances, too.

"Overall, I think the goal is to enhance or beautiful the town as a whole, make it more welcoming," Peek said. "Flowers versus weeds - flowers are more welcoming than weeds. So, I think overall, that as far as I'm concerned that was kind of my intent was just to enhance the town overall and maybe enhance our landscape ordinance with enforcing it and encouragement of the businesses."

Mayor Alan Brundrett said many ideas will be considered on how to accomplish

"There's a lot of options on how to get things done," Brundrett said.

Muir said he didn't have staff to perform functions. Brundrett said there are a lot of people who would want to help - it's just giving them the projects to help with.

Most Texas pregnancy deaths preventable

MOST TEXAS PREGNANCY DEATHS PREVENTABLE

A long-awaited state report concludes most pregnancyrelated deaths in Texas in 2019 were preventable and disproportionately affected Black women.

The report, issued by the Texas Department of State Health Services and the Texas Maternal Mortality and Morbidity Committee, indicated deaths were mainly attributable to hemorrhage, mental health conditions and blood clots. Also playing a role were discrimination and violence, according to a Dallas Morning News analysis of the report.

DSHS issued the report after months of delay, which drew criticism from members of the committee and maternal health advocates, as well as Democratic lawmakers.

Fourteen women died during pregnancy over the study period, while another 45 died up to a year after giving birth. The Legislature in the coming session is again likely to consider extending post-partum Medicaid assistance from six months to one year, The News reported.

The "consistence of maternal health disparities" was noted by the committee as a key theme that runs through the report. Black women are twice as likely to experience serious health issues during childbirth.

"The report makes clear that state leaders must do more to prevent maternal deaths and support healthy pregnancies among Texas women of all backgrounds, regardless but particularly among Black women," said Diana Forester, Director of Health Policy for the advocacy group Texans Care for Children.

TORNADOES CAUSE MILLIONS IN TIMBER DAMAGE

A series of tornadoes throughout Northeast Texas in November damaged timber on 13,000 acres, causing an estimated $10 million in damages, according to a survey by the Texas A&M Forest Service.

Storms that swept across that area on Nov. 4 resulted in seven tornadoes, five of which affected timberland in Bowie, Cass, Henderson, Morris and Red River counties, according to the forest service. A storm in Morris County resulted in one death.

Damaged trees were uprooted, snapped off below the crown or left leaning significantly. Most of the damage to timber was on private property, according to the report.

"We've developed protocols for rapidly assessing timber damage following major disasters that have become a model for similar efforts across the South," said Dr. Aaron Stottlemyer of the forest service. "Our agency performance this work as a service to the people of Texas."

DROUGHT HAVING CONSIDERABLE ECONOMIC IMPACT

The state's ongoing drought has cost the Texas economy nearly $7.62 billion in direct agricultural losses, according to the Texas Water Development Board. With very little rainfall during the planting season, this year's drought could have a similar effect next year on West Texas farmers and ranchers, who sustained serious losses in 2022. That's according to a recent report from the state comptroller's office.

Currently about 15% of the state is experiencing extreme or exceptional drought conditions, while nearly 90% of the state still is abnormally dry, the report said.

"The state continues to work on improved management of its water resources as it continues to experience rapid growth in the urban areas, which potentially can compete with agricultural interests for a finite resource," the report said.

"Whether in times of drought or flood, responsible water management ensures Texans see water as a resource — not a crisis Texans around the state are employing innovative strategies to turn our water challenges into opportunities," said Texas Comptroller Glenn

A welcome piece of news is that November was wetter than usual across much of the state.

Storage of the state's water supply reservoirs is at 70% of capacity, 11 percentage points below normal for this time of year. Despite the bit of relief Texas experienced in November, drought conditions are expected to expand over the next few months, according to Dr. Mark Wentzel, hydrologist with the Texas Water Development Board.

Wentzel wrote that La Niña conditions, which are largely responsible for the current drought, are expected to dissipate by spring, which may bring much-needed relief to drought-affected areas.

NEW COVID-19 CASES RISE SLIGHTLY

The number of new COVID-19 cases reported in Texas during the past week inched up to 29,557, with 84 deaths reported by the Coronavirus Resource Center at Johns Hopkins University. The Texas Department of State Health Services reported 2,181 lab-confirmed hospitalizations across the state as of Sunday, also a slight increase.

Harrison said students have "gotten a little more organized every year," explaining there are several drone classes that students can take. Students built their drone and had to design some of the mechanisms, such as a piece that picked up balls and dropped them into targets.

The students had to design and build a drone that would fire a laser at different targets (simulating a fire hose) as well as picking up "water" and dropping it onto burning buildings. In addition, Harrison said, students had to also operate a smaller drone to fly recon paths, a rover to clear debris and activate the water tower, and small robots to complete other tasks.

Students have to acquire an FAA license to fly a drone, even if it is to just take pictures for personal use. A few students have their FAA license. They are educated on proper use of drones and where they may be flown. "It's an industry that's about to be very big," Harrison said about the drone industry. "Kids can graduate and just with that pilot's license from the FAA, they can make $50 to $70K a year. There's a company that just started in DFW and that's their starting rate."

Harrison said the competitions give experience to students so they can learn how drones work and how to fix something on the spot or replace parts.

The drone team applied for an Azle Education Foundation grant and then the school district matched that grant and a drone soccer program that will kick off in the spring. Drone soccer is an international eSport.

"So we're really excited to get going with that," he said. Harrison enjoys teaching the drone team.

"It's great teaching a class that the kids want to be in, and most of these kids are very motivated and they work really hard and I more just facilitate them doing awesome things," said Harrison, who has a degree in physics and math.

He added that he hopes to get students who have their licenses out in the community doing work, such as realtor photography or construction site or mapping.

Students discussed why they pursued being on the drone team and what their hopes are for the future, such as college majors and career goals. Akers and Devillier said they would like to work in a career field with drones.

"This summer, I'm planning on starting a job that is actually kind of focused around this – it's for a drone shipping company," Louquet said.

He said he could enter the military or go to college after high school, explaining he has not firmed up his plans. Akers would like to join the Air Force at some point. Maschmeier said he has always wanted to enter in the electrical engineering field, and the drone team has steered him that way because of everything that has happened in the class.

Akers likes the flying aspect of drones, as he is the pilot and said that he enjoys working with the teammates. Team members enjoyed the competition, mentioning they had to push through the adversity and adapt on the spot and venue (hangar).

They look forward to the spring contest.

"We have no idea how that's going to go, but they should be a lot of fun," Akers said.

McLaughlin, a senior, has been on the robotics team as well as the drone team, too, and has been on the team since its inception, when he was a freshman. "The first year, it was a lot more chaotic because we had a lot more crashes because that was only the second or third year that Bell had done it," he said. But there has been a different challenge and complications every year, students said.

McLaughlin calls himself very design-oriented and has enjoyed seeing the different iterations of the design.

"I really like watching the designs just change and adapt, almost like natural selection — it just changes generation by generation," he said. He plans to attend either Texas A&M University or Texas Tech University and major in mechanical engineering.

He said being on the drone team has been a "great opportunity," as he said has been putting it on college and scholarship applications, and he has learned leadership from the experience.

Azle soccer boys win first full scrimmage of season

JEFF PRINCE | AZLE NEWS

BY JEFF PRINCE

jeff@azlenews.net

The Azle Hornets traveled to Irving Nimitz for a scrimmage Dec. 10, but a rainstorm canceled the contest at

The weather didn't stop the team from playing days later.

The first full scrimmage of the season was about to be held Dec. 14 at Hornet Stadium, pitting Azle against the North Central Texas Academy Pioneers, when AHS head coach Diego Oliveros gave his team a pep talk, telling them to be positive, to communicate with one another on the field and to keep the other team running.

Oliveros, in his first year as Azle's coach, knows how to motivate his players. He knows how to communicate with their parents, as well.

The scrimmage was scheduled earlier than usual -5p.m. — and only a handful of parents were sitting in the stands. A cold front had enveloped North Texas earlier in the day, and the wind chill hovered near freezing. Oliveros walked over and thanked the parents for coming. He realizes support from parents and boosters is crucial for strong seasons.

Azle's soccer team has endured rough times in recent years but appears poised to make progress. The new coach appreciates his team's upbeat attitude despite last year's losing record. Oliveros saw plenty of talent and work ethic on display at tryouts in November and at subsequent practices.

"Our varsity team is made up of all players who have bought into our team philosophy of discipline and hard work," he said. "They are present in practice every day ready to work. They ask for guidance and accept feedback when needed. They are boys who have demonstrated they can thrive even in lessthan-ideal conditions."

The team isn't particularly young or old but an intriguing mixture of ages and experience levels. Some have battled against tough opponents and suffered difficult losses, earning savvy and fortitude along the way. Now, they want to put wins on the scoreboard.

"Many of our seniors want their last year to be their best and have certainly put in the work to make this happen," Oliveros said.

The roster consists of five sophomores, eight juniors and eight seniors.

"They have proven they have the quality to compete against anyone and will now be tested against high-level opponents," the coach said. "This combination, I think, gives us a balance of youth and experience."

The coach wasn't interested in highlighting any one player at this point of the season.

"What I can say about this team is we have grown together and made each other better," he said. "We all demand excellence from each other. I would highlight our collective efforts over any individual."

The team met and discussed its goals for the season and came up with a shared vision.

"We will be a disciplined, organized and hardworking unit for the entire duration of the match," the coach said. "We are committed to the daily sacrifices required to make this happen. We will value our team unity and discipline above all else.'

Last year's Hornets won just one game. Oliveros wouldn't make predictions for this year's record but said his team will be prepared to play hard each week.

"Our focus in preparation for our season has been centered around the small details," he said. "Getting us all on the same page and working toward the same goals. We have worked on our physical, technical, tactical and psychological aspects of the game."

Two parents sitting in the stands were Chris and Jennifer Mikula, whose son Gage Mikula is a sophomore.

"He's been playing soccer since he was 3," Jennifer said. The Mikulas like the new coaching staff and are interested to see how the season PLEASE SEE SOCCER | B2

Azle seniors enjoy big night on basketball court

BY JEFF PRINCE jeff@azlenews.net

Diego Beltran prepares to inbound the ball.

Years of blood, sweat and tears culminated in a special evening at Hornet

Gymnasium. On Dec. 14, the Azle boys basketball team celebrated its five upperclassmen on Senior Night before playing Springtown.

Prior to tipoff, the five seniors stood in the wings alongside their parents, waiting for their names to be called out over the public address system. One by one, the seniors would then walk onto the hardwood court underneath the bright gym lights and receive applause from fans and friends.

"I'm just kind of taking it all in that this is our last year," Jayden Rollins said.

Since the seniors were introduced in alphabetical order, Rollins was last in line. He was able to watch his friends walk out to center court amid fanfare, and he soaked up the moment with a smile on his face.

Dad Mike Rollins smiled, too, but his voice trembled with emotion.

"It's kind of bittersweet," the proud pop said. "He's my last (child) of five, so it's really emotional. I'm really proud of him. He's been really good in his school and academics and just been a real team player."

AZLE HIGH WRESTLING

On Dec. 17, Azle wrestler Billy Spratt earned an individual championship when the Hornet boys competed at the Bring the Hammer Invitational in Cabot, Arkansas.

The Hornets finished in seventh place out of 30 teams.

Other wrestlers who performed well include Dominick Evans, who earned a second-place medal, Elias Ramirez (fourth place), Braxon Cates and Oliver Lorenz (fifth places), Devin Wingfield (eighth), Chase Yancey (10th) and Jon Lardizabal (16th).

AZLE JUNIOR HIGH BASKETBALL

On Dec. 15, the eighthgrade girls basketball White Team took on the Ed Willkie Lady Badgers.

"We came up short, but the girls played their best game of the season up to this point," said coach Kendra Longbrake. "The girls played as a team, worked together, and gave effort the whole game. I am so proud of the growth I am seeing from my girls and can't wait to see more."

Leading scorers were Natalie Gorman and Serenity Valdez.

FORTE JUNIOR HIGH BASKETBALL

On Dec. 15, Forte's seventh-grade Green Team hit the basketball court with the "right mentality" when taking on Lake Worth but fell 30-20 in a tough game.

"Unfortunately, they were not ready for the pressure from the other team," said Jason Jones, girls athletic coordinator.

Laeken Crawford and Kelly Gomez stood out for their strong play, rarely leaving the floor and earning half the points between the two of them.

The seventh grade White Team won big over Lake Worth after entering the road game on a mission. The Lady Hornets held the Bullfrogs to two points through the first half.

McKynlee Walden led the team with her first doubledouble of the season, racking up 13 points with 11 rebounds. Kimree Johnston consistently pushed the court and posted 6 points. Jonlyn Meissner, Zoey Martinez and Belle Edwards also contributed on offense with points on the board.

"It was a fantastic performance from the girls, and we can't wait to see what they have in store for us next,"

Jones said.

The eighth-grade Lady Hornets played in an aggressive game against Lake Worth, logging 23 rebounds and 3 blocked shots, although Forte lost the game 25-12. Audrey Hood led the team in points with 8. Rylie Russell had 2 steals and 6 rebounds. Naytalia Davis and Avery Rodriguez-Smither showed their defensive side and caused jump balls and stopped the Lady Bullfrogs from driving into the paint.

The eighth-grade White Team "played their hearts out" against Lake Worth but couldn't nail down the win. Raylynn Samples stepped up her game charging the basket several times and making both of her free throw shots. Hayden Jones continued to be a leader. Chloe Martinez sped up her game to get down the court consistently.

Final score: 40-2.

"We're hopeful they play well, and nobody gets hurt," Chris said.

Once the game began, the Hornets displayed hustle and temerity, pushing the ball toward the Pioneers' goal time and again. Their first few shots went high and wide or were blocked, but the Hornets made their first goal about four minutes into the game. Azle scored another goal a few minutes later, and then another to take a 3-0 lead.

The Pioneers scored two goals before the game ended but couldn't catch up.

Final score: Hornets 3, Pioneers 2.

Oliveros noted plenty of areas that needed improvement but said his team outworked its opponent and stuck to the game plan.

"This game did exactly what scrimmages are designed to do — allow us to see what areas we need to improve on before district," he said.

Mayson Bowden scored Azle's first goal with an assist from Johannes Heid.

Daniel Garcia scored the next two goals with assists by Yair Macias and Bowden.

Azle isn't scheduled to play again until Jan. 5, when the Hornets travel to Colleyville Heritage to begin a three-day tournament.

Azle's Makenna Dillow earns rare all-state volleyball recognition

BY JEFF PRINCE

jeff@azlenews.net

Makenna Dillow has done what few if any Azle Lady Hornets have accomplished on the volleyball court.

She earned athletic allstate recognition.

"It's shocking," she said.
"Hard work pays off."
Dillowis the only Lady

Dillow is the only Lady Hornet volleyball player to earn athletic all-state in the seven years that Becky Spurlock has served as athletic director at Azle. School officials searched records going back as far as 2009 and found no other Azle volleyball players that had earned all-state recognition since then.

Dillow, along with seven of her teammates, also received academic all-state recognition. The others were Skyler Arellano, Brittany Cato, Makynna Hinkle, Cameryn Hoskins, Karlee Locke, Kendall Locke, and Riley McElvain, Regardless of whether Dillow was the first or only volleyballer to earn all-state, she has accomplished something difficult and rare.

"Dillow did a heck of a job this year," Spurlock said.
"She is obviously one of the best in the nation, but she's a humble kid, an honest kid. She works hard every day in practice. She is what you want a student athlete to be. She is good in the classroom. She's good at practice. She's good in the game. She doesn't get rattled."

Azle head coach Elizabeth Snyder said she is thankful to have been a part of Dillow's success. The coach mentioned Dillow's modesty, as well.

"Makenna is a humble player and really downplays what it means to get all-state, and she is excited to be the first for Azle volleyball," she said.

Dillow appreciates the recognition, which "looks good for colleges," she said.

She plans to play volleyball in college but hasn't determined where she will attend. Until then, she is playing club volleyball in Azle.

After college, she is considering becoming a motivational speaker.

Mom Kay Rollins felt a similar mixture of joy and melancholy.

"We love him, and it's kind of sad," mom Kay Rollins said. "He's the end of five kids, so this is our baby graduating."

Mostly, she was proud.
"He's had an awesome
year," she said. "He's an awesome teammate and player.
Motivated. The kid works out daily. He's been a real blessing in our family and to the team."

Team sharpshooter Gavin Dean walked onto the court alongside parents Chris and Rebekah Dean. All the emotions expressed by Mike and Kay Rollins could be seen in the body language of Chris Dean as he hugged his boy for a long time in front of everyone.

Athletic Director Becky Spurlock stood at the edge of the basketball court, watching the proceedings with her own sense of pride. She had seen these seniors play sports for years and train hard to be their best.

"They set some goals," she said. "They are wanting to make the playoffs, wanting to take that step. They've been great in the weight room, great in the offseason. We are seeing the positive of all that in the way they are playing right now. We've battled with some really good teams."

Spurlock has attended many Senior Nights over the years and seen their impact on families. Some seniors go on to play sports at college, but most hang up their cleats

after high school.

"It could be the last time they put a uniform on, put a helmet on, and that's emotional, especially for parents," Spurlock said. "They have been with these kids and even coached them sometimes from the time they were 3 all the way up. There is a finality to Senior Night. That's hard to take sometimes."

Once the game began, the Hornets put aside sentimental notions and focused on an old-fashioned spanking. Springtown tried to put up a fight, but Azle dominated from the opening tipoff.

Final score: Azle 87,

Springtown 48.
Dean enjoyed a huge shooting night, banking 39 points. All the seniors sank baskets: Davis (9 points), Colin Haas (5), Cameron Newman (4), and Rollins (2).

Other Azle scorers included Sawyer Dotson (14), Austin May (9), Brayden Torok (3), and Gunner

Crow (3). Next up, the Hornets play at 11:30 a.m. Dec. 28 at home against Everman.

jeff@azlenews.net

The only double dribbling the Azle Lady Hornets will have to worry about in the next week is at the Christmas dinner table, as the team doesn't play again until Dec.

A long break gives them plenty of time to savor what happened Dec. 16 when they faced Granbury at home in the district opener. The Lady Hornets out-arrrrggghed the Lady Pirates 55-40, with Karlee Locke sinking more than 70% of her shots for 24 points. She and Cheryl Grubbs added five rebounds apiece, and Kendall Locke and Brittany Cato each grabbed three off the boards.

The season is young, but Azle is tied with Justin Northwest for first place in District 5-5A. The Lady Hornets are 14-5 overall, 1-0 in district.

On Dec. 13, the girls played Lake Country Christian at home and won 43-25. On Dec. 28, Azle will play a tournament at Mineral Wells before resuming district competition Jan. 3 with a home game against Northwest. When the final buzzer blares at the end of that game, only one team will remain undefeated and in first place.

I really miss joy my elf, And it is so less fun without joy. She allways is so fun. And every morning me and my sister and my brother wake up and see what joy did. And she dosent be to bad, She is just a little naghty. One time she got stuck in a Christmas box. We used tongs to get her out. And when we first got joy we were vary excited! We are going to put raindeer food for Rudolph and all of the rest of the raindeer. And the reason why I want books is because I love to read. And Christmas is my favrorit time of the year.

Kimberly
